Britain to Ask Aid In Rule of Palestine; Arabs Assail Report

ATTLEE DISCLOSES HE WILL SEEK TO GET U. S. BACKING

Prime Minister Fears Heavy, Long-Term Commitments.

HOLY LAND UNEASY

Arabs Call General Strike in Jerusalem as Protest.

LONDON, May 1 (A.P.) Britain bid today for United States military and financial aid to carry out a joint policy in Palestine, as an uproar of protest over the British-American inquiry committee report threatened to erupt in violence.

Jews and Arabs alike assailed the report, and in Jerusalem the Arab Higher committee called for a general strike Friday by all Arabs in Palestine "as a first step to show our utmost dissatisfaction." An unconfirmed report said the committee also had sent cables to Washington and London repudiating the report, and reiterating demands for an independent Palestine.

Attlee Sees Problem

In London, Prime Minister Attlee said Britain wanted to know "to what extent the United States government would be prepared to share the resultant military and financial responsibilities" for administration of Palestine, which the British inherited as a League of Nations mandate.

Britain wants to be satisfied, he told the House of Commons, "that it will not be called upon to implement a policy which would involve it single-handed" in "heavy, immediate and long-term commitments." He said the government would "get in touch with the government of the United States as soon as possible."

The inquiry committee's report recommended the immediate immigration of 100,000 Jews to Palestine, and that Palestine should be neither a Jewish nor an Arab state. British policy as outlined in the 1939 White Paper has been to permit entry of about 15,000 Jews annually.

NIGHT

Urges Disarming All

Attlee, expressing some misgivings over the immigration recommendation, declared that such large numbers of migrant Jews could not be admitted before "illegal armies have been disbanded and surrender their arms." He asked Jews and Arabs both to disarm.

"It is essential that the (Jewish) agency should take a positive part in the suppression of these activities," he said, adding that Britain hoped "both Jewish and Arab leaders will give counsel of patience and restraint."

In Cairo, however, Abdul Rahman Azzam Pasha, secretary general of the Arab league, said his group would "take all measures" against the recommendations, which he said would "encourage elements of terrorism and continual disturbance" and "push the peace-loving Arabs to desperation."

Similarly, a Jewish underground radio station, "the Voice of Israel," said that while it apreciated "Anglo-American goodwill" in proposing the 100,000 figure, Jews would continue to fight "for Jewish independence, unlimited Jewish immigration and further large-scale colonization."

Jews Criticize Report

Jewish spokesmen, while welcoming with reservations the 100,000 figure, strongly criticized the report as inconsistent and insufficient.

In London a spokesman for the New Zionist organization asserted that "the conclusions of the report are not consistent with the facts which it establishes. These facts point to the need of a Jewish mass migration to Palestine amounting to well over a million."

The streets of Palestine's cities, dispatches said, teemed with reinforced troop and police details as Arab leaders predicted the committee's recommendations would plunge the Holy Land into bloody strife.

Jamal Effendi Husseini, acting chairman of the Arab Higher committee, said adoption of the recommendations would "drive the entire Middle East into the bosom of Soviet Russia," because "we will grab at any straw—Russia or anyone."

Jewish speakers in addresses before May Day crowds welcomed the immigration recommendation, but otherwise they criticized the report severely.

The Jewish agency executive committee was called into extraordinary session to consider the report. Dr. Chaim Welzmann, president of the World Zionist organization, arrived from Rehoboth to attend.

Arabs To Meet

Arab league representatives also were expected to meet in Cairo. Azzam Pasha, who scheduled a meeting with the ministers of the Arab states, said in an interview that "the reports of the Anglo-American committee did not try to solve the Palestine problem and did not give any details we do not already know."

Whatever "measures" will be taken, he said, first will be discussed by members of the Arab league.

In league circles it was believed possible that an extraordinary session would be convened, or that at least representatives of the seven member states—Egypt, Lebanon, Syria, Iraq, Saudi Arabi, TransJordan and Yemen—all now in Egypt, would be summoned to draft a reply to the report.

The report also had repercussions in India. At New Delhi Mahomed Ali Jinnah, president of the Moslem league, said that "Arabs and Moslems will not take it lying down if these monstrous recommendations are sought to be implemented."

"I can only say that this is the grossest betrayal of the promises made to the Arabs and a shock to me," he said.

U. S. MILITARY AND FINANCIAL AID IN PALESTINE SOUGHT BY ATTLEE

He Doesn't Want Britain to Implement Changes Single-handed.

HITS AT ILLEGAL ARMIES

Says They Must Go Before Jews Can Enter Palestine—Arabs Call General Strike.

DAY

London, May 1 (A. P.).—Prime Minister Attlee said today that Great Britain wanted "to ascertain to what extent the United States Government would be prepared to share" in military and financial responsibilities for the administration of Palestine under the newly announced recommendations of the British-American Inquiry Commission.

The commission's report, made public last night, recommended immediate authorization for the admission of 100,000 Jews to Palestine.

Attlee told the House of Commons that large numbers of migrant Jews could not be admitted "until illegal armies have been disbanded and surrender their arms." He said the British Government "will consult with the Government of the United States as soon as possible."

Arabs Call General Strike.

A Reuter's dispatch from Jerusalem said the Arab Higher Committee decided today to call a countrywide Arab general strike Friday in protest against the British-American report and asked neighboring States to declare "sympathy strikes" at the same time.

Attlee said the commission's report suggested that "actual immigration should be pushed forward as rapidly as conditions permit."

The British-American commission's report on Palestine, made public last night, recommended the immediate admission of 100,000 Jews.

"The practical difficulties involved in the immediate absorption of so large a number of immigrants would obviously be very great," Attlee said.

The present policy, outlined by the British Government in 1939 White Paper, permits the entry of about 15,000 Jewish immigrants annually, although hundreds of others attempt to slip into the country without immigration certificates.

Attlee said that the report, addressed jointly to the American and British governments, was being studied carefully by the British Government and that Britain "will consult with the Government of the United States as soon as possible."

Declaring that Britain did not want to be called on to "implement a policy that would involve it single-handed," Attlee said his Government wanted "to ascertain to what extent the United States Government would be prepared to share the resultant military and financial responsibilities" for the administration of Palestine which Britain inherited with the League of Nations mandate.

"Jews and Arabs in Palestine alike must disarm," the Prime Minister said. "It is essential that the (Jewish) Agency should take a positive part in the suppression of these (violent) activities."

He added that Britain hoped "both Jewish and Arab leaders will give counsel of patience and restraint."

Winston Churchill, leader of the Conservative Opposition, said he would not press for an immediate debate on the report but asserted, "We regard the matter as urgent on account of the practical difficulties that may arise."

Meantime, a spokesman for the new Zionist organization asserted that "the conclusions of the report are not consistent with the facts which it establishes. These facts point to the need of a Jewish mass migration to Palestine amounting immediately to well over a million."

ARABS ORDER MASS STRIKE IN PALESTINE

Committee Asks Other Middle East Countries To Join

Jerusalem, May 1 (AP)—The Arab Higher Committee called tonight for a general strike of all Arabs in Palestine Friday and moved to tie up the entire Middle East by asking other Arab countries to join the walkout.

NIGHT

The strike call for Palestine Arabs was issued by the committee "as a first step to show our utmost dissatisfaction" with the British-American inquiry committee's report on Palestine—a report which urges the immediate admittance of 100,000 European Jews into the Holy Land.

Jewish speakers at May Day rallies also assailed the report except for its immigration recommendation.

To Protest To Governments

In its fight against the report the Arab Higher Committee decided to send delegates to the other Arab countries to press for pan-Arabic action and particularly the support of the Arab League. Further, the committee said it would cable protests to governments which are members of the United Nations.

Extra police and armored troop details patrolled the streets of Jerusalem and other cities, but the country remained quiet.

Radio Pledges Jewish Fight

Meanwhile, there was no official announcement from the Jewish Agency, which met in executive session.

A Jewish underground radio station, "The Voice of Israel," said it appreciated "Anglo-American good will" in proposing immigration of 100,000 Jews into Palestine, but declared it would continue to fight for "Jewish independence, unlimited Jewish immigration, and for further large-scale colonization."

Troops Sw[illegible]stine.

Jerusalem, M[illegible] (AP).—The streets of Palestine's major cities teemed with extra troop and police details today in the wake of declarations by Arab leaders that adoption of a British-American Inquiry Committee Report on Palestine would plunge the Holy Land into bitter strife.

DAY

Jamal Effendi Husseini, acting chairman of the Arab Higher Committee, said that adoption of the report, which recommended that 100,000 European Jews be admitted immediately to Palestine, "would drive the entire Middle East into the bosom of Soviet Russia."

NIGHT

"The general trend all over the Middle East would be to the left," he added. "We will grab at any straw—Russia or any one who will help us."

The Arab office said in a statement that the report, issued last night in London and Washington, "must be resisted by the unanimous endeavor of the Arab and Moslem worlds." The Jewish agency, scheduled to meet in executive session today, issued no official statement.

Crowds Await Newspapers.

Residents of Jerusalem, Jaffa and Tel Aviv lined up before newspaper offices awaiting editions carrying the committee's report. Tanks, armored cars and jeeps were in evidence and helmeted infantrymen were stationed at nearly every intersection, but the general atmosphere was calm.

"We will oppose with all the means at our disposal," Husseini said in an interview, "a policy depriving us of independence and liberty. We are convinced the recommendations will plunge Palestine into bloody disorder. These violent reactions will extend to all Arab countries—in some countries even more violently than in Palestine itself."

Auni Bey Abdul Hadi, independent Arab party leader, agreed and added, "the report is a slur on democracy." The Arab office statement said the report was "high treason to democracy and a grave betrayal to justice."

The Hebrew morning newspaper Haboker in Tel Aviv commented editorially that the report was "not justice, but charity," while the Arab newspaper Aldiffa in Jaffa described the report as an "Anglo-American conspiracy which will be completely rejected by all Arabs and Moslems."

The Palestine Post of Jerusalem, a leading Zionist daily, urged patience. "There is nobody who will be satisfied," it said. "But opinion, bound to be excited at first, must be allowed to crystallize before a final judgement is formed."

report recommending that 100,000 more Jews be admitted to Palestine.

"The report is very harmful," he said, "and the harm comes from the fact it would encourage elements of terrorism and continual disturbances and will push the peace-loving Arabs to desperation."

Sees Very Bad Consequences

"It will have a very bad consequence for the situation in Palestine. I do not believe any responsible government will be able to encourage such a policy as is referred to in the report.

"The report of the Anglo-American Committee did not try to solve the Palestine problem and did not give any details we do not already know.

"The Arab League will take all measures against this report."

Asked what measures he had in mind, Azzam Pasha replied:

Extraordinary Session Pending

"This will be discussed first by the league members."

Arab League circles disclosed an extraordinary session of the league members might be called. Member states of the Arab League are Egypt, Lebanon, Syria, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Trans-Jordan and Yemen.

Azzam Pasha scheduled a meeting with Ministers of the Arab states in Egypt tonight. He said he had read President Truman's comments on the report and would be ready to reply "later."

ence will push us to whatever source may lend support to our just cause so miserably denied."

The National democratic party of Iraq urged the Government to meet what it described as this "great danger to the existence of the Arab nation" by immediately raising the Palestine question before the United Nations' Security Council.

Evening newspaper headlines urged the Arabs to meet aggression with aggression. The paper Al Hawadith editorialized that the Arabs, and especially the people of Iraq, if necessary "will not hesitate to shake hands with the devil to meet aggression and treachery."

Palestine Proposals Are Denounced In Iraq

Baghdad, May 1 (AP)—Iraqi politicians, newspapers and political parties strongly criticized today the report of the British-American committee on Palestine.

Government circles maintained an official silence, but a high Foreign Office source said: "Pretests and logic will no longer help the Arabs."

Former Premier Hamid al Pachachi said in a statement: "The Arab nations must take decisive action, which now is the only available course. The desire for existence will push us to whatever source may lend support to our just cause so miserably denied."

Britain's Proposals Face U. S. Opposition

WASHINGTON, May 1 — (AP) Britain's suggestion that the U. S. give military and financial aid in preventing violence in Palestine drew quick opposition today on Capitol hill, with the possibility it may hasten creation of a United Nations agency to govern international territories.

The move to involve this country directly in the affairs of the Holy Land came as a swift aftermath of an official Anglo-American committee's recommendations on how to handle Palestine's problems, including a proposal for immediate immigration of 100,000 European Jews.

Prime Minister Clement Attlee told Commons that his government, unwilling to "implement a policy that would involve it singlehanded," wanted to see how far the United States will "be prepared to share the resultant military and financial responsibilities."

In a Congress which has demonstrated its intention to keep foreign military commitments to a security minimum, some lawmakers expressed belief that Britain should turn to the United Nations—rather than this country—for any aid in the way of armed forces.

Sharing this belief were Senators Ball (R-Minn) and La Follette (Prog.-Wis.) "I think we have some responsibility in the matter, but the United Nations is the organization to handle it," declared Ball. From La Follette came the contention that this country should limit its individual participation to using "its good offices." He made it plain that he does not favor using American troops to "police Palestine."

Senator Maybank (D-SC) suggested that the United States might be willing to bear a proportional part of the cost of immigration, but expressed doubt this country would be willing to furnish troops. Senator Hill (D-Ala), House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex), and House Majority Leader McCormack (D-Mass) withheld comment pending a study of Attlee's remarks.

Swing Toward Russia Seen

Washington, May 1 (AP)—The explosive - packed recommendation that 100,000 persecuted Jews be admitted to Palestine at once ticked away ominously today on Britain's doorstep.

In dropping it there, the official Anglo-American Committee on Palestine held at the same time that the strife-torn Holy Land must become "neither a Jewish state nor an Arab state."

There was no provision in the joint inquiry committee's instructions making its recommendations binding upon either Britain or the United States. But the report's official status assured it—before acceptance or rejection—a full-dress airing in the halls of both Congress and Commons.

Senatorial Comment

Washington reaction to the report brought these typical congressional comments:

Senator Hatch (D., N.M.): "I have always favored the fullest possible emigration of the Jewish peoples to Palestine, consistent with the rights of the Arab population there."

Senator Bridges (R., N.H.): "It is fine that we have at last gotten some action."

Senator Huffman (D., Ohio): "I am happy that Britain has apparently come around at last to what has long been the stand of our Government."

Senator Wagner (D., N.Y.): "I am elated that the committee has recommended admission to Palestine of 100,000 displaced Jews.... I am grievously disappointed, however, in the committee's long-range recommendation as to the political future of Palestine."

Holy Land Of Three Faiths

In recommending against the Holy Land's becoming either an Arab or Jewish state, the committee said "the form of government ultimately to be established shall, under international guarantees, fully protect and preserve the interests in the Holy Land of Christendom and of the Moslem and Jewish faiths."

"Palestine," it went on, "is not, and can never become, a land which any race or religion can justly claim as its very own."

Committee cochairmen were Judge Joseph C. Hutcheson, of Houston, Texas, for the United States, and Sir John Singleton for Great Britain. United States members were Frank Aydelotte, Frank W. Buxton, Bartley C. Crum, James G. McDonald and William Phillips. British representatives were R. H. S. Crossman, Frederick Leggett, R. E. Manningham-Buller, W. F. Crick and Lord Morrison.

British Scientist Gets 10-Year Prison Term For Revealing Secrets of Atomic Research

LONDON, May 1—(AP) Dr. Alan Nunn May, British physicist, was sentenced today to 10 years in prison after pleading guilty to disclosing official secrets which his attorney said concerned atomic energy and went to the Russians.

May was one of a team of American, Canadian and British scientists who worked on nuclear research in Canada during Allied development of the atomic bomb. His attorney, Gerald Gardiner, told the court May disclosed certain information on atomic energy—but not on the bomb itself—to the Russians.

Violated Official Secrets Act

May was charged with violation of the Official Secrets act by imparting "to some persons unknown certain information calculated to be or which might be, directly or indirectly, useful to an emeny."

"There is no point suggesting that the Russians are enemies or potential enemies," the prosecution said. "The offense was in giving information which might have eventually reached enemy hands."

The 34-year-old scientist was pale and haggard as he rose in the dock at historic Old Bailey to reverse his former plea of innocence. He looked anxiously at his attorney, then answered firmly, "Guilty, my lord."

May himself did not identify the persons to whom he had given information. His counsel said he gave information to the Russians because he felt that if more people knew about atomic energy, it would be taken more seriously throughout the world.

Allies Were Aiding Russia

Gardiner said the information was imparted at a time when the government itself had offered all possible technical or economic assistance to Russia. The time of the offense as charged by the prosecution was February, 1945.

"Rightly or wrongly," Gardiner said, "May felt full indignation that these promises of technical assistance were made one hour and ignored the next."

Attorney General Sir Hartley Shawcross, who prosecuted the case, said, however, that "it is not right that an individual should so far set himself above the laws of his country as to communicate information which his government, in agreement with other governments concerned, had felt must at present be maintained as a secret."

May was arrested shortly after an investigation was launched in Canada into alleged Soviet espionage which Canadian Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King said extended through the dominion and into the United States and Britain. Some persons were arrested in Canada in connection with that investigation.

Had Access to Reports

May, the prosecution said, held a vital position in the nuclear research team sent to Canada in 1943 to work on atomic research. He was said to have served on two committees which gave him access "to secret reports and the latest information on the production of uranium."

May's statement was read to the court by his attorney. In it he said the unidentified person who received the information about atomic energy had insisted upon giving him "some dollars and a bottle of whiskey," which he "accepted against my wish."

"He did not do this for money," the attorney said. "He had nothing to gain except what we all gain by doing what we believe to be right, and he had everything to lose."

The judge, however, in passing sentence, said he could not understand "how any man could have the crass conceit, let alone the wickedness" to take it upon himself to divulge secrets he had pledged in writing to keep.

"You have been represented to the court as an honorable man," the judge said. "You are not an honorable man, but a dishonorable one."

"Enemy" Not Specified

The 34-year-old scientist, who was arrested in March, was specifically accused of communicating "to some person unknown certain information calculated to be, or which might be directly or indirectly, useful to an enemy."

The "enemy" was not specified, the prosecution declaring merely that it might be "any potential enemy."

His arrest, however, followed closely the launching of a Canadian investigation into alleged Soviet espionage activities which Canadian Prime Minister Mackenzie King said extended through the Dominion into the United States and Britain.

Others Under Arrest

Several persons are under arrest in Canada in connection with that investigation.

Defense Counsel Gerald Gardiner, in asking clemency for May, said flatly that the information the defendant was accused of disclosing was given to the Russians and that at the time of the offense—in February, 1945—the Government had offered all possible technical or economic assistance to Russia.

"Rightly or wrongly," Gardiner said," Dr. May felt full indignation that these promises of technical assistance were made one hour and ignored the next."

"Contribution To Safety"

Gardiner told the court that May considered giving the information "the only contribution he could make to the safety of mankind" because he felt that the more people knew about atomic energy the more seriously they would take it.

"Doctors take the view," Gardiner added, "that if they discover something useful to mankind they are under obligation to give it to mankind. There are scientists who take substantially the same view."

Attorney General Sir Hartley Shawcross, who prosecuted the case," told the court:

"It is not right that an individual should so far set himself above the laws of his country as to communicate information which his government, in agreement with other governments concerned, had felt must at present be maintained as a secret."

Briton Gets Ten Years For Telling Atom Secret

London, May 1 (AP) — Dr. Alan Nunn May was sentenced today to ten years in prison for violating the British Official Secrets Act by disclosing restricted information, which his attorneys said went to Soviet Russia, and concerned atomic energy.

May is a British physicist who worked on nuclear research in Canada during the war in the successful effort of the United States, Britain and Canada to create the atomic bomb.

He pleaded guilty.

"May Have Reached Enemy"

Replying to the defense assertion that the information had been given to Russia, the prosecution said:

"There is no point in suggesting that the Russians are enemies or potential enemies. The offense was in giving information which might eventually have reached enemy hands."

May appeared pale and hollow-eyed as he entered the dock to answer the charges.

Held Vital Position

Asked how he would plead, May hesitated, glanced at his attorney and then replied quietly:

"Guilty."

According to the prosecution, May held a vital position in the nuclear research team sent to Canada in 1943 to work on atomic research.

He was said to have served on two committees which gave him access "to secret reports and the latest information on the production of uranium," although he was not working directly on the atomic bomb.

Sultan Condemns British Malayan Plan

London, May 1 (AP)—The Sultan of Johore today described Britain's scheme for a Malayan union as "outright" annexation of the nine Malayan states and predicted that there is "bound to be trouble."

Visiting London with his beautiful Romanian wife on their first holiday since Johore's liberation from the Japanese, the Sultan said that the agreements with the British had been signed under "duress."

Now the sultan realize, he added, "that they should have refused to sign them until their councils were reconstituted, and for the first time in Malay history their people have criticized them."

The agreements were described by the British as providing for the formation of a new constitution "to insure and facilitate the progress of the people and the country toward unity and ultimate self-government within the British Empire."

The funeral plans are not fully decided. Cananzey believes the services will be in the same little church where he and May were married, perhaps Saturday.

$209,723,368 Spent On British Spy System

London, May 1 (AP)—A white paper disclosed today that Britain spent $209,723,368 on its secret service—the British spy system—in four years of war beginning in 1941.

The white paper did not disclose the costs of spying since 1944. The biggest annual expense listed was $60,086,572, in 1943.

It was disclosed also that war-time atomic research—disguised as "research into tube alloys" when funds were voted by Parliament—cost $6,923,600 in the same four years.

boats and fishing smacks were called to the rescue.

About 700 had been taken from the ship in a calm sea by noon and rescuers reported they expected to transfer all ashore without danger. The 7,600-ton ship, en route from the Orient to Glasgow, ran aground 100 yards off shore at the entrance of Stranford Lough.

The Admiralty said the Georgetown Victory was one of ten troopships loaned by the United States to England in return for the use of the Queen Mary for transporting American troops.

Rajah's Identity Before Council

London, May 1 (AP)—The Privy Council received today a lawsuit over an Indian estate as large as England between a man representing himself as the owner who survived the flames of a funeral pyre in 1909 and a woman who claims the estate as the owner's widow.

The hearing is before the Privy Council, Britain's highest judicial authority.

The case has been argued before the Indian courts for a quarter of a century. It involves holdings yielding $400,000 annually. More than 1,000 witnesses have testified about the Rajah Kumar of Bhowal, who was reported to have "died" at Darjeeling, May 8, 1909.

The appeal to the privy council was made by the rajah's "widow," the Ranee Bibhabati. The defendant is a man whom the highest Indian court has held to be the rightful owner of the estate. To the satisfaction of the Indian court, he established his identity as the rajah.

He said he was placed on a funeral pyre, but that while the flames rose a torrential rain drove the mourners to shelter. The downpour revived him, he testified, and he was rescued by passing beggars.

The next twelve years, he said, he spent in wandering while suffering from a loss of memory. Then, he said, he recovered and began the battle to regain his fortune.

G. I. Bride Never Saw New Home

Ex-Paratrooper Flew to England to Be With Her—Her Tuberculosis Was Fatal.

Nottingham, England, May 1 (A. P.).—Mrs. Joseph Cananzey, 19 years old, British bride of a former United States paratrooper who flew the Atlantic to rejoin her March 30 after learning she was desperately ill of tuberculosis, died today.

The Red Cross notified Cananzey at his home in Taunton, Mass., a little over a month ago of the turn in her illness.

Cananzey found her close beside a window at her home here, where on sunny days she talked with friends and seemed happy.

"But when the days were gray she didn't feel like that," Joe said. "I thought I would be able to take her back home with me, but I guess it wasn't any use."

The couple met when Cananzey was practicing around Nottingham for the invasion. They were married at a little church in the suburb near the home of the bride, May. When the war was over he came back for his bride, the slim blond girl whose picture he carried into battle. But she was too ill to go home then. He

BYRNES ASKS CUT IN ALLIED FORCES HOLDING AUSTRIA

Urges Big Four Conference to Plan Evacuation of Italy Also.

FAVORS 15,000 LIMIT

Molotov Bars Discussion, Finding No Connection with Italian Treaty.

PARIS, May 1. — (AP) U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes urged the foreign ministers conference today to reduce Allied occupation forces in Austria immediately and to plan simultaneous Allied evacuation of both Italy and Austria, a qualified conference source reported.

Byrnes asked that occupation garrisons be limited to 15,000 troops in each Austrian zone, and that their complete evacuation later coincide with the withdrawal of troops from Italy, this source said.

The proposals were made during a discussion of the Italian peace treaty. Byrnes said that so long as American troops remained in Austria, they would have to be maintained in Italy to protect supply lines.

Molotov Presides

Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov, presiding, ruled that the matter of Austrian occupation could not be discussed in connection with the Italian treaty. Informants reported Molotov said the question should be raised if and when they examine the Austrian settlement. Thus far Russia has opposed United States proposals to add Austrian problems to the conference agenda.

Byrnes and Molotov disagreed when Byrnes proposed a general over-all political-military commission with sub-committees to supervise imposition of the Italian peace treaty terms.

Molotov, reportedly reversing his position of last September, when he voted with the foreign ministers council in London for a military council for post-treaty control of Italy, was said to have advocated no commission at all.

Sees Sovereignty Infringed

Informants said he contended such a commission would constitute an infringement upon Italian sovereignty. It was noted here that under last September's decision similar mixed commissions also would have supervised treaty compliance in Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary.

Byrnes was reported to have withdrawn his proposal for a political-military commission, but to have remarked that the London decision still stood. Throughout the exchange he was reported to have been supported by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin. The French foreign minister, Georges Bidault, scarcely participated in the discussion.

Byrnes' proposal was said to be that the commission should be empowered to supervise Italy for 18 months or until she took her place among the United Nations. The American secretary was quoted as replying to Molotov that the suggestion was no more an infringement on Italy's sovereignty than would be the treaty itself.

Austria's Plea Rejected

The ministers were reported to have rejected Austria's bid for the return of the South Tyrol, ceded to Italy after the first World War.

This was adjudged a major frontier rectification, informants said, and the Council of Foreign Ministers last September had decided against any but minor adjustments in the Austrian frontier.

Ending their first week of work on treaties with Italy, the Balkans and Finland, the foreign ministers were reported ready to take up tomorrow remaining points of difference with regard to the Italian settlement. On Friday it was expected Italian and Yugoslav representatives would be summoned to give their views on the issue of Trieste and the Italo-Yugoslav frontier.

Russia Reported to Have Opposed Proposal of U. S. on Allied Control—Deputies Call South Tyrol 'Major' Issue.

Paris, May 1 (A. P.)—Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov and United States Secretary of State Byrnes clashed on the question of the future Allied control of Italy today as the Foreign Ministers Council turned thumbs down on Austria's plea for return of the southern Tyrol by Italy.

A qualified conference informant said the Soviet Foreign Minister sharply opposed Byrnes's proposal for a single general commission to supervise the carrying out the Italian treaty provisions on the ground that it would be an infringement of Italian sovereignty. Byrnes was said to have retorted it was no more of an infringement than the treaty itself.

Molotov reversed the Soviet policy followed at last September's council meeting at which the Russians voted with their colleagues to set up only military control commissions.

At this morning's session, over which he presided, Molotov came out in favor of no commission at all.

The Ministers were discussing the last of eleven points of disagreement over the Italian treaty.

Afternoon Session Off

The Ministers decided to hold their next meeting tomorrow morning and to cancel a session scheduled for this afternoon. Their deputies will meet this afternoon to set an agenda.

A conference source said both sessions tomorrow would probably be devoted to attempts to clear up minor points of difference on the Italian treaty.

In considering the Austrian-Italian border question, the deputies decided that the Austrian request for return of the south Tyrol, ceded to Italy after the first World War, was a major frontier rectification of the sort the Council had decided against last September. Yesterday the question arose whether the border change would be a major or minor one and the matter was handed over to the deputies.

Would Consider Minor Moves

The ministers took note of their deputies' decision and said they woud consider any Austrian requests for minor frontier changes. This, in effect, was a refusal of the Austrian demand for the entire area.

Byrnes's Proposal.

During the exchange over an Allied inspection commission for Italy, qualified informants said Byrnes went a step beyond the London decision, proposing an overall political-military control commission with military, reparations and other sub-committees. Molotov said immediately he was opposed because it was an infringement on Italian sovereignty and "unnecessary."

British Foreign Secretary Bevin observed that military committees only were decided on in London. Molotov said he was opposed to that decision now, also.

Byrnes, in a lengthy statement, said American policy was to press for the withdrawal of all occupation troops in Austria and Italy as soon possible. He said the occupation forces in Austria should be cut to 15,000 troops for each of the four Powers immediately, and withdrawn altogether soon. Byrnes said forces had to be maintained in Italy to protect supply lines, as long as Austria was occupied.

Molotov objected on a point of order that Austria was not now being discussed, and Byrnes withdrew his proposal for a general control commission, remarking that the London decision thus stood.

French Foreign Minister Bidault hardly intervened in the discussion.

Call Off Session.

The Ministers decided to hold their next meeting tomorrow morning and to cancel a scheduled session this afternoon. Their deputies will meet this afternoon to set an agenda. One informant said both sessions tomorrow probably would be devoted to attempts to clear up minor points of difference on the Italian treaty.

Byrnes and Molotov Clash on Rule of Italy

In considering the Austrian-Italian border question, the deputies decided that the Austrian request for return of the South Tyrol, ceded to Italy after the first world war, was a major frontier rectification which the council had decided against last September. The question arose at the meeting of the ministers yesterday whether the request was a major or minor border change and the matter was handed over to the deputies.

The Foreign Ministers took note of their Deputies' decision and said they would entertain any Austrian requests for minor frontier changes. This, in effect, was a refusal of the Austrian demand for the entire area.

Molotov was voted down, three to one, yesterday on a proposal to recess May Day, an important holiday in the Soviet Union.

The ministers clashed sharply yesterday on two Italian border questions, with Russia supporting a Yugoslav demand for Trieste and most of the Istrian peninsula, against the opposition of Britain, France and the United States; and opposing an Austrian request for annexation of the South Tyrol.

Finally Reach Accord.

Informants said that there were several sharp exchanges on the snarled Italian-Yugoslav border issue before the ministers finally agreed, at Molotov's insistence, that two Italian and two Yugoslav representatives be heard on the question Friday, thus postponing any decision until that time.

Four different proposals for settlement of the Istrian dispute were said to have been examined by the ministers. The British, French and American proposals were said to be largely similar, all being based on ethnic grounds, but Russia's suggestion placed the boundary line much farther west, giving a great deal more territory to Yugoslavia. Molotov also demanded that the Adriatic port of Trieste be taken from Italy and turned over to Yugoslavia. He said Russia had received a request from Marshal Tito to be heard on the whole Italian border question.

FRENCH LOAN PLEA STUDIED BY BYRNES

Truman, Bidault Talk on Telephone But Avoid Political Topics.

PARIS, Thursday, May 2.—(AP) The chief spokesman of the French Foreign Affairs ministry declared in a formal statement early today that Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and President Truman had not discussed "political problems" in their transAtlantic telephone conservation yesterday.

The statement was issued hours after an official French source—who would not allow himself to be identified—had said Bidault had told him that he (Bidault) had been assured by Truman during the conversations that prospects were bright for approval of an American loan to France.

Issues Formal Statement

Raymond Offroy, the Foreign Affairs ministry spokesman, said in his formal statement:

"During a conversation between Mr. Byrnes (U.S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes) and Mr. Bidault, the question of an American loan and the one of the French food needs, especially wheat, were discused in a most favorable manner.

"It was during this discussion that Mr. Bidault had an opportunity to speak for a few minutes by telephone with President Truman, but in this conversation no political problems were discussed."

The Truman-Bidault transAtlantic telephone conversation—details of which as subsequently reported in Paris were denied in a statement from the White House at Washington occurred during the course of a three-hour meeting between Bidault and Byrnes

Exchanged Greetings

(In Weshington Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said Truman and Bidault had merely exchanged brief greetings, without discussing any business or political affairs.

(They talked at the end of a 15-minute conversation between Truman and Byrnes. Asked whether Truman had discussed the French loan with Byrnes, Ross said the President had discussed "the whole work" of the foreign ministers conference with Byrnes.

(The amount of the loan being negotiated in the United States by Leon Blum, former French premier, has not been officially disclosed. However, a French official publication on Feb. 25 said the United States had agreed to investigate France's needs for a loan, which might amount to $2,000,000,000 or $2,500,000,000).

The French informant—who refused to allow himself to be identified—said his information was that Truman had told Bidault the requested loan was "on the way."

Interpreter Used

The conversation between the French foreign minister and the President, it was disclosed, was through an interpreter. This description was given by the source of the Paris end of the conversation:

An interpreter was present for Bidault's meeting with Byrnes. Byrnes talked by transAtlantic telephone with Truman. Then Bidault began a conversation with the President.

The telephone had an extension receiver. Bidault spoke in French and the interpreter translated his remarks in English to Truman. The President answered in English, which Bidault understands, and Bidault listened on the extension. Then the interpreter translated the President's remarks into French.

The conversations between Bidault and Byrnes were reported to have concerned matters affecting European peace, the French loan request, France's food needs and shipments of wheat from the United States.

Late tonight, Michael McDermott, State department information officer accompanying Byrnes, said he had been told only that Byrnes and Bidault had discused the loan and other subjects, and that then Bidault had talked with the President. He disclaimed any knowledge of what Bidault and the President had talked about.

Meanwhile, the French source said Bidault was scheduled to sign a French-Soviet commercial treaty tomorrow with Alexander E. Bogomolov, the Russian ambassador. The treaty was drawn up in Moscow last December.

FOR 'AUSTERITY' IN PUBLIC

New U. S. Commander Bars Show of Affection in Public

BERLIN, May 1—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Walter A. Keating, assuming command of the American Army garrison here, immediately demanded today that his staff halt demonstrations of affection in public between American soldiers and German girls.

General Keating, speaking to all officers of the United States Berlin district, also told them they themselves were to lead their troops back to a more "austere" life.

Explaining the policies he intends to carry out General Keating said: "We can't control what happens behind doors, but we can control what happens in public, and we shall."

The new American commander in Berlin complained particularly about United States soldiers strolling through the streets with their arms around German girls.

Schacht Admits He Financed Nazi War Machine But Tells Court He Opposed Use of It in Battle

NUERNBERG, May 1—(AP) Hjalmar Schacht said today he had helped finance Nazi rearmament to "obtain equal rights for Germany," but declared that later "I blocked credits, I opposed undue rearmament, I talked against war and I took steps to prevent war."

The former Nazi economics minister, on trial before the International Military Tribunal on war crimes charges, pictured himself as a "no man" of Hitler's Germany. He testified that "at every opportunity I said no," resisting Nazi actions against churches and Jews.

Incurred Hitler's Displeasure

Schacht, who had also served as Reichsbank president, said Hitler began to distrust him actively after Schacht made a speech at Koenigsberg in 1935 criticizing unlawful restraints imposed on individuals by the Nazis. He said Joseph Goebbels forbade publication of that speech.

Schacht was on the stand during a wearing day in which clashes between his counsel, Rudolf Dix, and American Prosecutor Robert H. Jackson brought numerous interruptions. The tribunal showed increasing impatience over continued prolongation of the trial of the Nazi hierarchy, in process already for nearly 5 1-2 months.

Schacht said that as president of the Reichsbank he helpel finance the Reischbank he helped finance this to obtain equal rights for Germany, a position which I still think is right. When the other powers broke their promises to disarm, Germany had no alternative but to rearm to gain equality."

Limited Credits

But, he said, he limited credits with the aim of preventing building of an aggressive war machine. He cited figures which he said showed that the Nazis, in the year following the Reichsbank's discontinuance of credits, had "spent 5,500,000,000 (marks) more on rearmament."

"It appears that, even without the financial genius of Mr. Schacht, they managed to get hold of cash," he said.

Jackson and Dix clashed when Schacht testified that all foreign ambassadors except the American and Russian attended Nazi party rallies, and then tried to testify that the attitude of foreign nations was a factor in Germany's acceptance of Hitler's regime.

Jackson said "foreigners are not on trial here and, if some of them were deceived by the regime which used Schacht for window dressing, that's beside the point."

Dix said the attitude of foreigners and its effect on German opposition to Hitler was important and that he wished to have the testimony admitted. The tribunal ruled, however, that "investigation of such facts is a waste of time and irrelevant."

After a short deliberation with his colleagues, Justice Lawrence, president of the tribunal, ruled that "an investigation of such facts is a waste of time and irrelevant."

Schacht, in his second day of direct testimony, continued an elaboration of his main defense that "Hitler deceived the world, deceived Germany and deceived me." Asked by counsel to explain the prosecution's charge that he sat in the front row at Nazi party rallies, he said that he only attended the earlier ones as a Cabinet Minister and added: "Foreign ambassadors were there, too—except the American and Russian—and also were ostentaniously in the front row."

It was when Schacht attempted to "explain the presence of the diplomatic corps at this purely party function" that Jackson first objected.

Regarding his financing of Nazi rearmament as president of the Reichsbank, Schacht said: "I did this to obtain for Germany equal rights, a position I still think right. When the other Powers broke their promises to disarm, Germany had no alternative but to rearm in order to gain equality."

SCHACHT LOSES ON ONE POINT

May Not Plead That Foreign Envoys Admired Hitler.

Nuernberg, May 1 (A. P.).—Hjalmar Schacht, Nazi financial genius, told the International Military Tribunal today that all foreign ambassadors, except those from Russia and the United States, attended Nazi party rallies, but the court blocked his efforts to testify that the attitude of foreign nations was a factor in Germany's acceptance of the Hitlerite regime.

Attempts to insert this testimony provoked a vigorous protest from the chief American prosecutor, Robert H. Jackson, who contended that "foreigners are not on trial here, and if some of them were deceived by a regime which used Schacht for window dressing, that is beside the point."

Schacht's counsel, tall, white-maned Dr. Rudolf Dix, retorted that the attitude of foreigners and its effects on German opposition to Adolf Hitler was "of the utmost importance and I will fight for this piece of evidence as I see it."

TELLS OF ORDER TO HURRY TRIAL

Officer From Washington Heard in Lichfield Case.

Bad Nauheim, Germany, May 1 (A. P.).—A special co-ordinator of the courts martial of fourteen officers and men accused of brutality to guard house prisoners at Lichfield, England, testified today that he carried instructions from Washington that the Army authorities wanted the trials over and out of the papers because they were causing a lot of bad publicity. Col. Irvin Schindler of Salt Lake City made this statement at the trial of Lieut. Granville Cubage of Oklahoma City.

He took the witness stand after the court had granted a twenty-six-day postponement of the trial of Lieut. Leonard W. Ennis of Peekskill, N. Y., which began yesterday. Ennis had asked for a sixty-day postponement, his attorney declaring: "One reason why the Army's judicial system has drawn so much criticism lately is that it does not allow accused soldiers sufficient opportunity to prepare their defense, and this court should make certain it is not a subject of that criticism."

What Washington Said.

Schindler, who was sent here from Washington with a score of other officers to assist in the Lichfield cases, was questioned sharply by Cubage's attorney, Lieut. Morris McGee of Birmingham, Ala., about the nature of his role as co-ordinator and the instructions he issued to the trial staffs.

"There is a certain amount of pressure being exerted to get these cases tried quickly," said McGee, who indicated he too would ask a postponement.

Speaking from what he called notes on his verbal instructions, Schindler said: "My mission is to assist in these trials which have been getting a lot of bad publicity. Two nasty implications are being injected into the news—that higher-ups are being whitewashed and enlisted men discriminated against. The Army Chief of Staff, the Secretary and Under-Secretary of War and the Judge Advocate-General want this matter cleaned up in a hurry. They want these trials over with and out of the newspapers."

Another Judge Challenged.

Schindler insisted that there was nothing in his instructions requiring any action prejudicing the rights of the defendants.

Col. Ray H. Lewis of Houghton, Mich., stated to become president of Cubage's trial court, was removed on a peremptory challenge by McGee, who complained that Lewis was sharing billets with the president of Ennis's trial court and might be influenced by proceedings in that case, which is parallel to Cubage's. Cubage's trial will continue with eight officer judges instead of the original nine. The Ennis trial also will have eight judges, since the defense there also won removal of one of his judges.

U. S. ARMY RATION CUT IN GERMANY

MAY 1948

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 1 —(AP) The worldwide food shortage hit the American army in Europe today when headquarters announced that military rations would be trimmed 300 calories a day.

Effective May 5, soldiers will get less bread, flour, cereals, macaroni, noodles, sugar, lard and bacon. The reduction to a wartime caloric level means only a daily caloric cut equivalent to two milk chocolate bars a day, it was said.

Gen. Joseph T. McNarney's office also prohibited the possession of souvenir firearms in a new measure to tighten soldier discipline. All souvenir weapons, including knives and brass knuckles, will be kept under lock and soldiers disobeying the order will be subject to courts martial.

In another measure, headquarters ordered closed at once the so-called "social clubs which are loosely organized and operated without proper control."

GERMAN GIRL GETS LIFE

Sentence Follows Conviction in Murder of Her GI Suitor

FRANKFORT ON THE MAIN, Germany, May 1 (AP)—An unemotional, plump, blonde German girl heard an American military government court tonight sentence her to life imprisonment for murdering a United States paratrooper in a lovers' quarrel.

The conviction against 22-year-old Ingeborg Fischer for the slaying of Tech. Sgt. John Chinar, 26 years of age, of Tuscarora, Pa., was the first of its nature in American-occupied Germany. The Fischer girl was found guilty by a court of five American officers after the prosecution said it "wanted no mercy."

The girl also sat expressionless through the two-day trial as soldier witnesses testified that they found her standing over Chinar's body with a gun in her hand on March 15.

Chinar had been shot through the heart in his billet after he allegedly had told her that he wanted nothing more to do with her.

At the trial the defendant said Chinar tried to take the gun from her and that in the confusion she accidentally pulled the trigger.

Jewish Riot Camp Is Closed to Press

Army Takes Reporter Who Tried to Enter to Munich

MUNICH, May 1 (AP).—E. G. Valens, a representative of The United Press, was escorted back to Munich by American troops today after he attempted to enter the Jewish displaced persons camp near Landsberg, scene of a riot between Jews and Germans last Sunday.

Valens attempted to enter the camp after it had been cordoned off and closed to all outsiders.

[The United Press in New York said Valens was not in custody. He was first ordered to leave the camp, then ordered to leave Landsberg on the instructions of Colonel Metzger, chief of staff of the 9th Division, The United Press said.]

Ninth Division headquarters said the order forbidding all outsiders from entering the camp came from a higher level. No reason was given why the camp had been closed, but an officer said it probably would be reopened tomorrow.

Clark's Kin Among Arrivals In Vienna

Vienna, May 1 (AP)—The wives and children of 27 United States army officers and enlisted men stationed in Austria, including the wife and 19-year-old daughter of Gen. Mark Clark, arrived here today.

Vienna's streets were decorated with flags for the May Day celebration.

Clark, in addition to greeting his wife and daughter, celebrated his fiftieth birthday today and assumed the chairmanship of the Allied Council.

Four Arrested In Rome Disorder

Rome, May 1 (AP)—Giuseppe Romita, Interior Minister, said tonight that four persons have been arrested for last night's bomb and leaflet attack against the Rome buildings of Communist and Socialist organizations. The attacks and other disturbances preceded May Day celebrations in Italy.

Police identified two of the four as disabled Italian war veterans who denied they were Fascists but asserted they "hated Communists."

Meanwhile, search continued for five men who last night entered the Rome radio's transmitting station, held up the staff and interrupted a program to broadcast the Fascist marching song "Giovinezza."

NIGHT

Armed With Rifles

The broadcast interruption was seen as part of an attempt by Fascist diehards to sabotage the Left-Wing plans for May Day celebrations. The men were armed with rifles and hand grenades. Station employés said they were on the air for three minutes before making a successful getaway.

The attacks on Communist headquarters and Socialist party newspapers came later.

Three khaki-clad riders on a speeding motorcycle and sidecar flying the Italian tricolor tossed two grenades at Communist headquarters today.

pistol shots at each. No casualties or damage resulted.

From Rovigno came reports that nocturnal operatives replaced with a Fascist banner the Hammer and Sickle flag which had been flying on the Boara bridge since a recent Socialist victory in the municipal elections. Florence reported that the police had been alerted over a rumor that Mussolini's body was headed that way.

Meanwhile today all of Italy celebrated May Day as a holiday, with Left-wing parties scheduling assemblies in most cities to celebrate Labor conquests and to hold anti-Fascist demonstrations.

Italian Sailors To Scuttle Fleet?

Rome, May 1 (AP)—The monarchist newspaper Italia Nuova suggested today that Italian sailors might scuttle the Italian fleet to prevent its distribution among the Allies.

The newspaper recalled the precedent of German action at Scapa Flow after the last war.

"Italian sailors never pull down their flag, and they will never pull it down," it said. "In this decision they are backed by the entire Italian people."

Holdup Men Seize Rome Radio And Broadcast Fascist Hymn

Rome, May 1 (A. P.).—The Minister of the Interior, Giuseppe Romita, has ordered an investigation of an unscheduled broadcast over the Rome radio last night, when five men, armed with rifles and hand grenades, held up the staff and went on the air with a rendition of the Fascist hymn, "Giovinezza."

Radio employees said the men were on the air for three minutes, broadcasting Fascist slogans and singing. They then fled.

The broadcast apparently was part of an attempt by Fascist diehards to sabotage Left-wing plans for today's observance of May Day. It was followed by attacks upon Communist headquarters and on Communist and Socialist newspaper offices. Three khaki-clad occupants of a speeding motorcycle and sidecar flying the Italian tri-color threw two grenades at Communist hearquarters at about 1 A. M. They then roared past the offices of the Communist paper L'Unita and the Socialist paper Abanti, hurling one grenade and firing several

Communists Lead In Czech Vote Returns

Prague, April 30 [AP—Delayed]. Returns from local elections in scattered regions of Czechoslovakia close to the German border showed a strong Communist trend today.

Thirty-eight communities in the Decin and Podmokly areas gave the Communists 16,000 votes; Social Democrats, 6,000; National Socialists, 4,000, and Catholics, 700.

The Social Democratic paper, Pravo Lidu, charged that the Communist-controlled Interior Ministry had hand-picked spots for elections where the Communists were known to be strong as a campaign maneuver preliminary to the general election for Parliament on May 30.

Poland Still Censors Foreign Press News

Warsaw, May 1 (AP)—Outgoing and incoming foreign press messages are still being censored in Poland today despite the Foreign Ministry's announcement a fortnight ago that censorship would be removed.

An informed source said the Ministry's directive had been countermanded by the secret police. Meanwhile, censorship was tightening within Poland, coincident with a warning by Polish Peasant party leaders that the nation was drifting toward "civil war."

Aides of Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczky said that his newspaper, Gazeta Ludowa, had been censored 300 times within a month. Sources close to Karol Popiel, president of the Labor party, allied with Mikolajczky in the increasing political strife, said his weekly newspaper had deleted 50 per cent of the copy it intended to publish.

POLISH VILLAGES RAIDED

Germans employed foreign labor in building the city but no worker was assigned there for more than 60 days.

Stalin Warns Russian People Of Plot Afoot for New War

James R. DAY

Moscow, May 1 (A. P.).—A colorful demonstration by hundreds of thousands of Moscow's workers and a long parade by soldiers, sailors and airmen, advised by Generalissimo Stalin not to forget for a minute "the intrigues of international reaction which is hatching plans of a new war," marked the Soviet Union's observance of May Day today.

Although the Soviet leader gave first place in his order of the day to "our valiant armed forces," he told the people:

"There is no reason to doubt that in the future the Soviet Union will be true to its policy—the policy of peace and security, the policy of equality and friendship of the peoples."

Stalin exhorted the Russian armed forces to remain strong and increase their effectiveness by lessons learned from the war "on the basis of development of science and technic," but it was noted that the traditional military parade before Lenin's tomb in the Red Square was cut a half hour from the regular two-hour review.

"Now our armed forces are faced with a task of no less importance—vigilantly to guard the peace which was won and the constructive labor of the Soviet people, to be the reliable bulwark of the interest of the Soviet Union.

"The successful accomplishment of this honorable task is possible only on condition of further growth of military culture and military skill of the officers and men of our Army, our Navy and our aviation."

Stalin urged Russian workers to reach and even exceed the goals set in the nation's new five-year plan.

"Developing peaceful Socialist construction," Stalin's order declared, "we should not forget for a minute the intrigues of international reaction, which is hatching plans of a new war. It is necessary to remember the teaching of the great Lenin to the effect that after switching over to peaceful labor, it is necessary to be constantly vigilant, to protect as the apple of one's eye the armed forces and defensive powers of our country.

"The armed forces of the Soviet Union must daily improve their military art on the basis of experience of war, on the basis of the progress of military science and technic. Beyond any doubt, our army, our navy and our aviation will accomplish all those tasks facing them.

May Day, characterized by Stalin as "the international holiday of the working people," is most widely observed in European countries and is similar to the September Labor Day observance in the United States. It was first proclaimed in 1889 by the Second Socialist International in Paris.

"In the vanguard of the struggle for peace and security marches the Soviet Union, which played an outstanding part in smashing Fascism and fulfilled its great mission of liberation," Stalin continued.

"The nations liberated from the Fascist yoke received an opportunity of building their state life on democratic foundations, of realizing their historical aspirations. On this road they find fraternal assistance on the part of the Soviet Union.

"The entire world has had an opportunity to convince itself, not only of the might of the Soviet state, but also of the fairness of its policy based on the recognition of equality of all peoples, respect for their freedom and independence."

The order concluded with Stalin's directive that twenty artillery salvos be fired in Moscow, in the capitals of each of the Soviet Union's republics, and in Lwow, Koenigsberg, Khabarovsk, Vladivostok, Port Arthur and the "hero cities" of Leningrad, Stalingrad, Sevastopol and Odessa.

Dutch Bulb Experts Give Special Tulip to Stalin

By The Associated Press.

MOSCOW, May 1—Generalissimo Stalin is a lover of flowers.

This came out in connection with the arrival in the Soviet capital of four Dutch bulb experts and 30,000 tulips—a gift to the city for May Day.

Along with the bulbs came a special bouquet of the "Joseph Stalin" tulip, which the Hollanders will present to the Prime Minister. A prominent Soviet horticulturist and member of the Academy of Sciences suggested after inspecting the bouquet that another consisting of representatives of each of the 150 varieties of tulip in the shipment, be included.

"We will be glad to," said the bulb men, "but do you think he'd like them?"

"Generalissimo Stalin is very much interested in flowers," said the academician.

STALIN CALLS ZHUKOV TO PLACE OF HONOR

MOSCOW, May 1 (AP) Generalissimo Stalin, in an act of marked courtesy observed by hundreds of thousands of Russians, called Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, to his side atop Lenin's tomb today to watch the May day parade.

Zhukov, the conqueror of Berlin, was standing at a level below Stalin with a group of other military leaders when the parade of perhaps 1,000,000 persons, including thousands of troops, started. Stalin leaned over the marble parapet and invited Zhukov to climb up to his level. The marshal did.

EGYPTIAN SCHOOL FIGHT FATAL TO 2

Alexandria, Egypt, May 1 (A. P.).—An Egyptian policeman and an Egyptian army corporal were reported killed today by students who were held on the university grounds all morning while attempting to stage a demonsttration.

Seventeen policemen and students were sent to the hospital after an exchange of stones. The entire Alexandria police force and many Egyptian soldiers lined the streets outside the university gates to prevent the students from forming a procession.

A member of the university faculty who managed to get out of the grounds said the students captured two soldiers with rifles aas hostages and that shortly afterward a shot was fired which killed a police officer. The Egyptian corporal died of head in a hospital.

The students have protested published reports of British demands for four Egyptian airports. Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha denied yesterday that the British had demanded the airports.

THREE ARE KILLED IN EGYPTIAN CLASH

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, May 1—(AP) Three persons were killed today in a clash between police and university students demonstrating against a reported British demand for four Egyptian airports.

(A London broadcast said five students and two policemen were killed and 50 other persons injured.)

A police cordon confined the students to the university grounds to prevent them from forming a procession. Police and students exchanged volleys of stones all afternoon. Hand grenades were reported hurled by the demonstrators, smashing neighboring windows but causing no casualties.

A police lieutenant was shot and killed in the street, a corporal died at a hospital of head wounds suffered in the outbreak, and a workman who was watching the demonstration was killed by gunfire.

In Cairo, Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha described the situation in a communique as "serious." When the students began their demonstrations yesterday the premier denied reports of British demands for the airports.

India Studies Plan To End Famine

By Walt Mason

Bombay, May 1 (AP)—An anti-famine plan, which may become a national program for overcoming India's annual food deficit of between 25 and 30 million tons, has been laid before the National Planning Committee, headed by Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru.

The semi-official group's subcommittee has drawn a blueprint calling for Government sponsored and financed improvements to agriculture, reclamation of the 23 per cent of cultivable British India which now lies untilled; modernization of fisheries and cattle breeding and revisions of taxes on farms and farmers.

The plan, which includes irrigating arid areas and introducing modern machinery for use by agricultural co-operatives, would cost nearly $152,000,000, the subcommittee said, and could be financed over a ten-year period by a national loan.

Co-Operatives Stressed

The plan puts considerable emphasis upon formation of co-operatives, particularly for the 152 million acres of British India (which does not include the princely states) now uncultivated; improvement of agricultural and fishing techniques and equipment, and planned breeding as a means of increasing the supply of animal foods, which include milk and dairy products, as well as the meat, which only a minority of India's millions will eat because of religious scruples.

The fifteen-point program includes one point specifically aimed at the elimination of all great landholders and absentee landlords, and for the consolidation of holdings which have been split in some cases to almost infinitesimal parcels of land because of the inheritance system under which acreage is divided by the father among his sons.

Indian Mutineers Testify

BOMBAY, May 1 (AP)—Four sailors of the Royal Indian Navy who participated in the February mutiny that touched off rioting in which more than 250 died testified today at a navy inquiry that the uprising resulted from "very bad" food and "particularly offensive" treatment by British officers. They protested also that their pay amounted to only one-third that received by British sailors, and said the color ban was a contributory cause of the revolt.

Message To Mao

A protest message has been sent to Mao Tse-Tung, the No. 1 Communist leader, at Yenan via the Communist branch at Peiping executive headquarters. Extracts of the correspondents' message to Mao:

"We five undersigned American correspondents protest our detention under house arrest by Chinese Communist troops in Changchun. We have been interned and held virtually incommuncado under armed guard since the night of April 16.

[This is only the third dispatch Masterson has been able to file in that two-week period. The first, some days ago, was a brief report that Changchun had fallen.]

"Safety" Protected

"Gen. Chow Pao-chung, commander of Changchun, explained we still are being detained to 'protect our safety' against 'Kuomintang (Chinese National party) detectives.' We have made three offers since April 19 to sign a document relieving the Communist arms of all responsibility for our safety in this now peaceful city, but each of these offers has been refused.

"The Tass (official Russian news agency) correspondent has full freedom of movement.

"As correspondents who have consistently reported Communist and Kuomintang activities neutrally and without prejudice, we demand our immediate freedom."

The message was signed by each of the five.

5 U.S. Writers In Changchun Under Red 'House Arrest'

By Tom Masterson

Changchun, May 1 (AP)—Five American correspondents have been detained here by the Communists under so-called "protective house arrest" since their capture with the fall of this Manchurian capital April 16. The correspondents have protested repeatedly that they are being held under armed guard, but without effect.

On one occasion only, they were permitted to take a walk under guard through the city. Two of their cameras were seized.

"And The Japs Roam Freely"

"We found it humiliating to walk about Changchun under armed guard before the eyes of thousands of Japanese, including former enemy soldiers, who are roaming about freely. Consequently, we no longer are taking advantage of this doubtful privilege.

"Our detention violates principles of freedom of the press enunciated in Yenan or in our discussions with Communist representatives in Chungking and Peiping.

NANKING AGAIN IS THE CAPITAL

Hears National Assembly May Meet There Soon.

Nanking, May 1 (A. P.).—Nanking officially became the capital of China again today amid reports that the postponed National Assembly may convene about June 1 and that Gen. Marshall is hopeful of effecting a Manchurian truce within a few days.

Chen Li-fu, the Minister of Organization, told the Nanking press that the Assembly—charged with drafting a revised Chinese Constitution—may convene in a month. There was some newspaper speculation, however, that the Assembly—the first coalition of all Chinese parties—may not meet before autumn.

In Chungking, the Government, in formally decreeing Nanking the capital, observed that the post-war reconstruction task was heavier than the job of carrying on the war had been and called upon the people to help lift China to prosperity.

Would Quit Army Post.

Gen. Ho Ying-Chin was quoted in the Nanking Ta Kung Pao as saying he did not think he wanted to be Chief of Staff in the future National Defense Ministry. "I was Minister of War for fourteen years and Chief of Staff for eight years," he salod, adding that he had requested Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek to send him to the United Nations Chiefs of Staff Conference in New York.

The new Defense Ministry will embrace the Government and Communist armies, reorganized into one National army, when terms of a January agreement are carried out.

Meanwhile, the Communist Yenan radio charged that the Government was concentrating five armies in Northern China, in violation of agreements. It quoted a Communist military spokesman as saying that Government planes regularly reconnoitered that area and that the Government was sending in arms and ammunition.

CHINA RESUMES RULE IN NANKING

NANKING, May 1.—(AP) China's government moved back officially today from Chungking to this ancient northern city and was confronted with problems almost as complex as those of 1937 when the Japanese drove it out of Nanking.

In government halls where the Japanese conqueror and his puppet government once sat, the rulers of a freed China must tackle the monumental problems of internal strife and reconstruction.

The government declared the task of reconstruction was heavier than that of waging war, and urged the people to unite in bringing peace and prosperity to China.

The paramount job of the moment was to halt the Government-Communist fighting in Manchuria.

General Marshall, special U. S. envoy who arranged the truce for China proper, was reported hopeful that an agreement halting the Manchurian conflict could be made shortly after the Government and Communist negotiators arrive from Chungking later this week.

On the political front, Minister of Organization Chen Li-Fu told a press conference the National Assembly might be convened early in June to adopt China's new constitution.

Chiang Kai-shek postponed the assembly, originally scheduled to meet May 5, as one concession to the Communists, who had been demanding a delay.

3 of Truce Team Hurt in Crash

PEIPING, China, May 1 (AP)—Twelve persons were injured, three seriously, when an Army transport plane crashed today eight miles northwest of Peiping with eight members of a Chinese-American truce team. Executive headquarters said the three seriously injured were Americans and they would be flown to Shanghai tomorrow. Their names were withheld until next of kin were notified.

China Charges More For Mule Than Man

Tientsin, China, May 1 (AP)—Marines in North China are finding that human life is pretty cheap in this teeming country.

In accidents involving Marine equipment the United States Government is called on to pay about $55 in American m[illegible]ey at the current North China rate of exchange for each Chinese life lost.

Where a mule is killed in a similar accident the Government has to pay about $75 to the mule owner.

Korean Parties Face Allied Questionnaires

Seoul, May 1 (AP)—The United States-Soviet Joint Commission announced today it had approved a list of questions which Korean democratic parties and social organizations must answer before their advice would be asked on formation of a provisional government for the presently divided country.

A communique said full questionnaires would be published "in the nearest future" and that the commission soon would finish its discussion of how to consult with the Korean groups.

The questions will concern the character the government to be established.

Labor in Japan Backs Left With Strike Threat

Warns Premier of General Walkout if Right Forms Single-Party Cabinet

TOKYO, May 1 (AP).—Organized labor today threatened Japan with a paralyzing general strike unless the Right-Wing Shidehara government is succeeded by one of Leftist Social Democrats.

Despite intense pressure from the Left, the Kyodo News Agency said that Emperor Hirohito would ask the Liberal party president, Ichro Hatoyama, onetime Axis sympathizer, to form a new government on Friday.

A labor committee voiced its demands to Premier Baron Kijuro Shidehara himself at the height of quiet May Day celebrations which the American Provost Marshal estimated attracted 400,000 Japanese. The crowd, gathered just a block from General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters, waved red banners, sang, and heard speeches demanding rights for workers. Then it dispersed in the rain to march through various sections of the capital.

Meantime, Japanese police and American forces searched for the fanatic accused of having plotted to assassinate MacArthur at the height of today's celebration. Military police circulated through the celebrants thronging downtown Tokyo and picked up one suspect, but Captain Michael Frisch, head of the Army's Criminal Investigation Division, said he was "not the man we are looking for."

The conspirator whom Japanese police and the Americans sought was Hideo Tokayama, former secret policeman and suicide pilot. One Japanese plotter who tipped off Allied headquarters still was held incommunicado.

In the morning, MacArthur drove to his office as usual. Celebrants converging on the Imperial Palace parted to let his automobile through, and Japanese police saluted.

At the Labor Committee conference with Shidehara, Socialist Kanju Kato told the Premier that a nation-wide walkout might be called if a single party Cabinet was formed by the rightist Liberals. The Liberal party won 139 Diet (Parliament) seats in the recent election, but failed to gain a majority.

"The people may rise against it," Kato told the Premier. "This might take the form of a general strike. In that case, who is going to take the responsibility—you?"

Shidehara, who resigned his Cabinet seat nine days ago as an election aftermath, agreed to listen to the committee's demands—some voiced angrily—but declined to comment.

GENERAL TIE-UP IS THREATENED BY JAP LABOR

Workers Use New Freedom to Demand a Leftist Government.

FIRST MAY DAY IN 11 YEARS

Tokyo Orderly—Search Goes On for Leader of Plot on MacArthur's Life.

Tokyo, May 1 (A. P.).—Organized labor today used its new freedom to voice a May Day threat of a general strike to support its demand for a leftist government.

Meantime, the Japanese police and American forces searched for the fanatic accused of having plotted to assassinate Gen. MacArthur at the height of today's celebration by an estimated 400,000 Japanese in front of the Imperial Palace. It was Japan's first May Day celebration in eleven years and it passed quietly without a single reported act of violence.

Socialist Kanju Kato, in a labor committee conference with Premier Shidehara, said a nationwide walkout might be called if a single party Cabinet was formed by the rightist Liberals. The Liberal party won 139 Diet seats in the recent election but failed to gain a majority.

"The people may rise against it," Kato told the Premier. "This might take the form of a general strike. In that case, who is going to take the responsibility—you?"

Declines Comment.

Shidehara, who resigned his Cabinet nine days ago in an election aftermath, agreed to listen to the committee's demands—some voiced angrily—but declined to comment.

The conference followed the assembly which the American provost marshal estimated attracted 400,000 Japanese. The crowd, gathered just a block from MacArthur's Headquarters, waved red banners, sang, and heard speeches demanding rights for workers. Then it dispersed in the rain to march through various sections of the capital while Kato's group went to confer with Shidehara.

Armed American soldiers circulated through the crowd, looking for Hideo Tokayama, accused by MacArthur's Headquarters of having plotted to kill the General with grenades and pistols. An informant now in American custody told MacArthur's aids of the plot.

MacArthur's military secretary and officers in his counter-intelligence and criminal investigation divisions reported in midafternoon that there were no developments in the search for the plotter and that they had no reports of any arrests.

Tonight, Capt. Michael Frisch of Ithaca, N. Y., chief of the criminal investigation division, said a suspect had been taken into custody but "he is not the man we are looking for."

The informant remained under surveillance, but reporters were told he was "unavailable" for interviews.

The thirteen-man committee sent a message to MacArthur and members of the Allied Council expressing "our deep appreciation that since the Allies began to control Japan, we workers, farmers and others of the masses have been given freedom. . . ."

The committee, which included Communists, asked Shidehara to turn over the Government to the Social Democrats, who won ninety-two of the Diet's 466 seats. Kyuchi Tokuda, secretary of the Japan Communist party, demanded action to meet the housing shortage and asked "why don't you open Akasaka Palace to war victims?" The palace is the home of the young Crown Prince.

The committee also demanded the complete purging of war criminals and asked that the people be given a hand in drafting the constitution. As the group talked with Shidehara, American military policemen in armored cars and more than 100 Japanese policemen guarded the Premier's residence against a recurrence of the demonstration against him April 7.

But the long columns of celebrants who marched past and the several hundred thousand who gathered to hear speeches before the Emperor's Palace were orderly and jovial.

When MacArthur's five-starred car passed through the lines of paraders, taking the General to his office, the crowds parted respectfully. MacArthur declined any unusual precautions for his safety as the search for Tokayama spread throughout Japan. The Japanese was identified as a former member of the Kempeitai—Thought Police—and a suicide pilot in a kamikaze corps organized to repel invasion.

In Osaka, the country's second largest city, 50,000 gathered in a drizzle to demand minimum wages based on living costs, increased food rations for workers, participation in management and establishment of a democratic people's front. In Kyoto, 30,000 marched through the streets and at Aomori 20,000 waving red flags called on the Governor to oppose compulsory rice sale decrees.

JAPANESE FOUGHT 'RIGHTEOUS' WAR, TOJO TELLS PRESS

TOKYO, May 1 (AP) Ex-Premier Hideki Tojo, indicted with other war leaders Monday for "crimes against peace x x x against humanity", insisted from his cell today that Japan had fought a "righteous" war for freedom and equality of nations.

Tojo declared that if in 1941 Japan, "as an independent country," could have taken any other way than war "I would have taken it." He emphasized that he had hoped until the last that the 1941 peace talks in Washington would be successful.

Answers Questions

Japan's wartime premier made these statements—his first specific comments on war issues since his country's capitulation—in an exclusive written interview through his chief Japanese defense counsel, Ichiro Kiyose.

Writing his answers to 10 questions in clear, bold characters, Tojo admitted that he had opposed Japan's surrender last year and urged continued last-ditch resistance. He denied, however, that he had taken any action forcibly to prevent the emperor's surrender rescript.

Tojo reiterated the Japanese propaganda line about an Asiatic coprosperity sphere, and indicated he would base his defense largely on the "righteousness" of Japan's war aims.

"We did not want to invade any Oriental countries," he said. "I thought this was a war to emancipate Oriental countries from foreign influences and enjoy a co-prosperity sphere of freedom and equality."

Surprised by Appointment

Tojo, said he was "surprised" when named premier in 1941, although the late Prince Konoye and others said Tojo had engineered the cabinet downfall that placed him in power.

He said he "of course" believed at the outset that Japan would win the war, but declined to express an opinion on how or when Japan had lost.

The international tribunal which will try Japan's war leaders met with Chief Prosecutor Joseph B. Keenan today in preparation for the arraignment Friday of Tojo and 27 others. The trials are expected to begin next month.

Tojo Says Japs Fought To Protect Themselves

Tokyo, May 1 (AP)—Hideki Tojo insisted today from his prison cell that Japan fought "a war of self protection" and indicated he would face the International War Crimes Tribunal with no remorse.

Through his principle Japanese attorney, Ichiro Kiyose, the one-time dictator made his first statements on the war since the occupation.

Tojo acknowledged that he had spoken against Japan's surrender—proposing continued resistance—but denied that he had taken any direct action to forcibly prevent the Emperor's surrender rescript.

To Express "Whole Opinion"

He declared he would "express my whole opinion" in court, but dodged a question whether he intended to condemn American leaders while presenting his defense.

He said that if, in 1941, Japan could have taken any other way than war "as an independent country I would have taken it." He repeated Janan's favorite propaganda, faith in an Asiatic coprosperity sphere, indicating clearly that he would rest a considerable part of his defense on the "righteousness" of Japan's war.

Kiyose visited the former Premier 30 minutes today and reported him "in good health and good spirits." The trial may be held in June.

"Didn't Want To Invade"

Tojo, writing his answers to ten questions in clear, bold characters, declared:

"We did not want to invade any Oriental countries. I thought this was a war to emancipate Oriental countries from foreign influences and enjoy a coprosperity sphere of freedom and equality.

"But during the war, in order to complete it, we could not refrain from using natural resources (of the occupied areas) and imposing several restrictions on the people's rights."

"New Standard" Hope

He said these restrictions were to continue only during the war, after which the Oriental countries were to live on "a principle of freedom," but the war ended differently and "it is regrettable that this idea has taken a different shape."

Tojo said he wanted "from the bottom of my heart for Japan to revive in a new standard" but did not explain.

His steadfastness to the same idea with which he announced the opening of the war at least is different from that of many Japanese. Several codefendants now insist they had nothing to do with the hostilities.

Tojo declared he was "surprised" when he was named Premier in 1941, although the late Prince Konoye and others said Tojo had engineered the Cabinet downfall that placed him in power.

Tojo declined to answer this question:

"Do you feel now that it was better that you lived through your suicide attempt?"

Navy Opposition

He also declined to say whether his decisions would have been affected if the Japanese Navy had more strongly opposed war in 1941; whether he thought all of the principal Japanese figures had been accused of war crimes, and what he thought of the trials in general.

He said: "Of course, I believed we would win the war" at the outset, but he declined to express an opinion on how or when Japan had lost.

He said he would answer in court the question as to when he became convinced that war with the United States and Britain was inevitable.

Until now, he had remained silent. His answers today indicated that the razor-tongued Tojo won't spare words when he goes into court.

TWO YANKS BEATEN BY JAPANESE MOB

Tokyo, May 1 (A. P.).—Two American soldiers were beaten Sunday night by a mob of Japanese, one of whom said he would "not take anything from any G. I's," the Army newspaper Stars and Stripes reported today.

Capt. Michael G. Frisch, chief of the Criminal Investigation Division of the Provost Marshal's office, was quoted as saying the two Americans—privates in the 808th Engineer Aviation Battalion—were painfully but not seriously hurt. He did not identify them.

The following story was attributed to Frisch:

The two soldiers were walking down a street in Kamata, between Tokyo and Yokohama. They were approached by four Japanese, one of whom said he had been through the Okinawa campaign and did not propose to "take anything from any G. I.'s." Then he whistled and 75 to 100 Japanese swarmed around the Americans, while fifteen or twenty beat them. Many of the group carried wooden rifles and sticks.

Intelligence agents apprehended a number of suspects, including two identified by the beaten soldiers. The investigation is continuing.

Japanese Elections Fair, Briton Reports

Tokyo, May 1 (AP)—The recent Japanese elections in the British occupation area were conducted in a manner completely in keeping with the traditions of freedom and democracy," Lieut. Gen. John Northcott, commander of British Commonwealth forces in Japan, reported to Allied headquarters today.

The British watched the elections to see if they were carried out in a "fair manner and to judge the feelings of the people in regard to the elections," Northcott said.

Balloting was "almost entirely free from malpractice . . . the few trifling violations being due primarily to ignorance and not to deliberate intent."

Goods Limit to Japan Lowered

TOKYO, May 1 (AP)—The poundage of household goods that the dependents of American occupation troops may bring to Japan and Korea has been halved and pets have been banned. The weight limitation is now 3,000 pounds, or 50 per cent of the previous limit, whichever is greater. Full allowances would overburden transportation facilities, headquarters said.

JAP GOLD BRICKER RUNS INTO BRASS

Yokohama, May 1 (A. P.).—Two "gold bricks" of gilded brass and a shame-faced Japanese owner who admitted paying 500,000 yen ($33,000) for them were found today by a First Cavalry Division patrol seeking hoarded metal.

Capt. B. L. Freeman of Pasadena, Cal., patrol commander, said the owner already had discovered the hoax.

Breeches Buoy Transfer A Harrowing Experience

By Richard N. O'Malley

With the United States Navy Off Japan, May 1 (AP) — A dry definition of a breeches buoy describes it as a carrying device to haul men between ships traveling at sea.

The man who figured that one out just didn't know what he was talking about. When history records devices which have heckled mankind in his efforts to move about, the breeches buoy will have a prominent place.

Even in the Navy a breeches buoy transfer is an event. Interested persons line the rails while hoarse voiced seamen heave lines, rig ropes and generally behave like men cleaning up after an accident.

Harrowing Experience

Old navy men often talk of their first trip by breeches buoy as people do about an experience with a mad dog or the time the house burned down. Only recently an officer who had just finished a fighter flight over Tokyo with great coolness was as nervous as a subdeb over the prospect of a breeches buoy transfer.

On most ships the breeches buoy is a rope sling in which the transferee sits, grasping at ropes and at hope, while seamen on the receiving ship run violently back, yanking on a pull rope.

Ship Uses Old Chair

This ship is in the breeches buoy elite class. It uses an old chair which once graced an airplane and disdains the common swing. Swinging majestically between ships with its precious cargo of admirals and satellites, our chair lacks the true element of chance. If it fell in the water, however, a sporting factor would develop as the passenger struggled to free himself from a hooked belt.

To a novice a transfer between ships traveling at about 24 land miles an hour is a thing of rarity. Below, the blue Pacific looks like nothing Crosby ever sang about. At the rear, seamen discuss the merits of shoving the buoy away in a casual manner, like sending off a case of tomatoes. Then to the salty accompaniment of shouts, the buoy swings out on the transfer rope.

Ships Roll And Wallow

With a fine sense of drama, the seamen mauling on the other end often pause long enough for a passenger to wonder if the whole project has been suddenly abandoned. The ships, of course, are rolling and wallowing and no two ships roll and wallow alike. In this fashion a passenger can be swooped waveward like a reckless gull, or held taut like a bug on a banjo string.

Finally, the swing whirls to the rail for another interesting moment. For if the swing is not clutched immediately it can go berserk, draping its cargo on posts, stanchions, bights or whatever else clutters a ship's rail besides kibitzers.

When it's all over the watchers walk away from the rail. If often looks as if they are disappointed it went off so uneventfully.

Crews Compete to Drop Bomb

Four Superfortress Outfits Due at Kwajalein for Final Test Before Atomic Day.

Kwajalein, May 1 (A. P.).—Four Superfortress crews will arrive in a few days from the United States to compete in a series of flights for the honor of dropping the atomic bomb on the Navy's guinea pig test fleet in Bikini lagoon.

Several crews have been competing at Roswell, N. M., and four crews of nine men each will make the trip to the Marshalls. Here the lucky group will be chosen "after observing their work over Bikini," said Col. Millard C. Young, Chief of Staff of the Air Force task group that will drop the bomb and gather the scientific data.

Leading on the basis of the Roswell competitions is the crew headed by Lieut.-Col. Clarence McPherson of Cheswick, Pa., Young reported. But this crew is not far ahead of those commanded by Lieut.-Col. Jack J. Catton of Los Angeles, Col. Paul W. Tibbets Jr. of Orlando, Fla., and Major Woodrow P. Swancutt of Wisconsin Rapids, Wis.

All Is Precision.

Airmen here say there probably has never been a bombing mission requiring the precision and co-ordination which will be necessary to make Operation Crossroads in early July a complete success. One hitch in the precisely planned timing could nullify months of effort and the expenditure of millions of dollars—for the gathering of scientific data depends on split-second co-ordination.

The exact number of aircraft to participate has not been determined, but Major Milton R. Knight of Hinckley, Utah, said that on the day of the test the bomber will be accompanied by instrument-carrying aircraft, photographic planes, radio-controlled drones, patrol planes and air-sea rescue planes, that each plane must be at its designated place at the designated moment, that the planes will carry more than 300 cameras, which must be in position to record the explosion and that if the cameras begin their recording a few seconds too early or too late valuable scientific reports will be lost. In the first minute the cameras will expose 1,000 negatives a second. A tone signal from the bomber an instant before the explosion will activate electronics devices to start the cameras, he added.

GEN. KONO TO HANG FOR PANAY CRIMES

Manila, May 1 (A. P.).—The Japanese Lieut.-Gen. Takeshi Kono was convicted by an American military commission today of responsibility for the death of from 2,500 to 3,000 civilians on Panay Island and was sentenced to die on the gallows. The victims included seventeen Americans at the Baptist missionary camp at Hopevale, and an unidentified American airman beheaded on Negros Island in mid-April, 1945.

The verdict followed a two-weeks' trial at which forty-two Panay islanders gave graphic eye-witness accounts of bloody punitive expeditions throughout the island by Japanese troops which Kono commanded.

Identified among the slain Americans at Camp Hopevale were Dr. and Mrs. Francis H. Rose, Baptist missionaries; Dr. and Mrs. Earle F. Rounds, Douglas Rounds, Mrs. J. H. Covell and Miss Dorothy A. Dowell.

JAP REFUSED TO BELIEVE STORY OF U. S. VICTORY

HILO, Hawaii, May 1 — (AP) Acting Police Chief Anthony Paul said today a 51-year-old Japanese and his wife were being questioned why they flew the Japanese flag over their home Monday on Emperior Hirohito's birthday.

On the banner of the Rising Sun were inscribed in Japanese characters: "To the Japanese emperor Banzai! To the Japanese empire Banjai! To the Japanese army Banjai!

Paul quoted the man as saying he thought Japan had won the war, that Hirohito had granted the United States a benevolent peace, and all those newspaper accounts of Japan's surrender were just so much propaganda.

Millionaire Sailor's Sweetheart Is Evicted In Honolulu

Honolulu, May 1 (AP)—Marguerite Faye Human, stowaway sweetheart of millionaire sailor John Ochsner, was evicted last night from her lodgings of the past month and, like any other poor girl, tramped the streets in search of a room.

Although Ochsner, 19, soon is to inherit $2,000,000, he could give no immediate aid to his dime-store clerking friend. The seaman first class was confined to his base at Barbers Point, a few miles from Honolulu, as a prisoner at large while he awaits disposition of a charge of sexual intercourse with a girl under 16 years of age.

Scoffs At Idea Of "Rival"

Marguerite scoffed at a suggestion that she had a rival in the 15-year-old Spanish-French-Indian girl with whom Ochsner allegedly consorted twice.

"You know how it is with young girls," said the Human girl. "Just puppy love. And you know how sailors are; they just naturally give out a line and girls are taken in. You'd be surprised how many girls 'love' Johnny. They like his money.

Feels "Partly Responsible"

"I really feel partly responsible. It was my spat with Johnny that drove him to go out with her. He's really not the grown-up man he thinks he is. Johnnie's so immature and irresponsible, but I know he loves me and I will love him forever."

Marguerite said she planned to sail for the mainland May 9 if the Hawaii probation office consents and Ochsner's "troubles are settled." She was placed on probation after her stowaway arrival here a few weeks ago to rejoin Ochsner.

"But I won't go until this is done," she said. "I'm standing by Johnnie. And that goes double if Johnnie's mother comes out. I'll be there at the airport waiting for her."

Mrs. Hilda Ochsner Hinckley, John's mother, said yesterday at her Oakland (Cal.) home that she planned to fly to Honolulu with her attorney to help her son. Previously, she blocked Marguerite's efforts to wed the young heir here.

Civilians desiring to travel over the highway within Canada will be required to obtain the necessary permission from Canadian authorities.

Army Ends Control On Alaska Travel

Anchorage, Alaska, May 1 (AP)—The Alaskan Department announced that the Army would relinquish today all responsibility and control over civilian travel on that part of the Alaskan highway lying within Alaska.

U.N. GROUP BEGINS STUDY OF CHARGES AGAINST FRANCO

NEW YORK, May 1—(AP) The United Nations Security council sub-committee investigating Franco Spain plunged into a mass of 461 separate documents on the Spanish question today at its first secret meeting.

A communique said most communications urged recognition of the Spanish Republican government "while some advocate that a new regime should be established in Spain on the basis of a free democratic election."

Some Favor Franco

Only two telegrams and three letters were indirectly favorable to Franco. They objected to any interference in the internal affairs of Spain.

The documents were letters and telegrams received from private individuals and non-governmental bodies on the Spanish question between Jan. 1, 1946, and April 30. The communique said the U.N. secretary-general has been ordered to ask every member of the United Nations to supply all relevant material on the Spanish question.

The sub-committee said it carefully considered procedure and methods of work "because this is the first time that such studies are being undertaken by the United Nations." It will meet again next Monday at 3 p.m.

The sub-committee met at 3 p.m. today for its executive session to take up the charges that the Franco regime of Spain menaces world peace and shelters Nazis and war criminals.

Before the investigators, who must report to the council by May 31, was a growing pile of documents. It was learned, however, that the United States' dossier on Spain still is being assembled by the State department and probably would not be submitted for a week or so.

The sub-committee is made up of four delegates—Chairman Paul Hasluck, of Australia; Dr. Oscar Lang, of Poland; Henri Bonnet, of France; Dr. Pedro Leao Velloso, of Brazil, and a member of the Chinese delegation, Dr. Shihsi Rsu, sitting in for Dr. Quo Tai-Chi.

Study Lange's Charges

In the initial phase they were known to be studying the charges made by Lange on April 17 in his demand that the United Nations sever relations at once with Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

Before the sub-committee met, the Spanish Republicans added more charges to the pile submitted to the council by Lange. The Spanish Republican observers here brought forward a cable from their exiled prime minister, Jose Giral, charging that 560 persons had been jailed and mistreated in Barcelona, with 25 near death, and that 500 more were mistreated in Andalusia.

The Spanish embassy in Washington declared the charges were untrue and denied that any prisoners in Spain had been deprived of the "right of legal defense."

Committee Busy

The Hunter college interim U. N. headquarters was busy with day-long committee meetings shaping reports and proposals which must be ready for the Economic and Social council here on May 25.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, chairman of the U. N. Commission on Human Rights, told the sub-committee on the status of women that it faced a long task which would not be finished "until men and women are human beings with no distinctions."

"You must continue your study to the point where women have reached a point where they are on a completely equal basis with men," Mrs. Roosevelt said. "One of the first things to be considered should be the political participation of women in government. Until women have political rights they are not going to achieve many other things and they will have less influence even in their own countries."

Stuart Rice of Washington, member for the United States, was elected chairman of the statistical commission.

U. N. Office Laborers Seek $10 Wage Increase

NEW YORK, May 1—(AP) Thirty-five office laborers working for the United Nations at Hunter college today threatened to strike unless their $30-a-week wage is increased to $40 by May 7.

J. B. Straley, acting chief of the building management division, said "a committee of experts in the administration and budget division "now is reviewing all pay rates.

Meanwhile, he said he would relay to the group's spokesmen, these points: "(1) They knew when they took the job what the pay was; (2) nobody in the United Nations administrative setup has the power to change pay rates."

Subway Tangles Up Mrs. Roosevelt Again

New York, May 1 (AP)—Mrs Eleanor Roosevelt, an old hand at traveling, was four minutes late arriving at a meeting of the United Nations Commission on Human Rights, of which she is chairman.

"I got mixed up on the subway again," she explained.

BLIMPS GUARDED CONVOYS AT SEA

NEW YORK, May 1. — (AP) U. S. Navy blimps escorted 89,000 ships "laden with millions of troops, billions in U. S. military equipment and billions in Lend-Lease supplies" during the war without loss of a single vessel, Rear Admiral C. E. Rosendahl said today.

He is chief of naval airship training and experimentation.

Only one blimp was lost through enemy action—the airship K-74 brought down by submarine gunfire July 18, 1942, in the Caribbean, according to a booklet publicizing the work of Rosendahl's fleet.

At the peak of operations, blimps were patrolling 3,000,000 square miles off the Atlantic, Pacific and Mediterranean coasts.

Argentina Plans Auction Of All Axis Assets There

To Use Funds as Indemnity for 'Losses' in War

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP).—The Argentine Embassy announced today that the Farrell government will proceed with the liquidation of total German and Japanese assets through public and private auction.

Similar action, it said, will be taken against firms, corporations and persons linked to the Axis nations or dominated by them during the war.

This step, an embassy seatement declared, will constitute the "final stage in the process of intervention in enemy assets by the vigilance board."

The embassy said that according to the terms of a decree promulgated recently, the money accruing from such sales will be used first to pay the expenses involved in liquidating these assets.

The remainder will be used to indemnify costs and damages suffered by Argentina as a result of the war, those incurred by public officials, Argentine citizens and legally constituted entites located in the country.

This evidently refers to a current plan for satisfying Latin-American reparations claims through a pooling of German and Japanese assets.

Under this system, any Latin-American country could draw on the surplus enemy assets of another if it did not have enough Axis properties within its own borders to meet its approved claims. Argentina has the largest amount of enemy assets of any Latin-American country.

Senator Attempts to Shift British Loan Bill to House

WASHINGTON, May 1 — (AP) Two western Republicans split over the $3,750,000,000 British loan proposal today while opponents maneuvered for a coup which they hoped would wipe it off the Senate's agenda.

Senator Brooks (R.-Ill.) attacked the loan as a "world wide W.P.A. project" that would "lower our American standard of living."

Senator Hickenlooper (R.-Iowa) arose a few minutes later to praise it as "an earnest effort to stabilize a great portion of the economy of the world which x x x will advance the cause of humanity and its comforts."

Tries to Shift Bill

While this seesaw debate was going on, a third westerner, Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D.-Colo.) disclosed a plan to dislodge the loan bill from the Senate calendar and send it to the House as a revenue raising measure.

Johnson told a reporter that he would make a point of order that, as a revenue measure, the bill must be acted upon first by the House. If he should win in a Senate test on this constitutional question, all of the thousands of words of Senate debate on the measure since May 15 would go down the drain.

An Administration lieutenant who asked not to be named, said that he was confident sufficient votes could be rallied to beat off Johnson's attack. He conceded, however, that many who had had difficulty deciding whether to support or oppose the loan might seek an easy way out on such a vote. The roll call would not be on the bill itself but on the constitutional issue.

Brooks told his colleagues that he expected to be called "anti-British" for opposing the loan. But he said he had some good company in that field.

He listed "Jesse Jones, who loaned more than any individual in history; Leo Crowley, able administrator of the Export-Import bank and Mr. (Bernard) Baruch, adviser to Presidents."

"I do not question the right of the Russian people to live under and support their Communistic form of government," Brooks said.

"I do not question the right of the British people to adopt and sustain a Socialistic form of government, but I do question the right of those entrusted to sustain our representative form of government to dissipate the resources of the American people to support Communistic and Socialistic systems abroad while weakening our representative government at home."

Gives Reason for Support

Hickenlooper gave these four reasons for supporting the loan:

"1. I believe this loan is a contribution toward sowing the seeds of peace, now, when every effort must be made to see that cooperation and mutual helpfulnes among nations is the order for a hopeful future.

"2. I believe this loan will go far toward freeing the markets of the world for the inter-exchange of goods among nations on a basis that will go far toward preventing bloc trading and bilateral exchanges from which we have never benefitted.

"3. I believe that it will give far greater opportunity for the disposal of our surpluses produced in America than otherwise would be the case.

"4. I believe that it will contribute much toward the unity of the nations of the world that believe in our ideals of individual sovereignty and the free exercise of individual genius as the vehicle of human progress."

25-Year Occupation Questioned

Washington, May 1 (AP)—Secretary Byrnes's proposal for four-power policing of Germany for 25 years has "complete support" of President Truman, but some senators today questioned the length of time.

Charles G. Ross, White House secretary, told reporters that Byrnes's plan, presented to the Paris foreign ministers' conference, "is entirely in conformity" with the President's views and has his "complete support."

A generally favorable senatorial attitude toward the plan of preventing German military might from rising again was tempered by some members' questions as to the desirability of keeping American troops in the conquered country for a quarter century.

Senators Wheeler (D., Mont.) and Capehart (R., Ind.) were dubious about extended occupation.

Sees Heavy Tax Load

"It would be a terrific tax load on the American people," Capehart said. "I'm beginning to wonder who won the war if we are going to feed Germany, clothe them and guard them for 25 years."

It would mean a "tremendous lot for world peace," Wheeler told a reporter, "if we can relieve Russia's fears of aggression on the part of Germany to the extent that the Soviets will withdraw their troops and permit independent governments to be set up in the Baltic and Balkan states."

Senator Austin (R., Vt.) said he "should think that the Russians would be 'pleased'" by the plan. Senator Hatch (D., N.M.) said it should reassure Moscow that the United States does not intend to pull out of European affairs.

Senator Brooks (D., Ill.) said he favored keeping Germany disarmed but added: "We'll have to know some details of what our responsibilities are before we can say that we will accept a 25-year agreement to police Europe."

BOWLES INVITES PUBLIC TO RENEW SUPPORT OF OPA

Warns Against 'Compromise' Amendments Offered by Agency's Foes.

MEAT SITUATION STUDIED

End of Controls Asked if Packers Cannot Get Livestock.

WASHINGTON, May 1—(AP) Chester Bowles tonight advised the public not to be duped by "compromise" amendments now being proposd to replace the amendments fixed by the House to the OPA extension bill.

The public uproar over the "dangerous and highly inflationary" House bill has caused OPA's opponents to beat a seeming retreat, the stabilization director said in a radio address on the Mutual network.

"But—and let me make this warning absolutely clear—let's not be fooled by former opponents of firm price control who suddenly protest that they are really on our side."

Urges Renewed Protests

He urged consumers to continue their vigorous protests against a weakened price act, declaring: "You are opposed by a small but well-organized group of lobbyists who are filling the hotels here in Washington right now."

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson said earlier in the day that price control on meats should be abandoned unless a 90-day test period showed that packers could get livestock in "something like normal" volume.

He agreed, in an appearance at Senate Banking committee hearings, with the packers' contentions that those who stayed within ceiling prices had been unable to get stock for slaughter.

Sees Move as Experiment

Later, he told reporters that any dropping of controls should be experimental, with the government retaining power to reimpose them.

Anderson said that two things may correct the situation: (1) New quotas designed to route to slaughterers the same volume they had in 1944 and (2) a campaign to prevent diversion to black markets and other abnormal sources of trade.

"This is about the last effort to see if it will work," he told Senator Barkley (D-Ky) in a discussion of meat control.

Barkley had related that a stockman "in whom I have every confidence" stated that while he normally slaughtered 7,000 head a week he can now get but 500. Anderson called this a typical case.

"Large, reliable companies can't get cattle in the (price) compliance range," he said. "They run up against people who don't care about the compliance range and these people take it away from them.

"That's why slaughter quotas were restored."

Quotas Once Effective

Anderson said the quotas were effective earlier and they might turn the trick again, although he said packers were not convinced they would help enough.

Senator Bankhead (D-Ala) asked what would be a reasonable period to see whether meat control can work.

"We would have to do something in 90 days or abandon it," Anderson replied. He added this includes successful blows against the black market and assurance that regular packers get "something like normal" volume.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) told reporters afterward he regarded the secretary's 90-day statement as "very significant."

"If he's that uncertain," Taft added, "maybe we will find out very quickly whether it is going to work."

Anderson said that people aren't worrying much about food prices.

He amplified that when they are able to spend their money on automobiles, radios and washing machines, they will be inclined to watch food prices more closely.

"Some people don't mind paying $1 a pound for butter," he observed. He said an end to meat ceilings might mean that pork would go to 70 cents a pound—" although I'm not saying it would stay there."

Fruit Prices Soared

Taft recalled that when OPA lifted price ceilings on citrus fruits, the price soared. He said he would not vouch for it, but had heard a charge that OPA knew the supply was short and lifted ceilings deliberately "to make an example."

Anderson said that the citrus growers had asked that ceilings be lifted, earlier or later than the time the action was taken, but "didn't want them taken off at the time."

In a discussion of the 30-cent bonus the government is paying for 50,000,000 bushels of corn, to replace wheat needed in Europe, Anderson said he had advocated an increase in the price of corn.

Taft, one of the Republicans who contend that the bonus is a sort of black market arrangement in itself, criticized it to Anderson.

The secretary suggested Taft was quarreling with the wrong person, but Taft shouted that the Administration "can't divide itself up into compartments."

Anderson said the bonus plan was decided on as the simplest way to do a job that needed to be done.

In his prepared statement, Anderson said the bill passed by the House "does not provide the strong controls which are particularly needed at this time."

He said one amendment, to lift controls when supply exceeds production in the 12 months ending June 30, 1941, would make price-free "virtually the whole list of foods."

Anderson said he is particularly concerned about the increase in farm land prices. On the average, he said, they are up 70 per cent above the 1935-39 level.

Reconversion Board Votes For OPA

Washington, May 1 (AP)—The Advisory Board of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion unanimously urged today that the life of the OPA be extended for a period not to exceed one year.

Reconversion Director John W. Snyder released a resolution adopted by the board as Secretary of Agriculture Anderson told the Senate Banking Committee that increased farm real estate prices are "a strong argument for holding on to price control."

The resolution said termination of price control must be brought about without unnecessary delay and in an orderly manner.

Would Retain Protection

But it added that it is "convinced that to obandon price control on June 30, 1946, would leave the nation unprotected against a dangerous rise in prices in the interval before normal economic forces are working."

Another advisory board resolution recommended creation within the OPA, at a high executive level, of an expediting committee to handle all applications on which a decision has been delayed for 30 days.

Anderson testified that a contributing factor in the rise of rural land prices are legitimate farmers, speculators and city people "who want a place in the country" as a hedge against inflation.

Would Consider Subsidies

The committee is considering legislation to extend price controls a year beyond June 30. Anderson indorsed this—together with continuing consumer food-price subsidies.

"The whole world food situation is and wil lcontinue to be so critical that it may not be safe to remove all subsidies before some time in 1947," he said.

OPA ACTS TO SPUR DELIVERY OF SUITS

Manufacturers of Men's Clothing Get Extension of Price Regulation.

WASHINGTON, May 1 — (AP) The government acted tonight to sweep away an obstacle to delivery of men's suits to retail stores.

OPA gave manufacturers more time to meet price regulation requirements after clothing industry spokesmen had contended in New York that the regulations had halted shipment of from 75 to 80 per cent of suits on hand.

The price agency took its action as the Civilian Production administration called a series of conferences with clothing industry representatives in a move to boost output of men's suits.

OPA revised its "maximum average price regulation" to give suit producers another 30 days—through May 30—to come into compliance with the order. Previously today had been the deadline.

The extension is being granted, OPA said, "so that there will be no interruption in the flow of seriously needed suits and other men's tailored clothing to retail stores."

In granting the extension rather than increasing maximum average prices, OPA said that the industry had not "furnished reliable data to support the need" for an industry-wide adjustment" in the clothing regulation.

The average price order is designed to assure production of low cost clothing. It requires manufacturers to turn out about the same ratio of high to low-priced garments as they did during a base period, usually 1943.

Face Stiff Penalties

Producers who do not meet this requirement during a calendar quarter, and who fail to come into compliance during the next 30 days, face stiff penalties if they continue to ship high price garments beyond that time.

The quarter for which manufacturers are now accountable ended on March 31. The original 30-day grace period expired yesterday.

OPA said that when it revised price ceiling for men's suits last March, it received industry assurances that there would be no general increase in prices for these garments.

Price Increase Reported

The agency said that it was receiving reports that suit prices actually had risen "by as much as five to 15 per cent" as a result of the March order.

Stating that it had been "astounded" by these reports the agency added:

"OPA issued the men's clothing regulation for the purpose of readjusting prices, not for increasing them generally. The results of the order are counter to industry representations of what could be expected."

The 30-day extension, OPA said, would give the agency "time to examine the effects of the order and to review the action taken. It also will permit us to make any necessary adjustments."

Earlier in the day the Civilian Production administration called a series of three conferences with clothing industry officials to discuss ways of increasing production and improving distribution of men's suits.

The first of these meetings will be tomorrow, with the other two next week.

OPA Gives Price Rises To Makers Of Radio Tubes

Washington, May 1 (AP)—OPA today gave manufacturers of radio tubes price increases of up to 20 per cent, but ruled out any immediate rise in retail prices.

The agency ordered dealers to absorb the increases, which are effective tomorrow, pending a survey of wholesalers, and retailers' costs.

The increases are applicable to special purpose as well as standard receiving tubes. They are:

On tubes sold for replacement purposes, 20 per cent over the March (1942) level at which prices had been frozen.

On all other tubes, including those for use in new radios, 15.5 per cent over current ceilings.

PEPPER FLARES UP AT HEARING

Rebukes Donnell for Queries to Schwellenbach.

Washington, May 1 (A. P.).—Senator Pepper (D.-Fla.) protested today at a Senate Labor Committee hearing that Senator Donnell (R.-Mo.) was questioning Secretary Schwellenbach "like he was a criminal rather than a Cabinet officer."

Donnell had just drawn from the Secretary of Labor an acknowledgement that he had not personally prepared a statement indorsing proposed national health legislation.

"I don't believe the Secretary feels I am examining him like a criminal, do you?" Donnell asked.

"No, but I don't think some of your questions make any sense," replied Schwellenbach.

Pepper got his dander up when Donnell asked Schwellenbach how many parts the bill had.

"This is petty," Pepper protested. "The Senator is conducting this examination like the Secretary was a criminal rather than a cabinet officer."

Pepper Withdraws Words.

A few moments later, Pepper said he would withdraw that, but asked if Donnell could not question Schwellenbach "as if this were a Senate committee" and not "like we were conducting a bitterly contested law suit."

Donnell said the point he was trying to make was that Schwellenbach's statements were given the committee "with the prestige" of a Cabinet office and "the Secretary himself does not know about whether this statement is true."

Earlier Dr. Martha M. Eliot urged swift congressional action on national health legislation, saying that "each day debate goes on, we lose eight more mothers and eighty-five more babies needlessly."

Since the bill was introduced last fall, the associate chief of the Labor Department's Children's Bureau told the Senate Labor Committee, "more than 13,500 babies and 1,300 mothers have died whose lives might have been saved."

Backed by Schwellenbach.

Both she and Schwellenbach recommended that care be provided for all children and expectant mothers, rather than limited to families insured under the proposed compulsory insurance plan.

The legislation provides for pre-payment of medical and hospital services through deductions from pay rolls. Schwellenbach said that the legislation offered "a firm foundation for the attainment of the objectives of better and more adequate medical care for all the people."

"Good health," he told the committee, "is a national asset and we must not permit it to be jeopardized any longer through sheer failure to organize and make available to every American the scientific skills of modern medicine."

CONGRESS URGES SPEED IN RETURN OF SURPLUS GOODS

WASHINGTON, May 1—(AP) Congress put the spur on the Administration today to speed up the distribution of surplus war property.

1. Chairman Byrd (D-Va) ordered the joint congressional economy committee to investigate, declaring a lag in sales has become "a national scandal."

2. The special war investigating committee headed by Senator Mead (D-NY) told Reconversion Director John W. Snyder to hurry up the return of civilian-type goods from Europe as well as from the Pacific area. Snyder said hundreds of shiploads are coming from the Pacific.

Byrd complained in a statement that no effective machinery has been established to permit civilian purchase of surplus, although the war ended eight months ago.

He said only $2,000,000,000 worth has been disposed of while there is $12,000,000,000 worth that can be sold to consumers and producers.

"This would greatly relieve the existing shortage of various materials badly needed by the veterans and other citizens," Byrd said in a statement, "but there is so much red tape it is practically impossible to find out what materials are available and how they can be purchased."

Snyder told the Mead committee that 285 shiploads—2,000,000 tons—of surplus materials will have been brought back from the Pacific by September. One hundred sixty-three vessels already have returned or are on the way, he said.

Mead noted, however, that virtually all the material was coming from the Pacific. He estimated that three-fourth of the surplus is in Europe and other theaters and said the committee is interested in that, too.

Snyder said that, to date, about $4,000,000,000 worth of property in overseas theaters has been declared surplus, in addition to property costing about $5,750,000,000 which already has been returned to the United States.

U.S. Discloses Seven Bids For Steel Plant in Utah

WASHINGTON, May 1—(AP) Bids received by the War Assets corporations today for the $200,000,000 Geneva, Utah steel plant ranged from as high as $302,000,000 offered by Blue Star Enterprises of Salt Lake City.

Seven bids were received. A letter from the Kaiser Co. Inc., of Oakland, Calif., also was received but the presiding officer, W. A. Hauck of WAA, said it was not considered a bid.

The Salt Lake concern made its offer by telegraph and asked the board to consider another communication in the mail.

Governor Maw of Utah, Senator Murdock (D-Utah) and Gus Backmann of Salt Lake said they do not know the company, which gave an address of 312 Kearns building, Salt Lake.

Forrestal Holds Merger Basis Is 'False'

Washington, May 1 (AP)—Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal declared today that the current proposal to merge the Army and the Navy into a single department of defense is "based on a major premise which is false."

He told the Senate Naval Committee that the Navy is solidly behind a program of "practical improvement in the co-ordination of the armed services," but sharply criticized details of the present merger plan.

Pending legislation being considered by the committee, he said, "fails to differentiate between unified command in combat areas and the planning functions at the seat of the government which require deliberation and conference."

Cites Democratic Processes

"In other words," he continued, "it fails to differentiate between single command such as is necessary in the face of the enemy, and the democratic processes and procedures which are the basis of our government at home."

While conceding the need of co-ordinating research, logistics, training and intelligence functions of the Army and Navy, he opposed what he called "the army proposal"—as putting too much power into the hands of one man—"a supreme chief of staff"—and because it would "reduce our present departments . . . to the status of agencies."

Forrestal suggested that a director of common defense have supervisory jurisdiction—the "alter ego of the President"—making the decisions that the President does not have time to make.

How He'd Describe Duties

He explained:

"I would describe the duties of this proposed executive and his office as duties of a co-ordinating and staff character as opposed to the Army's concept of an overlord of all the services."

"I have been in the Navy Department now for nearly six years," he continued. "I believe I am more familiar with it than most civilians, but there is still a vast area about which I am not as familiar as I would like to be.

"It is with this background that I assert that no man I know of would be able to act in the capacity that I have advocated here for the director of common defense, and at the same time be responsible for the actual operation of the three departments, as advocated by the Army."

He said British experience had proved the danger of neglecting naval aviation.

Specific Instances

"We have grave fears for the future of naval aviation if this bill should pass in its present form," he added. The sinking of the British Prince of Wales and the Repulse as well as the escape of the Scharnhorst, the Gneisenau and Prinz Eugen through the English Channel was directly due to lack of a naval air arm, he declared.

Forrestal objected to a proposed single department with a secretary of common defense and five assistants as "illogical administratively" and said in some cases "vacuums of authority" would exist.

"I have deep misgivings about the danger of the concentration of . . . huge authority in the hands of one military man," he said.

Hits Single-Genius Idea

"I mistrust the principle of relying on a single genius to make all basic decisions," he declared. "I also know that it was a most fortunate thing that the Navy was able to speak as an equal partner in presenting the requirements of the Pacific war.

"I believe that the war against Japan would have continued many months longer if Admiral King had not been able to make such vigorous claims for . . . the struggle against Japan.

"The battle for Guadalcanal, won by an exceedingly narrow margin, might well have been lost if the Navy had not been able to press its views with vigor and insistence at the highest levels. That battle . . . was one of the great pivotal points of the war."

Favor Integrated Unit

Forrestal emphasized that the Navy was in complete accord with the desire of President Truman to set up an integrated "military-foreign relations-industrial-economic organization" which would keep the nation's military machinery usable and effective.

1946 GOAL EXCEEDED, RED CROSS REPORTS

WASHINGTON, May 1 — (AP) The 1946 Red Cross goal of $100,000,000 was oversubscribed $13,498,608, National Chairman Basil O'Connor announced today.

All chapters in cities of over 500,000 went over their quotas. Greater Boston topped the 16 largest city chapters by sailing past its $1,854,160 goal to a total of $2,484,387 or 134 percent, the O'Connor statement said. For the fourth year in a row, Milwaukee was first to reach its objective.

Blasted Naval Vessel Called A Total Loss

Earle, N.J., May 1 (AP)—The destroyer escort Solar, its bow ripped off and twisted grotesquely over it by three explosions, lay blackened and a total loss today alongside the Navy's huge Earle Ammunition Depot pier in lower New York Bay.

Five crew members were reported missing and 150 injured, five critically, in the explosions yesterday which detonated an ammunition-laden railroad car on the pier, destroyed a warehouse, set fire to the pier and left a gaping hole in the concrete structure that juts 2½ miles into the bay.

Investigation On

The names of the missing and injured were not released by the Navy pending notification of next of kin, which began during the night. Thirty-five of the injured were in hospitals in this area. The others were treated at the sick bay in Earle and 109 of them, including 25 civilians, were held for observation.

A navy investigating board began an immediate probe. An official statement by the 3d Naval District's public-relations office said the cause of the blasts was unknown.

Baltimorean Figures

The explosions occurred in rapid-fire order shortly before noon yesterday while the Solar was unloading ammunition. Some eyewitnesses said the first blast took place when a depth charge went off in the hands of a seaman, Joseph Stuchinski, of Baltimore. Stuchinski was only slightly injured, but the man ahead was either killed or badly wounded, said Fireman Jack Horne, of Charlotte, N.C.

Other ammunition-loaded vessels in the area were hauled off to safety as were all but one of a string of railroad cars filled with munitions on the pier.

The blasts were felt for miles; they broke a plate glass window in Long Branch, 15 miles away.

NAVY DISCLOSES ROCKET MOTOR

PATUXENT RIVER, Md., May 1.—(AP) The Navy permitted disclosure today of what it described as the "newest and most powerful rocket motor in the world"—a unit which delivers 66,000 pounds of thrust for two seconds.

Known as "Moby Dick," the motor is intended for use in jet-assisted aircraft takeoffs or to propel aerial rockets. The Navy said the new unit would triple the speed (now 900 feet per second) of its "Tiny Tim," a 12-inch aerial rocket weighing 1,300 pounds.

"Moby Dick" is 105 inches long, 17 inches in diameter and weighs 5,800 pounds. It was built by Aerojet Engineering corporation of Azusa, Calif., in conjunction with the Bureau's of Ordnance and Aeronautics.

Navy officials said the new motor developed for its brief operation about one-third more thrust than the unit in the German V-2.

"Moby Dick" was exhibited but not fired during a visit of about 100 members of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences to this naval air test center yesterday.

Navy Food-Waste Is Charged

MAY 1 1946

Portland, Ore., May 1 (AP)—A charge that the Navy is throwing away large quantities of edible canned food and valuable goods at a naval station in Astoria, Ore., was made here by Congressman Walter Norblad (R., Ore.) as he left today for Washington.

"While the Administration is crying for food to go to Europe, it is throwing away canned goods and meat" in quantities that have been the basis for a brisk trade in Astoria, Norblad declared.

Bringing Along Samples

Norblad is carrying samples of the dumped food for display to Congress.

He reported he had visited several homes in Astoria, his residence, and was shown huge stocks of canned pork loaves and corned beef, powdered milk, dehydrated fruit and cartons of cereal.

He declared that one Astorian showed him slabs of Canadian bacon, salvaged from a truck of goods to be dumped. The bacon was still heavily wrapped, Norblad said, and "perfectly good."

Enough To Last Years

He said another claimed that he had "enough canned goods" in his cellar to last his family for years.

Norblad declared that the trade in other navy commodities—quality paint, expensive brushes, turpentine, rope, brass fixtures, hardware and miscellaneous items—had become so brisk that naval-station officers finally ordered a bulldozer to bury the dumped items.

"THE SUCCESSFUL ACCOMPLISHMENT OF THIS HONORABLE TASK IS POSSIBLE ONLY ON CONDITION OF FURTHER GROWTH OF MILITARY CULTURE AND MILITARY SKILL OF THE OFFICERS AND MEN OF OUR ARMY, OUR NAVY AND OUR AVIATION."

STALIN URGED RUSSIAN WORKERS TO REACH AND EVEN EXCEED THE GOALS SET IN THE NATION'S NEW FIVE-YEAR PLAN.

"DEVELOPING PEACEFUL SOCIALIST CONSTRUCTION," STALIN'S ORDER DECLARED, "WE SHOULD NOT FORGET FOR A MINUTE THE INTRIGUES OF INTERNATIONAL REACTION, WHICH IS HATCHING PLANS OF A NEW WAR. IT IS NECESSARY TO REMEMBER THE TEACHING OF THE GREAT LENIN TO THE EFFECT THAT AFTER SWITCHING OVER TO PEACEFUL LABOR, IT IS NECESSARY TO BE CONSTANTLY VIGILANT, TO PROTECT AS THE APPLE OF ONE'S EYE THE ARMED FORCES AND DEFENSIVE POWERS OF OUR COUNTRY.

"THE ARMED FORCES OF THE SOVIET UNION MUST DAILY IMPROVE THEIR MILITARY ART ON THE BASIS OF EXPERIENCE OF WAR, ON THE BASIS OF THE PROGRESS OF MILITARY SCIENCE AND TECHNIQUE. BEYOND ANY DOUBT, OUR ARMY, OUR NAVY AND OUR AVIATION WILL ACCOMPLISH ALL THOSE TASKS FACING THEM.

MAY DAY, CHARACTERIZED BY STALIN AS "THE INTERNATIONAL HOLIDAY OF THE WORKING PEOPLE," IS MOST WIDELY OBSERVED IN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES AND IS SIMILAR TO THE SEPTEMBER LABOR DAY OBSERVANCE IN THE UNITED STATES. IT WAS FIRST PROCLAIMED IN 1889 BY THE SECOND SOCIALIST INTERNATIONAL IN PARIS.

"IN THE VANGUARD OF THE STRUGGLE FOR PEACE AND SECURITY MARCHES THE SOVIET UNION, WHICH PLAYED AN OUTSTANDING PART IN SMASHING FASCISM AND FULFILLED ITS GREAT MISSION OF LIBERATION," STALIN CONTINUED.

"THE NATIONS LIBERATED FROM THE FASCIST YOKE RECEIVED AN OPPORTUNITY OF BUILDING THEIR STATE LIFE ON DEMOCRATIC FOUNDATIONS, OF REALIZING THEIR HISTORICAL ASPIRATIONS. ON THIS ROAD THEY FIND FRATERNAL ASSISTANCE ON THE PART OF THE SOVIET UNION.

"THE ENTIRE WORLD HAS HAD AN OPPORTUNITY TO CONVINCE ITSELF, NOT ONLY OF THE MIGHT OF THE SOVIET STATE, BUT ALSO OF THE FAIRNESS OF ITS POLICY BASED ON THE RECOGNITION OF EQUALITY OF ALL PEOPLES, RESPECT FOR THEIR FREEDOM AND INDEPENDENCE.

"THERE IS NO REASON TO DOUBT THAT IN THE FUTURE THE SOVIET UNION WILL BE TRUE TO ITS POLICY--THE POLICY OF PEACE AND SECURITY, THE POLICY OF THE EQUALITY AND FRIENDSHIP OF THE PEOPLES."

THE ORDER CONCLUDED WITH GENERALISSIMO STALIN'S DIRECTIVE THAT 20 ARTILLERY SALVOS BE FIRED IN MOSCOW, IN THE CAPITALS OF EACH OF THE SOVIET UNION'S REPUBLICS, AND IN LWOW, KOENIGSBERG, KHABAROVSK, VLADIVOSTOK, PORT ARTHUR AND THE "HERO CITIES" OF LENINGRAD, STALINGRAD, SEVASTOPOL AND ODESSA.

LONDON, MAY 1-(AP)-BRITAIN'S PRIVY COUNCIL, THE EMPIRE'S HIGHEST COURT, HAS BEEN ASKED TO DECIDE WHETHER THE RAJAH OF BHOWAL WAS CREMATED ON A CEREMONIAL PYRE 37 YEARS AGO OR ESCAPED FROM THE FLAMES AND IS TODAY THE RIGHTFUL RULER OF A BENGAL ESTATE YIELDING $400,000 A YEAR.

THE BIZARRE CASE WAS BROUGHT TO LONDON BY THE RANEE OF BHOWAL ON APPEAL FROM THE HIGH COURT OF CALCUTTA, WHICH RULED IN 1941 THAT A MAN REPRESENTING HIMSELF TO BE RAMENDRA NARAYAN ROY, THE RAJAH OF BHOWAL, WAS HER HUSBAND.

THE RANEE CONTENDS THAT THE RAJAH DIED ON MAY 8, 1909, AT THE AGE OF 25 AND THAT HIS BODY WAS BORNE IN PUBLIC PROCESSION THE DAY AFTERWARD AND BURNED AT DARJEELING.

THE RANEE PETITIONED THE COUNCIL TO DECLARE HER A WIDOW AND THUS ENTITLED TO THE INCOME OF A DOMAIN AS LARGE AS ENGLAND.

THE MAN WHO SAYS HE IS THE RAJAH CLAIMS HE WAS CARRIED TO THE CREMATION GROUNDS AND LAID ON THE FUNERAL PYRE, BUT A SUDDEN MONSOON SQUALL DISPERSED THE MOURNERS BEFORE THE TORCH WAS APPLIED. THE RAIN REVIVED HIM, HE SAYS, AND HE WAS REMOVED BY A BAND OF FAKIRS. HE ALLEGEDLY WANDERED AROUND INDIA FOR 12 YEARS SUFFERING LOSS OF MEMORY, BUT IN 1921 RETURNED TO HIS ESTATE TO RECLAIM HIS WIFE AND TITLE.

SOME MEMBERS OF THE RAJAH'S FAMILY HAVE SAID THEY RECOGNIZE HIM, BUT THE RANEE HAS MAINTAINED HE IS NOT HER HUSBAND.

THE CASE, DOCKETED FOR HEARING TODAY, REACHES THE COUNCIL AFTER A QUARTER CENTURY OF LEGAL FIGHTS IN INDIA, DURING WHICH A HALF MILLION DOLLARS WERE SPENT IN LAW COSTS.

LONDON, MAY 1-(AP)-THE BRITISH PRESS GAVE UNQUALIFIED APPROVAL AND FAINT PRAISE TODAY TO THE BRITISH-AMERICAN INQUIRY COMMITTEE'S REPORT ON PALESTINE, WHILE JEWISH LEADERS IN BRITAIN CRITICIZED IT AS "LIMITED" AND ARAB SPOKESMEN CONDEMNED IT AS "AN OUTRAGE."

A MAJORITY OF LONDON MORNING NEWSPAPERS AGREED THAT THE REPORT WAS A "VINDICATION OF THE BRITISH MANDATE" BUT THE DAILY MAIL EXPRESSED A REGRET, ALSO VOICED BY OTHER PAPERS, THAT "NO IMMEDIATE PROSPECT IS HELD OUT OF ANY SHARE BY THE UNITED STATES OR OTHER NATIONS IN THE COST, SACRIFICE OF LIFE, AND ODIUM WHICH RULE IN PALESTINE INEVITABLY ENTAILS."

THE JEWISH AGENCY FOR PALESTINE PLEDGED COOPERATION IN THE COMMITTEE'S PROPOSAL TO SPEED ADMISSION TO PALESTINE OF 100,000 HOMELESS JEWS IN EUROPE BUT ADDED THAT THE REPORT "DOES NOT EVEN SOLVE THE PROBLEM OF THE VICTIMS OF NAZI PERSECUTION IN EUROPE, LET ALONE MEET THE IMMIGRATION NEEDS OF JEWS IN OTHER LANDS."

THE ARAB OFFICE DECLARED THAT "ACTION ON THE RECOMMENDATIONS WOULD VIOLATE IN EVERY RESPECT AND DETAIL THE PROMISES IN THE WHITE PAPER OF 1939 X X X AND WOULD LEAD THROUGHOUT THE ARAB WORLD TO A RECRUDESCENCE OF THAT BITTERNESS AND SENSE OF BETRAYAL WHICH THE ARABS FELT AT THE END OF THE FIRST WORLD WAR."

THE DAILY TELEGRAPH SAID "THE REPORT CANNOT BE CONSIDERED VERY HELPFUL" AND ADDED THAT THE BRITISH PEOPLE "WILL FIND NO END TO, AND NO HELP IN, DISCHARGE OF A DISTASTEFUL TASK, BUT RATHER A CHANCE OF FRESH COMPLICATIONS."

THE NEWS CHRONICLE SAID THE RECOMMENDATIONS WERE "PRACTICAL AND SYMPATHETIC" BUT "AS FAR AS THE VEXED QUESTION OF PALESTINE ITSELF IS CONCERNED, THE RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE COMMISSION ARE MORE A HOPE THAN A CONVINCING POLICY."

ONLY THE TIMES WENT SO FAR AS TO SAY THAT THE "COMMITTEE HAS DISCHARGED THE TASK ENTRUSTED TO IT IN A MANNER WHICH MUST DECISIVELY SHAPE INTERNATIONAL POLICY." IT SAID THE ARABS AND JEWS HAD BEEN OFFERED "A NEW OPPORTUNITY FOR COOPERATION AND ADVANCEMENT."

warsaw, may 1--(ap)--poland observed a "workers' holiday" today but apparently the employers footed the bill.

the co munist-supported polish workers, aided by their close ally the polish socialist party, organized parades in the principal cities with marchers carrying thousands of red banners attacking the polish peasant party of stanislaw mikolajczyk.

in lodz, workers and socialists levied upon 400 commercial and industrial enterprises from 30,000 to 150,000 zlotys ($300 to $1,500) to pay the costs of the observances. similar levies were made elsewhere also.

in warsaw, thousands of citizens newly organized as a reserve militia paraded as an additional guarantor of law and order in poland's forthcoming referndum and general elections.

banners carried by the demonstrators today attacked mikolajczyk as a destroyer of unity within poland, assailed winston churchill and declared "let germans beware of polish borders, millions of simple polish people watch over peace."

mikolajczyk forbade participation of members of the peasant party in the sunday parades and karol popiel, president of the labor party, issued similar orders to members of his party. popeil joined with mikolajczyk in declining to join the workers socialist-sponsored single election bloc.

Madrid, May 1-(AP)-Allied authorities said tonight they were planning to fight a Spanish decree providing a loophole which could be used for concealing German assets.

One favorite method of hiding German assets is by selling them to Spanish or other friendly dummies who can be relied upon to protect German interests.

An order signed by Foreign Minister Alberto Martin Artajo April 14 requires foreign office authorization of any dealings in stocks and bonds of 330 listed German firms in Spain. A spokesman for the allied control commission said the list appeared to cover satisfactorily the most important German firms.

He explained that the authorization requirement made it possible for the allies to know and pursue any German effort to attempt to sell assets to nunnies.

The loophole provided in the new order, also signed by the foreign minister, appeared in the official bulletin April 29. It provides that bonds issued before July 22, 1944 were exempt from the requirement of foreign office authorization.

Allied circles pointed out that large, unestimated assets of the Germans could thereby be transferred without allied knowledge.

It was reported that the foreign ministry explained privated to the allies that bonds issued before July 22, 1944 constituted the savings of Spaniards and therefore it was against Spanish interest to limit trading in them. The allies were believed to be dissatisfied with the explanation and planned to seek restoration of the requirement that all dealings in stocks and bonds of the German firms must be authorized by the foreign ministry.

WASHINGTON, MAY 1-(AP)-PRESIDENT TRUMAN HELD A TRANS-ATLANTIC TELEPHONE CHAT WITH FOREIGN MINISTER GEORGE BIDAULT OF FRANCE TODAY AND PROMPTLY FOUND HIMSELF PROJECTED INTO A CONTROVERSY OF BOTH FACTS AND POLITICS--FRENCH INTERNAL POLITICS.

THE WHITE HOUSE SAID THE TWO HAD WARMLY EXCHANGED GREETINGS. FRENCH OFFICIALS REPORTED THAT THE PRESIDENT HAD TOLD THE FOREIGN MINISTER THAT PROSPECTS WERE BRIGHT FOR AN AMERICAN LOAN FOR HIS COUNTRY.

FRENCH ELECTIONS ARE ONLY A MONTH OFF. BIDAULT IS A LEADER OF THE ONE OF THE THREE BIG PARTIES, THE POPULAR REPUBLICAN MOVEMENT (MRP), WHICH IS BATTLING IT OUT WITH THE COMMUNISTS AND SOCIALISTS.

NEWS OF THE TELEPHONE CALL BROKE IN PARIS. IMMEDIATELY AFTERWARD OFFICIAL WASHINGTON BEGAN SPECULATING WHETHER A CLOSE IDENTIFICATION OF BIDAULT WITH THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES, FROM WHICH FRANCE NEEDED ECONOMIC ASSISTANCE, WOULD INFLUENCE FRENCH VOTERS--AND IF SO, HOW. WOULD THEY BE MORE OR LESS PRO-MRP?

OF THE OTHER TWO GREAT FRENCH PARTIES, THE COMMUNISTS ARE HEADED BY MAURICE THOREZ, AND THE SOCIALISTS BY LEON BLUM. THOREZ IS CLOSELY IDENTIFIED WITH MOSCOW, HAVING RECENTLY OBTAINED WHEAT FOR FRANCE FROM RUSSIA. BLUM IS NOW IN WASHINGTON NEGOTIATING A LOAN FOR FRENCH RECONSTRUCTION.

IT WAS THIS LOAN WHICH BECAME MORE OR LESS THE CENTRAL ISSUE IN THE DISPUTE OVER THE FACTS OF THE TELEPHONE CONVERSATION. HERE IS HOW IT ALL DEVELOPED:

PRESS DISPATCHES FROM PARIS QUOTED THE FRENCH OFFICIAL SOURCE AS SAYING THAT BIDAULT HAD DISCUSSED WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN THE LOAN, WHEAT SHIPMENTS AND WORLD AFFAIRS. THEY SAID THAT THE PRESIDENT, IN ADDITION TO HIS CHEERING WORDS ABOUT THE LOAN, HAD SAID THE UNITED STATES WOULD STRIVE TO HELP MEET FRANCE'S WHEAT NEEDS.

THE TALK, ACCORDING TO THE WHITE HOUSE, OCCURRED WHEN BIDAULT CAME ON THE PHONE AT THE END OF A 15-MINUTE CONVERSATION BETWEEN PRESIDENT TRUMAN AND SECRETARY OF STATE BYRNES, WHO REPORTED ON THE FOREIGN MINISTERS' CONFERENCE IN PARIS. ONLY AN EXCHANGE OF COURTESIES WAS INVOLVED, SAID PRESIDENTIAL PRESS SECRETARY CHARLES G. ROSS.

AS FOR THE STATUS OF THE LOAN NEGOTIATIONS, AMERICAN OFFICIALS FAMILIAR WITH THE WORK THUS FAR DONE BY BLUM, SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY VINSON AND THEIR AIDES SAID IT WAS ENTIRELY PROBABLE THAT CREDITS WOULD BE ARRANGED FOR FRANCE SOME TIME THIS MONTH, MAYBE IN 10 DAYS OR TWO WEEKS. THE FRENCH ORIGINALLY TALKED IN TERMS OF $4,000,000,000 TO FINANCE A FOUR YEAR RECONSTRUCTION PROGRAM.

THE ACTUAL CASH MADE AVAILABLE TO THEM THROUGH THE EXPORT-IMPORT BANK PROBABLY WILL BE ONLY A FRACTION OF THAT AMOUNT BUT THE UNITED STATES IS HELPING WORK OUT VARIOUS SUPPLEMENTARY MEASURES TO AID THE FRENCH IN CARRYING THROUGH THEIR WHOLE ECONOMIC RECOVERY.

ON THE WHEAT PROBLEM, AUTHORITIES HERE SAID IT WAS TRUE THAT THE UNITED STATES WAS KEENLY INTERESTED IN HELPING FEED THE FRENCH AND THAT FRENCH NEEDS WERE BEING GIVEN FULL CONSIDERATION AS PART OF THE TOTAL PROGRAM OF WORLD FAMINE RELIEF.

WHAT EFFECT THE DAY'S DEVELOPMENT MIGHT HAVE ON FRENCH POLITICS WAS A SPECULATION THAT, ACCORDING TO DIPLOMATIC EXPERTS, COULD MOVE IN TWO DIRECTIONS. IN CONTRAST WITH THOREZ' SHOW OF ASSISTANCE FROM RUSSIA WITH THE WHEAT SHIPMENTS, THE NON-COMMUNIST PARTIES HEADED BY BIDAULT AND BLUM PRESUMABLY WOULD BE ABLE TO MAKE A SHOW OF ASSISTANCE FROM THE UNITED STATES WHICH WOULD BE DRAMATIZED BY BIDAULT'S TELEPHONE TALK WITH MR. TRUMAN. ON THE OTHER HAND IS THE FACT THAT THE WHITE HOUSE DECLARED THAT THE TWO HAD NOT DISCUSSED ANY POLITICS OR BUSINESS.

AS FOR THE GENERAL QUESTION OF INTERVENTION IN FRENCH INTERNAL POLITICS, DIPLOMATIC OFFICIALS SAID THAT AMERICAN POLICY CALLED FOR STRICT NON-INTERVENTION. HOWEVER, IT IS NO SECRET THAT THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR AMERICAN-FRENCH RELATIONS WOULD PREFER TO SEE THE ELECTION VICTORY GO TO BIDAULT'S PARTY OR TO BLUM'S RATHER THAN SEE GREAT GAINS MADE BY THE COMMUNISTS.

WASHINGTON, MAY 1-(AP)-CREATION OF A GOVERNMENT BOARD TO PASS ON SALES OF ELECTRONIC EQUIPMENT TO FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS WAS SUGGESTED TODAY BY SENATORS INQUIRING INTO POSSIBLE "LEAKS" OF SECRET MILITARY DEVICES THROUGH LEGAL LOOPHOLES.

"ALTHOUGH WE ARE STILL JUST EXPLORING THE SITUATION WE CAN SEE THAT SOMETHING OF THAT NATURE IS NECESSARY," CHAIRMAN EASTLAND (D-MISS) OF A SENATE JUDICIARY SUBCOMMITTEE TOLD REPORTERS.

SENATOR WHERRY (R-NEB), A MEMBER, SAID HE AGREED BUT DON'T KNOW WHAT FORM IT SHOULD TAKE BUT IT MIGHT BE SOMETHING LIKE A JOINT BOARD REPRESENTING THE STATE, WAR AND NAVY DEPARTMENTS," WHERRY ADDED.

AS DESCRIBED BY EASTLAND, THE COMMITTEE HAS FOUND INDICATIONS THAT FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS COULD PUT TOGETHER SECRET UNITED STATES RADAR AND ELECTRONIC EQUIPMENT BY BUYING CERTAIN NON-SECRET PARTS AND ACQUIRING ENGINEERING "KNOW-HOW" WHICH AMERICAN FIRMS ARE FREE TO IMPART.

AT A CLOSED SESSION LATE TODAY, A REPRESENTATIVE OF THE WAR ASSETS ADMINISTRATION DISCUSSED THE SITUATION. EASTLAND SAID A CIVILIAN ATTORNEY AND EXPERT ON ESPIONAGE LAWS FROM THE NAVY JUDGE ADVOCATE'S OFFICE WAS ALSO PRESENT.

"WE JUST DISCUSSED LEGAL ASPECTS OF THE PROBLEM," EASTLAND SAID.

IT WAS LEARNED THE WAR ASSETS ADMINISTRATION WAS CONCERNED THAT ENACTMENT OF A BILL EASTLAND AND WHERRY ARE SPONSORING MIGHT HALT SALES OF MUCH SURPLUS GOVERNMENT PROPERTY.

THEIR BILL WOULD PROHIBIT THE SALE TO A FOREIGN GOVERNMENT OF ANY ELECTRONIC EQUIPMENT WHATSOEVER. THIS WOULD COVER EVEN RADIO SETS.

EASTLAND TOLD REPORTERS, HOWEVER, THIS BILL WAS ONLY SOMETHING TO WORK FROM IN "DRAWING A STATUTE TO PROTECT THE UNITED STATES."

Arabs in Palestine Warn Britain Of 'Struggle' if Jews Are Let In

ARABS TO ORGANIZE FOR FIGHT AGAINST PALESTINE REPORT

MAY 2

Committee Notifies Britain of Objection to Jewish Immigration.

WARNS OF STRUGGLE

United Nations May Get Plea to Act on Holy Land Issue.

JERUSALEM, May 2—(AP) The powerful Arab higher committee told Britain "in the next thing to an ultimatum" today that Arabs now "would proceed with organization of forces and prepare all means for defense in order to resume the national struggle," a committee official declared.

He said the "national struggle" referred to the bloody uprisings of 1936-39 which ended when Britain adopted a White Paper limiting Jewish immigration into Palestine.

Opposes Report

The Arab committee opposed the report of the British-American Committee of Inquiry, which recommended immediate authorization for the immigration of 100,000 European Jews and that Palestine should be neither an Arab nor Jewish state.

Earlier, the Arab group named an "emergency" body to study a possible civil disobedience strike—similar to tactics in 1936—and methods for mobilizing Arab youth in Palestine.

It also appealed to Arab rulers of Middle Eastern countries for their support "in our struggle, which will continue until death, in the defense of our country and our holy places."

The committee already had called a one-day strike tomorrow by Arabs in Palestine and throughout the Middle East to protest the joint report.

Letter to Attlee

Ahamed Shukairy, director of the Arab officer, said the committee's letter was "the next thing to an ultimatum." Addressed to Prime Minister Attlee, it was delivered today to the secretary of Lt. Gen. Sir Alan Gordon Cunningham, high commissioner for Palestine.

"Dr. Izzat Tannous (higher committee secretary) and myself presented the letter in a formal two-minute meeting with the high commissioner's secretary," Shukairy said. "In our view, if Britain implements the report, those two minutes will pass into history as historical seconds."

The letter said:

"In connection with the report of the inquiry committee, the Arab Higher committee has decided to reject the recommendations in the said report. The higher committee believes the report was not the result of a free and innocent examination of the problem but the outcome of American and British policy.

"Implementation of the said recommendation threatens the national existence of the Arabs in Palestine. In addition it is a violation of the rights of self-determination, the pledges to the Arabs by the English, of the Atlantic Charter and of the principles for which the Allies waged war.

"The Higher committee declares the determination of the Arabs to defend the country with all the means at their disposal.

"Pending decision of the British government on the implementation of the report, the Arabs will proceed to organize forces and prepare all means for defense in order to resume the national struggle.

"The Arabs shall not fail to take a path leading to the expulsion of this danger to sovereignty, liberty and independence. In view of the above, the Higher committee presents this warning, demanding refusal of the recommendations, and realization of our national demands."

Jamal Effendi Husseini, trustee for the Higher committee, disclosed that it had sent telegrams to Arab rulers saying:

"We ask you to assist us in our struggle which will continue until death in the defense of our country and our holy places."

The telegrams went to King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia, Amir Abdullah Ibn Hussein of Trans-Jordan, Regent Emir Abdul Illah of Iraq, Presidents Beshara Al-Khoury of Lebanon and Shukri Kuwatly of Syria.

Husseini announced after a six-hour session of the Higher committee that the emergency group would outline the possible non-cooperation strike as well as methods "to mobilize Palestine's youth to the nation's defense."

Husseini said also that envoys from the Higher committee were planning to leave this week-end for all Arab capitals to enlist support for Arab resistance against the British-American report. A series of mass meetings will be held throughout Palestine in towns and villages beginning May 10, with members of the Higher committee addressing the populace, he added.

Arabs Planning Palestine Civil Disobedience

Note to Britain Called Next Thing to an Ultimatum.

ASSAILS ANGLO-U. S. REPORT

Higher Committee Asks Other Nations to Join the General Strike in Middle East.

Jerusalem, May 2 (A. P.).—An official of the Arab Higher Committee said today that the committee had delivered to Great Britain a letter the "next thing to an ultimatum," rejecting the Anglo-American Palestine recommendations and declaring Arabs will now "prepare all means for defense in order to resume the national struggle."

Ahamed Shukairy, director of the Arab Office, told reporters the letter meant that an Arab uprising, similar to those of 1936-1939, was threatened.

Shukairy read to reporters the letter which the committee had dispatched through the British High Commissioner in Palestine to the British Cabinet.

"Dr. Izzat Tannous (the Higher Committee secretary) and myself presented the letter in a formal two-minute meeting with the High Commissioner's secretary," he said. "In our view, if Britain implements the report (of the Anglo-American Inquiry Committee), those two minutes will pass into history as historical seconds."

Terming the letter as the next thing to an ultimatum, Shukairy said the national struggle mentioned in the letter referred to the 1936-1939 uprisings which ended when the British white paper of 1939 limited Jewish immigration. The British-American report in effect would terminate the white paper in favor of the immigration of at least 100,000 Jews.

Other Steps Taken.

The Arab committee took other steps to combat what it called a "catastrophe" to Arab nations. It named an emergency committee to study plans for a possible civil disobedience strike, and urged other Arab countries to unite in a protest strike tomorrow.

Jamal Husseini, trustee of the Higher Committee, announced after a six-hour session that the emergency committee would outline methods to "mobilize Palestine's youth to the nation's defense." A series of mass meetings, to be addressed by members of the committee, will be held in towns and villages beginning May 10, he said.

Envoys from the Higher Committee are planning to leave next week end for all Arab capitals to enlist the support for Palestine Arab resistance to the British-American report with the object of tying up the entire Middle East in a general strike, Husseini said.

Asks Suggestions.

The Higher Committee also called on legislative bodies of all the Arab world for suggestions for "defenses against catastrophe" in telegrams which referred to Palestine as "the first line of defense for all Arab nations." It declared that "Palestine ceasing to be an Arab nation is a danger to the whole Arab world."

Telegrams to King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia, Amir Abdullah Ibn Hussein of Trans-Jordan, Regent Emir Abdul Illah of Iraq, President Beshara Al-Khoury of Lebanon and Shukri Bey Al Quwatli of Syria said:

"We ask you to assist us in our struggle, which will continue till death, in defending our country and our holy places."

A message to Abdel Rahman Azzam Bey, secretary general of the Arab League in Cairo, asked him to call a special meeting of the league to "plan the defense of Palestine in accordance with the new point of view resulting from the (Inquiry) committee report."

The Arab committee adopted a resolution requesting other Arab countries to join in a walkout of Arabs scheduled for tomorrow in Palestine and voted to send delegates to the other Arab nations to press for pan-Arabic action against the report and particularly seek the support of the Arab League.

The strike call for Palestine Arabs was termed by the committee "a first step to show our utmost dissatisfaction" with the Inquiry Committee's report, which urges immediate admission of 100,000 homeless European Jews to Palestine.

In addition, the committee sent cables to Washington and London repudiating the report and reiterating oft-stated demands for an independent Palestine. It also decided to send cables of protest to the governments of United Nations members.

Jewish morning papers criticized British Prime Minister Attlee's statement of yesterday that admission of 100,000 Jews into Palestine depended first upon a disbanding of all illegal armed forces in Palestine.

Jews Also Assail Report.

Jewish sentiment in the Holy Land appeared no more favorable to the report and Jewish speakers at May Day rallies yesterday assailed it vigorously, except for the recommendation pertaining to immediate immigration of 100,000 Jews from Europe. There was no official comment from the Jewish Agency.

At Haifa, meanwhile, thirteen Palestine sailors aboard the British destroyer Chevron were taken into custody under suspicion of intending to blow up the vessel, after a kitbag filled with explosives was found in the ship's messroom, above the magazine.

ARABS' INTENT TERMED 'WAR'

Cairo Leader Tells American And Briton Of Danger

Cairo, May 2 (AP)—Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha, secretary general of the Arab League, tonight described Arab action in Palestine as a demand that recommendations of the British-American inquiry committee be abandoned "or all Arabs in Palestine will begin their war immediately," and added that "naturally" the seven Arab states would join the Arabs of Palestine.

"But we have not reached the state of fighting yet," he continued.

Questioned as to whether Arabs in Palestine would call for Russian assistance, he said: "Any country fighting for her existence is liable to take all measures she thinks useful."

Warns Diplomats

He added that he had talked today with American and British diplomatic representatives in Cairo, explaining to them the "dangerous situation which will result if the policy outlined in the (inquiry) committee's report is adopted in Palestine" and added that he had urged the envoys to convey his message to their respective governments.

"I regret to say the committee's report is full of encouraging one community (Jewish) and pushing to desperation another community (Arab)," he said.

"I believe it is bad luck for Jews, Arabs, Americans and British that this report has not succeeded in any way to ease the situation or lead to an understanding," Azzam Pasha continued.

Likened To Flaming Oil

"The result of the report is like flowing oil which, set aflame, spreads and expands its destruction."

"If it is easy for the American Government to accept this report from far away and to adopt such an unfair policy, which she takes no part to achieve, then—do Americans want the British to take responsibility for achieving this policy?" he asked.

Commenting on Prime Minister Attlee's statement on the report yesterday—in which the British Prime Minister said large numbers of migrant Jews could not be admitted to Palestine "until illegal armies have been disbanded and surrender their arms" — Azzam Pasha asserted:

"The British situation is critical and is not like the American. Americans are just sitting there and asking the British to fight Arabs. If we were left alone without any foreign interference, there would be no differences between Moslem, Jew, Zionist or Christian . . . but the result of this report is encouraging Zionist terrorism."

U.S. Shies Away From Share Of Palestine Job

Washington, May 2 (AP)—The United States shied away today from the prospect of direct intervention in Palestine, apparently counting on the United Nations to assume future responsibility for the troublesome Holy Land problem.

Although congressional opinion overwhelmingly favored the proposed migration of 100,000 Jews there, it was plain the lawmakers were against this country's joining Britain in the thankless job of maintaining peace between Arab and Jew.

White House Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters he was unable to say what President Truman's reaction was to the British proposal. Reaction from other quarters to the Anglo-American committee's report, Ross said, was "generally favorable."

Ross said that to his knowledge no formal communication on the subject of Palestine has been received from the British Government. He said one might have reached the State Department, but officials there said they knew of none either.

4 Factors In Attitude

The thumbs-down intervention attitude on the part of the nation's lawmakers stemmed from these factors:

1. An apparent determination to hold foreign commitments of American troops to minimum security levels.

2. Belief that the problem of suppressing violence in other lands should be handled now on an international, rather than a one or two nation basis.

3. Reluctance to quarter troops in the Near East, a potential trouble spot, for fear the action might be misinterpreted—especially in view of this country's recent insistence upon withdrawal of Russian forces from near-by Iran.

4. Heavy demands upon available United States forces for occupation forces elsewhere.

Share Offered By Britain

That reaction crystallized quickly after Prime Minister Clement Attlee's declaration before Commons yesterday that his Government, unwilling to "implement a policy that would involve it singlehanded," wanted to find out what the United States might contribute in the way of men and money.

Attlee's statement was touched off by the Palestine committee's recommendations.

The committee said it assumed that the British Government "in the near future" would prepare a draft trusteeship agreement for eventual submission to the United Nations, including terms for its administration.

"Should Turn To U.N."

Both Senator Ball (R., Minn.) and Senator La Follette (Prog., Wis.) commented after Attlee's speech that Britain should turn to the United Nations if in need of help in Palestine. Senator Maybank (D., S.C.) expressed doubt this country would send troops there.

Although there is a possibility the Palestine report may hasten action, the United Nations had not planned to discuss creation of a trusteeship council for the overall supervision of international territories until the general assembly's meeting in September.

The issue could, however, be raised before the United Nations Security Council with the contention that the situation constitutes a threat to international security.

U.N. Still Lacks Forces

But what action the Council could or might take is uncertain, for thus far it has no military forces to back up its decisions. Until United Nations takes some action on trusteeships, Britain presumably will retain the mandate over Palestine she inherited from the League of Nations in 1922.

Involved in the consultations is the fact that President Roosevelt, in a letter to King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia on April 5 of last year, said that no decision on the "basic situation" of Palestine would be taken without "full consultation" with both Arabs and Jews. Secretary of State Byrnes reaffirmed that pledge last October.

BEVIN ASKING ABOUT U.S. AID

London Officials Say Palestine Action Awaits Study

London, May 2 (AP)—While rumblings of strife in Palestine resounded from the Middle East tonight, Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Secretary, was officially reported making "informal inquiries" as to what military and financial help Britain might expect from the United States in a joint Palestine policy.

Meanwhile, a Foreign Office spokesman said Britain intends to defer decision on whether to offer her Palestine mandate for United Nations trusteeship until talks have been held with United States officials on the committee's report and the Cabinet has considered it thoroughly.

Until that time, no statement may be expected from the Government on the future of Palestine.

Had Told Of Mandate Plans

Bevin, now attending the four-power Foreign Ministers Conference in Paris, announced to the United Nations Assembly last January that Britain would retain her mandate pending the committee's report.

A Foreign Office spokesman said Bevin probably would discuss with James F. Byrnes, United States Secretary of State, in Paris the various points raised by Prime Minister Attlee in Commons yesterday, when Attlee urged American military and financial aid.

The spokesman said there was no confirmation of reports that the United States Government would not share in the responsibility for what might happen in Palestine if the committee recommendation for admission of 100,000 Jews into Palestine immediately was put into effect.

No Formal Note Presented

No formal note concerning American help in Palestine thus far has been sent to the United States, the Foreign Office said. The British press, however, echoed the Prime Minister's anxiety.

The Times pointed out that the proposal for 100,000 immigrants developed from studies "sponsored by both governments," and "without the assistance and co-operation of the United States, Britain could not incur the heavy and continuing burdens which the recommendations of the committee would inevitably entail."

The Conservative Daily Express said the British Government would "do nothing to carry out the report of the British-United States Commission on Palestine until President Truman has decided how far the United States is willing to help."

The Laborite Daily Herald said "No reasonable person will quarrel with the insistence of the British Government" that it must have time "to inquire to what extent the Government of the United States would be prepared to share the resultant military and financial responsibilities."

Committee Rejected Disarmament Plan

New York, May 2 (AP)—Bartley C. Crum, a member of the Anglo-American Committee of Inquiry on Palestine, said tonight he was "deeply shocked" by Prime Minister Attlee's statement that the admission of 100,000 Jews into Palestine this year "would be conditioned by the British Government on the disarming of 'illegal armies.'"

Crum said the point raised by Attlee had been rejected in committee discussions at Lausanne upon two grounds: "That it would be indecent and inhuman to try to trade their lives upon the condition that the Jews of Palestine surrender their arms" and that "the so-called illegal army, the haganah, would scarcely fight against immigration of these 100,000 people."

United Nations Plea Likely

The spokesman for a member of the United Nations Security Council said there was "a very good possibility" that the Palestine question would be brought before the Security Council.

30. 24-2619

The spokesman, who declined to be identified, said it still was too early to be sure, but that there "might be something definite within the next 48 hours."

He said he did not know who would take the initiative. He indicated it might come either from one of the Arab states in the United Nations or from some member of the Security Council acting at the request of Jewish groups.

"Certainly Threat to Peace"

"The present situation in Palestine is certainly a threat to peace in the Middle East," he declared. "There can be no doubt of that. Therefore, the Palestine question definitely comes under the jurisdiction of the Security Council."

It appeared unlikely that the question of Great Britain handing Palestine over to the United Nations under a trusteeship would receive any action in the near future unless the Security Council did intervene.

Dr. Quo Tai-chi, Chinese delegate, said the Trusteeship Council would not be created until the September meeting of the General Assembly and that no trusteeships could be accepted until then. He pointed out that Great Britain had to take the initiative, in any event.

British circles said the British government was not opposed to the idea of a U. N. trusteeship for Palestine "in principle," but that the primary problem now was deciding what to do about the British-American Palestine committee's recommendations for the admission of 100,000 Jews.

In London a Foreign office spokesman said Britain intended to postpone a decision on the trusteeship question until after thorough cabinet consideration of the committee's report and talks with United States officials.

COUNCIL ASKED TO MEET MAY 7

Session Reported Sought For Reconsideration Of Iran

New York, May 2 (AP)—Trygve Lie, Secretary General of the United Nations, has been asked to call the Security Council back into session next Tuesday, May 7, to take up the controversial Iranian case, a source within one of the delegations said today.

The Council's resolution of April 4 provided that on May 6 it could ask new reports from Russia and Iran as to whether Russia had carried out her promise to withdraw all her troops from Iran.

A spokesman for one of the delegates, however, in disclosing that a session had been requested for May 7, said the deadline for Russian withdrawal from Iran did not expire until midnight May 6 and, for that reason, the delegates did not want a meeting before Tuesday.

The Council has been in recess since Monday.

No Definite Information

Most of the delegates said they had no definite information on the present status of Soviet withdrawals, but the advocates of the Tuesday session said they wished to avoid any accusation that they were acting before the deadline.

There was considerable speculation about whether the Soviet delegate, Andrei A. Gromyko, would attend the session. He has not indicated his plan since the recent debate in which he announced he would not take part in further discussions of the Iranian case.

The five-man subcommittee investigating Franco Spain will hold another closed session Monday afternoon. The subcommittee held its first meeting yesterday to work out procedure and start examining the mass of 461 documents turned over to it.

The battle over a permanent home for the United Nations is expected to be renewed when the nine-nation headquarters commission meets Tuesday at 11 A.M. to prepare facts for a final decision by the General Assembly in September.

The Assembly at its London meeting approved location of the permanent United Nations site in the Westchester (N.Y.)-Fairfield (Conn.) area, but did not fix the exact site nor the size.

There has been considerable agitation since then to reopen the whole question.

Today's activity of the United Nations was confined to meetings of three of the agencies preparing for the May 25 session of the Economic and Social Council.

The Commission on Human Rights, headed by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, recommended that each of the 51 member nations should nominate individuals for appointment to the permanent Commission on Human Rights, with final selection of probably 21 members to be made by the Economic and Social Council.

Franco May Submit Data To U.N. Probe

New York, May 2 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council subcommittee investigating the Spanish question called today for all information in the possession of member nations bearing on Spain and, in effect, invited both the Franco regime and the exiled Spanish Republicans to present their arguments as well.

The investigators, after their first secret meeting yesterday, said they would welcome information from any source.

This wide-open invitation would permit the Franco regime, if it desired, to offer evidence to offset the contributions already presented to the Council by the Spanish Republicans through Polish Delegate Oscar Lange in his demand for a collective United Nations diplomatic break with Madrid.

Circular Letter

The subcommittee is in recess until 5 P.M. next Monday awaiting the response to a circular letter asking the governments of the 51 United Nations to present "all relvant material in their possession on the situation in Spain."

Meanwhile, the investigators had before them 461 letters and telegrams from private sources almost unanimously disapproving the Franco regime.

Most of the communications urged recognition of the Spanish Republican leadership exiled in Paris as the rightful government of Spain, while some advocated that a new Spanish regime be set up on the basis of a free democratic election.

Out of this mass of unsolicited opinion from unidentified individuals and non-Government organizations, only five letters expressed opposition to outside interference with internal Spain.

Called Threat To Peace

Eighty-one letters and telegrams generally condemned the Franco regime as "Falangism," "Nazi Fascism" and "a threat to peace and security," the subcommittee announced in its first communiqué.

Seventy-six demanded United Nations action, suggested severance of diplomatic, economic or commercial relations with the Madrid Government, or some sort of sanctions.

One hundred and thirty-seven appeals received for reprieve or release of the condemned Cristino Garcia, described as a Spanish patriot and former French Maqui commander; and 69 communications pleaded for the freedom of "many other" persons held by the Franco Government.

War-Criminal Asylum

Some messages asserted that Spain harbors war criminals and expressed approval of the United Nations General Assembly's condemnation of the Franco regime.

"The subcommittee will use all the facts presented in these communications in its work," the communiqué said, emphasizing that it "will also welcome information from any other source." None of the sources was disclosed.

The investigators asked for a secretariat memorandum of guidance on inquiries but made clear that it intended to look into all presented sides before determining by May 31 whether the Spanish situation is a cause of international friction or a danger to peace and security.

Argument On U.N. Site Is Due To Be Resumed

New York, May 2 (AP)—The battle over a permanent home for the United Nations moved back into the spotlight today with the announcement that the headquarters commission would convene here next week.

The nine-nation commission, meeting next Tuesday, will prepare facts and figures for a final decision by the General Assembly on the United Nations site.

In London, the Assembly approved location of the headquarters in the Westchester (N.Y.)-Fairfield (Conn.) area without setting any definite site within those counties.

Agitation For Change

However, since that action there has been agitation to re-examine the whole question, with some delegations privately expressing the wish that the headquarters might be established in San Francisco or generally outside the New York city area.

Other reports, without official confirmation, have persisted that some of the 51 member nations want to shift the site to Europe, perhaps Geneva.

Widely publicized local opposition in the Westchester-Fairfield area was viewed as a strong factor. Another situation influencing officials has been the difficulty already experienced in finding space for even an interim site in the crowded metropolitan area.

Yugoslavian Held Firm

Dr. Stoyan Gavrilovic, of Yugoslavia, who was chairman of the committee that selected the New York-Connecticut site, is one of the representative on the commission and obviously a candidate for the chairmanship. He is known to be satisfied with the original decision and would be expected to oppose any attempt to move elsewhere.

The Australian delegation has pressed for San Francisco from the first. Throughout the discussions, official and unofficial, San Francisco has indicated its eagerness to get the United Nations to return to its birthplace.

Black Hills Area

Several other sections in the United States, including the Dakota Black Hills, pressed their claims before Gavrilovic's committee and might be expected to jump back into the fight should the question be thrown open again.

Before going into the permanent site, the commission will receive a report from Secretary General Trygve Lie in the Flushing-Lake Success interim headquarters in the New York area. Members will study this report in detail with a view to determining situations that may arise in connection with the Westchester-Fairfield location.

Vote Lists Ordered

Madrid, May 2 (AP)—Generalissimo Franco today ordered Spanish electoral lists to be made ready "in case the chief of state esteems it opportune or useful" to hold a referendum.

The Spanish leader's decree said such a referendum might be called "because of the transcendent importance of laws or uncertainty of opinion," but gave no indication of what questions might be submitted to the voters or when.

France Paying Britain

To Retire $440,000,000 Loan Made Last Year by April 1, 1949

LONDON, May 2 (AP).—A White Paper disclosed today that France had agreed to pay all her $440,000,000 debt to Great Britain by April 1, 1949. She already has reduced the debt from $600,000,000 by a payment of $160,000,000 in gold.

Under the agreement France will pay $220,000,000 by April, another $100,000,000 during 1948 and the remaining $120,000,00 the following year. Payments must be in gold or securities salable on the London Stock Exchange, except for the period remaining of 1946, whn France may pay up to $40,000,000 in dollars.

Great Britain loaned France $400,000,000 a year ago, and added $200,000,000 to the debt in an agreement settling the unpaid balance on a trade pact.

Winant Flying Home Tomorrow

London, May 2 (A. P.).—John G. Winant, the retiring American Ambassador, will leave London by plane late tomorrow for the United States.

Penalty Provisions

Corporations would be subject to unlimited fines for disclosing information about atomic projects or processes, or for doing unauthorized atomic research. Individuals would be subject to $2,000 fines or five years in prison for similar offenses.

Full control over diggings for all minerals needed for atomic uses would also be vested in the Ministry. The bill specifically mentioned uranium, thorium, plutonium and neptunium.

A British Council of Churches commission studying atomic problems asked today that atomic weapons be kept "for one purpose and one purpose alone"—to threaten or even execute reprisals against a nation which attempted to use it for aggression.

NATIONAL HEALTH BILL WINS FAVOR IN BRITAIN

LONDON, May 2 — (AP) The House of Commons tonight approved in principle a national health service bill designed to provide free and equal medical treatment to all Britons without payment of special fees.

The House gave the bill its second reading without a division after a three-day debate. The measure goes now to a standing committee to iron out details prior to submission to the House for its third and final reading.

Health Minister Aneurin Bevan said the bill would put Britain in front of all other nations in providing medical and dental services.

The Health ministry estimated the plan would cost 152,000,000 pounds ($608,000,000) a year.

Britain Discloses Details Of Atom-Control Plan

London, May 2 (AP)—The Labor Government proposed today to vest absolute control of atomic research, development and use in the Ministry of Supply.

A bill introduced yesterday and published today laid out these jobs for the Ministry: "To produce and use atomic energy and carry out research into any matters connected therewith; to promote the development of atomic energy; and to control unauthorized production and use of atomic energy."

The bill only vaguely estimated costs, saying "expendiures of the order of £30,000,000 ($120,000,000) can at present be foreseen, but no figure can be given for the amount which may ultimately be involved."

TO VISIT MOSCOW

LONDON, May 2 — (AP) The Moscow radio said tonight that Dr. Jose Giral, Spanish Republican premier, would go to Moscow from England May 5. Giral has been living in Paris; he recently was granted a transit visa into England.

NEW REFUGEE AGENCY FAVORED FOR EUROPE

LONDON, May 2 — (AP) The United Nations Committee on Refugees voted 12 to 5 today to recommend a United States proposal for creation of a new agency outside of the U. N. framework to handle resettlement of the 1,084,000 displaced persons still on the rolls of UNRRA.

Backed by the Soviet Union, against opposition by the British, the proposal would provide for a specialized agency "not an integral part of the United Nations."

LAST U. S. DEPOT CLOSED

THATCHAM, England, May 2—(AP) The United States Army's last major depot in Britain, G-45 at Thatcham, was turned back today to the British who will operate it as a peace-time ordnance depot.

The gigantic depot, which spread over an area covering more than two towns, served as one of the main Allied supply bases for the Normandy invasion almost two years ago.

G. I. Bride's Family Following

English Haberdasher Selling Out to Take Over Grocery at Corning, N. Y., Near Daughter's New Home.

Bungay, England, May 2 (A. P.).—This little Suffolk town is going to get a new haberdasher and Corning, N. Y., a new grocer, because a happy English family shared its hearth with homesick soldiers during the war.

J. Payne, a Bungay merchant who describes himself as a "Gents' Outfitter," said today that he is selling out here in order to take his wife and two remaining daughters to Corning, where relatives of his G. I. son-in-law, Donald Hess, have arranged for him to take charge of a food store.

Hess, while stationed near Bungay, married Payne's eldest daughter, Mary, last December and she joined him at Waverly, N. Y., last Easter Sunday.

"When the war started, my wife and I decided that we should open our home to soldiers—all of them," Payne said, "so they might have a few of the comforts they would miss in an Army camp. We entertained hundreds from nearly all the Allied nations, but we never thought one of them would pinch our Mary."

Until she became a G. I. bride, 20-year-old Mary and her sisters, June, 17, and Pauline, 13, were inseparable from their mother.

"The people in this little town always said that whenever you saw Mrs. Payne you would see her three daughters," Payne said. "They were pals. For the two younger girls it was wonderful at first to have a brother, but when Donald was returned to his home and then Mary went to join him, our home didn't seem the same."

So Payne said he and the Hess family started planning. The American in-laws found an uncle who wanted to retire and arranged for Payne to take over this relative's store.

TWO LITCHFIELD FIRES PROBED BY STATE POLICE

LITCHFIELD, May 2 — (AP) State Police Sgt. William Gruber of the Litchfield barracks said two Litchfield county fires are under investigation today by the state fire marshal's office to determine whether they were of "incendiary origin."

One fire, he said, destroyed a large dairy barn on the farm of Isadore Bernstein in East Morris late yesterday with a loss estimated at $10,000.

The other, said Gruber, destroyed a six-room frame dwelling on Route 118 in Harwinton early today.

Lichfield Trial Is Delayed Again

Bad Nauheim, Germany, May 2 (AP) — The five-month-old Lichfield trials, which high army authorities have ordered rushed, ran into another delay today.

An eight-officer court-martial trying Lieut. Granville Cubage, of Oklahoma City, on a charge of brutality to American soldiers imprisoned in a guardhouse at Lichfield, England, recessed until next Tuesday to permit the defense to prepare several motions.

No ruling has been made on defense requests for a 30-day postponement to allow more time for preparation.

A postponement until May 27 was granted yesterday in the trial of Lieut. Leonard W. Ennis, of Peekskill, N.Y.

No trial date has been set for the other four officers and eight enlisted men facing similar charges. Two enlisted men were convicted before the cases were moved here from London.

ITALIAN ARMISTICE REVISION IS URGED

Byrnes Proposes Changes Because of Delay in Drafting Peace Treaty.

PARIS, May 2—(AP) U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes called upon the foreign ministers conference today for prompt revision of Italian armistice terms and proposed a schedule of revisions for all armistices until agreements can be reached on European treaties, American sources said.

Byrnes presented the proposals at the first informal session of the conference, held after the ministers broke off their formal sessions indefinitely this morning.

Discussion Halted

But further consideration of the Italian armistice terms was halted by British objections on grounds which could not be learned immediately, conference informants reported.

Byrnes, however, took the opportunity to assert an American view that since peace treaties, even if drafted immediately, could not quickly become effective, revised armistice terms could be a short cut to stability in Europe.

The American, British, Russian and French foreign ministers had decided after the morning session to suspend formal meetings indefinitely and to meet informally with small groups of advisers in an attempt to break the log-jam of disagreements, American sources said.

There was no hint of any breakdown in the negotiations. The Ministers felt they could get along more swiftly in informal meetings, the procedure that was adopted during their Moscow conrference last December when a similar situation arose, the American source said.

2 Advisers, 1 Interpreter

Each of the Ministers will be permitted only two advisers and one interpreter during the informal sessions, as against fifteen advisers and interpreters during formal meetings.

The four Ministers were reported by British sources to have agreed today to award Yugoslavia a string of Dalmatian islands along the eastern Adriatic coast.

In awarding the Dalmatian Islands to Yugoslavia, the Ministers provided that the territory should be demilitarized. The Italian island of Pelagosa was given to Yugoslavia, but Italian fishing rights were guaranteed. Italy was allowed to keep Pianosa, but it too must be demilitarized.

Molotov Gains Point

Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov opposed a suggestion to insert in the Italian peace treaty a proposal forcing Italy to turn over war criminals as requested. The suggestion was backed by Byrnes, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault. It was dropped.

Italian Premier Alcide de Gasperi is expected to testify tomorrow afternoon at his own request. A Yugoslav delegation is to be heard tomorrow morning.

The Ministers scheduled two meetings to try to clear up as many points of disagreement as possible before tomorrow's session, at which Yugoslav and Italian experts are slated to present evidence in the Istrian boundary dispute and on the problem of Trieste.

Border Decision Delayed

Observers predicted the conference, beginning its second week, would continue for about two more weeks. They said the coming week would probably be devoted to Italian and Balkan peace treaties, with the Balkan pacts running over into the third week. They expected, however, that most of the final week would be given over to German problems.

There had been some hope that the French-Italian frontier issue, on which little disagreement had been reported, might be completed by the Council today and that the future of the Dodecanese Islands and the Italian colonies might be discussed again.

The Council's commission sent to study the Tenda and Briga areas on the border reached the region only yesterday, however, and was not expected to report back until Saturday. Dispatches said the commission found the regions solidly decked with Italian flags. The localities are claimed by France.

Substantial disagreement still existed on the question of the Italian colonies, especially Libya, for which the British have proposed independence; the French, an Italian trusteeship; the United States, a United Nations trusteeship, and Russia, a dual trusteeship for each colony under one of the big powers, with Italian assistance.

Italian View

A member of the Italian delegation, a colonial expert, said that Italy was ready to give up her "Fascist conquests" of Ethiopia and Albania, but he protested taking away Libya, Eritrea and Somaliland, which he called the "small share taken by Italy at the big colonial banquet where other big powers took the largest share."

Formal Session Today

There will be one exception to indefinite suspension of formal sessions, that one tomorrow, the sources said, when the ministers will hear the arguments of Italian and possibly Yugoslav representatives on the problems of Trieste and the Italo-Yugoslav frontier.

The attitude of the foreign ministers and their advisers at the informal meeting was described as more frank and easy than at the larger formal meetings. However, the two and one-half hour session produced little more results than the earlier one.

Russian representatives were reported again to have stated their demands for reparations from Italy. The other three ministers were pictured equally determined that Italy's ability to pay without wrecking herself economically should be investigated first.

Yugoslavia Gets Islands

The foreign ministers decided this morning to award the string of Dalmatian islands along the eastern coast of the Adriatic sea to Yugoslavia, British sources said, but with the stipulation that the islands must be demilitarized.

Under this decision Yugoslavia would be given the barren Italian island of Pelagosa off Italy's southeast coast. At the insistence of Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, conference sources said, Italy was guaranteed fishing rights around the island, now occupied only by a lighthouse.

Italy was permitted to keep the nearby island of Pianosa, which also must be demilitarized, these sources said.

Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov was said to have opposed an attempt to insert a clause in the Italian peace treaty which would have forced Italy to turn over all war criminals sought by the Allies. A conference source said the proposal, backed by the other three conferees, then was dropped.

Substantial disagreement apparently still existed among the foreign ministers over the future of Italian colonies—particularly in the case of Libya for which the British have proposed independence, the French an Italian trusteeship, the United States a United Nations trusteeship, and the Russians a dual trusteeship with Italian assistance.

Continued on Page 3, these sources said, the informal meeting was adopted on the suggestion of French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault when all four conferees expressed dissatisfaction with the progress being made in writing Europe's peace treaties. The Big Three conference in Moscow last December adopted a similar course to speed its work.

The constitution would invest a national assembly of 669 deputies not only with exclusive legislative authority, but also with the power to elect a figurehead president of the republic, a premier, the high court and most of the magistrate's council.

The political battle over the acceptance of this Left-Wing supported charter probably will be a close one and threatens to leave a permanent scar on the new French republic. Battle lines are drawn over the lack of separation of legislative, executive and judicial functions, with critics of the document charging it would lead to anarchy.

Newspaper Opinion

Concerned over the violence of the referendum campaign, the independent newspaper Combat expressed the opinion that the Sunday balloting would be a "plebiscite of the Communist party, which wished it thus."

The newspaper Resistance assailed the proposed constitution as having absorbed the entire legislative, executive and judicial power. L'Aube, organ of the Popular Republican Movement (MRP), called upon its supporters, of whom it claims 5,000,000, to reject the constitution as "an ideal instrument of the dictatorship of a majority or of a party on the nation."

The Communist newspaper L'Humanite, on the other hand, upholds the constitution as "truly democratic," saying it "corresponds in essentials with the actual economic, social and political situation of our country." The Socialists have joined with the Communists in supporting the constitution in the referendum.

Three Governmental Bodies

The proposed constitution, drawn by the Constituent Assembly in often sharp debate, provides for:

1. Three national governmental bodies:

(a) A national assembly, elected by universal suffrage, "which alone has the right to legislate." Deputies, who must be at least 23 years old, would serve for five-year terms. Eighty-nine of them would be chosen from the colonies. This house would have power to vote all treaties, the budget and declarations of war and would have the initiative in all expenditures.

(b) A council of the French union of 270 members chosen for four-year terms, two thirds of them from the ranks of municipal officials and the remainder from the colonies. Sitting simultaneously with the assembly, the council would study legislation already passed. It would have the power to recommend amendments or rejection, but the national assembly would not be obliged to follow its advice.

(c) An economic council. Details of its composition have not yet been fixed. It would be a body of experts to be consulted by the assembly and the cabinet "on establishment of a national economic plan aimed at achieving full employment and rational use of material resources."

A Premier And President

2. Two executives:

(a) A premier, elected by the assembly's majority vote in an open election.

(b) A president of the republic, elected by a two-thirds vote of the assembly in an open election, for not more than two seven-year terms. The president would be restricted to presenting the assembly lists of candidates for the premiership, presiding consultatively at cabinet meetings, presiding over the national defense council and the high court, "disposing of the armed forces," naming diplomats, signing treaties and "presiding at national solemnities."

Safeguards Provided

3. A judiciary of two branches:

(a) A superior magistrates' council consisting of twelve members, six elected directly by the Assembly. The president and minister of justice would be members and the other four would be chosen from lower courts.

(b) A high court of justice of 30 members, twenty of them chosen by the Assembly from its own deputies, the other ten elected by the Assembly from outside.

In an attempt to achieve governmental stability, the constitution provides that a vote of confidence in the cabinet can come only after an interval of 24 hours after the issue is raised, and must be asked by a majority of the Assembly in an open vote. Similar safeguards are provided for votes of censure, but calling for a 48-hour interval. If two crises occur in the same legislative session, the cabinet and Assembly president could dissolve the Assembly.

Similar To Bill Of Rights

With memories of 1940 still vivid, the deputies provided that ministers could be brought before the high court for crimes and offenses, and that in case of "occupation of all or a part of the metropolitan territory by foreign forces," no revision in the constitution could be made.

The charter is preceded by a preamble somewhat similar to the United States Bill of Rights, guaranteeing individual liberties and social and economic privileges. The constitution proclaims France "a republic, indivisible, democratic and social. The sovereignty belongs to the people."

The constitution also includes a clause that the republic "conforms to the rules of international law. It will enter no war of conquest nor ever employ its forces against the liberty of any people." It retains the tricolor as the national flag, and "liberty, equality and fraternity" as the nation's motto.

Truman Felicitates Byrnes

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP).—President Truman cabled congratulations today to Secretary of State James F. Byrnes on his sixty-seventh birthday and fortieth wedding anniversary. Mr. Byrnes is in Paris attending a four-power Foreign Ministers' conference. The President's message was not released.

Byrnes and Wife Give Party on Anniversaries

PARIS, May 2 (AP).—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes celebrated tonight with Mrs. Byrnes a double anniversary—his birthday and their wedding anniversary. He is sixty-seven and they were married in 1906.

The occasions were celebrated with a party in the Byrneses' apartment for the American delegation to the Foreign Ministers conference.

A telegram from President Truman said: "I know you thrive on hard work and therefore are enjoying this anniversary."

ANTI-SEMITIC ACTS CHARGED

Officials Of Jewish DP Camp Criticize Yank Behavior

Landsberg, Germany, May 2 (AP). Officials of the Landsberg Jewish displaced persons camp, where inmates wounded eighteen Germans in a riot Sunday, charged today that some junior officers and enlisted men in the American Military Government were guilty of anto-Semitic behavior.

Germans, under direction of AMG authorities, dragged lakes and combed woods near this Bavarian town in a continuing search for two young Hungarian Jews, whose disappearance from guard duty at a Jewish trade school early Sunday resulted in the Jewish attacks on passing German civilians.

Atmosphere "Unfriendly"

A. C. Glassgold, New York city, UNRRA camp director, said the atmosphere surrounding the Landsberg camp had been "unfriendly." He continued:

"I have heard slurring references made to Jewish DP's. There was one instance of a Jewish DP being assaulted—not violently—by some of our soldiers."

Dr. Samuel Gringaux, former judge at Memel and chairman of the Landsberg camp committee, said inmates believed the Landsberg guards were victims of foul play by Germans.

Captain Denies Incidents

"I have the impression that among the soldiers and junior officers of the military government there is a feeling against the Jews, because of the Americans' relations with the Germans," he asserted.

He said that on one occasion, two American soldiers, accompanied by two German girls, asked him if he was a Jew. He said when he answered yes, they ordered him off the sidewalk. When he refused, he said, one soldier drew a gun on him and searched him while the girls laughed.

Capt. Marshall Mott, Spartansburg, S.C., military governor of Kries Landsberg, denied there had been any anti-Semitic incidents perpetrated by military government personnel.

U.S. Army Challenges Correspondent In Reich

Landsberg, Germany, May 2 (AP). Lieut. Col. R. H. Bryant, intelligence officer of the United States 9th Division, said today the 3d Army had asked for a recommendation of disaccreditation for E. G. Valens, United Press correspondent.

Bryant said Valens was notified of orders excluding all correspondents from the Landsberg displaced-persons camp and was picked up several hours later when he left the camp. He was taken to Munich under military police escort and told he was not wanted back in the Landsberg area.

SCHACHT EVADES MANY QUESTIONS DURING TESTIMONY

NUERNBERG, May 2 — (AP)

Nazi financial wizard Hjalmar Schacht told the International Military Tribunal today that he entered the Nazi government to put the brakes on the Hitler regime.

Chief U. S. Prosecutor Robert H. Jackson, and members of the tribunal chuckled often as the defendant expertly sidestepped pitfalls during cross-examination.

His mood was a change from that which marked his direct testimony, during which he charged that foreign nations must share the responsibility with the Germans for Hitler's rise because they failed to aid Germany as a democracy and then gave "recognition and honors to the Nazi regime."

Replies Angrily

Angrily, Schacht asserted over Jackson's objection that from 1933 to 1938 many statesmen from almost all other nations came to Germany to visit Hitler, and that this recognition made Hitler appear a great man in the eyes of the German people.

Schacht bitterly assailed "people of hindsight who criticized me for not recognizing Hitler's intentions earlier," demanding what those persons would have done in similar circumstances. He said he "preached the economy of thrift for Germany," while pleading with other nations to give Germany a chance to live," and that "Hitler came to power because my advice was not heeded."

Schacht said at Munich Hitler had hoped for no more than autonomy for Germans in Czechoslovakia, "but the Allies handed him the Sudeten territories—more than he ever expected to get—on a silver platter."

Photograph Introduced

During the cross examination, when Jackson introduced as evidence pictures showing the former Reichsbank president and Finance Minister in the company of Hitler, Deputy Fuehrer Martin Bormann, Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels and other Nazi leaders, Schacht's quick retort brought laughter.

Schacht suggested that "if you photograph me with my other acquaintances you'd have a stack 10 times as high."

The old enmity between Schacht and Goering came to the fore again during the cross examination, when Schacht testified he was annoyed by the Reichsmarshal's appointment to head the four-year plan in 1935. He said he once recommended a slowdown of rearmament to Goering, but tried to conceal his reasons because "Goering would probably have denounced me to Hitler."

As he spoke, Goering leaned forward in the prisoner's box and stared intently at the witness, shaking his head. A guard laid a restraining hand on his shoulder.

Allied Concessions Cited By Schacht

Nuernberg, May 2 (AP)—Hjalmar Schacht told the international military tribunal today that Britain and France at the Munich conference in 1938 "handed Hitler on a silver platter more concessions than he ever expected to get" and thereby dealt a blow to anti-Nazis in Germany.

"At Munich," said Schacht, on the witness stand in his own defense for the third day, "Hitler tried only to get autonomy for Germans in Czechoslovakia. But the Allies handed him the Sudeten territories, more than he ever expected to get, on a silver platter.

Strengthened Hitler

"This success strengthened Hitler's popularity and weakened the chances of removing him."

The former German economics minister contended that he had no prior knowledge of Hitler's plans to invade Czechoslovakia, Norway, Denmark, Poland or Russia.

Protest On Belgium

He said an emissary from Gen. Franz Halder, chief of the German general staff, told him shortly in advance of the plans to violate Belgium. He said he protested in vain.

He testified that he refused repeatedly to co-operate in any of these Nazi conquests.

"Sought To Prevent War"

Schacht, former Reichbank president and Minister of Economics is on trial with 22 other ranking Germans on war-crime charges.

He asserted that after he was removed as president of the Reichsbank in 1939, he devoted his efforts to preventing war. After his dismissal as a minister without portfolio in January of 1943, "my only political activity was devoted to efforts to remove Hitler," he swore.

He told of plotting with generals who opposed Hitler and of frequent contacts with "prominent Americans, Englishmen, Frenchmen and neutrals" aimed at seeking peace. Much of this ground had been covered by a previous witness, Dr. Hans Gisevius, who had identified Schacht as a participant in various plots.

Talks With U.S. "Economist"

Schacht sought to testify about talks with an unnamed American economist in Switzerland in 1941. But he abandoned the effort after Justice Robert H. Jackson, chief United States prosecutor, insisted that he identify the economist "so we can do some checking, because this looks suspicious."

The witness said he incurred the enmity of various leading Germans. He said the Gestapo was put on his trail and his life was endangered.

The defendant said his personal fortune never was increased under the Nazis and "the only present I ever received from Hitler was a painting for my sixtieth birthday."

"The painting turned out to be a forgery and was practically worthless," Schacht said. "I sent it back."

"Other Nations Responsible"

Angrily, Schacht declared that foreign nations must share responsibility with the Germans for the rise of Hitler because he said they failed to aid democratic elements in Germany and later gave "recognition and honors" to the Nazi regime.

He also spoke out against "people of hindsight who criticize me for not recognizing Hitler's intentions earlier."

"Tried To Prevent His Rise"

"I ask those people what they would have done," he said. "For myself, I can only say that, from 1920 until 1933, I tried to influence Germany and foreign countries in a way that would have prevented the rise of Hitler. I preached the economy of thrift for Germany and pleaded with other nations to adopt economic policies which would give Germany a chance to live. Hitler came to power because my advice was not heeded.

"When I recognized what a harmful man Hitler was, I separated myself from him personally and publicly and tried to remove him."

Over objections by Jackson, Schacht was permitted to testify that recognitions by foreign governments of the Hitler regime made the task of opposing the Nazis inside Germany harder.

YANKS IN GERMANY FACE RATIONS CUT

Frankfurt, May 2 (A. P.).—Rations for American occupation troops in Europe will be reduced by 300 calories a day beginning May 5, United States Army Headquarters has announced. Unofficial estimates placed the present soldier's ration at 3,600 calories daily.

The reduction means a daily caloric cut equivalent to two milk chocolate bars, it was said. To make the reduction, mess halls will serve less sugar, bread, flour, cereals, noodles, lard and bacon.

The present ration for displaced personnel in the theater is 2,000 calories daily. For German civilians the ration is 1,275.

Anti-Jewish Rumor Jails Two Germans

Frankfurt, May 2 (A. P.).—Two Germans were sentenced to six months in jail in Stuttgart yesterday for spreading rumors that Polish Jews were slaughtering 17-year-old German girls and selling their flesh on the black market. A suspended sentence of four months in jail was imposed on a third German.

Sentenced as Rumor Mongers

FRANKFURT AM MAIN, May 2 (AP).—Three Germans were sentenced in Stuttgart yesterday for spreading rumors that Polish Jews were slaughtering seventeen-year-old German girls and selling their flesh on the black market. Two received six-month jail terms. The third got a four-month sentence suspended.

PETTING IN PUBLIC BARRED FOR YANKS

Berlin, May 2 (AP).—G. I.'s with romantic inclinations toward German girls must henceforth refrain from lovemaking on the streets of Berlin, according to an edict by Major-Gen. Walter B. Keating, new commander of the American garrison here. Keating, in a blunt order to all officers of the United States Berlin district, demanded that they lead their troops back to a more "austere" way of life—a way which, he made clear, precludes all public demonstrations of romance.

"We can't control what happens behind closed doors," said Keating, "but we can control what happens in public, and we shall."

The new commander also let it be known that he favored fewer parties in the Berlin garrison, and a heavier accent on proper military dress.

Keating succeeds Major-Gen. Ray Barker, who is returning to the United States for reassignment.

In line with his new policy of tightening discipline for American troops, Gen. Joseph T. McNarney's office has banned the possession of souvenir firearms. All such weapons, as well as knives and brass knuckles, will be kept under lock and soldiers disobeying the order will be subject to disciplinary action.

Executions Daily Routine in Poland

WARSAW,—(AP) Since January 1, more than 200 persons who collaborated with the Nazis during their occupation of Poland and members of the National Armed Forces have been sentenced to death. Double that number have received long prison sentences.

It's an everyday occurrence for Polish newspapers to carry accounts of a dozen or more people sentenced to death or long imprisonment.

Pravda Scores British.

Moscow, May 2 (A. P.).—Correspondent Vadim Kozhevnikov of Pravda, describing a visit with a colleague to the British occupation zone of Trieste, said today "what we saw and heard made us think we were in a Fascist nursery, hidden from the punishing hand of the democratic states."

"Columns of marchers went through the streets singing Fascist songs and bawled 'Death to the Slavs,' Kozhevnikov wrote. "They stretched out their hands in the old-style Mussolini Fascist greeting.

"Once when the demonstrators met a truck taking German prisoners to work the demonstrators surrounded the truck and gave the Germans an ovation. This happened in front of the eyes of the Allied command and its police. But when one English sailor, on seeing a column of workers passing, raised his hand clenched into a fist he was immediately arrested by a military patrol."

The correspondent said he and his companion were refused rooms in a British-controlled hotel on the plea that it was fully occupied, but a clerk showed them to unoccupied rooms when the officer in charge was not looking.

2,000,000 In Moscow May Day Parade

Moscow, May 2 (AP)—Soviet authorities estimated today that approximately 2,000,000 persons participated yesterday in Moscow's May Day parade—the largest number ever to take part.

The largest previous May Day parade—before the war—numbered 1,700,000 marchers, authorities said.

Riots and Strikes Greet Denial of Tyrol to Austria

North and South Areas Protest Foreign Ministers' Ruling

VIENNA, May 2 (AP).—A government statement declared some Tyroleans clashed with Italian police and others staged a general strike today in a "spontaneous reaction" to the rejection by the Foreign Ministers at Paris of Austria's plea for return of the South Tyrol to the Austrian Republic.

A statement by Chancellor Leopold Figl's press chief said there was some rioting and "great excitement" in the South Tyrol. The clashes with Italian police were reported from the Puster Vailley.

The strike occurred in the North Tyrol, closing down all utilities, traffic, mail and industry. All shops were reported closed except bakeries, milk stores and factories producing for Allied occupation forces.

"The strike was not started by government or municipal authorities but by a spontaneous reaction against the perpetuation of the Nazi treason in the South Tyrol," the statement said.

[The Foreign Ministers conference declined Austria's plea for return of the South Tyrol, reportedly, on the ground that it would involve a "major change" in Austria's borders and thus would be contrary to an agreement reached at London last year.]

Rightists File Charges

THE HAGUE, May 2 (AP)—A Netherlands States-General commission, composed of five right-wing members, blamed exiled Netherlands Indies authorities at Brisbane, Australia; the British occupation authorities in Java and Australian trade unions for many of the difficulties besetting Java.

In a report to the lower house, the commission criticized the Brisbane Administration for failing to reinstate or release former civil servants on Java. It also criticized Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's Southeast Asia Command for ordering internees to remain where they were after the Japanese surrender, and asserted that the Australian trade unions sought to foster Indonesian independence and hinder the Netherlanders.

TRIESTE SEES ALLIES MARCH

Marks the Anniversary of German Surrender.

Trieste, May 2 (A. P.).—Nearly all the residents of this city of 250,000 turned out today for a British-American parade commemorating the first anniversary of the surrender of German armies in Italy.

For three and one-half hours Allied infantry, motorized units, tanks and guns rolled past the reviewing stand at the foot of the Piazza Dell' Unita, where yesterday 50,000 Yugoslavs held a May Day demonstration and shouted "viva" for Marshal Tito.

Spitfire and Mustang planes roared overhead. In the harbor British warships lay at anchor.

Street fights continued last night between Yugoslavs and Italians.

Power of Falange Not Cut by Franco

He Is Viewed as Shifting Spotlight From Party

MADRID, May 2 (AP).—Generalissimo Francisco Franco's decree halving his Falange party representation in the Cortes (Parliament) was regarded in some informed quarters here today as another move to shift the spotlight from the state party without reducing its power.

In another significant order Franco directed that electoral lists be made ready "in case the chief of state esteems it opportune or useful" to hold a referendum.

The order gave no indication when a referendum might be ordered or what questions might be submitted to the Spanish people. Recently there has been speculation that the question of the re-establishment of the monarchy might be submitted to the voters.

Franco's Cortes decree, announced yesterday, cut the membership in the Falange's national council from 100 to fifty, thus reducing its Cortes representation, since party mouncil members automatically become members of the concultative Parliament. Franco himself, however, filled the fifty seats by personal appointments.

The action is subject to a number of interpretations, but it was noted here that recently there has been a series of steps in which the Falange moved into the background of the Spanish regime. Among these was the dropping of the party's general secretary from the Cabinet and the announcement that the Fascist salute would be voluntary rather than obligatory.

The fact remains, however, that the Falange is the only authorized party of all government officials, with Franco remaining as their chief.

Franco Soothes Troubled Home Front With Food Ration Increase for the Poor

MADRID, May 2 — (AP) The Franco regime, facing increasing embarrassment from abroad, has moved to strengthen itself on the home front by earmarking $250,000,000 to help Spain's poor meet the spiraling cost of living and critical food shortages.

Under the program, put into effect recently, each qualified ration book holder in large cities will receive 17.50 pesetas (about $1.60) worth of food — meat, vegetables and fruit—free each month if he spends an equal amount on his own behalf.

Aids Large Families

While the amounts appear small, they constitute a distinct aid to a worker with a large family who earns only a few pesetas a day.

The program is designed to help carry the poor through a critical food situation until the early August harvests, which are expected to be the best in a decade. The present crisis is due to three successive drought years combined with inability to import sufficient foodstuffs, fuel and fertilizer.

When the 1945 wheat harvest only totaled about half of normal, there were predictions that economic difficulties might force Generalissimo Franco to make changes in his regime which the United States and Great Britain had sought unsuccessfully through diplomatic pressure.

However demonstrations of mass discontent never materialized, although prices rose steadily and the amounts of food within reach of the working class gradually decreased. The government maintained the daily bread ration of about six ounces but rations of other basic foods such as olive oil, rice, sugar and potatoes became pitifully small.

Fights Black Market

Numerous efforts are being made to force existing supplies of basic foods into legal channels. Recently the government opened a campaign against small black market peddlers of bread. As a result these peddlers almost disappeared, and the price of black market bread almost doubled. This was another hardship for the poor and middle classes. Where before they could augment their bread ration by purchasing a small loaf of black market bread at about 12 cents the price now is about 25 cents.

Flour, sugar, rice, potatoes and many other items are beyond the reach of the workingman whose wage averages from 12 to 25 pesetas about $1 to $2.25) daily. Flour, for example, costs about 50 cents per pound, potatoes are 40 cents per pound, and sugar about $1.50 per pound.

Partially to defray the costs of the new program, the government has levied taxes on restaurants, cafes and bars, movies, dances, bullfights and other sports, and on luxury food shops.

At the same time the government has started a reclassification of ration card holders according to income which is designed to scale down the number of third class ration book holders—the working and poorer classes—from the present estimated 23,000,000 to about 11,000,000.

The government abandoned a plan to tax all first class ration book holders—the moderately well-off and up—about $1.35 per month. Although no reasons were given it is believed the difficulty of collection was the major cause. Persons holding first class ration books buy almost entirely in the black market and do not need to use the ration coupons.

HELSINKI, Finland, May 2 (AP)—Russia and Finland have signed a short-term trade agreement running for six months, it was learned tonight when a Finnish delegation returned from Moscow. Details are expected to be announced tomorrow.

Syria Pledges Aid Against Zionism

Damascus, May 2 (AP)—Prime Minister Saadallah Jabris's new Cabinet announced a platform today condemning the British-American Palestine inquiry report and promising unlimited Syrian support of Palestine in fighting Zionism.

The Cabinet proposed compulsory military service for Syria and the consolidation of the state police, gendarmerie and desert corps under the defense ministry.

It recommended that Syria maintain close relations with all the Arab states, lend strong support to the Arab League and help the states achieve their independence.

The Cabinet pledged co-operation with the United Nations and amicable relationships with the United States, Britain and the U.S.S.R.

State Of Hostilities Charged By Arab Group

Baghdad, May 2 (AP)—The newly formed National People's Defense Committee called tonight for a joint meeting of Parliament tomorrow to consider active measures of defense against the recommendations of the British-American Committee of Inquiry on Palestine. The defense committee comprises all leading Iraq politicians.

The joint meeting is expected to be followed by the presentation of a memorandum to the British Embassy and the American legation declaring the existence of a state of hostilities if the recommendations are carried out.

Explaining the line of the Arab protest, Sadiq Albassam, vice president of the Senate, declared that if the recommendations were put into effect he believed "both (Britain and the United States) have declared a state of hostilities against Arabs." He added: "The Arabs thereafter can only retaliate, declaring the same, and turning their face to any power that would help them—Russia or another."

estine. The action followed the adoption of a resolution by the National Democratic party terming the Committee's report a "real threat to peace and security in the Middle East."

"Arabs should not remain passive against open aggression," said the resolution on the Committee report, which recommended that 100,000 Jews be admitted to Palestine from Europe.

"In case of acceptance of the recommendations, Arabs cannot afford to continue in friendship with Britain and America and will be free from all pledges, treaties and agreements. Arab governments must warn Britain and America to discontinue their hostile policy."

The Iraq Independence party also adopted resolutions against the report. Mass meetings of protest were planned for Friday.

Tojo and 25 Aids Face Court as War Criminals

Defense Plans to Challenge Tribunal's Authority to Try Japanese Leaders

TOKYO, May 3 (Friday) (AP).—Black-robed justices of nine Allied nations convened the international military tribunal for the Far East at 11:20 a. m. today to arraign twenty-six of Japan's major war-crimes suspects, headed by Hideki Tojo. After a twenty-minute session, court was adjourned until afternoon so that two others, newly arrived from Siam, could be present.

The prisoners entered their box and took their respective places impassively. Ten wore uniforms bare of any decorations or insignia. War-time Premier Tojo wore an olive-drab suit and was given a seat between Vice-Admiral Takasumi Oka and former Minister of War Jiro Minami, fellow suspects. Behind him was Baron Kichiro Hiranuma, an indicted former Premier.

The two late arrivals, General Seishiro Itagaki, a former War Minister, and Lieutenant Genral Heitaro Kimura, former Burma commander, reached Tokyo this morning by plane from Bangkok.

To Challenge Court's Authority

Counsel for Tojo has announced that at the outset he will challenge the authority of the tribunal, appointed by General Douglas MacArthur to try the defendants for "crimes against peace and crimes against humanity."

Chief Prosecutor Joseph B. Keenan, a former Assistant Federal Attorney General, has said he and his staff are ready for any defense maneuver. He added that his staff has "built up a sound, legal case" against each of the accused. Keenan said he is prepared to show that the defendants plotted and carried out "aggressive war" as a climax to years of conquest by the sword in the Far East.

Associated with Keenan will be ten assistant prosecutors from the other nations taking part in the trial.

Navy Captain Beverly M. Coleman, of Washington, chief of defense counsel, announced selection of Major Franklin Warren, of Tucumcari, N. M., as his assistant. The Japanese have been provided with American attorneys and permitted also to select Japanese counsel if they desired.

Australian Is Presiding Judge

Sir William Flood Webb, of Australia, is the presiding judge. Two of the justices, newly appointed R. M. Pal, of India, and the as yet unnamed representative of the Philippines, have not arrived. The other members of the tribunal are Justice E. Stuart McDougall, Canada; Ju-ao Mei, China; Henri Reimburger, France; Lord (William Donald) Patrick, United Kingdom; Professor Bernard Victor A. Roling, the Netherlands; Justice Erima Harvey Northcroft, New Zealand; Justice I. M. Zaryanov, Russia, and Justice John P. Higgins, the United States.

The setting for the proceedings is the War Ministry Building, where Japan's militarists mapped their campaigns of conquest. The auditorium there has been converted into a courtroom, with the judges' bench a raised section near the center. The defendants and their counsel have been assigned places in a three-tiered section facing the bench, with the press in the rear and boxes and the gallery reserved for spectators.

stand before justices of the Allied powers tomorrow and enter pleas to charges of aggression, plunder and war.

All are expected to plead innocent and to challenge the international tribunal's jurisdiction.

Hideki Tojo, who committed his nation to the disastrous Pacific war, and 25 others accused as coconspirators will be brought under heavy guard from bleak Sugamo prison. The arraignment proceedings may continue into Saturday if the lengthy indictment is read in both English and Japanese.

Prosecution Prepared

Joseph B. Keenan, of the United States, chief prosecutor, said his staff was prepared to meet any defense challenge of the court's jurisdiction. His staff has "built up a sound, legal case" against each of the acused, he added.

Ichiro Kiyose, Tojo's Japanese counsel, announced he would question the authority of the tribunal appointed by General MacArthur to consider charges of "crimes against peace" and "crimes against humanity."

Keenan said: "I assume that in this trial any defendant will be permitted to make any assertion not of a facetious nature in regard to the theory of prosecution as set forth in the indictment.

"We do not anticipate that this will be anything other than a court of justice."

Australian Presides

The Hon. Sir William Webb, of Australia, will preside.

Keenan will be assisted by ten associate prosecutors from ten Allied nations.

Earphones are being installed to carry running translations of the proceedings in the various languages represented at the trial.

One hundred Allied and Japanese correspondents and photographers are expected to cover the proceedings.

Navy Chaplain Beverly M. Coleman, of Washington, chief of defense counsel, announced selection of Major Franklin E. N. Warren, of Tucumcari, N.M., as his assistant. The Japanese have been provided with American attorneys and were permitted also to select Japanese counsel if they desired.

Separate Arraignment

Keenan said, meanwhile, that two Japanese generals en route from Bangkok, Siam, would be arraigned separately from Tojo and the others.

The generals are Seishiro Atagaki and Heitaro Kimura.

Four more war-crime suspects, including Col. Tokuro Hosoi, former commander of all prisoner-of-war camps in the Hakodate area, have been imprisoned at Sugamo recently.

Tojo, 25 Others Planning Fight From Trial Outset

Tokyo, May 2 (AP)—Twenty-six once-powerful leaders of Japan will convened the International Military Tribunal for the Far East today to arraign Japan's major war-crimes suspects, headed by Hideki Tojo, but adjourned the court until afternoon when two defendants, newly arrived by plane from Siam, could be present.

Hatoyama Call To Premiership

Tokyo, May 2 (AP)—Premier Shidehara will offer Ichiro Hatoyama and his Liberal party the task of forming a new Cabinet, Wataru Narahashi, chief Cabinet secretary, said today.

The offer will be made at a meeting scheduled for tomorrow to break the eleven-day deadlock created by the Shidehara Cabinet resignations.

Whether Hatoyama will accept, Narahashi indicated, depends entirely on the Liberal leader's own estimate of whether he can qualify under General MacArthur's political purge directive.

"Can't Delay Longer"

The Government will make no ruling on Hatoyama as an individual, the secretary added, but will attempt to obtain from occupation headquarters an understanding on his status as a leader of the plurality party in the Diet.

"The situation cannot be postponed any longer," the secretary said. Shidehara is anxious for the immediate selection of a government which will be charged with the swift preparation of numerous measures which must come before the Diet, scheduled to convene May 13.

Parleys Fruitless

The political deadlock continued through another series of meetings today with the Liberals and Social Democrats—who hold the key positions—apparently no nearer any feasible compromise.

Hatoyama may intend, informants said, to accept the premiership despite Chinese and Russian criticism.

Most Japanese politicians believe that the premiership now is a "bad bet," with the next government doomed to a short life because of the basic food and other postwar problems.

Still Could Be Purged

Although, from Narahashi's statement, it appears that the Japanese Government will not disqualify Hatoyama as a Government leader, he still could be purged by direct action of Allied headquarters—and there is much evidence that the supreme commander would do just that if Hatoyama raises his head.

Although no official inquiry has been made about Hatoyama, unofficial envoys to Allied headquarters returned with the definite idea that the Liberal party leader was not acceptable.

Japs Told To Destroy Major Combat Vessels

Tokyo, May 2 (AP)—The Japanese Government was ordered today to destroy by April 30, 1947, the few major combat vessels of the Imperial Navy which escaped United States forces during the war.

Allied headquarters said it expected only eight aircraft carriers and cruisers would be available for immediate scrapping under terms of the order.

Eight Total 100,000 Tons

The headquarters memorandum specifies the destruction of all former surface combatant vessels larger than destroyers which are within the Japanese empire and which can be towed. Excepted for the present are ships employed by occupation forces or in repatriation service.

The eight—carriers, light carriers, escort carriers and cruisers—total 100,000 tons. All were damaged beyond economical repair for repatriation use.

Headquarters said other Imperial Navy combatant vessels now engaged in repatriation work probably would complete the job by next November and then be available for scrapping.

The order was given in compliance with instructions by the joint chiefs of staff in Washington.

Private Japanese contractors will scrap the ships affected.

Admits Killing U. S. Flyer

Japanese Confesses Complicity After Being Cleared

TOKYO, May 2 (AP).—A Japanese warrant officer, previously questioned and freed by Allied investigators, has surrendered and confessed that he was involved in the execution of a captured American airman.

Allied headquarters, announcing his confession, said today that the officer, Noboru Seki, surrendered several days ago to an American sentry. At his earlier questioning he had remained silent.

He now ackknowledges complicity in the execution of an unidentified flyer whose plane was shot down near Tachikawa on Aug. 18, 1945, investigators said. He was placed in Sugamo Prison pending filing of charges.

GIs To Get Famed MacArthur Vessel

Tokyo, May 2 (AP)—The communications ship Apache, from which General MacArthur broadcast his famous "I have returned" speech in the Philippines, will become a GI pleasure craft on Sunday.

Flies Fought In Japan

Tokyo, May 2 (AP)—For the first time an attempt is being made in Japan to control fly-borne diseases, which annually take thousands of lives. American authorities have organized sanitary teams in every prefecture to combat flies, mosquitoes and rodents, carriers of dysentery, typhoid fever and paratyphoid.

Luxury Articles For British in Japan

Tokyo, May 2 (AP)—Gift and luxury type articles which have been made available to American occupation troops soon will be made available also to British troops.

Arrangements have been made to supply such items as silk pajamas, scarfs and kimonos, pearls, lacquer ware, cloisonne and possibly some linen to the British through Col. William G. Leonard, chief of the British canteens service at Kure.

Prison Guards See 'Cutthroat Trading'

MATSUE, Japan (AP) — Guards in a Japanese prison are protesting against the American love of souvenirs.

They said 200 daggers seized in the prison workshop were to be made into kitchen knives, but prison authorities decided to sell the daggers to merchants, who would resell them for souvenirs to occupying soldiers.

Communists Charge Threats

MANILA, May 2 (AP)—The Chinese Communist's Yenan radio said today that eleven Government armies, including twenty-seven divisions, had been closing in on Communist positions in the Honan-Hupeh-Anhwei border region of central China in violation of the Jan. 10 cease-fire truce agreement.

The broadcast, heard here by The Associated Press, quoted a Communist spokesman who said attacks had cut the Communist New Fourth Army into two pockets.

Philippines Buy Surplus

Manila, May 2 (AP)—The Foreign Liquidation Commission announced today the transfer of $10,000,000 worth of surplus military property to the Philippine Government.

Roxas Faces Huk Tribal Threat

Manila, May 2 (AP)—President-elect Manuel Roxas seems assured of a co-operative Congress to help him govern the Philippines Republic-to-be. Incomplete unofficial returns today indicated his candidates would dominate both House and Senate.

Candidates of Roxas's liberal Nacionalista faction virtually were certain to occupy fifteen of the sixteen Senate seats. Members of retiring President Sergio Osmena's conservative Nacionalistas claimed they would hold 40 House seats, to Roxas' 58, but seven members of the Osmena group are members of the Democratic Alliance, a leftist popular front.

Running Mate Seems In

Elpidio Quirino, the Roxas vice presidential candidate, led Osmena's running mate, Eulogio Rodriguez, by 90,000 votes, but Rodriguez refused to concede.

As Roxas prepared to assume the presidency, his supporters gave attention to what may be a No. 1 problem of the new administration—the armed guerrillas of central Luzon.

Roxas has promised to disarm the guerrillas "in the kindliest way possible," but the major guerrilla group—the Hukbalahap peasant faction—has said it will resist forcibly.

Huks Lean On Their Guns

Before the election, Hukbalahap leader Luis Taruc declared his men felt their guns would be their only protection against oppression if Roxas won. In the past week, 31 peasants and military police have died in clashes in central Luzon.

From Cabanatuan, Brig. Gen. Federico G. Oboza, provost marshal general of the Philippine Army's military police command, sent a message that an uneasy quiet prevailed in central Luzon. He visited the heart of the area with intelligence officers.

"The situation is generally calm except for isolated fighting," he said. "There are no reports of murders today."

Quiet Before Storm Feared

Informed sources expressed fear that it was the quiet before a storm which they said might come when military police adopt a sterner attitude toward the armed peasantry.

Refugees continued to stream into Nueva Ecija province's larger towns, seeking respite from a week's alleged terrorization by Huks. The Rev. Lucio Maglapo of a religious sect reported to be a particular target of Huk ire, said nearly 3,000 of his congregation were camping in schoolhouses and vacant lots.

The absence of farmers from paddy fields when rice planting begins next month would heavily cut into the production of this granary area of Luzon.

Distrust Biggest Problem For Marshall

By John Roderick

Nanking, May 2 (AP)—An intense and unabated air of distrust between Chinese Communist and Government leaders makes the problem of bringing peace to this land of civil struggle one of the more challenging and difficult that ever faced General Marshall.

If the special envoy from America can come out on top in this game of rifles and wits, the United States can mark him down not only as a great wartime leader, but also as a statesman of the highest rank.

When Marshall left China in March to report to President Truman, peace and democracy were nearer realization than at any other time in the 5,000-year history of China.

Trouble Starts

But the moment he left, a sizable core of the Kuomintang (National party), which stood to lose power, wealth and position through any revision of the one-party form of government, began to foment uprisings under assumed titles, organized mass demonstrations against Russian actions in Manchuria and even criticized General Marshall's executive headquarters in Peiping, being careful, meanwhile, to associate all this with the Communists.

It did its job with tremendous skill. The next move accomplished the desired result. In the Central Executive Committee of the Kuomintang, it proposed the overthrow of the five vital decisions of the All-Party People's Consultative (unity) Council; decisions to which the Communists had agreed.

Civil Strife Revived

That action led to the revival of civil strife in Manchuria. Distrust, suspicion and fear replaced the Communist attitude of hopefulness for a united China.

On the other side, and quite apart from the reactionary group in the Kuomintang, men in the party with liberal leanings began to voice uneasiness over Russia's role in Manchuria. They said that somehow that great power had aligned herself with the Communists to maintain a sphere of influence in the northeast.

That this attitude was backed by no tangible proof did not matter. Russia continued to be the man under the bed, and Chungking quaked over the possibilities.

Some Kuomintang leaders also seemed to lose sight of the fact that Russia certainly did not need either armies or Communists to exert influence in Manchuria. Under the terms of the Sino-Soviet pact signed by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, Russia shares in the administration of the great rail lines which dominate the area and two of its vital ports, Dairen and Port Arthur. It would be hard to see how she could improve on that situation.

Neutrals' Suggestions

A number of possibilities have been suggested by neutral observers. One is for Russia to allay any and all fears about Manchuria after a conference with the United States. That would be the external approach. A second would be for Chiang to abolish the secret police, suppress terrorists whose success can be seen daily in Manchuria, and then make a personal guarantee that the decisions of the Unity Council will be carried out to the letter.

But, until Communist and Government leaders stop viewing each other with more or less justifiable alarm, China's problem will continue to be, in Marshall's own words, "serious, critical and difficult."

Fighting Reported

Manila, May 2 (AP)—The Chinese Communists's Yenan radio said today that eleven Government armies, including 27 divisions, have been closing in on Communist positions in the Honan-Hupeh-Anhwei border region of central China, in violation of the January 10 cease-fire truce agreement.

The broadcast, heard here by the Associated Press, quoted a Communist spokesman who said attacks had cut the New 4th Communist Army into two pockets.

The radio said Government forces were imposing a food blockade on 60,000 New 4th men and the civil population of the area. It also charged that Government troops had inflicted 3,000 casualties and captured 200 Communists.

CHINESE DEMAND OPEN COMMITTEE

Nanking, May 2 (A. P.).—The preparatory committee of the National Assembly met in confusion today as an abortive attempt was made to restrict committee membership to delegates named by the Kuomintang (National party) eight years ago.

The committee itself had printed a resolution opening its seats to all registered delegates. Beside this resolution was placed another which would have restricted membership to prewar choices. The latter would have excluded not only Communist, Democratic League and other party members but 150 members of the Kuomintang's central executive committee.

Two hundred sixty delegates who attended the session turned down the latter resolution. Some members said it had been sponsored by a right wing Kuomintang group headed by the brothers Chen Li-fu and Chen Kuo-fu. The meeting elected a presidium which included Chu Ching-nung, Vice-Minister of Education.

The preparatory committee thus far includes only Kuomintang appointees. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek has postponed the scheduled May 5 opening of the Assembly pending the naming by the Communists and Democratic League of their delegates.

Manchuria Looks to Sulfa

Hopes Drug Will Help Conquer Dread Pneumonic Plague

MUKDEN, May 2 (AP). — Sulfadiazine may help conquer one of China's most feared diseases—pneumonic plague.

Officials of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration and of the Chinese National R. R. A. reported today that three of four persons suffering from that disease and treated with the sulfa drug were cured. The fourth, a child, did not receive sulfadiazine until it was in a comatose condition. It died.

News of the cures of a disease that has a 90 per cent fatality rate made headlines in Manchurian newspapers.

CONGRESS SHIES AT POLICE DUTY

Lawmakers Not for Sending Troops to Near East.

Washington, May 2 (A. P.).—The United States shied away today from the prospect of direct intervention in Palestine, apparently counting on the United Nations to assume future responsibility for the troublesome Holy Land problem.

Although congressional opinion overwhelmingly favored the proposed migration of 100,000 Jews there, it was plain that the lawmakers were against this country's joining Great Britain in the thankless job of maintaining peace between Arab and Jew.

With Britain unwilling to continue alone after the immigration recommendations of the Anglo-American Palestine Committee, the U. N. appeared the only agency capable of stepping into the picture effectively.

Charles G. Ross, White House press secretary, told reporters he was unable to say what President Truman's reaction was to a British proposal that the United States help administer the Holy Land. Reaction from other quarters to the Anglo-American Committee's report, Ross said, was "generally favorable."

Ross said that to his knowledge no formal communication on the subject of Palestine had been received from the British Government. He said one might have reached the State Department, but officials there said they knew of none either.

Four Factors Involved.

The thumbs-down intervention attitude on the part of the nation's lawmakers stemmed from these factors:

1. An apparent determination to hold foreign commitments of American troops to minimum security levels.

2. Belief that the problem of suppressing violence in other lands should be handled now on an international, rather than a one or two-nation basis.

3. Reluctance to quarter troops in the Near East, a potential trouble spot, for fear the action might be misinterpreted—especially in view of this country's recent insistence upon withdrawal of Russian forces from nearby Iran.

4. Heavy demands on available United States forces for occupation forces elsewhere.

That reaction crystallized quickly after Prime Minister Attlee's declaration before Commons yesterday that his Government, unwilling to "implement a policy that would involve it single-handed," wanted to find out what the United States might contribute in the way of men and money.

Both Senator Ball (R.-Minn.) and Senator LaFollette (Prog.-Wis.) commented after Attlee's speech that Britain should turn to the U. N. if in need of help in Palestine. Senator Maybank (D.-S. C.) expressed doubt this country would send troops there.

Pauley Will Take 20 Assistants For Survey in Korea, Manchuria

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP) With unusual fanfare, President Truman and Acting Secretary of State Acheson today announced final plans for Edwin Pauley's reparations mission to Korea and Manchuria—a mission which seems certain to bring a clash of Russian and American economic aims in northeast Asia.

Mr. Truman said at a news conference that the assignment given Pauley, his reparations expert, was one of the greatest importance. Acheson announced that Pauley would leave for the Far East this weekend.

To Take 20 Aides

The White House released a list of 20 industrial, chemical, oil, and other experts who will help with the job of finding out what the Russians have removed from Manchuria and Korea and what remains there.

At the same time, it was learned that the United States has officially informed the Russian government of the Pauley project, through the embassy at Moscow, and has asked for Russian cooperation. Russia, however, has given no such assurances.

Unless such assistance is forthcoming, it would seem possible that Pauley could not go into the Soviet-controlled part of Korea nor into any sections of Manchuria which might still be in Russian hands when he gets there.

Also, in the very announcement of Pauley's task today, there appeared evidence that the clash over economic policies is already beginning. A State department press release quoted Acheson as saying that China must be able "to utilize to the full" the resources and industries of Manchuria. He also said that Korea must be able to develop its own resources. On such things, Acheson said, depend the working out of a "peaceful economy" in that turbulent area.

Soviet Proposal Differs

This declaration contrasted sharply with a Russian proposal, revealed in March, for the Russian and Chinese governments to share operation of the resources of Manchuria. The United States is opposed to this, on the ground that it would mean exclusion of American commercial interests.

Pauley's appointment to carry out the mission was announced some time ago. His job is to find out specifically how much industrial equipment the Red army has carted off from Manchuria and Korea and how much remains there. With this information he is supposed to work out a reparations plan on Japanese industries which will at the same time assure a stable economic life for that part of the world.

All this was known. But today when the subject came up at his news conference, Mr. Truman had a prepared comment on it. He read rapidly from notes, stressing the point that Secretary of State Byrnes and he consider the problem one of greatest importance. But, he said, Pauley can make no final plan until we know more about the resources and equipment in Manchuria and Korea.

The productivity of the regions, he said, are basic to the formation of any long range program for the peaceful economy of East Asia.

When the news conference broke up, the White House news office issued a list of 20 persons who will accompany Ambassador Pauley. Pauley holds the position of chief of the U. S. Reparations mission. He handled the comparable task on German reparations and has already made one study on Japan. The 20 persons who will go with him include a variety of iron, oil, chemical and industrial experts as well as Army representatives and office aides.

Acheson's statement declined it is the "American objection to support and to promote the unity and the economic development of China and Korea."

Senate Gives Up Hope Of Early Vote on Loan

WASHINGTON, May 2—(AP) Chances for an early vote on the $3,750,000,000 British loan faded further today when Majority Leader Barkley's attempt to limit each senator to two hours talk was blocked.

Senator Knowland of California, acting Republican floor leader, objected to Barkley's move—which required unanimous consent.

Whereupon Barkley cracked: "The United States Senate is frequently referred to as 'the greatest deliberative body in the world.' Sometimes I'm inclined to think of it as 'the most deliberative body in the world.'"

Knowland, in objecting to Barkley's move said that if Barkley would propose a general rule altering the Senate system of permitting unlimited debate he would support it.

CRISIS ON FOOD UP TO PEOPLE

Truman Feels Heart Of Americans Will Solve Problem

Washington, May 2 (AP)—President Truman said today that the heart of the American people will have to solve the world food crisis.

The President reiterated to his news conference that rationing in this country would not meet the preharvest emergency because there was not time to get it into effect.

Mr. Truman said he would not hesitate to return to rationing if a disastrous crop failure made it necessary. Good crops this summer would remove the necessity, he said. Continued optimism for a bumper crop of wheat, the most critical item, was expressed yesterday by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson.

Rice Shortage Noted

Told that some persons had urged "drastic new measures" to fulfill this country's promises to the world's hungry countries, Mr. Truman said he had applied all such measures he could think of. Now it is up to the American people to meet the situation, he said, adding that he thinks they will.

A critical world shortage of rice added another darkening factor today to the general food picture. "Widespread" rice-crop failures, threatening famine in many parts of the Orient, were reported by the Combined Food Board, as it acted to hold the world's scanty export supply for the rice-dependent areas.

Other events of the day with a bearing on the food situation at home or abroad included:

1. A Senate Agriculture subcommittee recommended that all price controls and subsidies on meat and livestock be removed immediately. It declared that controls and price regulations "have completely broken down," price ceilings "are a fiction," and "unsanitary slaughtering" in black markets is "imperiling the national health."

2. Secretary Mark Pickrell, of the Corn Belt Livestock Feeders Association, predicted "the worst meat shortage" in American history this summer. He sought the removal of meat price ceilings, which he blamed for the situation, in testifying before the Senate Banking Committee.

Would Ration Butter

3. Rationing of butter until production meets demand was proposed to Congress by Representative Sterling Cole (R., N.Y.). An increased black-market traffic in butter was indicated by an Agriculture Department report yesterday, which said that despite moderate gains last month in the amount produced, less butter seemed to be for sale at regular outlets.

4. Frank E. Gannett, president of the Gannett newspapers, returning today from Europe said the food situation there is "appalling." Gannett, who toured Europe with eight other editors and publishers to study the Allied Military Government, said "Americans must be made to realize the importance of solving European problems."

5. Chairman Chester Davis of President Truman's Famine Emergency Committee called on the nation's mayors to get energetic community campaigns under way to conserve food for famine relief. Davis expressed confidence that "every community in the United States will rise to the call of this crisis."

Rice-Eating Areas Hard Hit

Reports of "widespread" crop failures in the principal rice-producing areas led the Combined Food Board to recommend that no allocations be made to European hunger spots. The available supply, estimated at not much more than one fourth of world requirements, will be reserved for Far-Eastern countries where rice is the basic food.

"Widespread famine is threatened in many rice-eating areas of the world," the board said in a news release, "notably China and Southeast Asia, India and the Far East generally."

The board, made up of representatives of the United States, Great Britain and Canada, reported that 581,000 metric tons of rice was available for export in the April-June period, compared with "essential" world requirements of 2,100,000 tons.

SENATORS ASK END OF CURBS ON MEAT

Sub-Committee Reports Controls 'Have Broken Down.'

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP) A Senate Agriculture sub-committee recommended today that all price controls and subsidies on meat and livestock be removed immediately.

In a report to the Senate, it declared that controls and price regulations "have completely broken down," price ceilings "are a fiction," and "insanitary slaughtering" in black markets is "imperiling the national health."

The report was signed by four of the five members. They were Chairman Thomas (D-Okla.), and Senators Bushfield (R-S.D.), Wheeler (D-Mont.) and Stewart (D-Tenn.). The fifth member is Senator Aiken (R-Vt.).

The report said the committee "is convinced that there would not be any skyrocketing or wild inflation in meat prices if controls were removed."

"At the worst," it declared, "the public would not have to pay any more for meat x x than it is now paying, considering black market prices and subsidies."

The subsidies amount to $750,000,000 a year. Opa officials have estimated that their removal would necessitate a raise of five to six cents a pound in meat price ceilings.

The sub-committee's report quoted an unnamed Agriculture department representative as saying that if controls and price ceilings were removed "meat prices at retail would advance from 10 to 15 per cent, representing a saving of from 5 to 10 per cent of what the consumer is now paying the black market, as well as the $750,000,000 being paid out annually in subsidies."

The committee held lengthy hearings on the meat situation.

Distillery Gives UNRRA Million Pounds Of Wheat

Washington, May 2 (AP)—UNRRA Director General F. H. LaGuardia elatedly announced today that he had "found a Santa Claus in an American still."

He told a news conference that Dr. Armand Hammer, president of United Distillers, Inc., had presented UNRRA with 1,000,000 pounds of cracked wheat. The former Mayor of New York added:

"My message to all distillers is "please copy."

Simultaneously he announced the results of a five-month mission to South America by Francis B. Sayre, UNRRA diplomatic adviser. Sayre obtained promises of food and financial contributions from nine South and Central American countries, including Argentina, which promises to ship the balance of her contribution of 150,000 tons of wheat to the International Wheat Council.

OPA Accused Of Favoritism; 'Insinuation' Angers Barkley

Washington, May 2 (AP)—Senator Wiley (R., Wis.) waved three shiny aluminum skillets at his startled colleagues on the Senate floor today to illustrate an assertion that "OPA has put American business into the frying pan and into the fire at the same time."

Wiley also accused the OPA of "a type of fascism," while a similar statement in an anti-OPA booklet brought a flareup in the Senate Banking Committee. The booklet was issued by the Corn Belt Livestock Feeders Association, which demanded an end of price controls on meat.

Brandishing his frying pans, Wiley reported that price ceilings on two of them made by a long-established manufacturer are $1.98 and $1.20, while that on the third, which he described as an inferior product of a new manufacturer, is $2.50.

Discrimination Charged

"OPA's price policy has discriminated in favor of new companies, Government 'darlings,' which were eager and willing to play ball with the New Deal agency," he continued.

"This Government favoritism represents, I believe, a type of fascism in which Government favors are dispensed among favorite manufacturers."

Senator Barkley (Ky.), the Senate Democratic leader, challenged the anti-OPA booklet which was passed around in the Banking Committee by Mark Pickell, secretary of the Corn Belt Livestock Feeders Association.

The booklet said Caesar, Mussolini and Hitler each became an "absolute despot" and "they all died violent deaths."

Barkley Objects, Asks Names

"A few men who have proved their inability to lead, but have brought chaos, confusion and shortages in food, have seized control of the destinies of America by seizing control of prices. They want to perpetuate that power," the booklet said.

Barkley objected to "insinuations against the good faith and sincerity of honest men." He defied Pickell to name "any man in the Government" guilty of seizing control and trying to perpetuate it.

Asked by Barkley whether he meant that Chester Bowles, economic stabilizer, is trying to perpetuate himself in a position of power, Pickell replied:

"Not necessarily his power, but the power of Government over price control. The gentlemen in OPA want to continue their power."

Barkley Displays Anger

Barkley displayed anger at Pickell and displeasure at the pressure upon senators to end price control by saying:

"We would all rejoice tomorrow if we could get rid of it. I would thank God on my bended knee if I could look forward to the time I would never get another letter giving me hell about something."

Senator Butler (R., Neb.) suggested the feeling expressed in Pickell's booklet was not unnatural in view of "OPA propaganda" which he said had been flooding the country.

Reason To Talk Back

Barkley commented that OPA had every reason to talk back in view of what he called "the organized attack against it."

Before the Barkley-Pickell flareup, the witness had predicted this summer would see "the worst meat shortage" ever. He asked that OPA controls on meat be lifted.

Senator Bankhead (D., Ala.) asked whether Pickell thought a time of shortage was a time to lift controls and Pickell said he did, "otherwise you will have a permanent shortage."

SENATOR ATTACKS OPA PRICE CURBS

WASHINGTON, May 2 — (AP) Senator Wiley (R.-Wis.) waved three shiny aluminium skillets at his startled colleagues on the Senate floor today to illustrate an assertion that "OPA has put American business into the frying pan and into the fire at the same time."

Wiley also accused the OPA of "a type of fascism," while a similar statement in an anti-OPA booklet brought a flareup in the Senate Banking committee. The booklet was issued by the Corn Belt Livestock Feeders association which demanded an end of price controls on meat.

"OPA's price policy has discriminated in favor of new companies, government 'darlings,' which were eager and willing to play ball with the New Deal agency," he continued.

RFC CONTINUANCE URGED BY TRUMAN

Giving Budgets of Government Corporations, He Says It Is a Vital Federal Unit

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP) — President Truman declared today that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation was a vital cog in the Government machine and asked Congress to extend its life beyond its present expiration date, Jan. 22, 1947.

He did not specify how long an extension he wanted but he classed the RFC as one of those bureaus set up during the depression which would probably continue "as more or less permanent Federal agencies."

The RFC, Mr. Truman said in a message transmitting for the first time the budget programs of all wholly-owned Government corporations, had become "one of the major instrumentalities for conducting the post-war business activities of the Federal Government."

A net loss of $4,000,000,000 is expected for the whole group of corporations for the fiscal year starting July 1, the President reported. Most of the loss, he said, would come from subsidy payments and sales of surplus war goods, war housing and other assets. These will account for $3,400,000,000, it was stated.

"Expanded lending operations, power operations and many other activities will show profits," Mr. Truman wrote.

Continuance of subsidy programs was essential, he declared, "much as I regret the necessity," to hold the line against inflation.

Asks Building Subsidy

He urged anew that Congress approve a $600,000,000 allowance for subsidies to expand the supply of scarce building materials as a part of the emergency housing bill. The House rejected the provision. He also urged prompt House action on the 10-year housing program already approved by the Senate.

Many of the corporations have finished the depression and war jobs for which they were created, Mr. Truman said, "and are well on the road to liquidation."

"Others, however," he continued, "will probably continue as more or less permanent federal agencies, with major functions changing from time to time. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation, for example, has proved so useful during the depression and war that it has become one of the major instrumentalities for conducting the postwar business activities of the Federal Government. I recommend therefore, that its statutory authority be extended beyond the present expiration date of Jan. 22, 1947."

The RFC was set up in 1932, during the administration of President Hoover, to combat the depression.

The corporation's budget programs were transmitted in compliance with the Government Corporation Control Act, enacted by Congress last year to give it a firmer grip on the activities of the Federally-owned businesses. Mr. Truman said he was directing Budget Director Harold D. Smith to "re-examine and redefine the role of government corporations," as required by the act.

Prospects Are Presented

Reporting that the level of operations of the corporations as a group would decline next year as wartime programs are ended, Mr. Truman presented these prospects:

"Commodity purchases of $3,100,000,000 will amount to less than half the 1945 levels. Subsidy payments of $1,800,000,000 will be somewhat lower than in 1946. On the other hand, lending activity will jump from $2,500,000,000 to $4,400,000,000 as both domestic and foreign borrowers make use of the Government's financial facilities.

"Total assets by the close of the fiscal year 1947 will be $16,100,000,000, a decline of over $300,000,000 during the fiscal year. Book value of plant and equipment will be $6,800,000,000. Outstanding loans will amount to $6,800,000,000. Inventories of $1,300,000,000 include $470,000,000 in metals and minerals declared surplus and available for transfer to stock pile.

"With its broadened lending authority, the Export-Import Bank anticipates disbursements possibly as high as $2,000,000,000 to finance purchase of American commodities and to provide the necessary minimum credit for post-war reconstruction abroad.

"The principal corporations engaged in the regional development of resources and transportation facilities, the Tennessee Valley Authority, the Panama Railroad Company and the Inland Waterways Corporation, are all planning to make substantial expenditures on plant and equipment to meet peacetime needs."

NEW MERGER BILL POSSIBLE

Senate Naval Unit May Offer Measure Of Its Own

Washington, May 2 (AP)—The Senate Naval Committee may present an Army-Navy unification bill of its own along the lines recommended by the Navy, Senator Robertson (R., Wyo.) reported today.

"First we should see just how much co-ordination and co-operation we can obtain between the present War and Navy departments without any legislation," Robertson told a reporter. "Then those few things upon which the Army and Navy can't agree could be covered by legislation."

Robertson said he expects Chairman Walsh (D., Mass.) and Senator Tydings (D., Md.) to propose such a plan as a "compromise" at the close of the committee's current hearings.

Detailed Explanation On Bill

Robertson, a committee member, said the proposed bill would retain the present War and Navy departments and possibly create a new Air Forces Department, co-ordinating them at Cabinet level through a "council of national defense."

Senator Austin (R., Vt.), who with Chairman Thomas (D., Utah) and Senator Hill (D., Ala.), of the Military Committee, drafted the present merger bill on the basis of a specific request by President Truman, testified at a third closed session of the navy committee today. He completed a detailed explanation of the measure.

Walsh said that Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, chief of naval operations, will appear at a closed session Friday and Gen. Alexander A. Vandegrift, commandant of the Marine Corps, will follow. Civilian critics of the merger plan then may testify at public hearings.

A Sharp Negative By Truman

The President said today he had seen and approved in advance Secretary of the Navy Forrestal's testimony on the Army-Navy merger bill.

Asked at a news conference whether he regarded Forrestal's statement to the Senate committee as lobbying, Mr. Truman replied with a sharp negative.

He said Forrestal had a perfect right to say what he did, that the Secretary had submitted his statement ahead of time and that he had authorized the Secretary to make it.

Furthermore, the Chief Executive added, he did not regard the testimony as opposed to a merger when it was read carefully and in full.

Patterson Wants National Guard

Washington, May 2 (AP)—Secretary of War Patterson today called for re-establishment of the National Guard as quickly as possible, saying it is of "prime importance" to national defense.

He spoke to the first postwar convention of the Adjutants General Association, called to discuss the War Department's proposal for a National Guard of 622,500 officers and men—more than twice the size of the prewar force.

"The strength needed for our National Guard requires a maximum which the state can recruit and maintain," Patterson said in a prepared address. He added that Guard should be well trained, fully equipped and "ready for any emergency."

Patterson also renewed his advocacy of universal military training, extension of the draft law, unified command and a reorganization of the Army's disciplinary system "to mirror the American way of life."

Battle Against 'Culture' Bill Under Way

Washington, May 2 (AP)—Ten amendments aimed directly at the State Department's $10,000,000 cultural relations program piled up today on Speaker Rayburn's desk as the House squared away for its first post-recess fight.

Written by Representative Robert Jones (R., Ohio), they would wipe out all funds recommended for the program by the Appropriations Committee.

Scattered over ten separate items, the $10,000,000 is included in a $358,825,758 bill to finance the state, commerce and justice departments for the fiscal year starting July 1. The House started debate on it before the Easter recess, but postponed a decision because of the controversy over the cultural relations program. A final vote may not come until tomorrow.

"More Harm Than Good"

Jones and a coalition of Democrats and Republicans backing him in his drive to halt the program have contended it would do more harm than good in the European nations where it would operate.

Another Ohioan, Representative Clarence Brown, Republican, told the House Rules Committee recently the program might endanger freedom of the press by giving the State Department absolute control of United States news dissemniated abroad.

The State Department's position is that the program is essential for a better understanding among the people of the world and that it will not jeopardize the liberty of the press but will serve to supplement news sent abroad by United States news agencies.

$9,284,778 Below Estimate

The $10,000,000 recommended by the Appropriations Committee is $9,284,778 below budget estimates. In approving it, the committee said it agreed with "the philosophy of the program" but was not in "full accord" with the State Department's approach.

While the major fight in the big bill centers around the cultural relations program, a controversy also is brewing over Commerce Department funds.

Other Cuts Considered

There is strong support for an amendment to cut $1,000,000 from the $2,500,000 recommended by the committee for the field office service of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce. The Budget Bureau recommended $6,500,000 for this work, for which Congress appropriated $445,000 last year.

The Commerce Department's $143,024,000 is the largest departmental total in the bill, which carries $104,783,408 for the State Department, $95,168,250 for Justice, and $15,850,000 for the Federal judiciary.

General Krueger Retires

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP).—The retirement of General Walter Krueger, sixty-five, commander of the 6th Army in the Philippines fighting and the occupation of Japan, was announced today by the War Department, effective June 25. General Krueger, now on

Radar Export Ban Opposed

Washington, May 2 (AP)—A Senate proposal to shut off sales of all radar and electronic equipment to foreign governments ran into opposition today from the State Department.

Officials said the department was afraid the ban proposed in a bill by Senators Eastland (D., Miss.) and Wherry (R., Neb.), would interfere with its disposal of great quantities of non-secret surplus property abroad. The department accordingly was reported to have asked to be heard by Eastland's Senate judiciary subcommittee, which is considering the bill.

The authors themselves indicated, meantime, that they were veering to the view that new administrative machinery might be sufficient to tighten safeguards on secret devices.

ARMY WILL WORK ON NEW WEAPONS

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP) The War department raised the development of new weapons to full partnership with other major military functions today by creating a new research and development division.

The division will rank as a general staff section, alongside such older units as intelligence, operations and supplies.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower sent out a directive telling Army commanders that the "future security of the nation" depends on continuance in peacetime of the wartime teamwork of the military with civilian science and industry.

With its objective the chief of staff ordered into effect several new general policies which included "civilian assistance in military planning as well as for the production of weapons."

The new research and development division will coordinate Army research of all kinds, including atom bombs, rockets, and aircraft, with the activities of industry and educational institutions.

Pending the selection of a director who will be a general with scientist background, the War department said, Col. Gervais W. Trichel will be acting director.

NEW M'ARTHUR AIDE NAMED

Mueller, Veteran of Pacific, Is Appointed Chief of Staff

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Paul J. Mueller, a veteran of fighting in the Pacific, has been named Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Chief of Staff, the War Department was notified today.

He succeeds Maj. Gen. R. J. Marshall, who is expected from Tokyo on May 7 to become head of Virginia Military Institute.

Gen. Mueller, a native of Union, Mo., is a West Point graduate and was decorated for bravery in France in World War I. He went overseas in 1943 as commander of the Mighty-first Infantry Division, serving first in the southwest Pacific.

Urges It Be Re-established as Quickly as Possible

Navy Gives Up Search For 1,666 In Pacific

Washington, May 2 (AP)—The Navy has given up the search for 1,666 of its men missing in the Pacific, but the hunt will be pressed in some areas by other governments.

Announcing this today, the Navy Department said the search was abandoned only after planes and shore parties had scrutinized every piece of land in the Pacific area.

Searches still will go on in Indo-China, Java and other Netherlands East Indies isles under the supervision of the governments of those areas.

On the missing rosted are 1,478 men of the Navy, 105 Marines and 83 Coast Guardsmen.

Truman May Attend Veterans' Convention

Washington, May 2 (AP)—Officials of the Disabled American Veterans saw President Truman today and said later he might combine into a single trip this fall visits to their annual convention at Portland, Ore., and to Alaska.

The convention opens September 2, Labor Day. Dow V. Walker, D.A.V national commander, said Mr. Truman declared he would "be very happy to make our convention, if it is possible."

Gov. Mon C. Wallgren, of Washington, has urged Mr. Truman to visit Alaska, Walker reported. He said Mr. Truman suggested the Alaskan tour and a visit to the D.A.V. meeting might be worked in together, although he could make no definite promise.

Runaway War Bride Homesick For England

Bliss, N.Y., May 2 (AP)—Mrs. Evelyn Caroline Poston, 16-year-old English war bride who left her husband's Salisbury (N.C.) home 30 hours after her arrival there, said today she was "homesick" and anxious to return to England.

Mrs. Poston, who came here to live with her uncle and aunt, Mr and Mrs. Francis Shisler, after saying she had become disillusioned with life at her husband's farm home, said in an interview:

"I think it's grand here. I would like to stay in one way, but in another I'd like to go home. I love it here but I want to go back to England. It's just homesickness, I guess. I haven't made any plans, yet. It's the problem of getting transportation."

Champaign-Urbana, Ill., May 2 (AP)—America's war costs since the adoption of the Constitution total more than the nation's entire accumulation of wealth since that time, the University of Illinois reported today.

The university's bureau of economic and business research issued a statement saying that since 1789 approximately 85 per cent of all Federal expenditures have gone for purposes connected with war.

Wars have cost America $414,000,000,000, the report said, in comparison with a total evaluation of property and wealth in this country of $300,000,000,000.

The last war cost America nearly six times as much as all previous wars combined, the bureau estimated.

The Revolution cost $500,000,000, the Civil War, for both sides, cost $33,000,000,000. The Mexican War, Indian wars, and Spanish-American War brought the total direct war cost by 1921 to $52,000,000,000. World War II cost $320,000,000,000. To these figures must be added interest payments on the public debt and military pensions, the bureau said.

"Our present public debt of $275,000,000,000, except for approximately $35,000,000,000 which was borrowed to cover budgetary deficits durhg the thirties, has arisen almost entirely from warfare," the statement said.

$5,000,000,000 Interest

"The annual interest charge alone in the postwar period will be about $6,000,000,000."

Pensions from 1790 to 1945 amounted to $27,000,000,000, the report stated, with 975 veterans and 37,714 survivors and dependents of Civil War veterans still on the pension rolls.

"If World War II veterans receive comparable treatment to those of World War I, they will get $40,000,000,000 in the next 25 years," it said.

HE ASSERTED THAT AFTER HE WAS REMOVED AS PRESIDENT OF THE REICHSBANK IN 1939, HE DEVOTED HIS EFFORTS TO PREVENTING WAR. AFTER HIS DISMISSAL AS A MINISTER WITHOUT PORTFOLIO IN JANUARY OF 1943, "MY ONLY POLITICAL ACTIVITY WAS DEVOTED TO EFFORTS TO REMOVE HITLER," HE SWORE.

PARIS, MAY 2-(AP)-CONFRONTED WITH CONFLICTING REPORTS CONCERNING A TRANS-ATLANTIC TELEPHONE CONVERSATION YESTERDAY BETWEEN FOREIGN MINISTER GEORGES BIDAULT AND PRESIDENT TRUMAN, A FRENCH FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN DECLARED FLATLY TODAY THAT "NO POLITICAL PROBLEMS WERE DISCUSSED" DURING THE TALK.

THE SPOKESMAN ISSUED HIS STATEMENT AFTER THE WHITE HOUSE HAD DENIED THE ASSERTION OF A FRENCH OFFICIAL--WHO WOULD NOT ALLOW HIMSELF TO BE IDENTIFIED--THAT TRUMAN HAD ASSURED BIDAULT THAT PROSPECTS WERE BRIGHT FOR APPROVAL OF AN AMERICAN LOAN TO FRANCE.

THE OFFICIAL STATEMENT, RELEASED BY RAYMOND OFFROY, CHIEF SPOKESMAN FOR THE FOREIGN OFFICE, SAID:

"DURING A CONVERSATION BETWEEN MR. BYRNES (U.S. SECRETARY OF STATE JAMES F. BYRNES) AND MR. BIDAULT, THE QUESTIONS OF AN AMERICAN LOAN AND OF FRENCH FOOD NEEDS, ESPECIALLY WHEAT, WERE DISCUSSED IN A MOST FAVORABLE MANNER.

"IT WAS DURING THIS DISCUSSION THAT MR. BIDAULT HAD AN OPPORTUNITY TO SPEAK FOR A FEW MINUTES BY TELEPHONE WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN, BUT IN THIS CONSERVATION NO POLITICAL PROBLEMS WERE DISCUSSED."

A PREVIOUS FRENCH INFORMANT--IDENTIFIABLE ONLY AS "A HIGH OFFICIAL SOURCE"--HAD SAID HIS INFORMATION WAS THAT TRUMAN TOLD BIDAULT THAT THE LOAN FOR WHICH FORMER PREMIER LEON BLUM IS NOW NEGOTIATING IN WASHINGTON WAS "ON THE WAY."

THE INFORMANT ASSERTED THAT BIDAULT AND TRUMAN ALSO HAD TALKED OVER THE QUESTION OF STRENGTHENING WORLD PEACE AND THE FRENCH FOOD PROBLEM.

IN WASHINGTON PRESIDENTIAL SECRETARY CHARLES G. ROSS TOLD REPORTERS THAT THE TALK WAS CONFINED TO AN EXCHANGE OF GREETINGS AT THE END OF A 15-MINUTE CONVERSATION BETWEEN BYRNES AND THE PRESIDENT, DURING WHICH BYRNES GAVE THE PRESIDENT A REPORT ON THE PROGRESS OF THE FOREIGN MINISTERS CONFERENCE IN PARIS.

"AT THE END," ROSS SAID, "BIDAULT CAME ON THE PHONE AND SAID IT GAVE HIM THE GREATEST PLEASURE TO EXTEND GREETINGS TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES AND THE PRESIDENT SAID IT GAVE HIM GREA PLEASURE TO EXTEND GREETINGS TO BIDAULT.

"THEY DID NOT TALK ABOUT ANY BUSINESS. THERE WERE NO POLITICS DISCUSSED."

(THE AMOUNT OF THE LOAN SOUGHT BY BLUM HAS NOT BEEN OFFICIALLY DISCLOSED. HOWEVER, A FRENCH OFFICIAL PUBLICATION SAID ON FEB 25 THA THE UNITED STATES HAD AGREED TO INVESTIGATE FRANCE'S NEEDS FOR A LOAN, WHICH MIGHT AMOUNT TO $2,000,000,000 OR $2,500,000,000.)

BEFORE OFFROY ISSUED HIS STATEMENT ON THE TRUMAN-BIDAULT CONVERSATION, AN OFFICIAL FRENCH SOURCE HAD GIVEN THIS DESCRIPTION OF THE TELEPHONE TALK:

THE CONVERSATION WAS THROUGH AN INTERPRETER WHO WAS PRESENT FOR THE CONFERENCE BETWEEN BYRNES AND BIDAULT. THE TELEPHONE HAD AN EXTENSION RECIVER. THE INTERPRETER TRANSLATED BIDAULT'S REMARKS IN FRENCH INTO ENGLISH FOR TRUMAN. THE PRESIDENT ANSWERED IN ENGLISH, WHICH BIDAULT UNDERSTANDS, AND BIDAULT LISTENED ON THE EXTENSION. THEN THE INTERPRETER TRANSLATED THE PRESIDENT'S REMARKS INTO FRENCH.

THE INFORMANT SAID THE DECISIVE IMPRESSION WAS GIVEN THAT THE LOAN WAS "EN BONNE VOIE," WHICH HE HIMSELF TRANSLATED AS "ON THE WAY" BUT WHICH A MORE PRECISE TRANSLATION WOULD RENDER AS "MAKING PROGRESS."

THE FRENCH PRESS AGENCY, A SEMI-OFFICIAL ORGANIZATION, REPORTED THAT THE PRESIDENT HAD GIVEN "PRECISE ASSURANCES" CONCERNING THE LOAN AND AMERICAN WHEAT SHIPMENTS TO FRANCE.

BY LARRY ALLEN

WARSAW, APRIL 30 (AP) -- THE POLISH PEASANT PARTY OF VICE-PREMIER STANISLAW MIKOLAJCZYK TODAY FORMALLY ACCUSED THE COMMUNIST-SUPPORTED POLISH WORKERS' ORGANIZATION OF ATTEMPTING TO SUBSTITUTE "RIFLES INSTEAD OF BALLOTS" IN THE FIGHT FOR POWER IN POLAND. THE PEASANT PARTY ALSO RENEWED ITS DEMANDS THAT GENERAL ELECTIONS BE CALLED QUICKLY TO LET THE PEOPLE DECIDE WHOM THEY WANT TO RUN THE COUNTRY.

ANSWERING [illegible] ACCUSATIONS FROM THE WORKERS' GROUP IN PARLIAMENT AND THE GOVERNMENT-CONTROLLED PRESS THAT THE PEASANTS' PARTY HAS BROKEN NATIONAL UNITY AND [illegible] IS SUPPORTED BY NSZ [illegible] (NATIONAL ARMED FORCES [illegible]), THE PEASANTS WARNED THAT THE NATION IS DRIFTING TOWARD CIVIL WAR DUE TO THE STRONG-ARM METHODS EXERCISED BY THE WORKERS' PARTY IN CONTROLLING THE KEY POSITIONS OF THE PROVISIONAL REGIME.

A RESOLUTION INSERTED IN PARLIAMENT'S RECORD BY DEPUTY EDWARD BERTOLD DEPLORED "CAMPAIGN INSULTS AND CALUMNIES" AGAINST THE PEASANTS AND MIKOLAJCZYK, AND DECLARED "INSTEAD OF DEALING WITH NATIONAL PROBLEMS, THE WORDS 'TRAITOR' AND 'BANDIT'," HURLED AGAINST MIKOLAJCZYK -- WHO IS A FORMER PREMIER OF THE POLISH GOVERNMENT IN EXILE IN LONDON -- HAVE BECOME "THE MAIN IMPLEMENTS IN THE BATTLE FOR POWER IN POLAND, ALONG WITH RIFLES INSTEAD OF BALLOTS."

MAY 3 1946

THE RESOLUTION ALSO SAID THE WORKERS' PARTY CLAIMS "EXCLUSIVE RIGHT TO DIRECT" POLAND'S POLITICAL LIFE, THROUGH PHYSICAL FORCE AND SECRET POLICE TERROR. IT DECLARED THE VICE-PREMIER'S PARTY CONDEMNS THE [illegible] NSZ (ALL C APS) AND ALL OTHER ORGANIZATIONS THAT TRY TO FOMENT INTERNECINE STRIFE OR TO SETTLE ISSUES FORCIBLY.

THE PEASANTS' ACTION REPLY IS THE SHARPEST YET MADE TO THE GROWING WAVE OF ATTACKS BY THE WORKERS AND SOCIALISTS SINCE MIKOLAJCZYK REFUSED TO JOIN THEIR SINGLE ELECTION [illegible].

MAY 3 1946

"WITH CONTEMPT WE HAVE ASIDE THE CALUMNIES CAST AGAINST US," SAID THE RESOLUTION. "WE LEAVE THE ISSUES TO THE PEOPLE, WHO ONLY CAN GIVE THE VERDICT IN CLEAN, FREE AND GUARANTEED LEGAL ELECTIONS."

THE PEASANTS ABSTAINED FROM A VOTE OF CONFIDENCE GIVEN TO THE REGIME PROVISIONAL [illegible] BY PARLIAMENT BECAUSE THAT MOTION HAD SAID THE GOVERNMENT HAD ACHIEVED MUCH "DESPITE THE LACK OF INTERNAL UNITY CAUSED BY THE ATTITUDE OF THE POLISH PEASANT PARTY."

THE PEASANTS LEADERS ALSO EXPRESSED THE FEAR THAT THE REFERENDUM SLATED FOR JUNE 30 WOULD CAUSE AN INDEFINITE NEW DELAY IN THE GENERAL ELECTIONS, WHICH THEY ARE DEMANDING BE HELD BY JULY 28 AND WHICH PREMIER EDWARD OSUBKA-MORAWSKI SAID WOULD BE HELD SOMETIME IN THE AUTUMN.

ARABS WANT WOMEN OUT OF PALESTINE

But League Official Says Desperate Measures Aren't Needed Yet

C. DAVIDSON

Cairo, May 3 (AP)—Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha, secretary general of the Arab League, said today he had received proposals from some Arab leaders that women and children be evacuated from Palestine to neighboring Arab states and that the Holy Land be declared a "battle zone" where Arabs from all over the Middle East would fight "for their existence."

But "this is a measure of desperation," Azzam Pasha said, "and we are not desperate or near desperation."

Arabic organizations were reported considering the calling of a general strike throughout Egypt to protest the report of the British-American committee on Palestine, which recommended immediate admission of 100,000 Jews to the Holy Land. No decision was reached, but May 10 was mentioned as a probable date.

Police Stoned In Jerusalem

Jerusalem, May 3 (AP)—More than 1,000 shouting Arab youths, held in check by British troops armed with tommy guns, stoned police and troops today in a riotous demonstration during the general strike called by Arabs protesting American and British recommendations on Palestine.

The demonstration occurred in the ancient city of Jerusalem at Damascus gate, where the heavily armed cordon of British troops and police prevented the youths from passing through the city's walls. One warning shot was fired over the heads of the Arabs, unarmed except for [illegible] who carried [illegible]

Few Other Incidents

Elsewhere few incidents marked the one-day strike. Two Jewish busses were stoned at Ramleh, near the coastal all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv, injuring one Jewish passenger slightly. The strike proceeded quietly in Haifa, Jaffa and Hebron.

The "Voice of Israel" radio pledged Jewish underground forces to "keep the peace" if 100,000 Jews are admitted to Palestine, as recommended in the British-American inquiry committee report and opposed bitterly by the Arabs.

The resistance forces added, however, that they would not surrender their arms, as requested by the British Prime Minister, Clement Attlee, as a prerequisite to the additional immigration. Attlee said illegally armed Arabs also should be disarmed.

Won't Give Up Arms

The Stern gang and the Irgun Zvai Laumi, regarded as the core of the Jewish resistance, in a joint statement guaranteed "full peace" if the 100,000 Jews are admitted, but said it was impossible for them to "yield the arms with which we defend our colonies. The resistance forces are independent and will accept no orders from abroad."

At Damascus gate the Arabs mounted the old fortress walls and hurled stones and other debris at the police during a heavy rainfall. A warning shot was fired over the demonstrators' heads at the height of the stone throwing.

Six armored cars, two tanks, and ten tank carriers with eight helmeted soldiers each went to the aid of 50 soldiers who had thrown up a barbed-wire barricade and formed a cordon outside the gate.

Other troops and police entered the old city through other gates and after two hours dispersed the demonstrators.

Other Troops Enter City

The demonstration in the old city followed morning-long Moslem and Christian services and a mass meeting in the sacred Mosque El Aksa.

[Editor's Note—Friday is the Moslem Sabbath.]

There Jamal Effendi Hussein, trustee of the Arab Higher Committee, delivered a blistering attack against the inquiry committee report, asserting "if Britain and America will not give us our demands, God will give us our demands, God will give us these things."

He exhorted the Arabs to resist "with all your means" but urged them against taking any immediate action of violence.

They "Do Not Stand Alone"

He said "the Arabs of Palestine do not stand alone," an apparent reference to pledges of support received from seven other Arab nations in the Middle East.

The youths left the mosque and marched down King Solomon street to Damascus gate, carrying banners reading "Palestine is an Arab Kingdom and Must Remain so Forever," and "We Give Our Blood For Palestine."

When they reached the gate, opposite a Royal Air Force barracks, they found the barbed-wire barricade across the opening and the cordon of armed troops.

The stone throwing started.

British Quell Arab Riot At Mosque In Jerusalem

C. DAVIDSON

Jerusalem, May 3 (AP)—A crowd of more than 3,000 stone-hurling Arabs marked the beginning of a general Arab strike throughout Palestine today with a demonstration before the Mosque Elaqsa at the historic Damascus gate. About 100 British troops with tommyguns and armored cars held the throng at bay.

A hastily erected barbed-wire barricade prevented movement from the old city of Jerusalem through the gate. The Arabs hurled stones at the troops during a heavy rain.

The demonstration started when Arabs assembled at the mosque and heard an address from Jamal Effendi Husseini, trustee for the Arab Higher Committee. He sharply protested the recommendations of the British-American Inquiry Committee, which called for immediate authorization for emigration of 100,000 more Jews into Palestine.

Jewish Offer Reported

The Arab High Committee called the general strike.

Some minor stone-throwing incidents were reported in Ramleh, a small Arab town between Jerusalem and Jaffa.

[The Exchange Telegraph Agency reported from Jerusalem that the Jewish resistance movements, including the Irgun Zvai Laumi and the Stern organization, had issued a joint statement guaranteeing "full peace" if 100,000 Jewish immigrants from Europe were admitted. The statement said, however, it was impossible for the resistance movements to give up their arms.]

The days of the late '30's, when poorly armed but fighting-mad Arab hordes swept out of the hills to wage war on what they called "Jewish invaders" were being recalled—and replanned, one Arab intellectual said today.

"Three-Cornered Hostility"

"There's only a thin margin between present public opinion among Arabs and the feelings which resulted in the uprisings of 1936 and 1939," he asserted. "It will take only some minute incident to put the torch to a highly inflammable situation."

Another responsible leader said: "The British make a fatal mistake in describing (in the report) the hostility in Palestine as Arab-Jewish hostility. What really exists is a three-cornered hostility with the British—the British as a full partner."

Now Armed For Action

Still a third Arab leader commented on the recent action of the Arab Higher Committee in forming a national fund by saying:

"This time the Arab will not be as poorly financed in his fight against suppression as he was in 1936 and 1939."

Referring to armaments, he added:

"Tens of thousands of Arabs in little towns and villages now have possession of guns. They are the same guns which the Arabs of Syria kept close at hand when there were troubles in their land. Now that these troubles have been alleviated, rifles, revolvers and machine guns have made their way back across Palestine's northern border."

Sees Responsible Leadership

Arab street vendors, usually talkative, were sullen and uncommunicative, but a responsible Arab—a political party official and financier—predicted there would not likely be any "spontaneous revolt."

"Whatever actions the Arabs take en masse," he said, "will be directed by responsible men whom the Arabs trust. And Arab leadership will not shirk its duties to the Arab world and will not dodge responsibility for actions of the Arab masses."

Arab masses are seething, both in the little towns and villages and in the so-called "native quarters" of Jerusalem.

1939 Destruction Recalled

One spokesman asserted:

"The British utterly erased six Arab villages during the 1939 uprisings, literally wiped them from the face of the earth. It was the British in Palestine who gave the Nazis the pattern for Lidice."

Highly placed Arabs freely predicted that Arab soldiers on Trans-Jordan's Arab league and of the frontier patrol—most of them fierce fight-loving Bedouins—would rebel rather than move to suppress any Arab uprising resulting from the inquiry committee's report.

The British military, however, expressed confidence in the loyalty of the Arab legion.

Syrian Arabs Strike.

Damascus, May 3 (A. P.).—The Syrian press bitterly denounced today the British-American Inquiry Committee's report on Palestine and Arabs went out on a general strike in response to the call of the Arab Higher Committee.

The conservative newspaper Alefba expressed hope that Russia would this time "block America's way in Palestine as did America with Russia in the Iranian and Spanish questions."

There was a warning of further trouble. Jamiel Mardam Bey, renowned Arab diplomat, said he feared that the report itself "will threaten the world's peace."

Definitely the Arabs will not stand with their hands folded and face this new danger," he said.

The Damascus newspaper Albaiad called the British-American recommendations "the black report." Annasr said the recommendation's were "the touchstone of Anglo-Saxon honor." Alkifah said there was reason to remonstrate with the United States

In neighboring Iraq, all political parties were reported united in support of Palestine Arabs. The United States Charge d'Affaires in Baghdad instructed all American personnel to remain as inconspicuous as possible to avoid incidents.

Russia Floats Big Internal Loan; Lottery Prizes to Replace Interest

G. Willards
By The Associated Press.

LONDON, May 3 — The Soviet Government called on the Russian people today to invest a month's pay in a reconstruction loan 2of 0,000,000,000 rubles (nominally $3,774,000,000), offering rich prizes in an elaborate State lottery system.

The lottery will pay prizes ranging up to 50,000 rubles ($9,435) for a 100-ruble ($18.87) bond, and it envisages prizes to 66,000,000 bondholders totaling 17,811,200,000 rubles over the twenty-year-loan period, a Moscow broadcast said.

The lottery will be based on serial numbers of the bonds.

Non-winners will be able to redeem their bonds at face value fifteen years after issuance. Both the bonds and the prize money will be tax-free.

No direct payment of interest is provided for under the loan, but the announcement said: "The sum total of the prizes is based on an average of 4 per cent per annum over the twenty-year period of the loan. One-third of all bonds will win a prize. The remaining two-thirds are redeemable at their face value."

Some previous Russian loans have borne interest at 4 per cent, or offered optional lottery chances for those who did not want the interest.

The loan will be used to help pay for the first post-war five-year plan and "for further strengthening of the military and economic might of the nation," the Finance Minister, Arseny G. Zverev, explained in the broadcast.

He declared the Government needed 250,000,000,000 rubles "to assure for many years Soviet reconstruction, the safety of the country, and to keep the defenses of the U.S.S.R. in the highest pitch of efficiency."

The loan announced today amounts to eight per cent of this sum.

Later Moscow broadcasts said mass subscriptions began immediately at factories, offices, and educational institutions of Moscow, and that subscriptions were "pouring in from all parts of the U.S.S.R." Some workers offered up to "three months of their earnings," the broadcasts reported.

Zverev said a total of 200,000,000 bonds would be issued—about one for every Russian—with an average value of 100 rubles each. Only Russian citizens may purchase the bonds. The broadcast did not state when the first lottery drawing would be held.

The normal value of the ruble is 18.87 cents in U. S. money, under posted foreign exchange values in effect since before the war. The diplomatic rate at which diplomats are permitted to buy rubles, however, is 8.33 cents. This would make the 20,000,000,000-ruble loan amount to $1,666,666,666.

REDS TO FLOAT HOME LOAN ON LOTTERY PLAN

Soviet Asks Citizens to Put 20 Billion Rubles in Tax-free Bonds.

TO REPAY OUT OF 'WINNINGS'

Funds Sought to Fulfill 5-Year Plan and to Bolster Nation's Defenses.

London, May 3 (A. P.).—Soviet Russia will float a domestic loan of 20,000,000,000 rubles (nominally $3,774,000,000) for restoration and development of her economy, to be repaid from the proceeds of a lottery. The Moscow Radio announced the loan today.

The lottery will be based on the serial numbers of twenty-year tax-free bonds that Finance Minister Arseny G. Zverev urged Russians to buy.

Russian Finance Minister Arseny G. Zverev appealed to the people to buy twenty-year tax-free bonds to provide money to "heal the wounds of war and speedily restore the Soviet economy."

The radio said that the Council of Ministers had decreed that the money would be used for fulfillment of the five-year plan and the further strengthening of the military and economic might of the country.

[The nominal value of the ruble is 18.87 cents in American money, under posted foreign exchange values in effect since pre-war days. However, the diplomatic rate, at which diplomats are permitted to purchase rubles, is 8.33 cents, which would make the loan amount to $1,666,666,666.]

The bonds can be bought only by Russian citizens, the decree said. Repayment will be made from the proceeds of annual lotteries. Lottery winnings will be exempt from taxes.

Zverev declared that the Russian Government needed 250,000,000,000 rubles (nominally $47,175,000,000) "to assure for many years Soviet reconstruction, the safety of the country and keep the defenses of the U. S. S. R. in the highest pitch of efficiency."

Zverev outlined a twenty-year program for awarding lottery prizes to 66,000,000 winners. A total of 200,000,000 bonds will be issued. The bonds will have to be turned in to get the prizes. Non-winners may begin redeeming their bonds for face value fifteen years after issuance.

The Moscow radio said that mass subscription began immediately at factories, offices and educational institutions of Moscow after Zverev's broadcast.

Hunger Strike In 15th Day

Dublin, May 3 (AP)—John McCaughey, described as "adjutant general" of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, started the fifteenth day of a hunger strike today in a bid for "freedom or death" from Maryboro Prison. He has been confined there since 1941.

His brother Patrick, visited him last night. The brother said the condition of the 33-year-old convict was "very bad" and that every effort to make him eat had failed. He has been on a thirst strike also for ten days.

McCaughey was sentenced to death by shooting in 1941 after conviction for kidnapping and illegally imprisoning Stephen Hayes, I.R.A. "chief of staff," who was accused by his comrades of turning informer. The sentence was commuted to life imprisonment after a plea for clemency originating from all over Ireland.

In prison, McCaughey and several companions refused to wear convict garb and fashioned loose suits from blankets.

British, French Troops Leave Syria, U.N. Told

Reports Indicate 'Bulk Of Fighting Forces' Will Be Evacuated From Lebanon By June 30

New York, May 3 (AP)—Great Britain and France reported to the United Nations Security Council tonight that all their troops had been withdrawn from Syria and that "the bulk of fighting forces" would be evacuated from Lebanon by June 30.

The reports were made in letters to Hafez Afifi Pasha, chairman of the Security Council, by Sir Alexander Cadogan and Henri Bonnet, the British and French delegates.

From the reports, it appeared that at least one of the controversial questions before the Security Council at its turbulent London session was nearing a solution.

Full Reports

The letters were the first official reports to the United Nations peace agency on the Syrian-Lebanon situation, although it was reported unofficially in Damascus, Syria, on April 16 that the last British and French troops had departed.

Cadogan's report said that all except "a small liquidation party" of British troops would be out of Lebanon by June 30, while Bonnet informed the Security Council that the "bulk" of French troops would have left by then.

If the Lebanese Government helped in transporting material, "the withdrawal of French troops as a whole from the Lebanon could be completed by 31 August, 1946," Bonnet wrote.

Russians In Iran Watched

"From 31 August to 31 December, 1946," he continued, "the French Government would retain in the Lebanon only a group of 30 officers and approximately 300 technicians in order to insure control over and transport of material; the departure of these last-mentioned elements would have to take place not later than 31 December."

Meanwhile, Security Council delegates watched Tehran and Moscow for any announcement that Soviet troop withdrawls from Iran had been completed or were nearing completion.

The delegates were generally optimistic that Russia would carry out her promise to have all her troops out of Iran by May 6.

Palestine Watched Closely

If the troops are all out by May 6, the Security Council would be able to drop the controversial issue from the agenda. Otherwise, when the delegates meet next week, probably Tuesday, they will be forced to reopen the case.

This would create a delicate situation if Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, carried out his threat to boycott any further discussions of the Iranian question.

The Security Council continued to watch the Palestine controversy with interest. There still was no specific move, however, to bring the situation before the Security Council as a threat to international peace.

Commissions Active

All the delegates maintained that they had received no instructions from their governments. However, such a step might be taken by any state. There are five Arab states among the 51 members of the United Nations—Egypt, Syria, Lebanon, Iraq and Saudi Arabia. Egypt is a member of the Security Council.

Included in today's activity was the meeting of five commissions, which are laying the groundwork for the organization of permanent agencies of the Economic and Social Council. The commissions were working on problems of organization and procedure in preparation for the May 25 meeting of the Economic and Social Council.

Two Work On Documents

The Security Council's special subcommittee for the investigation of Franco Spain continued its work on the mass of documents which already had been filed before the committee tackled the problem last week.

The work of going through all the documents was being done by Oscar Lange, Polish delegate, and Pedro Leao Velloso, Brazilian delegate, who expect to have them organized and classified by the time the subcommittee holds its next meeting, Monday afternoon.

A member of the committee said that an effort was being made to work out a plan under which at least some of the meetings would be open to the press. Monday's meeting will be closed.

New York, May 3 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council faced the prospect today that it might be called upon to prescribe measures to prevent bloodshed in the Middle East.

A spokesman for one Council delegation, who declined to be identified, said there was a strong possibility that the explosive Palestine situation would be presented shortly as a problem before the Council.

"The present situation in Palestine is certainly a threat to peace in the Middle East," he said, adding that it therefore "definitely comes under the jurisdiction of the Security Council."

DAY

Doubt As To Threat

A spokesman for another Council delegation raised a doubt, however, that the current situation could be shown to constitute a menace to international peace He contended that unless a threat to peace is manifest the question could not properly come before the Council.

It was considered possible that one of the Arab countries in the United Nations would officially champion the Palestinian Arabs' protests against the British-American Inquiry Committee's report recommending the settlement of 100,000 homeless European Jews in the troubled Holy Land.

Zionist Protest

There was also the possibility that Zionists, through the sponsorship of a member nation, might bring the Council's official attention to their protests that the inquiry committee's recommendation falls far short of their goal for settlement of 1,000,000 displaced Jews.

The Arab Higher Committee in Jerusalem has announced it would take the initiative in seeking United Nations attention by sending protests to the governments of the United Nations.

The Council remained in recess subject to the call of Chairman Hafez Afifi Pasha, of Egypt. Several delegations assumed that the next session would be next Tuesday, after the deadline for Russia's promised removal of troops from Iran at midnight Monday.

YUGOSLAVS TO BE HEARD

Italian Premier Also to Appear Before Foreign Ministers on Frontier Problem.

F. Lewis

Paris, May 3 (A. P.).—High-ranking delegates to the Four-Power Foreign Ministers Conference expressed the opinion today that, barring some spectacular and completely unforeseen development, there was little hope that any peace treaties would be agreed upon at this session.

DAY

Paris, May 3 (AP)—High-ranking delegates to the four-power Foreign Ministers' conference expressed the opinion today that, barring some spectacular and completely unforeseen development, there was little hope that any peace treaties would be agreed upon at this session.

The Ministers of the United States, Britain, Russia and France were scheduled to meet with Yugoslav officials at Luxembourg Palace today to discuss revision of the Italian-Yugoslav frontier. The Yugoslav delegation includes Deputy Prime Minister Edward Kardelj, and Foreign Minister Stnoje Simic.

The Italian Premier, Alcide de Gasperi, is expected to appear before the Ministers later in the day. He arrived here last night by plane.

Byrnes Move Cited

British, United States and French delegates said privately that it was still too early to predict flatly that the conference would break up in complete failure, but pointed out that after a week of meetings the Ministers appeared to have made no progress whatever on controversial issues.

These sources also interpreted a request yesterday by James F. Byrnes, United States Secretary of State, for revision of the Italian and other armistices as an indication that hope was rapidly vanishing for an agreement on peace treaties in the near future.

Easier Terms Is Asked

Byrnes told the other Ministers that America favored new armistices to stabilize Europe in view of the fact that peace treaties, even if drafted immediately, could not become effective for some time.

He asked specifically that the Italian armistice be softened, but further consideration of the matter was blocked by British objections. The basis of these objections was not learned.

American officials said the United States was determined not to budge from her position on this and other controversial matters.

Molotov Called Key

Some sources said that the only chance for the conference to succeed would be for V. M. Molotov, Russian Foreign Minister, to make a number of unexpected concessions.

The Moscow radio, however, indicated that Russia did not indorse Byrnes's most far-reaching proposal—a four-power mutual assistance pact to prevent Germany from rearming for at least 25 years.

In a broadcast today, the Moscow radio, heard in London, said that the proposal falls far short "of the aim of preventing the rebirth of militarist Germany."

De Gasperi said before today's meeting that he was "optimistic" that the conference would act favorably to Italy on her dispute with Yugoslavia concerning their frontier.

There seemed to be a good chance that the British and American—and possibly French—proposals concerning this boundary would be compromised, since the three are not far apart.

The United States proposal would allow Italy to retain Trieste and about one third of the Istrian Peninsula, with the remainder of the peninsula going to Yugoslavia. American officials estimated that this would place about 50,000 Italians in Yugoslavia and 150,000 Slavs in Italy.

Russia, however, apparently is standing firm in support of Yugoslav claims for Trieste and all of the peninsula.

France asked for her full quarter of the fleet but no battleships, while American, British and Russian claims were in all categories.

Claims On Italian Navy Exceed Present Size

Paris, May 3 (AP)—A committee of Allied naval experts, appointed by the Foreign Ministers conference, today heard claims for the Italian fleet which totaled more ships than Italy has afloat.

The claims included a Russian demand exceeding a one-fourth allotment after Italian, Yugoslav and Greek awards are made, it was learned authoritatively.

The four Foreign Ministers were reported to have agreed to leave Italy a fleet including at least one battleship, four cruisers, four destroyers, sixteen torpedo boats and nineteen corvettes.

Has Five Battleships Now

Italy now has five battleships, nine cruisers, fourteen destroyers, nineteen corvettes, twenty torpedo boats and about 30 submarines.

It was learned that the Yugoslav claims were for 30,000 tons—a figure supported by Russia but contested by the United States and Britain, both of which insisted that many of the ships Yugoslavia claims to have lost by Italian action actually were damaged or destroyed by the Germans.

405 To Lose Paris Commissary Privileges

Paris, May 3 (AP)—The 405 American business men, correspondents and relief workers who have been receiving United States Army food from the American National Interests Commissary since November will be cut off from this supply May 15, says Geoffrey Parsons, Jr., a member of the commissary commission.

Parsons, who is editor of the European edition of the New York Herald Tribune, said the Army's policy would also necessitate the closing of the California Hotel, which has been furnishing room and board to American transients.

The hotel will continue, however, to provide for the 660 members of the American Embassy staff. The commissary was established with the embassy's backing so that American business men, trying to rebuild international trade, could obtain sufficient food without recourse to the black market.

A.W.O.L. Hunt On In Paris

Paris, May 3 (AP)—All United States Army garrison troops in Paris were confined to quarters today while 700 military police and criminal investigation agents combed the city for American soldiers absent without leave. One object of the hunt was the capture of two men who escaped from the Paris detention barracks two weeks ago.

Schacht Assails Goering As 'Immoral Criminal'

B. Kassiske

NUERNBERG, May 3 — (AP) Hjalmar Schacht today assailed Hermann Goering as "an immoral criminal type" whose "greed knew no bounds," and said Goering was a theatrical Nero who once reportedly appeared at a party wearing a Roman toga, with "his face painted and his lips rouged."

Goering shook his head resignedly as Schacht, former Reichsbank president and economics minister, testified before the international military tribunal, and tapped his head with his forefinger, presumably indicating he believed Schacht had lost his mind.

Schacht's outburst against Goering came at the end of his testimony, and then Walther Funk, Schacht's successor at Reichsbank head in 1939, took the stand during the last 10 minutes of today's session. Funk is the 11th of the 22 top Nazis on trial for war crimes to testify.

NIGHT

Defense

Funk opened his defense with a request that the tribunal permit him to make it brief because he was "a sick one." He described his 10-year career as an editor of the Berliner Doersen-Zeitung and said he resigned that post in 1929 "because I was convinced the Nazi party would come into power and I felt I wanted to express my opinions within the party."

Funk's feeble testimony was in sharp contrast with that of the glib and confident Schacht who sparred frequently with the American Prosecutor Robert H. Jackson and at one point offered to give Jackson a lecture on Schacht's banking methods "for your enlightenment and instruction."

Schacht declared of Goering that "assumption of political power was for him only a means of personal enrichment. He knew no comradeship. He was friendly only so long as it was useful to him x x x.

Calls Knowledge Zero

"His knowledge in all fields was equal to zero, especially in economics x x x in appearance he was so theatrical as only to be compared with Nero."

He said a woman once told him that Goering had appeared before guests at his home clad in a Roman toga with jewelled sandals and "his face painted and his lips rouged."

Schacht declared he never believed at any time that Germany could win the war. Jackson had tried to show during cross examination that Schacht broke completely with the Nazi regime only when it appeared the war was lost.

"If I'd only had an opportunity I would have killed Hitler myself," he said in connection with plots against the Fuehrer which culminated in the bomb plot of July 20, 1944, and Schacht's subsequent arrest.

He contended he remained in Germany to oppose Nazism and expressed scorn for emigrants who fled of their own volition. In remaining he said, "I accepted even the danger that I would be judged as is happening today."

Goering Attacked By Schacht

H. Norgaard

Nuernberg, May 3 (AP)—Hjalmar Schacht's evaluation of Hermann Goering as an "immoral criminal type" whose "greed knew no bounds" was read into the record of the international military tribunal today.

Goering listened with an air of incredulity while United States Prosecutor Robert H. Jackson read a statement which Schacht had made to United States Army interogators about the former Reichsmarshal.

DAY

Speaks to Jackson

At the conclusion, Goering shook his head resignedly and tapped his forehead with a forefinger, indicating his conviction that Schacht had lost his mind.

Spectators were convulsed with laughter as Schacht, former Nazi financial wizard, sparred expertly with Jackson and gave him a lecture on certain banking methods "for your enlightenment and instruction."

Goering "Egocentric"

In his assessment of Goering, given interrogators last year, Schacht described his old enemy as the "most egocentric being imaginable."

The statement said that a woman once told Schacht that Goering appeared before guests at his home clad in a Roman toga with jeweled sandals and with his "face painted and lips rouged."

Under cross-examination, Schacht blithely conceded he broke an oath of loyalty to Hitler "when I found out that the man was a criminal. I am proud of it."

When Jackson suggested that Schacht had eagerly followed the Nazi conquest of the Sudetenland to take over the banks there, he retorted that Hitler did not take the Sudetenland by force, the "Allies had given it to him."

E. G. Valens Is Later Freed; Had Refused to Leave Site of Trial of 20 Jews

KAUFBEUREN, Germany, May 3 (AP)—United States Army headquarters at Frankfurt am Main ordered E. G. Valens, a United Press correspondent, released from military custody today after he had been forcibly picked up by troops for the second time in three days.

Valens was taken in custody here, where he had come to attend the trial of twenty Jewish displaced persons who face charges of rioting, when he refused to leave the town. On Wednesday he was escorted from the Landsberg displaced-persons camp after it had been closed to outsiders.

Valens was carried bodily out of Kaufbeuren Army headquarters by Lieutenant Colonel Elmer W. Walker, of the 47th Regiment and a sergeant, and was taken to a waiting automobile. Walker said he had orders to take the correspondent to Colonel Edward Metzger, chief of staff of the 9th Division, if Valens would not leave Kaufbeuren voluntarily under escort.

After a thirty-five-mile drive to Augsburg Metzger told Valens, "You are free to go where you want to until the board of officers meets."

A board of officers is scheduled to be appointed to consider Valens's possible disaccreditation as a correspondent.

Metzger, in freeing Valens, said he was acting on instructions telephoned to the 3rd Army by Major General Willard A. White, chief of staff of the United States Army in Europe.

RIOT TRIAL SHIFTED

Kaufbeuren, Germany, May 3 (A. P.).—The trial of twenty Jewish displaced persons charged with rioting and assaulting

American military police at Landsberg last Sunday was transferred today to a higher court, where the maximum sentence could be capital punishment.

The twenty inmates of the Landsberg camp pleaded not guilty when arraigned before a local one-man Military Government summary court. Capt. Seymour Lubin of Brooklyn, acting as judge, agreed to a prosecution motion to transfer the case.

Eighteen Germans were injured in the riot.

U. S. PREPARING WAY OUT OF REICH, SAYS RED REPORT

B. JAMES

MOSCOW, May 3. — (AP) Tass charged today that Secretary of State Byrnes in proposing a 25-year treaty for supervising Germany, was possibly raising a "paper curtain" behind which the United States could retreat from carrying out its obligations in Germany.

He declared it appeared the Americans were preparing to pull out of the Reich before Hitlerism was stamped out.

A Paris correspondent of the Official Russian news agency, writing in the Communist party newspaper Pravda, said that Byrnes proposal to the foreign ministers conference raises "officially for the first time the question of discontinuing the occupation of Germany." He added:

Hints U. S. Quitting

"It looks as if the American proposal signifies preparations to reject the fundamental obligations taken upon themselves by the Allies regarding Germany, namely, a long occupation with the aim of actually destroying the roots and base of German militarism."

Byrnes proposed a four-power agreement for supervision of Germany for at least 25 years after the present occupation to insure that German forces are completely disbanded, that such organization as storm troopers and Gestapo are wiped out and that no military equipment is manufactured.

(Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov opposed placing the matter on the Paris conference agenda in connection with general discussions on Germany. Byrnes indicated that Prime Minister Stalin had supported the idea in discussions in Moscow last December.)

The Tass correspondent declared that no new treaties on Germany were needed since the Allies were already agreed on a policy toward the beaten Reich. He wrote:

"For the real fulfillment of such tasks as the liquidation of German armed forces it is not necessary to sign new documents, inasmuch as the Allies, including the United States, already have taken upon themselves obligations on this account, and these have not been changed by anyone and must be fulfilled by all who signed them.

Called 'Paper Curtain'

"The fact in itself of the appearance of a new treaty proposal on such an important question, regarding which a joint agreement obligatory for all Allies already exists, naturally arouses the thought as to whether this new document is not its own kind of a paper curtain intended as a retreat from fulfillment of obligations undertaken earlier, or in any case getting around these decisions."

The dispatch charged that measures approved in the German surrender terms for the disarmament of Germany have not been carried out, asserting that "numerous cases are known where Germans in the Western zones retained a series of war enterprises in camouflaged form."

The correspondent said that the situation would not be saved by Byrnes' proposal and that "the experience of diplomatic relations of recent times shows that sometimes new agreements for a longer period are proposed just by those who presently at each step are violating already existing treaties."

He added that in this instance it was only necessary to recall the offer of British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin to extend the present 20-year Soviet-British friendship treaty to 50 years. The new offer, he said, "was by no means in the spirit" of the already existing pact.

"The key to understanding the series of additional difficulties created during the progress of the Paris negotiations is in the position of influential reactionary circles inspired by the Churchills and their American friends," the correspondent concluded.

"They, in their nearsighted calculations, are ready to ignore fully the interests of securing a sound peace."

to pull out of Germany before militarism is stamped out and the country is reconstructed on a democratic basis.

"Here for the first time the question of discontinuing the occupation of Germany is raised officially," the dispatch said.

"It looks as if the American proposal signifies preparations to reject the fundamental obligations undertaken by the Allies regarding Germany — namely, the long occupation of Germany with the aim of actually destroying the roots and base of German militarism."

[Byrnes proposed to the Foreign Ministers a four-Power agreement for the supervision of Germany for at least twenty-five years after the present occupation to insure that German forces are completely disbanded. Byrnes indicated that Prime Minister Stalin had supported the idea when the two discussed it in Moscow last Christmas.]

The Tass correspondent said that Byrnes's proposals were "far from the aim of really forestalling the rebirth of militarism in Germany."

Says Most Are Old Ideas.

"Can it be forgotten," the writer asked, "that the lessons of the two devastating wars instigated by Germany during the life of one generation brought the Allies to the unanimous decision for the necessity of a long occupation of Germany with the aim of liquidating German militarism, rooting out the remnants of Hitlerism and reconstructing the country on a democratic basis?"

The dispatch, published prominently on Pravda's foreign page, said that outside of the occupation question there was nothing in Byrnes's proposals that had not already been settled by the Four Powers.

The correspondent blamed "reactionary circles, inspired by Churchill and their American friends," for "difficulties" encountered by the conference of the Foreign Ministers of the United States, Britain, Russia and France.

"There are the constant declarations of reactionary organs of the British and American press which leave no doubt as to circles interested in a split in cooperation among Allied Powers," he asserted.

Swedish Paper Hits U.S. Iceland Stay

Stockholm, May 3 (AP)—The Stockholms Tidningen said editorially today that "American reluctance" to abandon military bases in Iceland "is regarded with growing surprise and irritation in all Nordic countries."

[Dispatches from Moscow said the Tass news agency quoted the editorial as saying the Swedish people were asking why the United States did not follow the example set by the Russians in evacuating Bornholm island and leave Iceland].

Thors Shuns Comment On U.S. Bases In Iceland

Paris, May 3 (AP)—Olafur Thors, Premier of Iceland, today declined to comment on a Stockholm newspaper statement that northern countries were irritated at what it called the United States Army's reluctance to abandon Icelandic bases.

"No, No, no, I will talk of nothing," said Thors, now in Paris for what he described as a social visit.

[The Swedish paper, the Stockholms Tidningen, said in an editorial if the United States should seek to cling to Icelandic bases "that would forever deprive the U.S.A. of its good will in the whole North."]

Belgium Plans To Accuse Spain Before Council

Spaak Says Franco Has Refused to Extradite Degrelle, Rexist Leader

BRUSSELS, May 3 (AP).—Belgium announced tonight she would bring Franco Spain before the United Nations Security Council for refusing to extradite Leon Degrelle, leader of the Rexist party, which Belgium has outlawed as Fascistic.

Paul-Henri Spaak, Belgian Foreign Minister and President of the United Nations General Assembly, disclosed the plan during a parliamentary debate on foreign affairs.

"The entire world has condemned the government of Generalissimo Franco," Spaak said. "The Security Council will receive a new document, the one in which we will show that Spain keeps on her soil a traitor and a Fascist."

The Foreign Minister declared, however, he thought it would be unwise for Belgium to break off diplomatic relations with Spain when bigger nations had hesitated to do so.

The Franco government has argued that if Degrelle has committed crimes, they are only political.

The Belgian government said Degrelle flew to Spain from Germany May 10, 1945, wearing a German uniform.

Spaak told Parliament that when he himself fled Belgium in 1940, the Franco government refused to grant him a visa. He said he entered Spain with Hubert Pferlot, then Belgian Prime Minister, and that both were placed in guarded residences.

"Does Spain not see that there is a deep ditch between her and Belgium?" Spaak asked the cheering Parliament.

Gen. Clark Reaffirms Protest on Plane Buzzing

Calsl on Konev for Decision, 'Once and for All'

VIENNA, May 3 (AP).—General Mark W. Clark was reported today to have asked Marshal Ivan S. Konev, Russian commander in Austria, "to discuss and settle, once and for all, the question of freedom of the air for all Allied forces in Austria."

Clark was said to have made the request in reaffirming a protest against one of a series of incidents in which Russian planes buzzed American aircraft.

American military sources said Konev's reply to one of a series of two formal and two oral protests was "most disappointing."

FINNISH STATE POLICE SEARCH FOR BROWDER

HELSINKI, May 3—(AP) Finnish state police tonight were searching for Earl Browder, former head of the Communist party in the United States, after they said he failed to comply with regulations requiring foreigners to report to police within three days after their arrival in Finland.

Police said they lost trace of Browder when he checked out of Turju hotel May 1, the day after his arrival here from Stockholm. Browder has said he is enroute to Moscow, but authorities have been unable to determine whether he has left Finland.

Communist headquarters today said they had not heard from him.

Finnish Police Wonder Where Browder Is

Helsinki, May 3 (AP) — Finnish authorities said today they were ignorant of the whereabouts of Earl Browder, former head of the Communist party in the United States, who arrived in Finland earlier this week. As a foreigner he is required to report to police within three days of his arrival—and the three days are up today.

Communist headquarters also said they had not heard from Browder.

German Repatriation Report Issued In Spain

Madrid, Saturday, May 4 (AP)—A cabinet communiqué said last night a report had been received from the Foreign Office on repatriation of Germans in Spain and confiscation of German assets in Spain. The report was described by the communiqué as "demanded by the Allied Control Council in Germany."

There was no hint of the contents of the report in the brief communiqué. However, the wording of the statement aroused speculation that the report might amount to diplomatic recognition of the Allied Council by Spain preparatory to speeding the liquidation of German affairs in Spain.

30 UNDER ARREST

BUDAPEST, Hungary, May 3—(AP)—All Budapest morning papers printed a story today of the arrest of 30 persons, including a Franciscan priest, and quoted police as saying they were involved in the "biggest fascist plot since the liberation."

Police were quoted as saying the 30 persons were responsible for the death of three Russian soldiers and that the priest was a leader in the small holders party, to which President Zoltan Tildy belongs.

There was no independent confirmation of the story.

SOVIETS PREPARE TO LEAVE IRAN

J. Goodwin

TEHRAN, May 3—(AP)—The Iranian government announced today that the Red army had moved all its troops from three western Azerbaijan towns near the Turkish border as the May 6 deadline neared for complete evacuation of Soviet forces from the country.

The towns where "complete Russian evacuation" had occurred were Rizaiyeh (Urmia), Khoi and Shahpur (Dilman), the official announcement said. It noted also that Red army officers had attended a "farewell" party at Pahlevi on the Caspian coast.

A Soviet-Iranian agreement negotiated as the United Nations Security Council was debating the Iranian case provided that the Russians would evacuate Iran entirely by May 6. The Russians have completed the evacuation except in the northwest Azerbaijan province, previous Iranian reports said.

Hoover and Chiang Discuss Food Crisis

ExPresident Calls China's Needs 'Enormous'

SHANGHAI, May 3 (AP).—Former President Herbert Hoover made a flying trip to Nanking today for talks with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and General George C. Marshall, special American envoy to China, and on his return here tonight he said the food need of China is "enormous," with whole villages in the interior facing extinction.

Mr. Hoover flies to to Korea tomorrow, and then to Japan, before returning to Washington to report to President Truman of the world food situation.

"The food need of China is enormous," the former President told newsmen tonight. "There are no adequate data upon which to compute accurately the tonnage needs, but in any event they are greater than transportation facilities to the interior. It is impossible to compute the numbers of people in critical condition, but no doubt they run into the millions."

He stressed that the scant rail and water transportation facilities remaining in China after years of war-time destruction would be fully taxed to distribute a maximum of 200,000 tons of food monthly between now and September.

After his food talks at Nanking Mr. Hoover was accompanied to the airport there by Generalissimo and Madam Chiang and General Marshall.

Madam Chiang, speaking in English for her husband, said to the former President in parting: "Thank you for all you have done for China."

HOOVER MEETS CHIANG

Nanking, May 3 (A. P.).—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek arrived at this re-established capital of China today and went immediately into an hour's conference with Herbert Hoover, who flew in from Shanghai on his world food survey.

After talking with Chiang and Gen. Marshall, Hoover was due to leave Saturday for Korea and Japan before returning to Washington.

In a press conference in Shanghai just before going to Nanking, Hoover said that the death of whole villages in the interior of China "no doubt will occur within a few weeks" unless relief supplies reach critical areas.

"It is impossible to compute the numbers of people in critical condition, but no doubt they run into the millions," he said.

TOJO IS SLAPPED BY CO-DEFENDANT AT ARRAIGNMENT

TOKYO, May 3—(AP)—Two resounding smacks on the shiny bald head of Wartime Premier Hideki Tojo, administered by a gibbering co-defendant, broke the solemnity of an Allied courtroom today during arraignment of topflight Japanese on war crime charges.

Playful, grinning Shumei Okawa, long an advocate of aggression to drive the white races from Asia, shocked the court by his antics. Twice he had bared his breast and shouted gibberish.

Each time Lt. Col. A. S. Kenworthy, court provost marshall, had deliberately and patiently buttoned Okawa's shirt.

Slaps Tojo's Head

Then Okawa, a grin on his face, leaned forward and slapped the glistening head of Tojo, seated just ahead of him.

Court clerks droned through the reading of the charges without pausing. The justices of 11 Allied nations maintained their dignity.

The former war ministry auditorium, crowded with spectators, echoed with the slaps.

Tojo, wartime dictator who sought to conquer all Asia and rule the Pacific, was startled. He glanced up quickly from the copy of the indictment he was studying, turned in his seat, and looked at Okawa. A sad, understanding smile spread over the usually impassive Tojo face.

Kenworthy guided the defendant firmly in his seat. But as the court recessed and photographers rushed onto the floor Okawa repeated the performance. Tojo, busy with his papers, just grinned this time.

Okawa, still shouting gibberish, was taken from court. He was docile when returned after the recess. This time he wore an overcoat, guarding against any repetition of his chest-baring antics.

Cause is Unknown

What caused Okawa's actions was a matter of conjecture. Some thought he was staging an act in an attempt to convince the court he was not mentally able to defend himself. His act, however, appeared more playful than in wrath.

Otherwise the proceedings went along smoothly as the 28 defendants heard the charges accusing them of crimes against peace and humanity. The session had been held up more than an hour when it was learned that two of the defendants had just arrived from Burma. They were Gen. Seishiro Itagaki and Lt. Gen. Heitaro Kimura.

Alternately, Edward H. Dell of Middletown, Ohio, acting clerk, and Capt. Donald S. Van Meter of Raton, N. M., read the charges accusing the prisoners of longtime aggression and starting war in the Pacific.

Forty-seven of the 55 counts in the bulky indictment had been read when court adjourned for the day. The reading was to be completed Saturday morning, after which the defendants were to enter pleas, all expected to be "inocent."

Co-defendant Slaps Tojo

Jap Startles Solemn War Trial as Lengthy Indictments Are Being Presented.

Tokyo, May 3 (A. P.).—Two lusty slaps on the top of Hideki Tojo's glistening bald head by a capricious co-defendant startled the court today this afternoon as twenty-eight Japanese heard themselves accused of having plunged the Pacific into a war of greed.

The playful smacks were only part of the antics of Shumei Okawa, who long advocated an aggressive war to drive the white races from Asia.

Shouting gibberish that even the Japanese said they could not understand, Okawa had to be pulled forcibly from the courtroom by American military police at an afternoon recess.

Okawa Prays, Bares Chest

As clerks droned through the lengthy indictments in both English and Japanese at the nine-justice international tribunal's first session, Okawa—once an official of the South Manchurian Railway—prayed with gestures and unbuttoned his blouse to bare his thin chest.

Then, with a cunning grin, he leaned forward and slapped the unsuspecting Tojo on his shaven head.

The smack echoed in the auditorium, crowded with sober-faced officials and spectators. The shocked former Premier looked up quickly from the copy of the indictment he had been studying, then turned and looked at the man in the row behind him with a sad, understanding smile.

Lieut. Col. S. Kenworthy, in charge of guarding the defendants, grabbed Okawa and settled him firmly in his seat, just as he had done earlier, when he buttoned the prisoner's shirt.

As the court recessed and photographers streamed onto the floor Okawa again resoundingly slapped the glistening head as Tojo busied himself with his papers.

Tojo just grinned.

Shouting gibberish, Okawa was pulled from the room ahead of the other 27 defendants. He kicked off his shoes and went barefoot. When he returned after the recess, he was wearing a dark overcoat over his uniform and was docile.

Not Sure Of Reason

Opinion was divided as to the reasons for his actions. Some thought he might be trying to impress the court that he was not mentally able to defend himself. However, his slapping of Tojo—who chanced to be seated in front of him—appeared playful rather than in wrath.

As the day's session ended at 4.40 P.M., clerks had waded through 47 of the 55 counts in the bulky indictment. All of the indictment must be read because the defendants declined to waive the right to hear it in court. The reading will be completed after court resumes at 9.30 A.M. tomorrow. Then the defendants will enter pleas, all of which are expected to be "innocent."

Most Defendants Somber

Except Okawa—who is accused of being a conspirator in the Mukden incident as well as a plotter of the Pacific war—the defendants were a pretty somber group at their arraignment. For the most part, they paid the closest attention to the proceedings and almost all followed the Japanese translation.

The morning session was brief. Chief Justice Sir William Webb read a statement pledging a fair trial. He said in part:

"There has been no more important criminal trial in all history. . . . The accused were no mere provincial governors, but for more than a decade were the leaders of Japan at the height of her power. . . . The crimes alleged are crimes against the peace of the world . . . against humanity. . . . The number and equality of crimes charged insure for them the most anxious consideration. . . . To our great task we bring open minds. . . . Onus will be on the prosecution to establish guilt beyond reasonable doubt. . . ."

The morning session then adjourned until afternoon to await the arrival by plane from Bangkok, Siam, of two of the defendants, Gen. Seishiro Itagaki and Gen. Heitaro Kimura, so the indictment would not have to be read again.

Tojo Ignores Changes

Tojo seemed to pay little attention to the many changes made by American occupation forces in the auditorium of the war ministry building, where he once plotted war strategy. The room was bright with huge photographers lights.

The men who signed the Japanese surrender aboard the U.S.S. Missouri last September sat as defendants. Gen. Yoshijiro Umezu pored over the indictment. Former Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu just stared in grim silence at the justices.

Lord Wright, chairman of the United Nations committee on war crimes, sat as a guest on the bench. Wright, formerly a member of the high court of justice in England, is in Japan at General MacArthur's invitation.

JAP LIBERAL HEAD BARRED FROM OFFICE

Tokyo Government Criticized For Not Acting Against Hatoyama

Tokyo, Saturday, May 4 (AP)—Ichiro Hatoyama, at the very moment he was to be proposed as Japan's next Premier, today was ordered barred from all public office by General MacArthur, who rebuked Japan's Government for not doing it on its own initiative.

MacArthur's headquarters, in a biting statement, termed the president of Japan's dominant so-called Liberal party an "undesirable person" whose past record had paved the way for the unopposed march of the military clique to power.

"Misled People Of Japan"

The bristling statement said that in 1942 Hatoyama mailed a formal address to his constituents in which he referred to the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor as "fortunately . . . a great victory." Also his support of "the notorious (Premier) Tanaka policy of world conquest . . . brands Hatoyama as one of those who deceived and misled the people of Japan into militaristic adventure."

Proper Punishment Due

Hatoyama, whose party—actually conservative—won a plurality of votes at the recent election, had been under criticism for writing a book in which he praised Hitler and Mussolini.

It is understood he was to have been proposed today to Allied headquarters to succeed Beron Kijuro Shidehara, the resigned premier.

Japan's Government was criticized in the Allied headquarters' statement for not acting on its own responsibility against Hatoyama.

It said that Hatoyama's eligibility to hold any office had been "open to doubt in the light of evidence published subsequent to his screening by the Japanese Government" and "it was expecced that his eligibility would be re-examined by the Government forthwith."

"An Undesirable Person"

"The Japanese Government having failed to act on its own responsibility," the statement noted, "SCAP (Supreme Commander, Allied Powers) had determined the facts . . . and finds that he is an undesirable person" under MacArthur's directive for a purge of ultranationalistic elements.

Then the statement took up specific facts against Hatoyama. It noted that as chief secretary of the Tanaka Cabinet from 1927 to 1929 he "necessarily shares responsibility for formulation and promulgation, without Diet approval, of amendments to the so-called peace preservation law."

Other Pointed Indictments

The amendments made the law the "Government's chief legal instrument for the suppression of freedom of speech and freedom of assembly."

Other pointed indictments of Hatoyama in the headquarters' statement:

As Minister of Education from December, 1931, to March, 1934, he "was responsible for stifling freedom of speech in schools by means of mass dismissals and arrests of teachers. . . ."

He traveled in America and western Europe in 1937 as the personal emissary of then Prime Minister Konoye "to justify Japan's expansionist program."

While abroad he negotiated economic arrangements to support a war against China.

JAP PHONE RATES UP OVER 100 P. C.

Tokyo, May 3 (A. P.).—The Japanese Government today was authorized to raise postal, telephone and telegraph rates from 100 to almost 500 per cent to boost revenues nearer the cost of operations. Individual telephone service was upped from 30 to 288 yen ($4 to $19.20). Postal rates were tripled.

Despite the increases, the Japanese Communications Board estimated the year's deficit would be 1,000,000,000 yen ($66,666,667) because of higher wages and costs.

Japanese Gets Year In Prisoner Beating

Yokohama, May 3 (AP)—Tatsuo Abe today was sentenced to one year imprisonment after pleading guilty to an 8d Army tribunal of committing atrocities. He had been accused of beating Corporal Joseph J. Carbonaro, of Beacon, N.Y., a prisoner of war.

In another trial, Uichi Ikegami, accused of atrocities, testified that he considered the death of Elbert H. Knox, of Cuba City, Wis., a war prisoner, "an act of God." He did not elaborate. Knox was allegedly beaten by prison guards.

Ikegami said he once ordered the "open-handed beating of 70 or 80 healthy prisoners at one time."

Aussies Going To Tokyo

Kure, Japan, May 3 (AP)—About 1,000 Australian troops will leave Sunday for Tokyo to begin the first occupation duty of British Commonwealth troops in the Japanese capital.

Roxas And M'Nutt To Fly To U.S.

Manila, May 3 (AP)—President-elect Manuel A. Roxas and United States High Commissioner Paul V. McNutt plan to emplane May 8 for the United States to try to speed United States financial aid for the Philippines, Roxas lieutenants said tonight.

They reported McNutt and Roxas would try to expedite an appropriations bill to implement the Tydings bill authorizing payment for war damages in the Philippines. Other important matters in connection with the transition of the islands from a dependency to full independence July 4 also would be discussed.

Must Get Back Quickly

The visit will be hurried, as Roxas must return before May 28, when he will be inaugurated. The President-elect has not been in the United States for twelve years.

McNutt, Roxas and retiring President Sergio Osmena have been in an almost uninterrupted series of conferences the last 72 hours. Late today, the conferees announced, through McNutt, a program of "full co-operation." The commissioner, in a formal statement, praised the "far - sighted statesmanship of President Osmena and the magnanimous attitude of Roxas" in accepting the program for co-operation in the critical weeks preceding independence.

GUAMANIANS ASK FOR CITIZENSHIP

Agana, Guam, May 3 (A. P.).—The Guamanian Congress, meeting for the first time since the Japanese invaded the United States naval base island in the Marianas group in 1941, urged America to grant citizenship to Guamanians.

Thirty-six of the forty-two Congressmen elected in 1941 met in a Quonset hut yesterday near the ruins of the bombed Governor's palace for the session, opening yesterday. They paid silent tribute to two members killed by Japanese.

Guam has been under United States Naval government since 1917, and its Congress functions only as an advisory body.

Louisiana Reported Seeking Peron Visit

Buenos Aires, May 3 (AP)—Photographic copies of a letter to President-elect Juan Perón over a signature purporting to be that of Gov. James Davis, of Louisiana, were distributed by the Under Secretariat of Information, today.

The letter reportedly presented to Perón on April 30 by a representative of Andrew J. Higgins, New Orleans industrialist, said in part:

"We hope in the near future your official duties will permit your paying a visit to us."

The representative also was said to have presented Perón greetings from Mayor Robert Maestri and Mayor-elect Delesseps Morrison, of New Orleans, along with the model of a landing barge from Higgins, who is reported planning a visit to Buenos Aires.

Four Nations Complete UNRRA Contributions

Ottawa, May 3 (AP)—Canada, the Dominican Republic, Iceland and the United Kingdom have completed their contributions to the UNRRA, Prime Minister Mackenzie King informed Commons today.

Mr. King gave a statistical review of the contributions pledged and paid by different countries. Of a total of $3,670,799,021, the amount so far paid was $2,973,638,423.

Canada's contributions amounted to $138,738,738 and the United United Kingdom's to $624,650,000. The United States had paid $2,100,000,000 of a total of $2,700,000,000.

WOMAN SENTENCED

OTTAWA, May 3—(AP) Miss Kathleen Willsher, a defendant in the Canadian-Russian espionage case, was sentenced today to three years' imprisonment. She pleaded guilty to violating the official secrets act by giving information to an unauthorized person.

Miss Willsher, 40, was an employe in the office of the United Kingdom high commissioner here. She had access to virtually all wartime communications between Ottawa and London.

U.S.-Soviet Unity Test Is Seen

Washington, May 3 (AP)—Edwin W. Pauley hops off this week end on a reparations mission which may determine how successfully the United States and Russia can co-operate in the Far East.

Technically, Pauley will seek to learn what former Japanese assets in Manchuria and Korea can be made available as reparations to the Allied countries which teamed up to win the Pacific war.

Actually, he will try to find out whether the industrial equipment remaining in the two areas is sufficient to contribute to the economic development of China and Korea—a factor the United States believes essential to lasting peace in East Asia.

Separate Statements

President Truman and Acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson made this plain yesterday in separate statements.

China must be enabled to use fully the natural resources and industries of Manchuria, Mr. Truman asserted, and Korea must be put into position to develop its own resources and industries if any long-range plan for the peaceful economy of East Asia is to be worked out.

Like the President, Acheson rarely mentioned reparations. Instead, he stressed what he termed the absolute necessity—from the American viewpoint—of China's getting the Manchurian industries and resources, and of Korea's being permitted to develop its own.

America's Stand

Reflected in the two statements were:

1. Vigorous American opposition to the reported Russian removal from Manchuria of a large amount of Japanese industrial equipment regarded by the Soviet Union as "war booty."

2. Equally strong American opposition to Russia's proposal that China that the two countries jointly operate some of the basic industries in Manchuria.

3. American fear that the Soviet Union might follow the same pattern in the northern part of Korea.

Both Mr. Truman yesterday and Secretary of State Byrnes, before he left for Paris, expressed belief that Pauley would encounter no trouble from the Soviets in making his inspection.

No American official has indicated, however, what course the United States might take should Pauley find that much industrial equipment essential to Chinese and Korean development has been seized to Russia.

Rocky Reparations Road

Even if Pauley gets co-operation and is able to carry out his mission in Manchuria despite the civil war conditions between Chinese Communists and Nationalists, the road to inter-Allied co-operation on reparations is apt to be a rocky one.

The final Allied policy on reparations, and thus to a considerable extent on the economy of East Asia, will be made by the Far Eastern Commission, an eleven-nation policy-making body for Japan which meets weekly in Washington.

The commission's reparations committee has been considering a general plan originated by Pauley, but has taken no action as yet.

U.S. Deal Reported For Azores Bases

Negotiations at Lisbon Are Believed Under Way

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP). — The United States and Britain were reported by diplomatic authorities tonight to be negotiating at Lisbon for use of naval and air facilities in the strategically located Azores Islands.

The islands, lying in the Atlantic between Europe and North America, are important not only to naval domination of major sea lanes but also to future American-European aerial relations. Presumably the British are playing a leading role in the undertaking, since Portugal is a traditional ally of Britain.

Paul T. Culbertson, chief of the State Department's western European division, and a veteran diplomat, is believed to be participating in the negotiations for the United States. The State Department declined officially tonight to comment on the disculosure that the talks had been undertaken some weeks ago.

During the war, the United States had two air bases, used by both the Army and Navy, in the Azores, while the British also had similar facilities.

Hawaii Repair Funds Allotted

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP). — Federal funds totaling $1,325,000 have been allotted to begin repair of the breakwater and roads damaged at Hilo by the April 1 tidal wave, the House Territories Committee was informed today. C. C. Burger, representing the Army Engineers, said that $500,000 were available to start work on the inshore end of the breakwater. H. E. Hilts, Deputy Public Roads Commissioner, asserted that $825,000 had been approved for emergency road and bridge repairs.

TRUMAN TO KEEP TAYLOR AT POST AS VATICAN ENVOY

WASHINGTON, May 3—(AP) Declaring "we shall establish an enduring peace only if we build it upon Christian principles," President Truman announced today that Myron C. Taylor would represent him at the Vatican as he had done President Roosevelt.

Taylor, financier and industrialist, will retain the rank of ambassador, White House officials said that he would return to Rome soon.

The Presidential statement dispelled reports that Taylor might resign.

Protestants Protest

Some Protestant sources have protested Taylor's assignment. The Associated Church Press, made up of editors of Protestant publications, adopted a resolution here last week saying that it violated the principle of separation of church and state. The resolution said also that such an envoy did not have Senate approval as the constitution required.

Mr. Truman issued the following statement:

I have asked Mr. Myron C. Taylor to return to Italy as my personal representative to His Holiness the Pope, with the rank of ambassador.

After the cessation of hostilities Mr. Taylor came home for consultation and report. I have studied his report of his several audiences with the Pope with interest and with profit. I feel that he can continue to render helpful service to the cause of Christian civilization if, at my instance from time to time, he resumes his duties in Italy. As on his previous trips Mr. Taylor will confer not only with the Pope but with other leaders in the spiritual world and in the world of politics and secular affairs as he travels through Europe in the fulfillment of his mission.

Cites World Unrest

The cessation of active fighting has left the world in a state of unrest. In many quarters we witness lamentable conflicts of principle and policy. Out of all of this unrest and conflict, however, one conviction emerges as clear as the noonday. It is that we shall establish an enduring peace only if we build it upon Christian principles.

In the dark days of 1940 President Roosevelt sent Mr. Taylor to Italy as his personal representative. His mission was most helpful to the cause of peace and in the alleviation of suffering brought about by the most awful conflict in the annals of mankind, and it will be, I am sure, equally useful in the future.

There is no minimizing of gravity of the days in which we live. I feel the necessity of having for my guidance the counsel and cooperation of men and women of good will whether in religion, in government, or in the pursuits of everyday life. I have therefore sought the advice of leaders in religion of various convictions and allegiances, not only in this country but from abroad. I feel that all have a vital contribution to make. I shall continue to welcome the counsel of such leaders to the end that the voice of conscience may be heard in the councils of that age-old problem: The government of man.

UNRRA CHIEF QUITS PARLEY

'Pencil Pusher' Delegation Protested By LaGuardia

Washington, May 3 (AP)—F. H. LaGuardia, UNRRA director-general, disgustedly walked out on a meeting of the Combined Food Board today when "pencil-pushing statisticians," as he called them, showed up instead of officials with authority.

LaGuardia protested that he could not "feed people on statistics and paper wheat," called for another session next Tuesday, and served notice that he expected "the head representatives of each country to attend."

The meeting of the board, composed of American, British and Canadian representatives, was called to receive wheat allotments for May.

Anderson Out Of Town

Clinton P. Anderson, Secretary of Agriculture and the American representative, was out of town but LaGuardia protested that no under secretary or assistant secretary was sent in his place.

"I am willing to stand abuse," he said, "but I refuse to be trifled with by the Combined Food Board on a matter of such importance where human lives are concerned."

Later LaGuardia told women of the Congressional Club he felt "sick, sore and disabled" when he "found no head of any country there."

"Instead, there were pencil pushing statisticians there," he said. "I asked for bread and they gave paper. I didn't remain."

Small Ships Requested

To provide additional fishing facilities and food transport for Europe, the Middle East and the Far East, the Government undertook today to send all available small ships to those areas.

John M. Snyder, reconversion director, called on the State Department, the War Assets Administration, the War Shipping Administration and the Army and Navy to assist in providing vessels up to 1,000-ton capacity, "which have been or can be declared surplus."

A White House announcement of Snyder's action said the ships could be used for short hauls and coastwise trade as well as for fishing.

RIOT ACT READ BY LAGUARDIA TO FOOD CHIEFS

UNRRA's Director-General Lays Down Law to Combined Board.

NO DEALS WITH UNDERLINGS

Says He Cannot Feed People on Statistics and Paper Wheat —Shipping Plans Revealed.

Washington, May 3 (A. P.).—Fiorello LaGuardia, director general of UNRRA, said today that he could not feed people on "statistics and paper wheat" and hopped on the accredited representatives to the Combined Food Board for having their subordinates hold a meeting which he had requested the board itself to hold.

LaGuardia asked the board to meet today, the press ofifce of UNRRA said in a statement, in order to obtain wheat allocations for May for distressed peoples abroad. The meeting started twenty-five minutes late, and no member of the board was present, but subordinates represented them, the statement said.

The UNRRA press office said that when LaGuardia was presented with a statement showing "availabilities," he recalled that in April "the availability allocated to UNRRA was 450,000 tons out of the required 700,000 tons, and the actual grain delivered was only 339,000.

"Mr. LaGuardia stated that he was through with discussing availabilities — that he could not feed people on statistics and paper wheat," the press office said. "He also served notice that he would not confer with employees . . . and that he expected the head representatives of each country to attend the meeting set for next Tuesday."

The statement quoted the Director-General as saying:

"I can understand the anxiety of the people in starving countries and can put up with their restiveness and with the situation being misunderstood by them. I am willing to stand abuse. But I refuse to be trifled with by the combined food board on a matter of such importance where human lives are concerned."

The combined food board consists of representatives of the United States, Great Britain and Canada, and allocates Allied food resources to nations of the world.

Ships Shunted to Europe.

In a new attack on the world food crisis, the Government acted today to shunt all available small vessels to Europe, the Middle East and the Far East for use in fishing and food transport.

The White House announced that Reconversion Director Snyder had called on the State Department, the War Assets Administration, the War Shipping Administration and the War and Navy to assist in providing the vessels.

Food to Go to Austria.

Seven ships loaded with emergency food supplies will be sent to Austria "immediately" in an effort to alleviate "horrible" famine conditions, LaGuardia announced today. The ships will sail from North and South American ports with a total of 46,000 tons of supplies, including wheat, peas, fats, fish and sugar.

LaGuardia said he had been informed by the chief of UNRRA's mission in Vienna that daily food rations had been reduced to 908 calories. This is only 100 calories above the amount given to inmates of the infamous Belsen concentration camp where the Nazis tortured people to death by slow starvation, he added.

The Austrians are nearer the starvation level than any other people helped by UNRRA, he said. Austria became eligible for UNRRA aid April 1.

At the recent UNRRA conference in Atlantic City, American Government officials charged the Russians were aggravating the critical food situation by requisitioning farmland on which to grow food for Red Army troops.

Despite vigorous Russian objections, a resolution was passed by the conference permitting UNRRA to take whatever steps it deemed necessary to correct the situation. One of the steps recommended was to decrease the food sent to Austrian zones occupied by other powers and ship it instead to areas threatened with hunger because of the farm requisitioning.

The agencies were asked to give countries in food shortage areas an opportunity 'to acquire usuable small vessels up to 1,000-ton capacity which have been or can be declared surplus."

Other developments on the food front were:

1. UNRRA Director LaGuardia announced that seven ships loaded with emergency food supplies will be sent immediately from North and South America to Austria in an effort to alleviate "horrible" famine conditions. The vessels will carry 46,000 tons of supplies, including wheat, peas, fats, fish and sugar.

2. The House passed unanimously and sent to the White House a Senate-approved bill removing a legal ban on private shipment of relief goods to former enemy nations.

Gamble On Draft Made In Battle For Loan O.K.

Washington, May 3 (AP)—The Administration, trying hard to push the British loan bill through the Senate, gambled today that Congress can agree on draft extension in a single week.

An Administration aide disclosed that the deadline for voting on the $3,750,000,000 credit arrangement—or laying it aside—has been moved back to next Wednesday. Tuesday previously had been the latest date discussed.

Draft-Law Situation

The selective service law expires May 15—one week from Wednesday—unless Congress acts.

The riddled extension bill that the House passed, including a five-month draft "holiday," differs widely from the version sent to the Senate by its Military Committee. Hence, one week is a very brief time in which to conduct Senate debate, pass the bill, adjust differences with the House and send the compromise measure to the President for approval.

Barkley Again Seeks Curb

Majority Leader Barkley (Ky.) made a futile attempt yesterday to get unanimous agreement to limit further loan bill debate to two hours for each senator. Acting Republican Leader Knowland (Cal.) objected, and the talk ran on until nearly 6 P.M. But Barkley served notice that he intends to try again.

The proposed loan took a heavy thumping yesterday from half a dozen speakers on both sides of the aisle, and Senator Wheeler (D., Mont.) asked time to speak today.

"Munificent Gift"

Senator Olin Johnston (D., S.C.) hit at the proposed arrangement as a gift, not a loan. So did Senator Capper (R., Kan.) Johnston declared:

"It is the most munificent gift in history, from the most heavily indebted nation in the world, to a nation which will be, as she always has been, unappreciative, unreliable and totally without conscience."

Senator Stewart (D., Tenn.), another loan opponent, suggested that after Britain borrowed the money she might lend it to Russia. Johnston said that if he were a Russian, he wouldn't take it; he would demand instead that the United States make Russia a loan on the same term as those given Britain.

Willis Foresees Bad Feelings

Senator Willis (R., Ind.) holds that the loan could become a stumbling block in United States foreign relations. Other nations "standing in line for additional grants will feel hurt if their requests are not approved," he said.

"This loan, which likely will never be repaid, will hang like a millstone about the neck of the British and the Americans for many long decades to come, if it is approved," he said. "If this were an outright gift, with no strings attached, its importance as a barrier to future trade would not be as great as it will be as a loan."

"Revenue" Idea Challenged

Senator Ferguson (R., Mich.), who has not committed himself on the loan, said he is prepared to argue against a point of order that Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D., Col.) has said he will raise against the agreement.

Johnson contends that a bond-selling provision in the measure makes it revenue legislation which, under the Constitution, must originate in the House. Ferguson said he had looked up precedents and is convinced that is not the case. The House does not yet have the loan bill on its calendar.

Loan Granted Hungary

Meanwhile, it was announced today that a loan of $10,000,000 has been granted to Hungary for the purchase of surplus American property overseas. Foreign Liquidation Commissioner Thomas B. McCabe said the dollar credit, like the $50,000,000 arrangement completed earlier in the week with Poland, is a "credit ceiling" and does not necessarily mean that Hungary will purchase up to the full amount.

Such credits are designed to remedy the shortage of dollars in many foreign countries, McCabe said, and to promote surplus sales that will speed the reconstruction of war-trampled nations.

Previous credits, made through the Export-Import Bank, have gone to the Philippines, Turkey, Finland, Lebanon, Iran and Ethiopia. All provide for repayment in annual installments with interest at the rate of 2⅜ per cent annually.

Wheeler Opposes Foreign Loans

Washington, May 3 (A. P.).—Senator Wheeler (D.-Mont.) told the Senate today that the administration's policies on loans to foreign countries "create the breeding ground for another war."

If Congress approves the proposed $3,750,000,000 loan to Britain, he said, demands will be made for a similar credit of $1,000,000,000 to Russia. He has been informed, he said, that "at least one important Treasury officer is beating the drum" for such a loan to the Soviets.

"On the one hand," he added, "we are being asked to help save the British Empire from Russia and on the other hand we are asking Russia to make application for a large loan to supplement what we are pouring into Russian-satellite countries. To me, these policies just do not make sense."

Nimitz Suggests Naval Remedy For Merger

Washington, May 3 (AP)—Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz declared today that the "basic defects" of pending legislation to unify the Army and Navy could be remedied to eliminate Navy fear of becoming the "weak link" in the national security chain.

Nimitz, appearing before the Senate Naval Committee, closely followed the testimony which Secretary of the Navy Forrestal gave Wednesday.

Opposes Agency Status

Like Forrestal, he found fault with provisions of the proposed merger that would create a supreme chief of staff and reduce the status of the Army and Navy departments to that of agencies. He echoed his chief that the plan does not provide unity at all and that no organizational details have been worked out.

"The basic defects . . . should be remedied by restoring the military and naval services to independent department status," he suggested, "and by vesting in their secretaries all direct administrative responsibility and authority."

This, Nimitz said, would free from administrative duties the "director of national security" that the Navy has advocated.

Stresses Policy Setting

He added that the proposed director would thus be able to concentrate as deputy chairman of a council of national security responsible for co-ordinating foreign, military and economic policies. The President would be chairman.

"In this manner the strength we now have would be retained and supplemented by the improved co-ordination which experience has shown to be necessary," the Admiral declared.

Asserting that "there exists a lack of appreciation of the importance of the Navy," Nimitz added that the Navy "is careful to examine any proposed legislation with a view to the continuation of its own fighting efficiency, and in order not to become the weak link in the chain" of national security.

Changed His Mind

He said that at one time he had favored a single department to administer both the Army and Navy and "was optimistic with respect to the effectiveness" of a single officer commanding all United States forces. He changed his mind, Nimitz added.

"I still believe that there must be established under the President a single civilian official to co-ordinate the War and Navy departments and also a department for the Air Force if established," he asserted.

But Nimitz "definitely recommended" that three provisions be included in any reorganization legislation:

1. No service will attempt to restrict in any way the means and weapons used by another service in carrying out its functions.

2. No service will attempt to restrict in any way the areas of operations of the other services in carrying out their functions.

3. Each service will lend the utmost assistance possible to the other services in carrying out their functions.

Bradley Urges Veterans' Rights In Health Bill

Wants Any Insurance Plan to Safeguard Present Treatment Provisions

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP).—General Omar N. Bradley, Veterans Administrator, told the Senate Labor Committee today that any compulsory health insurance legislation should protect veterans' current rights to free medical care and hospitalization.

During General Bradley's testimony, the committee chairman, Senator James E. Murray, Democrat, of Montana, read a letter from President Truman saying the Wagner-Murray-Dingell bill for a national health program would carry out a large part of the health program he advocates.

Three Republican Senators, however, announced last night that they would introduce a counter-proposal—to allot $220,000,000 yearly to the states to improve medical and dental care.

General Bradley noted that the bill under consideration does not specify means of finance. He said, however, that the term "prepaid personal health service benefits" indicates that contributions are anticipated from employed persons.

"This," he said, "would require the veteran to contribute toward a benefit to which he is already entitled, without charge, under existing law, in that he is entitled without cost to himself to hospital or out-patient treatment of service-connected disability and to hospital treatment of non-service connected disability when bed is available.

"This effect, bearing in mind possible impairment of the existing program, should be considered carefully at such time as the financing procedures are worked out."

Fred Bailey, legislative counsel of the National Grange, opposed compulsory health insurance but indorsed sections providing for increased Federal grants to states for health problems.

Retail, Senate Groups Fire On OPA

Washington, May 3 (AP)—The OPA ran into heavy crossfire today, with the National Retail Dry Goods Association demanding "removal of all inflationary controls" and a Senate group urging an end to price ceilings on meat.

Robert A. Seidel, a director of the dry goods organization, argued for abolition of the OPA regulations which, he contended, imposed:

"Controls that retard production, force quality deterioration, encourage substerfuge, hamper reconversion, raise the cost of living."

He placed his case before the Senate Banking Committee at hearings on legislation to extend the OPA a year beyond June 30.

Senate Unit Protests

The question of ending meat prices became a hotter subject than ever.

The committee has been hearing for days from meat-industry spokesmen that the livestock supply is so great that price controls can safely be removed.

But today a Senate Agriculture subcommittee chimed in with the report that it had come to the same general conclusion. It also called for an end to Government subsidies paid to hold down retail meat prices.

Outlines Charges

"Removal of price controls and subsidies from livestock and meat will stimulate the marketing of livestock and the production of meat," it asserted, "drive the black-market operators out of business, save untold waste, safeguard the public health and make a large supply of meat available to all at a competitive price which will be lower than consumers are now paying as a result of the black market and subsidies."

The subcommittee, which held extensive hearings, said it was "convinced that there would not be any skyrocketing in meat prices if controls were removed."

Seidel enumerated these complaints:

"Consumers have been severely penalized because they are compelled to purchase inferior substitutes in price ranges much higher than those in which they would normally buy.

Producers' Problem

"Manufacturers of far too many important lines have been compelled to discontinue production of prewar commodities that they were skilled in making in great volume, and to shift to lines in which they are not experienced.

"They have been forced to develop wholly unnecessary new products as a subterfuge to obtain price relief, whereas in most cases the new products are not equal to the old products in either quality or utility."

PORK PRODUCTS, LARD SET ASIDE FOR EXPORT UPPED

Slaughterers Ordered to Hold 15 Per Cent for Government Purchase.

CONTROLS FAVORED

Truman Continues to Stand Behind Meat Price Curbs.

WASHINGTON, May 3—(AP) The government ordered slaughterers to set aside more pork and lard for export today while President Truman emphasized that his administration still stands for price controls on meat.

Slaughterers were directed to set aside for government export purchase pork products equal to 15 per cent of the live weight of the hogs they slaughter and a quantity of lard and rendered pork fat equal to six per cent of the live weight of their slaughter.

Order Effective Monday

The order, effective Monday, applies to federally-inspected plants in all except 11 southeastern states where output is insufficient to meet local needs.

The set-aside percentage now is 13 per cent for pork products and five per cent for lard. The program has not applied previously to rendered pork fats. Beef already is subject to a set-aside order with the government taking about ten per cent for export.

The President declared that he "wishes it clearly understood that as long as there are dangerous upward pressures on meat prices and as long as the government has the authority to deal with them, price controls on livestock and meat will be firmly maintained."

He issued a statement to clear up "a series of unfortunate misinterpretations" as speaker Rayburn from cattle-raising Texas came out for abandonment of beef price controls and Secretary of Agriculture Anderson was assailed by the National Farmers Union for his reported views on the subject.

Move As Last Resort

The sequence which led to the President's statement was this:

1. Anderson, appearing before the Senate Banking committee Wednesday, was asked by Senator Barkley (D-Ky), whether "the way to cure this whole situation in meat is to take off all controls and ceilings." The secretary replied that "if with slaughter controls and with the increased force that OPA is now putting on this we are not able to direct these cattle back into decent channels," then the only remedy "is an abandonment of these controls." Asked by Senator Bankhead (D-Ala), how long "it will take to make a fair test," Anderson answered that "they should do something with it in 90 days or abandon it."

2. Mr. Truman was asked at his news conference yesterday whether he agrees "with Secretary Anderson that controls on meat should be taken off in 90 days if the black market isn't solved." The President replied that if it is necessary to do that, we will do it.

The White House statement today explained that "confusion on this question has apparently arisen from misunderstanding of the term 'meat controls' as it was used" at the President's news conference and at the Senate hearing.

"Both the President and Secretary Anderson," the statement continued, "took the term to mean, not price controls, but rather the slaughter controls which were instituted on April 28 by the Office of Price Administration and the Department of Agriculture."

Expected to Work

The statement concluded that "there is every reason to believe that the slaughter control plan will work effectively," that "other additional measures will be used" if it fails, but that:

"Neither the President nor Secretary Anderson suggested that livestock and meat price controls could be abandoned with the demand for meat at its present extremely high level in relation to supply."

The office of James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers Union, made public in Denver a letter to the President demanding Anderson's removal on the ground that his testimony was "an open invitation to the packers to continue their tremendous campaign" against price controls. Anderson's office said he had no comment on it.

Rayburn told the House the nation is not getting meat production, although there are about 82,000,000 head of cattle on the ranges. He said he supported a proposal to strip OPA of all controls over meat, voted down recently by the House when it passed legislation depriving the price agency of many other powers.

TRUMAN ASSERTS CONTROLS ON MEAT WILL BE RETAINED

Also on Livestock, While Inflationary Pressure Affects Prices.

Washington, May 3 (A. P.).—President Truman made it clear today that "price controls on livestock and meat will be firmly maintained" as long as there are inflationary pressures on meat prices.

A White House statement asserted:

"The President wishes it clearly understood that as long as there are dangerous upward pressures on meat prices and as long as the government has the authority to deal with them, price controls on livestock and meat will be firmly maintained.

"Both Secretary of Agriculture Anderson and Economic Stabilization Director Bowles concur in this view."

The White House said that the statement was issued to clear up confusion about the President's attitude.

Earlier, Speaker Rayburn (D.-Tex.) told the House price controls on beef should be removed and that he had made his position known "to people in high places."

Famine-Aid Corn Purchases Top 10 Million Bu.

Chicago, May 3 (AP)—Farmers have sold more than 10,000,000 bushels of corn to the Government in the nation-wide campaign to obtain grain for famine areas abroad, George Bradley, head of the mid-West office of the Commodity Credit Corporation, said today.

Asked whether he felt the Agriculture Department would reach its goal of 50,000,000 bushels, Bradley replied: "I don't think there is any doubt that we are going to get the corn—and get it soon." Bradley's office is in charge of Government corn buying for the entire country.

30-Cent Bonus Being Paid

The Agriculture Department, through the CCC, is paying 30 cents a bushel over ceiling prices for better quality corn. In addition, Federal authorities are buying wheat, offering 30 cents a bushel above ceilings, and oats and oatmeal.

Meanwhile, reports to local grain firms said black-market operators were endeavoring to meet the Government bonus by giving a 30-cent mark up above ceilings themselves—without any deduction for grading. In effect, this meant that the black marketers would pay more for some grades of corn than the Government, grain men explained.

Some Bought Direct

Bradley said the CCC had obtained around 10,000,000 bushels of corn through normal trade channels up to the early part of this week. Since then, the agency has been buying direct from the country, by-passing trade channels, and has added about 2,500,000 bushels, he said.

The CCC director thought the only factor that might slow up the corn-buying program would be the need of farmers to accomplish spring plowing and seeding, which would give them little time for shipping corn.

On this point, however, Bradley said the early spring had permitted farmers "to get further ahead with their spring work than has been the case in any recent year."

Veterans Get Priority to Buy War Surpluses

Signing Bill, President Says What Helps Them Helps Nation; Sales Increasing

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP).—President Truman, signing a bill giving veterans priority on the purchase of surplus war property, declared today that "what helps the veterans helps the nation."

The legislation gives top priority to veterans for purchase of certain selected types of surplus property, and makes them second only to Federal agencies in priority rights for all other surplus goods. Previously, state and local governments held higher priorities.

Lieutenant General Edmund B. Gregory, War Assets Administrator, in a formal statement and interview, said surplus property sales are steadily increasing and would be even greater if Congress hadn't slapped on so many restrictions. He was answering an assertion by Senator Harry F. Byrd, Democrat, of Virginia, that surplus disposal has become "a national scandal." The records show, General Gregory said, that sales during March were two and one-half times those last December. The figures, he said, were $492,000,000 against $211,000,000.

Furthermore, he said, only about $15,000,000,000 worth of surplus has been turned over to the W. A. A.—not the $32,000,000,000 which Senator Byrd mentioned. Even the final total, he estimated, will not go above $20,000,000,000.

The complete 100 per cent set-aside list for veterans, in accord with the new legislation, was announced by the W. A. A. as follows:

Automotive vehicles—Passenger cars, new and used; trucks, jeeps, all types, two and one-half tons or less; motorcycles, scooters, trailers, bomb trucks, all trailers.

Tractors—D4 and R4 caterpillar—36-45 DBHP (or equal), D7 caterpillar—61-90 DBHP (or equal), D8 caterpillar—91-140 DBHP (or equal); TD9 international—36-45 DBHP (or equal); TD14 international—46-60 DBHP (or equal); TD6 international—46-60 DBHP (or equal).

Construction, mining and excavating machinery — Tractor-type scrapers, air compressors, batching plants, crushing and screening plants, ditching machines, cranes, shovels and draglines.

Agricultural machinery — Land levelers, plows.

Medical, surgical and dental apparatus and equipment—Major operating tables, operating lamps, field X-ray units, diathermy machines, dental units, dental chairs, dental cabinets.

Typewriters.

The complete text of Mr. Truman's statement in signing the legislation:

"The veterans-priority bill for surplus property (S. 1757), which I have signed today, gives priority to veterans for the purchase of surplus property second only to the priority exercised by Federal agencies. This bill also directs the War Assets Administration to set aside selective types of surplus property particularly in demand by veterans for exclusive distribution to them for their personal use as well as for their business, agricultural or professional enterprises.

"What helps the veteran helps the nation. If by means of this law we can help the veteran to establish himself in a business or profession, assist him to maintain his technical skills, or contribute to his personal well-being and the health and comfort of his family the country as a whole will be benefited.

"It is only fair to warn the veterans, however, that many of them who will want to purchase items under this law are going to be disappointed. Items of surplus property being set aside for veterans are precisely those items in heaviest demand.

"They are not available in surplus in sufficient quantities to satisfy more than a small proportion of prospective veteran purchasers who have applied for them. Veterans will have the chance to take all of these surplus items. But individual veterans may not get certain items they want, or the quantities they want.

"No system of government retail outlets selling surplus property direct to the veterans is contemplated. The Congress has made it clear that such action was not intended. However, the War Assets Administrator will, under the terms of the law, compile and widely publicize information as to the types and quantities of surplus property which has or will become available for exclusive disposal to veterans in accordance with the provisions of the measure."

Lag In War Surplus Sales Is Blamed On Congress

Washington, May 3 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Edmund B. Gregory, war-assets administrator, contended today that disposal policies set by Congress were responsible for a lag in war-surplus sales, which Senator Byrd (D., Va.) has called a "national scandal."

"If Senator Byrd wants to come down and run this operation, I'd be glad to have him do it," Gregory said. "We hope within two years to have disposed of virtually the entire surplus. Five years after the first world war surplus-disposal efforts were still going pretty strong."

New Delay Seen

A new bill giving purchase priority to veterans second only to the Government, now awaiting President Truman's signature, will help veterans get needed goods, but will further delay disposal operations, Gregory predicted.

"If Congress wanted to eliminate the priority purchases it created—Federal agencies, schools, small business men and so on—we could move much faster," he added. "The same would be true if Congress wanted to abandon the policy of broad distribution, which means sales in small lots."

Reasons Given

Questioned on Byrd's statement that sales total only $2,000,000,000 out of an estimated $32,000,000,000 in surpluses, Gregory said less than half the latter amount had been declared surplus and made available for sale. He said nearly $5,000,000,000 was in nonsalable aircraft and $3,000,000,000 in plants, leaving the total of consumer goods only about $2,000,000,000.

Moreover, the $32,000,000,000 figure—an earlier WAA estimate—appears to be shrinking daily.

"I'd be surprised if the whole amount goes much above $20,000,000,000," Gregory said.

Mandolin String a Surgical Saw

American Doctors in Jap Prison Camp Also Used Dental Drill Made From Wrecked Auto.

Washington, May 3 (A. P.).—A surgical saw made from steel mandolin strings. A homemade dental drill powered by a part from a wrecked automobile. Both were used effectively by American doctors imprisoned in a Jap concentration camp during the war.

Commander Mack L. Gottlieb of the Naval Medical Corps, himself a prisoner for four years, told this story of Yankee ingenuity today. He attended fellow prisoners in the Shinagawa prisoner-of-war hospital in Tokyo.

Gottlieb, writing in the naval medical bulletin, said the mandolin-string saw was used for amputations and for removing ribs.

The dental drill was constructed from a speedometer cable of a wrecked automobile, and the burs (or drills) were made out of steel scraps.

"Our silver fillings (for teeth)," said Gottlieb, "came from 50-cent Dutch guilder pieces."

Taxed for hospital equipment—although they received large quantities of drugs and other hospital supplies from the Red Cross—the American doctors also improvised splints, crutches and other orthopedic devices.

Despite such handicaps, however, excellent results were obtained in abdominal surgery, Gottlieb reported. Between July, 1943, and March, 1945, approximately 1,100 prisoners were treated—and only sixty-six died.

Chicago and Eastern Illinois.

The State Street Council, which originally announced that State Street stores would operate as usual until Tuesday because of advanced advertising commitments, reversed its decision today when the Commonwealth Edison Company notified them they were in violation of the order. The stores, with the exception of the Boston store, which has it own power plant, will operate from 2 to 6 P.M. starting tomorrow.

Steel Plant To Close

The American Steel and Wire Company, a subsidiary of United States Steel, announced it was closing its plants in Joliet and Waukegan, Ill., because of the coal shortage making 4,800 employés idle.

The city's night life, which was expected to suffer most under the 6 P.M. entertainment lighting blackout, quickly improvised and kept going full blast.

Yesterday there was a run on stocks of candles, flashlights, batteries and kerosene lamps. Last night they made their appearance in the city's taverns, bers and some night clubs. It was business as usual—with a pregas light touch—in most spots.

The city's motion pictures went on a 2-6 P.M. schedule today and will be closed on Sunday.

ings—and many workers climbed stairways to the floors above rather than wait in long lines before the lifts.

Office buildings, along with other commercial establishments, were limited to the use of electricity between 2 and 6 P.M. today. Later, however, the Illinois Commerce Commission amended its order to provide electricity to office buildings from 9 A.M. to 1 P.M. starting tomorrow.

Can Save More Power

The Building Managers Association said more power could be saved and handling of crowds would be simplified under the new schedule.

The order, nearing full effectiveness today, also limits industrial consumption of power to 24 hours a week and bans sign and display lighting.

William Parillo, member of the Illinois Commerce Commission, declared "Chicago will be on a calamity basis unless coal is mined by May 14."

"It will be necessary then," he added, "to eliminate all but most vital services, such as those for water supply and food preservation."

Order Will Cost Millions

Spokesmen for industrial plants and business establishments said the order would cost "millions" of dollars if it remains in effect for many days. Thousands of workers faced part-time unemployment with the possibility of reduction in pay rolls.

Meanwhile, the Illinois Commerce Commission, which issued the electricity-rationing order Wednesday night, announced it would authorize all railroads operating in the State to curtail any except essential service to conserve shrinking coal supplies.

Under the order, the commission said, essential supplies, food and medicine would be given priority.

Railroads attending or represented at the session included the Baltimore and Ohio, Chicago and Northwestern, Rock Island, Santa Fe, New York Central, the Big Four, the Indiana Harbor Belt Line, the Milwaukee Road, Chicago and Western Indiana, the Alton, the Chicago Great Western, and the ciation of Ingersoll, who is editor of the newspaper "PM." He told them that just as the soldier in the foxhole knows only what goes on in his immediate vicinity, Ingersoll knew only the things he saw, and "he didn't have the privilege of knowing what was going on on the top deck."

The speaker admitted that Bradley was a "great officer," and that "his soldiers had great confidence in him." He said that it was at Eisenhower's request that the late Ernie Pyle had written several stories about Bradley in the winter of 1943.

The greater part of Captain Butcher's talk was devoted to a presentation of "thumbnail sketches" of some of the officers he met through his work with General Eisenhower.

Praises Hodges

He highly praised General Courtney H. Hodges, of the First Army, and said that credit was mistakenly given to General Patton for the break-through at St. Lo although Hodges was responsible. "Patton did not take command until several days after that action at the bridgehead," Butcher asserted.

Field Marshal Bernard Montgomery he termed a "phenomenon of publicity."

1943, when the British and French took part in the observance. "A British ship fired a 48-gun Army salute, and a French band played the 'Star Spangled Banner,'" Butcher said.

Churchill he described as "tough" and "resolute," and said he "never missed an opportunity to fight the war; he was in there every minute."

Said No to Churchill

Butcher told of the many hours of discussion between Eisenhower and the British Prime Minister, who tried tirelessly to persuade the general that the way to win the war was to go through the Mediterranean. "Ike said 'no' in as many different ways as he knew how," Butcher related, "one time during a discussion that lasted for seven hours. Churchill was afraid that a weak attack across the channel would lose too many lives."

The captain related the trouble Eisenhower had trying to keep Gen. Carl Spaatz and Gen. Jimmy Doolittle from risking their lives. "They were both alike," he said, "in that they always wanted to fly all the time in the big air missions. Finally Ike gave them orders that until they would find a replacement for themselves, they were not to take chances."

Captain Butcher, who answered a few questions from the audience at the conclusion of his talk, was introduced by Gerald Cutler, president of the board of directors of the library.

HATCH HEADS ATOMIC UNIT

Named Chairman of President's Board to Evaluate Tests

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—President Truman's committee for evaluation of the atomic bomb tests today selected Senator Carl A. Hatch, Democrat, of New York, as its chairman. The group, at an organization meeting, also named Representative Andrew S. May, Democrat, of New York, chairman of the House Military Committee, as vice chairman.

Members of the committee will observe tests of the atomic bomb at Bikini Atoll in the Pacific, scheduled about July 1, and will report their findings directly to the President. They will leave for the tests next month.

Other members of the committee are Karl T. Compton of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Dr. J. R. Oppenheimer, an atomic scientist; Bradley Dewey of Cambridge, Mass.; W. S. Newell of Bath, Me.; Fred Searls Jr., also an atomic scientist; Senator Leverett Saltonstall, Republican, of Massachusetts, and Representative George W. Andrews, Democrat, of Alabama.

Radar Used To Get Rid Of Stowaways

New York, May 3 (AP)—A new use has been found for radar—getting rid of stowaways.

Capt. Leopold Duchowski, of New York, skipper of the army transport Jarrett M. Huddleston, which arrived here today with 470 British war brides and babies, said that two hours after the ship sailed from Southampton 13 days ago, two British seamen were found aboard the ship.

Three days later, the captain said, he located the eastbound army transport Willard A. Holbrook by radar. The Holbrook was 70 miles away and the captain communicated with her by radio-telephone. A rendezvous was arranged and the stowaways were transferred to the Southampton-bound Holbrook by small boat.

Selassie Gets Award

New York, May 3 (AP)—The African Academy of Arts and Research announced it was awarding its 1946 Wendell Willkie Memorial Award to Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia for "his contributions to international peace and good will."

The award was received last year by Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace.

Capt. Butcher Hits Ingersoll's Book on Eisenhower

NEW CANAAN, May 3—Capt. Harry C. Butcher, U.S.N.R. (inactive), former naval aide to General Eisenhower, tonight called on General Omar N. Bradley to "deny publicly" the assertions made by Ralph Ingersoll in his book, "Top Secret," that Bradley deliberately disregarded orders from Eisenhower's headquarters and won the war by not telling Eisenhower what he was doing until after he had done it.

Speaking in the Henry W. Saxe Junior High school, under the auspices of the New Canaan library, Captain Butcher branded Ingersoll's book as "irresponsible PM reporting." He described Eisenhower and Bradley as "great friends," and declared, "It is too bad for the public and for Eisenhower, that these two should be held up as less than friends.

"It is now up to Bradley to speak," he said. "Why should he permit his friend to be pilloried?"

Denounces Ingersoll

Captain Butcher, author of the book "My Three Years With Eisenhower" gave his highly informal talk before about 400 persons, who applauded and cheered his denunciation of Ingersoll.

"British morale was low in the summer of 1942, when Tobruk was lost, and a crew of most intelligent people, who would do well in Hollywood, were seen along with Montgomery to give him a build up. All the same, he was a good general, and what he took, he held. He was never in a rush to make a move, though; when he went into action he wanted to win."

Butcher criticized Montgomery for his failure to give credit after the battle of El Alamein to the American Air Force and the American material which won the battle, and also to the Royal Air Force.

"He did not have the knack of giving credit where credit was due," Butcher said. This knack, however, was one of the greatest assets 'Ike' had, and one reason why he was such a successful leader, although he had to deal with officers of several countries and several branches of service, as a sort of intermediary for the governments behind the armed forces."

Captain Butcher said that the rivalry between forces of the land, sea, and air was more intense than between units of different countries. He described a joint Fourth of July celebration in Algiers, in

PAW ORDERED ENDED

WASHINGTON, May 3 — (AP) President Truman today ordered an end to the Petroleum Administration for War, effective May 8.

He asked Secretary of the Interior Krug to take the initiative in coordinating and unifying "federal policy and administration with respect to the functions and activities relating to petroleum carried on by the various departments and agencies."

The ending of the PAW, Mr. Truman said in a letter to the interior secretary, is in keeping with the administration's program of winding up affairs of war agencies as soon as possible after their emergency responsibilities have been completed. Krug had proposed abolition of PAW.

The chief executive said that Krug now should serve, through whatever office he designates, as a communications channel between the government and the oil indus-

Chicago Business, Industry Stagger Under Power Rations

Chicago, May 3 (AP)—Chicago's business and industrial activity staggered today under the full impact of a drastic power rationing edict but the city's revelers merely lit candles and lamps and found the Eighteenth Century atmosphere a pleasant novelty.

The majority of the city's 700,000 office workers got their first taste of the severity of the coal conservation order when they reported at their office buildings this morning. Elevator service was on an emergency basis—ranging from 25 to 50 per cent of normal in most build-

NIGHT LEAD PALESTINE (ROUNDUP)

LONDON, MAY 3-(AP)-A HIGH ARAB OFFICIAL SAID IN CAIRO TONIGHT THAT SOME ARAB LEADERS HAD PROPOSED THAT THE HOLY LAND BE TRANSFORMED INTO A BATTLEGROUND WHERE ARABS FROM ALL OVER THE MIDDLE EAST WOULD FIGHT TO THE DEATH "FOR THEIR EXISTENCE."

IN PALESTINE ITSELF, WHERE THE ARABS HAD CALLED A ONE-DAY GENERAL STRIKE IN PROTEST AGAINST THE AMERICAN-BRITISH COMMITTEE REPORT, MORE THAN 1,000 ARAB YOUTHS HURLED STONES AT POLICE AND BRITISH TROOPS IN A RIOTOUS DEMONSTRATION IN THE ANCIENT OLD CITY OF JERUSALEM.

THE TROOPS, ARMED WITH TOMMYGUNS, DISPERSED THE YOUTHS AT HISTORIC DAMASCUS GATE AFTER TWO HOURS. THE YOUTHS HAD BEEN CAUTIONED BY THEIR LEADERS AGAINST TAKING ANY VIOLENT ACTION AS YET IN THE EXPLOSIVE SITUATION.

IN CAIRO, ABDEL RAHMAN AZZAM PASHA, SECRETARY-GENERAL OF THE ARAB LEAGUE, SAID SOME ARAB LEADERS HAD URGED THE EVACUATION OF WOMEN AND CHILDREN FROM PALESTINE TO NEIGHBORING STATES AS A PRECAUTIONARY MEASURE BEFORE OUTBREAK OF WARFARE, BUT HE ADDED:

"THIS IS A MEASURE OF DESPERATION, AND WE ARE NOT DESPERATE OR NEAR DESPERATION YET."

ARABS ARE CONSIDERING CALLING A GENERAL STRIKE IN EGYPT PROTESTING THE RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE BRITISH-AMERICAN INQUIRY COMMISSION REPORT. MAY 10 WAS MENTIONED AS THE DATE, BUT NO DECISION HAS BEEN REACHED.

THE EGYPTIAN GOVERNMENT, WHICH IS SEEKING EVACUATION OF ALL BRITISH TROOPS FROM THE COUNTRY, IS TRYING TO PREVENT ANY DEMONSTRATION. PENDING CURRENT NEGOTIATIONS FOR REVISION OF THE ANGLO-EGYPTIAN TREATY.

AZZAM PASHA DID NOT IDENTIFY THE AUTHORS OF THE PROPOSALS FOR TRANSFORMING PALESTINE INTO A BATTLE GROUND.

"I HOPE THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT WILL NOT ADOPT THE RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE BRITISH-AMERICAN INQUIRY COMMISSION AND PRECIPITATE A CRISIS," HE SAID.

A42

HE SAID THE ARAB LEAGUE WAS CONSIDERING CALLING A SESSION ON PALESTINE WITHIN THE NEXT 10 DAYS "BUT I EARNESTLY HOPE IT WILL NOT BE NECESSARY."

APPARENTLY REFERRING TO THE COMPLAINT OF THE ARAB HIGHER COMMITTEE IN PALESTINE YESTERDAY THAT THE INQUIRY COMMITTEE HAD ONLY SPENT A SHORT TIME IN THE HOLY LAND BEFORE MAKING ITS RECOMMENDATIONS, HE ADDED:

"IT IS EASY FOR AMERICANS WHO ARE FAR AWAY TO GIVE ADVICE, JUST AS IT WOULD BE EASY FOR ME TO SIT IN CAIRO AND ADVISE THE ARABS TO FIGHT THE BRITISH. BUT ONE MUST WEIGH THE CONSEQUENCES OF ONE'S ADVICE."

ONE GROUP OF DEPUTIES CALLED FOR A SPECIAL SESSION OF THE EGYPTIAN PARLIAMENT TO DISCUSS PALESTINE. ARABS ARE PROTESTING ESPECIALLY THE COMMITTEE RECOMMENDATION THAT 100,000 EUROPEAN JEWS BE PERMITTED TO ENTER PALESTINE IMMEDIATELY.

THE ARAB LANGUAGE NEWSPAPER AL MOKATLAM IN CAIRO SAID "AMERICA HESITATES TO SEND TROOPS TO PALESTINE FEARING THE MOVE MIGHT OPEN THE DOOR TO RUSSIAN DEMANDS THAT SHE SEND HER SHARE OF TROOPS TO PALESTINE."

THE RADIO "VOICE OF ISRAEL" SAID JEWISH RESISTANCE GROUPS WOULD "GUARANTEE PEACE" IF THE 100,000 EUROPEAN JEWS WERE ADMITTED TO PALESTINE. THE RESISTANCE GROUPS, HOWEVER, SAID THEY WOULD NOT SURRENDER THEIR ARMS, AS REQUESTED BY THE BRITISH AS A PREREQUISITE TO SUCH IMMIGRATION.

PMS BUDGET

PALESTINE (800)

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LONDON, MAY 3--THE EXPLOSIVE PROBLEM OF PALESTINE MOUNTED SWIFLY TOWARD A CRISIS TODAY AMID WARNINGS FROM ARAB LEADERS THAT THE HOLY LAND MIGHT ERUPT IN BLOODY STRIFE IF RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE BRITISH-AMERICAN INQUIRY COMMITTEE ARE ADOPTED.

MAY 1946

THE POWERFUL ARAB HIGHER COMMITTEE INJERUSALEM CALLED A ONE-DAY GENERAL STRIKE OF ARABS FOR TODAY TO PROTEST AGAINST THE INQUIRY COMMITTEE'S REPORT AND HANDED THE BRITISH HIGH COMMISSIONER "THE NEXT THING TO AN ULTIMATIUM" STATING THAT ARABS WOULD PREPARE ALL MEANS "TO RESUME THE NATIONAL STRUGGLE" UNLESS THE REPORT IS REJECTED.

THE SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE ARAB LEAGUE, ABDUL RAHMAN AZZAM PASHA, DECLARED IN CAIRO THAT HE HAD BEEN INFORMED THAT THE "ULTIMATUM" DEMANDED ABANDONMENT OF THE INQUIRY COMMITTEE'S RECOMMENDATIONS "OR ALL ARABS IN PALESTINE WILL BEGIN THEIR WAR IMMEDIATELY."

IN RESPONSE TO A QUESTION AS TO WHETHER THE MEMBERS OF THE LEAGUE--EGYPT, IRAQ, SYRIA, LEBANON, SAUDI ARABIA, TRANSJORDAN AND YEMEN--WOULD JOIN THE ARABS OF PALESTINE IN THEIR STRUGGLE AGAINST THE REPORT, WHICH INCLUDES A RECOMMENDATION FOR IMMEDIATE IMMIGRATION OF 100,000 HOMELESS EUROPEAN JEWS TO PALESTINE, AZZAM PASHA REPLIED:

"NATURALLY THEY WILL, BUT WE HAVE NOT REACHED THE STAGE OF FIGHTING YET.

"THE REPORT DOES NOT HELP BUILD ANY UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN ARABS AND JEWS," HE CONTINUED. "I BELIEVE IT IS BAD LUCK FOR JEWS, ARABS, AMERICANS AND BRITISH THAT THIS REPORT HAS NOT SUCCEEDED IN ANY WAY TO EASE THE SITUATION OR LEAD TO AN UNDERSTANDING.

"IF WE WERE LEFT ALONE WITHOUT ANY FOREIGN INTERFERENCE, THERE WOULD BE NO DIFFERENCE BETWEEN MOSLEM, JEW, ZIONIST OR CHRISTIAN X X X BUT THE RESULT OF THIS REPORT IS ENCOURAGING ZIONIST TERRORISM."

A30

IN LONDON, MANWHILE, BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN WAS REPORTED OFFICIALLY TO BE MAKING "INFORMAL INQUIRIES" AS TO WHAT AID BRITAIN MIGHT EXPECT FROM THE UNITED STATES IN ADMINISTERING THE TROUBLESOME MANDATE IN PALESTINE.

REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON HAVE PICTURED THE UNITED STATES AS UNWILLING TO UNDERTAKE ANY DIRECT INTERVENTION IN PALESTINE, BUT RATHER AS COUNTING ON THE UNITED NATIONS TO ASSUME RESPONSIBILITY.

A SPOKESMAN FOR ONE DELEGATION TO THE U.N. SECURITY COUNCIL IN NEW YORK DECLARED THAT THE PRESENT SITUATION IN PALESTINE DEFINITELY IS "A THREAT TO PEACE IN THE MIDDLE EAST," AND AS SUCH MIGHT EASILY COME BEFORE THE COUNCIL. OTHER COUNCIL SOURCES EXPRESSED DOUBT, HOWEVER, THAT ANY THREAT TO INTERNATIONAL PEACE WAS MANIFEST.

IN BAGHDAD, A JOINT SESSION OF IRAQ'S PARLIAMENT WAS CALLED UPON BY THE NEWLY-ORGANIZED NATIONAL PEOPLES DEFENSE COMMITTEE TO CONSIDER ACTIVE MEANS OF COMBATTING THE INQUIRY COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

SADIQ ALBASSAM, VICE PRESIDENT OF THE IRAQI SENATE, DECLARED THAT IF THE COMMITTEE'S RECOMMENDATIONS ARE IMPLEMENTED, ARABS CAN ONLY CONCLUDE THAT "BOTH (BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES) HAVE DECLARED A STATE OF HOSTILITIES AGAINST ARABS."

"THE ARABS THEREAFTER CAN ONLY RETALIATE," HE CONTINUED, "DECLARING THE SAME, AND UTRNING THEIR FACE TO ANY POWER THAT WOULD HELP THEM--RUSSIA OR ANOTHER."

IN ADDITION TO CALLING TODAY'' ARAB GENERAL STRIKE IN PALESTINE, THE ARAB HIGHER COMMITTEE IN JERUSALEM DESIGNATED A GROUP TO STUDY PLANS FOR A LATER CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE STRIKE AND THE POSSIBLE MOBILIZATION OF ARAB YOUTH IN PALESTINE AND ALSO CALLED ON ALL ARAB NATIONS TO HELP THEM AS THE "FIRST LINE OF DEFENSE FOR THE ARAB WORLD."

IN ITS DECLARATION HANDED TO THE SECRETARY OF HIGH COMMISSIONER LT. GEN. SIR ALAN GORDON CUNNINGHAM AND ADDRESSED TO PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE, THE HIGHER COMMITTEE SAID:

"PENDING THE DECISION OF THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT ON THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE REPORT, THE ARABS WILL PROCEED TO ORGANIZE NATIONAL FORCES AND PREPARE ALL MEANS FOR DEFENSE IN ORDER TO RESUME THE NATIONAL STRUGGLE."

A COMMITTEE OFFICIAL SAID THE WORDS "NATIONAL STRUGGLE" REFERRED TO THE VIOLENT UPRISINGS OF 1936-39, WHICH ENDED WITH A BRITISH WHITE PAPER LIMITING JEWISH IMMIGRATION.

A31

"THE ARABS," THE LETTER SAID, "WILL NOT FAIL TO TAKE A PATH LEADING TO THE EXPULSION OF THIS DANGER TO SOVEREIGNTY, LIBERTY AND INDEPENDENCE. IN VIEW OF THE ABOVE, THE HIGHER COMMITTEE PRESENTS THIS WARNING, DEMANDING REFUSAL OF THE RECOMMENDATIONS AND REALIZATION OF OUR NATIONAL DEMANDS."

THE LETTER CRITICIZED THE REPORT AS "A VIOLATION OF THE RIGHTS OF SELF-DETERMINATION, THE PLEDGES TO THE ARABS BY THE BRITISH, OF THE ATLANTIC CHARTER AND OF THE PRINCIPLES FOR WHICH THE ALLIES WAGED WAR." IT ADDED:

"THE HIGHER COMMITTEE BELIEVES THE REPORT WAS NOT THE RESULT OF A FREE AND INNOCENT EXAMINATION OF THE PROBLEM BUT THE OUTCOME OF AMERICAN AND BRITISH POLICY."

IN ADDITION, A 3,000-WORD MEMORANDUM WAS REPORTED IN PREPARATION TO "REPUDIATE AND REJECT, POINT BY POINT, THE COMMITTEE'S REPORT."

A SPOKESMAN FOR THE ARABS, WHO DECLINED TO PERMIT USE OF HIS NAME, SAID THE MEMORANDUM WOULD OBJECT TO THE REPORT BECAUSE OF ITS "MORAL AND INTELLECTUAL TONE OF CONDESCENSION, ITS COWARDLINESS AND SUPERFICIALITY AND THE FACT IT WAS WRITTEN BY A GROUP OF TOURISTS WHO STAYED IN THE COUNTRY ONLY A FEW WEEKS AND HAVE ONLY A SKINDEEP UNDERSTANDING OF THE SITUATION."

HE SAID IT WOULD DECLARE THAT:

"ZIONISTS HAVE SUCCEEDED IN KILLING THE WHITE PAPER AND SHOWED ONCE MORE THEY CAN GET WHAT THEY WANT BY EXERTING PRESSURE. ARABS TAKE NO COMFORT FROM THE STATEMENT IN THE REPORT THAT THERE WILL BE NO JEWISH STATE.

"AFTER THE HALF MILLION JEWS, WHICH THE COMMITTEE REPORT MENTIONS IN PARAGRAPH 19 OF CHAPTER TWO AS POSSIBLE EMIGRANTS FROM EUROPE, HAVE BEEN BROUGHT TO PALESTINE BY ZIONIST PRESSURE, WE HAVE NO DOUBT THAT JEWS WILL ASK FOR ANOTHER INQUIRY COMMITTEE TO STUDY THE DEMANDS FOR A PRO-JEWISH STATE."

ARABS MAY ASK AID IN MOSCOW

Delegations Plan to Ask Russians to Bring Palestine Issue Before U.N.

LONDON, May 4—(AP) Several Arab groups are reported planning to send a delegation to Moscow to ask the Russians to champion their cause in Palestine before the United Nations, an Arab league spokesman said today in Cairo.

The Arab delegation would not only ask the Russians to bring the subject of Palestine before the United Nations, but would also request the Soviet Union to "support the Arabs in Palestine against the British-American report," the spokesman said, quoting Palestine reports.

Lebanon A Tentative Place

Musa Alami, second in command of the majority Arab party in Jerusalem, refused to deny or confirm the Cairo report. Unofficial Arab sources said they did not know of any appeal to Russia to place the Palestine issue before the United Nations.

Heads of all the Arab states were said to be discussing the report of the British-American Inquiry Committee, and advices from Cairo said an extraordinary meeting of the seven states in the Arab League had been decided upon.

Lebanon was advanced as a tentative place, but no date was mentioned.

No Official Soviet Reaction

There was no official reaction from the Soviet capital on the Palestine issue, but the Moscow radio took cognizance of the situation, reporting yesterday's general strike and the Arab Higher Committee's protest to British Prime Minister Attlee.

A Reuter dispatch from Jerusalem said Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, high commissioner of Palestine, had asked the committee to withdraw its protest, which rejected the recommendations of the British-American report.

In Iraq British army authorities, taking precaution against any trouble with the Arab populace, declared the east bank of the Tigris River in Baghdad out of bounds for all British troops.

"Matter Of Life And Death"

Bitter attacks against Britain's "imperialistic aims" and demands for severance of relations with the United States were voiced in Iraq's parliamentary chambers at a meeting of the National Committee for the Defense of Palestine.

"Palestine is a matter of death or life, we must meet force in Palestine by force," one speaker said.

In London Dr. I. J. Mattauck, rabbi of the London Liberal Synagogue, a nonorthodox branch of Judaism, told a congregation that "special responsibility" is placed on the Jews in America to rally public opinion in support of the American-British report.

Will Seek Soviet Support, Arab Declares

London, May 4 (AP) — An Arab League spokesman said today that Palestine reports indicated Arab groups planned to send a delegate to Moscow to ask the Soviet Government to submit the Palestine problem to the United Nations.

The spokesman, speaking to newsmen in Cairo, added that he understood the Russians would be asked "to support the Arabs in Palestine" against the report of the British-American Inquiry Committee, which recommended immediate authorization for the immigration of 100,000 Jews.

Tension Mounting

Tension mounted in the Holy Land amid reports that the heads of all the Arab states were discussing the report and that an extraordinary meeting of the seven states in the League would be convened.

Arab youths staged a riotous demonstration against the report in Jerusalem yesterday, and a high Arab official asserted in Cairo that some Arab leaders favored a fight to the death "for their existence."

The official, Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha, secretary general of the Arab League, said some Arabs proposed that Palestine be converted into a battleground where Arabs from all over the Middle East would wage a fight for a showdown on the Jewish question.

"Not Desperate Yet"

He said these leaders had urged the evacuation of women and children from Palestine to neighboring states, as a prelude to the proclamation of war, but added:

"This is a measure of desperation, and we are not desperate or near desperation yet."

The demonstrations in Jerusalem occurred during a one-day strike called by the Arabs.

Egypt Arabs May Strike

The strike proceeded quietly at Haifa, Jaffa and Hebron. Two Jewish busses were stoned at Ramleh, near the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv.

The Arabs also are considering the calling of a general strike in Egypt to protest against the commission's recommendations. May 10 has been mentioned as the date, but no decision has been reached.

ARABS PREDICT MUFTI RETURN

Guiding Factor Role In Current Political Crisis Pictured

Jerusalem, May 4 (AP)—The return to the Middle East within a month of the exiled Grand Mufti of Jerusalem was predicted in some Arab circles today as Arab leadership solidified in opposition to the American-British inquiry committee report.

Arab leaders in Palestine, more closely unified than at any time since the early twenties, declined further comment on their plans to attempt to thwart implementation of the report, including its recommendation that 100,000 Jews be admitted to the Holy Land.

They indicated no further statements would be made or action taken until the Arab League holds a special meeting, possibly within a week.

Holy Land Is Quiet

The Holy Land was quiet on the Jewish Sabbath after yesterday's general strike by the country's 1,250,000 Arabs protesting the report. Tension seemed less than in previous days.

The possible return of Haj Amin Husseini, the Grand Mufti who was exiled from Palestine in 1937 for anti-British activity, to Syria or Lebanon was talked about freely by Arab leaders.

The Grand Mufti took refuge in Syria, then went to Iran and finally to Italy, where he reportedly engaged in pro-Axis activity with the encouragement of Mussolini. He was arrested by the French in Paris in May of last year.

Guiding Factor For Arabs

High Arab sources asserted that the Mufti's influence would be a guiding factor for the Arabs in the current political crisis.

Present leaders, including his cousin, Jamal Effendi Husseini, now number one Arab by virtue of his leadership of the Arab higher committee, insist that the Arabs are awaiting the Grand Mufti's voice.

Apparently few Arabs question his war record, which caused some British politicians to demand that he be tried as a war criminal.

"The Mufti merely agreed with Churchill," said one Arab office spokesman, "that sometimes one must team up with the devil against one's enemies."

Present Arab Leadership

The present Arab leadership in Palestine is apparently tightly held by these four men: Jamal Husseini; Musa el Alami, second in the Arab party command to Jamal Husseini; Auni Abdul Hadi, chief of the Arab Independence party; Dr. Hussein el Khalidi, chairman of the Arab Development party.

Feeling Runs High in Iraq

BAGHDAD, Iraq, May 3 (Delayed) (AP).—The east bank of the Tigris River, including the main sections of Baghdad, was declared out of bounds for all British troops today as a precaution against trouble with Arabs angered by the Anglo-American Palestine report.

Some legislators demanded severance of relations with the United States and abrogation of all treaties with Britain.

General Nuri al-Said, president of the Iraqui Senate, addressing the national committee for the defense of Palestine, urged the "cooperation of all Arab countries," and Senator Abdul Mahdi, Independence party leader, said that "we must meet force in Palestine by force."

Liberal-Conservative Alliance Proposed

London, May 4 (AP)—A Liberal-Conservative alliance aimed at overthrowing Britain's Labor party regime was proposed today.

William Mabane, chairman of the National Liberal executive committee, told a meeting of his party at Norwich:

"Such a development would . . . lead to the overthrow of the socialist government and the removal of the threat to our own way of life."

Lord Balfour, of Inchrye, complained in an address at the annual meeting of the Eastbourne Divisional Conservative Association of "suppression of political liberty" and a censorship "like that which we fought against in Germany and Italy."

Strong Britain Demanded

Montgomery Warns Peace and Security Take Time

LONDON, May 4 (AP).—Field Marshal Lord Montgomery urged tonight that Great Britain remain strong "until everything is settled satisfactorily."

In an address to his troops on the anniversary of the end of the European war, the new chief of the Imperial General Staff declared that peace and security within a world organization "take time to arrange," and said Britain must remain strong, "for in the hands of strength lie the keys of peace and of war."

Rolls-Royce Engines To Be Made In China

London, May 4 (AP)—Rolls-Royce officials announced today an agreement with the Chinese Government for the manufacture of Rolls-Royce gas turbine and jet propulsion airplane engines in China.

Chinese engineers are being trained at the Rolls-Royce plant at Derby, and British experts will be sent to China to supervise the construction of factories.

So Much In 'Love With Britain', GI's Bride Refuses To Sail

London, May 4 (AP)—A 22-year-old bride of a GI, en route to a ship bound for the United States, looked at May-blooming England today and decided she was "too much in love with my home" to leave it.

"I am sorry for my husband, but I now feel more content and happy that I have come to this decision," said Mrs. June Marsico, wife of Nick Marsico, of Elyria, Ohio.

June said she met her husband two years ago when she was working as a United States Navy typist in Liverpool. They were married last August shortly before he was returned to the United States.

Mrs. Marsico was traveling by train with twenty other GI brides to a staging area today when she decided to get off at London and return to her home in Cheshire because she could not "face up to going to America."

"I'm in a dreadful fix about clothes," she said. "Everything I own, except what I was traveling with, left Liverpool yesterday in a cargo boat. Goodness knows when I shall get them back, and I have no coupons."

Mrs. Marsico's sister, Mrs. Renee Mannetta, 25, also a GI bride, is now en route to the United States aboard the S.S. Holbrook. The two girls had asked to be allowed to travel together.

The High Cost Of Proposing: 20 Minutes At $4 Per

Cambridge, England, May 4 (AP). Joe aBrber Hepfer, of Dixon, Ill., former United States Army Airforce fighter pilot, hung on the Dixon end of a trans-Atlantic telephone call Thursday night for twenty minutes—at $4 a minute—before getting up courage to propose to a British girl, who accepted him.

Yesterday's mail brought the girl, June Agnes Elizabeth Naylor, of Saffran Walden, a diamond engagement ring.

Hepfer, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hepfer, took part in the D-day fighter support. Later he was transferred to Saffran Walden, where he met June, a 20-year-old typist.

His telephone call was preceded by a letter. But, Miss Naylor said, although he had often hinted at marriage, he had never "plucked up enough courage to ask me before. He said he was sitting at the other end of the line all alone, and it was a good thing too, for he was dripping from perspiration."

Yesterday came the engagement ring — which Hepfer had mailed more than a week ago.

No date has been set for the wedding. June wants to marry in America, but Hepfer, she said, is trying to get to Britain for her birthday, June 5.

Town Mourns War Bride

U. S. Veteran at Funeral of Wife in Nottingham, England

NOTTINGHAM, England, May 4 (AP).—The town of Nottingham grieved today with a former United States paratrooper, Joseph Cananzey, of Taunton, Mass.

Crowds lined the streets as the funeral procession for his nineteen-year-old bride, Winifred May, passed slowly from her home to St. Anne's Church, where only eighteen months ago the Cananzeys were married. Friends filled the chapel to hear the vicar express the town's sympathy. Cananzey, who flew across the Atlantic to his wife's bedside a month ago, said he would return to America by air, probably next Saturday.

BOURNEMOUTH, England, May 4 (AP).—John G. Winant, who is retiring as American Ambassador at London, left today for New York.

U.N. TO DROP IRAN CASE THIS WEEK

Withdrawal of Russian Troops to Be Completed by May 6 Deadline.

NEW YORK, May 4. — (AP) Spokesmen for several delegations to the United Nations Security council expressed belief today that the council would be in a position to drop the controversial Iranian case when it comes up again next week.

They said reports received by their governments confirmed press dispatches from Tehran that the withdrawal of Soviet troops from Iran would be completed or almost completed by the May 6 deadline.

"It looks very much as though the council would be in a position to drop the case," one spokesman said.

Under a resolution adopted by the council April 4, the delegates took note of a Russian agreement to have all Soviet troops out of Iran by May 6 and agreed to leave the case pending until that date with the understanding that Russia and Iran could be asked to report on the situation after the deadline passed.

The delegates were reported to be generally satisfied with the way the Russians have carried out their pledge and were represented as not being inclined to insist on keeping the case open even if the withdrawal were not entirely completed.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie has been asked to call the council back into session Tuesday, May 7, to take up the case, but Lie's office reported that no decision had yet been made.

Some delegations were understood to feel that it might be desirable to delay the meeting for two or three days to give the council and various governments time to receive reports on the situation as of midnight May 6.

The Soviet delegate, Andrei A. Gromyko, still has not indicated whether he would stand by his recent statement that he would not take part in any new discussions of the Iranian case.

Would Leave Spanish Issue

Solution of the Iranian case would leave only the Spanish question on the Council agenda. A subcommittee is now investigating Polish charges that the Franco regime is a threat to world peace and will report back to the Council by May 31.

There was an increasing evidence, meanwhile, that the Council might be called upon to take up the Palestine question. Although none of the delegates has yet received any instructions to take the initiative in the case, Arab League spokesmen both in Washington and Cairo indicated submission of the question to the Council was being considered.

The spokesman in Cairo said Palestine reports indicated Arab groups planned to send a delegate to Moscow to ask the Soviet Government to submit the case to the United Nations.

The Arab office in Washington said the question was under consideration and that the problem might be brought before the Council in the near future.

U.N. Is Presented Levantine Status

New York, May 4 (AP) — The United Nations Security Council had assurances from France and Britain today that the bulk of their forces in the Levantine states would be withdrawn by June 30.

Separate announcements that British and French forces had already abandoned Syria and would shortly quit Lebanon were laid before the Council as it faced a new crisis next week over the presence of Soviet troops in Iran beyond a March 2 treaty limit.

Russia now has promised to have her troops out of Iran by May 6.

Withdrawals Held Voluntary

Both France and Britain emphasized that their withdrawals were voluntary. They disclaimed any legal compulsion under the United States' motion presented in London last February, expressing confidence that the foreign troops in Syria and Lebanon would be withdrawn as soon as practicable, with the results to be reported to the Council.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, in the first report to the Council on the Levantine situation, said only a "small liquidation party" would be left in Lebanon by the British after June 30.

French Delegate Henri Bonnet said that most of the French troops would also be gone by then.

Evacuation Dates

With Lebanese Government cooperation on transport, Bonnet said, all French forces could be evacuated from Lebanon by August 31 except for 30 officers and about 300 technicians controlling transport of material. These, he added, could be removed by December 31.

Some delegations were represented as optimistic over prospects of an amicable solution of the Iranian problem on the basis of dispatches from Tehran declaring Red Army troops were leaving Iran following farewell parties.

The Council is committed to inquire into the status of Soviet withdrawals from Iran as of May 6, and presumably will ask both Tehran and Moscow for reports on Tuesday.

Belgium To Complain

The Spanish situation was enlivened by a Belgian government announcement that it would complain formally that the Franco regime refused to extradite Leon deGrelle, leader of the Rexist party, outlawed as Fascist.

Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak said "the Security Council will receive a new document, the one in which we will show that Spain keeps on her soil a traitor and a Fascist."

This source, who would not be identified, said efforts were being made to have all representatives on the commission in New York in ample time for the meeting. The United Nations secretariat has not yet officially announced the date.

Reported Mexican Choice

It was reported in informed circles that Dr. Manuel Sandoval Vallarta, professor in the Polytechnic Institute of Mexico and former professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, would serve for Mexico. A decision is expected by Monday.

Dr. Vallarta is a graduate of the National University of Mexico and is one of the nation's foremost physicists and mathematicians.

The Atomic Energy Commission grew out of a decision by the Foreign Ministers of the United States, Great Britain and Russia at their meeting in Moscow last December. They recommended to the General Assembly of the United Nations the establishment of a commission to consider problems arising from the discovery of atomic energy and related matters.

Security Council Nations

The General Assembly on January 24, unanimously approved a resolution setting up the Atomic Commission and stating its task. It was decided that the commission would be made up of those nations on the Security Council plus Canada when Canada was not a member of the Council.

Thus the commission membership will change as the Security Council membership changes, except for Canada and the five permanent members of the Council, Russia, France, China, Britain and the United States.

BIG FOUR STUDIES PLEBISCITE PLAN

Byrnes' Proposal to Settle Italian-Yugo Dispute Opposed by Reds, British.

tween boundaries projected by the Americans and Russians to settle the Italian-Yugoslav border dispute, an American source reported.

He was opposed by the Soviet and British foreign ministers, who said any plebiscite should cover the entire area claimed by both Italy and Yugoslavia. But Byrnes asked the other ministers to think over his proposal before another meeting tomorrow, it was said.

Cool to Molotov's Offer

Earlier, Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov received a cold reception on an offer to meet Italian interests "halfway" on colonial and reparations questions if the disputed city of Trieste was given to Yugoslavia, British informants said.

But on this point Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin declared "you cannot bargain away people's lives," these sources added.

The whole question of the disputed border area of Venezia Guila with its main city of Trieste, was pointed up by Yugoslav deputy Premier Edward Kardelj, who asserted Yugoslavia would take "any measures it might judge necessary" if the foreign ministers put Slovenes in that territory under Italian rule.

He told a news conference at Soviet headquarters that Yugoslavia "could never accept a big four decision giving Yugoslav peoples to another country."

Urge People Settle Question

Byrnes' proposal was to settle the difference between American and Russian suggestions for a boundary line by a plebiscite, or a vote of the people on the question.

Russia insists upon a boundary giving Trieste and most of Venezia Giulia to Yugoslavia. British and France have proposed boundaries roughly similar to the American one.

The foreign ministers argued the border question three hours this morning, and again this afternoon in a two-hour meeting. Then they scheduled a Sunday session. (10 a. m., E. S. T.).

Before making his plebiscite suggestion, Byrnes said he could accept the British line, which runs west of the American line at the tip of the Istrian peninsula, provided Yugoslavia would return to Italy the modern coal mining machinery around Alberna, informants said.

The U. S. line would give Alberna and its coal mines and the port of Pola to Italy, whereas the British line runs straight down Istria, leaving those two localities to Yugoslavia.

British sources said Bevin had objected to the whole idea of a plebiscite on the grounds it was contrary to the London decision to draw an ethnic frontier, and would reopen the whole dispute.

Big Four Discuss Italian-Slav Boundary

Paris, May 4 (AP)—The Foreign Ministers' Council heard statements on the disputed Italo-Yugoslav border from each of the four ministers in a three-hour session today, which indicated they were as far from solution of the problem as they were last September in London.

A member of the American delegation said the positions of the four ministers on the border problem was unchanged. The American said there was no sign of agreement, with Russian Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov lined up against his American, British and French colleagues.

Punishment, Molotov Says

A British source said Molotov described the border lines proposed by the other powers as punishment of Yugoslavia, a war-time ally. United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes denied this, saying that the Yugoslavs under the American, British and French proposals would obtain Fiume, 18,900 square miles of new territory and 375,000 inhabitants.

Molotov, agreeing that Trieste was ethnically Italian, was reported to have demanded that the city be turned over to Yugoslavia because it was an integral part of the surrounding countryside which, he held, was ethnically Yugoslav.

Prewar Treaties On Agenda

French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault pointed out, the British source continued, that the boundary commission had been instructed to draw their borderlines on ethnic grounds.

The Ministers spent all morning discussing the Italo-Yugoslav frontier and did not reach the other items on the agenda for today, which included demilitarization of the Franco-Italian and Italo-Yugoslav frontiers and Italy's prewar bilateral treaties.

To Examine Trade Pacts

Italy's old bilateral agreements, most of which are economic or trade pacts, are slated to be examined but the tri-partite alliance with Berlin and Tokyo, and the multi-lateral anti-comintern pact are already considered abolished.

Edward Kardelj, Yugoslav deputy premier, urged the ministers yesterday to give Trieste and virtually all of the Istrian Peninsula to Yugoslavia. This request was identical with the Russian recommendation.

Premier Alcide de Gasperi of Italy asked that Italy be allowed to retain Trieste and that the Italo-Yugoslav border be along the old "Wilson line."

Claims For Italian Ships

Meanwhile, a committee of naval experts appointed by the Ministers heard claims for Italian ships—and the total number of claims exceeded the ships which Italy has afloat. The Ministers were reported last week to have decided that Italy would be left a basic fleet, and that the remaining units would be divided among Britain, France, the United States and Russia, after awards were made to Greece and Yugoslavia.

Russia was reported opposed to a proposal, favored by the other three conferees, to establish a post-treaty inspectorate commission inside of Italy to insure her compliance with treaty terms.

The Russians also were said to be opposed to the establishment of an Allied commission to continue the detection and prosecution of war criminals after the Allied Control Commission leaves Rome.

French Vote Tomorrow

Paris, May 4 (AP)—The French people will vote tomorrow on acceptance or rejection of a proposed new constitution which would create a one-house legislature of 669 members.

Supported by Socialist parties and opposed by parties of the Right and Center, the document was drawn up by the Constituent Asembly amid political struggles which nearly wrecked the three-party Cabinet coalition of Communists, Socialists and the MRP (Popular Republican Movement).

Close Vote Expected

If the voters accept the draft, they will go to the polls again on June 2 to elect a national assembly. If they reject it, they will choose another Constituent Assembly to draw up another constitution.

The referendum was expected to be close.

Opponents claimed that anarchy would result from the unicameral feature, most striking aspect of the draft, under which a single chamber would be invested with exclusive legislative authority, the power to elect a figurehead president, a premier, the high court and most of the magistrate's council, with virtually no veto of its actions.

Proponents Foresee Stability

Its proponents, the Communists and Socialists, said this feature would make for stability of government in a nation renowned for frequently changing cabinets.

Iceland Premier Silent On Issue of U. S. Bases

In Paris, He Avoids Comment on Reported Irritation

PARIS, May 4 (AP).—Premier Olafur Thors of Iceland has declined to discuss publicly here the six-months deadlock between Reykjavik and Washington over an American bid to maintain military air-base rights in Iceland after peace treaties formally end the war.

Thors is in Paris—the site of the four-power Foreign Ministers' Conference—on what he described as a social visit.

Asked last night for comment on a declaration by the Swedish newspaper, "Stockholm Tidningen," that northern European countries were irritated at what it described as "American reluctance" to abandon Icelandic bases, Thors responded: "No. No. No. I will talk of nothing."

"Stockholm Tidningen" said it was unbelievable that the United States should seek to cling to bases against the desires of the Icelandic people, declaring: "That would forever deprive the U. S. A. of its good will in the whole north."

FUNK CLAIMS A MINOR ROLE

Reports Holding Of Nazi Titles, But No Real Authority

Nuernberg, Sunday, May 5 (AP)—The windows of many buidings, including the War Crimes Court, were shattered late last night by detonations at a captured German munitions dump, 10 miles outside the city. Planned destruction of dumps in this vicinity has been going on since last summer, but last night's explosions were heaviest yet felt.

Nuernberg, May 4 (AP)—Walther Funk declared at his war-crimes trial today that he had never had more than an "insignificant" or second-rate role in the Nazi party or state affairs, and that in Cabinet posts he had titles but no real authority.

"I always, so to speak, came up to the door, but never was allowed to enter," he said gravely.

Funk told the international military tribunal that, as press chief in the Propaganda Ministry, he took orders from "the undisputed boss," Joseph Goebbels, and that later, as Minister of Economic subordinate to Hermann

Funk said that only in war-crimes trial was he cons ed an important Nazi.

He testified he supported Hitler early in the 1930's because he was convinced that "only a strong leader and a unified people could solve Germany's crisis." He said his first impression of Hitler was "an extraordinary personality who comprehended all problems with lightning speed and studied problems in a rarified atmosphere."

"In the early years, 1933-34, Hitler let me play the piano for him, but in later years I rarely was able to see him."

Funk insisted he never was anti-Semitic. He said he had intervened to help many Jews.

Not 'Big Shot' Till Trial, Says Funk

Nuernberg, May 4 (AP)—Walter Funk, former Nazi press chief, complained somewhat wryly to the International Military Tribunal today that he had never been more than a second-rater in the Nazi Reich, and that only in the war-crimes trial was he regarded as a big shot.

Funk, who also was Economic Minister and Reischbank president, portrayed his role in the party and state affairs as "insignificant." He testified that in the Propaganda Ministry he took his orders from the "undisputed boss," Paul Joseph Goebbels, and that as Economic Minister he was subordinate to Herman Goering.

"Never Had Much"

"Then you had the title, but not real authority?" his counsel asked.

"I always, so to speak, came up to the door but never was allowed to enter," Funk replied, with a sad expression.

"However, in this trial it happened differently," he added.

Funk claimed he was "never an anti-Semite" and had intervened to help many Jews. He said he became a Hitler supporter in the early 1930's because he was convinced that "only a strong leader and a unified people could solve Germany's crisis."

"Let Him Play Piano"

He gave this first impression of Hitler: "Extraordinary personality which comprehended all problems with lightning speed and studied problems in a rarefied sphere."

"In the early years of 1933-34, Hitler let me play the piano for him," Funk recalled, "but in the later years I rarely was able to see him."

GENERAL ACTS IN VALENS CASE

Mc Narney Sends Regrets For U.P. Newsman's Ejection

Frankfurt, Germany, May 4 (AP). Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, commander of United States forces in Europe, tonight sent his personal regrets to E. G. Valens, United Press correspondent, for the newspaperman's forcible ejection yesterday from the trial of twenty Jewish displaced persons accused of stoning American military police.

In a letter to Clinton B. Conger, United Press manager for Germany, McNarney said:

"It has been brought to my attention that Mr. Evan G. Valens, of your staff, is reported to have violated a local military restriction governing the entrance of individuals int oa displaced persons' camp a Lansberg. The action taken locally was to bar this representative from the entire area controlled by the military headquarters concerned.

Ejection Noted

"I learned later that the extension of the restriction resulted in the forcible ejection of Mr. Valens from the courtroom in Kaufbeuren. Instructions from my headquarters had already been sent directing that the original extension of the restriction be withdrawn and that Mr. Valens be permitted to resume his work pending the completion of an investigation of his alleged violation in respect to the displaced-persons camp.

"When the final report on this incident is completed you will be informed of the action taken.

"Unfortunately, my instructions did not reach the military headquarters concerned in time to prevent the second action barring Mr. Valens from the courtroom. In my jurdiment, the second incident should not have occurred, and it is regretted that my instructions were delayed.

No Censorship

"I would appreciate it if you would convey to Mr. Valens my personal feelings in this matter. There has not been, nor is there now, any censorship or arbitrary restriction in respect to news media or news representatives. Problems involving local security regulations are matters entirely unrelated to our fixed policy in these matters."

Valens was picked up twice in three days by troops of the 9th Infantry Division before McNarney's order yesterday freed him from being molested until an army board of officers considers proposals for discrediting him as a correspondent.

Following receipt of McNarney's letter, Conger said that "the United Press, on the basis of all reports to date, supports Valens completely."

Schwarzkopf Ouster Asked

Moscow, May 4 (AP)—A Tass dispatch from Tehran said today that the Iranian newspaper, Rahbar, had proposed the removal of Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, former superintendent of New Jersey State police, as chief adviser of Iranian national police.

"A purge of the gendarmerie and removal of foreign advisers will help to bring about a favorable attitude on peaceful settlement of Azerbaijan," Tass quoted the paper as saying.

MILAN POLICE HOLD 12

Suspects in Mussolini Case Are Linked to Fascist Move

MILAN, Italy, May 4 (AP)—Civil Police Chief Umberto Ferrante said today that twelve persons, including one suspected of being the head of a clandestine Fascist movement, were under arrest in connection with the theft of the body of Benito Mussolini.

Signor Ferrante said none of those arrested had admitted having taken part in the actual theft, but that some had confessed having taken an active part in the organization Partito Fascista Democratic.

This organization asserted in a published letter that it had arranged the body-snatching.

Police operations in connection with the theft continued to center in Milan. Chief Ferrante said the arrests were only the first "rings of a long chain." He added he could not disclose additional details at this time without tipping off Fascists still at large.

Italian King's Plan For Trip Reported

Rome, May 4 (AP)—The newspaper Il Lavoro said today in a Naples dispatch that King Vittorio Emanuele apparently was preparing to leave Italy soon aboard the royal yacht.

The dispatch said it was reported in Naples the monarch would leave behind in a sealed envelope a document of abdication bearing today's date, which would be opened after his departure. The account added that the King was expected first to go to Algiers and that perhaps the United States would be his ultimate destination.

Royal household sources here said the report was "premature," but did not deny that the King was preparing to leave the country.

Lavoro said there had been a great movement since yesterday between the harbor, where the yacht was reported "ready to sail," and the King's villa at Posillipa, where he and the Queen have lived quietly since his "retirement" in June, 1944, and transfer of his duties to Crown Prince Umberto as lieutenant general of the realm.

Browder Enters Russia On Train for Leningrad

Finnish Police Say Ex-Red Chief Crossed Border

HELSINKI, May 4 (AP).—Finnish state police announced tonight that Earl Browder, former head of the Communist party in the United States, had left Finland en route to Russia.

The police, who began a search for Browder, following his failure to comply with regulations requiring foreigners to report to police within three days of arrival, said they established that he passed the Finnish border station of Vainikkala, which is on the main railway line to Leningrad.

Authorities said he had no Finnish visa when he arrived in this country from Stockholm on April 30.

Browder said at Stockholm that he was en route to Moscow to "study politics."

Romania War Criminals To Face Court Tomorrow

Antonescu and 17 Others To Be Tried for Lives

BUCHAREST, May 4 (AP).—The war crimes trial of Ion Antonescu, Romania's war-time pro-Nazi Premier, and seventeen accused of collaboration is expected to begin Monday.

A 60,000-word indictment charges Antonescu with declaring war on the United States and Great Britain on direct orders from the German Minister, informants said. The prosecution likely will demand the death penalty for the former Premier and his chief aides.

The defendants, under heavy guard in a Bucharest prison, were reported by those who saw them recently to look ill and unkempt, but well fed.

In all, twenty-four persons are accused as war criminals by the Romanian government, but six are reported still missing, including Horia Sima, former Iron Guard leader, who fled to Germany in 1941.

Mihailovic Is Said To Decline U.S. Aid

Belgrade, May 4 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Alexander Rankovic, Yugoslavia's Interior Minister, says that Gen. Draja Mihailovic has turned down an offer to be defended at his forthcoming treason trial by Attorney Morris Ernst, of New York.

General Rankovic showed correspondents a copy of the letter he said Mihailovic had written, in which the former Chetnik leader was quoted as saying he felt he would be able to procure defense counsel in his own country and that he had "full faith" in Yugoslav courts.

TYDINGS CITES MIHAILOVIC

Says Marshal Aided American Aviators In Yugoslavia

Washington, May 4 (AP)—Senator Tydings today said he had read, "with some regret," that Marshal Mihailovic was to be tried in Yugoslavia as a war criminal.

"It has come to my attention that he has been instrumental in aiding many American aviators who were shot down over Yugoslavia and neighboring countries to escape capture and return to their own commands," he told the Senate.

Reads Letter From Baetjer

At the same time, Senator Tydings said, he did not want to interfere in the affairs of Yugoslavia and did not know the reason for the "cleavage" between Mihailovic and Marshal Tito.

He read to the Senate a letter from Howard Baetjer, of Eccleston, Baltimore county, a fighter pilot, who said he spent a month and a half in Yugoslavia in 1944 after abandoning his plane while returning from a mission to Ploesti.

Mr. Baetjer said he spent this time among Mihailovic's chetniks "and have nothing but thanks to offer for the care I received."

Called Brave Man

Mr. Baetjer said that, regardless of the merits of the controversy between the two marshals, "it seems a pity that a brave man and a representative of a very large group of people should be sacrificed in a quarrel that is local," and added:

"On behalf of myself and all American airmen like me and because I think it is only just, I hope that this Government will use its influence to prevent this man being sacrified simply because for the moment his rival leader has the ascendency."

Sidky Bars Economic Curbs

CAIRO, May 4 (AP).—Ismail Sidky Pasha, Premier of Egypt, said tonight that "Egypt will not be tied in any economic restrictions with Great Britain" after revision of the 1936 treaty of alliance. British and Egyptian officials now are negotiating at Cairo for revision of the treaty.

Iran Reports Russ Exodus Almost Over

Tehran, May 4 (AP)—Gendarmerie officials and an Iranian general staff officer said today all Iran had been evacuated by the Red Army, but Prince Mosaffar Firouz, Propaganda Minister, reported the evacuation of Azerbaijan province was not yet complete.

Firouz said, however, that "Azerbaijan is almost completely evacuated." He added that he saw no reason why correspondents should not visit the area "after May 6," the date on which the Russians, under the terms of last month's Soviet-Iranian agreement, will have been withdrawn.

Unity Parley Continues

Firouz said no agreement had been reached thus far between Jafar Pishevari, Premier of the self-proclaimed autonomous state of Iranian Azerbaijan, and the Central Government.

He said the conversations, taking place in a village five miles outside Tehran, were continuing, but that Pishevari might have to return to his capital, Tabriz, "in connection with evacuation problems" before the negotiations were completed.

Chinese Reds Fail in Drive For Mukden

Nationalists Say Attack by 60,000 Is Repelled, Foe's Stronghold Falls

By The Associated Press

MUKDEN, May 4.—The Chinese government asserted today it had smashed a surprise "offensive" aimed at Mukden by 60,000 Chinese Communist troops who, it said, were turned back with more than 5,000 casualties.

General Tu Yu-ming, government commander in chief in Manchuria, told a press conference his forces had turned back the Communist drive and captured Penki (Penhsihu), main Communist stronghold, forty miles southeast of Mukden.

Tu said the Communists mobilized large forces around strong government positions in southern Manchuria and began an "offensive" Sunday which rolled northward for three days for an undisclosed distance.

On May 1, he added, the government launched a counter-drive and captured Penki after a savage two-day battle. He asserted that 3,000 Communists were taken prisoner there. Further details of the conflict were lacking.

[At Nanking, General George C. Marshall, special American envoy, conferred for an hour and a half with General Chou En-lai, chief Communist negotiator, in a resumption of conversations concerning a truce in Manchuria. Chou proposed that three-man truce teams be sent into hitherto dormant central China, to which the civil warfare had spread from Manchuria.

[Chou later told a press conference he considered the central China fighting more dangerous for the future of the country than that in Manchuria. Communists in Peiping alleged the government had assembled eleven armies of more than 300,000 men for a great battle on the central plain of the Hupeh and Honan Province border area.

[Chou said the Russian government had withdrawn railroad and diplomatic representatives from Manchuria because it recognized that any attempt to operate the Changchun Railroad, main north-south artery, would be futile so long as fighting was in progress.]

Mozaffar Firouz, Director of Propaganda, described the Soviet exodus from contentious Azerbaijan Province as "almost" complete.

An Iranian general staff officer declared "all Iran has been evacuated by the Red Army," and gendarmerie officials made similar statements.

Prince Firouz said "Azerbaijan is almost completely evacuated," and added that he saw no reasons why correspondents should not visit the province after Monday—the deadline set in the Soviet-Iranian agreement for the complete removal of Russian troops from the country. Russian officials have refused to give foreign correspondents permission to enter the province.

The propaganda director said also that no agreement had been reached "as yet" with Premier Jaafar Pishevari of the self-proclaimed autonomous Azerbaijan Government, but that "negotiations were continuing" with the Central Government on proposals for reuniting Azerbaijan with the central administration.

He said that Mr. Pishevari might return to the provincial capital of Tabriz "in connection with evacuation problems" before the negotiations were completed. A British airline official said a Soviet plane carrying Mr. Pishevari to Tabriz had taken off this morning but had been forced to return by bad weather.

Prince Firouz said the negotiations were being held in secrecy "through agreement of all parties." Asked about results of the conference he replied "I may have something definite to tell you tonight or tomorrow." Prince Firouz said he had asked Mr. Pishevari if he wished to receive foreign newsmen and had been told "maybe in a few days."

Chiang's Forces Claim Victory In Big Battle

[By the Associated Press]

Chinese army headquarters in Mukden said today that Government forces have routed 60,000 Communist troops in a two-day battle for Penhsihou, main Communist stronghold southeast of Mukden. It said national troops inflicted 5,000 to 7,000 casualties.

Gen. Tu Li-ming, Government commander at Mukden, said the battle began Wednesday and the occupation of Penhsihou was completed yesterday. He said the national forces had thrust northward from Liaoyang.

Russ Withdrawal Reported

Meanwhile, Gen. Chou En-lai, No. 2 Chinese Communist, reported in Nanking that the Russians had withdrawn their diplomatic and railroad representatives from Manchuria, recognizing the futility of attempting to operate the Changchun railroad jointly with China while the civil war was raging.

A Communist spokesman at American executive headquarters in Peiping reported that five American news correspondents, including Tom Masterson, of the Associated Press, were scheduled to be evacuated from Changchun tomorrow.

Bad Airfield Blamed

The spokesman said that Gen. Yeh Chien-yin, Communist commissioner, had been advised that the Changchun airport could not be put into condition to land a rescue plane earlier. The correspondents have been held in protective custody since Communists captured Changchun on April 16.

Chou today held his first press conference in Nanking. He said the withdrawal of the Russian representatives from Manchuria would "worsen relations" between the Soviets and Chinese.

"Co-Operation Wanted"

"Diplomatically, it is deplorable," he said, although the Russians had promised to try to implement their treaty with China "at another time."

"In the matter of foreign relations," Chou said, "we [National China and the Communists] are not agreed that Manchuria should be turned into an anti-Russian base, nor should there be discrimination against the United States. All we Communists want is international co-operation."

The Penhsihou Battle

Tu, reporting on the battle of Penhsihou, asserted that 3,000 Communist troops had been captured.

If his figures are accurate, the battle would be one of the largest of the undeclared Manchurian war. Tu said the engagement had "removed the Communist threat to Mukden."

Tu said the Communists had mobilized large forces aimed at interrupting rail communications in southern Manchuria and that Red leaders had announced plans for attacking Mukden.

He added that the Communists had started an offensive April 28 and that the national troops moved against them three days later. The engagement was seen as clearing the Mukden rear area of Communists and giving the Government freedom to speed up major operations northward.

Chungyuan Battle Forecast

Communist reports said the stage had been set for a large-scale battle for Chungyuan, in the central plain of the Honan-Hopeh border region. Eleven national armies totaling more than 300,000 troops were reported to be concentrated there for a "battle of annihilation" of the 70,000 Red troops under Gen. Li Hsien-nien.

Minor engagements in the Chungyuan area were reported by both sides, but Government Gen. Cheng Kai-min said there had been "no such thing as any great battle," since casualties for the area from January 10 to April 13 were only 3,300.

Chou Wants Marines Out

Chou, however, said he considered the outbreak of fighting in Central China more dangerous than that in Manchuria, adding that he would request Marshall to permit him to go with the Government and American representatives into the threatened area to prevent spread of the civil war to China proper.

Chou said without amplification that he had discussed with Marshall the withdrawal of American Marines from North China and added that he was confident that if the civil war became general the Marines would not interfere.

He asserted the Communists would not cause the spreading of the conflict.

Aim Of Red Regime Denied

He said the Communists do not wish to place Manchuria under a Red regime.

"All we want," Chou asserted, "is to see democracy instituted there, with the Communists, Kuomintang (National party) and other parties sharing it. Fears of the Kuomintang regarding Soviet domination in Manchuria are without foundation. Ideologically, the parties (Russian and Chinese Communists) are similar, but in policy actions we favor the American-style democracy and Lincoln's government of, by and for the people."

Marshall, Chou Talk Again

Marshall and Chou resumed peace negotiations in Nanking but reported no progress. They will confer later with Government General Hsu Yung-chang, Kuomintang member of the truce committee.

The Government demand that Changchun be surrendered by Red forces before peace is made still bogs down the negotiations, sources said.

The possibility that China's National Constitutional Assembly would get under way soon appeared to have gone glimmering. Shao Li-tze, secretary general of the People's Consultative (Unity) Council, set next fall as the most likely time for the Assembly meeting, a date which would conform with Communist desires that other issues be settled first.

Congress Party Denies Indian Civil War Plans

Simla, India, May 4 (AP)—The Moslem newspaper Vatan, of Bombay, published today an article saying the all-India Congress Party was organizing the people for civil war, and Congress leaders here promptly declared it a "nonsensical fabrication."

The newspaper also said it understood that Sardar Shaukat Hayat Khan, a prominent Moslem League leader in the Punjab, had called a meeting of army officers released from service and was planning to organize a force of 500,000 Moslem national guards for the Punjab.

Hoover Finds India and China In Famine Grip

Sees Australia and Iraq as Only Bright Spots in Dark World Food Scene

SEOUL, Korea, May 4 (AP).—Former President Herbert Hoover said today the only bright spots he has found in a generally dark world food picture were a few unexpected surpluses—principally in Australia and Iraq.

Telling interviewers the real trouble spots were India and China, which have famine areas, Mr. Hoover added that Korea would need some imports in May, June and July to maintain minimum diets until the next harvest, observing "It's the same old story" of inadequate supplies.

The supply of rice, Korea's staple food, will hardly last out the month, and summer harvests of wheat and millet may be short as much as 50 per cent he explained.

The former President, who is honorary chairman of President Truman's Emergency Famine Committee, listened with little comment as the governors of eight South Korean provinces and the military governors of their districts reported to him in the gilded capitol auditorium. Here he asked few questions and then commented, "It is a joy to sit with a group of men who know their subject."

One governor pointed out that the Koreans, after having been held to reduced diets of 20 per cent of their crops by the Japanese, consumed nearly all of their 1945 crops in November and December after they were liberated.

Mr. Hoover arrived by plane today from Shanghai. He planned to take off tomorrow for Tokyo, where Allied headquarters announced, he will be honored with a military review of 1st Cavalry Division troops on Monday.

Tokyo, May 4 (A. P.).—Allied headquarters announced today that Herbert Hoover, who will arrive tomorrow on his world food survey, will be honored with a military review of First Cavalry Division troops on Monday.

At the same time headquarters disclosed two more steps toward relieving the Japanese food shortage. Three shipments of wheat, totaling 24,613 long tons, will be turned over to the Japanese Government next week and 370 tons of seafoods will be imported.

TOKYO TRIAL IN RECESS

Psychiatrists to Examine Okawa Before Resumption Tomorrow

TOKYO, May 4 (AP)—The International Tribunal recessed today until Monday, when it will hear twenty-eight of Japan's former leaders plead to the Allied charges of crimes against humanity.

In the meantime psychiatrists will examine one of the defendants, Shumei Okawa, once the favorite propagandist of the militarists, who startled the court by slapping former Premier Hideki Tojo's head.

Mental Test Set For Jap Who Hit Tojo

'Stone Head' Tojo

Tokyo, May 4 (AP)—Attorney Shinichi Ohara, talking with Japanese reporters about the queer behavior of his client, Shumei Okawa, at his arraignment on war crimes charges, said:

"I don't know why Doctor Okawa slapped former Premier Tojo's head. But he used to refer to Tojo as 'stone head.'"

Tokyo, May 4 (AP)—Shumei Okawa, who gleefully slapped Hideki Tojo's gleaming bald head, today was removed from court so psychiatrists could determine if he is mentally able to defend himself against war-crimes charges.

"I must kill Tojo," the gaunt, 61-year-old Okawa said in high-pitched English as he was removed from the courtroom. "It will be for the good of my country."

He was absent when clerks completed the tedious reading of the bulky 55-count indictment accusing him, Tojo and 26 other once high-ranking Japanese of responsibility for the Pacific war.

Recessed Until Monday

Chief Justice Sir William Webb recessed the international tribunal until Monday. Then the defendants will enter their pleas—all expected to be "innocent"—unless the defense prolongs its announced challenge of the court's jurisdiction.

The justices acted promptly today to prevent Okawa from repeating yesterday's prayer pantomimes, chest exposure, thumping of Tojo's glistening olive pate, or appearing in court barefoot. It ordered that the former South Manchurian Railway official be examined by two psychiatrists, one representing the defense, the other the prosecution.

"Friend Of Chandler"

Okawa's attorney, Shinichi Ohara, said he had no objection to the arraignment proceeding in his client's absence and reading of the indictment in both Japanese and English was finished.

In an anteroom interview, Okawa was incoherent trying to explain why he wanted to kill Tojo but muttered something about having been double crossed. He fluttered from one subject to another.

Asked whether he were guilty or innocent, he replied "Me and Happy Chandler are great friends." He added that he and the American baseball commissioner were going into business together.

Okawa declared: "I am in excellent health because I take nourishment from the air—give me a cigarette!" Then he said he is using atmospheric nourishment to prepare a deadly weapon.

The one-time blatant propagandist against Caucasians in Asia was to be examined at an Army hospital by Major Daniel S. Jaffe, of Brooklyn, chief psychiatrist, and Dr. Sukeyuki Uchimura.

JAPS PLEASE MACARTHUR

Success Seen In Allied Drive To Establish Democracy

17 LANDBERG

Tokyo, Sunday, May 5 (AP)—General MacArthur, in the latest of his periodic reports on the progress of the occupation, said today he saw "encouraging signs" for success for the Allied campaign to establish democracy amid the ruins of a feudalistic Japan.

Publication of the report came scarcely 24 hours after MacArthur intervened in Japan's Cabinet crisis to prevent the appointment of an allegedly pro-Axis premier, and after he had reprimanded the outgoing Shidehara Government for its failure to disqualify the man — Ichiro Hatoyama — Liberal party leader—without waiting for the supreme commander to act.

"Epoch-Making" Proposal

"There is reason to believe," MacArthur reported, "that the Japanese are becoming more cognizant of the fundamental issues involved in the [illegible] revolution."

NIGHT

The revolution revealed itself, he said, in the proposed new Japanese constitution, which he called "epoch-making," in the recent general election—Japan's first free election in eleven years; in the new unshackled Japanese press, and in the spirit of the people themselves.

MacArthur added that although the proposed constitution drastically curtailed the authority of the emperor "the Japanese seem to accept the new constitutional limitations imposed on their ruler."

Support For Constitution

He termed the clause renouncing war as a sovereign right of the nation the "foremost provision" of the new constitution, and said it had met wide approval.

MacArthur noted that there were some who questioned whether Japan was ready for rapid democratization after centuries of regimentation and control. The Japanese press, ofr instance, he said, had expressed concern over the gap between "enlightened provisions" and the level of political education of the masses.

He added, however, that the newspapers almost solidly backed the new constitution and urged their readers to study and discuss its terms to learn the mechanics of democracy.

Editorials Praised

The newspapers were improving in their treatment of news, he said, and were showing increasingly the "characteristics of a free and democratic press." He added:

"Editorials are becoming more soundly based, both sides of controversial issues are presented, and reporting is showing greatly reponibility. The mixing of editorial and news material has diminished."

MacArthur said the general election was noteworthy for the interest shown by women voting for the first time in Japan's history, for the democratic manner of the balloting, and for the campaigning of small new political groups which sprang up after the surrender.

Agrarian Reform Mentioned

He noted, however, that while most of these new parties condemned the old regime, their slogans were "almost identical with those used by the totalitarians to destroy the parliamentary system during the 1930's."

Among evidences of economic progress, MacArthur listed the Government's program for agrarian reform, the resumption of silk exports to the United States, and the reinstatement of legal prewar standards of labor protection.

Cut-rate convict labor in private industry has been eliminated, he said, the Government has relaxed loan regulations for smaller businesses, crime is decreasing and relations between occupation forces and the people remain good.

Hatoyama Barred From Public Office

K. BRINGS

Tokyo, May 4 (AP)—General MacArthur today disqualified Ichiro Hatoyama, one-time Fascist propagandist, from ever holding public office in Japan and thus further confused the country's turbulent postelection problems.

MacArthur, obviously tired of the fruitless, two-week political deadlock, also gave the Government of resigned but still acting Premier Shidehara a verbal spanking for dereliction of duty.

Had Notified The Emperor

It was learned tonight that before MacArthur's action, Shidehara unofficially had notified Emperor Hirohito that his resigned Cabinet had decided to offer the Premiership to Hatoyama.

DAY

It was a [illegible]-shoulder-shrugging gesture because the Premier, as well as other official Japanese, were well aware that Hatoyama's disqualification was imminent. But they had failed to convince the Liberal party leader to bow out gracefully.

Japanese reaction to MacArthur's Hatoyama purge ranged from open confusion among the Liberals to a new Communist demand for another election.

New Approach Necessary

Party leaders must begin anew their attempts to formulate a working agreement as the basis for forming a new Cabinet—urgently needed in view of the shortness of time before the convocation of the next Diet session in mid-May.

Foreign Minister Shigeru Yoshida appears to be the most prominent compromise possibility but is described as "extremely reluctant" to take the premiership.

Whoever is chosen, most Japanese expect the new cabinet to be short lived. It faces problems which cannot be solved quickly and thus would incur public dissatisfaction, as did Shidehara's government.

Japanese to Eradicate 'Labor Boss' System

Allies to Help Take Profit Out of Exploitation

TOKYO, May 4 (AP).—The Japanese government has decided the "labor boss" system must go, and the labor advisory committee of supreme Allied headquarters has suggested a program for eliminating this type of labor exploitation by taking the profit out of it.

The committee said today that the boss system was so deeply intrenched in Japan that it could not be tackled effectively by merely outlawing it. The Japanese labor boss, committee members said, "combines the functions of an employment agent, foreman, paternalistic group leader and racketeer," and exploits the ignorance of Japanese workmen regarding labor markets.

They added: "Not only does the super-boss contract for all work received and dispense all funds and decide who shall work, but he also dominates his workers politically, exercising virtually complete choice of their election candidates.

"Besides controlling the wages of his group, the super-boss controls their rations, lends them money at his own interest rates, and takes a cut of all their earnings."

Hirtohito Steeds Haul Bride

TOKYO, May 4 (AP).—Lieutenant William M. Ross, of the 7th Calvery (mechanized) and Lieutenant Helen J. Brown, Army nurse, were married today and honored with the traditional mounted wedding procession on steeds borrowed from the stables formerly owned by Emperor Hirohito. The couple rode in a carriage drawn by white horses with cavalry Sergeant John Kriz, of Seymour, Conn., as driver.

Japs Given Message Task

Tokyo, May 4 (AP)—Allied headquarters today directed the Japanese Government to handle official messages for representatives of the sixteen Allied nations stationed in Japan. The radio-telegraph service heretofore had been restricted to press and senders composition messages.

72 Japs Missing in Blasts.

Tokyo, May 4 (A. P.).—The Jiji news agency said today that at least seventy-two Japanese are known to be missing after a series of heavy explosions at a former Japanese Army ordnance depot at Sone, northern Kyushu.

Sasebo Prison Camp Chief To Be Hanged

Yokohama, May 4 (AP)—Lieut. Ikegami, former commander of the Sasebo prison camp, was sentenced today by an 8th Army tribunal to be hanged for atrocities against American prisoners.

Ikegami, in his final plea, asserted that he had done his best for the prisoners and as a result had been "severely criticized" by the Japanese military police.

Base Maintenance Hindered, Ike Says

Manila, May 4 (AP)——The speed of demobilization has seriously handicapped the maintenance of vital United States military bases in the Pacific, General Eisenhower said today.

"At Honolulu, for instance, the entire 7th Air Force is down to a strength of only 404 men. The same general conditions apply elsewhere in the Pacific."

Asked about general plans for distribution of American peacetime forces in the Pacific, the chief of staff said he could not say how many divisions would be required as a minimum force "but I will say that history proves that we can never afford to weaker ourselves."

Hopes For Air Bases

Military strength in the Philippines, he said, will depend on political agreements between the United States and the Philippine Republic but he hopes that arrangements for airbases can be made.

He said the only city in Europe in which damage was as general as that he saw in Manila was Warsaw, which the enemy attempted to raze as it was driven out.

BEATINGS CHARGED TO FILIPINO M. P.'S

Manila, May 4 (A. P.).—Military policemen seeking information about a slaying beat 100 villagers, two so severely they died, resigned Provincial Gov. Mariano Santo Romano said today.

Santo Romano, protesting the action to Defense Minister Montelibano, said the police entered Bongabong village seeking information about the slaying of Capt. Abad, who was ambushed on April 28.

Mayor Godofredo Payawal of Bongabong said that several school teachers were among the persons beaten.

The deaths raised to thirty three the casualties reported in the continuing disorders which have flared in central Luzon since the Philippines election. Another source said yesterday that 650 Hukbalahap guerrillas and sixty-five Filipino M. P.'s have bee killed since September.

Mateo del Castillo, president of the National Peasants Union, also protested to the Government on "barbarous abuses by military police" in raids against villagers in the Lapaz and Paniqui districts of Tarlac Province.

Isabello Castaneda today was appointed Governor of Nueva Ecija to succeed Santo Romano.

U. S. Reported Offering Status To Exiled Poles

Senator Taylor Says Byrnes Suggests Foreign Legion of Anti-Warsaw Soldiers

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP).—Senator Glen H. Taylor, Democrat, of Idaho, said today Secretary of State James F. Byrnes has proposed that stranded Polish soldiers be given American citizenship or be formed into "some sort of foreign legion."

Mr. Taylor, in a Senate speech, said Mr. Byrnes made the suggestion at a closed meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Mr. Taylor asked the committee to "report to this body a full text of Mr. Byrnes's remarks."

He asserted he also intended to ask the State Department to "fully explain" a visit to this country by General Tadeusz Komorowski (Bor), leader of the Polish uprising during the final siege of Warsaw.

General Komorowski is scheduled to talk at Chicago tomorrow on the occasion of Polish Constitution Day, Senator Taylor said, and added: "We will have as our guest Sunday the head of an Army without a country, floating loose like a mine in the international sea.

"Our Department of State appears to be contemplating transporting this man's troops to the Western Hemisphere. Our Department of State has proposed to the governing committee of this body on foreign affairs that me might give these troops American citizenship or constitute them into some sort of foreign legion.

"Such a legion would be something new in the political and military life of the United States and I, for one, think the American people ought to know about it."

Senator Taylor said the British government has refused to deal with General Komorowski "in any discussions of the Polish troops." The Idaho Senator also asserted there was no evidence that the Polish government had been consulted "in these schemes to distribute its citizens round the world and to constitute them as foreign legions."

Senator Taylor said it had been reported to him that the State Department dispatched notes to the other governments of the Western Hemisphere "to inquire whether these governments would be willing to take portions to these Polish troops."

Numbers of the Polish soldiers who fought on the side of the Allies have not returned to their homeland under the Warsaw government. There are groups in Italy, Great Britain and Germany.

U. S. Confirms Request To End Buying Missions

Moves to Get Allied Trade Back Into Private Channels

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP).—The United States has asked fifteen foreign governments, including all the war-time Allies, to disband their purchasing missions in this country as soon as possible in a sweeping move to get trade out of state hands and into private channels.

The State Department, announcing this action today, said that among the governments asked to wind up their missions are Britain, Russia and France.

The department also declared the policy that so long as official agencies continue to engage in would trade "such state trading agencies should conduct their trade in accordance with usual commercial considerations."

This policy is expected to provide one of the major issues in proposed Russian loan talks. The United States is expected to seek a Soviet commitment that its state trading agencies will never use their power for political ends, but only for normal economic purposes.

The only justification recognized by the State Department in its announcement for any delay in getitng rid of the purchasing missions here is "that during the transition period the continuance of governmental participation in trade may be required to bring about the prompt reconversion of the economies of the world, stability of prices, and equitable distribution of available supplies."

The governments which have been asked to disband their missions, in addition to Britain, Russia and France are Australia, Belgium, China, Greece, India, Italy, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Poland, Portugal and Union of South Africa.

Surplus Equipment Going To Austria

Washington, May 4 (AP)—The United States today assured the Austrian Government of $10,000,000 in surplus equipment.

The action came swiftly after UNRRA Director General LaGuardia reported Austria's food situation at a "starvation level," with individuals getting only 907 calories daily—or a scant 100 more than the Nazis fed famished inmates of the notrious Belsen concentration camp.

Government officials said the American articles consisted mainly of trucks, transportation stocks, road building and some agricultural equipment.

In disclosing the credit, the State Department stressed last night that it was intended to implement the joint American, British and Russian pledge of November, 1943, that the Big Three would open the way for the Austrian people "to find economic security."

Under the agreement, Austria would be charged 2¾ per cent annually and would have 30 years to repay.

In detailing what he called "horrible" food conditions in Austria, LaGuardia yesterday announced that seven shiploads of food were being dispatched immediately from North and South American ports.

Swiss Offer Allies Part of Nazi Gold

Washington, May 4 (A. P.).—Reliable officials said today that Switzerland has offered to turn over to the Allies about $60,000,000 in gold transferred to it by Nazi Germany.

The Swiss propose giving up about 40 per cent of a total of about $150,000,000 in such gold in an effort to speed settlement of negotiations with the Allies on German assets within its borders.

CALLS FOR SENATE VOTE TO LIMIT LOAN DEBATE

WASHINGTON, May 4—(AP) Senator Ball (R-Minn) filed in the Senate today a cloture petition calling for a Senate vote at 1 p.m. (EST) Tuesday on the question of limiting further debate on the $3,750,000,000 British loan.

The petition, bearing 21 names, was filed after Democratic Leader Barkley made three unsuccessful attempts to get opponents of the measure to agree to curb discussion and to vote at a specific time.

Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo), who opposes the loan, objected to each proposal made by Barkley.

Ball filed his petition minus the name of Senator Cordon (R-Ore), originally listed as a signer. Cordon explained that he did not wish to limit debate on an expected point of order by Johnson.

Johnson contends that the pending legislation is a revenue measure which cannot be acted upon by the Senate before the House considers it.

Special Senate Loan Session Being Held

Washington, May 4 (AP)—Putting on pressure to speed a showdown on the British loan, the Administration today summoned the Senate for an unusual Saturday session, with a formal move to curtail further debate promised.

The move to cut down the talk after three weeks of it originated not with the Administration but with two Republican Senators, Ball (Minnesota) and Smith (New Jersey), both advocates of the $3,750,000,000 credit for Britain.

Cloture Petition

Within an hour yesterday afternoon they accumulated 22 signatures to their petition for "cloture," a seldom-invoked Senate rule limiting debate to one hour per member. Only sixteen signatures were necessary to force a vote on the petition. They planned to file it today and bring it to a vote Tuesday. It requires a two-thirds majority to prevail.

Ball and Smith started circulating their petition after two roll calls to establish a quorum had consumed nearly an hour. Ball said these smacked of "filibuster tactics" and he thought the Senate ought to start voting. Majority Leader Barkley (Ky.) said the same thing.

"Absentees' Responsibility"

Barkley also demanded the session today, although the senators on Saturdays usually take time out from committee and floor work to attend to their mail and other office duties. When Senator McFarland (D., Ariz.) protested against meeting today because many members were away from the Capital, Barkley told him: "If they are not here, it is their responsibility."

Barkley declared the British loan is "the key to the international relations of the United States."

Brewster Urging Big 3 Air Pact

Washington, May 3 (AP)—Senator Brewster (R., Maine) today advocated an American-British-Russian agreement on world commercial aviation as "one of the principal keys to peace."

Brewster said he considers it imperative that the State Department act at once to bring the Big Three together for an agreement subject to approval by the War Department and Congress.

The proposal calls for 3,000 pilots, 3,800 non-rated officers and 40,000 enlisted men in eighty-four squadrons at seventy-nine air bases in forty-eight States.

There would be seventy-two fighter and twelve light bombardment squadrons, aside from miscellaneous units. Equipment would include about 1,000 Mustang fighters, 800 Thunderbolts and 196 Invaders.

The Air Force National Guard would be ready for immediate combat. Officers and men would be paid one day's pay a week for attendance at drill, and pay and allowances for time spent in schools, summer camps and maneuvers. The air reserve program contemplates the training of some 50,000 officers and 120,000 enlisted men at 130 bases, with pay for fifteen days' intensive training annually.

Air Guard Units Proposed

Stratemeyer Reveals Plan for Reserve Force Also to Augment Regulars.

Washington, May 4 (A. P.).—The creation of an Air Force National Guard and an Air Force Reserve of 216,800 men was proposed today by the Army Air Forces to augment the nation's regular aerial defenses.

Lieut.-Gen. G. E. Stratemeyer told the National Guard Association that the A. A. F. plan calls for twenty-seven Air Force National Guard groups, equipped with 2,664 planes and thirty-four Air Force Reserve groups.

Stratemeyer is commanding general of the newly organized A. A. F. Air Defense Command with headquarters at Mitchel Field, N. Y. He said the National Guard-Reserve plans were which will head off the kind of economic rivalry he said may lead to future conflict.

Gives An Example

As an example of what he has in mind, Brewster said that the United States is especially interested in establishing and maintaining airways to South America, while Britain has critical interests in the Mediterranean and Russia is primarily interested in the Balkans and parts of the Middle East.

The Senate Commerce Committee yesterday called on the State Department for a full explanation of the progress of international air negotiations and for a statement of its overall aviation policy.

Brewster said he hoped this would point the way to American-British-Russian co-operation and not to the sort of competition represented in an exclusive contract signed by Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., with Linee Aeree Italiane.

Has Assailed Contract

He has criticized that contract on the ground that neither Britain nor Russia was consulted or given an opportunity to share in it.

He expressed the opinion that Russia will be "seriously concerned" over this method of dealing with a defeated enemy.

"If we get involved in rivalries of this sort, we don't know where it will end," he declared. "I think we ought to have an agreement so that the major Allies will not cross each other up and so there will be no suspicion that Britain and the United States are ganging up on Russia."

Cites British Protests

Another member of the Commerce Committee said it was his understanding that the TWA-Italian contract had been brought up informally at the Paris meeting of Foreign Ministers.

Because of British protests, this senator said it is likely the State Department may ask that the contract be changed to give the British half an interest in the 40 per cent share TWA would hold in the internal Italian line.

5-POINT DEFENSE PLAN SET BY GOV. MARTIN

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—Calling for a strong national defense, Gov. Edward Martin of Pennsylvania said today that Russia seemed to be planning "for a great army, and Great Britain for its largest peacetime force."

"We hope that they are for peace and will be aligned with us," Mr. Martin, a former commander of Pennsylvania's Twenty-eighth Division, told a meeting of State Adjutants General. He also had served as Adjutant General.

The Governor proposed this plan for national defense:

"The best trained Regular Army and Navy in the world."

A National Guard of "selected citizens, organized into units, with their training supervised by the best officers of the Regular Army."

"A great reserve corps" of citizens "willing to give some time to military training," backed up by training opportunity for officers in colleges, industry and technical schools.

"A system of selective training" which would have every young man "serve in the Regular Army for a certain period, or in the National Guard for a longer period, or in the reserve, or in certain industries and schools."

Inclusion of industry in the security plan and the maintenance of stocks of "the jigs, molds, dies, lathes and other special tools" required for military supplies.

"It is impossible to consider the size of the Regular Army or the power of the Navy" until the United States' position in the United Nations is determined," the Governor asserted.

Bowles Sees U.S. For Rationing if It Is Necessary

But Finds No Immediate Need for Step; Hints at 'Tougher' Relief Action

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP).—Chester Bowles, citing the possibility of "some tougher" famine relief measures, said today he knows America will accept restoration of food rationing if it becomes necessary.

"At the moment," the Economic Stabilizer said in a radio address over the American Broadcasting network, "I don't see any immediate necessity for that.

"We are a rich country—rich in just about every kind of food. And there should be enough for all of us to go on eating well, and still do our food share for others.

"But if we should have to go back to some sort of food rationing, I know the American people would accept that."

Mr. Bowles thus echoed views expressed by President Truman. The President told his news conference this week that he didn't believe rationing could be reinstituted fast enough to do any good at this time.

But he added that he would not hesitate to order it if there should be disastrous crop failures.

Aids of Mr. Bowles as well as Office of Price Administration and Agriculture Department officials said that thus far there has been no actual planning of any rationing program, nor any discussion whether preparations should be made for printing ration books.

Except for rationing, Mr. Bowles did not elaborate on what tougher measures might have to be taken.

However, government officials who withheld use of their names said these might include the requisitioning of grain for shipment abroad, a cut in hog price ceilings to discourage feeding to heavier weights, and efforts to tighten up voluntary food conservation.

In his radio talk, Mr. Bowles suggested to housewives that instead of buying a loaf of bread each day, they buy one every two days. He also urged that they buy less fats and oils.

Mr. Bowles said that as shipment of wheat abroad increases, there will be less feed for livestock "and that may mean less meat for all of us later on."

Mr. Bowles said he had heard people say that the food crisis is a temporary one and that it will clear up as soon as Europe and Asia begin to harvest their crops.

"I believe," he said, "that this is a very short-sighted and altogether too optimistic view.

"To imagine everything will be all right once harvest time is here is the sheerest kind of folly."

Farm Body Asks Labor Help Get Anderson Out

Washington, May 4 (AP)—The tumult over continued price controls on meat increased today as the National Farmers Union called on organized labor to join in a drive for the ouster of Secretary of Agriculture Anderson.

President Truman's emphatic declaration that the Administration still stands for price controls on meat and live stock apparently had no dampening effect.

The Farmers Union claimed that Anderson had encouraged a "tremendous campaign" against meat-price controls, and said further that he was "principally responsible" for the country's present food shortages.

Views Of Anderson's Stand

Mr. Truman said Anderson saw eye-to-eye with him on the need for continued controls, but some congressmen declared the Agriculture Secretary had given them the impression he favored removing meat ceilings if the black-market situation did not clear up in 90 days.

Representatives of the farm organization said they are seeking to have Phillip Murray of the CIO and William Green of the AFL join with James A. Patton, the Farmers Union president, in urging Mr. Truman to replace Anderson with "someone more sympathetic with the policies" of the Administration.

Letter Sent Truman

The union has already made public a letter Patton sent to the President holding Anderson "principally responsible for the failure of the United States to produce enough and procure enough food to fulfill its responsibilities abroad."

Mr. Truman's statement that "price controls on livestock and meat will be firmly maintained" was issued yesterday. Its announced purpose was to clear up "a series of unfortunate misinterpretations" of Anderson's congressional testimony and the President's discussion of it.

The Disputed Statements

Anderson, appearing before the Senate Banking Committee on Wednesday, was asked by Senator Barkley (D., Ky.) whether the cure for black markets in meat "is to take off all controls and ceilings."

The Secretary replied that "if with the slaughter controls and with the increased force that OPA is now putting on this we are not able to direct these cattle into decent channels, then the only remedy is abandonment of these controls."

Mr. Truman was asked at his news conference Thursday whether he agreed with Anderson that "controls on meat" should be taken off if the black market were not broken. The President replied that if it is necessary to do that, we will do it.

Talking Of "Slaughter"

The White House statement said that confusion over the Administration's attitude "has apparently arisen from misunderstanding of the term 'meat controls' as it was used at the President's conference and at the Senate hearing.

"Both the President and Secretary Anderson," the statement explained, "took the term to mean, not price controls but rather the slaughter controls" that were instituted April 28 in an effort to force more meat animals to the pens of legitimate slaughterers.

The presidential statement said there is "every reason to believe that the slaughter-control program" will be effective. It added, however, that if it was not, "additional measures will be used to whatever extent seems necessary."

GRAIN BONUS HELD STUPID

Senator Butler Predicts 'Wholesale Slaughtering'

Washington, May 4 (AP)—Senator Butler (R., Neb.) accused the Administration today of "plain, dumb, swivel-chair stupidity" for paying a bonus of 30 cents a bushel on wheat and corn for export while livestock and poultry producers are unable, he said, to buy feed.

The bonus was instituted to move grain off the farms for shipment to the hungry abroad.

"Private Black Market"

Butler declared the lack of feed would force the "wholesale slaughter" of pigs, chicks, calves and lambs.

"This is no way to restore a starving world," he commented in a statement.

Butler, a farmer and rancher, said that since only the Government can legally pay the bonus, it has created "its own private black market in corn and wheat." Grain farmers, he said, face the decision whether to sell their corn for $1.50 a bushel to the Government or for $1.20 to a neighboring stockman.

To Press Resolution

Butler said he is determined to press his resolution, now before the Banking Committee, to permit the private sale of wheat and corn at the same prices the Government is paying.

Meanwhile, the administrative board of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, closing a meeting here, issued an appeal for contributions in a campaign for food for the children of Europe and the Far East, beginning on Mother's Day, May 12.

Declaring that "relief of hunger is indeed the pressing need of the moment," the bishops and archbishops who make up the board said in a statement that they "earnestly urge our fellow Americans to heed the plea of our Government to release their reserve stores of wheat that the hungry may eat."

DIMES ON FOOD NAVY JUNKED

Norblad Finds Nothing Wrong With Much Discarded

Washington, May 4 (AP)—Representative Norblad (R., Ore) ate a luncheon in the House restaurant today of food which he said the Navy had classed as "garbage."

His meal consisted of canned meat, cranberry sauce and lemon juice which he said were from stores he reported the Navy had thrown away in "large quantities" on an Astoria (Ore.) dump yard.

"There's nothing wrong with this food," the legislator told onlookers. "It smells good, tastes fine and is perfectly all right."

He added that several Astoria friends of his had eaten similar items without any ill effects.

Tells Of Dysentery

A Navy official said the food had been thrown away because dysentery cases developed after use of some of the canned goods by personnel at the Astoria Naval Station.

This source, who asked not to be named, added that the food had been condemned my medical authorities.

Norblad told newsmen he believes the reports of dysentery cases "are untrue."

Never Heard Of It

He said, "I never heard of anyone there getting dysentery from the dumped food, and it looks to me like the Navy is just trying to get out from under a bad situation."

Norblad offered to share his meal with several congressmen and newspaper men—but he got no takers.

Norblad said the meat tasted just the same as the rations he received while serving in the Army Air Corps in Europe.

"It's completely ridiculous to have all this food thrown away, particularly when many people throughout the world are starving," Norblad commented.

Some In Case Lots

He said canned foods of other kinds, some in case lots, were placed on the dump yard by the Navy.

In addition, he asserted that cans of paint, paint brushes, rope and many similar items were found there by Astoria residents.

"Some individuals even did a brisk business in selling these supposedly spoiled goods to restaurants in Astoria," Norblad declared.

He said he would turn over the information he has to a House Naval Affairs subcommittee named to investigate.

Veterans Hold Big City Rallies To Save O. P. A.

A.V.C. Demonstrations Are Joined by Civic, Women's and Labor Organizations

By The Associated Press

The American Veterans Committee reported demonstrations throughout the country by 370 of its 450 chapters, along with other organizations, yesterday on what it proclaimed as "Save O. P. A. Day."

Six effigies were hanged from lampposts in Los Angeles and Hollywood with placards reading: "This Congressman committed political suicide. He voted against price control, sez A. V. C."

In Omaha fifteen labor and women's groups joined with veterans in holding a day-long meeting which they called an anti-inflation conference. They prepared petitions to Nebraska's Republican Senators, Kenneth S. Wherry and Hugh Butler, urging the retention of a strong O. P. A.

A "fight inflation" committee composed of representatives of forty-five civic and labor organizations has been circulating petitions in St. Louis for several days. Leaders said they had obtained more than 45,000 signatures to petitions urging the extension of O. P. A. controls.

The A. V. C. sponsored a petition campaign at the Georgia Institute of Technology, Atlanta, and said more than 2,500 signatures were obtained.

An outdoor play called "Life Without Further O. P. A.," lampooning O. P. A.'s enemies in Congress, was planned in Washington but rain caused it to be postponed for a week.

A planned A. V. C. rally at Milwaukee City Hall was called off because rain washed out signs and short circuited sound-truck equipment.

At Wichita, Kan., the Industrial Union Council of the Congress of Industrial Organizations called for the sending of letters and telegrams to Senators Arthur Capper and Clyde M. Reed and Representative Edward H. Rees, of Kansas, urging retention of O. P. A.

The question of extending price controls beyond the scheduled expiration date of June 30 is now before Congress. The House has voted an extension of nine months with amendments drastically reducing O. P. A.'s controls. The Senate Banking Committee is considering the question.

Bill on Housing Still Is Tied Up

In Conference

Fight Over Subsidies Will Be Referred to House as Legislators Disagree

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP).—House and Senate conferees failed to agree today on a key provision of the Administration's housing bill—authority for $600,000,000 in subsidy payments to spur the production of scarce building materials.

The Senators offered to lower the subsidy figure to $400,000,000, but this was not acceptable to the House members. Representative Brent Spence, Democrat, of Kentucky, said the issue would have to be laid before the House—probably Thursday—before the conference could be resumed. The Senate voted the subsidies, but the House defeated them.

President Truman has called the subsidy provision the heart of the Administration's housing program, designed to produce 2,700,000 new homes by the end of next year.

The conferees got together on another section, agreeing to guarantee a market for 200,000 pre-fabricated dwelling units. The guaranty would protect manufacturers up to 90 per cent of the price.

The bill provides for continuation of the government's priorities and allocation power in channeling scarce building materials to home construction; preference for veterans in the purchase or rental of new dwellings and a $1,000,000,000 increase in government authority to insure mortgages on new homes.

The National Association of Real Estate Boards reported meanwhile that existing houses are selling for less than it would cost to replace them at present construction costs.

Its semi-annual survey of real estate market conditions in 276 cities, it said in a statement, disclosed this current situation:

"Sales prices have advanced 50 per cent, or a little over 8 per cent a year, since 1940, but are 8 per cent below reproduction cost. These are median figures for all the 276 cities.

"Lack of materials and uncertainty and fear of further government interference are delaying home building, with the result that price presures on existing houses have not abated.

"Prices for residential property are expected to advance further during the coming year in 92 per cent of cities."

Atoms Conversion Into Power Charted

Experiment To Be Conducted at Oak Ridge Plant

CHICAGO, May 4 (AP).—The world's first atomic pile designed specifically to produce power by generating high temperatures has reached the blue-print stage, the University of Chicago announced today.

The atomic pile, which was designed at the university's metallurgical laboratory, will be constructed at Oak Ridge, Tenn., one of the two huge plants built for production of the atomic bomb. Major General Leslie R. Groves, who directed production of the atomic bomb, disclosed recently that $2,500,000 would be spent on the power production experiment at Oak Ridge.

Dr. Farrington Daniels, director of the metallurgical laboratory and one of the designers of the experimental pile, said that at present the cost of producing atomic energy would not enable it to compete economically with coal but that new developments might change the picture.

"It is for outlying regions where transportation is difficult and for locations where neither coal nor water power is easily available that atomic power plants will probably find their first use," he said.

Composition, shape or other details of the atomic pile were not disclosed but experimental piles which led to production of the atomic bombs were made of uranium and graphite, and heat was generated when a controlled chain reaction was maintained. Heat, however, was an unwelcome by-product of the original piles.

Admiral And General Given University Posts

Philadelphia, May 4 (AP)—An admiral and a general today were named vice presidents of Temple University.

Twenty-four hours after retiring as commandant of the 4th Naval District, Rear Admiral Milo F. Draemel accepted leadership of the university planning commission, effective August 1.

Brig. Gen. David N. Hauseman, former director of the Army's readjustment division, becomes administrative vice president on June 1. He is 51, a native of Pottstown, Pa., and at one time was chief of the Philadelphia ordnance district.

Dr. Robert L. Johnson, Temple president, said military records of the two "are replete with outstanding contributions in the cause of public service," adding "too, they are vitally interested in young men and women and are entirely in accord with Temple's educational philosophy."

Taylor to Resume Post at Vatican

Washington, May 4 (A. P.).—Myron C. Taylor will continue to represent the White House at the Vatican.

President Truman announced yesterday that the financier and industrialist, sent to Rome by President Roosevelt, had agreed to return soon to the Holy City. He will retain the rank of ambassador.

The White House statement dispelled reports that Taylor planned to resign.

He said he would stay at his Beverly Hills home until the scheduled arrival Monday of the eighteen members of the mission. The group plans to depart Monday night for Tokyo to confer with General Douglas MacArthur.

NIGHT LEAD FRENCH ELECTIONS

BY ROBERT C. WILSON

PARIS,MAY 4-(AP)-ONE OF THE CLOSEST VOTES IN FRENCH HISTORY IS EXPECTED N TOMORROW'S EMPIRE-WIDE BALLOTING ON A NEW CONSTITUTION FOR THE FOURTH REPUBLIC, SUPPORTED BY LEFTWING PARTIES.

THE CHARTER PROVIDES FOR THE CONCENTRATION OF GOVERNMENT POWER--LEGISLATIVE, EXECUTIVE AND JUDICIAL--IN A SINGLE CHAMBER NATIONAL ASSEMBLY. IT WOULD ABOLISH THE SENATE OF THE THIRD REPUBLIC.

COMMUNIST LEADER MAURICE THOREZ SAID HE ANTICIPATED A MAJORITY OF 58 PERCENT FOR THE NEW DOCUMENT, WHICH WOULD BE FRANCE'S 14TH CONSTITUTION SINCE 1791.

A RECENT COMMERCIAL POLL PREDICTED ITS PASSAGE BY 54 PERCENT OF THE VOTE, WITH 21 PERCENT OF THE 24,000,000 REGISTERED VOTERS ABSTAINING.

THE OPPOSING PARTIES, SPEARHEADED BY THE POPULAR REPUBLICAN MOVEMENT (MRP) AND MOST RIGHTIST GROUPS, HAVE NOT ADVANCED CLAIMS THAT THE DOCUMENT WILL BE TURNED DOWN BY THE VOTERS, WHO WILL BE ASKED A SIMPLE "YES OR NO" QUESTION:

"DO YOU APPROVE THE CONSTITUTION ADOPTED BY THE CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY?"

ACCEPTANCE OF THE CHARTER WOULD BE FOLLOWED BY SELECTION OF REGULAR DEPUTIES IN GENERAL ELECTIONS ON JUNE 2. IF IT IS REJECTED THE JUNE VOTING WILL BE FOR A NEW INTERIM ASSEMBLY TO WRITE A NEW CONSTITUTION.

MAY 5 1946

THE MAIN HOPE OF THE CHARTER'S OPPONENTS, FACED WITH THE 9,500,000 VOTES POLLED BY THE CONSTITUTION-SUPPORTING COMMUNIST AND SOCIALIST PARTIES IN LAST FALL'S ELECTIONS, WAS THAT A LARGE NUMBER OF SOCIALISTS WOULD FORGET PARTY LINES ON THE ISSUE.

MOLOTOV WAS SAID TO HAVE ADMITTED THAT TRIESTE ETHNICALLY WAS ITALIAN, BUT HELD THAT YUGOSLAVIA SHOULD RECEIVE THE CITY BECAUSE IT WAS AN INTEGRAL PART OF THE COUNTRYSIDE WHICH ETHNICALLY WAS YUGOSLAV.

THIRD NIGHT LEAD POLITICS (160)

TOKYO, SUNDAY, MAY 5-(AP)-RETIRING PREMIER KIJURO SHIDEHARA OFFERED THE SOCIALISTS A CHANCE FOR THE PREMIERSHIP IN THE NEXT CABINET TODAY AFTER GENERAL MACARTHUR DISQUALIFIED LIBERAL PARTY CHIEFTAIN ICHIRO HATOYAMA AS HE WAS ABOUT TO RECEIVE THE POST.

TETSU KATAYAMA, SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC PARTY, SAID SHIDEHARA TOLD HIM DURING A CONFERENCE TO PROCEED "AS QUICKLY AS POSSIBLE" TO FORM A COALITION AGREEABLE TO SERVING UNDER A SOCIALIST PREMIER.

KATAYAMA LEFT IMMEDIATELY FOR PARTY HEADQUARTERS AND A MEETING OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE. POLITICAL LEADERS DOUBTED, HOWEVER, THAT A FINAL SOLUTION WAS POSSIBLE TODAY.

WHETHER THE SOCIALISTS WILL RECEIVE AN IMPERIAL COMMAND TO FORM A GOVERNMENT DEPENDS UPON THE APPROVAL OF THELIBERALS, COMMUNISTS, COOPERATIVES AND OTHER POLITICAL GROUPS. SHIDEHARA---PRESIDENT OF THE PROGRESSIVES-TOLD KATAYAMA HE NEED NOT "WORRY ABOUT THE PROGRESSIVE PARTY BECAUSE IT IS TAKING A PASSIVE ATTITUDE."

THE ALLIED HEADQUARTERS MEMORANDUM BANISHING HATOYAMA FROM PUBLIC OFFICE BECAUSE OF PRO-AXIS SYMPATHIES WAS READ TO HIM YESTERDAY AFTERNOON BY SHIDEHARA. HATOYAMA INDICATED TODAY HE HOPES TO CONTINUE AS DOMINANT FIGURE IN THE LIBERAL PARTY HE NOW HEADS.

INFORMED JAPANESE SOURCES SAID SHIDEHARA ADVISED EMPEROR HIROHITO SHORTLY BEFORE MACARTHUR'S ACTION THAT THE RETIRING CABINET HAD DECIDED TO OFFER THE PREMIERSHIP TO HATOYAMA.

THESE SOURCES SAID MANY JAPANESE OFFICIALS KNEW THAT MACARTHUR WAS ABOUT TO BAR HATOYAMA FROM PUBLIC OFFICE BUT THEY HAD FAILED TO CONVINCE HIM HE SHOULD BOW OUT.

THUS THE SHIDEHARA GOVERNMENT, WHICH HAS RESIGNED BUT REMAINS IN OFFICE UNTIL A NEW CABINET IS FORMED, WAS FORCED TO BEGIN ALL OVER AGAIN.

SHIDEHARA'S FOREIGN MINISTER, SHIGERU YOSHIDA, REMAINED THE MOST LOGICAL CANDIDATE FOR THE PREMIERSHIP, BUT INFORMED JAPANESE DECLARED HE WAS "EXTREMELY RELUCTANT".

HATOYAMA, WHO OPENLY SOUGHT THE PREMIERSHIP AND SPENT THOUSANDS OF YEN TRYING TO GET IT, EXPRESSED SURPRISE AT MACARTHUR'S ORDER.

"IT IS NOT IN MY MIND TO APPEAL NOW," HE SAID IN AN INTERVIEW. "I DON'T BELIEVE I HAVE DONE ANYTHING WHICH COMES WITHIN THE RANGE OF THE PURGE DIRECTIVE."

A LITTLE LATER HE ADMITTED ONE OF MACARTHUR'S CHARGES--THAT HE WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR STIFLING FREEDOM OF SPEECH IN SCHOOLS BY MEANS OF MASS DISMISSALS AND ARRESTS OF TEACHERS" WHILE MINISTER OF EDUCATION. HE ALSO ONCE WROTE A BOOK PRAISING HITLER.

A184KX

HATOYAMA ADMITTED THE DIRECTIVE ALSO MIGHT DEPRIVE HIM OF LEADERSHIP OF THE LIBERAL PARTY, WHICH HOLDS A PLURALITY IN THE NEW HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

THE RELUCTANCE OF MOST POLITICAL LEADERS TO TAKE THE PREMIERSHIP RISES FROM GENERAL BELIEF THAT THE NEXT GOVERNMENT WILL NOT LAST LONG AMID THE COMPLEX PROBLEMS OF RECONSTRUCTION.

INTERVIEWED BY MORRIE LANDSBERG OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS BEFORE HE HAD READ MACARTHUR'S DIRECTIVE, THE SAGGY-JOWLED HATOYAMA APPEARED CONFUSED.

"IT IS NOT IN MY MIND TO APPEAL NOW," HE SAID WITH A LOOSE GRIN. AFTER READING THE ORDER, HE ADDED "I DON'T BELIEVE I HAVE DONE ANYTHING WRONG," BUT QUICKLY CONCEDED THAT HE HAD BEEN "RESPONSIBLE FOR STIFLING FREEDOM OF SPEECH," AS CHARGED, "BY MASS DISMISSALS AND ARRESTS OF TEACHERS."

THE SUPREME COMMANDER'S HEADQUARTERS ISSUED A SCATHING STATEMENT WHICH BRANDED THE PRESIDENT OF JAPAN'S DOMINANT LIBERAL PARTY AS "A TOOL OF ULTRA-NATIONALIST INTERESTS;" SAID HATOYAMA ONCE PUBLICLY LAUDED THE SNEAK ATTACK ON PEARL HARBOR AS A "GREAT VICTORY;" EXTENSIVELY CITED HIS PRE-WAR PUBLIC RECORD AS ONE STIFLING ALL OPPOSITION TO THE RISE OF THE MILITARY CLIQUE; AND BLUNTLY NOTED THAT ACTION BY HEADQUARTERS WAS NECESSARY BECAUSE OF GOVERNMENT RELUCTANCE TO TAKE THE INITIATIVE.

HATOYAMA, WHO ONCE PUBLISHED A BOOK PRAISING HITLER AND MUSSOLINI, TOLD THE ASSOCIATED PRESS HE DID "NOT HAVE IN MIND" APPEALING FROM MACARTHUR'S DIRECTIVE BUT NOTED SUCH AN ACTION WAS BEING URGED UPON HIM BY ETSUJIRO UHARA, A LIBERAL PARTY CHIEFTAIN.

HATOYAMA SAID HE WAS NOT SURE THE ORDER BARRED HIM FROM HIS PRESIDENCY OF THE LIBERAL PARTY WHICH WON A SLIGHT PLURALITY AT THE APRIL 10 ELECTION.

"I BELIEVE I HAVE NOT DONE ANYTHING THAT COMES WITHIN RANGE OF THE PURGE DIRECTIVE," HE REMARKED, BUT A MOMENT LATER ADMITTED A HEADQUARTER'S CHARGE THAT, AS MINISTER OF EDUCATION, HE WAS "RESPONSIBLE FOR STIFLING FREEDOM OF SPEECH IN SCHOOLS" BY MASS DISMISSALS OF TEACHERS.

AS FAR AS IS KNOWN, HATOYAMA HAD NOT BEEN GIVEN AN IMPERIAL COMMAND TO FORM A CABINET REPLACING THAT OF BARON SHIDEHARA. HOWEVER, CABINET SECRETARY WATARU NARAHASHI SAID THE GOVERNMENT SENT AN OFFICIAL DOCUMENT TO HEADQUARTERS FRIDAY NIGHT, PRESUMABLY OUTLINING PLANS FOR HATOYAMA TO BE NAMED PREMIER.

JAPANESE INFORMANTS SAID THE DISQUALIFIED LEADER'S OWN STUBBORNESS LED TO THE PRESENT CRISIS. FOREIGN MINISTER SHIGERU YOSHIDA, HIMSELF MENTIONED PROMINENTLY FOR PREMIER, ARGUED FOR FOUR HOURS WITH HATOYAMA THURSDAY NIGHT, ATTEMPTING TO CONVINCE HIM TO WITHDRAW HIS PREMIERSHIP CLAIMS. THIS WAS AFTER YOSHIDA, IN CONVERSATIONS WITH AMERICAN OFFICERS, HAD BECOME CONVINCED HATOYAMA WOULD BE UNACCEPTABLE.

MANILA, MAY 4-(AP)-GENERAL EISENHOWER SAID TONIGHT THAT AMERICAN MILITARY STRENGTH IN THE PHILIPPINES WOULD DEPEND ON POLITICAL AGREEMENTS BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND THE PHILIPPINE REPUBLIC. HE ADDED THAT THE UNITED STATES HOPES ARRANGEMENTS CAN BE MADE FOR AIR BASES IN THE ARCHIPELAGO.

HIS REFERENCE TO BASES WAS REGARDED AS SIGNIFICANT IN THE LIGHT OF A STATEMENT TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS LAST THURSDAY BY PRESIDENT-ELECT MANUEL ROXAS ASSURING THE UNITED STATES OF CLOSE COOPERATION FOR DEFENSE.

"I WILL SO ARRANGE THE DEFENSE OF THESE ISLANDS," SAID ROXAS, "THAT IT MAY BE INTIMATELY COORDINATED WITH THE PLANS OF THE UNITED STATES FOR MAINTENANCE OF DEFENSIVE BASES IN THE PHILIPPINES."

ROXAS PLANS TO FLY TO WASHINGTON MAY 8 WITH HIGH COMMISSIONER PAUL V.MCNUTT FOR TALKS WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN AND OTHER OFFICIALS.

EISENHOWER'S STATEMENT ON THE PHILIPPINES WAS MADE AT A PRESS CONFERENCE AFTER A TOUR OF MILITARY INSTALLATIONS IN THE MANILA AREA.

THE SPEED OF DEMOBILIZATION HAS SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED THE MAINTENANCE OF VITAL U.S. MILITARY BASES IN THE PACIFIC, HE SAID.

"THERE ARE MILLIONS OF DOLLARS WORTH OF EQUIPMENT TO BE TAKEN CARE OF, AND NO ONE TO TAKE CARE OF IT," HE ADDED, CITING THE SHRINKAGE OF THE SEVENTH AIR FORCE AT HONOLULU TO ONLY 404 MEN AND REMARKING, "THESAME GENERAL CONDITIONS APPLY ELSEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC."

EISENHOWER PLANS TO FLY TO SHANGHAI WEDNESDAY AND THEN TO KOREA AND JAPAN.

30.24-2669

PRESIDENT-ELECT ROXAS, IN A DECLARATION CABLED TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS IN WASHINGTON TODAY, REITERATED HIS PREVIOUS ASSURANCES OF SUPPORT FOR AMERICAN OBJECTIVES AND SAID:

"I AM FIRM IN MY PURPOSE NOT MERELY TO COOPERATE WITH AMERICA'S MPOLICY IN THE PHI

IPPINES BUT ALSO TO DO EVERYTHING IN THE POWER OF THE PHILIPPINE GOVERNMENT IN ENABLING THE UNITED STATES TO SAFEGUARD ALL MILITARY, NAVAL AND AIR BASES IT MAY DESIRE PERMANENTLY TO ESTABLISH HERE IN THE PHILIPPINES."

IN HIS STATEMENT THURSDAY ROXAS ALSO SAID HE WAS COMMITTED TO A POLICY OF STIMULATING THE INFLUX OF AMERICAN CAPITAL TO THE PHILIPPINES. HE EXPLAINED THAT AS A RESULT OF THE WAR THE PHILIPPINES CONSTITUTED "AN ALMOST COMPLETE ECONOMIC VACUUM," WITHOUT SUFFICIENT HOME CAPITAL, AND "THEREFORE UNLESS AMERICAN CAPITAL COMES TO OUR AID, WE WILL HAVE TO DEPEND ON OTHER FOREIGN CAPITAL."

HE SAID HE WANTED TO SAFEGUARD AGAINST SUCH OTHER OUTSIDE CAPITAL "IN ORDER TO AVOID ANY FUTURE POLITICAL COMPLICATIONS WHICH MIGHT PROVE MOST DANGEROUS TO THE INDEPENDENCE OF THE PHILIPPINES."

RONGERIK (MARSHALL ISLANDS), MAY 4-(AP)-BIKINI'S NATIVES ARE HOMESICK.

EVEN KING JUDA IS MOPING WITH HIS PEOPLE, LONGING FOR THE CORAL ATOLL THEY LEFT TWO MONTHS AGO SO THE ATOM BOMB COULD BE TESTED ON SHIPS IN BIKINI LAGOON.

IT IS UNLIKELY THEY EVER WILL BE ABLE TO RETURN TO THE CRESCENT-SHAPED ISLAND. THE BURNING BLAST OF THE BOMB PROBABLY WILL SHRIVEL EVERY COCONUT PALM AND PANDANNAS TREE.

KING JUDA WAS ASKED TODAY WHICH WAS BETTER, BIKINI OR RONGERIK.

"BIKINI WAS BETTER," HE SAID PROMPTLY.

"IT WAS BETTER BECAUSE IT WAS OUR HOME AND OUR REAL PLACE."

OTHER NODDED AGREEMENT, AMONG THEM ANCIENT LAUIAR WHO IS SO OLD NO ONE KNOWS HIS AGE. HE BENT OVER HIS CANE. THERE WERE TEARS IN HIS EYES.

"WE WANT TO GO BACK," KING JUDA ASSERTED.

"WE GOT MORE FISH AND COCONUTS ON BIKINI. THE COCONUTS WERE LARGER AND THE FISH WERE NOT POISONOUS AS THEY ARE HERE."

APPARENTLY NOTHING IS "AS GOOD" AS THEY REMEMBER AT BIKINI--EXCEPT THE STOCKS OF CANNED RATIONS WHICH THE NAVY LEFT TO HELP TIDE THEM OVER THEIR RECONVERSION PERIOD.

IN REALITY, RONGERIK IS LARGER, MUCH MORE VERDANT; THE COCONUTS ARE MORE PLENTIFUL--AND THE SAME KINDS OF FISH SWIM IN WATERS OFF BOTH ISLANDS.

"I SUPPOSE IT WILL TAKE ABOUT A YEAR FOR THESE PEOPLE TO FEEL THAT THIS PLACE IS HOME AND TO APPRECIATE ITS ADVANTAGES OVER BIKINI," SAID COMMODORE BEN H. WYATT, COMMANDER OF THE KWAJALEIN NAVAL BASE AFTER LISTENING TO THEIR STORIES.

THEY ARE DISCONTENTED ON RONGERIK AND THERE IS A GROWING SUSPICION THIS IS NOT SOLELY HOMESICKNESS. IN A SHORT TIME, THEY HAVE LEARNED TO DEPEND HEAVILY ON OUTSIDE HELP--ON THE WHITE MAN'S FOOD, CLOTHING AND METHODS OF GETTING THINGS DONE.

COMMODORE BEN H.WYATT, COMMANDER OF KWAJALEIN NAVAL BASE, HAS WORRED ABOUT THE POSSIBILITY OF THE NATIVES BECOMING TOO DEPENDENT ON AMERICANS FOR HELP.

"YOU MUST REMAIN AS INDEPENDENT AS YOU WERE BEFORE WE CAME," HE TOLD THEM.

"WE WILL HELP YOU IN EVERY WAY WE CAN BUT YOU MUST NOT DEPEND ON US TO DO EVERYTHING FOR YOU. THE OVERALL JOB YOU HAVE DONE IS FINE BUT YOU MUST WORK HARDER."

KING JUDA ADMITS HIS MEN HAVE BEEN FISHING FOR FOOD ONLY ONCE A WEEK SINCE THEY CAME TO RONGERIK BUT SAID THEY HAVE BEEN BUSY BUILDING HOUSES, LEAVING LITTLE TIME TO GO TO SEA IN OUTRIGGER CANOES. MOST OF THE NATIVE FOOD HAS COME FROM BOXES OF K AND C RATIONS GIVEN BY THE NAVY TO HELP ALONG UNTIL THE NATIVES ARE SETTLED.

THE NAVY HAS PROVIDED FLOORING AND FRAMES FOR HOUSES. ALL ROOFS HAVE BEEN THATCHED WITH PANDANNAS LEAVES, REPLACING NAVY-SUPPLIED TENTAGE, BUT MUCH WORK REMAINS IN THATCHING THE SIDES OF THE HOUSES.

KING JUDA PROMISED THE HOUSES WOULD BE COMPLETELY THATCHED IN TWO WEEKS.

WHILE THE MEN TALKED WITH THE WHITE VISITORS, THE WOMEN SAT CROSS-LEGGED IN THEIR HOMES, WEAVING RUGS, MATS, BASKETS AND BRACELETS OR WASHING THE CLOTHES OF THEIR NAKED CHILDREN, PLAYING IN THE SAND.

FOUR YOUNGSTERS, WEARING LOIN CLOTHS, PLAYED CARDS IN THE SHADE OF A WATER CATCHMENT WHILE A NAKED LITTLE KIBITZER LOOKED ON.

JOSIA, THE NATIVE SCHOOL TEACHER, CALLED THE CHILDREN TOGETHER IN CHURCH TO SING FOR THE VISITORS. SWAYING RHYTHMICALLY BEFORE THE GROUP OF AMERICANS AND UNAWARE OF THE IMPLICATIONS OF THE WORDS, THEY SANG THE OLD HYMN, "MY FAITH LOOKS UP TO THEE."

AS THEIR VOICES ROSE, MEN AND WOMEN CAME FROM THE HUTS AND QUIETLY SLIPPED INTO CHURCH TO JOIN IN THE SINGING. GNARLED OLD LAUIAU TAPPED HIS CANE IN TIME TO THE RHYTHM. A DOG LISTLESSLY CHASED ANOTHER ACROSS THE SAND. SOME VILLAGERS SAT UNDER COCONUT PALMS, STARING OUT TO SEA.

THERE WAS A FEELING OF SADNESS ON RONGERIK. EVERYONE SEEMED TO BE THINKING OF BIKINI.#

French Vote Down Proposed Constitution

MAJORITY OF 1,167,530 FOR NEGATIVE IS COUNT ON OFFICIAL RETURNS

Rejection Means New Constituent Assembly Must Be Elected To Prepare Another Draft—Proposal Backed By Leftists

MAY 6, 1946

NIGHT Wilson

Paris, Monday, May 6 (AP)—The Ministry of the Interior's official figures showed early today that France had rejected a Socialist-Communist supported proposed constitution for the Fourth Republic by more than 1,000,000 votes.

With only the vote from Corsica missing, the official vote from all of continental France and North Africa totaled 10,406,176 against the proposed constitution and 9,238,646 in favor of it.

The negative votes attained a majority of 1,167,530. The Ministry said that 20,116,522 of France's 25,063,490 registered voters cast ballots. Officials threw out 471,700 votes as invalid.

Must Elect New Assembly

The charter's defeat means that French voters must elect a new Constituent Assembly on June 2. If the constitution had been adopted yesterday, a permanent government would have been elected on that date.

The Constituent Assembly to be elected in June then will have the task of drafting another constitution to submit to the electorate.

The Left Wing carried Paris and its suburbs by a margin of less than 3,000 votes of a total of 2,400,000 ballots cast. It showed its greatest strength in the industrial Somme department, whose capital is Amiens, and in the south, particularly in the Marseille area.

The complete unofficial vote of Paris and the Seine department, embracing most of the industrial suburban region, a Leftist stronghold, was 1,204,098 for the constitution and 1,200,944 against.

Opposed By Conservatives

The proposed constitution was opposed bitterly by France's third major political party, the conservative Popular Republican Movement (MRP), which charged that its acceptance would lead to dictators.

The charter would have abolished the Senate of the old Third Republic and would have given to a one-house National Assembly of 669 members the right to elect the President of the Republic, the Premier, a majority of the Supreme Magistrates Court and all members of the High Court of Justice.

It would have provided further for two subsidiary houses, which would not legislate but whose function would have been to advise the National Assembly. The President of France was restricted in the proposal to formal functions with no actual power.

Reflects De Gaulle's Views

The MRP, reflecting the views of former President Charles de Gaulle, demanded a constitution creating a stronger executive branch of the Government, a Supreme Court with powers similar to those of the United States Supreme Court, and a second chamber in the Legislature.

Further, the MRP insisted upon a system of checks and balances in the Government. The Leftist bloc in its proposed constitution said it sought unchecked authority for the popularly elected Assembly and contended such an assembly would give France greater democracy.

Home Town Backs Gouin

General de Gaulle did not vote in yesterday's referendum. In retirement since his resignation from the interim presidency, he did not even have an elector's registration card.

Istres, the home of Felix Gouin, a Socialist and the interim President of France, supported his party by voting 2,241 to 350 in favor of the constitution.

The voters cast their ballots on the simple referendum question: "Do you approve the constitution adopted by the National Constituent Assembly?"

In the department of Moribihan the vote was 8,169 against the charter, compared with only 3,885 affirmative ballots.

In Brittany the vote was 16,503 negative and 7,170 affirmative.

The negative trend was reversed however, in the Gironde department—there 6,370 persons voted in favor of the charter, as compared with 3,762 against.

Election day weather was ideal and the voting was quiet.

Critics of the charter charged that its acceptance would lead to dictators, and its supporters contended it would bring stability to France's government.

Communists' Arguments

The Communist party chief, Maurice Thorez, had predicted a 58 per cent margin in favor of the constitution. The Communist organ L'Humanité said the instrument would show the world that France was capable of reconstructing her political institutions on "sound, solid bases, a republic resolutely democratic."

Le Populaire, journal of the Socialist party, said an unfavorable vote would mean "a new Assembly of seven months will ensue which will probably have the same majority as the old Assembly and would thus be incapable of making a new constitution."

Edouard Herriott, leader of the Rigth-Wing Radical Socialists, said in L'Ordre that "the single Assembly claims not only the legislative and executive power, but also would dominate the judicial power, and I say that when justice is not independent in a country there is no more any sort of freedom."

The charter's defeat means that French voters must elect a new Constituent Assembly on June 2. If the constitution had been adopted yesterday, a permanent government would have been elected on that date.

The Constituent Assembly elected in June then will have the task of drafting another constitution to submit to the electorate.

The Ministry of the Interior's official but slower count of votes ran parallel with the unofficial count and, at the same time, announced a majority of 871,362 negative votes.

The officia tabulation for 79 of France's 89 departments showed 7,740,759 negative votes and 6,869,397 affirmative.

The left-wing failed to carry Paris and its suburbs by a margin of 3,000 votes of a total of 2,400,000 ballots cast. It showed its greatest strength in the industrial Somme department, whose capital is Amiens, and in the south, particularly in the Marseille area.

EXPERTS END VETO TALK

Discussions Halt Because of Differences between Russia, Western Powers.

NEW YORK, May 5 — (AP) Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, today called a meeting of the Security council for Wednesday afternoon to take up the Iranian case.

The council will meet at 3 p.m., Eastern Daylight Time.

Some delegates expressed belief the Iranian case would be dropped at that time.

It was believed Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala would submit a report before the Council stating that Russia had withdrawn all—or virtually all—her troops from Iran.

Midnight Is Deadline

Under terms of the Russian-Iranian agreements, Russia has until midnight tomorrow to complete the evacuation.

It was generally agreed that a favorable report from Iran would be accepted by the council as a basis for striking the case off the agenda.

Meanwhile, it was learned that the council's Experts on Procedure had temporarily shelved further discussions of the vital veto question—one of the most controversial issues before the United Nations.

Sources close to the committee of experts, which is drafting rules of procedure for the council, said the differences between Russia and the western powers were so great that further discussions at the present time were futile.

The committee has, therefore, turned to the consideration of less controversial matters in the hope that some form of compromise might eventually be worked out.

Views Unchanged

There was no indication, however, that the views of Russia and the other powers had changed any since the San Francisco conference, where the veto question proved to be one of the most controversial issues.

This was indicated in the Security council last week when Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko raised the veto question in connection with Australia's proposal to create a sub-committee to investigate Franco Spain.

Gromyko made it clear that, according to Russia's interpretation, the veto was applicable even in cases such as this, where nothing more was suggested than an inquiry into a controversy.

He avoided a showdown on the question, however, by abstaining from voting instead of attempting to invoke the veto.

Both U. S. Delegate Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., and Dr. Eelco N. Van Kleffens, representative of the Netherlands, reserved the right to dispute his interpretation. They and most of the other delegates, had privately expressed the view that this was definitely a procedural question and was, thus, not subject to veto.

The Russian position is that the use of the veto should be extremely broad, while the western powers feel that it should be used only in the most vital matters, such as voting punitive measures against a nation which has threatened international peace.

The whole controversy boils down to defining exactly what is meant by questions of "procedure" and questions of "substance," as the two terms are used in the United Nations Charter.

Until this issue is settled, the council must continue to procede without any clear rules as to what is subject to veto and what is not.

The Council's subcommittee on Spain will hold a closed meeting tomorrow afternoon to consider further the documents it has received on the Franco regime, which has been charged with endangering world peace.

Envoy Will Submit Report to Council

WASHINGTON, May 5 — (AP) The Iranian embassy said today that Ambassador Hussein Ala probably will go to New York tomorrow to report to the United Nations Security council on the withdrawal of Russian troops from Iran.

Whether the report actually will be made tomorrow or Tuesday is uncertain. American officials interpret the May 6 deadline for withdrawal as expiring Monday midnight, so that if some Russians remain in Iran until the last moment it may not be possible to give a final report to the council until Tuesday or later.

Reports reaching both the State department and Iranian embassy indicate that Red army forces have left all Iranian areas with the possible exception of border territories in the province of Azerbaijan. Even here the Russians may have withdrawn, officials say, but Washington information is inconclusive.

Italy's Assets Seen On 'Bargaining Counter'

Rome, May 5 (AP)—The newspaper Il Messaggero, commenting today on the four-power Foreign Ministers conference in Paris, charged that Italy's colonies, home territory, fleet and other chattels were "on the bargaining counter in a big power game."

Several newspapers, including the monarchist Italia Nuova and the independent Espresso, have advocated scuttling the Italian fleet before surrendering it for partition, as has been proposed by the Foreign Ministers in Paris, and Italian war veterans have requested Premier Alcide de Gasperi to refuse to sign "an unjust peace."

Resigned To Colonies' Loss

When de Gasperi went to Paris to plead Italy's case before the Foreign Ministers, Italians were resigned to the loss of their colonies, to giving Yugoslavia a portion of the disputed Venezia Giilia area and the Dalmatian Islands, to sharp limitation of future armament and, perhaps, to token reparations.

However, developments at the Paris conference to which Italians now object, observers said, included:

1. Russia's insistence that Yugoslavia get the disputed port of Trieste.
2. Proposed partition of the existing Italian fleet.
3. Russian insistence on reparations, which the Italians claim they are unable to pay.
4. France's request for "rectification" of the French-Italian border.

DeGaulle Secret Service Leader Seized in Paris

MAY 6 1946

French Deny Political Tinge to His Arrest

PARIS, May 5 (Monday) (AP).—Colonel Andre de Wavrin, who organized and headed General de Gaulle's secret service, has been arrested, along with fifty of his secret service officers, French government sources said early today.

De Wavrin, under the name of "Colonel Passy," built up De Gaulle's war-time intelligence service from London. Since the liberation of France, Leftist sources frequently have charged that De Wavrin's Paris headquarters and his organization were being used for political purposes.

The secret service organization, known as "D. G. E. R." (General Direction of Studies and Research) changed its name in the face of Leftist criticism, and later its leadership.

French government sources said the arrests "do not have a political character," but they would give no further explanation immediately.

Byrnes Irked by Attack On Plan for 25-Year Pact

Will Ask Molotov for Explanation of Charge on Moscow Radio

PARIS, May 5—(AP) An American informant said today that U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes has decided to insist on an explanation from Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov concerning the Moscow radio's attack on a United States proposal for a four-power treaty to insure the demilitarization of Germany.

The American delegation to the foreign ministers' conference was understood to have been angered by Moscow's declaration that Byrnes' treaty plan was a cloak to veil American intentions to withdraw troops from Germany in violation of existing four-power agreements.

One member of the delegation said Moscow had broadcast "an attack on American good faith while the Soviets were negotiating with us."

Urged 25-Year Pact

Under Byrnes' proposal the United States, Russia, Britain and France would sign a 25-year mutual assistance pact providing a system of quadripartite inspection of Germany to ascertain that the Reich remained completely disarmed. The armed forces of the four Allied powers would stand ready to move promptly against Germany in the event of rearmament or other infractions.

Byrnes made his proposal public last Monday. He said that Premier Stalin had supported the idea when he discussed the matter with the Russian leader in Moscow at Christmastime.

However, Molotov during the Monday session of the foreign ministers conference opposed placing Byrnes' proposal on the conference agenda in connection with the general discussions on Germany.

Similar Pact on Japan

Byrnes also said he had drafted a similar pact concerning Japan but declined to reveal its details bespite today of the American plebiscite proposal.

Fatigued by their two sessions yesterday, the ministers decided to cancel an informal discussion on the explosive Trieste issue, scheduled for this afternoon.

Meanwhile Byrnes—who proposed yesterday that a plebiscite be held in the area between the different boundary lines suggested by the United States and Russia for Italy and Yugoslavia—met this afternoon with British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin.

They conferred for about an hour and a half, but the topic was not disclosed. Later Byrnes was a guest of Molotov at the Russia embassy.

Byrnes' plebiscite proposal was opposed by both Bevin and Molotov.

Molotov, who reportedly offered yesterday to meet Italian interests "half way" on colonial and reparations questions if Trieste was given to Yugoslavia, maintained that a plebiscite should not be confined to the district between the American and Russian lines, but should include residents of the entire Venezia Giulia area.

Conference sources said this would increase the number of Slavs eligible to vote.

Giral Gets Big Welcome As He Reaches London

Spanish Republican Leader to Address Parliament

LONDON, May 5 (AP).—An enthusiastic Spanish crowd welcomed Jose Giral, premier of the Spanish republican government in exile, as he arrived tonight by train from Paris for a two-day visit. Overriding police efforts to keep a lane open for passengers, the Spaniards surged around the sixty-six-year-old chemistry professor turned politician and shouted "Viva la Republica!" and "Down with Franco!"

Giral lost his umbrella in the struggle to reach an automobile.

A spokesman for the Spanish republicans in London said the exiled premier would address members of both houses of the British Parliament Tuesday at a private meeting, but that his primary aim in coming to the British capital was to talk with Spanish republicans here.

Giral arrived with Jose de Lizaso, general representative of the Spanish republicans in Europe, who met him at Dover. Lizaso, who recently went to Prague, said he soon would visit Norway and Denmark, presumably to pursue the efforts to have democratic governments in Europe break off relations with Generalissimo Franco's regime and support the exiled government in Paris.

Greek Monarchy Vote Date May Be Earlier

London, May 5 (AP)—The newspaper Sunday Observer said today the British Government had sent a memorandum to Washington proposing a plebiscite on the Greek monarchy at the earliest possible date. A foreign office spokesman declined to comment.

The newspaper said the memorandum proposed that British troops remain in Greece until after the plebiscite, and that the United States send observers.

The plebiscite on whether exiled King George II would be permitted to return to his throne had been set for 1948.

Russia Offers Oil To France

London, May 5 (AP)—The Reynolds News, London Sunday newspaper, said today it was understood that France had been offered 25 per cent of the oil Russia will obtain from northern Iran, as an aid to French recovery. The dispatch gave no further details.

200,000 In London Join Trade-Union Parades

London, May 5 (AP)—Two hundred thousand members of London trade unions paraded today in May Day celebrations which had as the keynote the plea of Prime Minister Attlee for the co-operation of the United Nations to keep the peace.

Addressing a laborite audience at the Royal Opera House, Attlee declared that "only with the full development of the United Nations Organization . . . can we avert another war."

London's May Day celebration, postponed from May 1 to avoid interrupting production, was the city's largest labor demonstration in history. Seven processions, representing 92 trade unions and 55 trades councils, converged on Hyde Park.

Calling for the "co-operation of all," Attlee asserted that "a dangerous ground swell remains as the aftermath of war."

Lord Templewood in Peru

LIMA, Peru, May 5 (AP)—Viscount Templewood, former British Ambassador to Spain, arrived here last night on a South American tour. The former Sir Samuel Hoare said that because of his four years' residence in Spain he was deeply interested in South America and that he had been impressed by what he had seen in Argentina and Chile.

9 Homeless Families Barricaded In House

Edinburgh, Scotland, May 5 (AP)—Nine families, members of the Edinburgh "Houseless Association," barricaded themselves in a vacant twelve-room house today with food, candles and fuel supplies to last a week.

The squatters, who entered the house last night, refused to open the doors to callers. Police said they would not disturb them unless a complaint were filed, since they did not know whether the house had been requisitioned by the City Council or was in possession of the owner. It was vacated last February by the Army.

Mrs. M. Anning, who is in the house with her seven children, said: "I am forced to do this and I am waiting for my husband who is in the Army to return to help with the fight."

upon hearing that she refused to join him as planned, had said he probably would seek a divorce. she said: "O.K. That will be all right by me. I suppose that is the only possible thing to do."

She insisted, however, that she would like to "talk things over."

Would Divorce Runaway Bride

Salisbury, N. C., May 5 (AP)—Warren H. Poston said today he would seek a divorce from his British war bride, Mrs. Evelyn Caroline Poston, who disappeared April 3, a day after her arrival at her husband's farm home near here.

Mrs. Poston, 16, was located a week later in New York and subsequently went to Bliss, N.Y., to visit relatives. She told New York detectives that her husband lived in a "one-room shack" and that she "couldn't stand" this part of the country.

Poston, quoting a news account to the effect that his wife was homesick for England, revealed here that he was "hunting a lawyer."

"It might be difficult," he explained, "to get a divorce if she is far away in England."

Poston said he had received a letter from one of his wife's brothers in England expressing his sympathy.

Balky British Bride Willing To Visit U.S., But Won't Stay

Wallasey, Cheshire, England, May 5 (AP)—Mrs. June Marsico, 22-year-old bride of an American soldier who declared she was too much in love with England to leave it, said today she was willing to visit her husband in the United States and discuss their future, but that she would not remain there.

June, the wife of Nick Marsico, of Elyria, Ohio, was traveling by train with twenty other GI brides to a staging area yesterday when she resolved to return home, because she couldn't "face up to going to America."

She'd Like To Talk It Over

Upon arriving home, she said, "I called my husband, telling him I had canceled all arrangements. After that, I sat down and wrote a letter to console him, because I knew he would be upset."

"I made it clear," she continued, "that I intend to stand by my decision not to resume married life—in America.

"But I am rather inclined to go there to see him and talk it all over. I hope to go in a couple of months and stay a short while there—but I shall return home again."

When told that her husband,

MUNITION DUMP BLAST STUDIED

Cause Sought For Explosions In Nuernberg Sector

Feucht, Germany, May 5 (AP)—Army ordnance experts today sought the cause of a series of explosions last night which set off over 15,000 tons of captured German munitions and caused damage over a wide area.

Detonation of the munitions, which included 173 V-2 bomb warheads, was to have been spread over several months. About 25,000 tons of munitions were awaiting demolition at the dump before the explosions.

Nuernberg Windows Broken

Numerous windows in Nuernberg, nearly 10 miles away, were broken by concussion from the explosions, which continued throughout much of the night at the Muna Werke ammunition dump outside Feucht.

Troops of C Battery, 351st Field Artillery Battalion, which was in charge of destroying the munitions, said the unscheduled explosions probably resulted from the spread of fire from small-arms ammunition which soldiers and German prisoners of war burned yesterday.

The fire spread slowly, igniting first a stock pile of incendiary bombs, which in turn spread the blaze among the V-2 warheads, serial bombs, T.N.T., and artillery shells.

Can Finish Job Seen

Demolition of the explosives had been in progress since last summer and was scheduled to be finished on December 1. Warren T. Johnson, of Buckeye, Ariz., battery ammunition dump officer, said the job can now be finished in a very short time.

Many windows in this village were broken, and some of the women and children were evacuated during the night.

About 130 tons of poison gas are still stored in underground concrete bunkers a short distance from the scene of the explosion.

Block Leader System Authorized In Saxony

Berlin, May 5 (AP)—Soviet authorities in Saxony have authorized reinstatement in slightly different form of the system of block leaders, which, under Nazism, placed petty functionaries in charge of blocks of houses.

The Russian-sponsored system, going a step farther than the Nazi one, cloaks the men and women placed in charge of blocks with the power of auxiliary police.

United States military government authorities abolished the block leader system in the American zone, asserting it bred "little Hitlers."

Austrians Demonstrate Against Big 4 Decision

Vienna, May 5 (AP)—Demonstrations were held today in scattered communities of Austria, including Salzburg and Innsbruck, to reassert Austria's claim to the southern Tyrol, ceded to Italy after World War I.

There was little indication, however, of any serious difficulties over the decision of the four-power foreign ministers conference in Paris to let Italy retain the territory.

At the Brenner Pass there was no atmosphere of tension, and British, French, Italian and Austrian border officials appeared to be working in complete co-operation. Reports that the frontier had been closed proved incorrect.

Soviet Loan By Lottery

Moscow, May 5 (AP)—Russia's 20,000,000,000 ruble internal loan to help finance the new five-year plan is the first such loan in the U.S.S.R. based entirely on lottery premiums. This is how it will work:

Bonds in denominations beginning with 25 rubles (nominally about $4.70), maturing in twenty years, will be offered for sale. They bear no interest. Instead, one third of the bondholders during the 25-year period will win some kind of premium—possibly as much as 50,000 rubles ($9,435) for a 100-ruble ($18.80) bond. The other two thirds will get their money back in twenty years, but will not win any premium.

Drawings will be held every six months, beginning in 1947. There will be 40 drawings during twenty years.

Drawings To Be Broadcast

The drawings—if carried out in the tradition of past loans—will be ceremonial occasions in such places as Moscow's Bolshoi Theater, attended by thousands of representatives of plants, collective farms and other enterprises, and will be broadcast. At each drawing there would be one 50-000-ruble winner, two 25,000-ruble winners, five 10,000-ruble winners, ten 5,000-ruble winners and down the scale to 7,507 200-ruble winners.

The 25 and 50-ruble bonds are regarded as fractions of the 100-ruble bond, and their top winnings could be only a fourth or a half of the 50,000 rubles, which is tops for a 100-ruble bondholder.

The 20,000,000,000 ruble loan may be followed by other loans floated in subsequent years of the five-year plan, which calls for a capital investment of 250,000,000,000 rubles (nominally about $47,175,000,000).

All Bonds Tax Exempt

During previous five-year plans and during the war, subscribers had the choice of lottery bonds or bonds bearing a straight four per cent interest. The present loan differs only in that there is no choice.

Subscriptions are on a voluntary basis. Workers usually sign up for a minimum equivalent of three or four weeks' salary, which is deducted from their pay in ten equal monthly installments.

Bonds winning premiums will be redeemed and excluded from further drawings.

All the bonds are tax exempt.

At present about 60,000,000 Soviet citizens hold bonds from one of the previous issues—some bearing interest and some eligible for lottery premiums.

Daughter-in-Law of Duce Loses Life in Boating Mishap.

MILAN, May 5--(AP) The body of Bruno Mussolini's widow has been recovered from Lake Como, where she drowned during a midnight boating party with three British soldiers and another woman, police announced today.

A high police official said the body of the 30-year-old daughter-in-law of Il Duce was identified by documents in her clothing.

Police said Mrs. Mussolini, an attractive brunette, was already in bed Friday night when a friend, Isa de Marchi, invited her to join the boating party.

The boat sprang a lead and sank in a deep section of the lake. Two members of the party were rescued by fishermen, but a British army captain and an enlisted man were missing.

Bruno Mussolini, a pilot, was killed in 1941 while testing a bomber. His widow had been living in Como in modest circumstances for the past two years.

Mrs. Bruno Mussolini, the former Signorina Gina Ruberti, was the daughter of Prof. Guido Ruberti, a theater critic and head of the Education Ministry's Division of Contemporary Art during Il Duce's regime.

Members of her family were ardent Fascists. Her mother was a sister of Vicenzo Tangerra, first finance minister after the advent of Fascism.

She was married to Bruno Mussolini Oct. 29, 1939, in the Mussolini parish church of San Giuseppe, near Villa Torlonia, where Il Duce maintained a sumptuous home. She was 21 at the time of her marriage.

Poles Seek 7,000 Nazis Wanted For War Crimes

Warsaw, May 5 (AP)—Polish officials announced today they were seeking the extradition from Germany of 7,000 Nazis wanted on war-crime charges.

Among those sought are Rudolf Hoess, former commandant of the Oswiecim concentration camp; Josef Buehler, former secretary of state to the Nazi governor general of Poland, and Kurt Kurgsdrof, former governor of Krakow.

IRAN NOT SURE ON EVACUATION

Majority Of Russian Forces, However, Are Believed Out

Tehran, May 5 (AP)—With the deadline for the evacuation of Russian troops from Iran only hours away, official information was entirely lacking in Tehran today on whether all the Red Army forces had gone home.

Iranian Army officers say that the Russians have completed the evacuation of their troops under the terms of the Soviet-iranian agreement to withdraw entirely by tomorrow. They add, however, that they have no official information that the Russians have left Azerbaijan province.

Russian officials in the Iranian capital continued to maintain silence.

Out Of Four Provinces

An Iranian Government spokesman said that the Russians have left the four northern provinces and are rapidly quitting Azerbaijan, but added that his information was obtained from "returning travelers."

A foreign official who traveled over most of Azerbaijan and Kurdistan said, "I don't believe it is possible for the Russians to have quit the north since I left there a week ago. I'll belive they have gone when I am permitted to traved into the back country and survey the mountain valleys of Kurdistan."

Yesterday Prince Mozaffar Firouz, director of propaganda, told news men that evacuation of Azerbaijan was "almost" complete and that they could go into Azerbaijan province after tomorrow.

Rail Travel Difficult

Rail and road travel, however, is almost impossible, and the Soviet-operated airline refuses to sell tickets to foreign news men without Russian military permits, which are not obtainable.

In addition, the strictest secrecy surrounds the negotiations between Jafar Pishevari, head of the autonomous government set up in Azerbaijan, and the Central Government.

Correspondents are barred by Government troops from entering the village near here where negotiations on the return of the province to Central Government rule are taking place.

Firouz said "negotiations between us and the Azerbaijan delegation are continuing."

Word Of Agreement Heard

An Iranian Foreign Office employé said that word circulated in the Foreign Ministry that an agreement had been reached whereby the Azerbaijan Army would become a part of the Iranian Army with administrative officers named by the Central Government, and that Pishevari would become governor-general of Azerbaijan province.

Sources close to Premier Ahmed Qavam had said that an agreement on the army had been reached before Pishevari came to Tehran. Others speculated that the army problem was the factor holding up negotiations.

The average Iranian, asked his opinion on Azerbaijan and the Soviet evacuation, often termed the nation's "first problems," only shakes his head in puzzlement.

7 Arab States Will Confer on Palestine Issue

To Decide Measures To Be Taken Against Proposals of Anglo-U.S. Committee

CAIRO, May 5 (AP).—Representatives of the seven states in the Arab League voted today to hold a special league session for the purpose of taking measures against the recommendations of the British-American Inquiry Committee on Palestine.

No exact date or site was fixed, but the meeting will be held between May 15 and 20. Syria and Lebanon have been suggested as the meeting place.

Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha, secretary-general of the League, said all the Arab states would protest to the British and American governments against the inquiry committee's report, which recommended that 100,000 European Jews be admitted to the Holy Land.

Azzam Pasha declared that if the British and American governments accept the committee's recommendations as their policy, such action will be interpreted here as opposing the Arab states.

A Damascus dispatch said the official Syrian disapproval of the committee's report had already been forwarded to the United States and Britain.

In Baghdad, Prince Emir Abdullah, of Trans-Jordan, said he expected the Arab League to take "most determined measures" against the committee's recommendations. The prince, soon to be made king of newly independent Trans-Jordan, said the Holy Land question "concerns all Arabs, who can never allow Palestine to be overwhelmed by any race through immigrationr o other means."

19 Injured By Cairo Bomb

Cairo, May 5 (AP)—Fifteen British soldiers and four girls were wounded today when a bomb thrown from a passing automobile exploded in the Cairo Y.M.C.A., popular meeting place of British soldiers.

Two of the girls are members of the Auxiliary Territorial Service and two are civilians.

Moslem Program In India Studied

Simla, India, May 5 (AP)—The British Cabinet mission and representatives of the Moslem League and the Congress Party tackled at their initial session today the Moslem League's demand that an independent Moslem state be set up in India as a prerequisite to full Indian independence.

A communiqué issued after nearly four hours of discussion said that the conferees had taken up the Moslem demand, the most troublesome point in the current negotiations between the British and the Indian political leaders. The communiqué did not disclose whether any progress had been made.

Shifted From New Delhi

The conferences were transferred to Silma from New Delhi because of the torrid temperatures now prevailing in the Indian capital. The British mission was sent here by Prime Minister Attlee to negotiate for full independence for India if Indian representatives desired it. Attlee expressed hope that India would choose to remain within the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Mahomed Ali Jinnah, president of the Moslem League, has insisted upon establishment of a separate Moslem state (Pakistan). Congress party leaders have opposed him.

What the day lacked in announced developments it made up in color and ceremony. Maulana Abul Kalam Azad, president of the Congress party, was the first of his delegation to arrive at the viceregal lodge. He came in a four-man rickshaw, and found the Cabinet delegation awaiting him on the doorstep.

TOJO, OTHERS FILE PLEAS OF INNOCENT TO WAR CHARGES

Jap Counsel Fails in Move to Disqualify Chief Justice.

COURT CHALLENGED

Defense Staff Contests Validity of Trial by International Tribunal.

TOKYO, Monday, May 6 — (AP) One by one, 27 Japanese who planned and dreamed of a great empire rose before black-robed justices of nine Allied nations today and pleaded innocent to charges they had plunged the Asiatic world into war.

The court announced the trial would start June 3 and adjourned until May 13, when it will hear arguments on a defense challenge of tribunal authority. Defense attorneys had requested at least two months for examination of evidence.

Defendants were called in alphabetical order for arraignment.

Little Hideki Tojo, premier when the fighting was broadened by the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, was next to last on the role call. He stood up stiffly, paused for a second, then said in a clear voice:

"On all counts I plead not guilty."

Most simply stated "not guilty," as their names were called.

Tojo's Motion Rejected

The arraignments followed refusal of the international tribunal to disqualify its chief justice on a motion by Ichiro Kiyose, Tojo's defense attorney.

While his 27 fellow defendants entered their pleas, Dr. Shumei Okawa, former director of the East Asia Economics Research institute of Manchuria, was being examined by Allied psychiatrists.

Former Premier Teichi Suzuki flung out his "not guilty" like a challenge, standing stiffly with his lips in a pout.

Mamoru Shigemitsu, foreign minister who signed the surrender terms, was the only defendant to offer his plea in English.

The first to plead, Sadao Araki, started to explain:

"During the entire 70 years of my life I have not committed any one of the acts as charged. On the contrary—"

Court Interrupts

There the court interrupted him, to go on with its roll call.

Prosecutor Joseph B. Keenan, with pleas completed, immediately offered in evidence 11 documents evidently intended to establish the court's jurisdiction, which Defense Attorney Kiyose had challenged.

They began with the text of the Cairo conference, includeed an exchange of messages concerning Japan's acceptance of the Potsdam declaration, and the text of the declaration itself. Also introduced were the orders establishing the international trial tribunal.

Navy Capt. Beverly M. Noleman, chief of the defense staff, objected to the introduction of the documents, "for purposes of the record."

The documents, he asserted, picking up Kiyose's earlier challenge, "do not constitute any provisions for establishment of this tribunal" and its present jurisdiction.

Chief Justice Sir William Webb overruled the objection with the comment "it is anticipated that it would be contended that General MacArthur's authority is based on international law."

The court had speedily rejected Kiyose's earlier contention that Webb should be disqualified on grounds his investigation of atrocities in New Guinea would prejudice his hearing of the current cases.

Judge E. H. Northcroft, of New Zealand, announced the court's decision after a ten-minute recess conference in which Webb did not take part.

"Members are of the opinion that no objection can be sustained against any member of the tribunal," Northcroft announced.

Kiyose told the tribunal it would not be "fair from the standpoint of justice," and "improper" in accordance with the Potsdam declaration for the Chief Justice to participate in these trials.

Told by Sir William that he must be more specific, Kiyose said Webb had once investigated Japanese atrocities in New Guinea and submitted results to the Australian Government.

Dilitary Tactics Charged

Joseph B. Keenan, chief prosecutor, asked to reply to Kiyose's challenge on the question of application of the Potsdam declaration to organization of the court, but Webb commented without omplification that "perhaps it would be wise for the court to be reconstituted."

The court recessed for ten minutes without hearing Keenan.

Keenan earlier had declared "We again ask that the dilatory tactics cease and the pleas be taken."

Major Ned Warren, of Tulsa, Okla., defense staff assistant, complained that Keenan had grabbed the microphone away from him to make his statement.

Counsel Staffs Clash

Shortly before, the court witnessed it first clash between defense and the prosecution staff on the question of alleged errors in translation of an indictment against the 28 original defendants.

The Japanese counsel asked for correction of errors before the court proceeded to hear pleas of the accused.

Earlier, copies of a pamphlet which Webb called anti-Japanese propaganda had been found on the bench as members of the tribunal convened.

Source Undetermined

Webb said the pamphlet was entitled "Japan's Record and world security." He added that he did not know where the copies came from, nor was it established immediately how they found their way through the heavily-guarded courtroom.

The Chief Justice said tribunal members "would not be influenced in the slightest" by the pamphlets.

The clerk of the court took under consideration an appeal for special consideration for Yosuke Matsuoka, former Foreign Minister. His counsel said the haggard prisoner had been suffering from a serious ailment for six years and that his condition had become worse as the result of attending the first two arraignment sessions.

Fears Defendant's Collapse

The counsel, Shunzo Kobayashi, asked that Matsuoka be permitted to rest in another room during the sessions, appearing only at the time of pleading.

Webb asked if there were any danger of Matsuoka's collapse, and Kobayashi replied that "there is such anxiety."

Matsuoka is alleged to have been one of the engineers of the tripartite pact with Germany and Italy.

Chiang Returns to Nanking, Urges China to Hold Gains

NANKING, May 5. — (AP) Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, speaking at the tomb of the man who founded the Chinese republic, solemnly called upon all China to day to "consolidate our victory, in war-torn Manchuria as well as the rest of the nation."

The simple ceremonies in the mausoleum of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, marking the return of China's government to this historic capital, so moved the onlookers that many wept.

Cheered by Crowd

The Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-shek appeared at the mausoleum at 8:45 a. m., refused sedan chairs and slowly climbed the 300 steps to the blue-tiled hall while the assembled crowd of several thousand government officials and army men burst into applause.

Inside the black-pillared hall, Chiang bowed three times before the marble statue of Dr. Sun and placed flowers at its base as a 101-gun salute started booming across the valley and the crowd sang the Chinese anthem.

Chiang read a formal proclamation on the capital's return from Chungking to Nanking and then addressed the throng.

Calls on Nation to Rally

Gravely he demanded that the nation rally in a "peaceful struggle" to preserve the gains achieved in nearly eight years of war with Japan.

He said he would not single out as a special area the rich territory of Manchuria—now a battleground between Chinese Government and Communist factions—but included it in his challenge to all China.

Exhorting the people to "advance toward our promising future," Chiang said this could be done by practicing the eight virtues embodied in the Chinese new life movement. These he enumerated as politeness, conservation, unselfishness, humility, neatness, discipline, thrift and frankness.

Chiang recalled that this was the 25th anniversary of Dr. Sun's leadership of the Canton provisional government in 1921, and reviewed the intervening years, including the Japanese sack of this capital city.

"The return of the government here is a result of a defensive war, of the national policy of fighting a war of perseverance, and of the people's bitter sacrifices," he said.

"In the same spirit we must explore the possibilities of national reconstruction."

Later Chiang addressed 20,000 persons before the National Assembly building, again reviewing the war years and declaring, "While the people suffered what humans could hardly endure, the nation must gird itself to prevent such future slaughters and insults."

Festive Air in Nanking

Nanking, hung with banners and bunting in bright sunshine, had a festive air, but the fraternal strife in China was still in progress.

Gen. Chou En-lai, chief Communist negotiator, and Gen. Hsu Yung-chang, a Government representative, flew to Hankow today to try to settle locally, with the aid of American truce headquarters representatives, the fighting that has broken out in central China.

It has been decided that the fighting on the Hunan-Hopeh border between an estimated 300,000 Government troops and 60,000 Communists, is a separate case from the Manchurian struggle.

If it is settled, then the way will be open for a new approach to the deadlocked Manchurian negotiations.

Filipinos Flee Villages As Fight Over Vote Grows

M. P.s in Armored Cars Hunt Anti-Roxas Guerrillas

Cabanatuan, Luzon, P.I., May 5 (AP)—Hundreds of refugees from outlying villages continued to crowd into this provincial capital today following clashes between Filipino military police and members of the Hukbalahap guerrilla organization in half dozen places in Nueva Ecija province.

Major Maximino Nocete, provincial military police commander, said the fighting was becoming more extensive and "plenty of trouble can be expected in the very near future, but we are ready for it."

Back Roads Searched

Excitement was high in this city of 47,000 as the military police, in armored cars, trucks and jeeps, took to the back country roads in search of "Huks" reported in various barrios (small communities.)

Several small local actions were fought at Penaranda, Laur, Bagong, Sikat, Aduas and Samon. The firing at Aduas and Samon was audible in Cabanatuan, leading to alarmist rumors.

Church of Christ officials told Major Nocete that homes of their members had been burned at Calyos and Penaranda.

Rival Groups Clash

From Baclor, in Pampanga province, came a belated report that at least ten Huks were killed Thursday in a clash with rival guerrillas at Gumi.

The military police post at Lubao reported that eight persons were killed in Arayat when someone threw a hand grenade into a throng observing Maundy Thursday.

The Hukbalahaps, war-time guerrilla organization, opposed President-elect Manuel A. Roxas at the recent election and accused Army officers and wealthy landowners of attempting to exterminate the organization.

18 Japs Missing, 7 Hurt After Series Of Blasts

Ogura, Japan, May 5 (AP)—The Kyodo News Agency reported today that eighteen Japanese workers were missing and seven suffered serious injuries in a series of explosions in a powder magazine at the town of Sone, 11 miles south of Ogura.

The agency said the blasts at the former Japanese Army Air Forces arsenal began at 10 A.M. Saturday and continued at intervals until 1 A.M. today.

The cause was undetermined. No American casualties were reported, although there were Marines in the area.

'Operation Muskox' Ends In Canada Today

Edmonton, Alberta, May 5 (AP)—Canada's "operation muskox"—a 3,100-mile test of men and machines across the treckless snowbound Northwest—will end here tomorrow. Its participants will bring some answers to problems a military force faces in the Arctic.

the military trekers, who started February 15 from Churchill, Man., in a caravan of ten snowmobiles, will travel the last 107 miles from Grand Prairie, Alta., by train with their families.

The snowmobiles took a beating from the dust and gravel of the Alaskan highway, forcing the decision to complete the journey by train and save the vehicles from permanent damage.

Peron Promises to Ship Europe 500,000 Tons of Grain by June

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Colonel Juan D. Peron, President-Elect of Argentina, has advised the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration that his country expects to be able to ship to Europe before May 31 more than 500,000 tons of wheat and corn.

In a message made public today by F. H. La Guardia, U. N. R. R. A. Director General, the Argentine President reported 130,000 tons of wheat and 70,000 tons of corn already had been shipped for relief. He said 105,000 tons of corn already had been substituted for that amount of wheat "with a view to accelerating the shipment."

Mr. La Guardia also announced in statements these famine relief measures:

1. Air dispatch of one million doses of vaccine to prevent deadly rinderpest disease from killing cattle and water buffalo in China. Each animal saved for the plow means several hundred persons kept from starving to death, Mr. La Guardia said. The vaccine was donated by the Canadian and American governments.

2. A U. N. R. R. A. mission will leave this week for Korea to survey conditions and determine U. N. R. R. A. action needed. It was requested by United States and Russian military authorities there, the statement said. In January U. N. R. R. A. authorized $1,000,000 for emergency aid in Korea. The mission will determine further needs and be responsible for distributing supplies already authorized.

Bank and Fund Sessions Will Open This Week

Choice of Heads for World Agencies Offers Major Problem in Organization

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP).—The men who will run the world bank and monetary fund meet here this week to tackle final major organizing problems—topped by selection of heads of the twin institutions.

The $7,670,000,000 International Bank for Reconstruction and Development will be led by an American. Fred M. Vinson, Secretary of the Treasury, who made the decision that this country should claim the presidency, has given no clew as to whom he favors.

A European or Canadian is expected to be named managing director of the $7,397,500,000 monetary fund to stabilize world currencies. The late Lord Keynes of Britain reportedly had the power of selection, and England presumably will govern the choice.

The fund's dozen directors will open a continuous business session tomorrow in the board room of the Federal Reserve governors, and the twelve heading the world bank will start their meeting Tuesday. They represent forty member nations.

Although several months may elapse before either can open for business, American representatives believe the two organizations started two years ago at Bretton Woods, N. H., may be in a position this fall to give a hand to war-suffering nations.

The word passed among government officials that "only Fred Vinson knows" who will be president of the bank.

Half a dozen names, including his own, have entered the speculation since Secretary Vinson's first choice, Lewis W. Douglas, former Budget Director, declined the job which pays $30,000 a year plus taxes. Rumor has touched on Chester C. Davis, Marriner Eccles, William McChesney Martin, E. E. Brown, of Chicago, and others.

Those discussed for head of the fund include Camille Gutt, of Belgium; Louis Rasminsky, of Canada, and G. W. J. Bruins, of the Netherlands. Each of these is an executive director and would have to resign that post if chosen for the managership.

Meanwhile Harry D. White, director for the United States, will preside. He was top choice for the permanent managership until this country decided to take leadership in the bank instead.

Another early decision facing the fund directors is a ruling on admission of Italy, Syria, Lebanon and Turkey to its membership, which now includes thirty-nine nations. Greece and Yugoslavia have opposed admission of Italy, but the United States favors it.

France, China, Poland, Greece, Yugoslavia and Italy are expected to be among the first seeking loans from the bank.

Nearly all the European and Asiatic nations which were in the war are expected to seek assistance from the monetary fund. The fund is counted upon to play a major part in maintaining a stable exchange rate for foreign currencies now fluctuating widely.

U. N. Atomic Commission Plans Mid-May Session in New York

NEW YORK, May 5—(AP) The United Nations commission for the control of atomic energy, complete except for the Mexican representative will hold its first meeting in New York May 15, an authoritative source said today.

This source, who would not be identified, said efforts were being made to have all representatives on the commission in New York in ample time for the mid-May meeting. The United Nations sectariat has not yet officially announced the date.

It was reported in informed circles that Dr. Manuel S. Andoval Vallarto, professor in the Polytechnic Institute of Mexico and former professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Mass., would serve for Mexico. A decision is expected by Monday.

Dr. Vallarta is a graduate of the National University of Mexico and is one of the nation's foremost physicists and mathematicians.

The atomic energy commission grew out of a decision by the foreign ministers of the United States, Great Britain, and Russia at their meeting in Moscow last December. They recommended to the general assembly of the United Nations the establishment of a commission to consider problems arising from the discovery of atomic energy and related matters.

The U.N. General assembly on Jan. 24, 1946, unanimously approved a resolution setting up the atomic commission and stating its task. It was decided that the commission would be made up of those nations on the security council plus Canada when Canada was not a member of the council.

Thus the commission membership will change as the security council membership changes, except for Canada and the five permanent members of the council, Russia, France, China, Britain and the United States.

The commission was instructed to inquire into all phases of the problem and to make these specified proposals:

(A) For extending between all nations the exchange of basic scientific information for peaceful ends.

(B) For control of atomic energy to the extent necessary to insure its use only for peaceful purposes.

(C) For the elimination from national armaments of atomic weapons and of all other major weapons adaptable to mass destruction.

(D) For effective safeguards by way of inspection and other means to protect complying states against the hazards of violation and evasions."

The commission will report to the security council, its parent body, and the council will decide what will be made public.

SENATOR FEARS WORLD REACTION HARMFUL TO U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 5—(AP) A bitter Senate clash this week over the Bikini atomic bomb tests was forecast today by Senator Huffman (D.-Ohio), who declared that Russia might well use the demonstration as an "excuse" of walking out on the United Nations.

Huffman told a reporter that he and Senator Lucas (D.-Ill.) intend to renew their fight to call off the tests, the first of which is scheduled for July 1. They will raise the issue when legislation authorizing the use of naval vessels for targets is called up.

Will Call Bill

Chairman Walsh (D.-Mass.) of the Senate Naval committee said he will attempt to bring the revised bill before the Senate as soon as it disposes of the British loan. As approved by the committee, the bill permits the Navy to use 33 combat vessels as targets for the first bomb.

Huffman said that while he recognizes that valuable scientific information may be gathered at the test, he believes the international reaction is likely to outweigh any of the benefits.

"Nobody knows what Russia is going to do," he said. "We all hope that she is going to support fully the efforts to secure peace through the United Nations. We certainly should not give her any excuse at this time for evading any of her cardinal responsibilities in that direction."

He added that if the bomb tests are carried out "Russia can say we are perfecting a terrible war weapon and she must look out for her own interests."

"That would give her an excuse for acting alone on many questions that ought to be decided by the United Nations," he said. "I don't think we ought to provide that excuse at this time."

Hatch Supports Test

But Senator Hatch (D.-N. M.) served notice that the Administration will have staunch support in its determination to carry out the tests on schedule. Hatch was named last week as chairman of a civilian committee to evaluate the results.

He said he thinks the United States would be "criminally negligent" if it fails to carry out what he called "primarily a defensive test."

"We have discovered and manufactured the atomic bomb," he told a reporter. "We are under obligation to the world and to ourselves to learn all we can about its effects and about the defenses that may be made against it.

"From a purely defensive standpoint, the Navy must have the information about what effect the bomb will have on ships. It would be criminal negligence to call the tests off now."

declared in a University of Chicago round-table discussion broadcast from the institute.

Reuben Gustavson, vice-president of the University of Chicago, declared biological warfare "most surely" would have been used in World War II had the atom bomb not ended the conflict.

He added that such biological warfare might be even more frightful and far-reaching than atomic warfare.

Mr. Gustavson and Dr. Urey were joined in the discussion by Joyce Stearns, of St. Louis, dean of the Washington University Graduate School.

Declaring it would be impossible to outlaw the atom bomb, Dr. Urey said that the police work involved certainly would lead to atom bomb attacks.

The scientists agreed with a three-point summation of the current atomic bomb situation outlined by Dr. Urey.

(1) The great destructiveness of the atom bomb, because it "will destroy civilization if we have another war."

(2) The advantage accruing to the United States is only temporary, because "we have no secrets which cannot be discovered by any other nation."

(3) There is no defense and none to be expected.

healthy bodies and trained minds.

In a broadcast, Ball said there is no easy path to a system "under which every individual has an opportunity to develop his own individual capacities to the limit compatible with the same freedom for all other individuals."

"Easy Path" To Authority

"The easy path," he said, "is that which the people of Germany, of Italy, of Russia took, when they closed their minds and surrendered to the siren call of the dictators: 'Give us the power, and you'll have bread and jobs and security. What do freedom and democracy mean if you and your children are hungry?'"

Fascists and Communists are authoritarian, alike "in their determination to force all individuals in society to fit into their particular theory of what is a perfect society, and they are at one in their opposition to freedom and dignity for the individual," Ball declared.

Need Of Principles

He defined authoritarian as the opposite of liberal and said the political liberal aims at: (1) Assuring the greatest economic and political freedom for the individual consistent with that of others, and (2) Equality for all individuals.

The Senator said it is necessary to agree on fundamental political principles because "the vast issues facing us and the world cannot be solved except in terms of principles."

He termed the United Nations "the only instrument in existence which might eventually achieve expanding opportunities and freedom for individuals internationally under law."

"To Raise Less Fortunate"

Unequal living standards mean unequal opportunity for children, Ball observed.

"The liberal solution," he said, "is not to pull down the more fortunate, but to raise the less fortunate to a minimum standard, leaving it to the individual's own enterprise to rise above the minimum."

While we can afford a relatively high minimum standard here, Ball declared, the standards of a social-security system should not be so high that they will discourage a large number from exerting themselves to achieve a higher standard.

Control of Atom Called No Key To Ending War

3 Scientists on Ohio State Radio Institute Cite the Threat of Other Weapons

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 5 (AP).—Prevention of any type of war tops even atomic energy control in world importance because of other possible weapons of greater frightfulness, three scientists agreed today at Ohio State University's Sixteenth Institute for Education by Radio.

"Nothing in this century is more important than the prevention of war, not even control of the atomic bomb," Dr. Harold Urey, famed for his work with the bomb,

Senator Ball Outlines 'Liberal' Principles And Present Aims

Washington, May 5 (AP)—Senator Ball (R., Minn.) today said the "political liberal"—with the welfare of the individual in mind—favors:

1. Trimming or dropping the veto-power feature of the United Nations.

2. The loans to Britain and elimination of high tariffs in aiming at expanding freedom of individuals in world trade.

3. Draft extension and universal military training to "assure that the United States, as the leading proponent of liberal principles, will not become so weak that our voice is impotent in international affairs."

4. Expansion of social security to cover self-employed, professional people and farmers.

Stretching Before Raising

5. Stretching the minimum-wage plan to cover all employment "instead of proposing immediately to nearly double" the present standard.

6. Earmarking excess funds when the budget is balanced first to raise health and educational standards and particularly to give the underprivileged a better chance at

CLARE LUCE FLAYS RUSSIA'S POLICY

Urges Self-Government for Poland in Talk at New Britain.

NEW BRITAIN, May 5—(AP)—Attacking Russia's foreign policy especially in its relation to Poland, Representative Clare Boothe Luce this afternoon declared that our task here is to use every pressure possible to restore self-government in Poland, and to enable the Polish people there to feed, house and clothe themselves. She spoke at a largely attended meeting of the Polish American Congress, Connecticut chapter, in the senior high school auditorium.

Representative Luce said that a truly representative election in Poland will radically change the complexion of the present regime, but it is too soon to hope that such an election can change the present situation. She added, "it has not changed anything in Hungary where the Soviet occupation forces have just been increased, resulting in a further loss of food and freedom to the Hungarian people."

"Our efforts," she asserted, "not only in behalf of Poland but of all other oppressed European nations, are hampered at the source—right here—by too many individuals and groups whose only interest is in promoting the imperialistic aggressors. It is a fact that we must rid our own local and national administration of those who want to plunder and subjugate Europe, instead of restoring it to health and real freedom." All we need in Washington, Representative Luce told those present, is a handful of men like those who defended Warsaw and Monte Cassino.

She continued that Russia would want us to return to complete isolationism, give up our occupation armies, and give them the secret of the atomic bomb. "All this," she said, "is the price of Soviet friendship and would certainly lessen Russian's suspicion of us." But such a program, she added, is inconsistent with our ideals. "America must now live up to the promises of the Atlantic Charter and treat with firmness and vigilance the rehabilitation of Europe."

Returning to the question of Poland, Representative Luce forcible brought home the point that publicity, in the sense of unhampered flow of factual news, is our greatest weapon short of the atomic bomb. "It is the weapon most feared by those who practice imperialistic aggression in Poland, Hungary, Yugoslavia and Iran," she said.

Foreign Libraries To Get Books

Truman Lauds Work of Jewish Welfare Board

Praises Convention Theme, 'From War to Peace' as Symbol of National Unity

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP).—President Truman, in a message to the National Jewish Welfare Board today, said that "effective transition from war to peace requires the same kind of national unity and consecration to duty" as did the winning of the war.

The President's message was read by Frank L. Weil, president of the board, at a memorial service in Arlington Cemetery. The organization is holding its annual convention here.

The text of the message follows:

"It was a happy thought that prompted the National Jewish Welfare Board to adopt 'From War to Peace' as the theme of its first meeting since 1942.

"Coming on the eve of the first anniversary of V-E day, the keynote of your meeting serves to emphasize what too many have forgotten—that the laying down of arms and the signing of an armistice do not of themselves bring peace and that the effective transition from war to peace requires the same kind of national unity and consecration to duty as did the building of the arsenal of democracy and the winning of the war.

"As the united instrumentality of the American Jewish community for war service, the National Jewish Welfare Board's world-wide program of services and activities on behalf of the welfare, religious and morale needs of the men and women of the armed forces contributed substantially to victory. In training camps, on battlefields, in hospitals and now in veterans' facilities the six-pointed star of the Jewish Welfare Board is a universally recognized symbol of unselfish service to the nation.

"In common with all who fought and died for victory, these Jewish men and women were motivated by unity of purpose and animated by faith in the American way of life. The best monument to their memory would be the kind of world to justify their faith and their sacrifice.

"In planning how best your groups can facilitate the transition from war to peace, the annual meeting of the National Jewish Welfare Board will, I am confident, make a decided contribution to that end."

LONDON, MAY 5-(AP)-THE MOSCOW RADIO SAID TONIGHT THAT A DINNER IN HONOR OF PREMIER AHMED QAVAM OF IRAN WAS GIVEN SATURDAY AT THE SOVIET EMBASSY IN TEHRAN. ALL MEMBERS OF THE IRANIAN GOVERNMENT WERE PRESENT, THE RADIO ADDED. THE SOVIET AMBASSADOR, I.V.SADCHIKOV, SPOKE ALONG WITH QAVAM, THE BROADCAST SAID.

PARIS, MAY 5-(AP)-AN INFORMAL CONFERENCE OF THE FOUR-POWER FOREIGN MINISTERS ON THE EXPLOSIVE TRIESTE ISSUE WAS CALLED OFF TODAY BY MUTUAL ACCORD BECAUSE THE MINISTERS WERE STILL FATIGUED AFTER THEIR LONG DOUBLE SESSION YESTERDAY, AN AMERICAN INFORMANT SAID. TODAY'S CONFERENCE WAS TO HAVE INCLUDED A DISCUSSION OF SECRETARY BYRNES' PROPOSAL FOR HOLDING A PLEBISCITE IN THE AREA BETWEEN THE DIFFERENT BOUNDARY LINES SUGGESTED BY THE UNITED STATES AND RUSSIA FOR ITALY AND YUGOSLAVIA.

BYRNES' PROPOSAL MET OBJECTIONS BOTH FROM SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER V.M.MOLOTOV AND BRITAIN'S ERNEST BEVIN, AND BYRNES HAD ASKED THEM TO MEET ITALIAN INTERESTS "HALF WAY" ON COLONIAL AND REPARATIONS QUESTIONS IF THE DISPUTED CITY OF TRIESTE WAS GIVEN TO YUGOSLAVIA, BUT MET WITH A COOL RECEPTION, BRITISH INFORMANTS STATED.

THE MINISTERS WILL MEET AGAIN AT 10 A.M. (4 A.M. E.S.T.) TOMORROW.

STILL IN DISAGREEMENT OVER THE ITALIAN-YUGOSLAV BOUNDARY ISSUE, THE FOREIGN MINISTERS TOOK A BRIEF RESPITE TODAY AND PREPARED TO RECONVENE TOMORROW MORNING FOR FURTHER DISCUSSION OF THE U.S. PLEBISCITE PROPOSAL ON THAT QUESTION.

ONE AMERICAN SOURCE SAID THAT THE U.S. DELEGATION, WHICH REFUSED TO ACCEPT ONE SOVIET OFFER TO BARGAIN ON THE ITALIAN PEACE TREATY, WAS CONSIDERING WHETHER OTHER TRADES COULD BE MADE ON BALKAN ISSUES

FOR RUSSIAN CONCESSIONS IN ITALY.

IT WAS LEARNED AUTHORITATIVELY THAT AT A CONFERENCE OF BYRNES, SEN.TOM CONNALLY (D-TEX), SEN.ARTHUR H.VANDENBERG (R-MICH) AND OTHER TOP AMERICAN ADVISERS IT WAS DECIDED THAT THE UNITED STATES WOULD NOT BUDGE FROM HER STAND ON THE PROPOSED ITALIAN PACT, INCLUDING AN AMERICAN WISH TO AWARD TRIESTE TO ITALY.

HOWEVER, MOLOTOV'S OFFER TO MAKE A DEAL WAS SEEN AS THE FIRST POSSIBILITY FOR A BREAK IN WHAT WAS BECOMING A DEADLOCK IN THE CONFERENCE.

GEORGES BIDAULT, FRENCH FOREIGN MINISTER, WAS SAID TBY ONE INFORMANT TO HAVE TOLD MOLOTOV THAT ANY TRADING THAT MIGHT BE DONE WOULD HAVE TO COVER THE ENTIRE CONFERENCE AGENDA, NOT ITALY ALONE.

OTHER SOURCES SAID BIDAULT APPARENTLY WAS REFERRING TO FRENCH ATTEMPTS TO HAVE THE RUHR AND THE RHINELAND SEPARATED FROM GERMANY. BIDAULT WAS REPORTED, HOWEVER, TO HAVE TOLD HIS ADVISERS HE THOUGHT THE BALKAN QUESTIONS SHOULD BE INCLUDED.

SOME QUESTIONS ON THE BALKANS WHICH IT WAS SAID THE UNITED STATES MIGHT USE AS BARGAINING POINTS INCLUDED THE RECOGNITION OF BULGARIA, AND THE ROMANIAN-HUNGARIAN DISPUTE OVER TRANSYLVANIA.

RUSSIA HAS MAINTAINED THAT ROMANIA SHOULD RECEIVE ALL OF TRANSYLVANIA, WHILE THE AMERICAN POSITION IS THAT PART OF THE DISPUTED TERRITORY SHOULD REMAIN HUNGARIAN.

THE MAIN AMERICAN DEMANDS CONCERNING THE BALKAN TREATIES HAVE BEEN PROVISIONS FOR INTERNATIONAL USE OF THE DANUBE RIVER AND EQUAL TRADE OPPORTUNITIES. WHILE THE U.S.DELEGATION HAS INDICATED IT WOULD ADHERE TO THESE PRINCIPLES, IT WAS POSSIBLE A WAY MIGHT BE FOUND TO MEET THE RUSSIANS ON THE FORM AND WORDING OF THE CLAUSES CONCERNING THESE POINTS.

MOSCOW, MAY 5-(AP)-TWO NEW MINISTRIES HAVE BEEN SET UP BY ORDER OF THE PRESIDIUM OF THE SUPREME SOVIET, IT WAS ANNOUNCED TODAY. THEY ARE THE MINISTRY OF FOOD RESERVES, WHICH WILL BE UNDER DMITRI POMIN, AND THE MINISTRY OF MATERIAL RESERVES, UNDER MIKHAIL DANCHENKE.

MOSCOW, MAY 5-(AP)-PRAVDA TOOK BRITISH NEWSMEN TO TASK TODAY FOR USING "GAMBLING" TERMS IN DESCRIBING THE FOREIGN MINISTERS CONFERENCE, WHILE THE SOVIET PRESS IN GENERAL GAVE WIDE DISPLAY TO FOREIGN MINISTER V.M.MOLOTOV'S SPEECH IN PARIS SUPPORTING YUGOSLAV DEMANDS UPON ITALY.

"IT IS CHARACTERISTIC THAT SPECIFIC CIRCLES ARE TRYING TO CREATE AN UNHEALTHY ATMOSPHERE AROUND THE WORK OF THE FOREIGN MINISTERS COUNCIL," SAID PRAVDA. THE COMMUNIST NEWSPAPER CITED A DISPATCH FROM THE PARIS CORRESPONDENT OF REUTERS REFERRING TO U.S. SECRETARY OF STATE BYRNES AS PUTTING HIS "ACE OF SPADES" ON THE TABLE AND TO A LONDON DAILY MAIL STORY WHICH SAID THAT "ALMOST ALL THE STRONGEST TRUMPS HAVE BEEN PLAYED FACE UP ON THE CONFERENCE TABLE AND THE STRONGEST TRUMPS HAVE BEEN FOUND IN THE HAND OF BYRNES."

"THESE CARD PLAYERS SHOULD REMEMBER THAT LUXEMBOURG PALACE IS NOT A GAMING HOUSE AND THAT THE TASK OF THE CONFERENCE CONSISTS NOT OF OUTPLAYING SOMEONE ELSE BUT IN THE CONSTRUCTIVE WORK OF BUILDING A SOUND AND ALONG PEACE," ADMONISHED THE PRAVDA COMMENTATOR.

HE REITERATED PREVIOUS RUSSIAN CRITICISM OF BYRNES' PLAN FOR A 25-YEAR SUPERVISION OF GERMANY AFTER THE CURRENT OCCUPATION ENDS, AND CHARGED THAT OFFICIALS OF THE NEWLY-FORMED "SOCIALIST UNITY PARTY" REPRESENTING A MERGER OF COMMUNISTS AND SOME MEMBERS OF THE SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC PARTY WERE MEETING OPPOSITION IN THE NON-RUSSIAN ZONE.

"THE NEW UNITED PARTY OF GERMAN WORKERS HAS THE RIGHT TO EXPECT NOT OPPOSITION BUT A FAVORABLE ATTITUDE FROM THE SIDE OF ALLIED AUTHORITIES," SAID THE REVIEWER. "THIS IS DEMANDED BY THE PRINCIPLES PROCLAIMED AT THE BERLIN (POTSDAM) CONFERENCE OF THE THREE POWERS."

THE NEWS IN RUSSIAN NEWSPAPERS ABOUT THE PARIS CONFERENCE CONSISTED OF A TASS DISPATCH FROM THE FRENCH CAPITAL DEALING WITH THE MINISTERS' DISCUSSION OF THE YUGOSLAV-ITALIAN BORDER QUESTION. THE DISPATCH OCCUPIED A COLUMN AND A HALF SPACE, BUT PRACTICALLY THE ENTIRE STORY WAS DEVOTED TO MOLOTOV'S STAND AS OUTLINED IN A SPEECH TO THE MINISTERS.

TASS QUOTED MOLOTOV AS SAYING THAT THE DISPUTED PROVINCE OF VENEZIA GIVLIA WAS THE JUMPING OFF PLACE OF FASCIST EXPANSION AND THAT GIVING IT TO YUGOSLAVIA WOULD PUT AN END TO "HISTORICAL" INJUSTICE TO SOUTHERN SLAVS.

"I THINK SO, BUT WHY DON'T YOU ASK THE BRITISH EMBASSY? AFTER ALL, THE BRITISH ARE OCCUPYING EGYPT AND IT IS UP TO THEM TO SAY IF THEY ARE GOING TO EVACUATE OR NOT."

AFTER A FOUR-HOUR SECRET MEETING OF THE EGYPTIAN DELEGATION, PREMIER ISMAIL SIDKY PASHA WAS ASKED THE SAME QUESTION. HE REPLIED "NOT YET" AND MADE NO OTHER COMMENT. LOCAL NEWSPAPERS HAVE CARRIED REPORTS THAT THE BRITISH HAD AGREED TO PULL OUT THEIR TROOPS.

IRAN IS UNCERTAIN ON TROOP STATUS

Envoy Tells U. N. 'Interferences' Prevent Check on Reds in Azerbaijan

NEW YORK, May 6.—(AP) Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala declared to the United Nations Security council tonight that "interferences" in Azerbaijan province had prevented Iranian officials from checking on the status of Russian army evacuations into the Soviet Union.

He said in a memorandum that Soviet troops were known to have evacuated completely four other northern provinces ahead of the midnight deadline for their withdrawal under the terms of the April 5 Soviet-Iranian agreement.

Unable to Check

"The Iranian government has been unable, because of the interferences complained of, to exercise effective authority within Azerbaijan since 7 November 1945, and from that time to the present has had no opportunity to ascertain through its own officials what are the conditions prevailing throughout that province," Ala's report said.

He said Iran had been "informed through other sources" that the evacuation of Soviet troops from Azerbaijan has been going ahead and "it is said will have been completed before 7 May 1946," but he emphasized that "these reports have not been verified" by Iranian officials.

Four Provinces Cleared

Ala said it was impossible to make a complete report now but on the basis of information he had received from Tehran up to 5 p. m. today it was known that Soviet troops have been completely evacuated from the provinces of Khorassan, Gorgan, Mazanderan and Gilan.

"This information is based upon investigation by responsible officials of the government of Iran," Ala said in a memorandum to the council late tonight.

These developments came as the council's sub-committee on Spain held its second closed meeting to investigate charges that the Franco regime threatens world peace.

After a two hour and a half meeting, the sub-committee announced that it had studied new evidence submitted by members of the United Nations to response to last week's request for information.

It also disclosed that it had asked the U. N. War Crimes commission to communicate to it the names of wanted war criminals "at present on Spanish territory."

U. S. Prepares Report

The sub-commitee will meet again at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow. Meanwhile, informed quarters said the U. S. State department was drafting a comprehensive report to give the sub-committee all information the U. S. government has on the situation inside Spain. This report is expected to be ready by the end of the week.

Madrid dispatches said the Spanish Foreign office had flatly denied charges voiced by Poland that Spain has become a "refuge for German Nazis and a custodian of Nazi funds."

The sub-committee, however, has received no statement from the Franco government, Secretary-General Trygve Lie said today.

Another important development during the day was the completion of the roster of the U. N. Atomic Energy commission. Lie's office announced that Mexico—last of the 12 governments on the commission to name a representative—had chosen Dr. Manuel Sandoval Vallarta.

gan, Mazanderan and Gilan. This information is based upon investigations made by responsible officials of the government of Iran.

So far as the Province of Azerbaijan is concerned, the government has been informed through other sources that the evacuation of Soviet troops from that province has been going forward and it is said will have been completed before May 7, 1946. These reports have not been verified by direct observations of officials of the Iranian government. The reason for this is that, as previously pointed out to the Council, the Iranian government has been unable, because of the interferences complained of, to exercise effective authority within Azerbaijan since November 7, 1945, and from that time to the present has had no opportunity to ascertain through its own officials what are the conditions prevailing throughout that province. While it is hoped that arrangements can be made which will remove the unfortunate results of the interferences complained of, it is impossible to forecast at this time with certainty what the subsequent developments will be.

As soon as the Iranian government is able to ascertain through its official representatives the true state of affairs in the Province of Azerbaijan, the facts will be reported promptly to the Council.

I have the honor to be, sirs, your obedient servant,

HUSSEIN ALA.
Iranian Ambassador.

HIS EXCELLENCY DR. HAFEZ AFIFI PASHA, President of the Security Council.

Iran Report to U. N. Council

N.Y. Tribune

Following is the complete text of the message from Hussein Ala, Iranian Ambassador, concerning removal of Russian troops from Iran, which was delivered last night to the United Nations Security Council:

May 6, 1946.

Sir: On April 4, 1946, the Security Council resolved "that the Council defer further proceedings on the Iranian appeal until May 6, 1946, at which time the Sovie government and the Iranian government are requested to repor to the Council whether the withdrawal of all Soviet troops from the whole of Iran has been completed and at which time the Council shall consider what, if any, further proceedings on the Iranian appeal are required." . . .

The Iranian appeal set forth in the letter of March 18, 1946, related to two matters which it was stated were likely to endanger international peace and security. The first of these referred to the maintenance of Soviet troops on Iranian territory after March 2, 1946; and the second (which was first presented to the Council at its meetings in London) referred to Soviet interferehces in the internal affairs of Iran.

With respect to the withdrawal of the troops, the Soviet Union has officially informed the Security Council that the evacuation would be completed during a period of one and one-half months from March 24, 1946.

For the reasons hereinafter stated, it is impossible for me to make a complete report at this time. On the basis of the information received by me from my government up to 5 o'clock this afternoon, I am able, however, to present to the Council the following report:

Soviet troops have now been completely evacuated from the Provinces of Khorassan, Gor-

U.N. Amendment To Clarify Veto May Be Asked

D. Hagerson

New York, May 6 (AP)—Trygve Lie, secretary general of the United Nations, said today that unless the Security Council eventually was able to agree on the vital veto question, the issue might have to be tossed back to the 51 United Nations in the form of a Charter amendment.

Lie, speaking at a press conference, confirmed reports that the Security Council's procedure, experts were deadlocked on the veto question, which he said must have the unanimous agreement of the Big Five powers for settlement.

Would Require Approval Of All

If the Council itself failed to reconcile the views of Russia and the Western powers, he said, the question would have to go to the General Assembly for possible amendment of the Charter to define specifically in what type of action the veto would apply.

Such an amendment would require the ratification of the 51 governments in the Uunited Nations and would take many months.

No Report on Iran

Lie also

DAY

No reports had yet been received from either Iran or Russia on the progress of Soviet troop withdrawals from Iran. Under terms of a Russian-Iranian agreement, the deadline for complete withdrawal is midnight tonight.

He did not know whether Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko would attend Wednesday's session. He recalled Gromyko's statement that he would take no part in any further discussions of the Iranian question and said:

"Let's wait and see."

No Request On Palestine

He had not yet received a request to place the Palestine question before the Security Council.

Replies had started to come in on the Spanish case in response to a request to the 51 United Nations for any evidence that the Franco regime was threatening world peace. He said he could not give any specific information on the replies.

The Atomic Energy Commission would meet before the end of the month.

Satisfied With Work

Lie, asked to comment on the work of the Security Council so far, said:

"I think we can be satisfied. There are differences of opinion between the big powers and the little powers and among the big powers themselves, but that was to be expected, I think that is why we have the Council."

In response to another question, Lie said he disagreed with some of the delegates who had expressed the belief privately that he had overstepped his authority when he recently submitted an opinion that there was some doubt whether the Iranian case could be kept on the agenda after Iran withdrew her complaint against Russia.

Defends Statement

He said he believed he had ample authority under the Charter to submit such an opinion, but that the Council's committee on rules and procedure had not yet reached a decision as to his exact relationship with the Council.

Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala was expected in New York late today to report to the Council that all Russian troops—or virtually all—have been withdrawn from Iranian soil.

Will Be Ready Wednesday

It is not known whether he would submit his report immediately or wait until tomorrow, but in any event it was expected to be in the hands of the delegates when the Council meets to take up the Iranian case.

This report, unless questioned by a member of the Council, was expected to open the way for the Council to officially close the case.

Reports reaching both the State Department and the Iranian Embassy in Washington yesterday indicated that all Russian forces had left Iran, with the possible exception of some in the border territories of Azerbaijan province.

Russ May Publish Report

Similar reports have been received by British officials in New York.

Some delegates expressed the belief that Russia might make an official announcement in Moscow sometime today or tonight that the evacuation of Iran had been completed. Such a move, it was pointed out, would enable Russia to get her statement before the Council without making a formal report.

Disposition of the Iranian case, which first came before the Council in London January 19, would leave only the Spanish case on the agenda.

The five-man subcommittee now investigating Poland's charges must report by May 31.

The subcommittee was scheduled to hold its second closed meeting this afternoon. So far its activities have been confined to working out its procedure and sifting almost 500 documents already submitted on the case.

Evacuation Of Iran Near Completion

Tehran, May 6 (AP)—Prince Firouz, Minister of Propaganda, said today that the Iranian Government was "completely satisfied" that the Russian evacuation would be completed by midnight tonight.

Neither the Iranian nor Russian Government issued a formal announcement of the evacuation, however.

DAY

"As far as we know, everything is complete," Firouz said, "but we have no official information."

"A Military Affair"

A Russian Embassy official said: "This is not our affair. The evacuation is handled by the military."

A Government spokesman said the Russians had left four northern provinces and were quitting Azerbaijan rapidly. A foreign official expressed doubt, however, that the Russians possibly could evacuate Azerbaijan by today, deadline for the withdrawal of their troops.

Secret negotiations between Iranians and Azerbaijan officials continued in a village near Tehran.

Pravda Charges U.N. Domination Principle

London, May 6 (AP)—The Moscow newspaper Pravda said today the United Nations "faces a grave danger of being converted into a tool of the policy" of the United States and Great Britain, "which are seeking domination over the whole world."

An article in the Communist party newspaper, broadcast by the Moscow radio, said the United Nations could "achieve success . . . only if it is built on the principle of the equality of states and not on the principle of the domination of some powers over other countries."

The article said Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Secretary, proposed at Moscow a tripartite commission for Iranian affairs and that the United States supported the plan, but Russia rejected it as a "brutal violation" of Iran's sovereignty.

When the Iranian Government also rejected the plan, Pravda added, "the hypocritical defenders of Iranian sovereignty" chose the United Nations to "pursue their aim, which consisted in frustrating the Soviet-Iranian agreement."

British Interests In Iran Safe, McNeil Believes

London, May 6 (AP)—Foreign Under Secretary Hector McNeil expressed belief in Commons today that Iran will "carry out adequately its duty to insure the protection of British interests" in southern Iran.

Holdings there are largely Anglo-Iranian oil-company concessions. The safety of these was questioned by F. H. MacLean, Conservative, who pointed out that British troops were withdrawn two months ago.

YUGOSLAVIA BARES CHARGES AGAINST GEN. MIHAILOVIC

L. Lery

LONDON, May 6 — (AP) The Yugoslav government tonight accused Gen. Draja Mihailovic, former leader of the Chetniks, of planning the annihilation of 1,600,000 Yugoslavs in order to create an "ethnically pure" greater Serbia.

Mihailo NIGHT Allied acclaim early in the war when he led his Chetnik army against the Axis invaders of Yugoslavia, was captured March 13 in a mountain hiding place by the forces of his rival, Premier Marshal Tito. Mihailovic now is awaiting trial in Belgrade on war crimes charges.

The Yugoslav embassy in London released a volume containing copies of 81 documents which the text described as being, for the most part, correspondence and military orders issued by Mihailovic's headquarters.

The volume charged Mihailovic with "direct treasonable commerce with the enemy" and with planning "a fantastic totalitarian Yugoslavia."

The Chetnik leader, the book said, proposed "to transform complex Yugoslavia into a greater Serbia of orthodox faith alone, to which would be uneasily appended a purely Catholic rump Slovenia, and a truncated Catholic Croatia."

"To this end, it was proposed in Bosnia and Heregovina to eliminate upwards of 1,000,000 Moslems and over 500,000 Catholics," the volume alleged, "while in the historic Sandzak x x x the best part of 100,000 more Moslems were to lose their lives or else suffer forcible conversion to the orthodox faith which they had resisted for generations in the past."

Russian Loan Oversubscribed

London, Tuesday, May 7 (AP)—The Moscow radio today said Soviet citizens already have oversubscribed the new 20,000,000,000-ruble domestic loan announced May 3 by 447,000,000 rubles. The ruble has a nominal value of approximately 19 cents.

Germans to Aid British Study

LONDON, May 6 (AP)—Twenty-five "non-Nazi" German scientists will be brought to England soon to assist in developing jet propulsion aerodynamics, the Ministry of Supply announced today.

'AUNTIE MAY' IS HONORED

Donor of Gifts to British Seamen Identified as New Yorker

LONDON, May 6 (AP)—"Auntie May," known throughout the British Navy for the gifts she sent anonymously to seamen during the war, returned to London today with a gift those seamen had given her at Devonport on Saturday—a silver model of a destroyer.

The 65-year-old Mrs. M. Hanrahan of Hampshire House, New York, whose identity as "Auntie May" had just been disclosed, still preferred anonymity and declined to comment on the honor bestowed on her or her wartime activities.

Labor M. P. Is Starting 3d Week on German Diet

Vernon's Average 1,010 Calories; Reports No Ill Effects

LONDON, May 6 (AP).—Major Wilfred F. Vernon, Labor M. P., started his third week today on a diet equivalent to the ration for Germans in the British occupation zone, after losing five pounds in the first two weeks.

He started the diet as an experiment to determine its effect on mind and body. He attends sessions of Parliment and works in his garden.

DAY

"My diet during the week has varied between 920 and 1,120 calories, giving an average of 1,010 calories a day," he said. "Apart from a general feeling of hunger, I have not felt any ill effects, nor am I conscious of any loss of efficiency."

At the end of the first week Major Vernon had said the diet left his body weak and his mind slow.

PARLEY DEADLOCK BLOCKS DECISION ON ITALIAN TREATY

Foreign Ministers' Conference Shifts Attention to Balkan Issues

TRIESTE ISSUE REMAINS

Russia Firm in Effort to Win Gains for Yugoslavia.

J. Dynan

PARIS, May 6 — (AP) The Foreign Ministers' conference, conceding failure, at least temporarily, of its attempts to write an Italian peace treaty, shelved the deadlocked Yugoslav-Italian frontier issue today and decided to begin examination of treaties with former Axis satellites in the Balkans.

NIGHT

Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov was reported to have indicated Russian willingness to abandon the Soviet Union's demands for $300,000,000 in reparations from Italy and a dominant position in Tripolitania if Yugoslav were given Trieste, but U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes was said to have been adamant.

Trieste Issue in Dispute

Some sources here said that if the conference ends in stalemate, the issue upon which it will founder will be the Yugoslav-Italian question, embracing the dispute over ownership of strategic Trieste. The Americans insist upon Italian sovereignty over the port, the Russians upon Yugoslav ownership of that historic gateway to the central European plains.

Acting on a proposal by Byrnes, who observed that the conference seemed deadlocked on the issue, the foreign ministers instructed their deputies to prepare data on the Balkan treaties. The deputies met and placed the Romanian treaty first on the agenda of tomorrow morning's session, conference sources said.

Delegations Attend

Delegations from Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary converged on Paris to present their cases. The procedure will be the same as for the Italian treaty. The deputies will draft a list of unsolved issues for submission to the conference.

The small, informal session today concentrated on the most important issues of the Italian treaty—the Yugoslav-Italian dispute, Italian colonies and reparations.

The Russians were reported to have indicated they might support a French proposal to assign the colonies to Italy under a single nation United Nations trusteeship.

Molotov accused Britain at one point in the discussion, French officials said, of asking independence for Lybia and Greater Somaliland only to cloak plans to maintain British bases in the two areas. Ernest Bevin, British foreign secretary, was said to have replied that Britain in the campaigns of 1942—a low point in Allied fortunes—promised the natives never to allow Italian administrators to return.

Differences on Balkans

An American informant said tonight the deputies listed the points of difference they found still existed in the Balkan treaties, but that they agreed on a proposed treaty with Finland which would be referred to the conference.

For Romania, differences were said to exist concerning Transylvania, other frontiers, the Danube and on the existence of fascist organizations.

For Bulgaria, the questions of reparations and its frontiers, and possibly claims for western Thrace and access to the Aegean sea still were open.

For Hungary, disagreements were listed over the annulment of the Vienna arbitration in which Hitler assigned lands to Hungary, the question of Hungarian and Czechoslovak frontiers, and reparations.

Observers noted that the question of disarmament in the Balkans, a sore point at the London conference, was not listed.

British sources, meantime, said it was learned that Molotov had offered to yield the Dodecanese islands to Greece as one of the concessions on the Yugoslav question.

Molotov's insistence that Yugoslavia be given Trieste as well as most of Venezia Giulia was assailed by Byrnes as violating a decision reached at the previous conference in London that the new frontier would be based on ethnic grounds.

It was learned that Byrnes' proposal of Saturday for a plebiscite in Venezia Giulia was not raised again at today's session. (1400)

BIG FOUR SHIFT ATTENTION TO BALKAN PACTS

Reach Deadlock in Talks on Italian-Yugoslav Frontier Issue.

U. S. MAY OFFER CONCESSIONS

Any Decisions Are Expected to Cause Violent Reactions in Countries Affected.

Paris, May 6 (A. P.).—Deadlocked on the Italian-Yugoslav frontier issue, the Foreign Ministers Council instructed its deputies today to start examination of the Balkan treaties, beginning with Romania, an American informant said.

DAY

The four [illegible] ministers of Russia, Britain, France and the United States reviewed their position on the Italian treaty and found the question of Trieste and the Italian-Yugoslav frontier was the key difficulty. Thereupon United States Secretary of State Byrnes proposed that the deputies be instructed to start work on Balkan treaties.

Neither the Americans nor the Russians would budge from their stands on the Italian treaty at the meeting today. Byrnes told his three colleagues, the informant said, that he was willing to accept either the proposed British or Franch frontier lines between Italy and Yugoslavia but that acceptance of the Russian proposal would violate the London conference decisionn to set the frontier on ethnic grounds.

Byrnes's proposal of Saturday to hold a plebiscite in the disputed region between the proposed American and Russian lines was not raised at today's meeting.

Other disputed points reviewed at the three-hour session were the future of Italy's colonies and reparations. It was stated that a report of a reparations study commission would be ready in a few days.

May Offer Concessions.

With the switch to Balkan problems, the possibility was seen that the United States might offer concessions in the Balkans to break the deadlock on Italy.

Coincidentally, reports reaching Paris indicated that whatever decisions were reached by the Foreign Ministers might result in violent reactions from the countries affected. These reports included accounts of open defiance in Italy, strikes and strife in Austria and veiled threats from Yugoslavia.

Russian Foreign Minister Molotov was reported to have offered Saturday to meet Italian interests "halfway" on colonial and reparations questions if Trieste were given to Yugoslavia. This proposal, regarded in some quarters as the first possibility of a break in the deadlock, was rejected. But an American informant said that the United States might be willing to trade with Russia on the Balkans in return for Russian concessions in Italy.

Some questions which the United States might be willing to use as bargaining points involved differences over recognition of Bulgaria and the granting of a portion of Transylvania to Romania, it was said.

An American informant, meanwhile, said that Byrnes had decided to insist on an explanation from Molotov of an attack by the Moscow Radio Friday on a United States proposal for a four-power pact to insure disarmament in Germany. The broadcast, which quoted a Tass dispatch from Paris, said the proposal was a curtain to hide American intentions to withdraw troops from Germany. One member of the American delegation said the broadcast was "an attack on American good faith while the Soviets were negotiating with us."

Hints of Trouble.

Among the indications that, whatever the actions of the ministers, some nations would be dissatisfied were these:

1. Italian sailors were reported to be considering the possibility of scuttling their ships if final terms for the division of the Italian fleet are too harsh.

2. General strikes and demonstrations were reported in the Tyrol, following the ministers' refusal to meet Austria's demand for the return of the South Tyrol from Italy.

3. Edward Kardelj, Yugoslav Deputy Premier, told a press conference here Saturday that his country "could never accept a Big Four decision giving Yugoslav peoples to another country."

French Avoiding Crisis Now

Paris, May 6 (AP)—Victorious in its battle against the Left-Wing-supported draft of a constitution for the Fourth French Republic, the Popular Republican Movement (MRP) pledged itself today to remain in the Cabinet and avoid a Government [illegible]

NIGHT

The national rejection of the Communist-Socialist draft engendered bitterness in Communist quarters against their Socialist allies, but an open break between the two parties was considered unlikely.

Both Communists and Socialists plainly were chagrined by their defeat in yesterday's referendum. Political analysts, however, believed neither party wished to provoke a Cabinet rupture in the short time before the June 2 elections.

"There Must Be No Crisis"

Francisque Gay, MRP Minister of State in the three-party coalition government, indicated his Moderate party had no intention of upsetting France's position in the current negotiations of the four-power Foreign Ministers by precipitating a crisis.

France's representative at the conference is Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, an MRP leader.

"There must be no crisis in the Government," Gay said. "It must stay as it is because of the negotiations now going on in foreign affairs."

Earlier there had been speculation that the strong MRP might walk out of the Government it formed with the Socialists and Communists. Its leaders repeatedly had threatened, before the referendum, to withdraw in opposition to the Socialist-Communist draft of a charter providing for an all-powerful single-house legislature.

Scrapped Or Overhauled

The charter now must be scrapped or thoroughly overhauled by the new constituent assembly which will be chosen in June. MRP and Rightist groups who opposed the charter en bloc expressed confidence that a principal result of the referendum would be creation of a legislature like the United States Congress—in a constitution providing checks and balances in the executive, legislative and judicial branches.

The charter was turned down by 1,170,497 votes in France, North Africa and Corsica. The still missing colonial vote was small and could not change the result.

Twenty million people voted in the referendum from France's total of 25,063,490 voters. There were indications that some Socialists abstained rather than vote for the charter, but since abstention could not explain the outcome, it appeared there had been other defections in the ranks of the Socialist and Communist parties which officially gave the constitution their full backing.

The final vote as announced by the Interior Ministry was:

Against the constitution	10,450,883
For the constitution	9,280,386

While the Socialist-Communist bloc lost out at the polls, it drew only 400,000 fewer votes than in last October's elections, when the Communists emerged as France's largest single party and the Socialists as the third largest.

Communist-Socialist Campaign

Little change could be expected in the political scene as a result of the referendum except for an anticipated stepped-up Communist campaign for a more solid alliance with the Socialists. The Communists would gain little from a break with the Socialists, since alone neither party could muster a majority in the Assembly.

Daniel Mayer, Socialist party leader, said the Socialists would not complain about the result of the vote, but he urged that the new Assembly to be elected in June work speedily to form a permanent government as soon as possible. Like the old, the new Assembly will be empowered to sit a maximum of seven months for the purpose of drawing up a charter.

Leftist Constitution Rejected In France by 1,170,497 Votes

Referendum Gives Sharp Setback to Bloc of Communists and Socialists—New Assembly Must Be Elected.

U. Pond

Paris, May 6 (A. P.).—French voters, delivering the sharpest setback to the left wing bloc since the liberation of France, rejected a Communist-Socialist supported constitution in yesterday's referendum, complete official returns showed today.

Totals announced by the Ministry of the Interior indicated that the constitution was defeated by more than 1,170,497 votes. These figures, complete for the ninety-three departments of France, including all three in North Africa, were:

Against the constitution—10,450,883.

DAY

For the constitution—9,280,386.

Approximately 80 per cent of the registered voters participated.

Defeat of the proposal means that France will elect a new Constituent Assembly June 2. This assembly will name a new provisional government and draft another proposed constitution for the Fourth Republic.

The leftist-supported constitution would have established an all-powerful unicameral legislature, empowered to appoint executive and judicial branches of the Government. The proposal was opposed bitterly by the conservative Popular Republican Movement (M. R. P.) and other right-wing parties, on the grounds that it would give a virtual dictatorship to whatever faction won control of the legislature.

Opponents of the measure also maintained that it failed to provide "checks and balances" necessary for a democracy, and pointed out that the President of France would be merely a figurehead.

The MRP and Gen. Charles de Gaulle, former president, had advocated a two-chamber legislature, and strong executive and judicial branches of government. De Gaulle, now in retirement, did not have an elector's registration card and did not vote in the referendum.

The issue now arises anew as to whether any of the three major parties—Socialist, Communist or MRP—can gain control of the new provisional government, or whether there will be another coalition.

There was a strong indication that many Socialists either abstained from voting in the referendum or voted against the constitution. Belief was expressed by some observers that this might mean that the Socialist-Communist accord would crumble. The well-regimented Communist vote was probably solid in favor of the constitution.

In general, despite the heated campaign which preceded the referendum, the voting was orderly. Even Paris and its "Red Ring" of industrial suburbs voted against the proposal by a slight margin.

The vote for the constitution was strongest in the heavily industrialized areas around Amiens and Marseille. The provinces were generally against the proposal. (1400)

FRENCH AGENTS REPORTED HELD

Paris, May 6 (A. P.).—Col. Andre de Wavrin, chief of Gen. de Gaulle's wartime intelligence service, and up to fifty of his secret service officers have been placed under arrest, authorized French informants said today. Charges were not disclosed.

These informants were quoted by the [illegible] Press agency as saying De Wavrin and a number of his officers were placed under close arrest. He was known during the war as "Col. Passy."

Later, both the Cabinet and the Ministry of Interior announced that it was "inexact" to say that "Col. Passy and a certain number of his collaborators were under close arrest." Neither agency would elaborate.

De Wavrin's organization was formed in London shortly after France was liberated. Left-wing elements frequently have charged that the service was being used for political purposes.

NAZI BANK CHIEF DENIES HE KNEW SOURCE OF GOLD

N. NORGAARD

NUERNBERG, May 6—(AP) Walther Funk admitted today that S. S. (elite guard) troops had deposited gold taken from Nazi concentration camp victims in the Reichsbank when he was its president, but denied that he knew the gold was extracted from the victims' mou

NIGHT

When Assistant U. S. Prosecutor Thomas Dodd during cross-examination referred to the practice of S. S. troops in removing gold fillings from their victims' teeth to be taken to the Reichsbank, the little moon-faced defendant told the International Military Tribunal:

"I don't know anything about it. I only know there was a deposit by the S. S. I thought it was gold taken from the inmates of concentration camps, mostly gold coins."

Dodd also drew from Funk an admission that he had planned to use war prisoners to make up the deficit in the German labor supply as early as 1939.

The former Nazi economics minister and Reichsbank president sought to prove he was only chief of Nazi civilian economics, but Dodd introduced a letter showing that Funk sought control over war economics as well.

"I was only trying to clarify my position," Funk protested. "The fact is I was never successful. Goering said he never would turn over war economics to me."

He wound up his defense with a statement that he stuck to the Nazi regime "to save the Reich from becoming a nation of cowherds x x x the only way possible to do that was for everyone to remain at his post to the end. I never had any talent to be a betrayer or conspirator."

Funk portrayed himself as a mere stooge for the topflight Nazis, saying that Hitler considered conversations with me superfluous." He denied having any part in advancing "aggressive warfare."

Nazi Money Tactics Told Of By Funk

The Hague, May 6 (AP)—Queen Wilhelmina today rejected an appeal by Anton Mussert, Dutch Nazi leader, for reversal of his conviction for treason before a war-crime court. It was Mussert's last hope of evading the death penalty imposed by the tribunal.

NORGAARD

Nuernberg, May 6 (AP)—Walther Funk told the International Military Tribunal here today that Germany had kept her currency stable throughout the war and had "overthrown the old thesis that war disturbs monetary values," but he quickly disowned any share in Nazi economic policies.

The former Nazi Economics Minister and Reichsbank president, testifying in his own defense, said that Hermann Goering, as plenipotentiary of the four-year plan, had dictated to the Ministry of Economics until 1942. After that it was Albert Speer who called the signals as Minister of Munitions, he said.

DAY

Defe[illegible] Decrees

Funk admitted that he had issued decrees barring Jews from economic life after the anti-Semitic riots of 1938, but defended his actions on the grounds that they served to insure the Jews from further terror.

He said he gave them compensation for their confiscated businesses.

The defendant, who also served the Reich as press chief, said he had protested to Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels against anti-Jewish terrorism, but specified that his complaint was based upon the fact that "valuable goods were being destroyed and relations abroad damaged."

Pictures Self As A Stooge

Portraying himself as a mere stooge for top-flight Nazis, Funk testified that "Hitler considered conversations with me superfluous."

He insisted that Hitler's plans for the attack on Russia astonished him, because "Russian deliveries of ore, oil and grain to us were made very promptly, while our deliveries on machines had lagged."

DUTCH QUISLING WILL DIE TODAY

THE HAGUE, May 6—(AP) Anton Mussert, small Dutch quisling, will be shot to death tomorrow for high treason.

Queen Wilhelmina rejected his plea for clemency today, sealing his doom.

NIGHT

Mussert [illegible] Hitler's appointee as "leader of the Netherlands people." He was convicted last Dec. 12 of three counts of attempting to bring Holland under foreign domination, aiding the enemy and seeking to overthrow lawful authority.

His attorney said Mussert was "prepared for death."

He will be the second person to be executed in Holland in peace time since 1854. Max Blokzijl, who became a radio commentator for the Germans, died before a firing squad in March.

Arnold Meyer, head of the Nazi "black front" in Holland during the occupation, was transferred from Tilburg prison to Den Bosch in preparation for a trial by a special tribunal. He sought to recruit Dutchmen for German forces on the Russian front.

Citizens Stranded Since 1939 Leaving Reich

77-year-old Naturalized American Revealed to Have Led Yanks to Sauckel Hide-out.

Bremen, May 5 (Delayed) (A. P.).—Another group of American citizens, who were caught in Germany by the war, arrived today at the Bremen staging area to be repatriated aboard the troopship Marine Slasher, sailing in May 9. A tota of sixty-five Americans are now scheduled to return in the first repatriation contingent of 900.

One of the repatriates, 77-year old Paul Sixtus, was a German who became a naturalized American in 1904, and in 1945 gave the American Counter-Intelligence information leading to the arrest of Fritz Sauckel, one of the top Nazis now being tried for war crimes at Nuernberg.

Sixtus brought his wife and daughter Elsie to Germany in 1937, after he had been advised to go to Europe for his headth. When the Americans entered the war in 1941, the Germans refused either to recognize the family as American aor to permit them to leave Germany. The daughter was forced to work in the Diesel research plant in Nuernberg and continued to work there until bombing destroyed everything she possessed.

After the family's liberation by the American Third Army, the father worked for the American Commander-in-Chief. He had heard that Sauckel and his gang were hiding in a natural cave near where his family lived, and he led a C.-in-C. detachment which one night surprised the gang as they returned to the cave, and captured all but three who committed suicide.

The family is going to join Sixtus's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Salvator of Hazleton, Pa.

New York Girl on Hand.

Blonde, blue-eyed, 16-year-old Zeta Kuhl, born in New York city of naturalized parents, came to Germany at the age of nine, in June, 1939, to visit her grandmother in Chemnitz. When the war began, she could not return to America alone. She went to a German school, where "the teachers gave me a bad time because I refused to join the German Girl's League," she said, and added that in 1945 "they told me I was not American any more and not German either but Stateless." That point of view was soon reversed by the arrival of the American Army, and Zeta is now en route to rejoin her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willi Kuhl of 230 East 78th street, New York.

Before her repatriation, Zeta met an American seaman, Wayne Schultz of Rockford, Ill. They became engaged and hope to be married soon.

Herbert Larisch was born in 1930 in Far Rockaway, Queens, and brought to Germany in 1939 by his mother to visit his grandparents. The mother returned to the United States, intending to bring her son back to America later in the year. The war intervened, however, and the Nazis tried to force the nine-year-old boy into the Hitler Youth movement. For three years he evaded them with the help of his German grandfather, but finally in 1943 he was drafted into the organization.

Shortly afterward he escaped and hid with an aunt in a remote mountain village, where he was liberated by the American Third Army in 1945. Herbert is now on his way back to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Larisch of Hewlett, Long Island.

On Way to Port Chester.

William John Guman was born in Port Chester, N. Y. His father was born in the United States. He was brought to Germany at the age of 9 and had forgotten every word of English he knew.

Guman was barred from high school and forced to work in a German war factory in Leipzig. When the Russians captured the city, he was picked up by a Russian patrol and placed in a prisoner of war camp. The Russians refused to believe he was an American because he spoke only German.

He spoke highly of the Russians, however, and said he knew of no case of ill treatment by Russian guards. After four months in camp he succeeded in obtaining his birth certificate and was released. Brought across the interzone border by the French Red Cross, he then made his way to Frankfurt, where he obtained a passport to rejoin his parents, who live at 189 Pemberton Road, Port Chester.

Coming Without Her Parents.

Brunette, 15-year-old Anne May Sutor looked like a typical American girl. She was born in New York city and came to Germany with her parents in 1938 to visit her grandmother in Bavaria. When the war came, her parents, who were not naturalized, were unable to return to the United States and they refused to permit the daughter to return alone.

Miss Sutor helped her parents in a Munich bakery throughout the war. Several times, the Gestapo threatened to send her to a concentration camp for giving food to British prisoners of war working in the city. Then, shortly before the war ended, the bakery was destroyed by bombs, and the family moved to Ingolstadt, which the Americans captured.

Miss Sutor then worked for the American Military Government and became engaged to Lieut. Richard Finkler of Syracuse, N. Y., a member of the Ninth Division's champion hockey team. Finkler is being deployed to the United States this week, and the couple expect to be married as soon as possible, she said. She intends to devote all her energies to obtaining immigration permits for her parents, who still live in Bavaria. Meanwhile, she will live with her uncles and aunts, Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Simon and Mr. and Mrs. John Maier, both of 588 Amsterdam avenue, New York. Asked what she remembered about the United States, Miss Sutor laughed and said: "Nothing, only that it's kinda nice."

General Betts In Critical Condition

Frankfurt, May 6 (A. P.).—Brig. Gen. Edward C. Betts, 56 years old, Judge Advocate-Gen-Europe, was reported to be "in a Europe, was reported to be 'in a very critical condition" today, a week after he suffered a heart attack.

Crop Planting Well Advanced In East Prussia

German Farmers Praise Russia for Letting Them Go On With Their Plans

By Eddy Gilmore

KOENIGSBERG, May 6 (AP).—The farmers of East Prussia, the land of the German Junkers (landed gentry) which has become a part of the Soviet Union, have done what appears to be a surprisingly good job of spring planting.

Russian authorities give no official figures on East Prussia's planting, but as the first foreign correspondent to visit this former capital of East Prussia I have been able to piece together a comprehensive picture of the situation.

"Crops are not going to be what they were before the war, of course," a German told me, "but everything considered, it won't be too bad."

Flying over East Prussia one could see evidence to back up his prediction. Thousands of square miles of farm land were being tilled.

The Russians have not as yet introduced their collective farm system to East Prussia, although they have broken up all the big estates, just as they have done in other occupied areas. Collectivization probably will come, for the Soviet people regard this area now as an integral part of their nation.

Three German farmers were interviewed, without arrangement by the Russians. These Germans said a large amount of their farm machinery had been lost in the war, but that some of it had been saved and was in operation. With the co-operation of the Russians, the Germans said, they were able to move available machinery from farm to farm.

A very large proportion of the Germans who were on their farms when the Red Army fought into East Prussia are still on their land, bu', of course, many of the men who were called into the German Army have not come back. The Russians have brought a fairly large number of settlers into the district, but the Germans said there were not as many of these as they had expected.

These Germans praised the Russians for realizing that East Prussia is one of the best food-producing areas of Europe and for letting them go ahead with their plans.

The Germans had some seed, and they said the Russians supplemented this. These Germans said they were confident they would be allowed to keep a large part of their harvest, although they said nothing definite has been promised them.

They added that except in the cases of members of the Nazi party the Russians have let them go their way. Red Army troops now in the area are well behaved and go about their own business, they reported.

Koenigsberg is badly battered from the fighting. Most of the debris has been cleaned up, but no progress has been made toward reconstruction.

'Pravda' Calls Trieste Center Of a Slav Area

Port Is Declared Essential to Venezia Giulia and Yugoslavs' Access to Sea

MOSCOW, May 6 (AP). — An article in "Pravda" asserted today that it would be an injustice to leave Trieste as a part of Italy and cut off a considerable portion of Yugoslavia from access to the Adriatic Sea.

DAY

The frontier dispute is now before the foreign ministers of Russia, the United States, Great Britain and France in Paris. The conference entirely dominated the foreign news pages of "Pravda."

A signed article by N. Gruzdev said the central fact in settling the Italian-Yugoslavia frontier dispute is that Trieste for ten centuries served as the economic center of "the ancient Slav district" of Venezia Giulia. The newspaper printed a large map showing the Soviet, British, American and French lines of demarcation proposed at the Council meeting.

The 2,000-word article by Gruzdev cited population statistics, and concluded that Venezia Giulia has been and still is overwhelmingly Slavic and that Trieste, is in its center.

"There are not two different problems—of Trieste and Venezia Giulia—there is only one Slav Venezia Giulia, and its historical and economic center is Trieste," the article said.

Trieste was termed the Slav hinterland's traditional "window on the sea," paraphrasing an old description of Leningrad.

"The economic ties of Trieste and Venezia Giulia are such that Trieste can develop only with the common boundary," the "Pravda" story said. "It is hard to find another port in Europe which in such a measure is inseparable from its immediate hinterland."

The writer contended Italy had enough ports before she got Trieste from old Austria-Hungary, and that the real reason Italy wanted Trieste was political. He charged that Trieste had been used as a base for the preparation of Fascist aggression in the Balkans.

SPANISH DENIAL SENT TO COUNCIL

Madrid Points To Action On German Refugees And Funds

Madrid, May 6 (AP)—The Spanish Foreign Office tonight flatly denied charges voiced by Poland before the United Nations Security Council that Spain has become a "refuge for German Nazis and a custodian of Nazi funds."

A copy of that statement was handed Philip Bonsal, United State chargé d'affaires, shortly before it was given to the press. It was assumed a copy also was given to Sir Victor Mallet, British Ambassador.

The statement recounted in detail the actions of the Spanish Government in connection with German property since the fall of Hitler.

NIGHT

"Although the falsity and bad faith of these (Polish) declarations is evident, the Spanish Government desires to show it has in no way obstructed the labor of the Allied Control Council (of Germany)," the statement said.

It added that Germans who remained in Spain did so, not because the Spanish Government obstructed efforts to repatriate them but "because difficulties are presented in a study of each case and special situations are encountered in various cases.

"At the demand of the Allied Control Council of Germany there has been repatriated to that country a good portion of those German subjects who came to Spain as officials, and others to whom political activities were imputed."

The statement said some of the "difficulties" encountered in repatriating Germans were "their health, advanced age and disputed nationality" as in the case of Austrians.

It said the case of members of the old German colony was different:

"After long years of residence in our Fatherland, most of them married Spanish women, and with children born in Spain they have a moral claim which the Spanish Government cannot do less than take in consideration, the same as all governments, including belligerents are doing with their German colonies."

German Funds Blocked

With regard to property, the statement cited Spanish blocking of German funds, the handing over of German Government buildings to the Allies along with quasi-governmental businesses valued at $9,000,000.

"It can be affirmed roundly," the statement said, "that no governmental or quasi-governmental German business in which the Reich had direct or indirect interest is outside control."

Comment was not available immediately from Allied quarters. However, only about one third of the Germans scheduled for repatriation by air have left Spain so far. It was estimated recently that the Allied Control Council has been able to acquire only $20,000,000 of a total of $100,000,000 in German assets in Spain.

DUTCH HEED AP PROTEST

To Review Ban On Cameramen During Churchill Visit

R. Wheeler

Amsterdam, May 6 (AP) — A spokesman for the Dutch Foreign Office said today the Government would review its order barring foreign news photographers from two events during Winston Churchill's visit to the Netherlands this week.

The Government, spokesman said, would consider claims for equal representation of the foreign press.

The announcement came, after the United States and British embassies intervened today in behalf of free photographic coverage of Churchill's address to the Dutch Parliament on May 9 and a ceremony at the University of Leiden on May 10 when he will receive an honorary degree.

Follows Vigorous AP Protests

A spokesman for the British Embassy also said the Dutch Ministry of Justice and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs had agreed to review the order limiting photo coverage to the Dutch agencies ANEFO and ANP.

The American Embassy said representations had been made, but reported no immediate Dutch reply.

Intervention of the embassies followed vigorous protest by the Associated Press to prevent discrimination against foreign press coverage of Churchill's visit.

The Foreign Office spokesman said the limitation of photographers occurred when the president of the University of Leiden refused to permit more than two in the chapel.

Photographers' Pool Suggested

In the event places for four photographers were approved, he said, the foreign press services would arrange their own pool, designating two photographers by lot. The final decision, howeved, was said to rest with Foreign Minister H. A. van Roijen and probably would be made tomorrow.

There appeared to be no prospect that the Government would withdraw its ruling that only the chief editors of Dutch newspapers would be allowed to interview Churchill May 10.

The Foreign Office spokesman said Dutch authorities considered that foreign news services "could reach Churchill at any time" and remarked that similar arrangements prevailed when Prince Bernhard and Princess Juliana of the Netherlands visited Scandinavia recently.

He declined to comment on a rejoinder that Churchill's press conference in Belgium last week had been open to all.

G. B. Rebel, chief of the Government press section, which is directly concerned with carrying out Government rulings, said he had no new instructions.

Churchill will arrive in Holland by air May 8.

Antonescu, 15 Others On Trial In Bucharest

Bucharest, May 6 (AP)—Sixteen of Romania's major war criminal defendants, including the former Marshal Ion Antonescu, the country's wartime dictator, went on trial for their lives today before a special people's tribunal.

Antonescu, 61 and known as the "conductor" because he is generally held chiefly responsible for leading Romania into the war on Germany's side, in answer to a routine question said he once was tried for bigamy.

Eight other defendants are being tried in absentia. They are former Iron Guardists who fled to Germany in 1941 and 1942 after an abortive revolt in which they tried to take power from Antonescu. They are believed to be in a camp near Rome.

GRAZIANI TRIAL SET

Rome, May 6 (A. P.).—Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, War Minister in Mussolini's puppet Fascist Government and former Italian commander in North Africa, will be brought to trial on May 24 on a charge of collaborating with the Germans. The Special Court of Assizes that will try him has power to order him shot in the back—Italy's capital punishment for traitors.

Meanwhile today police experts investigating the removal of Mussolini's body from its grave at Milan returned to Rome with ten suspects.

Honeymooners and tourists on the Isle of Capri woke up yesterday to find the place plastered with Fascist symbols and manifestos.

UNRRA AIDE QUITS TO PROTEST USE OF FOOD IN TRIESTE

F. Brutto

TRIESTE, May 6—(AP) An administrative officer of UNRRA here said today he has submitted his resignation in protest to what he termed mishandling by Yugoslavs of UNRRA goods.

There have been frequent reports here that UNRRA goods earmarked for the world agency's program of rehabilitation in Yugoslavia recrossed the Morgan line into the Allied Military zone and were distributed among elements who supported the claims of Marshal Tito's regime to Trieste and Venezia Giulia.

NIGHT

The officer, a former U. S. 15th air force major, who asked that his name be withheld pending a complete report to Washington, is an inspector who frequently crossed the temporary Morgan line dividing Yugoslav-controlled territory in Venezia Giulia from the Allied military area. He said that three times he saw a truck labelled "from Tito," bringing UNRRA food into the Allied military area, where roads are plastered with signs calling for Yugoslav annexation.

Berry K. White, UNRRA chief in Trieste, said tight civil police control had kept such use of the supplies to a trickle, compared with the full rehabilitation program which has been under way in Yugoslavia.

White praised the head of the UNRRA mission in Yugoslavia, Michael Sergeichic, a Russian, and said no obstacles had been placed in the way of distribution of UNRRA supplies there.

An authoritative source said Allied military authorities have impounded 120 reels of Canadian newsprint, labelled "UNRRA supplies for Yugoslavia," which this source sade were brought back in to Trieste for use by three Trieste newspapers favorable to Tito.

TITO BELIEVED ABUSING UNRRA

Paper Sent to Yugoslavia Found in Trieste.

F. Brutto

Trieste, May 6 (A. P.).—Allied military authorities have impounded 120 reels of Canadian newsprint, marked "UNRRA Supplies for Yugoslavia," but brought here for use by three Trieste newspapers. An authoritative informant said today that the newsprint was sent from Yugoslavia to the newspapers Il Lavatore and Primski, both favorable to Premier Marshal Tito, and to Corriere di Trieste, which calls itself independent. Civil policemen seized the reels which were impounded in warehouses pending reshipment to Yugoslavia.

There have been frequent reports here of the return of UNRRA Yugoslavia supplies across the Morgan Demarcation Line for distribution in the military territory where roads are plastered with signs calling for the annexation of Trieste to Yugoslavia, and praises of Tito.

Berry K. White, UNRRA chief at Trieste, said tight civil police control had kept such use of the supplies to a trickle, compared with the full UNRRA program of rehabilitation in Yugoslavia. However, one administrative officer of UNRRA here, a former major in the United State Fifteenth Air Force, said in his frequent inspection trips across the Morgan Line that he had seen trucks on three occasions marked "From Tito" and bringing UNRRA food into the disputed Venezia Giulia military area.

He said he had resigned from UNRRA in protest over alleged mishandling of UNRRA goods after delivery to Yugoslavia. His resignation has not been acted upon and he asked that his name be withheld pending a complete report to Washington.

White praised the head of the UNRRA mission to Yugoslavia—Michael Sergeichic of Russia—and said no obstacles had been placed upon the distribution of UNRRA supplies in Yugoslavia.

Among the sixty-five Americans on the mission, Wilfred E. Johns is deputy chief of the mission for supplies. George Perazich, who recently returned to Washington, heads the industrial rehabilitation section.

King of Saudi Arabia Pledges Support In Battle Against Report on Palestine

C. DAVIDSON

JERUSALEM, May 6—(AP) King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia, assailing the British-American inquiry commission report on Palestine as "an injustice without precedent," pledged to the Arab Higher committee today his full support in the Arab battle against the commission's recommendations.

Ibn Saud, most powerful monarch in the Arab world, added his pledge to those of the rulers of other Arab league states in a united front against the British-American proposals.

Arab leaders were reported preparing charges to be presented to the United Nation's International Court of Justice that the report violated Britain's League of Nations mandate.

Ibn Saud sent his promise of support in the form of a telegram to the Higher committee, asserting:

"We found in the inquiry commission report recommendations just what you found—that the whole report is an injustice without precedent. We shall not fail, with God's help, to do what we can for your cause."

From all the Arab state came pledges of support for the Higher committee's battle against the report which recommends immediate immigration of 100,000 Jews. A committee spokesman said telegrams from Mustapha Nahas Pasha, head of Egypt's Wafdist party, Emissaries from Iraq and Transjordan were said to have brought similar promises.

Second Strike Planned

An Arab office spokesman declared unofficially that a second general strike in token of protest to the report would be convoked Friday among the Arabs of Palestine, supported "by the whole Arab world."

Arab Catholics here were reported to have cabled protests to King George VI of England, Pope Pius XII, Prime Minister Stalin, President Felix Gouin of France and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek of China, asserting that acceptance of the committee recommendations would mean Arabs, including Christians, eventually would be forced out of the birthplace of christianity.

Auni Bey Abdul Hadi, described here as "a leading legal mind of the Arabs in Palestine," was said by an associate to be preparing a legal case for the International Court of Justice at the Hague, charging that Britain violated Article 22 of the League of Nations Covenant.

Hadi, considered one of the most conservative politically of Arab leaders, was reported contending that the inquiry report "violates the mandate, and if accepted provides sufficient grounds for dissolution of the mandate." His associates said Hadi hoped to have the case ready for presentation to the the International court before the week's end.

Trustees of the newly created Arab National Fund named a subcommittee to outline methods of raising defense money.

Palestine police and military forces halted a noon procession of some 800 Arab women, led by Natel Maghaani, a Christian, and Zepha Chedaby, a Moslem, from the mosque of Omar to the Jaffa gate. The women carried banners protesting the inquiry commission recommendations.

Police immediately closed the Jaffa gate, which is only a few yards from the ruins of David's tomb. A barbed wire barricade was erected across the road, preventing the demonstrators from moving outside the old city. The women dispersed a short time later.

Arabs May Go to Hague Court

Reported Preparing Case Against British—800 Women Stage Protest Demonstration.

C. DAVIDSON

Jerusalem, May 6 (A. P.).—A prominent Arab lawyer was reported preparing today an international legal contesting of Britain's right of mandate over Palestine, and telegrams from other Arab States poured in pledging unity against the Anglo-American Committee report.

King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia, in a telegram to the Arab Higher Committee, promised to do all in his power in opposition to the inquiry report which recommended that 100,000 Jews be admitted to Palestine.

Higher Committee spokesmen said telegrams also had been received from the president's of Syria and Lebanon and Mustapha Nahas Pasha, head of Egypt's Wafd party. Emissaries from Iraq and Trans-Jordan were said to have brought promises of support.

Ibn Saud's message said:

"We found in the Inquiry Committee report recommendations just what you found—that the whole report is injustice without precedent. We shall not fail with God's help to do what we can in your cause."

Trustees of the newly created Arab National Fund named a sub-committee to outline methods of raising defense money.

Question Mandate.

The legal case being prepared for presentation to the international court at The Hague was understood to contend that the inquiry report was a violation of Britain's mandate.

Auni Bey Abdul Hadi, described by Arabs as the leading legal mind among Arabs in Palestine, was reported by an associate to be preparing the case. His brief, it was said, will state that implementation of the report would be sufficient grounds for dissolution of the mandate under article 22 of the dissolved League of Nations Covenant, the associate said.

Some 800 Arab women, led by a Christian and a Moslem, paraded from the Mosque of Omar to the Jaffa Gate at noon today in a demonstration against the report, which recommended the admission of 100,000 Jews to Palestine.

Police Halt Procession.

Palestine police and troops halted the procession at Jaffa Gate and prevented it from continuing outside the old city. Policemen closed the gate immediately and erected a barbed wire barricade across the road. The demonstrators carried banners proclaiming in Arabic "This decision is not democratic policy" and "Our grandfathers were born here and we are the voice of this land."

An Arab official spokesman said the Arabs of Palestine would stage another general strike Friday, and "this time we are supported by the whole Arab world." Dispatches received by prominent Arabs said Arabs in Egypt and Iraq would join the protest strike.

A number of top-flight Arabs had not yet returned today from week-end tours of Palestine in which they made a series of speeches urging Arab mass meetings to oppose the Inquiry Committee report but advising them to delay "forceful moves."

Arab States Plan Meeting.

Cairo, May 6 (A. P.).—The seven member States of the Arab League planned today a special meeting between May 15 and 20 to take measures against the recommendations of the British-American Inquiry Committee on Palestine. League officials indicated the meeting probably would be convened in Syria or Lebanon.

Jews Allowed to Sail.

La Spezia, Italy, May 6 (A. P.).—The British Government has authorized 1,014 Jewish refugees who have been held up here for several weeks to sail for Palestine.

Two ships, the Fede and Fenice, are expected to sail for Haifa Wednesday. The Jews held a joyous demonstration last night.

MOSLEM ISSUE SAID TO BE UP AT SIMLA

Simla, May 6 (A. P.).—Representatives of the British Cabinet, the Moslem League and the Congress party were today reported to have begun their discussions of the Indian independence problem by plunging immediately into the league's demand for a separate Moslem State. A communique said that the conferees had met for four hours at their initial session yesterday, but did not disclose whether any progress had been ma

The Moslem League's demand for a separate State (Pakistan) has constituted one of the most troublesome problems facing the British Cabinet mission, which was sent here by Prime Minister Attlee to try to find a formula for Indian independence. The Congress party has steadfastly opposed all proposals for a divided India.

A crowd of several hundred strong gathered outside the grounds of the Vice Regal Palace to watch the arrival of the delegates and there were minor demonstrations by opposing Indian elements.

The appearance of Maulana Abul Kalam Azad, president of the Congress party, was greeted with cries of "Long Live Hindustan!" and "Long Live Revolution!" The arrival of the Moslem group, headed by Mahomed Ali Jinnah, touched off shouts of "We will smash Hindustan!" and "We will get our Pakistan!"

CHINA MUST BACK ALL HER PLEDGES, CHIANG DECLARES

NANKING, May 6—(AP) Agreements for a unified constitutional government of all China must be honored fully, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek told leaders of his regime today in an address calculated to ease the distrust among Chinese factions.

There [illegible] dissent within the powerful Kuomintang governing party over the commitments made last January for including Communists, the Democratic league and other parties in the government.

Two months ago Chiang insisted to his party executive committee that the promises must be kept, but the continued civil strife in Manchuria and elsewhere has stalled progress toward unifying the government.

Repeats Pledges

Reiterating today that the agreements must be observed to the letter, Chiang told high-ranking government officials the various parties still were trying to get together on a constitution and that he hoped the Constitutional Assembly could be held soon. It had been scheduled for May 5 but was postponed when the Communists and Democratic league declined to name delegates.

Shao Li-tze, chairman of the Assembly Preparatory committee, told some members that their efforts to go ahead with the assembly in defiance of the postponement were illegal.

Less optimistic than Chiang, he predicted the assembly would not open until Nov. 12, birthday of the late Dr. Sun Yat-sen, founder of the Chinese republic.

Chiang made a pilgrimage Sunday to the ornate mauseoleum of Dr. Sun and from its steps called upon all Chinese to "consolidate our victory in war-torn Manchuria as well as the rest of the nation." He spoke in similar vein on two other occasions during the day.

The government's Central News agency reported, however, that representatives of the government, Communists and the United States had failed thus far to reach "any concrete solution" of a new outbreak of fighting in central China.

These representatives, accompanied by 40 correspondents, were due to go to the scene of conflict on the Honan-Hupeh border, some 200 miles northwest of Hankow, for a first-hand investigation, the agency said.

The Communists have accused the government of pitting 300,000 government troops against 60,500 Communists in that area.

CHIANG STATES UNITY RULINGS MUST PREVAIL

Tells Government Leaders Conference Decisions Must Be Followed.

WANTS NEW MEETING SOON

Assurance by Generalissimo Is Expected to Help Allay Fears of Communists.

J. Roberts

Nanking, May 6 (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek told Nationalist Government leaders today that decisions reached at last January's all-party unity conference, which put together the framework for constitutional government in China, must be carried out to the letter.

Chiang, speaking at China's first postwar Sun Yat-sen memorial meeting of high-ranking officials, said the parties represented in the National Constitutional Assembly were trying to reach an agreement.

He hoped, he added, that the conference, which he postponed when Communists and Democratic League members failed to name delegates, would be held soon. The Assembly meeting had been scheduled to open May 5.

Session Called Illegal

Meanwhile, Shao Li-tze, chairman of the Assembly preparatory committee, flatly told members of that body, which is planning a session in defiance of the postponement order, that they had no legal right to go ahead.

The Generalissimo's categorical assurance at this time that the program laid down by the political consultative council in Chungking would be carried out should do much to allay fears of the Communists and Democratic League.

Statement A Little Tardy

The Chiang pronouncement, though a little tardy in view of the seriousness of the Manchurian situation, may persuade the two minor parties to name delegates to the National Assembly, which is expected to ratify the revised constitution.

Generally, it was believed that Gen. Marshall, United States truce envoy to China, had been anxious to have Chiang indicate he would support the council resolutions. Today's action should clear up the major ground of distrust between the two sides which has developed since the Kuomintang Central Committee criticized the Unity Conference decisions.

Shao made a personal prediction that the assembly would convene on November 12, and told the delegates without mincing words they were wrong in attempting to hold it now.

Meanwhile Communist Gen. Chou En - lai and Government Gen. Hsu Yung-chang met with United States Brig.-Gen. Henry A. Byroade in Hankow "without arriving at any concrete solution" to reported fighting in Central China, the Government controlled Central News Agency declared today.

The three-man truce team, together with Gen. Wong Tien-ming, new vice-chief of staff for Chiang Headquarters, is scheduled to leave today for Shuanhuatine with more than forty correspondents for a first-hand investigation of Yenan reports that 60,000 communist and 300,000 Government troops were beginning an annihilation campaign.

Immediately after arriving in Hankow yesterday, Chou, Hsu and Byroade conferred long into the night. Discussion of this new threat to peace in China overshadowed the protracted Manchurian problem.

However, the Manchurian squabble received the principal attention of Chiang, who asked his countrymen to help bring unity to his strife-torn land. He asked the co-operation of all Chinese in maintaining "the territorial and administrative integrity of all Manchuria," where Government forces have fought for weeks to enlarge their slim holdings.

Fly U. S. Reporters Out of Changchun

Shanghai, May 6 (A. P.)—Five American correspondents, caught in Changchun when the Chinese Communists attacked and captured that capital of Manchuria, were flown to Peiping today by the United States Army.

The correspondents had been held under house arrest by the Communists since April 16. Tom Masterson of the Associated Press was one of them.

Singapore War Court Dooms 2

SINGAPORE, May 6 (AP)—A Japanese Lieutenant Takasaki and a Korean camp guard named Kaneshiro, who complained that he was haunted by the ghosts of his victims, were sentenced today to be hanged for murdering four British prisoners of war and mistreating others. Takasaki and Kaneshiro were known as "Frog" and "Undertaker" to thousands of Allied prisoners who were forced to labor on the enemy's Burma-Siam rail line.

Hawaii Tries 3 Japanese

Men Who Flew Enemy Flag Linked to Alien Secret Society

HILO, Hawaii, May 6 (AP).—Detective Louis B. Race, of the Hilo Police Department, said today he had seized documents showing that a secret Japanese alien society exists on Hilo. Race made the statement at the opening of the trial of three Japanese aliens charged with illegally flying the Japanese flag April 25—birthday of Emperor Hirohito. The documents were placed in evidence.

Attorneys for the defendants entered demurrers, contending the war-time ruling which prohibits possession of a Japanese flag is a violation of the American constitution. The demurrers were overruled and the defendants pleaded not guilty.

Bikini Atoll's Face Lifted In Preparation For Test

Bikini, May 6 (AP)—This once sleepy and remote little coral atoll rapidly is being transformed into a huge scientific laboratory.

If the homesick natives who migrated to the Island of Rongerik two months ago could return to Bikini they would be appalled to see what the Americans have done to the place they remember as home.

They would understand why they can never come back here to live, even if the blast of an atomic bomb fails to make ash heaps of every tree and bush growing on the island.

Assault Tactics Used

Seabee bulldozers have ripped and torn their way over the island, clearing roadways through the coconut trees. Trees have been uprooted to clear sites for installations. Thatched huts have either been torn down or are being used to store supplies.

Bikini looks like an atoll in wartime two days after an assault landing by American forces; assault techniques are being used to get the stuff ashore.

"It is just like amphibious landing, except that no one is shooting," said Commander Kenneth C. Lovell, of Mountainburg, Ark. And that is a good description of the operation.

Concrete Mixers At Work

LST's (landing ship tanks) are tied up to floating piers, or are on the beach, where a few weeks ago the natives put out to sea in their outrigger canoes to hunt for food.

Enlisted men are building roads and installations. Amphibious ducks, concrete mixers, stone crushing machinery and huge stock piles of supplies are scattered among the palms.

Where naked little Bikinians once chased each other across the island sands, Seabees are building concrete tennis, basketball and volley ball courts and frame clubhouses for officers and enlisted men. A tennis court is laid in two days and twenty-four hours later is ready for use.

Bikini's Face Changed

Some 40,000 army and navy men will be in this area during the operation and Bikini is about the only place they can get ashore for swimming or other recreation. Whether or not the clubhouses will be standing after the explosion, no one can say.

The 53d Seabee Construction Battalion Unit, under Commander K. D. Burky, of Eureka, Cal., is the one that has changed the face of Bikini, under the overall direction of Lovell, who is construction officer for Rear Admiral W. H. Purnell Blandy, commander of the atomic tests. The staff directs the 1,000 Seabees who arrived March 13 with construction machinery which originally had been intended for the invasion of Japan.

Bombproof Power Plants

One of the biggest projects has been to build twelve steel towers and bombproof steel vaults with concrete bases for housing electric power plants. Electricity will power the recording instruments.

The towers rise 75 feet above concrete piles sunk deep into the atoll's sand—towers which will house the cameras, television and radar equipment for recording the explosion of an atomic bomb.

The power plant vaults are each twenty feet square, built three feet above the floor of the island and constructed so that if a tidal wave is created by the explosion it will not drown out the generators.

The arched steel domes of the vaults look much like heavy quonset huts set in concrete and have been covered with sand on their sea side to absorb a part of the shock from the blast or from the possible following wave.

Five of the towers have been built on Bikini; four on Aomoen, 7½ miles northwest of Bikini, and three on the Island of Enyu, 5 miles southward.

While construction is in progress, Bikini is the recreation center for the sailors anchored in Bikini Lagoon. Each man gets one day's liberty in each four days. They have an excellent beach for swimming and in a few days the game courts will be ready.

WAR TRIALS IN TOKYO WILL OPEN ON JUNE 3

TOKYO, May 6 (AP)—Twenty-seven wartime leaders of Japan were ordered to trial on June 3 after their arraignment today before an international court on charges of unleashing a war of aggression and murder in the Far East. All entered pleas of innocent.

The trial was fixed June 3 as the trial date despite defense protests that the time was too short to allow adequate preparation. Its president observed that it would take the prosecution a month to complete its case, which should give the defense sufficient leeway for preparation.

The British Minor War Crimes Liaison Section has joined Supreme Headquarters' legal section to help prepare and prosecute cases against the Japanese.

Australian and Canadian representatives have been assigned to the section and a Chinese delegation was reported to be en route to Tokyo.

The British mission is headed by Lieut. Col. Robert Ian MacDonald Henderson, who won the United States Legion of Merit in the Mediterranean theatre of operations.

The Indian members of the international prosecution staff for the war crimes trials here arrived today.

They were Govinda Menon, former Crown Prosecutor of the Madras High Court in India, and his junior counsel, Krishna Menon.

India and the Philippines have representation on the court by virtue of a recent decision.

One Man Absent.

Kiyose had said he intended to object to each of the justices but the ruling prevented him from pursuing the point.

Kyose has already contended that, under terms of the Potsdam Declaration, war crimes can be charged only to persons who violated international law after the outbreak of hostilities and that the court therefore cannot try high Government officials who held their posts prior to the war. The indictments go back to Japanese activities in Manchuria as early as 1928.

The only defendant not entering his plea today was Dr. Shumei Okawa, who was undergoing a sanity examination by Allied psychiatrists as a result of his slapping Tojo's bald head in court last week and other antics in the prisoners' box. Okawa, former director of the East Asia Economics Research of Manchuria, is accused of instigating the Mukden Incident that set off Japanese agression.

Fixes Trial Date.

Sadao Araki, former War Minister, was the first to plead. He stood stiffly and in clipped Japanese began a lengthy statement; but Webb cut him off, confining him to a simple plea of not guilty. Then, one by one, the others used the same sharp words: "Not guilty to all charges.

Tojo was the next to the last man called, but it was no different when he arose. The olive-skinned little man, in a uniform-like garb, simply spoke the words and sat down. After the last defendant had entered his plea, Webb announced that trial would begin on June 3. The defense protested that the staff of American attorneys to be assigned to individual defendants were still en route from the United States. Webb replied that defense evidence will not be presented for a month after the prosecution completes its case and that he considers the interval sufficient.

He also ruled that the American defense staff of eight and the Tokyo bar now available were sufficient to conduct the protest against the court's jurisdiction next Monday.

Tojo Enters Plea of Not Guilty

26 Others Also Face War Crime Tribunal—Tokyo Trial Is Set for June 3.

Tokyo, May 6 (AP.).—Hideki Tojo and twenty-six other wartime leaders of Japan today entered staccato pleas of not guilty to charges that they unleashed a war of aggression and murder in the Pacific. They were ordered to trial on June 3 over the protest of their counsel that the interval is too short.

The Far East Tribunal, before which they appeared for their first formal hearing, however, will convene again next Monday to permit the defense to renew its emphatic challenge that the court has no jurisdiction in the pending cases.

Tojo's attorney, Ichiro Kiyose, lost no time today in attacking the tribunal. He declared that the court's president, Sir William Webb of Australia, has been so biased by his investigation of Japanese atrocities in New Guinea that he cannot judge fairly. The motion was denied after a ten-minute recess conference from which Webb was absent. Eight of the ten other justices ruled that no objection to any member can be sustained because the court's charter provides that the members shall be of Gen. MacArthur's choosing.

HOOVER CONFIRMS JAPAN'S NEED FOR FOOD SHIPMENTS

TOKYO, May 6. — (AP) Herbert Hoover today stressed the need for 600,000 tons of food for Japan by July 1 if occupation forces are not to be endangered by disorders and the disease that follows starvation.

The ex-President told a press conference that without food imports, all Japan "will be on a ration little better than that which the Germans gave to Buchenwald and Belsen concentration camps."

Hoover, on a food survey, said in a statement that the whole world food situation would be "greatly helped if Russia would release to China and Korea a part of the foodstuffs they have secured in Manchuria."

The "utmost cooperation" of all nations is necessary, he asserted, if the world is to pull through until "abundant supplies" become available after next fall's harvests.

"Hundreds of millions of people will have short rations until the harvest is in," he added, "but we believe those rations are enough to get by."

A summary of the food situation in Japan, presented to Hoover by Allied headquarters, said that without imports there would not be enough food "to maintain life and mass starvation would be inevitable."

The former President praised the Allied food staff here as one of the best he had seen. Asked about black marketing of foodstuffs, he replied, "People are not living on black market to any great extent."

Hoover said he was in favor of feeding everyone equally when asked whether it wouldn't be better to maintain some people at relatively high standards and allow others to starve or distribute food so all would have some but still be hungry.

HOOVER SAYS REDS SHOULD RELEASE FOOD

Declares Supplies Obtained in Manchuria Would Aid China and Korea.

IN FORMAL STATEMENT

Former President States Japan Must Be Fed to Protect Yanks Stationed There.

Tokyo, May 6 (A. P.).—"The whole (world food) situation would be greatly helped," Herbert Hoover said today, "if Russia would release to China and Korea a part of the foodstuffs they have secured in Manchuria."

The former United States President and chairman of President Truman's Emergency Famine Committee made the assertion in a formal press conference statement which began:

"Japan must have some food imports. Without them, all Japan will be on a ration little better than that which the Germans gave to Buchenwald and Belsen concentration camps. . . .

"Aside from any Christian spirit, food imports are required if American boys here are not to be endangered by disorders and not to be involved in a sweep of epidemics that are inevitable from starvation."

Praises MacArthur.

Hoover told the press conference he based his statement on information from Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters and praised MacArthur's food staff as one of the best he had seen.

"I take it," he added, "that we will rely on their presentation of facts" as to the food situation in Japan.

He dismissed a question as to the effect of black markets on the food situation with the assertion:

"People are not living on the black market to any great extent."

"The amounts (of food imports) required for Japan," the statement said, "will not prejudice supplies to China, India, the Philippines or Korea—provided there is full co-operation in supply and distribution over the entire world during the crisis between now and next harvest."

Without the imports, the statement said, the Japanese people will not have strength to work in the fields to harvest their next crop. The delivery, he said, of 600,000 tons of food to Japan by July 1 will make possible only about 900 calories a day for nonself suppliers for the next five months and "will not insure against mass starvation and civil disturbances."

3 Jap Parties Get Coalition Bid

Tokyo, May 6 (AP)—The Social-Democratic party, with little optimism, attempted today to bring Communists and right-wing Liberals into a coalition cabinet to succeed the resigned Shidehara Government.

The Social Democrats received the go-ahead from retiring Premier Shidehara to try to form the coalition cabinet.

Liberals Reluctant

The Liberals showed reluctance to participate in any government with the Communists. Supreme headquarters had blasted the Liberals' chances for the premiership by disqualifying the party president, Ichiro Hatoyama, for pro-Axis sympathies. Yet the Liberals still are strong enough to make or break Socialist hopes of gaining the majority of portfolios in the new government.

Representatives of the three parties, together with delegates from the Co-Operative party, will meet tomorrow to discuss formation of the Cabinet. (ADD)

Likes 'Spoiled U.S. Girls'

"American women are spoiled—and I like them just that way," observed Tech. 4/g Harlow E. Swarthout, of Ludington, Mich. "I want a girl to act like an equal, not like she felt inferior. I couldn't change 'em."

Among the few who thought the Japanese girls had something to teach the American girls was Seaman 1/c Earl F. Levine, of Peoria, Ill., who asserted that "Japanese girls think more of a man than the women do back home."

Tech. 4/g Gerald R. Grabert, of Boyertown, Pa., observed that Japanese girls "seem more co-operative—outwardly," which was promptly countered by Pfc. Morgan Williams, of Scranton, Pa., with the declaration that American girls don't have much to learn.

Cites Japs Docility

Tech. 3/g Charles G. Matheus, of Connersville, Ind., straddled the question with the decision "there's something to be said on both sides" and wound up with the comment that some American girls might "copy the docility of the Japanese."

The girls back home got a top-flight plug from Pfc. Don Bockman, of Aurora, Ill., who finished off with the statement:

"These Japanese girls are all right—not that I've done any personal research to speak of—but I don't see that they have anything that American girls don't have—and have more of."

All Troops in Japan Free of Cholera

Tokyo, May 6 (A. P.).—Despite an epidemic of cholera among repatriated Japanese at Uraga, not a single civilian or military member of the occupation forces in Japan has contracted the disease, Col. Albert R. Driesbach declared today. He is in the Preventive Medicine Division, Chief Surgeon's Office, United States Army Headquarters for the Pacific.

GI's Are Canny Diplomats On Views About Jap Girls

Tokyo, May 6 (AP)—An "inquiring reporter" for the army newspaper Stars And Stripes wandered around the streets today asking servicemen if they saw any traits in the Japanese girls which American women might copy—and encountered the canniest diplomats in uniform.

Some of those questioned hinted that American girls might consider

MacArthur Host To Sir Bruce Fraser

Tokyo, May 6 (A. P.).—Admiral Sir Bruce Fraser, who is soon to relinquish his command of the British Pacific Fleet, lunched with Gen. MacArthur at the American Embassy during a visit to Tokyo yesterday.

Arriving from Kure aboard his flagship, H. M. S. Swiftsure, Fraser was taken to the British Embassy, where he was welcomed by Lieut.-Gen. C. H. Gairdner, head of the United Kingdom Liaison Mission in Japan. After lunching with MacArthur, he went on a sightseeing tour of Tokyo and in the evening was a dinner guest at the British Embassy.

Conservative Wins Colombia President Race

Liberals Concede Election of Ospina, First of Party To Be Chosen Since '30

BOGOTA, Colombia, May 6 (AP). Liberal party spokesmen conceded tonight the election of Senator Mariano Ospino Perez, fifty-five-year-old millionaire business man, as the first Conservative party President of Colombia since 1930. Nearly complete but unofficial returns from yesterday's balloting gave Ospina a lead off more than 115,000 votes.

The re[illegible] Ospina 461,473 votes; Gabriel Turbay, official Liberal party candidate, 345,582, and Jorge Eliecer Gaitan, Independent Liberal, 291,962.

Despite the bitterness of the campaign, the election was one of the most orderly in the country's history. Three persons had been killed and at least fifteen wounded in campaign disorders, but there was no violence at the polls. Both Liberal and Conservative leaders praised President Alberto Lleras Camargo for his efforts in guaranteeing an honest election. Camargo is filling the unexpired term of Alfonso Lopez, who resigned as President a year ago.

Ospina is expected to take office for the four-year term in August. He faces opposition from Congress, which is controlled by the Liberals. Congressional elections will be held next year.

In a post-election statement Ospina offered his hand in friendship to his adversaries, and said his administration will represent all Colombians. During the campaign he declared himself in favor of collaboration between the Conservative and Liberal parties, such as was achieved by the thirty-nine-year-old retiring President.

The triumph of the Conservative party was attributed to the split in the Liberal vote by the presentation of two candidates. The Conservatives dropped out of power sixteen years ago because of a similar split in their ranks.

Incumbents Lead Bolivia Race

LA PAZ, Bolivia, May 6 (AP).—Incomplete returns announced today on yesterday's elections for the Bolivian Congress show a clear trend in favor of the candidates of the Novimiento Nachionalista Revolucionario (MNR), the party now in control of the government.

Camille Gutt, Of Belgium, Heads World Fund

Washington, May 6 (AP)—The World Monetary Fund made a flying start today by electing Camille Gutt, of Belgium, as its chief and disclosing that Argentina has asked for information on how she may become its fortieth member nation.

The data, an embassy spokesman said, has been forwarded to Buenos Aires for study and prospects are the South American nation may formally seek membership.

Gutt, former Belgian Minister of State, was elected unanimously, after his nomination by Harry D. White, United States member on the twelve-nation board of executive directors.

Chief Quickly

The Belgian thus became managing director—in other words, operating boss—less than two hours after the first directors' session started behind closed doors.

This evidence of prearrangement made it appear likely that the World Bank, which opens its continuous sessions tomorrow, also will be prompt in electing its president. By tacit agreement, he will be an American.

"Fancy Salary Schedule"

However, an outraged cry arose from Capitol Hill at the "salary grab"—as Senator Butler (R., Neb.) called it—represented by the $30,000 net salaries to be paid the Fund and Bank chief executives, and the pay of lesser officials. The salaries are in addition to taxes.

In a Senate speech the Nebraskan declared that the American people "who will have to foot most of the bill for an international bureaucracy are not going to look kindly on this fancy salary schedule which Harry White and his Treasury friends fixed up for themselves."

White, like the directors from other nations, will receive $17,000 besides taxes. Senator Butler was particularly critical of the two top salaries, however, asserting each was "almost equivalent to the net salary of the President of the United States."

This country decided two months ago to claim the presidency of the bank, which was conceived along with the fund at Bretton Woods, N.H., in 1944.

Fred M. Vinson, Secretary of the Treasury, in whom the choice of the American Bank candidate reposes, has not yet named his man.

White Advises Careful Start

The goal of promoting "monetary stability, a high level of international trade and world prosperity" was set before the directors in a brief welcome address by White, who will act as chairman for a few days until Gutt takes over.

White advised his fellows to "proceed very carefully" toward the stabilization of the world's currencies because, he said, the Fund's influence will grow only "as we earn the confidence of the world."

The Bank and Fund offices will occupy one floor of an office building now filled by the State Department.

Disclosure that Argentina—long a hold-out among the Latin-American countries on the question of co-operation in the Bank and Fund—has inquired about admission, came at a news conference held by White.

Argentine Move Revealed

No countries have applied since Italy, Turkey, Syria and Lebanon sought membership at the Savannah Monetary Conference in March, he told questioners. Then, when pressed about Argentina, he said that nation had made "an exploratory move."

"Well, it was more than exploratory," he added after a pause," but not in the form of a formal application, and nothing that could be acted upon."

This was the first official confirmation of any move by Argentina, although it had been rumored she had sent a note to the United States State Department. Argentina was not represented at Bretton Woods, and was not a member of the United Nations at that time.

BELGIAN IS HEAD OF WORLD FUND

Gutt Named as Argentina Hints at Joining.

Washington, May 6 (A. P.).—The International Monetary Fund today elected Camille Gutt of Belgium, its managing director—the chief executive job—and hinted that Argentina has made an informal feeler toward membership in the world economic organization.

Gutt, former Belgian minister of state, and finance minister, was elected unanimously in a surprisingly quick vote of the fund's twelve-power executive directorate at a two-hour initial session here.

His selection reportedly was sponsored by Great Britain, but he was nominated by Harry D. White, United States director, who will serve as temporary chairman for about a week before the Belgian economist formally takes over.

White Announces Choice.

White announced the action at a news conference immediately after the closed midday meeting in a small room of the Hotel Washington, where the bank has temporary quarters.

When questioned, White said there had undoubtedly been an exploratory move by Argentina in the direction of membership in the thirty-nine-nation fund.

White told the directors that the fund has the goal of promoting "monetary stability, a high level of international trade and world prosperity."

He set forth the objectives in a brief address. The extent to which the goal will be achieved, he said, will depend on the extent to which "we earn the confidence of the world."

To Name a Chief Executive.

The session was held behind closed doors, as all the directorates deliberations will be. The directors are expected within the week to choose their permanent chief executive, a managing director paid $30,000 a year tax-free.

Senator Butler (R.-Neb.) in a speech prepared for Senate delivery criticized what he called an outrageous salary grab under which he said that fifty officials of the nIternational Fund and its companion institution, the World Bank, will receive $750,000 yearly in tax free pay.

Butler said that White, who received $9,800 yearly subject to taxes as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, will get $17,000 yearly tax free as an official of the international organization.

The Nebraskan said that a tax free salary of $30,000 a year for the managing director of the fund and the president of the bank, with an allowance for travel and other expenses, "is almost equivalent to the net salary of the President of the United States."

"Twenty-four directors of the fund and bank are to receive $17,000 after taxes plus travel and 'reasonable expenses,' which is equivalent to about $25,000 or more at American tax rates," he said.

"Each of these directors is to have an alternate 'to act for him when he is not present'; and each of these twenty-four alternates is to receive $11,500 tax free, with the usual expenses."

BRITISH LOAN VOTE FACES NEW DELAY

Senate to Get Bill Aimed at Striking Mine Union.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP) A move to force strike control legislation before the Senate threatened today to delay further any test vote on the proposed $3,750,000,000 British loan.

With Administration leaders predicting an early end to debate on the loan authorization measure, Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) announced his intention of attempting to force it aside for consideration of a bill he said he hopes will end the coal strike.

Lucas told reporters he is drafting a bill which would make it unlawful to conspire to interrupt health and utility services to the point where national safety is involved.

There were some indications that Administration lieutenants might be willing to consider a strike control bill if a coal settlement is not forthcoming in the next day or two.

They continued, meanwhile, attempts to get an informal agreement to limit debate on the British loan bill, certain that a petition to put on a gag rule will be beaten if it goes to a vote at 1 p. m. tomorrow as scheduled.

In any event, leaders thought that most of the long speeches are out of the way so that voting on amendments can begin by Wednesday at the latest.

First up will be an amendment by Senator McFarland (D-Ariz.) to require the British to yield title to Atlantic bases and commercial rights to other areas before they receive any loan funds. This amendment appeared to be gathering strength and leaders were not too confident they could defeat it.

Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) led the day's principal attack on the loan with the declaration that if the United States begins lending money in large sums to other nations democracy in this country may become bankrupt.

A loan to Britain, he said, is certain to be followed by pleas for similar advances to Russia, France, China, Turkey, Poland and other nations. He doesn't think, the Colorado senator said, that there is enough money in American vaults to "change the world's political trends with nicely placed loans."

Declaring that Britain is spending $4,364,000,000 on rearmament, Johnson said a disarmament conference should be called before a loan is made.

Johnson's Proposals

Johnson contended that the $3,750,000,000 would carry Britain for only five years. He said the British debts of nearly $14,000,000,000 to countries within the so-called "sterling bloc" cannot be solved by any such loan.

He proposed, therefore, that these countries be called together and told that they must scale down this debt before the United States would advance any funds. He suggested, also, a world disarmament conference at which expenditures for military preparations would be restricted.

Without some check on lending, Johnson said, the United States is headed toward inflation, adding that on its present course the country is "careening crazily to its own destruction and at breakneck speed."

Asserting that he does not share the fear of Russia which he said seems to prompt some of his colleagues to support the British loan, Johnson added:

"But if I were afraid of Russia I should not want to weaken the United States by lavish world-wide loans or otherwise."

British Loan Hit As First Of A Ruinous Series

Washington, May 6 (AP)—Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D., Col.) criticized the proposed $3,750,000,000 British loan today as the beginning of a lending program that may bring "the end of a great and good experiment in democracy."

Johnson claimed the Senate floor to oppose the measure as Administration leaders waited impatiently for a break in debate that they hope will bring a showdown vote this week.

Before the Senate session, Majority Leader Barkley (Ky.) told reporters after an hour-long conference with President Truman that he thought the "chances are good for disposing" of the legislation "this week."

In a prepared address, Johnson said that it "does not worry me to be in the minority" against the loan.

"Country In The Wrong"

"It does worry me to have my country in the wrong," he continued.

Asserting that Britain has no more dependable ally than the United States, Johnson said he is convinced that the present proposal is only the first of $20,000,000,000 in loans this country will be called upon to make. That, he said, would threaten the solvency of the United States.

"The titanic program of lavish lending which this loan launches is in my opinion the beginning of the end of a great and good experiment in real democracy," he declared.

Cloture Vote Tomorrow

Senator Hill (Ala.), the Democratic whip, said the opening wedge he and Barkley have been looking for may come tomorrow with the return of some senators who have been away patching political fences.

Barring unforeseen developments, the Senate will vote at 1 P.M. tomorrow on whether to invoke "cloture." This rule—unused for more than nineteen years—would limit each senator's future discussion of the loan proposal to one hour.

Cloture Called Unlikely

But there is ample evidence that Administration lieutenants are not counting on that action to break the dam that has held back any vote on amendments since the loan-authorization measure was first brought to the floor April 15.

The debate-limiting rule cannot be put into effect unless two thirds of the members voting approve it. And with loan proponents apparently holding only a shaky bare majority, it seemed unlikely that they could crack down on the talk in this way.

In fact, they stand to lose some of the proponents on such a vote.

Senator Hoey (D., N.C.), who represents the viewpoint of some Southerners who favor the loan, said he is "against cloture" and will not support the petition filed by Senator Ball (R., Minn.).

Similarly, Senator Hickenlooper (R., Iowa), a loan supporter, said that as long as the debate does not become an outright filibuster, he cannot vote to limit any colleague's remarks.

Barkley Sticks To Stand

Obviously recognizing that the road to cloture is a hard one, Hill nevertheless said he thought opponents might talk themselves out by tomorrow, be willing to vote on amendments Wednesday and might allow a final showdown on the bill Thursday.

Barkley held grimly to the determination to keep the loan measure before the Senate until such a vote is reached. He conceded, however, that the legislative schedule has been thrown off and that a prospective congressional adjournment early in July might be delayed.

A bill to extend the draft act beyond its May 15 expiration date is awaiting Senate consideration. Behind that is a measure to give the OPA a new lease on life after June 30. Both are likely to pass the Senate in radically different form from similar measures approved by the House, thus requiring several days of joint committee arguments before they can be presented finally.

Besides the loan, draft and OPA bills, Barkley said, the Senate must pass atomic control legislation before it quits. He also mentioned a bill to set up a scientific research bureau, which he said should evoke little controversy.

JEWS TO EXPAND ACTION ABROAD

France and Latin America Will Be New Fields.

Washington, May 6 (A. P.).—The National Jewish Welfare Board announced today that it has authorized the provisional World Federation of National Councils of Young Men's and Young Women's Hebrew Associations to expand its activities into Latin America and France.

The board said this action was taken yesterday when the organization's twenty-ninth annual meeting accepted an eight-point program of service and action for Jewish youth abroad. The program was recommended by Louis Kraft, executive director of the welfare board.

Kraft recently made an extensive survey of conditions affecting Jewish youths in Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Peru, Colombia, Ecuador, Uruguay, Trinidad, Venezuela and Curacao.

Points in Program.

Other points in the program include:

1. Providing J. W. B. field service for France and Latin America.

2. Assistance to Jewish communities overseas in selecting and training capable young people to become Jewish center workers by organizing a system of in-service training in the United States.

3. Translation of J. W. B.'s cultural materials into Spanish and French.

4. Organizing a program of interchange of correspondence and visits by Jewish youth abroad and Jewish youth from Jewish centers in the United States and Canada.

5. Extension of the services of the J. W. B. lecture and concert bureau to Latin American Jewry.

6. Stimulation by the Welfare Board of Visits and Lectures by Yiddish-speaking American rabbis to Latin America.

7. Making available the service of J. W. B.'s Building Bureau to Latin American Jewish communities.

U. S. SOUNDS RUSSIA ON TRADE ACCORDS

Concerned by Exclusive Pacts Put Into Effect With Smaller Neighbor Nations

MOSCOW REPLY AWAITED

Move Part of Campaign Here for Free Commerce—Also Disturbed by U.K. System

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—The United States is taking up with Russia the whole system of exclusive trading arrangements which the Soviet Union is putting into effect with its smaller neighbor nations.

Officials who disclosed this today said that so far no satisfactory replies have been received from Moscow. In fact, they added Washington has been able to learn very little officially about what kind of agreements the Russians actually are making.

The whole undertaking is part of an American campaign to set up throughout the post-war world a relatively free private trade system. Also a part of this effort is the recent request to fifteen foreign nations, including Russia and Britain, to wind up their official purchasing missions in this country as quickly as possible.

Some of the war-born missions already are being reduced and most of the countries approached are understood to have expressed ready agreement to wind them up. Russian representatives referred the problem to Moscow, but an early favorable response is expected.

Concerned Over Britain, Russia

What State Department officials are reported really concerned about are the British and Russian trade systems. Problems with Britain already have been canvassed in connection with the $3,750,000,000 loan proposal now pending in the Senate. Russian problems may be taken up in detail if and when the Soviet Union decides formally to seek a proposed $1,000,000,000 loan here.

Meanwhile, since the biggest initial problem is to find out just what is going on, the loan agreement announced with Poland last week may be productive.

The Poles agreed to furnish the American Government with full information on their trade and economic relations, which are primarily with Russia. Here is the over-all picture so far as it is known here.

1. The Russians have signed very short term barter agreements with Bulgaria, Rumania, Hungary, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Finland. Such agreements are considered probably inevitable in Europe's present distressed economy, and they also are being used in western Europe. American officials are fairly confident that western Europe will drop them as quickly as possible, but they have no idea as to Russian intentions.

Under these agreements, money is no object. One state exchanges bushels of wheat for another state's dozens of pairs of shoes. The system has had the effect of giving Russia a monopoly on trade with her neighbors, and it is this monopoly result to which the United States has sought to object.

Long-Range Deals

2. Probably more significant in official opinion here are long-range commercial agreements made by Russia with Rumania and Hungary. They are believed to show the basic pattern of Russia's post-war trade program.

Contrasting sharply with announced American free-trade aims, the agreements provide for creation of companies jointly owned by Russia and the other country. Soviet members of the company exercise control and the companies have exclusive rights and privileges over those resources which are supposed to be developed.

In Hungary the basic agreement covers the bauxite (aluminum), petroleum, shipping and civil aviation industries. In Rumania they cover shipping, aviation, petroleum and banking.

3. In Iran, Russia made a single deal covering development of northern oil resources, but this has yet to be ratified. Some agreements covering individual industries also have been made with Bulgaria.

4. For Manchuria Russia proposed a 50-50 ownership and development of industries with the Chinese Government, but China turned down the deal at least once. The United States objected to it strongly on the ground that it would discriminate against American commercial interests.

American officials contend they do not object to state trading arrangements on Russia's part, since that is the only way Russia can trade. But they do object to (1) all exclusive arrangements, (2) all deals which tend to promote trade between two nations instead of among several, and (3) all agreements which might allow Russia to use ecenomic tools for political ends in foreign relations.

U.S. And Russia Discuss Trade

Washington, May 6 (AP)—The United States is taking up with Russia the whole system of exclusive trading arrangements which the Soviet Union is putting into effect with its smaller neighbor nations.

Officials who disclosed this today said that so far no satisfactory replies have been received from Moscow. In fact, they added, Washington has been able to learn very little officially about what kind of agreements the Russians actually are making.

Fr[illegible] Sought

The whole undertaking is part of an American campaign to set up throughout the postwar world a relatively free private trade system. Also a part of this effort is the recent request to fifteen foreign nations, including Russia and Britain, to wind up their official purchasing missions in this country as quickly as possible.

Some of the war-born missions already are being reduced and most of the countries approached are understood to have expressed ready agreement to wind them up. Russian representatives referred the problem to Moscow, but an early favorable response is expected.

Concerned About British, Russ

What State Department officials are reported really concerned about are the British and Russian trade systems. Problems with Britain already have been canvassed in connection with the $3.750,000,000 loan proposal now pending in the Senate. Russian problems may be taken up in detail if and when the Soviet Union decides formally to seek a proposed $1,000,000,000 loan here.

Meanwhile, since the biggest initial problem is to find out just what is going on, the loan agreement announced with Poland last week may be productive.

Poles To Disclose Agreements

The Poles agreed to furnish the American Government with full information on their trade relations, which are primarily with Russia. Here is the overall picture so far as it is known here:

1. The Russians have signed very short-term barter agreements with Bulgaria, Romania, Hungary, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Finland. Under these agreements, money is no object. One state exchanges bushels of wheat for another state's dozens of pairs of shoes. The system has had the effect of giving Russia a monopoly on trade with her neighbors.

2. Probably more significant in official opinion here are long-range commercial agreements made by Russia with Romania and Hungary. They are believed to show the basic pattern of Russia's trade program.

The agreements provide for creation of companies jointly owned by Russia and the other country. Soviet members of the firm exercise control and the companies have exclusive rights and privileges over those resources which are supposed to be developed.

In Hungary the basic agreement covers the bauxite (aluminum), petroleum, shipping and civil aviation industries. In Romania they cover shipping, aviation, petroleum and banking.

3. In Iran, Russia made a single deal covering development of northern oil resources, but this has yet to be ratified. Some agreements covering individual industries also have been made with Bulgaria.

4. For Manchuria, Russia proposed 50-50 ownership and development of industries with the Chinese Government but China refused. The United States objected to it strongly on the ground that it would discriminate against American interests.

American officials contend they do not object to state trading arrangements on Russia's part, since that is the only way Russia can trade. But they do object to (1) all exclusive arrangements, (2) all deals which tend to promote trade between two nations instead of among several, and (3) all agreements which might allow Russia to use economic tools for political ends in foreign relations.

TRUMAN PROPOSES MILITARY AID FOR NEIGHBOR NATIONS

Offers Plan to Assist in Training and Equipping Armed Forces.

FILES ARMY BUDGET

7 Billions Requested, Including Funds for National Guard.

WASHINGTON, May 6—(AP) President Truman called upon Congress today to authorize full-fledged military collaboration with other American nations as a new instrument for peace.

He transmitted a bill under which the United States would assist in "the training, organization and equipment" of the armed forces of sister republics to the south.

Covers Canada Also

The President emphasized at the same time that the legislation "could be extended also to Canada, whose cooperation with the United States in matters affecting their common defense is of particular importance."

Care will be taken, he said, not to place weapons "in the hands of any groups who may use them to oppose x x x peaceful and democratic principles."

"The bill has been drawn up primarily to enable the American nations to carry out their obligations to cooperate in the maintenance of inter-American peace and security under the charter and the Act of Chapultepec which is intended to be supplanted by a permanent inter-American treaty," the Presidential message said.

Simultaneously, Mr. Truman asked Congress for a War department appropriation of $7,246,335,200 to finance its operations during the fiscal year starting July 1. The estimates contemplate a reduction of the Army from 1 500,000 officers and men on June 30 this year to 1,070,000 a year later.

Atomic Research Funds

They allow $500,000,000 for government and relief in occupied areas, $200,000,000 for the atomic service and $182,782,000 for the reactivation of the National Guard and organized reserves.

In submitting the proposed "the inter-American military cooperation act," the President declared:

"A special responsibility for leadership rests upon the United States in this matter because of the preponderant technical, economic and military resources of this country. There is a reasonable and limited purpose for which arms and military equipment can rightfully be made available to the other American states.

"This government will not, I am sure, in any way approve of, nor will it participate in, the indiscriminate or unrestricted distribution of armaments, which would only contribute to a useless and burdensome armaments race.

Exchange suggested

"It does not desire that operations under this bill shall raise unnecessarily the quantitative level of armanments in the American republics. To this end the bill specifies that amounts of non-standard material shall be sought in exchange for United States equipment."

The President said that collaboration with the armed forces of other American republics has been in effect for several years within the framework of the "good neighbor" policy.

He reminded Congress that it had authorized military and naval training missions to various American republics and that under the Lend-Lease act limited amounts of military and naval equipment were made available to them.

"More recently the American republics have assumed new responsibilities, for their mutual defense and for the maintenance of peace, in the Act of Chapultepec and the Charter of the United Nations," he said, adding it was highly desirable "to standardize military organization, training methods and equipments as has been recommended by the Inter-American Defense Board."

Truman Wants U. S. to Train Armies of Sister Republics

Asks Congress to Authorize Program of Collaboration to Facilitate Similar Technical Standards.

Washington, May 6 (A. P.).—President Truman asked Congress today for legislation authorizing a program of military collaboration with other American countries, including the training, organization and equipment of the armed forces of those countries.

He transmitted the draft of a bill entitled "Inter-American military co-operation act," and asked its enactment.

Asserting that the American republics have assumed new responsibilities for their mutual defense and maintenance of peace, he said it was "highly desirable to standardize military organization training methods and equipment as has been recommended by the Inter-American Defense Board."

Under the legislation, he said, the Army and Navy, in conjunction with the State Department, would be permitted "to continue in the future a general program of collaboration with the armed forces of our sister republics with a view to facilitating the adoption of similar technical standards."

Could Transfer Equipment.

"Certain additional training activities, not covered by existing legislation, would be permitted," the President told Congress. The President would also be authorized to transfer military and naval equipment to the governments of other American States by sale or other method.

"The collaboration authorized by the bill could be extended also to Canada, whose co-operation with the United States in matters affecting their common defense is of particular importance."

The President said it was incumbent upon the United States Government "to see that military developments in which we have a part are guided toward the maintenance of peace and security and that military and naval establishments are not encouraged beyond what security considerations require."

Has Special Responsibility.

The President said that because of preponderant technical, economic and military resources of this country it had a special responsibility for leadership.

"There is a reasonable and limited purpose for which arms and military equipment can rightfully be made available to the other American States," the President said. "This Government will not, I am sure, in any way approve of, nor will it participate in, the indiscriminate or unrestricted distribution of armaments, which would only contribute to a useless and burdensome armaments race. It does not desire that operations under this bill shall raise unnecessarily the quantitative level of armament in the American republics. To this end the bill specifies that amounts of non-standard material shall be sought in exchange for United States equipment."

The President observed that for several years the Army and Navy have "maintained cordial relations of collaboration" with the armed forces of other American republics "within the framework of the good neighbor policy."

Favors Sending Missions.

Under congressional authorizations, he said, military and naval training missions have been sent to various American republics. Even prior to Pearl Harbor, the collaboration was developed on the basis of inter-American undertakings for hemisphere defense, he said.

"Training activities were expanded, and under the lend-lease act limited amounts of military and naval equipment were made available to the other American republics as part of the hemisphere defense program," he added.

In the act of Chapultepec and the United Nations Charter, the President asserted, the American republics assumed new responsibilities for maintenance of peace.

Truman Plan for Americas' Defense

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—The text of President Truman's message concerning military collaboration with other American republics follows:

To the Congress of the United States:

I submit herewith for the consideration of the Congress a bill to be entitled "The Inter-American Military Cooperation Act" authorizing a program of military collaboration with other American States including the training, organization and equipment of the armed forces of those countries. I recommend that the Congress give this bill its favorable consideration and enact it.

For several years our Army and Navy have maintained cordial relations of collaboration with the armed forces of other American republics within the framework of the good neighbor policy. Under authorization of the Congress, military and naval training missions have been sent to various American republics.

During the recent war, even prior to Pearl Harbor, this collaboration was intensively developed on the basis of inter-American undertakings for hemisphere defense. Training activities were expanded, and under the Lend-Lease Act limited amounts of military and naval equipment were made available to the other American republics as part of the hemisphere defense program. Forces from two of the American republics participated in combat overseas, and others joined in the defense of the shores and seas of the Americas at a time when the danger of invasion of our continents was all too great.

New Responsibilities Assumed

More recently the American republics have assumed new responsibilities, for their mutual defense and for the maintenance of peace, in the Act of Chapultepec and the Charter of the United Nations. The close collaboration of the American republics provided for in the Act of Chapultepec, the proposed treaty to be based upon that act, and other basic inter-American documents, makes it highly desirable to standardize military organization, training methods and equipment as has been recommended by the inter-American defense board.

Under the bill transmitted herewith, the Army and Navy, acting in conjunction with the Department of State, would be permitted to continue in the future a general program of collaboration with the armed forces of our sister republics with a view to facilitating the adoption of similar technical standards. Certain additional training activities, not covered by existing legislation, would be permitted. The President would also be authorized to transfer military and naval equipment to the Governments of other American States by sale or other method.

Suggests Bid to Canada

The collaboration authorized by the bill could be extended also to Canada, whose cooperation with the United States in matters affecting their common defense is of particular importance.

A special responsibility for leadership rests upon the United States in this matter because of the preponderant technical, economic and military resources of this country. There is a reasonable and limited purpose for which arms and military equipment can rightfully be made available to the other American States. This Government will not, I am sure, in way approve of, nor will it participate in, the indiscriminate or unrestricted distribution of armaments, which would only contribute to a useless and burdensome armaments race. It does not desire that operations under this bill shall raise unnecessarily the quantitative level of armament in the American republics. To this end the bill specifies that amounts of non-standard material shall be sought in exchange for United States equipment.

It is my intention that any operations under this bill, which the Congress may authorize, shall be in every way consistent with the wording and spirit of the United Nations Charter. The bill has been drawn up primarily to enable the American nations to carry out their obligations to cooperate in the maintenance of inter-American peace and security under the charter and the Act of Chapultepec which is intended to be supplanted by a permanent inter-American treaty.

Stresses Peace and Security

It is incumbent upon this Government to see that military developments in which we have a part are guided toward the maintenance of peace and security and that military and naval establishments are not encouraged beyond what security considerations require. In this connection the bill provides that operations thereunder are subject to any international agreement for the regulation of armaments to which the United States may become a party. In addition provision will be made for continuing coordination of the actual operations under the legislation with developing plans and policy in the field of armaments regulation.

In executing this program it will be borne in mind, moreover, that it is the policy of this Government to encourage the establishment of sound economic conditions in the other American republics which will contribute to the improvement of living standards and the advancement of social and cultural welfare. Such conditions are a prerequisite to international peace and security. Operations under the proposed legislation will be conducted with full and constant awareness that no encouragement should be given to the imposition upon other people of any useless burden of armaments which would handicap the economic improvement which all countries so strongly desire.

The execution of the program authorized by the bill will also be guided by a determination to guard against placing weapons of war in the hands of any groups who may use them to oppose the peaceful and democratic principles to which the United States and other American nations have so often subscribed.

In entering into agreements with other American States for the provision of training and equipment as authorized by the bill, the purposes of this program will be made clear to each of the other Governments.

TRUMAN REQUESTS FUND FOR AN ARMY OF 1,070,000 MEN

War Department Program Calls for Expenditure of $7,246,335,200.

Washington, May 6 (A. P.).—President Truman today submitted to congress a program calling for expenditures by the war department in the next fiscal year totaling $7,246,335,200.

The President said that the estimates contemplate maintenance of an army of 1,070,000 men and officers on June 30, 1947. This would compare with 1,500,000 on June 30, 1946.

In addition to maintaining this strength the estimates provide $500,000,000 for government and relief in occupied areas and $200,000,000 for the atomic service formerly carried on by the Manhattan project.

The program compares with the preliminary appropriation estimate of $7,100,000,000 for the fiscal year 1947, which was included in the regular budget submitted by the President last January. It compares also with estimated obligations of $19,300,000,000 during the current fiscal year and to $52,000,000,000 for the fiscal year 1945.

The statement says that cash expenditures of the War Department for the fiscal year 1947 are estimated to run to $8,600,000,000. This is $600,000,000 greater than the preliminary estimate included in the regular budget due principally to larger expenditures from prior year appropriations than had previously been anticipated.

Allowances totalling $182,782,000 have been made for the reactivation of the National Guard and organized reserves.

Following is a summary of estimated 1947 expenditures:

Pay and travel, $2,594,967,000; Quartermaster Service, $621,505,100; Transportation Corps, $509,911,000 Signal Corps, $104,083,000; Air Forces, $1,200,000,000; Medical Department, $69,500,000; Engineer Service, $802,724,500; Ordnance Department, $338,607,000; Chemical Warfare Service, $26,104,000; National Guard, reserves and R. O. T. C., $182,782,000; Government and relief in occupied areas, $500,000,000; Atomic Service, $200,000,000; miscellaneous, $96,151,600.

Merger Bill Eliminates Corps, Marine Commandant Declares

WASHINGTON, May 6 — (AP) Gen. Alexander A. Vandegrift, commandant of the Marine corps, declared today that "the War department is determined to reduce the Marine corps to a position of studied military ineffectiveness."

He said that the Marine corps stands "as a continuing affront to the War department general staff" and that the Army seeks to relegate it to ceremonial functions, "small ineffective combat formations" and labor troops.

Opposes Unification Bill

The general gave this testimony to the Senate Naval committee in opposing a bill to unify the War and Navy departments under a single cabinet officer, which the Military committee has approved. Vandegrift contended the measure would enable the Army to carry out its "designs" on the Marine corps.

The testimony was given behind closed doors but the Navy department released Vandegrift's 11-page statement in advance. Subsequently one particularly vigorous paragraph of the release was toned down, but the language was still far stronger than that previously used by Secretary Forrestal and Admiral Chester W. Nimitz in assailing the unification bill.

General Vandegrift later told a reporter that he decided to modify the paragraph to make a "smoother presentation."

Compares Operations

In comparing the operations of the Marines with those of the Army, Vandegrift said at one point:

"The Marine corps' guiding principles stem from such intangibles as democracy, recognition of the individual, and the timeless value of personal leadership as opposed to machine direction."

And at another point:

"The relationships between officers and men of the Marine corps have long rested on a sound basis. Reforms which elsewhere are only talked of today were carried into effect in the Marine corps at the close of the last war—27 years ago."

Vandegrift further reported that in 1938 the United States had "the world's top ranking Marine corps" at a cost of "about $1,500 per Marine" and "the world's 18th place Army at an annual cost of over $2,000 per soldier."

Marines Were Ready

Moreover, Vandegrift declared, "there is a continuous record of instances in our national history where the Army could not move at all, or could not move soon enough to satisfy the needs of the situation—Cuba in 1906, Vera Cruz in 1914, Iceland in 1941 and Guadalcanal in 1942, are only a few typical examples which demonstrate the point I make."

"In each case," he added, "the Army arrived on the scene only after the objective sought by the United States had been accomplished by Marines."

Unlike other services which have complained that demobilization has crippled them, Vandegrift said the Marines always have been and are "fully prepared to take the field at a moment's notice."

"The Marines are ready," he said with this underlined in his text, "and if it came to a fight today I do not know who would replace them."

"Amphibious warfare" with its landing operations always has been the "specialty" of the Marines, the general said, "and the Army is not and never has been in the amphibious field."

He added that the Marines made all the first landings in the recent war and then helped train Army troops as well as Allied forces to do the later assaults.

If there is any duplication in this field, the Marine chief assured Congress, "that duplication will rest not with the Marines but with the War department."

While the Marines improved and perfected landing operations between the two World wars, Vandegrift said, the War department staff was lagging behind modern warfare in the fields of airborne troops and armored tank warfare.

Rear Admiral O. S. Colclough, advocate general of the Navy, also testified briefly. Vice Admiral A. W. Radford, deputy chief of naval operations for air, is to testify tomorrow.

UNRRA FOOD BOARD WILL MEET TODAY

WASHINGTON, May 6—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Anderson announced today that the Combined Food Board would meet tomorrow to survey efforts to avert famine abroad and that he would attend.

F. H. LaGuardia, director-general of UNRRA, angrily walked out of a meeting last Friday because Anderson and the British and Canadian members were not present.

Announcement of tomorrow's meeting was made at a news conference in Anderson's office attended by LaGuardia and Mr. and Mrs. Claude H. Canaday of Bloomfield, Neb. Canaday, a farmer, presented the UNRRA director with a check for $1,030 to help buy food.

In announcing the meeting, Anderson smilingly said:

"I don't think that Mr. LaGuardia has had too much difficulty in getting the board to consider his problems."

La Guardia shrugged his shoulders.

Anderson reiterated a belief that this country would meet its wheat export promises for the first six months of this year. He added, however, that a transportation tie-up could prevent attainment of the goal.

Bowles Asserts Nation Cannot Stand New Round of Pay Rises

Defends Dairy Price Program Before House Group—Declares Coal Strike May Prolong Need for Subsidies.

Washington, May 6 (A. P.).—Chester Bowles, Economic Stabilizer, testified today that the nation's economy "cannot stand a second round of wage increases" which might be encouraged by rising living costs.

Called as a witness in the inquiry by the House committee investigating food shortages, he answered complaints about dairy products production with an outline of his consideration of the overall economic problem.

Representative Pace (D.-Ga.), the chairman, told Bowles that unless the Government adopts a different program for the dairy industry the milk and dairy products situation will be "frightful" this fall.

The Georgian criticized Bowles for increasing dairy subsidies instead of following a previous recommendation of the committee that subsidies be reduced gradually with corresponding increases in prices.

Bowles told Pace, "If you were in my shoes, dealing with the overall problem, you might agree with me on some things."

At another point in his testimony Bowles said that the coal strike may prolong the need for price controls and subsidies.

He voiced the hope that most economic controls may be dropped in eight to ten months, but added: "Unless the coal strike is settled I don't know where we will be."

He said also: "We must plan to be out of these controls, including subsidies, by July, 1947. Every effort must be made to keep this economy as stable as possible for eight to ten months. During that time, if we get the coal strike out of the way, we should be really rolling."

Anderson Criticizes Subsidies.

Secretary of Labor Anderson, in testimony before the committee, sharply criticized the OPA's subsidy methods of helping dairymen. In that industry, he said, subsidies now cover about one-third of the farmer's return.

The split between the two powerful Government agencies on the means of solving the problem of falling milk and butter supplies prompted Chairman Pace to suggest that everybody—the committee, Anderson, Bowles and OPA Director Porter—go directly to the White House with the problem.

"There is utter and complete disagreement between the Agriculture Department and the OPA in every respect and this is most unfortunate," Pace said. He asked Bowles and Porter: "Do you think everybody is out of step but you?"

When a Bowles deputy told the committee that a proposed rollback of prices of cream, as of last September, would be beneficial to farmers, Anderson interposed: "We don't agree with that."

However, the big difference was over subsidies in the dairy industry. Anderson told the committee that a recent increase of the dairy subsidy, announced by Bowles, was done "without my approval and without my knowledge." But he told the committee it was not necessary for Bowles to discuss the matter with him since Bowles has full authority over such subsidies.

Anderson let the committee know that he wants the Government to get out of the subsidy business as soon as possible. He said farmers cannot understand labor getting wage increases, with industry prices adjusted to cover the larger wage costs while the farmer must be satisfied with subsidies, as he put it, to offset their larger costs.

'HOGGING' SEEN IN SHORTAGES

Small Also Says Industry Has Failed In Aid Of OPA

Washington, May 6 (AP)—John D. Small, production administrator, complained to congressmen today that "industry has fallen down on the job of helping the OPA" against black markets and that consumers are making shortages worse by "hogging."

Chester Bowles, stabilization director, warned at the same time that the enonomy "cannot stand a second round of wage increases" which he said might be encouraged by higher living costs.

The two officials appeared before committees on behalf of the OPA. Small urged the Senate Banking Committee to extend the agency without any changes which would weaken it. Bowles defended its treatment of the dairy industry before a special House committee investigating food shortages.

Topics Veer To Coal Strike

The discussion before both committees, however, veered to the coal strike.

Small declared that if labor would give assurances that there will be "no industrial disturbances for the next six months," then "I think we will be over the hump" of the inflation period.

Senator Tobey (R., N.H.) asked about the effect of "John L. Lewis and his coal strike."

"I think Mr. Lewis is out to out-Petrillo Petrillo," replied Small, referring to union demands by James C. Petrillo, president of the AFL-American Federation of Musicians.

"This country cannot run if one small group of people can stop the whole thing," he continued. "It's a matter for Congress."

1948

What "Everybody Says"

Senator Capehart (R., Ind.) remarked that Lewis's coal miners "are violating no law. They are doing collective bargaining which everybody says they believe in."

Bowles reported that the strike may prolong the need for price controls and subsidies. He expressed hope that most controls could be dropped in eight to ten months but added that "unless the coal strike is settled I don't know where we will be."

"We must plan to be out of these controls, including subsidies, by July, 1947," he continued. "Every effort must be made to keep this economy as stable as possible for eight to ten months. During that time, if we get the coal strike out of the way, we should be really rolling."

Policy On Dairy Subsidies

Representative Pace (D., Ga.), chairman of the House committee, criticized the Government's action in increasing dairy subsidies rather than reducing them gradually and allowing corresponding price increases. Bowles outlined "the overall problem" which, he said, dictated the action.

Small told the senators that the reason for complaints about shortages is that people now want more than ever before and "are impatient and in a hurry."

"And whenever scarce goods do appear on the shelves of stores," he went on, "many—far too many—consumers buy all they can get their hands on instead of buying only what they really need and thus leaving something behind for the other fellow who really needs it.

"Consumer hoarding is no joke. Or maybe consumer hogging is a better way of putting it.

"It intensifies actual shortages and, in addition, creates acute artificial shortages. If it could be stopped, or even minimized, many of our shortages would be eased or disappear."

At one point, Tobey asked Small whether industry has been co-operating with the OPA to smash black markets. Tobey recalled a visitor who "complained to me for 20 minutes against the OPA and told me he had not had time to report black-market instances to the OPA."

"Industry has fallen down on the job of helping the OPA and the FBI," said Small.

OFFICIALS DEBATE OPA DAIRY ORDERS AT HOUSE HEARING

WASHINGTON, May 6—(AP) "Utter and complete disagreement between the Agriculture department and the OPA in every respect" was seen by Rep. Pace (D-Ga) today as heads of the two agencies gave their views on the butter shortage problem.

Pace, chairman of a special House committee investigating food shortages, suggested that differences over dairy subsidies and other matters be taken to President Truman for a decision.

With Stabilization Director Chester Bowles, Agriculture Secretary Anderson and OPA Administrator Paul Porter lined up before the committee, Pace told Bowles that unless OPA changes its policy the milk and dairy products situation will be "frightful" this fall.

Subsidies Discussed

The controversy pivoted principally on subsidies. Bowles and Porter supported them. Committtee members opposed them and counted Anderson on their side.

Anderson told the committee the recent increase of the dairy subsidy, ordered by Bowles, was done "without my approval and without my knowledge." He hastened to add, however, that it was not necessary for Bowles to discuss the matter with him, since the action involved a subsidy and not a price increase on a farm commodity. Anderson has jurisdiction on farm price increases.

Pace told Bowles and Porter that dairy farmers are discouraged and many are selling their herds because of OPA. He criticized Bowles for increasing dairy subsidies instead of following a previous committee recommendation that subsidies be reduced gradually with corresponding increases in prices.

Questions OPA Policy

Pace furthr told the two officials that the dairy industry, the Agriculture department and the committee are against their increased subsidy and cream price rollback program, and asked: "Can everybody be out of step but you?"

Anderson said the farmers cannot understand how industries get price increases to cover boosts in wages while the farmers cannot increase prices but instead get subsidies which may be dropped at any time.

When James Brownlee, deputy to Bowles, said the rollback to September, 1945, prices on cream would not reduce returns to dairy farmers, Anderson interjected: "We don't agree with that."

Pace remarked there has not been a piece of butter in his house in two months.

Hillman Opens Fire on Congress

Tells P. A. C. That 'Betrayal' of OPA Threatens Nation With Orgy of Inflation.

Atlantic City, May 6 (A. P.).—Sidney Hillman, chairman of the C. I. O: Political Action Committee, said today that Congress had made a "shamble of the Price Control act, betraying the interests of the people and threatening to plunge the nation into an orgy of inflation which can end only with national disaster."

Hillman, president of the C. I. O. Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, declared in the keynote address prepared for the union's fifteenth biennial convention that a congressional "coalition has blocked, defeated or emasculated every other item of urgent social legislation."

"A wrecking crew in the House of Representatives has done the bidding of the National Association of Manufacturers, the National Real Estate Board and the meat trust," Hillman said. "It dallies on the vital housing legislation and a public health program. It has sabotaged the fair labor standards amendments. It callously denied full citizenship to the Negro people by filibustering the fair employment practices and anti-poll tax acts."

Assails Rankin Group.

More than 1,000 delegates to the clothing workers' convention heard Hillman reiterate his attacks against the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

"The Congress, in defiance of the people, has recreated that committee and provided Congressman Rankin a vehicle to carry on his undemocratic and un-American campaign of harassing progressive men and organizations and violating their civil rights and liberties under the Hitler-like guise of a holy crusade against 'Communism,'" Hillman said.

Hillman said that if the nation was to move forward in peace and prosperity "the course of Congress must be sharply reversed." The C. I. O. Political Action Committee, he said, was "more solidly entrenched and better equipped to carry on the campaign than it was in 1944." On international matters Hillman reaffirmed P. A. C.'s confidence in the United Nations, but said:

"If the unity of the Big Three fails, then the United Nations too will fail. It will become no more than an arena for the play of power politics, another League of Nations, as futile and as ineffective as the league.

Calls for Big Three Unity.

". . . if today, a short year after the defeat of Hitler, it is possible for us to contemplate war as a serious and terrible possibility, it is because cracks have begun to apear in the war-born unity of the Big Three. If the unity of the United States, Russia and Britain is the corner stone of peace, then it is the unity of all three toward which we must strive. . . .

"The peace cannot be built without the full assistance and co-operation of the Soviet Union, any more than it can be built without the assistance and co-operation of both England and the United States. Any attempt to combine against or isolate any one of the three great Powers must inevitably lead to disaster."

Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowles, Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach and C. I. O. President Philip Murray are scheduled to address the convention, which ends on Friday.

FARMER PRESENTS GIFT FOR STARVING

Nebraskan Gives $1,030 To UNRRA Campaign

Washington, May 6 (AP)—A Nebraska farmer passed to the world's needy today a $1,030 check—a bit of paper standing for his nation's conscience.

It actually was a double gift that Mr. and Mrs. Claude Canady, of Bloomfield, Neb., presented to F. H. LaGuardia, UNRRA director, at a Departme ntof Agriculture press conference.

Sold 1,000 Bushels Of Corn

They had received the money for 1,000 bushels of corn they sold when the Government first called for grain to be shipped to famine areas abroad.

Then, not satisfied that they had done all they could, the Canadays asked UNRRA to accept the check for its foreign relief work.

Commending the spirit which prompted their gift, Secretary of Agriculture Anderson declared an even more important point was the Canadys' compliance with Government pleas that farmers sell grain rather than feed it unnecessarily to livestock.

Got Rid Of Brood Sows

"I never sold any corn before in my life," Canady remarked, "but when I saw in the papers that Mr. Anderson said they had to have corn I sold off ten brood sows and shelled all the corn I had on the place.

"Farmers can be careful about food at the table, like folks in the city are, but the big thing on the farm right now is not to feed any grain you don't have to. Your animals have to be fed up to make good meat, but the finishing off for extra weight is very wasteful."

COTTON PARLEY WILL OPEN TODAY

WASHINGTON, May 6—(AP) The world's cotton producing nations open a conference here tomorrow in a renewed attempt to find ways of preventing a post-war cotton surplus and unprofitable prices for producers.

The United States and some other countries are urging an international agreement on a system of marketing controls designed to assure each exporting country its fair share of the world market and to stabilize prices.

Tomorrow's conference will be the fifth meeting of the International Cotton Advisory committee, organized in 1939 upon the recommendation of the United States. At that time, Cotton growers in many parts of the world were suffering from depressed prices and an unstabilized market.

Hodgson's Resignation Accepted By President

Washington, May 6 (AP)—President Truman has accepted the resignation of Lieut. Col. Joseph V. Hodgson as United States Commissioner on the United Nations War Crimes Commission.

The White House also announced acceptance of the resignation of Gerald B. Brophy, of New York, as United States representative to the interim Council of the Provisional International Civil Aviation Organization at Montreal.

Brophy resigned, effective June 30, after serving since August 15, 1945. Hodgson's resignation was submitted April 5 after nearly two years' service as deputy commissioner, and later as commissioner.

Missouri Is Scheduled To Reach U.S. Thursday

Washington, May 6 (AP) — The battleship Missouri is scheduled to arrive at Norfolk on Thursday from its Mediterranean voyage with a list of passengers ranging from ambassadors to a merchant seaman.

Just how the ship acquired its variety of travelers is a minor mystery to the Navy Department, but the ship advised that the following will be abroad when the battlewagon noses into Hampton Roads:

Alexander Weddel, retired diplomat, of Richmond, Va., who was given the rank of ambassador to escort the body of the late Turkish Ambassador, Mehmet Ertegun, to Turkey aboard the Missouri. EIGHT GET RIDE IN TRUMAN PLANE

WASHINGTON, May 6 — (AP) Press Secretary Charles G. Ross reported today that President Truman's plane, "the Sacred Cow," gave four Army officers and four enlisted men a free ride on its return trip from Paris.

Ross also told reporters that Col. Henry T. Myers, the President's pilot, said he made a record flight of 15 1-2 hours flying time on the trip over with Secretary of State Byrnes and delegates to the four-power conference of foreign ministers.

The plane reached Washington at 7:30 a.m. yesterday after taking off from Paris at 1:30 p.m., Saturday, Paris time.

Myers not only brought back the eight soldiers, Ross said, but 1,000 pounds of "G.I. mail."

"Needless to say the soldiers were delighted to get the free ride home," Ross added.

Hicswa Rejects Offer

Foote, seventy-two, of Casper, to take his place on the gallows, Mr. Foote made his offer to President Truman. It was acknowledged but not accepted. Then Mr. Foote wrote directly to Hicswa in Japan. He declined, Mr. Foote disclosed today, writing: "The Army court-martial board convicted me of a crime of which I tried to prove my innocence. I am sure that with the help of the Lord, they'll see their mistake."

COMPLETION OF THE COMMISSION OPENS THE WAY FOR IMMEDIATE WORK ON THE VITAL ATOMIC PROBLEM. LIE INDICATED THE INITIAL MEETING WOULD BE HELD BEFORE THE END OF THE MONTH. ADD New York (all wire) XXX VALLAY+1A

LIE SAID IN A PRESS CONFERENCE THAT NO REPORT HAD BEEN RECEIVED FROM RUSSIA ON THE IRANIAN QUESTION AND THAT IT WAS UP TO THE COUNCIL TO DECIDE WHETHER SUCH A REPORT WOULD BE REQUESTED.

HE RECALLED THE RECENT STATEMENT OF SOVIET DELEGATE ANDREI A. GROMYKO THAT HE WOULD TAKE NO PART IN ANY FURTHER DISCUSSIONS OF THE IRANIAN QUESTION AND SAID HE DID NOT KNOW WHETHER GROMYKO WOULD ATTEND WEDNESDAY'S SESSION.

"LET'S WAIT AND SEE," HE SAID.

IF THE COUNCIL SHOULD DECIDE TO DROP THE IRANIAN MATTER, IT WOULD THEN HAVE BEFORE IT ONLY ONE CASE--POLAND'S CHARGES THAT THE FRANCO REGIME MENACES WORLD PEACE.

LIE SAID HE HAD NOT YET RECEIVED ANY REQUEST THAT THE COUNCIL TAKE UP THE PALESTINE CONTROVERSY, ALTHOUGH HE HAD RECEIVED NUMEROUS COMMUNICATIONS ON THE SUBJECT.

HE CONFIRMED REPORTS THAT THE COUNCIL'S COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS ON RULES AND PROCEDURE WAS DEADLOCKED ON THE VITAL VETO QUESTION, WHICH WAS ONE OF THE MAJOR ISSUES OF DISPUTE BETWEEN RUSSIA AND THE WESTERN POWERS AT THE SAN FRANCISCO CONFERENCE.

UNLESS THE SECURITY COUNCIL EVENTUALLY IS ABLE TO AGREE ON THE USE OF THE VETO, HE SAID, THE ISSUE MIGHT HAVE TO BE PUT TO THE 51 NATIONS AS A CHARTER AMENDMENT.

LIE SAID THAT IF THE COUNCIL FAILED TO RECONCILE THE DIFFERENCES ON THE QUESTION THE ONLY COURSE LEFT OPEN WOULD BE FOR THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY TO PROPOSE AN AMENDMENT TO THE CHARTER TO DEFINE SPECIFICALLY WHAT COULD BE VETOED AND WHAT COULD NOT.

AFTER A BITTER DEBATE AT SAN FRANCISCO IT WAS DECIDED TO STATE IN THE CHARTER THAT THE VETO--A POWER GRANTED TO THE FIVE PERMANENT MEMBERS OF THE COUNCIL--COULD BE USED IN ACTION ON QUESTIONS OF "SUBSTANCE" BUT NOT ON QUESTIONS OF "PROCEDURE."

THE POWERS, HOWEVER, HAVE NOT BEEN ABLE TO AGREE ON A DEFINITION OF WHAT CONSTITUTES "PROCEDURE" AND WHAT IS "SUBSTANCE." RUSSIA FAVORS A MUCH BROADER USE OF THE VETO THAN THE OTHER POWERS.

LIE DISCLOSED THE U. N. ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION WOULD HOLD ITS INITIAL MEETING BEFORE THE END OF THE MONTH TO START DRAFTING ITS PROGRAM FOR INTERNATIONAL CONTROL IN THE ATOMIC FIELD.

ASKED TO COMMENT ON THE WORK OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL SO FAR, LIE SAID:

"I THINK WE CAN BE SATISFIED. THERE ARE DIFFERENCES OF OPINION BETWEEN THE BIG POWERS AND THE LITTLE POWERS AND AMONG THE BIG POWERS THEMSELVES, BUT THAT WAS TO BE EXPECTED. I THINK THAT IS WHY WE HAVE THE COUNCIL."

SN317PED

ADD New York (all wire) XX ...ASSE (Moyer/Sam)

MEANWHILE, THE COUNCIL'S COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS ON RULES AND PROCEDURE WAS REPORTED TO HAVE SHELVED DISCUSSIONS OF THE VITAL VETO QUESTION AFTER IT BECAME APPARENT THAT RUSSIA AND THE WESTERN POWERS WERE MILES APART IN THEIR VIEWS.

ALTHOUGH IT WAS GENERALLY AGREED THAT THE VETO QUESTION WAS UNDOUBTEDLY THE MOST IMPORTANT PROCEDURAL ISSUE CONFRONTING THE EXPERTS OR THE COUNCIL, THE MEMBERS OF THE COMMITTEE WERE REPORTED TO FEEL IT WAS FUTILE TO DISCUSS IT AT THEIR LEVEL UNLESS THE MAJOR POWERS COULD AGREE IN PRINCIPLE.

RUSSIA MAINTAINS THAT THE VETO POWER SHOULD BE BROAD ENOUGH TO COVER ALMOST ALL MATTERS CONNECTED WITH AN INTERNATIONAL DISPUTE OR SITUATION THREATENING PEACE. THE WESTERN POWERS FEEL THAT IT SHOULD APPLY ONLY TO MAJOR ISSUES, SUCH AS A VOTE ON PUNITIVE MEASURES AGAINST A NATION WHICH IS THREATENING WORLD PEACE.

NIGHT LEAD IRANIAN
BY JOSEPH C. GOODWIN

TEHRAN, MAY 6-(AP)-THE TABRIZ RADIO ANNOUNCED TONIGHT THAT THE AZERBAIJAN PROVINCE CAPITAL AT 5 P.M. YESTERDAY.

A BRITISH OFFICIAL WHO WAS IN TABRIZ YESTERDAY SAID THAT A RUSSIAN ARMY FAREWELL PARADE, LED BY 150 MILITARY TRUCKS AND 20 TANKS, MARKED THE DEPARTURE. HE SAID THE PARADE PASSED UNDER A "VICTORY ARCH" BEARING PHOTOGRAPHS OF GENERALISSIMO STALIN AND JAFAR PISHEVARI, PREMIER OF THE AUTONOMOUS AZERBAIJAN GOVERNMENT.

THERE WAS NO OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT FROM EITHER IRANIAN OR SOVIET OFFICIALS HERE THAT THE RUSSIAN WITHDRAWAL HAD BEEN COMPLETED IN ACCORD WITH THE DEADLINE SET BY THE SOVIET-IRANIAN AGREEMENT OF LAST APRIL 2.

PRINCE MOZAFFAR FIROUZ, DIRECTOR OF PROPAGANDA, SAID HIS GOVERNMENT WAS "COMPLETELY SATISFIED" THAT THE EVACUATION WOULD BE MADE FINAL BY MIDNIGHT TONIGHT. HE ADDED THAT "AS FAR AS WE KNOW EVERYTHING IS COMPLETE, BUT WE HAVE NO OFFICIAL INFORMATION."

A SOVIET EMBASSY OFFICIAL COMMENTED: "THIS IS NOT OUR AFFAIR. THE EVACUATION IS HANDLED BY THE MILITARY."

A HIGH DIPLOMATIC OFFICIAL HERE TOLD NEWSMEN THAT HE WAS ADVISED "UNOFFICIALLY" THAT THE RED ARMY WAS FEVERISHLY QUITTING AZERBAIJAN AND "IT APPEARS THEY MIGHT COMPLETE THE EVACUATION TONIGHT."

ASKED IF THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL WOULD BE ADVISED WHEN THE EVACUATION IS COMPLETED, FIROUZ REPLIED:

"IF WE ARE ASKED FOR THE INFORMATION, NATURALLY WE WILL GIVE IT. AS FAR AS WE ARE CONCERNED THE PROBLEM IS SETTLED. ANY REQUEST FOR INFORMATION FROM THE COUNCIL WOULD BE ITS AFFAIR. IT IS OF NO INTEREST TO US."

FIROUZ SAID THAT THE IRANIAN AMBASSADOR TO THE UNITED STATES, HUSSEIN ALA, WAS NOT EXPECTED BY HIS GOVERNMENT TO APPEAR BEFORE THE COUNCIL "UNLESS HE IS INVITED."

(IN WASHINGTON THE IRANIAN EMBASSY INDICATED THAT ALA WOULD PRESENT A REPORT ON THE EVACUATION TO THE COUNCIL.)

FIROUZ SAID ALSO THAT PISHEVARI IS STILL ATTENDING NEGOTIATIONS HERE WITH CENTRAL GOVERNMENT REPRESENTATIVES ON THE RETURN OF AZERBAIJAN TO CENTRAL GOVERNMENT ADMINISTRATION, AND THAT THE NEGOTIATIONS WERE "PROGRESSING SATISFACTORILY."

FIROUZ DENIED REPORTS THAT THE NEGOTIATIONS WERE DEADLOCKED BY THE QUESTION OF THE FUTURE OF THE AZERBAIJAN ARMY. DIPLOMATIC SOURCES EXPRESSED THE BELIEF THAT AZERBAIJAN DELEGATES WERE SEEKING BETTER PROPOSALS THAN THOSE OFFERED BY IRANIAN PREMIER AHMED QAVAM.

A "FRIENDSHIP PACT" BETWEEN AZERBAIJAN AND THE SO-CALLED "INDEPENDENT KURDISH REPUBLIC," ANNOUNCED RECENTLY BY THE TABRIZ RADIO, WAS ASSESSED BY DIPLOMATIC SOURCES AS AN ATTEMPT TO STRENGTHEN THE BARGAINING HAND OF THE PISHEVARI GROUP.

SOME KURD LEADERS HAVE SAID RECENTLY THAT THE INFLUENCE OF MOHAMED GHAZI, LEADER OF THE SO-CALLED KURDISH REPUBLIC, HAS WANED CONSIDERABLY.

Frankfurt, Germany, May 6--(AP)--Unofficial sources tonight predicted another drastic cut in German rations in the American zone, NOW AT which already have been reduced to the hunger level of 1,275 calories daily.

The failure of American wheat shipments to measure up to a promised total of 50,000 tons montly, and large-scale hoarding by Bavarian farmers who are estimated to be withholding up to 40 per cent of their grain quotas, were cited as chief factors in the intensified food crisis.

MAY 7 1946

Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay , deputy military governor, is scheduled to meet tomorrow at Stuttgart with the minister presidents of the three German states in the zone to discuss emergency measures. He imposed the first slash in April and warned then that further sacrifices might be required.

Gen. Clay originally told German officials the United States would provide 150,000 tonsof grain at the rate of 50,000 tons monthly. to carry the zone until midsummer. But it is understood that current shipments are only a small fraction of that.

The present ration is described officially as not adequate to maintain the efficiency of workers.

At Clay's request German cities have strengthened their police guards at food warehouses which might become centersof hunger riots.

T/4 GERALD R.GRABERT OF BOYERTOWN, PA., OBSERVED THAT JAPANESE GIRLS "SEEM MORE COOPERATIVE--OUTWARDLY," WHICH WAS PROMPTLY COUNTERED BY PFC.MORGAN WILLIAMS OF SCRANTON, PA., WITH THE DECLARATION THAT AMERICAN GIRLS DON'T HAVE MUCH TO LEARN.

BUENOS AIRES, MAY 6-(AP)-LATIN AMERICAN COUNTRIES RECEIVED WITH APPROVAL TODAY PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S PROPOSED PROGRAM FOR UNITED STATES MILITARY COLLABORATION WITH OTHER AMERICAN COUNTRIES.

TRUMAN ASKED THE UNITED STATES CONGRESS FOR LEGISLATION TO AUTHORIZE THE TRAINING, ORGANIZATION AND EQUIPMENT OF THE ARMED FORCES OF OTHER COUNTRIES IN THE WESTERN HEMISPHERE BY THE UNITED STATES AND TO "STANDARDIZE MILITARY ORGANIZATION TRAINING METHODS."

OBSERVERS HERE SAID THE PROPOSED LEGISLATION REFLECTS A LONG-STANDING DESIRE OF SOUTH AMERICAN AND CENTRAL AMERICAN REPUBLICS FOR AN ACCORD OF THAT NATURE.

LATIN AMERICANS BELIEVE STANDARDIZATION OF ARMED FORCES IS THE STRONGEST POSSIBLE DEFENSE SYSTEM FOR THE WESTERN HEMISPHERE.

THE PROBLEM OF ORGANIZING THIS COMBINED ARMED STRENGTH INTO A SINGLE, COORDINATED UNIT FOR DEFENSE PURPOSES HAS BEEN UNDER STUDY FOR SEVERAL YEARS BY THE INTER-AMERICAN DEFENSE BOARD, COMPRISING MILITARY EXPERTS OF ALL AMERICAN NATIONS.

THE STANDARDIZATION OF TRAINING METHODS AND EQUIPMENT UNDER UNITED STATES LEADERSHIP, OBSERVERS SAID, ALSO WOULD SERVE TO ELIMINATE THE GERMAN INFLUENCE PREVALENT IN LATIN AMERICAN COUNTRIES, SEVERAL OF WHOSE ARMIES WERE TRAINED AND DEVELOPED UNDER GERMAN TUTELAGE.

THIS APPLIES PARTICULARLY TO THE ARGENTINE AND CHILEAN ARMIES AND, IN A LESSER DEGREE TO THOSE OF BOLIVIA AND PARAGUAY.

THE TRUMAN PROPOSAL IS IN LINE WITH A SCHEDULED INTER-AMERICAN CONFERENCE AT RIO DE JANEIRO, WHICH IS EXPECTED TO CONVENE IN SEPTEMBER FOR THE PURPOSE OF DRAFTING A MUTUAL DEFENSE PACT.

Commons Approves Withdrawing Troops From Egypt

BRITAIN TO RECALL TROOPS IN EGYPT

Commons Endorses Proposal to Withdraw All Military Units.

LONDON, May 7 — (AP)

House of Commons tonight backed up the Labor government's suddenly announced proposal to withdraw Britain's entire military establishment from Egypt by giving the government a 327 to 158 vote of confidence.

For the first time since the Labor government came to power last August the Conservative party minority split openly with the government on a foreign policy issue.

Up to tonight Conservatives and Laborites had stood shoulder-to-shoulder on international issues and the Conservatives had repeatedly praised Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's brusque and determined handling of overseas relations.

Attlee Explains Proposal

In a stormy debate on the proposal, Prime Minister Attlee described the plan as the best method "to calm rising Egyptian nationalism."

The vote of confidence came quickly after Herbert Morrison, Laborite floor leader, declared that the alternative to getting all British forces out of Egypt was "almost certain disturbance, riot and possibly even revolution."

Earlier opposition leader Winston Churchill had charged the Labor government with a policy which would lead to destruction of the British empire, asserting that "after 60 years of diplomacy and administration, things built up with great labor are cast away with great shame and folly.

Attlee retorted to this by saying that the Egyptian decision was agreed to by chiefs of staffs and dominion prime ministers.

Fears Distress in Colonies

But Conservative Member Ian Fraser accused the government of beginning "to unbutton the British empire" and said there would be "great distress in the colonies at the news."

Attlee defended the proposal as a measure to allay Egyptian suspicions "that we want to occupy Egypt," adding that the Labor government was "as concerned as anyone else with the security of the communications of the British commonwealth and empire and with the security of the Suez canal."

The British proposal, a Foreign office spokesman said, envisioned building up of the Egyptian army to assume protection of the Suez and Britain's vital link to her Pacific and Asiatic empire, but Anthony Eden, Conservative member and Churchill's wartime foreign secretary, disputed the ability of Egyptian forces to protect the canal.

Eden, foreign secretary in 1936 when the present Anglo-Egyptian treaty was signed, said the discussions on revision already started in Cairo "cannot but condemn an act which appears to place in jeopardy the essential artery of our imperial life at the very outset of the negotiations."

Churchill shook his head slowly as Attlee repeated that the dominion prime ministers were consulted "before and not after" the decision was reached, and Attlee remarked curtly:

"Mr. Churchill shakes his head, but he was not there."

Eden Presses Questions

Eden asserted that the Suez canal's security "cannot be ignored however strong the national feeling may be." The former foreign secretary also nettled Attlee with persistent questioning about dominion approval of "the terms and timing of the announcement."

Attlee shouted:

"I did not come to this house--". There he broke off, and then added: "The government takes full responsibility."

Conservative Brigadier A. H. Head, recently returned from a parliamentary mission to Iran, said he wanted assurance the withdrawal decision was reached "with full knowledge of the repercussions."

"Around Egypt," he said, "there are great British interests—Iraq with the oil, the Sudan and Palestine. If you leave those interests lying about, they will be picked up."

Under the 1936 Anglo-Egyptian treaty, which is in force until 1956, Britain was given full right to air and naval bases near the canal and authority to maintain troops in Egypt until 1946, when revisions were to be discussed.

Attlee said that in opening talks for revision "it is essential to take as a departure the complete freedom and independence of Egypt," adding that "The Egyptians do not consider that freedom is theirs as long as foreign troops are retained—even by treaty—on Egyptian soil." The talks in Cairo are expected to begin Thursday and last about two weeks.

The prime minister reminded Eden that the 1936 treaty's preamble stated that "military occupation of Egypt was at an end," adding that "we said we were going and have not gone."

"After all," he said, "the defense of Egyptian soil is first and foremost an Egyptian responsibility.

"Under conditions of modern warfare we can only carry out our obligations if we have been put in a position by the Egyptian government to bring our forces into action in the area without loss of time in an emergency What we are endeavoring to work out with the Egyptians is how best we can get those facilities and in what time it will be possible to withdraw our troops."

A foreign office spokesman said the British offer to leave the defense of the Suez canal, link to the Pacific and Asiatic empire, to King Farouk's forces was predicated on a long-range concern for the defense of the empire, and highly qualified military forces said the withdrawal could not possibly be accomplished within less than five years.

The spokesman said that in view of Egyptian demands that Britain withdraw her forces, the government agreed to this proposal as a gesture, although "we could have resisted and been within our rights." (ADD)

Churchill Assails British Move In Egypt

London, May 7 (AP)—Great Britain proposed today to withdraw its armed forces from Egypt, a decision that provoked a challenge in Commons from Conservative leader Winston Churchill as "one of the most momentous I have heard in the House."

Prime Minister Attlee yielded to Churchill's insistence on "immediate debate" which was fixed for 7 P.M., tonight.

Attlee announced the Labor Government's decision briefly, asserting that Great Britain intends to carry on negotiations for treaty revision with Egypt "as between two equal nations."

Is Interrupted

Churchill was interrupted by an uproar from the Labor benches when he declared that "after 60 years of diplomacy and administration . . ."

Communist Philip Piratin shouted, "Long enough!"

Churchill then finished his sentence: ". . . things built up with great labor are cast away with great shame and folly."

Under questioning by the wartime Prime Minister, Attlee said the announcement did not affect the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan. He said the Sudan was "a different matter altogether."

Supported By Party

Churchill's voice quivered with anger as he demanded immediate debate. All the opposition members rose together to support the demand.

Anthony Eden, who was Foreign Secretary when the 1936 Treaty of Alliance was signed, said that under the treaty Egypt and Britain "together assumed responsibility for the defense of Egypt and the Suez Canal.

"How can that be reconciled with the statement just made?" Eden asked.

Welcome, Red Says

Attlee replied that British negotiators were "endeavoring to work out . . . an alliance with plans for the defense of this area."

Communist William Gallacher said most people would welcome the Government's statement that "the only opposition is by a few ancient Victorian Tories."

Eden was scheduled to open the night debate. (ADD)

BRITAIN OFFERS TO GET TROOPS OUT OF EGYPT

Proposal Is Preliminary to Negotiations to Revising Treaty.

OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT MADE

Attlee Defends Move After It Is Condemned by Eden and Churchill.

30-24-2699

Cairo, May 7 (AP)—Great Britain proposed today to withdraw all her armed forces from Egyptian territory and entrust to the armies of King Farouk the defense of a strategic area on the lifeline of the empire which British troops have occupied since 1882.

The British Embassy, announcing the offer to take all military, naval and air forces from Egypt, said the move was preliminary to negotiations for revision of the 1936 Anglo-Egyptian treaty of alliance.

Mutual Assistance

The announcement, made with the concurrence of Egyptian Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha, said arrangements are to be made by the Egyptian Government to make possible in time of war or imminent threat of war mutual assistance in accord with the treaty.

The Premier said the British "communiqué does not represent the Egyptian delegation's basis for negotiations and the Egyptian delegation will decide to accept or reject it." He explained that his agreement regarding the communiqué concerned its publication only. "As Premier, my permission for publication had been requested," he said.

A withdrawal from Egypt would remove the British forces nearest the Suez Canal, a link in the British supply line to India, Australia, Malaya and New Zealand. Other British forces, however, are stationed north and east of the canal in Palestine, Transjordan and Iraq. These forces include all branches of the services in Palestine, personnel serving with the Arab Legion in Transjordan and RAF bases west of the Euphrates River in Iraq.

To Start Thursday

The British Embassy said stages and the date for completion of the withdrawal would be settled by negotiation. The movement is expected to start Thursday and to be completed within two weeks.

"It is the settled policy of his Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom to consolidate their alliance with Egypt as one between two equal nations having interests in common," the embassy said. "In pursuance of this policy, negotiations have begun in an atmosphere of cordiality and good will."

Demonstrations Held

The announcement was approved by Lord Stansgate, a member of the British delegation which is conferring with an Egyptian delegation on Egyptian demands for evacuation of British forces and union of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan with Egypt.

Preliminary negotiations started after Egyptians had demonstrated on several occasions against the continued presence of British troops in the kingdom. Some demonstrations precipitated riots in which demonstrators and British soldiers were killed. Two days ago British troops and a few Egyptians were injured when a bomb was thrown from a passing car into a downtown Y.M.C.A.

No Surprise, Paper Says

The Arab-language newspaper, Al Balagh, mouthpiece of the powerful Wafdist party, commented editorially this afternoon that the British proposal was no surprise because Great Britain was obliged to withdraw in the face of international events.

"The British are demanding a continuation of the 1936 alliance, which all Egyptians have denounced and opposed," the newspaper said. "The British are trying to join with Egypt forever in a military alliance. We believe that England will always claim there is a threat of war so she can continue occupying our airfields, forts, land and communications."

More Than 40,000 There

Some 40,000 British ground troops are estimated to be in Egypt, plus a considerable number of air force personnel. Alexandria is one of the key British naval bases.

The British have had special interests in Egypt since before 1800, but it was in 1882 that internal disorders brought about British military intervention. Soon after World War I had started, the British declared a protectorate over Egypt which the great powers recognized.

The protectorate was ended February 28, 1922, and Egypt was proclaimed a kingdom two weeks later.

The twenty-year treaty of alliance was signed August 26, 1936, providing for the termination of British military occupation, recognizing the special British interest in the Suez Canal and providing that the administration of the Sudan would remain as a condominium.

British Evacuation of Egypt Would Shift Middle East Ties

J. Hightower

WASHINGTON, May 7. — (AP) Britain's promise to withdraw her military forces from Egypt probably foreshadows a change in basic great power relationships in the Middle East, one of the world's most important strategic areas.

Also it probably means an eventual weakening of the British empire system at one of its most vulnerable points.

To the extent that United States foreign policy depends upon the British system for its own development, American interests may be deeply involved.

Turn in Tide of Imperialism

Those are among initial estimates of diplomatic authorities here to today's news from abroad. Some suggested that the world is witnessing a historic turn in the tides of British imperialism.

The greatest speculation for the future centers upon the question of how this will affect Russian aspirations in the Middle East. Inquiries made to American, British and other diplomatic experts in Washington brought this broad analysis of the situation:

The British have had a dominant hand in the affairs of Egypt for half a century. This has enabled them to control the eastern Mediterranean to a large extent.

Elsewhere, the British have troops in Palestine and Iraq and at least the right to have troops in Trans-Jordan. None of these is as important as Egypt nor as good a position in event of war.

Anticipated British Move

American officials professed today to have expected the promise which the British made to pull their troops out. Theoretically this is in line with the general policy being followed by Secretary of State Byrnes in insisting that all troops on foreign soil be withdrawn.

Actually the pleasure expressed by some officials at the British promise is balanced by strong concern over the effect it may have on the relationships of Britain, Russia and the United States.

One example is cited by some diplomats. The United States is reported to have proposed an Anglo-American-Russian-French trusteeship over the former Italian colony of Cirenaica. But this proposal is supposed to have been based on the assumption that the British would continue to have a naval base at Alexandria, Egypt. With such a base, the emergence of Russia into the central Mediterranean would not necessarily upset the power relationships in that sea.

The immediate cause of the decision by Prime Minister Attlee's government to promise withdrawal from Egypt is given here as the rising tide of nationalism in that country. Some diplomats, though not all, said this was intensified by the recent recommendation by an Anglo-American committee that 100,000 Jews be admitted to Palestine despite Arab objections.

Nationalism Rising

Egypt is an Arab country, and some reports reaching Washington through official channels indicate that Egyptian nationalism was increased and resentment against Britain, as well as the United States, was created by the proposal [illegible] Palestine.

It is in this respect that the question of policy comes most clearly into focus. The Russians have not yet shown whether they intend to back the Arabs against the Jews or the Jews against the Arabs in the Palestine controversy. They are reported to have tried to stay friendly with both sides.

If the Russians go along with the Arabs on this issue, that fact coupled with the loss of Britain's military position, may in five to ten years violently upset the British and American alignments in the Middle East.

For it seems certain that no immediate changes will occur in the Egyptian situation. It is understood here that the British have in mind asking Egyptian agreement to a five-year period of withdrawal. They intend, it is reported, to turn over to trained Egyptian forces the military installations which they possess in Egypt with the thought that if and when necessary these would be available to the United Nations.

RUSS ACCORD CALLED VITAL

Churchill Terms Understanding Way To Avoid War

G. Williams

London, May 7 (AP)—Winston Churchill called today for "a good and faithful understanding with Soviet Russia" through the United Nations to avoid war and urged "the English-speaking world and western democracies of Europe" to "move together in creating true fellowship with Russia."

The wartime Prime Minister and Conservative party leader said that death of the British Empire would "leave a void." He asked American aid in a joint policy in Palestine. He declared British withdrawal from India would abandon that country "to a cruel fate."

Other Catastrophe"

Churchill spoke in accepting the freedom of the City of Westminster, that part of London embracing the Houses of Parliament and Westminster Abbey. He made his remarks in Church House, where the United Nations Security Council held its first session.

"The supreme hope and prime endeavor" toward achieving lasting peace is to reach an understanding with Russia through the United Nations, he declared.

"Only in this way can catastrophe be avoided," he said.

Churchill, who recently at Fulton, Mo., proposed a virtual military alliance of Britain and the United States, then offered what he called "some guidance."

He said this guidance was that the "English-speaking world" and European western democracies "move together in creating true fellowship" with the Soviet Union."

Britain And United States

Later at a luncheon Churchill said he hoped Britain and the United States would "understand each other better and rely upon each other in the onward march of the English-speaking world."

"If the United Nations themselves are sundered by an awful schism, a clash of ideologies and passions," Churchill warned, the entire human race may be led "into a new period of misery, slaughter and abasement more agonizing than those which have twice endured in the lifetime of most of us."

Churchill, who during the war said he did not propose to preside at a liquidation of the British Empire, declared there was a possibility that the Empire might "pass away" and recalled that "some voices bid us 'quit Palestine' and 'quit India.'

Should The Empire Die"

"All the world should consider deeply what the consequence would be should the Empire die and thus leave a void," he said.

Concerning Palestine, he said the British-American committee of inquiry had recommended that Britain remain as administrator of the country, and demanded: "Are we not entitled to ask our friends whose judgment is the same as ours to give us a helping hand?"

As for India, Churchill said "India is not more united than Europe, except with superficial unity which has been created by our own rule and guidance in the last 150 years." For the British to quit India, he said, would mean leaving it to "the cruel fate which has laid Europe, with all its glories, in the dust and ashes and now threatens China with a protraction of her long torment."

Accord With Russia Vital, Says Churchill

London, May 7 (AP)—Winston Churchill declared today "the supreme hope and prime endeavor" toward achieving lasting peace "is to reach a good and faithful understanding with Soviet Russia through the agency and organism of the United Nations."

"Only in this way can catastrophe be avoided," he said.

The wartime Prime Minister spoke at a ceremony giving him the freedom of the city of Westminster, the section of London embracing the houses of Parliament and Westminster Abbey. He spoke at Church House, where the first session of the United Nations Security Council was held.

Churchill asked the world to ponder "what happens if the United Nations themselves are sundered by an awful schism, a clash of ideologies and passions?"

"Failure to find the answer," he said, "may lead the whole human race into a new period of misery, slaughter and abasement more agonizing and fatal than those which have twice been endured in the lifetime of most of us."

He called on "the English-speaking world and the Western democracies of Europe to move together in creating a true fellowship with Russia."

Hopes For Strong France

"I hope in this world organization there will be a strong France and a revived Italy," he said. "France, after all her troubles, may yet lead Europe into peace and plenty."

Alluding to the figurative casting of boomerangs, Churchill said:

"Thus we may note how some of the actions of our Russian friends have helped to cement Anglo-American friendship and co-operation and how the activities of the French Communist party have given Gen. Franco a new lease on life."

If The Empire Passes Away

He spoke of the possibility that the British Empire might "pass away" and recalled that "some voices bid us 'quit Palestine' and 'quit India.'"

"All the world should consider deeply what the consequences would be should the empire die and thus leave a void," said Churchill, who, during the war, declared he did not propose to preside at a liquidation of the empire.

He said the British-American investigation commission on Palestine recommended that Great Britain remain as administrator of the country.

"Entitled To Ask Aid"

"Are we not entitled to ask our friends whose judgment is the same as ours to give us a helping hand?" he asked.

Churchill declared that to get out of India would mean leaving the subcontinent to "the cruel fate which has laid Europe with all its glories in dust and ashes and which now threatens China with a protraction of her long torment."

"India is no more united than Europe, except with superficial unity which has been created by our rule and guidance in the last 150 years," he said.

Council Meets Today with Situation Still Clouded.

M. Harrelson

NEW YORK, May 7 — (AP) The United Nations Security council tonight awaited a new report from Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala which delegates hoped might avert another clash on the explosive Iranian case tomorrow.

The only way such a clash might be avoided, most delegates believed, was by the receipt of new evidence before the council meets at 3 p.m. tomorrow, showing that the withdrawal of Russian troops from Iran was complete or virtually complete.

Evacuation Completed

A delayed dispatch from Tehran quoted Prince Mozaffar Firouz, Iranian propaganda director, as saying Monday night: "Reports we have received indicate that the evacuation of Persia has been completed."

Ala, however, said he had received no information later than that in his report of Monday night, which some of the delegates found to be inconclusive.

A later dispatch from Tehran said the Soviet government still controlled air travel to Azerbaijan province, since passage on the Russian Intourist airline to Tabriz must be booked through the Russian consulate.

Travel Curbs Lifted

Associated Press Correspondent Joseph C. Goodwin cabled that he was leaving Tehran tomorrow for Tabriz, indicating that restrictions on movements of foreign correspondents had been lifted in the northern provinces.

Unless the council receives information much more definite than Ala gave Monday, a British spokesman said, Sir Alexander Cadogan will oppose any move to drop the case.

When informed of Firouz's statement, the British spokesman said such a report, if officially submitted to the council and corroborated by information from other sources, might form a basis for dropping the case.

Ala reported Monday night that all Soviet troops had been withdrawn from four Iranian provinces, but that Soviet "interference" in Azerbaijan province made it impossible for his government to ascertain the status of withdrawals there.

No Report from Russia

Russia still had not submitted a report to the council and there was no indication that she intended to submit one. Ala indicated in his report that he would submit any later information he received.

Any move to keep the case on the agenda, it was generally believed, would precipitate a new crisis in the council. One delegate expressed the fear that this would be the signal for another walkout by Russian Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko.

Gromyko, however, has not indicated whether he would attend.

Both the United States and Britain are awaiting last-minute reports from their legations in Tehran on the status of Russian evacution. Their information as of today corresponded closely to what Ala reported, but they were hopeful that more favorable reports would be received by tomorrow.

U.N. Faces New Iran Problem

New York, May 7 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council was presented with a new poser today in the form of a statement by Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala that the situation in Azerbaijan province has made it impossible for his Government to verify whether all Soviet troops had been withdrawn from Iran by yesterday's deadline.

In a communication addressed to Secretary General Trygve Lie, Ala said investigation showed that all Red Army troops had left the four northern provinces of Khorassan, Gorgan, Mazanderan and Gilan as scheduled.

Not Sure About Azerbaijan

He added, however, that his Government could not ascertain the situation in Azerbaijan because it has been "unable to exercise effective authority" there since November 7, 1945, due to Soviet "interference."

Ala's report left in doubt the action the Council will take when it reconvenes tomorrow with the Iranian case on the agenda.

Reports Hour Before Deadline

Ala delivered his communication to Lie at 11 o'clock last night—just one hour before the deadline set by the Council.

Under a Soviet-Iranian agreement concluded on April 5, Russia promised to have all her troops out of Iran by May 6 and recognized the situation in Azerbaijan province as an "internal problem."

No Russian Report

No report has been received from Russia as to whether she has carried out her part of the agreement by removing all troops from Iran on schedule.

It was presumed that Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko would boycott the Council session tomorrow in accordance with his statement last week after failing to have the Iranian case removed from the agenda.

Ala's report was preceded by dispatches from Tehran which quoted Prince Mozaffar Firouz, Iranian Propaganda Minister, as saying that his Government was "completely satisfied" that the evacuation would be made final by midnight last night.

IRANIAN CASE IS UNSETTLED

Ala Says Tehran Lacks Proof Of Soviet Evacuation

Tehran, May 7 (AP)—Russian troops may or may not have quit northern Iran—Iranian foreign officials have no exact information on that subject—but the Soviet Government still controlled travel to that region today, and American newsmen were not able to visit Azerbaijan Province.

The manager of Intourist, Soviet travel bureau controlling the Russian-owned airline to Tabriz, told The Associated Press: "A permit is no longer necessary, but passage must be booked through our consulate." The consul was "not in" to correspondents, although his office was observing regular hours.

The airline manager, who had asked newspaper men four times in two days to return to the airline office to purchase tickets, said: "We want to sell you passage. There is space for you. But we are not permitted to do so without the approval of the Russian Consul."

No Soviet Report Made

An official American source said no Soviet report yet had been received of the actual evacuation of Azerbaijan Province by the Red Army.

The road [illegible] Tabriz has been cleared of Russian checkposts, but official travelers to Tabriz have been stopped for periods up to eight hours at each partisan-held town along the route, official foreign reports said. Tabriz is the capital of Azerbaijan Province, where an "autonomous" regime has been proclaimed.

[This dispatch was filed many hours after Prince Mozaffar Firouz, Iranian Director of Propaganda, told correspondents in Teheran Monday night that "reports we have received indicate that the evacuation of Persia has been completed. Prince Firouz said no reports had been received, officially or unofficially, that would justify the Iranian Government's doubting that the terms agreed upon with Russia had been carried out. Russia and Iran had agreed that all Red Army troops would be evacuated from Iran by midnight May 6.]

Iran Indicates Russians Are Gone

Tehran, May 6 (Delayed) (A. P.).—Prince Firouz, Iranian Director of Propaganda, told news correspondents tonight that "reports we have received indicate that the evacuation of Persia (Iran) has been completed."

Premier Ahmed Qavam, tired but obviously happy, received the correspondents at 10:30 P. M. and then directed them to Firouz, who made the announcement concerning the withdrawal of Russian troops.

Rights For Women

New York, May 7 (AP) — The United Nations subcommission on the status of women today called for world-wide rights of divorce and for universal monogamy.

The [illegible] stoped that the demand was contrary to religious beliefs and customs prevalent in many countries. Their formal expression will be drafted later.

Another resolution urging abolition of prostitution all over the world was tabled for rewording.

The seven-woman commission, drafting a program for eventual presentation to the United Nations Economic and Social Council, also called for universal suffrage, full rights to hold public office and freedom of choice in marriage.

U.N. Committee Holds to Choice Of County Site

NEW YORK, May 7. — (AP) Sir Angus Fletcher, British consul at Buffalo, N. Y., and former director of the British Library of Information here, was elected chairman of the United Nations Headquarters commission today at its organizational meeting.

The commission is charged principally with recommending a permanent U.N. Headquarters site within the Westchester-Fairfield county area selected by the site inspection group headed by Dr. Ttoyan Gavrilovic of Yugoslavia which now is dissolved.

Sir Angus discounted speculation that his nine-nation commission might recommend abandonment of plans for setting up headquarters in the Westchester-Fairfield area in the face of local opposition.

"Only the General Assembly can change the permanent headquarters site," he said. "Our task is to make more specific recommendations with regard to the general area approved by the Assembly."

The commission immediately took up the problem of housing for U.N. personnel and conversion of the Sperry Gyroscope plant at Lake Success, on Long Island, which will house the secretariat and the councils, and the New York City building on the 1939 World's Fair grounds in Queens, where the General Assembly will meet Sept. 3.

NO U. N. WELCOME BY CONNECTICUT

Hartford, Conn., May 7 (A. P.).—The Connecticut House of Representatives by a rising vote refused today to adopt a resolution extending a welcome to the United Nations. The resolution was defeated by a partisan vote, the Democratic minority favoring it, with the Republican majority, almost to a man, in opposition.

Introduced by the Democratic Minority Leader, Representative Charles Henschel of New Haven, the resolution noted that "certain small groups" in the State were opposed to location of the U. N. in Fairfield county area, and would have placed the House in position of extending a welcome to the U. N. and urging it reaffirm its decision to locate in the Fairfield county-Westchester area.

Republicans, while asserting they indorsed the United Nations and its purposes, contended that the issue was not properly before the House, and that the Legislature should not interfere in local affairs.

Representative Herbert B. Wanderer, House Republican leader, said the Legislature traditionally "frowned on disturbing home rule" and whether Stamford and Greenwich residents were correct in opposing location there of U. N. world headquarters "it has nothing to do with us as State legislators."

Representative Daniel F. B. Hickey (R.) of Stamford pointed out that New York was spending more than $2,000,000 for temporary headquarters for the United Nations and asked "what will be the cost to the State of Connecticut?"

U.S. 'Hoarding' Of Grain Immoral, Laborite Says

London, May 7 (AP)—Laborite C. C. Poole urged Prime Minister Attlee in the House of Commons today to "make it clear to the American Government that we consider it highly immoral that grain should be hoarded in America while other people starve."

"I would not like to throw charges against any country," Attlee responded. "I cannot accept the view straightaway that wheat is being hoarded. We are doing our utmost in consultation with the American Government to see that the utmost can be procured."

Attlee said March rains in India "came too late" to improve farm conditions much and "the output of crops will be seriously short." His assertion contrasted with one by President Truman a month ago that rains in India had bettered the world food situation and if the world could get through the next 90 days, everything would go well.

VAST PLOT IS LAID TO MIKHAILOVICH

London, May 7 (A. P.).—Gen. Draja Mikhailovich, former Chetnik leader, stood accused by the Yugoslav Government today of planning to annihilate 1,600,000 of his countrymen in order to create "a fantastic totalitarian Yugoslavia."

The Yugoslav embassy in London made public last night a volume which contained eighty-one documents described as correspondence and military orders issued by Mikhailovich's headquarters, and which also charged the Chetnik leader with "direct treasonable commerce with the enemy." The volume said that Mikhailovich, now in a Belgrade cell awaiting trial on war crimes charges, proposed "to transform complex Yugoslavia into a greater Serbia of Orthodox faith alone, to which would be uneasily appended a purely Catholic rump Slovenia and a truncated Catholic Croatia."

The volume added: "To this end it was proposed in Bosnia and Hercegovina to eliminate upwards of 1,000,000 Moslems and over 500,000 Catholics, while in the historic Sandjak . . . the best part of 100,000 more Moslems were to lose their lives or else suffer forcible conversion to the Orthodox faith which they had resisted for generations in the past."

Protest on Polish Troops

LONDON, May 7 (AP)—A Foreign Office spokesman said tonight that a note from the Polish Provisional Government protesting alleged delays in the demobilization of Polish armed forces overseas had been received and was under consideration. Details of the Polish note were not disclosed, but were understood to include charges of British failure to pay discharge gratuities to the Poles and attempts to influence their decisions on returning home.

British Make Atomic Grant

London, May 7 (AP)—The Government tonight announced the grant of £191,000 ($764,000) for atomic research to Prof. M. L. Oliphant, Birmingham University physicist, and Prof. P. I. Dee, nuclear physicist from Glasgow.

Count Karolyi Ends 27 Years in Exile

London, May 7 (A. P.).—Count Michael Karolyi, 71 years old, president of the short-lived Hungarian Republic after the first world war, left for Hungary today after twenty-seven years of exile. The Hungarian legation said the Hungarian Parliament had invited Karolyi to return.

U.S. At Its 'Meanest', British View On Debate

Middlesbrough, England, May 7 (AP)—Alfred Edwards, Labor member of the House of Commons, said today that the United States Senate debate on the proposed loan to Britain showed America at its "meanest hour."

Reporting on a recent lecture tour of the United States and Canada, he told [illegible]'s luncheon club that "[illegible] wondered if these people, who were putting up such a pitiable exhibition in the American Senate, were really fit to govern."

History, he added, would look back to this period in America and say, "This was their meanest hour."

Edwards, a member of Commons for eleven years, said: "It is a disgrace to all civilization that any governing body should permit a method of filibuster which turned the highest legislative chamber into a vaudeville."

AGREE WITH G. I. BRIDE

Wallasey, England, May 7 (A. P.).—A 22-year-old G. I. bride, June Marsico, who canceled her trip to the United States Saturday because, she said, she loved England too much, was besieged by fan mail today.

Most of the letters were from men, commending her decision to remain in England instead of joining her husband, Nick Marsico, at Elyria, Ohio. One contained a tentative offer of marriage from a 50-year-old musician. British women, however, were not so sure Mrs. Marsico had made a wise choice. One criticized her action as "a rather conceited whim."

The tentative marriage proposal suggested that because she appreciated her native land so much: "Why not visit beautiful Cornwall?" It cautiously added: "Is this a proposal of marriage, should you ever be divorced? Who knows?"

Son of Gandhi Flying to New York

U.S. Girl Meets Fiance She Never Saw

At First Sight of Londoner Who Courted Her by Mail, She Says She Doesn't Want to Return to Brooklyn.

Southampton, England, May 7 (A. P.).—A slim blonde Brooklyn artist and a London tea dealer, who courted her for five years by mail, met for the first time today, kissed and affirmed that they were definitely engaged.

Dan Febland, 32 years old, a former R. A. F. cook, who held a photograph of his fiancee while he waited for the steamship Washington to dock, quickly recognized Harriet Faith Cohen of 2825 West 32d street, Brooklyn, waving from a porthole. After greeting Febland, Miss Cohen smiled and told reporters: "I don't think I want to go back."

He merely grinned when reminded that he had said last week: "If we take to each other, we will get married."

"The wedding date has not yet been fixed, but Dan and I are definitely engaged," the girl said.

Febland observed that they "weren't even serious about it" when they began corresponding five years ago, after his mother and two brothers had met Miss Cohen in New York.

MOLOTOV REFUSES TO REMOVE TROOPS POLICING BULGARIA

Russia Says Soldiers Protect Supply Line to Austria.

BYRNES ENTERS DISPUTE

Joins Britain in Demanding Evacuation of All Units in Balkans.

PARIS, May 7 — (AP) American sources said today that V. M. Molotov, Russian foreign minister, had refused to withdraw Soviet troops from Bulgaria on the ground they were needed there to protect communications lines into the Russian zone of Austria.

Ernest Bevin, British foreign secretary, asserted that if the foreign ministers adopted an American proposal for adding an Austrian settlement to the conference agenda, Red army troops would not be needed to safeguard the communication lines.

"We are not now discussing Austria," the American sources said Molotov retorted.

Cites Balkan Agreement

Molotov then added that the ministers had agreed last September in London that Russia could retain troops in the Balkans and that all the ministers needed to do now was to decide the language of the Balkan treaties.

Secretary of State James F. Byrnes told the ministers on May 1, during a discussion of the evacuation of troops from Italy and Austria, that as long as American troops remained in Austria the United States would be compelled to retain soldiers in Italy to protect supply lines.

Austria and Italy are contiguous countries, whereas Austria and Bulgaria do not adjoin.

Both Bevin and Byrnes challenged Molotov's statement on the London agreement, declaring that the agreement stated precisely that all Allied occupation troops were to be withdrawn upon signature of the treaties.

Molotov Explains Refusal

Molotov explained his refusal further by stating the Russian army was using the Danube river, which forms part of Bulgaria's northern frontier, for sending supplies to its garrisons in Austria. He then contended that the London agreement terms allowed communications troops to remain in Balkan countries.

The American and British ministers disagreed, both asserting the London agreement referred to the withdrawal of all troops.

When Molotov suggested that the issue be referred to the deputies for study, Byrnes replied that if the ministers could not agree, there was little possibility their deputies could.

The question then was laid aside.

Meet Again Today

The ministers will meet tomorrow morning to re-examine the question of Italian reparations, to pass on a treaty for Finland and, if time allows, begin discussions of the over-all German problem.

As the day's second meeting of the ministers proceeded further into the question of the Balkan treaties, Byrnes and Bevin clashed with the Soviet minister on the question of Hungarian reparations.

In the earlier session, the ministers decided to restore Transylvania to Romania, but deadlocked on a U. S. proposal to guarantee freedom of navigation on the Danube.

Supported by Bevin, Byrnes attacked the Hungarian armistice stipulation for $300,000,000 in reparations as "excessive" and likely to result in the economic collapse of the country.

Molotov replied that the United States held about $300,000,000,000 worth of Hungarian assets in its occupation zones in Austria and Germany which might be released to the Hungarians if the United States really wished to help Hungary.

These assets consisted, Molotov asserted, of gold, motor cars, horses, factory machinery and rolling stock.

Byrnes answered that Hungary had never requested the return of these assets and that, furthermore, the $32,000,000 in gold apparently referred to by Molotov was being held in trust in Frankfurt because of certain claims against it. He added that Hungary had asked and received $400,000,000 aid from UNRRA.

Bulgarian Frontiers Set

The ministers, said an American source, accepted Byrnes' proposal to restore Bulgaria's frontiers as of Jan. 1, 1941, with a provision that the Greek-Bulgarian line be considered tentative until the two governments involved could present their views orally to the conference or to the 21-nation peace conference.

The Greek border is the main problem of those concerning Bulgarian frontiers, since the Greeks are claiming rectifications for strategic reasons and the Bulgarians are demanding access to the Aegean sea and western Thrace, both at the expense of Greece.

On the issue of Bulgarian reparations, the conference agreed to a Russian proposal that the Greeks and Yugoslavs be allowed to present their demands to the peace conference, and that a decision be withheld until a further meeting of the council.

In the Danubian discussion, American sources said, Byrnes proposed that navigation on the Danube, its navigable tributaries and connecting canals, be open on terms of complete equalities to the nationals, merchantmen and goods of all states.

Navigational freedom of the Danube is one of the key points of President Truman's European policy. This question was reported to have been argued bitterly by Molotov in opposition to Byrnes and Bevin.

As discussion of Bulgaria began at today's second session, the American delegation let it be known that the United States, which does not recognize the present Sofia regime, was willing to participate in drafting a treaty with that country, but would not do it until the regime was recognized, informants said.

Romania To Get Back One Area Lost In War

Paris, May 7 (AP)—The Foreign Ministers Council agreed today to restore Transylvania to Romania and to list for discussion Romania's other boundary changes since 1938, but broke up the morning session in disagreement over other issues involving the Black Sea country, a British informant said.

The decision of the Foreign Ministers of Russia, Britain, France and the United States to restore Transylvania to Romania annulled the 1940 dictate of Hitler and Mussolini at Vienna which awarded most of that territory to Hungary.

Report On Other Areas

Earlier, British sources said the Foreign Ministers had agreed to restore Romania to all her 1938 boundaries.

This would include the return to her of Dobrudja, which she handed over to Bulgaria in 1940, and Bessarabia, which was occupied by Russia in 1940 and annexed in 1944.

Bessarabia was not specifically mentioned, however, and the Ministers referred the matter to their deputies for precise wording.

Hungary, by the terms of her surrender to the Allies, had already agreed to return Transylvania to Romania.

The Ministers scheduled a meeting for 5 P.M. to start discussion of the Bulgarian treaty, which involves that country's request for cession of western Thrace by Greece and Bulgarian access to the Aegean Sea.

Danube Row Called Bitter

What was described as a bitter argument arose between British Foreign Secretary Bevin and United States Secretary of State Byrnes on the one side and Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia on the other when Britain and America insisted on freedom of navigation of the Danube, vital commercial artery of southeastern Europe, and on freedom of trade for all nations in Romania.

Molotov said the Soviet delegation was "not interested" in discussing the matters and that the ministers should pass on to the next item.

Britain's Proposal

Bevin had suggested holding a conference on the Danube within six months after signing the peace treaties, British informants said.

He suggested that Britain, France, Russia, the United States and the Danubian countries be invited to such a conference. But Molotov countered that it was strictly a central European problem and, in any case, it should be discussed through diplomatic channels.

Russ Secrecy Called Issue

The United States and Britain were reported ready to insist that Russia lift the veil of secrecy from eastern Europe.

Proposing equal trade rights for all in Romania, Byrnes recalled that Britain, Russia and the United States agreed at Potsdam on equal rights for all nations to world trade.

It was at this point that Molotov was reported to have said his delegation was "not interested" in discussing the matter. Bevin said that, although he had not intervened in the debate on this item, he was definitely interested and his silence had been induced by the Russian attitude on the Danubian issue.

Dobrudja Proposal Okayed

The meeting began with the Ministers voting null and void the Vienna Award of 1940 in which Hitler and Mussolini gave to Hungary 17,000 square miles of Transylvania.

Molotov then suggested restoring Romania to her January 1, 1938, boundaries, which would also give back the 3,000 square miles of southern Dobrudja ceded to Bulgaria in the Treaty of Craiova in September, 1940. This was agreed to, but the decision was referred to the Deputy Foreign Ministers for more precise wording.

The Ministers agreed, without discussion, to the dissolution of Fascist organizations in Romania; but, as in the case of Italy, they disagreed and passed over the question of setting up an inter-Allied commission to control war criminals as proposed by Byrnes. Molotov again objected that it would be an infringement of the sovereignty of Romania.

Deputy Replaces Bidault

French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, detained at this morning's Cabinet meeting, was replaced by his deputy, Maurice Couve de Murville.

An American source said that Byrnes was prepared to demand that barriers be removed from the Russian-occupied zone of Germany.

This source said Byrnes planned to bring up both the Potsdam agreement and his proposed four-power mutual-assistance pact on disarmament of Germany in an attempt to break down the Russian wall.

Key To Russ Opposition

Some American officials were inclined to link the vigorous Russian opposition to Byrnes's proposed treaty with the fact that the treaty would allow a four-power commission to roam through all parts of the Reich.

Although the ministers have listed the German situation as the final item on their agenda—and there is some indication that Byrnes may not raise the question of Russian barriers until the German issue is reviewed—it is being discussed outside the conference room by American, British and French representatives.

Many officials here view the German problem as the real key to the European peace settlement.

Trieste Deadlock Holds

The ministers decided yesterday to abandon at least temporarily the explosive Italian question. In so doing, the conferees admitted failure to break a deadlock on the Yugoslav-Italian frontier.

At the heart of the dispute is the sovereignty of strategic Trieste—the United States insisting that the city remain Italian, and Russia that it be ceded to Yugoslavia.

Reported Molotov Offer

Molotov was reported to have offered to abandon Russian demands for $300,000,000 in reparations from Italy and for a dominant position in Tripolitania, provided Trieste were given to Yugoslavia. Byrnes, however, refused to yield, conference sources said.

British sources said Molotov had also offered to withdraw objections to give the Dodecanese Islands to Greece as one of his concessions on the Yugoslav question.

FRENCH LEFT GIVES PLEDGE ON CHARTER

Paris, May 7 (A. P.).—The French Socialists and Communists, acknowledging the defeat of their proposed Constitution for the Fourth Republic in Sunday's referendum, promised today to co-operate with other parties in drafting a more widely acceptable document. Revised official election figures showed that the Constitution was rejected by 10,490,581 to 9,355,791 votes. It would have established an all-powerful, unicameral Legislature. Opponents said that this would have paved the way for a dictatorshmip by any party able to win control of the Legislature.

Both leftist parties said that as far as they were concerned the new Constituent Assembly to be elected on June 2, which will have seven months to prepare another Constitution, could finish the job in a few weeks.

The moderate Popular Republican Movement (MRP), which led the opposition to the Lefist constitution, pledged that it would remain in the Cabinet and avoid a Government crisis.

The Leftist constitution would have established an all-powerful unicameral legislature. Opponents said this would have paved the way for a dictatorship by any party able to gain control of the legislature.

Reds Hit French Socialists

London, May 7 (AP)—The Moscow radio blamed French Socialists today for the defeat of the proposed new French constitution in Sunday's referendum. The constitution was sponsored by Communist and Socialist parties.

The broadcast, quoting a Tass dispatch from Paris, said "according to the opinion prevailing here, the Socialists conducted their agitation in a rather slack manner. . . . The Socialist press, in effect, did not explain to its readers the contents of the constitution."

GEN. DE GAULLE SHUNS FRENCH CEREMONIES

PARIS, May 7 — (AP) Gen. Charles de Gaulle has refused an invitation to participate in national ceremonies celebrating the end of the war with Germany, the French cabinet made known today.

DeGaulle, former head of the government, said he already had made other plans to visit the tomb of Georges Clemenceau that day.

FRANCE PREPARES FOR EXPORT TRADE

Paris, May 7 (A. P.).—The French Government is utilizing the strictest possible measures to hoard its reserves of foreign exchange until France once again can enter the world's trade markets with something near her pre-war export business.

The Government recently placed hundreds of items on a "free" export list of goods not considered essential to France. These may be exported without a license, but all payments in foreign exchange are taken over by the Government. The exporter is reimbursed with an equivalent sum in francs.

The Government will authorize the transfer of foreign capital out of France only when such transfer is of commercial and economic benefit to France, and when it involves small amounts of vital importance to the parties concerned.

Money due American film companies, for instance, is paid into a "waiting" account pending negotiations between the French and American governments. No American film company has been allowed to transfer its assets out of France since 1939.

All exchange of currency is handled at the "Office des Changes," where officials are strict in observing of letter of the law. For instance an American leaving France after a short business trip here is allowed to change his francs to dollars only if he can prove that (1) the amount does not exceed the amount he brought into the country, minus routine living expenses and (2) any dollars he brought into the country were exchanged for francs at authorized agencies.

This is primarily aimed against the black market in money, where operators are currently offering 310 francs for a dollar, as against the legal rate of 120 francs.

Americans living in France temporarily can, upon their return to the United States, convert francs into dollars, with the amount determined by the length of stay and their income while in France. American businessmen also must pay for their air or steamship travel in dollars.

Rheims Too Busy To Note V-E Day

RHEIMS, France, May 7—(AP) Peace came to Europe a year ago today in the "little red schoolhouse" at the outskirts of this cathedral city where Gen. Eisenhower maintained supreme headquarters.

The clock pointed to 2:41 a.m. a year ago when dejected Col. Gen. Alfred Jodl, chief of staff of the German army, scrawled his signature to the surrender after nearly six years of the most savage war in history.

The red brick school house, whence the decisive military strokes from the west were directed, is preserved just as it was last year. The surrender occurred in the famous "war room" of supreme headquarters, Allied expeditionary forces, with the maps, charts and battle orders on the walls surrounding the table and the 13 chairs where the capitulation was discussed and sealed.

The room now is a French national monument and shrine and a symbol of peace.

The anniversary was almost unnoticed in Rheims.

German prisoners of war 24,000 of them, work in the huge American stockpiles around the surrender city. There is still much work to be done in closing out the vast quartermaster depots.

placards showing who occupied them. Unless the visitor looks closely he is apt to miss a piece of paper pasted on the wall near a row of windows. The paper is the "top secret" war room daily summary, No. 335.

It reads:

"Surrender. The German Government surrendered unconditionally at Reims, France, at 0241 hours 7 May 1945. The instrument of surrender was signed by Lieut.-Gen. W. Bedell Smith for the Supreme Commander and by Gen. Oberst Gustav Jodl for the German Government. Major-Gen Ivan Susloparov signed as representative of the Russians, and Gen. Francois Sevez as representative of the French Government. Hostilities officially cease at 2301 hours, Central European time."

area, working in United States Army surplus property depots. There are 22,000 in Reims itself and French civilians make no attempt to hide their chagrin at the freedom the prisoners of war have.

Frenchmen declare that prisoners of war should not be allowed to drive jeeps and cars without guards and should not be allowed to work in United States Army messes and sales stores in this city where the Army in which they fought acknowledged its greatest defeat.

Reims Has Changed Since Nazis Quit There

Gone Are the Thousands of Troops of a Year Ago and Headquarters Is Now a Shrine.

Reims, May 7 (A. P.).—The city of Reims, where one year ago today Col. Gen. Gustav Jodl scratched his name on a document which [illegible] European phase of world war II into the archives of history, observed the first anniversary of the surrender quietly—with too few soldiers in town to hold a parade.

The citizens and soldiers observed the day mainly by visiting the surrender room in the "Little Red Schoolhouse," the former "war room" of Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Forces, which has become a French national shrine and a place where visitors may absorb a bit of the atmosphere of the historical events which occurred in it.

The room has been preserved exactly as it was at the moment of the German capitulation. The war maps are there, the weather maps, railway maps and supply maps. A "lay-on" board lists air force missions of the following day. There is a chart of Allied casualties as of May 6, 1945, showing 122,072 killed in action, 468,267 wounded and 71,561 missing. Next to it is a chart in the form of a Nazi swastika, showing 4,035,051 German prisoners taken.

Thirteen Chairs.

In the center of the room is a long, scarred and begrimed table where the historic surrender document was signed. Placed around it are thirteen straight-backed wooden chairs, with Few Soldiers Left.

Outside the war room in the red brick vocational school there is little to remind the visitor of the hustle and bustle of Allied Headquarters a year ago.

Today the soldiers in the streets are numbered by the dozens, where there used to be thousands. Lieut.-Col. Lowell A. Milligan of Los Angeles has less than fifteen American soldiers to help him administer fourteen hotels and billets, theaters and post exchange.

Only one of seven requisitioned theaters remains in American hands and there is only one American Red Cross club. There used to be twelve. Eighteen assembly area camps located in an arc around Reims, through which nearly 4,000,000 men passed on their way to the United States or the Pacific theater, have been closed and all but one—Pittsburgh—turned back to the French. Each one had a capacity of 18,000 men.

Still Many Germans.

There are still 60,000 German prisoners of war in the Reims

Nazi Ideas Strong in German Boys

U.S. Test of Opinion Shows but 29 Out of 134 Youths Exhibit Democratic Lines of Thought.

Berlin, May 7 (A. P.).—Fifty out of 134 school-age German youths tested in a sampling of opinion after one year of the occupation have expressed attitudes strikingly Nazi, the American Military Government's Office of Information Control said today. Democratic lines of thinking were exhibited by only twenty-nine, it was stated.

The Office of Information Control, which based its findings on original essays, reported that among the remainder, twenty-four have strongly nationalistic and Chauvinistic views, sixteen adhere to socialistic ideas and two reflect Communist attitudes. Numerous youngsters observed that Germany "must again have a strong Fuehrer" or needs a "righteous, dear Fuehrer."

"The survey suggested," the report added, "that re-education of German youth has resulted in creating in its mind a full knowledge of the failure of Nazism, but has not yet replaced this with an understanding of or belief in democracy."

DOENITZ' EVIDENCE MEETS CHALLENGE

Russians Deny Approval of Norway Invasion—Nimitz' Deposition to Be Used

N. Norgaard

NUREMBURG, Germany, May 7 (AP)—Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, U-boat expert and successor to Adolf Hitler, opened his defense against war crimes charges today and met immediate prosecution objections to some of his documents.

Doenitz' attorney expected to prove that Germany had occupied Norway with tacit Russian approval. The Russian prosecutor objected to his contention. The International Military Tribunal upheld his argument that some defense documents did not show on their face the interpretation that Doenitz sought to give them. It ordered a hearing tomorrow of all prosecution objections.

Doenitz is charged with promoting preparations for war and bearing responsibility for crimes at sea. His attorney, Capt. Otto Kranzbuehler, said that he expected to prove through written interrogatories to Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, American Chief of Naval Operations, that American submarines in the Pacific had orders similar to those given to U-boats.

Yesterday the American prosecutor, Thomas Dodd, charged that Walther Funk, last president of the Reichbank, and Minister of Economics, had made the Reichbank a depository of gold teeth, jewels, watches and other valuables seized from concentration-camp inmates. He presented a motion picture of cases of such valuables found in the vaults in Frankfort on the Main a year ago.

He also entered an affidavit by Emil Puhl, Reichbank vice president, which said that Funk had told him of arrangements with Heinrich Himmler for the bank to receive gold and jewels "taken from Jews and concentration-camp victims with Funk's approval and knowledge." Funk declared that Puhl's affidavit was not true.

Admiral Doenitz Opens Defense

T. Bergoy

Nuernberg, May 7 (AP)—Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz opened his defense at the war-crimes trial today one year after he surrendered the Reich as successor to Hitler.

He followed Walther Funk, Nazi Reichsbank president and Minister of Economy. Nine of 21 defendants still are to be heard after Doenitz.

The International Military Tribunal was told today that Funk, by arrangement with Heinrich Himmler, turned the Reichsbank into a huge depository for gold teeth, spectacles, jewelry, watches and other valuables seized from concentration camp victims.

Thomas Dodd, United States prosecutor, showed a seven-minute motion picture made in the Reichsbank vaults at Frankfurt, where troops found scores of cases of such valuables a year ago.

Secrecy Ordered

Dodd also offered an affidavit by Emil Puhl, Reichsbank vice president under Funk, in which Puhl was quoted as saying:

"In the Summer of 1942 Funk told me he had arranged with Himmler for the Reichsbank to receive gold and jewels from the SS. I asked Funk the source of the gold and he replied it was confiscated property from the eastern occupied territories but I should ask no further questions. Funk said we should go ahead but keep the matt. absolutely secret. The gold was taken from Jews and concentration-camp victims with Funk's approval and knowledge."

Funk protested that he never saw such things in the Reichsbank vaults, that "many people deposited valuables but the Reichsbank was not authorized to look into them."

Had Lauded Puhl

"Nobody ever deposited his gold teeth in a bank," Dodd said.

"Where they came from I don't know," Funk said.

The Reich's last economic chief expressed surprise at Puhl's affidavit. He had described Puhl yesterday as credible and trustworthy. (700)

Gen. E. C. Betts, Judge Advocate In Europe, Dies

World War I Veteran Once on West Point Faculty; Served in Philippines

FRANKFURT AM MAIN, May 7 (AP).—Brigadier General Edward C. Betts, fifty-five, Judge Advocate General of American Forces in Europe, died of a heart ailment here last night.

The general was stricken a week ago and was removed to the 97th General Hospital. His wife, who flew from Washington by plane, and their daughter, Anne, a Ber-lin Red Cross club director, were at the bedside.

Known as Legal Expert

General Betts was considered by the War Department as one of the Army's outstanding legal experts. A graduate of the University of Alabama Law School in 1911, he was professor of law and staff judge advocate at the United States Military Academy, West Point, N. Y., from July, 1938, until a few days after Pearl Harbor.

The general was in the news recently in connection with the Lichfield brutality trials. He had guaranteed protection to four enlisted men, witnesses who feared retaliation if they testified against ten men and eight officers accused of beating prisoners at the Lichfield camp in England. The witnesses later testified.

General Betts was born in Huntsville, Ala. He was commissioned a captain of infantry in the Officer Reserve Corps in 1917 and a year later was assigned to the 31st Infantry Division at Camp Wheeler, Ga. During the first world war he was adjutant of the 47th Infantry Division in France.

Rejoined Army in 1920

He was honorably discharged in 1919, but a year later returned to uniform, this time joining the regular army. He became adjutant of the 29th Infantry Division at Fort Benning, Ga., in 1921 and held that post until he was graduated from the Infantry School four years later.

He was assigned as adjutant of the 45th Division (Philippine Scouts) in Mindanao from 1925 to 1928, when he was transferred to the Judge Advocate General's Office in Washington.

He was promoted to major in 1935, a lieutenant colonel in 1940, a temporary colonel in 1941 and a brigadier general in 1943. He held the Legion of Merit and the British Army's Commander of the British Empire Medal. His home was at 1869 Wyoming Avenue, N. W., Washington.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary P. Hobbs Betts, and two daughters, Anne and Matilda, the latter a student at Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. policy making in a gesture of confidence in the occupied nation's new leaders.

But after a year of occupation the germ of nazism by no means has been stamped out. A sampling of opinion among German youth in Berlin by the military government showed that among 134 students tested, 50 still showed attitudes "unmistakably Nazi."

Appointed By Americans

The expression of confidence in the German Länderrat (States Council) was made by Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy military governor of the American zone.

Clay told the American-appointed council—German ministers of Bavaria, Greater Hesse and Wurttemberg-Baden—that "in the future, except for matters concerning major occupation policy or those requiring quadripartite decision, the Länderrat decisions will not require military government approval."

Other matters of administration, he told the council, "will be your problem and subject to your authority." He announced this decision at the council's eighth monthly meeting. Previously all Länderrat decisions were forwarded to the military government for approval.

Sampling Based On Essays

This forward step in democratization coincided with a report of the Office of Information Control in the American sector of Berlin, where military government men who made a sample survey of 134 German students found that only 29 exhibited "democratic lines of thinking."

Original essays used for the sampling showed numerous German youngsters believed that Germany again must have a "strong Führer." The report suggested that "the re-education of German youth has resulted in creating in its minds full knowledge of the failure of nazism, but has not yet replaced this with an understanding or belief in democracy." RULE BY GERMANS SET UP IN U. S. ZONE

Stuttgart, May 7 (A. P.).—The United States Military Government today turned over to the American-appointed German States Council all administrative problems except policy making. Lieut.-Gen. Lucius D. Clay, Deputy Military Governor of the American zone, told the German ministers of Bavaria, Greater Hesse and Wuerttemberg-Baden that the new powers given them were an "expression of confidence."

"In the future" Clay said, "except for matters concerning major occupation policy or those requiring quadri-partite decision, the Laenderrat (States Council) decisions will not require Military Government approval."

Clay also assured the German ministers that food supplies are coming into Germany on schedule and that a suggested cut in the German bread ration would not be necessary.

ARMY TRIAL DELAYED

Bad Nauheim, Germany, May 7 (A. P.).—Lieut. Granville Cubage of Oklahoma City won a postponement today until May 27 of his court-marital on charges of brutality to soldiers imprisoned at the United States Army guardhouse at Lichfield, England. Cubage pleaded not guilty. His attorneys asked more time to prepare a defense.

It was the second postponement granted in the series of Lichfield trials, which reopened here last week under orders for speed because, one witness said, ranking Army authorities want the trials "over with and out of the newspapers to end bad publicity."

The trial of Lieut. Leonard W. Ennis of Peekskill, N. Y., also was continued until May 27. Dates have not been set for trials of four other officers and eight enlisted men facing similar charges.

Red Loan Oversubscribed

First Day's Lottery Bond Buying Passes Twenty Billion Rubles

MOSCOW, May 7 (AP).—The Finance Ministry said today that the new 20,000,000,000 ruble (nominally $3,774,000,000) internal loan was oversubscribed on the first day. Collective farmers throughout the Soviet Union bought large blocks.

The bonds are non-interest bearing, but entitle holders to automatic participation in semi-annual lottery prize drawings. A third of the bond holders are due to win prizes of up to 50,000 rubles (nominally $9,435) during the twenty years to maturity of the bonds.

"Izvestia" commented that the success of the loan showed the Russian determination "to continue to strengthen the armed forces of the Soviet state, help build defenses and equip with superior technique the dear and beloved defender, the Red Army."

MOSCOW PLAYS UP TERROR IN GREECE

Moscow, May 7 (A. P.).—The Soviet press and radio gave widespread publicity today to a Tass (Soviet official newspaper agency) dispatch from Athens headlined: "Debauch of Monarchist Terror in Greece." The dispatch said that armed monarchists using iron rods, whips and pistol butts beat citizens of democratic views while the Greek police stood guard nearby.

Izvestia and other papers printed another Tass dispatch from Belgrade headlined: "Fascist Terror in Trieste." This dispatch said that the Belgrade papers were filled with reports from Trieste of attacks on, and mutiliation and murder of anti-Fascists with the direct complicity of the civil police.

Spaniards Deny Harboring Nazis

Madrid, May 7 (A. P.).—The Spanish Foreign Office last night denied Poland's charges before the United Nation's Security Council that Spain is a refuge for German Nazis and a custodian of Nazi funds.

The Foreign Office statement said that such Germans as still remain in Spain do so "because difficulties are presented in a study of each case and special situations are encountered in various cases," and not because the Spanish Government has obstructed efforts to repatriate them. "At the demand of the Allied Control Council of Germany there have been repatriated to that country a good portion of those German subjects who came to Spain as officials and others to which political activities were imputed," the statement continued.

The difficulties met with, the Foreign Office said, include the advanced age, poor health and disputed nationality of Germans, since many had been in Spain for years, had married Spanish women and had children born in Spain. These, the statement said, "have a moral claim which the Spanish Government cannot do less than take into consideration."

The Foreign Office, in response to the charge that Spain is a custodian of Nazi funds, cited the Government's action in blocking German funds and handing over German Government buildings to the Allies along with quasi-governmental businesses.

Mussert, Dutch Nazi, Is Executed

The Hague, May 7 (AP)—Diminutive Anton Adriaan Mussert, Führer of the Netherlands Nazis, died before a firing squad today after bidding farewell to his imprisoned followers, who clicked their heels, stood at attention and addressed him solemnly as "Leider" (leader).

The man whom Hitler appointed in December, 1942, as "leader of the Netherlands people" went to his death in a little village outside The Hague — the second person since 1854 to be executed in Holland during peacetime. The first was Dr. Bloksijl, radio commentator for the Germans during the war, who was shot last March.

Queen Rejects Mercy Plea

The 52-year-old Dutch Nazi was convicted December 12, by a special court, of collaboration with the Germans in attempting to bring Holland under foreign domination, of aiding the enemy and of seeking to overthrow lawful authority. Yesterday Queen Wilhelmina rejected his request for clemency.

Mussert was arrested a year ago at the war's end. At his trial he testified he still had unwavering faith in the doctrines of Hitler. He admitted he once proposed to Hitler that the Netherlands be made part of a league of Germanic peoples.

Mussert, short and plump, was an early admirer of Mussolini and formed his own fascist party, the N.S.B. (National Socialist movement) after the Italian fascist organization. When Hitler rose to power, Mussert, becoming more articulate in Holland, leaned more and more toward the German pattern of Fascism until his party was almost a miniature duplicate of Hitler's Nazis.

Violently anti-semitic, Mussert long before the war set his uniformed bullies against the Jews of Holland. With the invasion of Holland by the Germans, he went to Berlin to see Hitler, whom he termed "sent by God," and shortly afterward he was appointed Dutch leader by his German master.

Mussert, who swore an oath of allegiance to Hitler "until death," became even more hated by the Dutch people when, after the Germans spread death and destruction in their air raid on undefended Rotterdam, he announced:

"I must say the bombing of this town was quite a good thing, because something infinitely more beautiful than was ever conceived will be built in its place."

MUSSERT KILLED BY FIRING SQUAD

The Hague, May 7 (A. P.).—Anton Mussert died before a firing squad today for high treason. Before his execution, the diminutive founder and leader of the Dutch Nazi party bade farewell to his imprisoned followers, who clicked their heels, stood at attention and addressed him as "leider." The execution was in a little village outside The Hague.

Mussert, who was 52 years old, was convicted December 12 of attempting to bring Holland under foreign domination, aiding the enemy and seeking to overthrow lawful authority. Hitler maintained him in power during the occupation; Queen Wilhelmina rejected his plea for mercy yesterday.

Brussels, May 7 (A. P.).—Sixteen Belgians today were condemned to death for mistreatment of their fellow countrymen at the Brendonck concentration camp, where they served as guards under German supervision. Four others received life terms, ending a trial begun March 15.

U. S. Protest on Jews Reported

American Mission Declares Movements From Hungary to Vienna 'Appear to Be Illegal.'

Budapest, May 7 (A. P.).—An informant close to the American military mission here, who declined to be quoted by name, said today that the United States commander had complained to the Allied Control Council in Hungary concerning movements of Jews which "appear to be illegal" from Hungary to Vienna.

The informant said that Major-Gen. William S. Key sent a letter of protest to Lieut.-Gen. V. P. Sviridov of the Russian Army, acting chairman of the Control Council.

Key's letter, it was said, contended that "approximately 2,700 Jewish persons have arrived in Vienna from Hungary" in movements that "appear to be illegal." It requested the Control Council "to direct the Hungarian Government to take steps immediately to terminate this unauthorized movement to United States Army zones."

The letter also was reported to have said "it is difficult to understand how that many persons could leave Hungary within a few months if there were any counter-action by the Hungarian Government to prevent it."

The note reportedly also reminded Sviridov that the American military mission had written ... il 14 concerning 120 Jewish children who arrived, apparently illegally, at Munich, in the American zone of Southern Germany.

Irac Legislature Protests Palestine Plan

Baghdad, May 7 (AP)—The Iraqi House of Representatives adopted unanimously last night a strong protest against the recommendations of the British-American inquiry committee on Palestine, which the protest said "inevitably will lead to disturbance of the peace and security of the Middle East" if carried out.

The protest, addressed to President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee, Prime Minister Stalin and others, said "the House and the Iraqi people most strongly disavow the recommendations which aim at the destruction of the structure of the Arab people and were conspired by the joint committee and Zionists to humiliate the Arabs."

Dr. E. Janali, Iraq Foreign Minister, told newsmen meanwhile that Iraq hoped to resume diplomatic relations with France shortly. His statement gave rise to speculation in some quarters that Iraq might seek French support for an Arab protest to the United Nations Security Council with respect to the British-American inquiry committee recommendations.

Iraq's diplomatic mission in Paris was withdrawn when the Germans overran France in 1940.

REVOLT IS BLOCKED IN CHINESE REGIME

NANKING, May 7 — (AP) The Chinese government squelched today a tea party rebellion by unreconcilable Kuomintang delegates who were bent on calling the Constitutional Assembly at once, thereby freezing out the Communists and other minority parties.

The official Chinese news agency said that after an angry dispute Chairman Shao Li-tze of the National Assembly Preparatory committee told the delegates their board and lodging in Nanking was being c[illegible]

Shao [illegible] the tea party to remind the delegates that Chiang Kai-shek had postponed the National Assembly, originally set for May 5. The Communists had demanded a delay until a truce was reached in Manchuria.

At the outset, the estimated 250 delegates—all named by the Kuomintang—protested the postponement. They had ignored Chiang's orders and had come on to Nanking anyway.

Collapse Seen In India Talks

Simla, India, May 7 (AP)—Congress party circles forecast today a breakdown in negotiations on Indian independence. A 40-hour suspension of the talks was made to give the conferees time to "think over and discuss" the problems facing them.

Jap Ruler Calls Extraordinary Diet Session

M. LANDSBERG

Tokyo, May 7 (AP)—Emperor Hirohito, in unprecedentedly plain language, today formally summoned the Allied-screened Diet to an extraordinary session May 16, while Japanese political leaders still struggled to agree on the makeup of a new Cabinet.

The imperial rescript, convoking the Diet for a 40-day session, discarded high court language for colloquial style. This departure from centuries-old custom was considered significant not only in setting a new, easy-to-read style for imperial documents but in following out the Emperor's recent gesture of getting closer to his people.

May Break Deadlock

The rescript mentioned no subject matter. Food, unemployment, housing and inflation are foremost among urgent problems to be placed before the Diet. It also is scheduled to pass upon Japan's new constitution, which outlaws war.

There was immediate speculation that the imperial message would prod the deadlocked political negotiators into speeding up efforts to select a Cabinet suitable to rival elements and yet strong enough to undertake Japan's pressing problems.

Latest discussions appeared to bring the Liberals and Social Democrats no closer to a proposed coalition with the minor Co-operative and Communist parties, as demanded by left-wing Socialists. The Liberals—actually Conservatives—object to Communists participating in the government.

Indicative of the troubles to be faced by any cabinet at this time, Jiji News Agency said 100,000 members of a dozen leading Tokyo labor unions would stage a big "give us rice" demonstration on the day the Diet convenes to impress upon the members the acuteness of the food situation.

ALLIED DOCTORS TO SEE MATSUOKA

Tokyo, May 7 (A. P.).—Joseph B. Keenan, Chief Prosecutor of Japanese war criminals, said today that he plans to ask for a medical examination to determine whether Yosuke Matsuoka, ailing former Foreign Minister, is strong enough to stand trial. Special consideration was asked for Matsuoka, once chief Japanese delegate to the League of Nations, by his defense counsel yesterday, after his former secretary had predicted that he would die before the end of the trials.

The psychiatric examination of Dr. Shumei Okawa, who slapped former Premier Tojo on the head at the arraignments, was scheduled to begin today. Arguments on the defense challenge of the International Military Tribunal's jurisdiction to hear testimony on crimes against peace and crimes against humanity will be resumed on Monday.

Japanese Buddhists To Seek Converts

Tokyo, May 7 (AP)—Jiji news agency reported today that Japanese Buddhists, no longer hampered by state religion, would begin a national drive for converts with the expressed aim of saving the Japanese people from postwar social unrest and demoralization.

The Nishi Honganji denomination, one of the largest in Japan, claims a membership of more than 2,000,000.

JAP PALACE AIDS GET SEVERANCE PAY

Tokyo, May 7 (A. P.).—Making both ends meet in Imperial fashion is quite tough nowadays, Allied Headquarters conceded in approving retirement payments today for 128 members of the Emperor's household "released in a retrenchment program."

Armed Forces Radio Now Two Years Old

Tokyo, May 7 (A. P.).—The Armed Forces Radio Service (A. F. R. S.), born in the jungles, celebrates its second birthday tomorrow. It has grown from one station to forty-nine, including a network of thirteen in Japan and three in Korea.

It was started after lonely American soldiers constructed bootleg radios and entertained one another. Then Gen. MacArthur authorized a station which began broadcasting from Nadzab, New Guinea, May 8, 1944.

12 MORE FILIPINOS SLAIN IN LUZON

Manila, May 7 (A. P.).—Guerrillas armed with Japanese Nambu machine guns today ambushed a Filipino Military Police patrol near Aliaga, in Nueva Ecija Province, killing one private and possibly thirteen others.

Col. Li[illegible] Attaua, Luzon M. P. zone commander, said the body of Pfc. Gregorio Cunges showed signs of having been beaten with rifle butts. He said the patrol was ambushed by Hukbalahaps (peasant guerrillas) who have been blamed for scores of recent killings in Central Luzon.

"They're the same people that caused trouble before," said the colonel, "but with a difference. Now they have guns — Browning automatics and Garand rifles, Japanese rifles, Nambu light machine guns and even a mortar."

Earlier today the spread of civil disturbances to southern Luzon was revealed when the Military Police announced that eleven M. P.'s were killed from ambush there.

The Minister of the Interior, Alfredo Montelibano, called a conference today of the Governors of Tarlac, Bulacanan, Pampanga and Nueva Ecija and leaders of the groups banded in the Democratic alliance — including the Hukbalahaps. The conference will seek a temporary truce formula effective until the Government of President-elect Manuel Roxas takes office on May 28. In the recent election the Hukbalahaps supported Roxas's opponent — President Sergio Osmena.

Apart from the recent political disturbances, lawlessness was reported sharply increasing throughout the islands today. One Philippine Scout was slain and another wounded, a Philippine Army pay roll was stolen, and the widow of a wealthy Manila tobacco dealer was charged with having hired a gang to kill her husband.

Ike Slates Parley With Marshall

Manila, May 7 (AP)—General Eisenhower plans to fly to Nanking Thursday to confer with General Marshall, President Truman's special envoy to China.

The United States chief of staff did not say whether his visit to China's reborn capital had special significance. Marshall is negotiating there with Chinese Government and Communist leaders in an attempt to end civil strife in Manchuria.

Greeted By 25,000

Eisenhower originally planned to fly to Tokyo from Manila. His revised schedule calls for a Wednesday night stop at Okinawa, a flight to Nanking Thursday, then a start homeward via Korea and Tokyo, where he will visit General MacArthur. He expects to reach Washington May 19.

He returned to Manila this afternoon from Baguio, the Philippine summer capital, where 25,000 Filipinos turned out in a chill downpour to welcome him. He spent the night at near-by Camp John Hay, army rest center, where a well-kept golf course and other country club-like facilities soothe weary officers and enlisted men.

Visits Intramuros

Making his customary swing of installations, he remarked to Paula McLaughlin, Guysville, Ohio) Red Cross worker, "I bet you have more beaux than any girl in the Philippines."

Someone remarked that Eisenhower is popular himself.

"Uh huh," he murmured as he signed short snorters. "If this keeps up, I'll be as popular as Frankie Sinatra one of these days."

En route to Manila, he visited Intramuros, historic walled city, where he summoned Kansas GI's and joined them in signing a USO club roster.

The chief of staff signed simply "Dwight D. Eisenhower, Abilene, Kansas."

3 Japs Sentenced As GI Executioners

Manila, May 7 (AP)—Prison sentences ranging from ten years to life were pronounced today against three Japanese soldiers who confessed to executing four American flyers.

Major Mitsuji Tanaka was sentenced to life, Sergt. Maj. Kuemon Ito to twenty years, and Corporal Iroshi Wakabayashi to ten years.

The American airmen, captured from a crippled PBY flying boat doing rescue work, were executed in the Fuga Islands, off Luzon, June 8, 1945. [The flyers were not identified.]

Defense Counsel Lieutenant Ivan Gordon, of New York, pleaded that the Japanese acted on direct orders from Lieut. Gen. Hikotaro Tajima, already executed for war crimes.

Hunger Strike Puts Arias in Hospital

Panama, May 7 (A. P.).—Former President Arnulfo Arias, on a hunger strike for five days protesting delays in his trial, was removed from his jail cell to a hospital today.

The Government said that six of eighteen other prisoners held in connection with the same case —the frustrated revolt in Colon last December — had ended their fast, but that the others were existing only on juices and sugared water.

CANADA SUPPORTS LOAN

OTTAWA, May 7 — (AP) Commons today gave third and final reading by a vote of 167-6 to a bill for ratification of the proposed $1,250,000,000 Canadian loan to Britain. The measure now goes to the Senate.

Five U.S. Sailors Held In Jap Ship Sabotage

Two Baltimoreans Included Among Men Involved In Damage To Bomb-Test Cruiser

Pearl Harbor, May 7 (AP)—Angry American sailors, plagued by troubles at sea, sabotaged the Japanese cruiser Sakawa while the former enemy ship was en route from Tokyo to Bikini for the atom-bomb test, naval officers said today.

The sabotage was alleged to have endangered the lives of crewmen as the ship lay at anchor at Eniwetok last month, where it had been towed after drifting at sea for several days alongside the Japanese battleship Nagato. Commander L. W. McConnaughay, director of discipline for the 14th Naval District, said charges are being drawn up and five men are expected to be court-martialed in a few days. They are prisoners-at-large for the present.

Extent Of Damage

Lieut. David Merrill, Hartford, Conn., said:

"While at Eniwetok, some members of the crew removed the pressure line to the overspeed trip valves—thus demobilizing the ship's fuel system. There was sand in the oil and water pumps; and someone had smashed gauges and tachometers. A hack-saw had cut high pressure steam lines. Fuel oil manifold values were smashed.

"If we had got steam up, and anyone had walked in fro[illegible] steam leak, it would have cut them in two."

Charges Not Made

Repairs required 96 hours.

"We don't know what the charges will be yet," asserted McConnaughay.

He said the men had hoped to put the Sakawa out of commission so it would have to be taken in tow and they would be relieved of duty aboard the filthy, stinking warship whose voyage to Bikini was beset by bad luck all the way.

Two Baltimoreans Named

The Navy listed the five men as Fireman 2/c Larry W. Lajoie, Chicago; Fireman 1/c Stanley J. Berrent, 24 North Patterson Park avenue, Baltimore; Fireman 2/c Robert J. Eby, Lansdowne Pa.

Seaman 2/c Lloyd E. Faulkner, 3212 Virginia avenue, Baltimore, and Seaman 2/c William N. Lambright, Jr., East Palestine, Ohio.

Lambright and Faulkner are regular navy men; the others are reserves.

Commander McConaughay said that if the Sakawa legally can be termed an American ship the charges could be very serious. "Willful stranding or injury of vessels" of the Navy, he pointed out, is an offense punishable by death.

Series Of Misadventures

Both the Sakawa and the Nagato arrived at Bikini only after a series of misadventures.

A crew of 165 men and officers went aboard the Sakawa in March to prepare the rat-infested, filthy hulk for her voyage. A bucket brigade worked 36 consecutive hours bailing foul water from her bilges.

On March 18, the Sakawa and Nagato got under way, with Commander H. L. Stone, San Diego, Cal., as skipper of the cruiser and Capt. Walter Jones Whipple, of Baton Rouge, La., comanding the Nagato.

Both Ships Ran Out Of Oil

"It was a remarkable exhibition of seamanship" that they ever reached Bikini, one staff officer at Pearl Harbor commented.

Three hundred miles from Eniwetok, they ran out of oil, and rolled in the seas waiting for tugs to take them in tow. The oil tanker Nickajack Trail, en route to Yokohama, was diverted to refuel them, but ran aground on a reef and was lost.

The Sakawa was pulled into Eniwetok four days ahead of the Nagato.

Her crew, said Lieutenant Commander Jesse E. Miller, of Ottumwa, Iowa, had done the work normally handled by at least 325.

INTERAMERICAN ARMY FAVORED

Latin Countries Back Idea Proposed by Truman.

Buenos Aires, May 7 (A. P.).—Latin American countries received with approval today President Truman's proposed program for military collaboration. Mr. Truman asked Congress for legisla[illegible]on to authorize the training, organization and equipment by the United States of the armed forces of other countries in the Western Hemisphere, and for authority to "standardize military organization training methods."

Observers here said that the proposal reflects a long-standing desire of South American and Central American republics for an accord of that nature.

Latin Americans believe that standardization of the armed forces represents the strongest possible defense system for the Western Hemisphere. The problem of organizing this combined armed strength into a single, coordinated unit for defense purposes has been under study for several years by the Inter-American Defense Board, comprising military experts of all American nations.

The standardization of training methods and equipment under the leadership of the United States, observers said, also would serve to eliminate German influence in Latin American countries, several of whose armies were trained and developed under German tutelage. This applies particularly to the Argentine and Chilean armies and, in a lesser degree, to those of Bolivia and Paraguay.

The Truman proposal is in line with a scheduled Inter-American Conference at Rio de Janeiro, which is expected to convene in September for the purpose of drafting a mutual defense pact.

WORLD BANK VOTE PUT OFF

U.S. Not Yet Ready To Nominate Head For Agency

Washington, May 7 (AP) — The United States notified the World Bank tonight with "regret" that it is not yet ready to nominate a president for the world-wide reconstruction loan agency.

The bank's twelve executive directors, holding their first meeting here, unanimously agreed to defer the election until the American choice is made—a matter of "a week or two," by estimate of Emilio Collado, United States member of the directorate and temporary chairman.

NIGHT
[illegible] Recognition

By this postponement, the directors gave the first official recognition that the bank's head will be an American, although such an understanding has prevailed since the Savannah monetary conference in March.

Fred M. Vinson, Secretary of the Treasury, reportedly is picking the man. Half a dozen names have appeared in speculation, including Vinson himself, E. E. Brown, Chicago banker; Marriner Eccles, Federal Reserve Board chairman; Navy Secretary Forrestal and William McChesney Martin, president of the Export-Import Bank.

Collado, at a news conference after the bank's two-hour, closed doors session, said that while the choice for the bank presidency should be "made quickly, it should also be done very carefully."

The directors sailed into some of the knottiest problems of setting up the bank for lending operations some time this fall.

'Heart Of Its Business'

The panel agreed that "the heart of the business of the bank" this time is the marketing of its own bonds, to raise funds which in turn will be lent to war-smashed countries for reconstruction and to backward countries for industrial development.

Despite the bank's huge $7,600,000,000 in pledged assets, only a small part of this capital may be drawn from the 38 member nations at any one time. Therefore, the bank is expected to float its own debentures in the fall and perhaps to guarantee the bond issues of foreign governments. American investors are the major potential market.

It is "fair to assume," Collado told questioners, that the bank will seek changes in state statutes so that the bonds will be placed on the "approved list" for purchase by banks, trust funds, insurance companies and private corporations.

World Bank to Lend Soon

Agency to Be Helping War-trampled Countries Before End of Year.

Washington, May 7 (A. P.).—The World Bank will be making reconstruction loans to war-trampled countries be[illegible]ore the end of 194[illegible] United States officials predicted today as the bank's twelve executive directors assembled for their first meeting.

DAY

The lending agency, adopted by the United States as its favored child of the twin economic institutions fathered at Bretton Woods, N. H., two years ago, will be headed by an American because of this country's heavy contribution to its $7,670,000,000 assets.

The former Belgian Minister of State, Camille Gutt, was elected president of the other Bretton Woods agency, the International Monetary Fund, at the opening directors' session of that currency-stabilizing agency yesterday.

Secretary of the Treasury Fred M. Vinson, chairman of the governing board of both institutions, it is reported, has the privilege of designating the bank's president, a job which pays $30,000 a year plus taxes. Vinson's associates, however, professed to know nothing of his intended nomination.

Weeks ago the Treasury secretary decided to present the names of Lewis W. Douglas, president of a New York insurance company, and former Federal budget director, but Douglas last month declined the position.

Among the names more recently mentioned are Marriner S. Eccles, Federal Reserve Board chairman; Chester C. Davis, chairman of the Famine Emergency Committee; E. E. Brown, Chicago banker, and William McChesney Martin, head of the Export-Import Bank of Washington.

The institution is authorized either to lend directly to foreign governments and private companies or guarantee their borrowings.

U. S. ASKS RUSSIA, OTHER NATIONS TO SEE BIKINI TESTS

WASHINGTON, May 7 — (AP) Acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson announced today that the United States would invite all countries having membership on the United Nations Atomic Energy commission to send governmental and press observers to the atomic bomb tests in the Pacific.

Acheson said the invitation were being extended by authority of President Truman. They will go to Russia, Britain, France, China, Canada, Australia, Brazil, Egypt, Mexico, the Netherlands, and Poland.

The 11 members of the U.N. Security council plus Canada have membership on the Atomic Energy commission, which was established under terms of the Big Three agreement at Moscow last December.

Secretary of State Byrnes previously had gone on record in favor of inviting all commission members to the bomb tests, which will be known as "Operation Crossroads."

The tests are scheduled to be held during July and August at Bikini atoll in the Marshall islands.

Acheson's announcement, issued by the State department press branch, emphasized that the test project is "in its entirety, an undertaking of the United States government and is not a combined or international operation."

U. S. IS QUITTING SOME BASES IN LATIN AMERICA

Leaving Certain Countries Ahead of Schedule, Acheson Says.

NO FRICTION EXISTS WITH ANY

Acting State Secretary Reports Greece Wants Allied Aid in Monarchy Plebiscite

Washington, May 7 (A. P.).—Acting Secretary of State Acheson said today that the United States is withdrawing from some wartime bases in Latin America ahead of schedule.

There is no disagreement with any American government on the question of removal of troops, he told a news conference. He declined to answer an inquiry as to whether the United States is negotiating or planning negotiations to retain some bases in Latin America. He said he could not discuss that question without preparation.

The American forces during the war, Acheson said, used bases in other countries of this hemisphere in accordance with agreements. The withdrawal of troops, he added, is being carried out in conformity with those agreements except that in some instances the evacuation are ahead of schedule.

As to Greek Plebiscite.

Acheson also said:

Greece has proposed to the United States, Great Britain and France that some of their election supervisory staffs should be permitted to aid in revising Greek election lists for a plebiscite on the proposed return of the monarchy to Greece. The United States, Britain and France have been exchanging views but no decision has been reached. American troops and officials who helped with the recent Greek elections already are out of the country.

President Truman's proposal to Congress yesterday for authority to enter into inter-American defense agreements is primarily designed to give the Government power to negotiate whatever arrangements may be necessary. Canada may or may not be brought into these negotiations with Latin American countries and it is uncertain yet whether Canada would be invited to become a party to any future Pan American defense pact.

ASSAILS U.S. ON SOVIET LOAN

Pepper Declares Russia Is Getting 'Rough Treatment'

New York, May 7 (AP)—Senator Claude Pepper (D., Fla.) said tonight that Russian desires for a loan from the United States are getting rough treatment that "would not and could not have happened under Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

Russia wants lasting peace, Pepper said, but "like all the rest of us, is keeping her powder dry."

Recognition Leader

Pepper spoke before the American-Russian Institute at a dinner held to award a bronze plaque posthumously to President Roosevelt for his contribution to American-Soviet friendship. Other speakers included Joseph E. Davies, former Ambassador to Russia, and Stovan Gavrilovic, Yugoslavian delegate to the United Nations Assembly and Ilya Ehrenburg, a Russian newspaper man.

Pepper recalled that President Roosevelt was a leader in American recognition of Russia and sent lend-lease goods to the Soviet in the common battle against Germany.

On the point of the Russian loan, the Senator said:

"Generalissimo Stalin told me in Moscow that Russia will use American credits to rebuild the Russia the Germans despoiled; to replace railroad rolling stock and rails, power plants, mining machinery, oil-drilling machinery, farm machinery, bridges, factories and other establishments.

"Would Reward Confidence"

"He told me that if we agreed upon the principle of a loan to Russia, Russia would reward the confidence by showing that it could be repaid.

"But the Generalissimo added, 'Six months ago my Government filed an application for a loan with the United States and we have not even had a reply.'

"Later, cabinet officers told me in the United States no such application had been made. . . . Later, a $1,000,000,000 application through the Export-Import Bank was lost six months in a pigeonhole by official report.

Acceptance Hampered

"Only lately, the Secretary of State invited the Soviet Union to apply for an Export-Import loan. But senators who are regarded as great internationalists have insisted that the conditions to a Soviet loan shall be such as to make the acceptance of funds by the proud Soviet Union difficult, if not impossible.

"That would not and could not have happened under Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

Davies declared that, without Allied understanding and unity, "bankruptcy—then annihilation," would be the lot of "civilization."

Praises Roosevelt's Part

The former Ambassador said that President Roosevelt, "more than any other man, built that trust and understanding between Russia, England and ourselves and thus gave to us all the hope of a just and durable peace."

Asserting the necessity of friendship between the United States and the Soviet Union, Gavrilovic said:

"I can conceive of no greater betrayal of the highest ideals of humanity than the creation of circumstances working for the abandonment of the one world concept, working for the division of the world into two antagonistic and competing blocs."

Vote Upon Loan, Base Tieup Set Tomorrow

Washington, May 7 (AP)—The Senate agreed today to vote tomorrow on a proposal to make the projected $3,750,000,000 British loan contingent on Britain giving the United States titles to Carribbean bases now held under 99-year leases.

The vote on the amendment, offered by Senator McFarland (D., Ariz.), was set for 2 P.M.

This action came after the Senate rejected a move to limit further debate on the loan agreement by refusing to apply the rarely used cloture rule.

Marylanders' Stands

The vote was 41 for limiting debate, 41 against it. Senator Tydings (D., Md.) voted "present." Adoption of the rule would have required a two-thirds favorable vote. Senator Radcliffe (D., Md.) voted against cloture.

Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D., Col.), one of the chief loan opponents, said he thinks general debate will be over when the Senate has heard from Senators Stewart (D., Tenn.), Revercomb (R., W.Va.), and Fullbright (D., Ark.). Fullbright supports the loan; the others oppose it.

Loan supporters have said adoption of McFarland's amendment would kill the financial arrangement with Britain. But Johnson said he doesn't think that is necessarily so.

Controls Lifted On Most Trade Routes to Asia

Shipping Companies Now May Determine What Goods They Will Handle

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7 (AP).—Removal of government controls over most trade routes between the Pacific coast and Asia today placed the maritime industry a step nearer the normal operations of peace time.

During the war the shipping companies operated vessels in the Pacific for the War Shipping Administration, and the W. S. A. still controls the commercial routes to Australia, Hawaii and Alaska. Military authorities control ships between here and Japan.

Between the west coast and most of the ports of Asia the shipping companies now may determine what goods they transport and stand to make the profits or losses. Companies immediately affected include the American President Lines, American Mail Lines, Isthmian Steamship Company, Grace Line and Moore-McCormack Lines.

Some shipping men say the United States-Australia service will likely return to a private basis shortly but that government control may continue longer on trade to Hawaii and Alaska.

InfraRedCommunication Used in Battle by Enemy

German and JapaneseMessages Escaped Allied Detection

EVANSTON, Ill., May 7 (AP).—The German and Japanese developed a system of short-range telephonic communication permitting their combat troops to converge by means of invisible rays of infrared light, Northwestern University reported today.

The reports on the development were made by W. S. Hunford and A. N. Nethercot jr., of the university's department of physics, and released today by the Office of Scientific Research and Development. They were based on studies of equipment captured in 1944 and 1945 and shipped to the university for tests for the Army and Navy.

Resembling small searchlights mounted on tripods, the instruments were used to provide communication between outposts and front-line troops and to bridge gorges and rivers where it was difficult to lay cable. The sets were known as the "German Lichtsprecher 250-130" and the "Japanese light-beam telephone."

Using a narrow beam of infrared light, the instruments provided maximum security because the signals could not be detected by ordinary means. Also they were free from static and skip-distance phenomenon and employed no wires or antenna to be spotted by the enemy. The German field sets varied from thirty to 210 pounds in weight exclusive of power units and had a ten-mile range under ideal conditions but required highly trained personnel for their operation. The Japanese set, including a hand generator, weighed only 150 pounds in all, was more sturdily built and required much simpler adjustments. The range, however, was limited to two miles in clear weather and the narrow beam angle of one-tenth of a degree presented serious difficulties in aligning the sending and receiving sets.

ACHESON SAYS U. S. IS BEHIND IN FAMINE AID

Deficit in Wheat Exports for First Week in May Is 150,000 Tons.

'WHY?' REPORTERS ASK HIM

Acting Secretary of State Hints They Should Inquire of Agriculture Department.

Washington, May 7 (A. P.).—Acting Secretary of State Acheson announced today that the United States is 150,000 tons short on its famine relief exports of wheat for the first week in May.

He suggested that the Department of Agriculture be asked for an explanation.

This country, Acheson said, is not doing so well on its famine relief program. The wheat which was not shipped during the last seven days, he declared, would have been sufficient to furnish the weekly minimum bread ration for 71,500,000 people, according to the present European food levels.

Acheson has demanded drastic measures to send more food supplies abroad. He declined today to say whether such steps might still be taken when he was reminded that President Truman had declared last week he had already taken all the drastic measures he could think of.

Passes Question Along.

Asked why the shortage of shipments should have occurred, Acheson told his news conference that the Department of Agriculture could talk about that better than he could and he said reporters should inquire there.

Acheson said he based his figures on the fact that the United States has a minimum goal of shipping 1,000,000 tons of wheat a month abroad to relieve hunger. This, he said, means 250,000 tons a week. For the first week in May, he continued, the United States shipped 25,000 tons of wheat and a quantity of flour equivalent to 75,000 tons, making a total of 100,000 tons.

The deficit, he said, would make 330,000,000 loaves of bread and on that basis he estimated that would have supplied the weekly bread ration of 71,500,000 persons.

Acheson was asked whether the United States had sent any special note to Russia recently urging participation in the international food supply pool or whether it had abandoned hope of Soviet co-operation.

He replied that no special note has been sent. But that, he said, does not mean either that the United States has abandoned hope of Russian co-operation or that a note may not be sent hereafter.

OFFICIALS ASKED BY NEW ENGLAND TO SUPPLY GRAIN

WASHINGTON, May 7 — (AP) Secretary of Agriculture Anderson will seek means of easing the New England grain feed shortage in a meeting with that area's congressional delegations Saturday.

A "joint strategy" conference of the six states' senators and representatives today voted to invite Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach and Secretary of the Interior Krug to meet with them as soon as possible toward solution of the coal and coke shortage in that industrial section.

Rep. Martin (R-Mass), who called today's closed meeting, said the congressmen told of their individual efforts to alleviate the "increasingly acute" situations in feed and fuel and all had agreed that concerted action is necessary.

Flocks, Herds Reduced

"Reports from all sections of New England," Martin told reporters, "are that farmers are having to liquidate dairy herds and kill off their poultry flocks. If something isn't done quickly eggs will sell for $1.50 a dozen by fall in that area. "And what is more," he added, "it will take years to rehabilitate the herds and flocks unless we can save them now."

Martin also reported that New England industries are reaching the bottom of their fuel bins and many will shut down unless emergency allocations are made.

Problems Related

"Both problems, feed and fuel, are related," commented Rep. Rogers (R-Mass). "If we can't get coal to run our railroads it will do little good to get grain allotments." Mrs. Rogers earlier today had talked with officials of the Solid Fuels administration and was authorized by the meeting to make appointments with Krug and Schwellenbach.

Martin said Secretary Anderson has been "holding out a faint hope" that he may be able to do something about the feed grain shortages in New England but that no indication of what may be expected has been forthcoming.

Various members of the New England groups have transmitted to Anderson telegrams from the New England Governors' Conference asking that he take some speedy action.

The governors complained particularly that the recently offered 30 cent bonus on grains for European export threatens their states' sources of supply. They said New England grain dealers cannot compete with that added price.

U.S. MAY RAISE GRAIN CEILINGS

ield New Means To Move Cereals To Famine Areas

Distillers Give Grain

Washington, May 7 (AP)—A group of eighteen distillers pledged tonight to donate 50,000,000 pounds of grain to UNRRA as the industry's contribution toward alleviating famine.

Fiorello H. LaGuardia, UNRRA director general, announced the gift after meeting with the distillers to discuss the world food situation.

Washington, May 7 (AP)—Increases in ceiling prices of wheat, orn, oats, barley and grain sorhums were being considered by Government officials tonight as a ew means of moving grain from merican farms to the famine reas abroad.

Agriculture Department officials, sking that they not be named, aid that announcement of price ncreases might be made tomorrow r Thursday.

These persons said it was probble that the ceiling on corn would e increased by 20 to 30 cents a ushel and wheat by 5 to 10 cents. nformation as to possible increases n the other grains was not availible.

Could Withdraw Offer

Under the plan, the Government would withdraw its present offer to ay a bonus of 30 cents a bushel on 0,000,000 bushels of corn for amine relief, but would retain ntil its scheduled expiration date f May 25 a 30-cent bonus on wheat old for export. The Government lready has obtained a substantial ortion of the corn which it sought nder the bonus offer.

The ceiling increases, if ordered, would be designed to discourage excessive feeding of grain to livestock not only during the present world food emergency, but in the next twelve to fifteen months.

Agriculture Department officials have stated that farmers have been able to make more money feeding rain, including wheat, to livestock than by selling it at present ceiling prices. Heavy use of wheat for feed has contributed largely to the current wheat shortage.

30.24-2707

U.S. Behind In Deliveries

America is still falling behind in deliveries of food promised to the world's hunger spots and Clinton P. Anderson, Secreary of Agriculture, said today conditions will be "particularly grave" this month in many areas.

Continued failure to collect and ship abroad grain and grain products in amounts estimated sufficient to meet the lowest needs was emphasized by three sources:

1. Acting Secretary of State Acheson announced that the United States is 150,000 tons short for the first week of May on its famine relief exports of wheat.

2. The Agriculture Department said in a report that the country's April exports of wheat was 418,000 tons short of the month's goal of 1,000,000 tons, and that the shortage for the January 1-May 8 period was 881,000 tons.

3. Secretary Anderson reported that the British-Canadian-American combined food board, after canvassing needs of famine areas and available supplies, decided it will be unable to meet minimum needs in famine areas this month.

Conditions Very Grave

Anderson told a news conference after the board meeting the result will be "particularly grave" conditions in many areas, with shortages most acute in India, China and European countries receiving aid from the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

The Secretary said UNRRA countries will receive about 491,000 tons of wheat and other cereals compared with a 700,000 tons minimum request made by F. H. LaGuardia, UNRRA director general.

LaGuardia, who attended the board meeting, said he was "gravely concerned" over the deficit, but declared the division of supplies made by the board was "equitable."

"I can't kick," he said. "It means UNRRA countries will have to slice their already short rations of bread much thinner."

Anderson Less Optimistic

Anderson dropped some of his optimism as to this country's ability to meet its 6,000,000-ton export goal of wheat for the first six months of 1946. Government reports issued today, showing that American exports up to May 8 were 881,000 tons short of the goal were described by the Secretary as being "somewhat discouraging."

Only yesterday, Anderson told a news conference he was confident that the goal would be met, providing a transportation tieup can be avoided.

"Today's report indicates," the Secretary said, "that it will be extremely difficult to meet the goal."

British representatives on the food board said that the May allocation did not provide grain for the British zone of occupation in Germany. They said the zone's supplies are running low.

India Wants More Cereal

The board allocated 265,000 tons of cereals to India for May. That country had asked for at least 500,000 tons and India's representative said his country needed at least 667,000 tons a month if 100,000,000 Indians now subsisting on less than ten ounces of food daily were to be kept from dropping below that "near starvation level."

Acheson, who said that this country was not doing so well on its famine relief program, suggested at a news conference that the Agriculture Department be asked why the shortage of shipments may have occurred.

Anderson has been pinning his hopes of catching up on commitments on a special bonus offer of 30 cents a bushel being offered to farmers for wheat to export.

The department's report, which was routine and not in answer to Acheson, said that April exports were slowed by a scarcity of market supplies of wheat. The department said it expected exports to increase in May and June, but that grain in volume would not reach ports until mid-May.

the government's new slaughter control program, designed to curb black markets.

During the week ended May 4, federal-inspected meat slaughter totalled 268,000,000 pounds, an increase of 28,000,000 over the previous week. The figure, however, was still 1 per cent less than the 272,000,000 pounds produced during the corresponding week a year ago.

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics forecasts on consumer demand and farm income were in contrast to views the bureau expressed last fall. At that time, it predicted 1946 would witness some lessening in consumer food demands and some weakening of farm prices, with a resulting decline of about 10 per cent in farm income.

The bureau said consumer expenditures of goods and services during the first quarter of this year were at a record annual rate of $120,000,000,000, or nearly 15 per cent higher than a year earlier.

"This has given rise to a boom in retail trade, which, instead of declining seasonally from the usual December peak, has shown a very sharp expansion," it observed.

The bureau said the "marked rise" in consumer spending reflects the "continued high level of income payments, reduced income taxes, reductions in wartime rates of saving, and increases in the output of goods and services."

"But it is also true that in the two-party system of our time, the independent voter has been effective on a national basis only through the medium of the Democratic party."

Mr. Wallace said the New Deal was still the one sure guidepost to our national security and progress and called for support of the "national health" bill, Federal aid to education and "Social Security for all."

Such measures, he said, would provide security against extreme economic chaos in which people "become easy prey for those damagogues of reaction who seize upon this low morale to serve the undemocratic end of wrecking our free way of life."

"There is no place in the credo of a progressive America for the Ku Klux Klan, the Silver Shirts or other satellites of an American fascism that use such high-sounding names as the Sentinels of Democracy," Wallace said.

"There is also no place in the credo of a progressive America for those who would put us one against another to achieve the end of an American communism."

In championing the OPA, Mr. Wallace declared that "unfortunately too many farmers seem to believe that they could ride out this price rise in safety and thus, too many of them are giving support to the enemies of OPA."

"If that means a price increase, a price increase it should be," Vinson continued. "When you have increased costs, I certainly think you should have a price increase unless you can have price absorption—a fair absorption."

[In some cases the OPA has required retailers to absord higher prices granted to manufacturers rather than passing them on to consumers.]

He "Just Couldn't See It"

Vinson said he knew of one instance in which a manufacturer wanted to raise the price of his article from $64 to $95 because of a $4 rise in costs. "I just couldn't see it," he commented.

Vinson reported:

"The Government is moving rapidly toward a balanced budget.

"We are reducing Government expeditures and paying off Government debt.

"The total expenditures of the Federal Government in April of last year amounted to $8,000,000,000. This April they were $4,200,000,000, a shrinkage of nearly 50 per cent. This rapid decrease will continue until we are on a peacetime basis.

"In the meantime, revenues have held up remarkably well. The reason for this—as the President has said—'we are well on the highroad to full peacetime production.'

Terms Outlook Very Good

"There will be some net deficit during the remainder of this fiscal year; but the budgetary outlook for 1947 is very good.

"In the past two months, we have reduced the public debt by $7,000,000,000 from surplus funds in the Treausry; and this reduction will continue in an orderly way as rapidly as our finances permit."

Vinson said prosperity or inflation hinge on what is done about price controls.

"If we keep price controls a little longer—and keep them really effective—the accumulated savings of the public can result in a sustained demand for houses, automobiles, refrigerators and other goods for many years to come.

"But if we remove price controls too soon, these same savings will be used to bid up prices before goods have been produced to match the demand."

Price Absorption

Vinson's reference to price increases came as he appealed for "really effective" price controls for another year.

He said he would not like to see price increases, but said the law provides for fair and equitable margins.

Depression Seen By Vinson If OPA Dies

Washington, May 7 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Vinson asserted today that the early removal of price controls would wipe out the people's savings and bring on a "disastrous depression."

He appeared before the Senate Banking Committee to urge a year's extension of the OPA beyond the June 30 deadline, and to give his idea of what would happen unless this is done.

"If we keep price controls a little longer—and keep them really effective," he said, "the accumulated savings of the public can result in a sustained demand for houses, automobiles, refrigerators and other goods for many years to come.

"Would Bid Up Prices"

"But if we remove price controls too soon, these same savings will be used to bid up prices before goods have been produced to match the demand.

"This inflationary process can have only one result: the destruction of the savings of our people and, in the end, a disastrous depression."

Vinson also asured the committee that the Government is "moving rapidly" tovard a balanced budget, and described the fiscal policy as "an important part of the program to fight inflation."

Paying Off Federal Debt

"We are reducing Government expenditures and paying off Government debt," Vinson said. "As a result of . . . rapidly declining expenditures and well-maintained receipts, the Treasury showed a surplus of receipts in each of the months of February and March.

"There will be some net deficit during the remainder of this fiscal year, but the budgetary outlook for 1947 is very good."

Senator Wagner (D., N.Y.), chairman of the committee, said he had noticed "some softening" of the attack against OPA.

"I believe some of those who have been most critical of the idea of price control in peacetime are swinging around," Wagner said.

"Thinking Of Alternative"

"I think they are beginning to think more of the alternative. Why, we might have a revolution in New York if there were no price control."

Wagner said that he would ask the committee to decide, immediately after public hearings are ended, on its schedule of closed-door meetings to whip the bill into shape.

M'MAHON FAVORS DRAFT EXTENSION

Must Keep U.S. Strong in Uneasy World, Senator Declares.

WASHINGTON, May 7 — (AP) U. S. Senator Brien McMahon (D.-Conn.) tonight gave his support to the extension of Selective Service in a radio address in which he asserted that "I do not see how any American who is conscious of the disturbances all over the world can possibly evade the conclusion that American might must be maintained."

Speaking from Washington, McMahon said in his statement, which was "piped" for broadcast over a Connecticut radio network, that the Selective Service measure "must not be confused with universal military training" upon which he has as yet "not decided" how he will vote.

"We are confronted with the necessity for taking positive action on the matter of keeping America strong in an uneasy world," he said.

"I feel that I must base my decisions in these critical days on my desire to make certain that America remain strong, that we retain our commanding position in the world today.

"I do not see how any American who is conscious of the disturbances all over the world today—in Iran, Palestine, Egypt, Indonesia, Greece, Yugoslavia, China and Manchuria—can possibly evade the conclusion that American might

U. S. FOOD SUPPLY TO CONTINUE LOW, SURVEY INDICATES

WASHINGTON, May 7 — (AP) The supply of many foods probably will continue to fall far short of American consumers' demands throughout the rest of 1946, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics predicted today.

It mentioned particularly meat, dairy products, and fats and oils. Its estimate of the demand was based on current ceiling prices.

The bureau foresaw no letup this year in the present "exceptionally high" domestic demand for food and other farm products. It also predicted that this year's farm income would approach last year's record of nearly $21,000,000,000.

In another food development, the Agriculture department reported that production of federally-inspected meat increased 12 per cent during the first week's operation of the government's new slaughter control program, designed to curb black markets.

Wallace Predicts Ruin in Repeal of OPA; Secretary Calls Clamor Pied Piper Voice

DETROIT, May 7 (AP)—Secretary Wallace said tonight that behind clamor for repeal or emasculation of price controls was "the voice of a pied piper of Republican normalcy beguiling us to national ruin."

In an address prepared for a meeting of the Michigan Citizens Committee, a non-party political action group, Mr. Wallace added that the voice, "dripping with honeyed words of freedom of initiative and action," would produce catastrophic inflation from which "a comparatively small handful will profit * * * the giants of business, well-fattened on war profits * * * the speculators * * *."

Against it, he called for independent voters' support of "the legislative program that continues to embody the national cause of the New Deal—that legislative program unswervingly advocated by Franklin Roosevelt's successor, Harry S. Truman."

"Without the independent vote," he said, "the Democratic party, in due course, undoubtedly would become as reactionary as the Republican party.

WYATT URGES OPA EXTENSION

Says House Bill Would Kill Veterans Housing Plan

Washington, May 7 (AP)—Wilson Wyatt, Housing Administrator, testified today that the veterans emergency housing program "could not survive" under the price-control bill voted by the House.

At the same time, Wyatt told the Senate Banking Committee, he favors "reasonable price adjustments and price increases where necessary as a stimulant to production."

The committee also was told by Fred M. Vinson, Secretary of the Treasury, that business men clearly are entitled to price increases if needed for a "fair and equitable margin" of profit.

Both Administration officials asked for a year's extension of the OPA beyond June 30 "without crippling amendments."

Wyatt particularly disliked one amendment voted by the House. It states that maximum prices must reflect current costs, plus profit for every producer or distributor in every stage of processing.

"It would take the lid off, and create an inflationary spiral under which the veterans' emergency housing program could not survive," he said.

must be maintained. The logic seems to me inescapable."

He asserted that the Army estimates it needs a force of 1,550,000 on July 1, 1946, and a force of 1,070,000 on July 1, 1947. Voluntary enlistments, he said, will not yield enough men to replace the veterans abroad, voicing the opinion that the present level of enlistments is based on the fact that young men volunteer because they know they will be drafted soon anyway.

"That means that once the Selective Service legislation is wiped off the books," McMahon continued, "enlistments will drop. And, in order to maintain our armed forces abroad, we will have to keep the veterans in for longer terms, unless they are replaced."

McMahon also said that failure to extend Selective Service would penalize thousands of veterans, since the re-employment rights which they now have are contained in the Selective Service act. These rights will expire with the act on May 15, he said, unless the act is extended.

KING SAYS MERGER MEANS SEPARATION

Washington, May 7 (A. P.).—Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King declared today that the proposed merger of the armed forces would result "paradoxically enough" in "further separation."

King spoke behind closed doors of the Senate Naval Committee, but a prepared statement was released by the Navy Department.

King said that proponents of merger legislation, already approved by the Senate Military Committee, "have confused the principles of centralization and decentralization."

One of the main stumbling blocks in the legislation, he said, is the difference between the Navy and the Army in the status of air power. He said that the Army method has been "autonomy rather than integration, separation rather than unity, with consequent duplication of administrative, logistic and operational agencies."

Porter Scores Plea for Higher Freight Rates

O. P. A. Head Denies Roads Now Are 'Even Close' to Financial Emergency

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP).—Paul Porter, Office of Price Administration Director, flatly denied today that the railroads are in a state of financial emergency "or even close to it" and called on the Interstate Commerce Commission to refuse an immediate freight rate increase.

"The real danger facing the railroads today," Mr. Porter asserted, "is the risk that O. P. A. can't keep prices reasonably in line till mounting production reduces the inflationary pressures."

Testifying earlier, Walter S. Franklin, vice-president of Pennsylvania Railroad, said the 25 per cent freight rate increase asked by the railroads "is the minimum immediately required by them to meet the critical situation created by rising costs and declining revenues."

Substantial Rise Opposed

Mr. Franklin said further rate increases above the proposed 25 per cent probably will be necessary to keep the carriers in a sound financial position.

Chester Bowles, Economic Stabilizer, told the commission that a substantial increase in transportation costs now would "seriously jeopardize the stability of the nation's economy."

Mr. Porter contended that the effect of "the drastic rate increases which the railroads seek would be seriously detrimental to the stabilization program."

He said some increase may be needed but expressed opposition to an interim rate hike. He suggested the commission order "a full hearing" to determine the minimum increase needed by the railroads to meet their essential requirements.

Rise in Costs Cited

The commission is considering only that part of the carriers' petition asking that the 25 per cent freight boost go into effect May 15 on one day's notice. It also is receiving testimony on whether the 4.7 per cent freight rate increases authorized in 1942 and later suspended should be ordered in place of an immediate 25 per cent increase.

Mr. Franklin said railroads "do not want to advance freight rates any more than is absolutely necessary to provide sufficient net income," but added:

"The costs of handling freight traffic have so increased that with the decline in the passenger traffic and the removal of the net income from that service, there must be a definite increase in net income derived from freight traffic which can only be obtained through an increase in freight rates."

Earlier, Gustav Metzman, president of the New York Central System, told the commission that "the efficiency of the railroad system will very quickly decline unless the railroads are allowed to make reasonable earnings."

Urges Emergency Rates

CHICAGO, May 7 (AP).—The National Industrial Traffic League urged the Interstate Commerce Commission today to restore war emergency freight rates "as a temporary measure and as a stopgap" to give railroads quick financial relief.

The League, which consists of the traffic officers of various industries, also adopted two other resolutions. One called upon Congress to amend the Price Control Act to permit "automatic" price increases resulting from action of other government agencies. The other asked Congress and President Truman "so to curb the power of any organized selfish minority that they shall not commit acts usurping the power to tax or usurping constitutional rights."

U. S. MAY CLAMP SECRECY ON RADAR

Washington, May 7 (A. P.).—Senator Eastland (D.-Miss.) said today an effort may be made to broaden a pending atomic energy control bill to cover secrecy of other war weapons, such as radar.

Eastland told reporters that a Senate judiciary sub-committee which is studying proposed revisions in the espionage act will consider the question of trying to combine secrecy controls in one measure. The pending atomic bill provides stiff penalties, but its safeguards are directed entirely to atomic energy developments.

The judiciary sub-committee now is ready to look into the field of chemical discoveries, it was indicated when arrangements were made for officials of E. I. du Pont de Nemours Company to appear later. The group heard testimony behind closed doors yesterday from representatives of Westinghouse Electric, American Telephone and Telegraph and International Telephone and Telegraph.

Eastland said that the committee is studying the possibility that under present laws laboratory discoveries might be sold to foreign countries before they could be classified by the Government as secret.

Admiral Pownall To Be New Governor Of Guam

Washington, May 7 (AP) — President Truman today appointed Rear Admiral Charles Alan Pownall as Governor of Guam.

James Forrestal, Secretary of the Navy, announced the re-establishment of naval government in Guam and recommended Pownall to the President.

Since recapture of the island from the Japanese a military government has been handling civilian affairs.

Truman Reduces Hicswa Sentence

Wallington, N.J., May 7 (AP)—Presidential commutation from death to 30 years' imprisonment in the sentence of Pfc. Joseph E. Hicswa, Jr., for the fatal stabbing of two Japanese civilians in Japan was announced today by Robert P. Patterson, Secretary of War, but the soldier's parents here still hoped to see him cleared of the charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hicswa said the news came as a shock, as they had expected he might be freed. They still have not given up that hope, they said.

The reduction in penalty was recommended by an official board of review of the War Department's judge advocate general's department.

All-Cargo Clipper Arrives From England

New York, May 7 (AP)—The Constellation Africa, described as the first trans-Atlantic all-cargo Pan American clipper, arrived today from Hurn, England, with 3,707 pounds of cargo, which included two dogs. Also aboard were 946 pounds of mail.

One dog was a 2-year-old Irish racing greyhound Farname Sweeper, which was accompanied by his owner and trainer, William J. Duffy, of Hartford, Conn.

The second dog was Brandy, a daschshund which traveled in a large hamper en route to Mrs. Rene J. Overland, of South Arlington, Va.

European Diet Fells Pastor

NATICK, Mass., May 7 (AP)—The Rev. Albert K. Herlin, pastor of Unity Church, who ten days ago adopted a 1,000-calorie diet, based on the daily food ration in hunger-stricken areas of Europe, was ordered to bed by his physician today. He lost twelve of his 161 pounds and last night suffered dizzy spells. He said that he felt he had brought home to the public the seriousness of the European food situation and would now increase his diet.

Will Cut Discharge Points

Marines Order Release of Men With 30 on May 15

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP).—Marines with thirty discharge points will be eligible for discharge on May 15, Marine Corps Headquarters announced today.

On June 1 the points needed will drop to 28 and on July 1 any inductee or reservist with thirty months' active duty will eligible for discharge, regardless of points, the announcement added.

There was no change in the demobilization schedules of the Marine Corps Women's Reserve.

V-E DATE ARRIVES WITHOUT FANFARE

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A year ago today President Truman proclaimed in Washington the end of hostilities in Europe.

The day, for which little ceremony had been planned, found the world still battling—this time to make secure the peace that began with Germany's surrender.

In Paris the foreign ministers of France, Great Britain, the Soviet Union and the United States continued their efforts, with little success to date, to draw up formal European peace terms.

To the east, the French city of Rheims preserved in completeness the school house where German representatives put their signatures to the Allied victory.

War maps, the surrender communique, a list of air force missions for the next day and all other details still are intact in the school room. The building has become a French national shrine, but too few American soldiers remained to hold a parade.

The German naval officer who, as Hitler's successor, surrendered the Reich, Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, began his defense at the Nuernberg war crimes trials.

Only about one-seventh of the number of American soldiers who fought in Europe remain on the continent today. Fewer than 400,000 are left from the 3,069,000, as demobilization continued.

THE BRITISH OFFER, COMING DURING NEGOTIATIONS IN CAIRO FOR A REVISION OF THE 20 YEAR TREATY WITH EGYPT, WAS LOOKED UPON BY SOME OBSERVERS HERE AS A BRITISH ATTEMPT TO SECURE CLOSE COLLABORATION PERHAPS OVER A 50-YEAR PERIOD WITH EGYPT.

"WE ARE NOT THINKING ABOUT WHAT IS GOING TO HAPPEN IN SIX MONTHS OR EVEN A YEAR," A FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN SAID. "WE ARE THINKING IN TERMS OF 10, 20 AND 50 YEARS."

HE EXPLAINED THAT THE STRATEGIC POSITION OF EGYPT IS IMPORTANT TO THE BRITISH EMPIRE. HE SUGGESTED THAT EVEN WHEN BRITISH FORCES HAVE BEEN EVACUATED, EGYPT MUST BE IN A POSITION TO DEFEND HERSELF AND PREVENT ANY POSSIBLE AGGRESSION. ADD LDN (NL Egyptian) XXX Rights (w. 11 Oct)

SOME OBSERVERS DREW ATTENTION TO SOVIET ASPIRATIONS IN THE MEDITERRANEAN, INCLUDING THE RUSSIAN REQUEST FOR TRUSTEESHIP OVER TRIPOLITANIA AND MOSCOW'S KEEN INTEREST IN THE DARDANELLES. MOST OBSERVERS AGREED THAT BRITAIN, IN OFFERING TO WITHDRAW HER FORCES, SHOULD SECURE FROM EGYPT ASSURANCES THAT THERE WOULD BE NO WEAKENING OF MEDITERRANEAN DEFENSES.

BRITAIN INTENDS TO WITHDRAW ALL HER ARMED FORCES--ARMY, NAVY AND AIR--FROM EGYPTIAN TERRITORY AT A TIME AND IN A MANNER YET TO BE DETERMINED IN NEGOTIATION, THE FOREIGN OFFICE SAID TODAY. ADD LDN (DAY Egyptian) XXX DEBATE

THE ANNOUNCEMENT, MADE AFTER PRELIMINARY NEGOTIATIONS IN CAIRO, REPRESENTS A LONG STEP TOWARD FULFILLMENT OF EGYPTIAN DEMANDS FOR THE REVISION OF THE BRITISH-EGYPTIAN TREATY OF 1936. THE ANNOUNCEMENT SAID:

"THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT," THE STATEMENT SAID, "PROPOSES TO WITHDRAW ALL BRITISH NAVAL, MILITARY AND AIR FORCES FROM EGYPTIAN TERRITORY AND TO SETTLE IN NEGOTIATION THE STAGES AND DATE OF THIS WITHDRAWAL."

ISSUED WITH THE CONCURRENCE OF THE EGYPTIAN PRIME MINISTER, ISMAIL SIDKY PASHA, THE STATEMENT ADDED:

"IT IS THE SETTLED POLICY OF HIS MAJESTY'S GOVERNMENT TO CONSOLIDATE THEIR ALLIANCE WITH EGYPT AS ONE BETWEEN TWO EQUAL NATIONS HAVING INTERESTS IN COMMON.

"IN PURSUANCE OF THIS POLICY, NEGOTIATIONS HAVE BEEN IN AN ATMOSPHERE OF CORDIALITY AND GOOD WILL."

"ARRANGEMENTS ARE TO BE MADE BY THE EGYPTIAN GOVERNMENT TO MAKE POSSIBLE MUTUAL ASSISTANCE IN TIME OF WAR OR THE IMMINENT THREAT OF WAR."

THE FOREIGN OFFICE ANNOUNCEMENT WAS BASED ON A FORMAL STATEMENT ISSUED BY THE BRITISH EMBASSY IN CAIRO WHERE NEGOTIATIONS FOR REVISION OF THE BRITISH-EGYPTIAN TREATY OF 1936 ARE UNDER WAY.

BY OSGOOD CARUTHERS

CAIRO, MAY 7-(AP)-GREAT BRITAIN PROPOSED TODAY TO WITHDRAW ALL HER MILITARY, NAVAL AND AIR FORCES FROM EGYPTIAN TERRITORY, ASTRIDE THE VITAL LIFELINE TO HER FAR-FLUNG EMPIRE, AND TO SEEK CONSOLIDATION OF HER ALLIANCE WITH EGYPT ON THE BASIS OF "TWO EQUAL NATIONS HAVING INTERESTS IN COMMON."

THE OFFER, CONTINGENT UPON REVISION OF THE 1936 ANGLO-EGYPTIAN TREATY OF ALLIANCE, WOULD ENTRUST DEFENSE OF THE STRATEGIC SUEZ CANAL TO THE FORCES OF KING FAROUK. THE ANNOUNCEMENT SAID ARRANGEMENTS WOULD BE DISCUSSED UNDER WHICH THE EGYPTIAN GOVERNMENT WOULD MAKE POSSIBLE MUTUAL ASSISTANCE UNDER THE TREATY IN TIME OF WAR OR IMMINENT THREAT OF WAR.

THE BRITISH EMBASSY, MAKING THE ANNOUNCEMENT, SAID THE MANNER OF THE WITHDRAWAL AND DATE OF ITS COMPLETION WOULD BE SETTLED BY NEGOTIATIONS BEING RESUMED HERE THURSDAY. THE NEGOTIATIONS PROBABLY WILL CONTINUE TWO MORE WEEKS.

WITHDRAWAL FROM EGYPT WOULD REMOVE BRITISH FORCES NEAREST THE SUEZ, BRITAIN'S LINK TO HER ASIATIC AND PACIFIC EMPIRE. HIGHLY QUALIFIED BRITISH SOURCES ESTIMATED IT WOULD REQUIRE AT LEAST FIVE YEARS TO COMPLETE THE WITHDRAWAL.

SOME 40,000 BRITISH GROUND TROOPS ARE BELIEVED TO BE IN EGYPT AT PRESENT, PLUS CONSIDERABLE AIR FORCE PERSONNEL. ESTIMATES OF THE NUMBER OF MEN AT ALEXANDRIA, KEY BRITISH NAVAL BASE, AND PORT SAID WERE NOT AVAILABLE.

NO MENTION WAS MADE IN THE ANNOUNCEMENT HERE OF THE ANGLO-EGYPTIAN SUDAN, AND IN LONDON A FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN SAID "ALL THAT WILL BE A PART OF THE HAGGLING AFTERWARD."

BRITISH OFFICIALS IN LONDON SAID THE PROPOSAL WAS MADE AS A "GESTURE OF GOOD WILL," AND MADE NO ATTEMPT TO DISGUISE THE FEELING THERE THAT IMMEDIATE WITHDRAWAL WAS IMPOSSIBLE.

A FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN SAID BRITAIN COULD HAVE RESISTED EGYPTIAN DEMANDS FOR WITHDRAWAL AND "BEEN WITHIN OUR RIGHTS--RIGHTS UPHELD BY THE TREATY."

SOME OBSERVERS BELIEVED THE OFFER, COMING AT THE MIDWAY PERIOD OF THE ANGLO-EGYPTIAN 20-YEAR PACT OF 1936, WAS MADE BY THE BRITISH TO SECURE CLOSER COLLABORATION, PERHAPS OVER A 50-YEAR PERIOD, WITH EGYPT.

EGYPTIANS LONG HAVE BEEN AGITATING FOR BRITISH EVACUATION. THE ARAB LANGUAGE NEWSPAPER AL BALAGH, ORGAN OF THE POWERFUL WAFDIST PARTY, SAID THE PROPOSAL WAS NO SURPRISE, BECAUSE BRITAIN WOULD BE OBLIGED TO WITHDRAW IN ANY EVENT IN THE LIGHT OF RECENT INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENTS.

"THE BRITISH ARE DEMANDING A CONTINUATION OF THE 1936 ALLIANCE WHICH ALL EGYPTIANS HAVE DENOUNCED AND OPPOSED," THE NEWSPAPER SAID. "THE BRITISH ARE TRYING TO JOIN WITH EGYPT FOREVER IN A MILITARY ALLIANCE. WE BELIEVE THAT ENGLAND WILL ALWAYS CLAIM THERE IS A THREAT OF WAR SO SHE CAN CONTINUE OCCUPYING OUR AIRFIELDS, FORTS, LAND AND COMMUNICATIONS."

THE 20-YEAR PACT, SIGNED AUG. 26, 1936, PROVIDED FOR TERMINATION OF BRITISH MILITARY OCCUPATION; RECOGNIZED SPECIAL BRITISH INTEREST IN THE SUEZ CANAL AND PROVIDED CO-DOMINION ADMINISTRATION OF THE SUDAN. THE LATTER PROMISES TO BE ONE OF THE PRINCIPAL PROBLEMS FOR THE NEGOTIATORS.

KNOWN FOR 46 YEARS AS THE ANGLO-EGYPTIAN SUDAN, IT CONTAINS THE HEADWATERS OF THE NILE AND GUARDS THE MIDDLE REACHES OF THE RED SEA. IT FLANKS ERITREA, FORMER ITALIAN COLONY IN WHOSE ULTIMATE DISPOSITION RUSSIA HAS EXPRESSED AN INTEREST. BRITISH TROOPS NOW ARE CONDUCTING MANEUVERS IN THE SUDAN.

THE BRITISH EMBASSY'S ANNOUNCEMENT WAS APPROVED IN ADVANCE BY LORD STANSGATE, MEMBER OF THE BRITISH DELEGATION NEGOTIATING ON THE EGYPTIAN DEMANDS FOR EVACUATION OF BRITISH TROOPS AND UNION OF EGYPT WITH THE SUDAN.

THE EMBASSY SAID THE ANNOUNCEMENT WAS MADE WITH THE CONCURRENCE OF PREMIER ISMAIL SIDKY PASHA.

THE PREMIER EXPLAINED HIS AGREEMENT GAVE PERMISSION FOR PUBLICATION, AND SAID "THE COMMUNIQUE DOES NOT REPRESENT THE EGYPTIAN DELEGATION'S BASIS FOR NEGOTIATIONS AND THE EGYPTIAN DELEGATION WILL DECIDE TO ACCEPT IT OR REJECT IT."

THE RECENTLY CONCLUDED ALLIANCE WITH EMIR ABDULLAH IN TRANSJORDAN GRANTS BRITAIN THE RIGHT TO MAINTAIN TROOPS THERE, AND THE RAF HAS PERSONNEL IN TRANSJORDAN SERVING WITH THE ARAB LEGION. IN IRAQ THE RAF HAS BASES WEST OF THE EUPHRATES RIVER.

ALL BRANCHES OF BRITISH PERSONNEL ARE REPRESENTED IN PALESTINE, AND BRITISH MILITARY OBSERVERS POINTED OUT THAT BRITISH STRATEGY MIGHT BE TO MAKE GAZA IN PALESTINE A BASE TO WHICH THE 40,000 GROUND TROOPS IN EGYPT COULD BE WITHDRAWN. THUS THE BRITISH WOULD MAINTAIN VANTAGE POINTS THROUGHOUT THE AREA NOW ECHOING TO ARAB PROTESTS AGAINST PROPOSALS TO OPEN PALESTINE TO FURTHER JEWISH IMMIGRATION.

vienna, may 8 (ap) -- the austrian socialist party tonight announced a six-point program for reconstruction of the country, including complete withdrawal of the occupation forces and nationalisation or socialisation of a large part of austrian industry.

demanding freedom and independence, the socialists asked that austria's sovereignty be reestablished and that in the transition between the withdrawal of the american, british, french and russian occupation armies and the restoration of self-government, an international control be set up in vienna.

the party's other demands were austria's free hand in its own legislation and management of the nation's affairs; lifting of all restrictions on international trade; restoration of uncensored postal privileges and of unhindered travel rights, and return of all factories taken over by occupation armies, as well as recognition of austrian property as it existed before the germans moved in with the anschluss in march, 1938. the last point apparently referred to the large number of factories whose control has been taken over by the red army

OTTAWA, ONT., MAY 7-(AP)-"EXERCISE MUSKOX" THE 3100-MILE MILITARY EXPEDITION THROUGH THE ARCTIC WASTES COMPLETED AT EDMONTON, ALBERTA, YESTERDAY, IS THE FIRST OF WHAT CANADA HOPES WILL BE A SERIES OF TESTS OF FIGHTING EQUIPMENT SUITABLE FOR DEFENSE OF THE NORTH COUNTRY, AN ARMY SPOKESMAN SAID TODAY.

FUTURE TESTS ARE LIKELY TO BE DIRECTED AT PARTICULAR PHASES OF ARCTIC OPERATIONS, AS COMPARED TO THE OVER-ALL FIELD EXAMINED DURING THE 81-DAY TREK OF 50 MEN AND 10 SNOWMOBILES NOW ENDED.

IT WILL BE LATE SUMMER, SAY DEFENSE OFFICIALS HERE, BEFORE THE RESULTS OF MUSKOX CAN BE COORDINATED AND MADE PUBLIC. FROM REPORTS RADIOED DOWN FROM THE EXPEDITION AS IT WENT UP THROUGH THE ARCTIC CIRCLE AND BACK, IT WOULD APPEAR THAT THE BIG SNOWMOBILES NEGOTIATED SNOW AND THE MUD OF THE SPRING "BREAK-UP" SUCCESSFULLY, BUT FOUNDERED ON THE FINAL LEG WHEN DUST GOT INTO CARBURETORS AND OIL AND STOPPED THE MACHINES.

AS DESCRIBED BY DEFENSE AUTHORITIES IN OTTAWA, THE EXPEDITION HAD TACTICAL, RATHER THAN STRATEGIC, ROLE IN PLANS FOR DEFENSE OF THE NORTHERN HEMISPHERE, IN WHICH CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES HAVE BEEN COOPERATING CLOSELY SINCE THE BEGINNING OF THE WAR. THE COMMANDER OF MUSKOX, LT.COL.P.D.BAIRD, SAID AT EDMONTON THAT THE EXPEDITION SUCCESSFULLY CARRIED OUT ITS BROAD AIMS--"TO PROVE MEN AND MACHINES AGAINST NORTHERN CONDITIONS AND TO GATHER SCIENTIFIC DATA."

Big Four Talks Appear Breaking Up in Discord

Byrnes Reported Proposing a 21-nation Conference Take Over European Peace Efforts in Paris June 15.

Dyson

Paris, May 8 (A. P.)—The Foreign Ministers Conference appeared today to be breaking up on the rocks of Soviet-Western discord. American informants said United States Secretary of State Byrnes, with a dramatic reference to this first anniversary of official V-E day, proposed shifting the burden of drafting Europe's peace treaties from the shoulders of the four Foreign Ministers of Russia, Britain, France and the United States to a twenty-one-nation peace conference to meet in Paris June 15.

"At Moscow," the Secretary was reported to have said, "there was a promise to the world that we will have a peace conference. We have got to carry out that promise. That will be the best celebration the world can have on V-E Day."

DAY

It was said in American quarters that both British Foreign Secretary Bevin and French Foreign Minister Bidault fell in with Byrnes's suggestion, but Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov asked for time to study the idea.

Byrnes was quoted as saying on behalf of his proposal that "sometimes when we are confronted with problems like those confronting us" it was best to let "fresh minds" tackle the questions.

A British informant said it was conceded the four Foreign Ministers had been unable to agree on the major points of the treaties, but a member of the American delegation said the four Ministers might continue their sessions into next week.

Molotov was reported to have said in a series of long speeches that he had hoped the drafts of treaties could be written before the twenty-one nations met. But he did not reject or accept Byrnes's proposal outright.

Compromise Formula.

The present compromise formula for writing Europe's peace treaties was decided in London last September. The Russians had then insisted upon limiting the participants in concluding peace treaties to the Big Powers and the enemy belligerents. The British and Americans had insisted upon inviting the smaller Allies. The compromise called for the Big Powers to prepare drafts which would be submitted to a twenty-one-nation conference for discussion and suggestions, with the Big Powers having the final say.

The other three ministers were said, however, to have accepted a Byrnes suggestion that their deputies draw up a list of points on which they have agreed and another list on which they have disagreed.

It was conceded that the list would show that the United States and Britain had opposed Russia on every major point discussed. The Foreign Ministers at their meeting tomorrow expected to have the two lists on hand, and also reports from their committees of experts which have been working on matters referred to them.

The conference agenda still calls for a full discussion of the German problem, said an American informant who intimated that Byrnes might try to raise the Austrian question again. Byrnes's offer of a twenty-five-year mutual assistance pact to assure Germany's disarmament also remains to be discussed.

The American position toward the proposed June 15 peace conference was that Britain, Russia and the United States on January 17 had assured France the twenty-one-nation conference would not be merely a rubber stamp body. From this, Byrnes argued that it was not necessary for the Foreign Ministers Council to reach complete agreement on all phases of the treaties before they were submitted to the larger peace conference.

There was practically no disagreement on the peace treaty with Finland, so the draft of that settlement could go directly to the peace conference.

At this morning's meeting, the ministers again found themselves deadlocked on the Italian reparations question, the British informant said. The Russions, Americans and French all presented divergent views.

British experts headed by Oliver Harvey, Deputy Under-secretary of State, and French officials headed by Herve Alphand, chief of the Foreign Office's economic section, met at the Foreign Ministry in an effort to reconcile views on the ultimate settlement of the Rhineland and Ruhr questions.

France has proposed that the areas be detached from Germany both economically and politically, while Britain has suggested that the regions be separated from the Reich economically but left under German sovereignty.

Diplomatic observers pointed out that an agreement on the Ruhr-Rhineland issues would remove the last major obstacle to conclusion of a French-British alliance.

Bevin's Proposals

Bevin submitted two proposals last week as a guard against German rearmament. One provided for the socialization of Ruhr industries by an international Allied commission that would regulate output. The other would establish a special Ruhr-Rhine state within a federalized Germany. The specialized regime in the Ruhr would socialize all industries there under control of an Allied commission.

This Allied commission would be composed of representatives of Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg—and notably, neither the United States nor Russia.

The initial French reaction to both these proposals has been described as cool.

Diplomatic sources pointed out that an agreement on the Ruhr-Rhineland issues would remove the last major obstacle to conclusion of a French-British alliance.

PARIS CONFERENCE SPLIT ON TREATIES

Byrnes Proposes 21-Nation Parley to Settle Differences.

PARIS, May 8—(AP) U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes proposed abruptly tonight that the conference of foreign ministers recognize its failure to agree on terms for Europe's peace treaties and refer their differences to a 21-nation peace conference June 15.

The ministers' conference appeared to be breaking up in discord between the Soviet Union and the western powers, and a member of the American delegation said that while it probably would last into next week, there seemed little hope of resolving the major differences.

Molotov Objects

Byrnes' proposal won prompt support from both Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain and Foreign Minister Georges Bidault of France. But Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov demurred.

"At Moscow," Byrnes was quoted by an American source as saying, "there was a promise to the world that we will have a peace conference. We must carry out that promise. That will be the best celebration the world can have on V-E day."

American sources said Byrnes cited as the American position a pledge by the Moscow conference last December by the Big Three to the French—that the European peace conference would be no "rubber stamp" but would have the real purpose of advising the major powers. Thus, Byrnes was said to have pointed out, there was no real need for the foreign ministers to achieve complete accord. Listing the points of disagreement, Byrnes was said to have urged that now these should be turned over to the peace conference.

Wants to Prepare Drafts

Molotov was said to have disagreed, asserting that the Big Three decision in Moscow required the major powers to draw up complete joint drafts of treaties for submission to the 21-nation conference.

Byrnes had put forth the proposal when the ministers split once again—this time on the question of Italian reparations. It was understood Molotov was wiring his government for instructions, and that Bidault and Bevin were doing likewise.

However, there was little indication here that the Russians would agree. Moscow long has opposed multilateral settlements beyond the major powers.

Byrnes suggested the ministers might meet in Paris three or four days ahead of June 15, to adopt a joint report to the larger meeting, listing points of disagreement.

At this juncture the matter was tabled for the time being. The ministers instructed their deputies to draw up such a list of agreements and disagreements, to be presented to tomorrow's session.

Thus, on the first anniversary of common victory in Europe, the deputy foreign ministers were put to work on a draft of the major differences among wartime allies. This failure to break the deadlocks on any of the major issues seemed here to foreshadow a makeshift, heavily armed peace rather than the one of harmony upon which a year ago the war-weary world had pinned its hopes.

British and French economic and political experts, meanwhile, began bilateral discussions at the French foreign ministry of a common policy on the Ruhr and the Rhineland, which conference sources said was a step toward a new French-British alliance. French sources said the conference would take up German problems tomorrow or Friday.

An American source said the conference agenda calls for full discussion of the German problem, and intimated that Byrnes again might attempt to raise the Austrian question over Soviet objections. Byrnes' offer of a 25-year mutual assistance pact to assure Germany's disarmament also was scheduled for discussion.

Russ-Iran Case Delayed Until May 20

New York, May 8 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council, with the Soviet delegate absent, today deferred consideration of the Iranian case until May 20.

New York, May 8 (AP)—Russia boycotted the United Nations Security Council session on Iran today and the United States proposed that the case be held over until May 20 for a report on the status then of Red Army withdrawals from Iran.

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko ignored the session called to receive reports on the status of the evacuation by Red Army troops.

No Report From U.S.S.R.

The Council chairman announced that no report had been received from Russia, as requested by a Council resolution of April 4.

Then Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., of the United States, presented a motion that the Council defer further proceedings on the Iranian case and that Iran report by May 20 or sooner on the real situation in Iran.

Paul Hasluck, of Australia, was the first Council member to take note officially of Gromyko's absence.

Wants Statement

He said the Council should obtain from Gromyko a statement of what he believes to be the effect of his absence.

If, Hasluck said, Gromyko claimed his absence was the equivalent of a veto it would mean a very wide extension of the veto power.

"The problem is wider than the Iranian question now before us," Hasluck said.

"Would Defeat Purpose"

"Such absenting would undermine the whole structure of this body," he added. "It would defeat the whole purpose of this organization."

The Council must decide, Hasluck said, in the near future on this question or pass it on to some other competent body of the United Nations.

Other Supporters

Hasluck supported the Stettinius resolution.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, the British delegate, also backed Stettinius's move to defer the case until May 20.

Cadogan termed the Russian's absence "an evasion of responsibility," but added that it had no effect on the ability of the Council to make decisions.

Dr. Eelco Van Kleffens, of the Netherlands, also backed the United States proposal.

Gromyko thus made good his threat voiced April 23 to refuse to discuss the Iranian case after the Security Council rejected his demand that the matter be dropped immediately from the agenda.

Iran Ambassador There

Every other delegate was in his chair when the session opened at 3.05 P.M., and the Iranian representative, Ambassador Hussein Ala, was in the chamber.

Chairman Hafez Afifi Pasha took no notice of the Russian's absence and immediately called up the Iranian case.

The chairman read a letter from Ala reporting four provinces were clear of Russian soldiers but that the Iranian Government had not been able to verify reports from other sources that the province of Azerbaijan was being cleared. The letter was dated May 6 and had been made public Monday night.

Russia and Iran were requested in a Council resolution of April 4 to report on the status of the Red Army evacuations by May 6.

Gromyko earlier today had expressed doubt he would attend the session.

"I Don't Think So"

As he left his hotel this morning, he was asked: "Are you going to the Security Council's meeting today?"

"I don't think so," he replied.

"Has your Government filed a report on the Iranian matter?" was the next question.

"I know of no such report," he answered.

Some delegations indicated that Russia could wipe the slate clean with a simple declaration that the evacuations were either completed or virtually finished.

Private advices to United Nations sources said that Tabriz, capital of Azerbaijan, had been evacuated by the Russians.

Russ Still Control Travel

News dispatches from Tehran yesterday, however, said the Soviet Government still controlled travel to northern Iran and that American correspondents had not been able to visit Azerbaijan. The manager of Intourist, Russian-owned airline in Tabriz, was quoted as saying that a permit no longer was necessary to visit the region but that passage must be booked through the Soviet consulate.

Red Delegate Boycotts UN; New Iran Report Requested

Gromyko's Absence from Council Stirs Strong Criticism.

NEW YORK, May 8—(AP) Soviet Russia snubbed the United Nations Security council today on two counts on the Iranian issue and the council then postponed consideration of the case.

Great Britain's delegate, Sir Alexander Cadogan, bluntly characterized the absence of Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko from the council chamber as an "evasion of responsibility or obligation."

Mrs. Roosevelt Acts As French Interpreter

New York, May 8 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, chairman of the United Nations Commission on Human Rights, doubled in French today as presiding officer and interpreter when the going got rough for a new interpreter.

Rene Cassin, French member of the commission, made a long talk in French. When he had concluded, a girl newly asigned to the commision sat for a moment, burst ont "I can't do it," and fled in tears from the room.

"That's all right," Mrs. Roosevent said. Then she gave a complete translation of Cassin's remarks and carried on until a new interpreter arived about 30 minutes later.

Hartford, Conn., May 8 (A. P.).—The Connecticut House of Representatives, making hasty amends for rejecting an opportunity to welcome the United Nations to Connecticut, backtracked today and adopted a resolution assuring the world organization it would be welcome in the State.

The resolution was introduced by the House Republican leader, Representative Herbert B. Wanderer, who said he was anixous to correct "a false impression" created by the defeat of a similar resolution which came yesterday from the Democratic side.

Wanderer said yesterday's resolution had been defeated, not because of any hostility to the U. N. or its location in Connecticut, but because the question was outside the limited agenda agreed upon for the special session. He said that leaders of both parties had agreed that "no policy-making resolutions" or other extraneous matter would be introduced.

He said that the new resolution was being presented to "remove any doubts by anyone" as to how the House felt toward the U. N.

CASUALTIES REVEALED IN SINKING OF CARRIER

LONDON, May 8—(AP) Only four officers and 41 enlisted men of 1,560 aboard survived the sinking in action of the British aircraft carrier Glorious and two escorting vessels, the Acasta and the Ardent, six years ago off the coast of Norwak, the Admiralty disclosed today.

The warships were sunk June 8, 1940, when fighting the German battle cruisers Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, the Admiralty said in a letter to a member of Parliament who had asked for details.

Commons Advances Bill To Build 20 New Cities

London, May 8 (AP)—A Labor Government bill to authorize establishment of development corporations to build twenty new British cities passed second reading in Commons today without an opposition demand for a vote.

Each town would accommodate 50,000 persons and would cost approximately $76,000,000. The new cities would accommodate 1,000,000 persons now living in London and big British provincial cities.

Advocates of the bill said the new cities would have theaters, concert halls, meeting places, football and cricket grounds and golf courses and would be "gay and bright."

London, May 8 (A. P.).—Premier Jose Giral of the Spanish Republican Government-in-exile, addressing 140 members of Britain's two Houses of Parliament in a closed meeting last night, urged a worldwide break in diplomatic relations with the Franco Government.

Giral, who later said he was pledged not to reveal details of the session, was understood to have presented the main points of a voluminous report he will deliver next Monday to the United Nations Security Council in New York.

Giral said the report supports his contention that Franco's regime is a menace to peace and tends to dispel the idea that the Spanish situation is a domestic instead of an international affair.

Churchill to Talk to Dutch House

AMSTERDAM, May 8 (AP).—Former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill, who is to address the lower house of Parliment tomorrow morning, arrived at Schiphol Airport here this afternoon.

SPAIN TO DEPORT 16 MORE NAZIS

Madrid, May 8 (A. P.),—Sixteen Germans regarded as objectionable by the United States and Great Britain are scheduled to be deported to Germany aboard a United States Army plane within a few days.

Gen. Hans Doerr, military attache, and Capt. Kurt Meyer Doehner, naval attache of the former German embassy, will be in the group. Allied informants said several among the sixteen were "dangerous" Nazi agents.

Under agreement between the Allies and the Spanish Foreign Office, 1,545 German nationals have left Spain since late January. The United States State Department said a month ago that "2,200 Germans classified as obnoxious remain in Spain" of a total of 3,500 to 4,000. One informant on the Allied Control Commission said Spanish policemen had been obstructing the repatriation.

War Found Nazi Navy Unready, Doenitz Says

Nuernberg, May 8 (AP)—Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz testified today that the German Navy was so unprepared for the war that, in one month, it was able to send out only two submarines.

The former commander of the German Navy, on trial with 22 others on war crimes charges, told the International Military Tribunal that the outbreak of the war found Germany with only 30 or 40 U-boats, of which only a third could be used at a time.

He said the navy had to discontinue work on capital ships, except

Hitler Feared U. S. Entry Into War, Curbed Nazi Navy, Doenitz Asserts

NUERNBERG, May 8 — (AP) Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz told the International Military Tribunal today that Hitler was so anxious to keep the United States out of the European war he overruled Doenitz' plans for mining North Atlantic lanes carrying Land-Lease supplies to Britain.

The former chief of the German fleet and creator of Nazi U-boat "wolfpack" tactics, testifying against war crimes charges, sought to show that the German navy respected the rights of neutrals except in cases of "mistakes."

Doenitz, who took over from Hitler and conducted surrender negotiations a year ago, said the "political leadership" was insistent upon avoiding any incidents with the United States at sea before Pearl Harbor.

300-Mile Safety Zone

"A 300-mile safety zone was even granted to America by Germany when international law called for only a three-mile zone," he declared.

"I suggested mine fields at Halifax and around Iceland, but the Fuehrer rejected this because he wanted to avoid conflict with the United States.

"When American destroyers in the summer of 1941 were ordered to attack German submarines, I was forbidden to fight back," Doenitz said. "I was thus forced not to attack British destroyers for fear there would be some mistake."

"That is the reason submarine warfare really started in 1942, when those we started building at the outbreak of the war were put into service," he said. "In 1940, our replacements hardly covered losses."

Among documents which Doenitz' attorney sought to introduce were some charging that British warships and planes had attacked helpless German sailors in lifeboats or swimming at sea.

Defense Attorney Otto Kranzbuehler said: "It is not my intention to criticize any war measures by Allied powers. I want to show what naval warfare was really like. I could not do that by showing only German methods. I must show Allied methods also in order to prove that German practices, like those of the Allies, were legal."

Clad in a navy blue civilian suit and answering questions in a booming voice, Doenitz testified:

That he was simply a "professional soldier" doing his duty, that he was an order-taker and not a planner of aggressive warfare.

That he inaugurated unrestricted U-boat warfare only after Britain armed her merchantmen and made them a "menace."

He said that at the outbreak of war, the Germans had only 30 to 40 U-boats, of which only a third or less could be used actively at any one time. The navy had to stop work on all capital ships, except those near completion, and concentrate on building submarines, he said.

those nearing completion, and concentrate every effort on building submarines.

Losses Hardly Covered

"That is the reason submarine warfare really started in 1942, when those we started building at the outbreak of the war were put into service," Doenitz said. "In 1940, our replacements hardly covered losses."

He charged that British warships and planes attacked German sailors in lifeboats or swimming in the sea.

"It is not my intention to criticize any war measures by the Allied powers." Otto Kranzbuehler, defense attorney, told the tribunal in his argument asking that the documents be accepted as evidence.

"I want to show what naval warfare was really like. I could not do that by showing only German methods. I must also show Allied methods in order to prove that German practices, like those of the Allies, were legal."

Evidence Challenged

The prosecution already has challenged the relevance of a large portion of Doenitz's documentary evidence.

One of Britain's naval heroes, Rear Admiral Philip L. Vian, who commanded the destroyer H.M.S. Cossack in a bold attack on the German prison ship Altmark in Norway on February 20, 1940, was among those accused of tactics rivaling those charged to Nazi U-boats.

The defense cited the Altmark's captain as stating that Vian's boarding parties swarmed over the ship, driving the crew together with bayonets and pistols.

"Opened Savage Fire"

"They opened savage fire against other members of the Altmark crew, especially on those who tried to swing out a lifeboat," the Altmark captain was reported as saying. "Shots were fired on those in the water as well as those crawling across the ice, even on such as reached land."

Other documents alleged that the British fired on helpless survivors of three German destroyers sunk or disabled off Narvik, and cited several similar incidents in the Battle of Crete in May 1941.

Messersmith Quoted

An affidavit by George Messersmith, now United States Ambassador to Argentina and former consul general in Berlin, declaring that Doenitz "was not always mentally balanced," also was included among the defense documents.

In an effort to show the ruthlessness of war on all sides, the defense cited an interview with Lieut. Gen. Ira Eaker, former chief of the United States 8th Air Force, published in the London Daily Mail on September 22, 1942, which quoted him as advocating continued mass raids on German cities to shatter civilian morale.

GEN. M'NARNEY SCORES ALLIES' LACK OF UNITY

Says German Union Leaders Are Making Political Capital of It.

MARCH REPORT ON REICH

U. S. Commander Also Warns Food Crisis Threatens Occupation Plans.

Berlin, May 8 (A. P.).—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney said today that Allied failure to achieve a common policy on the treatment of Germany as a political unit has permitted German political and trade union leaders to make political capital, playing off one occupying Power against another.

The American Military Governor pointed out this situation in his monthly report on occupation affairs. McNarney also warned that the German food crisis threatens to upset carefully laid plans in all phases of the Allied occupation. The report said that "in general there has been little progress toward the treatment of Germany as an economic unit." He attributed this chiefly to French opposition, which insists that there be prior consideration of western boundaries.

"The failure to achieve a common policy with regard to treatment of Germany as a political beunit has raised problems," McNarney continued. "In the absence of national parties, German political and trade union leaders have the opportunity to make political capital of the disparity between separate zonal administrations. To meet certain aspects of this situation, the United States delegation has strongly advocated the creation of a quadripartite information zonal control directorate.

Disapproves Merger.

McNarney also warned against the peril of one-party or dictatorship rule in the merger of Communist and Social Democrat parties, which was effected in the Russian zone of occupation but was blocked in Berlin when the Social Democrats voted against it in a plebiscite on March 31.

"The merger appears unlikely to occur spontaneously in the western zones of occupation," McNarney said, "and the importance of the Berlin issue lies in the significance which political events in the former capital are apt to have in the minds of party leaders in the provinces, especially in view of the German weakness for homogenous and authoritarian political structure."

Food Crisis Serious.

McNarney estimated that general economic conditions in the American occupation zone hinged on the food crisis.

"Favorable progress," he said, "in industrial production and modest, though appreciable gains in trade and commerce were entirely overshadowed during March by the food crisis, which, if it is not solved, threatens to upset carefully laid plans in all phases of Allied occupation."

The report pointed out that although the rate of industrial production in the American zone has approximately doubled over the last four months, by the end of March industries, hampered by a shortage of coal and steel, were still only producing at approximately 20 per cent of capacity.

McNarney observed that as a result of the reduction of rations for normal consumers from 1,550 calories to 1,275 daily, military government and German officials were taking concerted action to insure maximum production and deliveries of food from indigenous resources. Plans were instituted for the importation of fertilizers to boost agricultural production and a "get the most out of the land" program was adopted.

OUR V-E DAY MARCH AMAZES FRANKFORT

Raw Troops and Few Weapons Replace Former Might— Brief Ceremony in Paris

LONDON, May 8 (AP)—German civilians, a year ago stunned by the overwhelming might of Allied arms, looked on in amazement today as green United States troops, less than half of them armed, paraded through the streets of Frankfort on the Main in celebration of the victory in Europe.

In crushed Italy V-E Day was a holiday but there was no air of gaiety.

Marshal Tito told his army in a Belgrade broadcast that Yugoslavia would demand the return of territories ceded to other countries "under an unjust peace after the first World War," apparently referring to Trieste.

Sweden, which escaped the war, observed the anniversary with one minute of silence and the ringing of church bells.

In Berlin a four-power victory parade was postponed until tomorrow at the request of the Russians, who still were fighting a year ago today. But the Americans held their parade in Frankfort and it was noteworthy for its lack of evidence of military power.

Just 4,000 troops, most of whom never saw combat in Europe, paraded with two machine guns, a few hundred rifles and two light armored patrol cars past the reviewing stand of Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, United States Commander in Europe, while German civilians exchanged whispers or looked on in stony silence. Otherwise, baseball games and dances were the only evidences of an American holiday in the United States occupation zone.

Yanks Parade in Frankfurt

4000 Celebrate V-E Anniversary in Reich Almost Without Music.

Frankfurt, May 8 (A. P.).—Four thousand American troops paraded today with two machine-guns and a few hundred rifles in this bomb-scarred city in observance of the first anniversary of V-E day, as shabbily clad German civilians looked on in stony silence.

The parade in the headquarters city of the United States Occupation Zone featured only two armored vehicles, both light patrol cars. The Germans exchanged amazed whispers. A few doffed their hats as the American flag passed by. White-scarved steel-helmeted volunteers of the 508th Parachute Infantry Regiment were the only tactical unit in the procession.

Several hundred soldiers of the Headquarters Detachment strode weaponless at the heels of a Military Police battalion and in front of a company of Wacs and jeeps loaded with Red Cross girls. The parade wound along rain-dampened cobble-stoned streets from the river main to the I. G. Farben building, where Gen. Joseph T. McNarney took the salute. Except for a few scattered officers and non-coms, virtually no soldier in the parade had seen real combat action.

Ball Game Is First.

Patches of the First, Seventh and Ninth American armies—all deactivated in the past year—were worn by some of the troops. There were patches, also, of divisions that no longer exist. Two bands provided occasional music, but most of the march took place in silence, broken only by the squish of rubberized Army soles on cobblestones. Even the German children were silent.

The biggest item on the V-E day program to most American soldiers was the scheduled opening of the Army baseball season at a diamond built on a converted Nazi parade field here. McNarney was unable to keep a date to pitch the first ball because of the pressure of official duties.

After the parade has passed six American fighter planes flew over the I. G. Farben compound in formation, but there was no other aerial display.

Paris, May 8 (A. P.).—The American forces in Paris observed the first anniversary of V-E day today at a brief ceremony at the Arc de Triomphe. Major-Gen. Robert M. Webster of the Air Transport Command placed a wreath on the tomb of France's Unknown Soldier. This was followed by a one-minute silence, after which a French bugler blew "Taps."

French observance of V-E day is scheduled for Sunday to coincide with Joan of Arc day.

REDS MARK V-E DAY

LONDON, May 8—(AP) Prime Minister Stalin in a V-E anniversary order of the day broadcast tonight by the Moscow radio ordered that 30-gun salvoes be fired in Moscow and other Soviet cities tomorrow—the day Russia will observe as the anniversary of the end of the war in Europe.

VIENNA, May 8 (AP)—Church bells rang for fifteen minutes throughout Austria today to mark the first anniversary of V-E Day, which had been declared a national holiday.

Allied troops paraded in the morning and Chancellor Leopold Figl later addressed a joint meeting of Parliament.

JEW TRIED IN GERMANY

Displaced Person Sentenced for Striking American Soldier

CHAM, Germany, May 8 (AP)—An American Military Government spokesman said today that a Jewish displaced person was sentenced by an American Military Government court here yesterday to eight months at hard labor for striking a United States soldier.

The court action followed a scuffle in front of an Army enlisted men's club. Eleven Jews were arrested, four were held overnight, and one—the convicted person—was brought to trial.

The spokesman denied a report that all 100 Jews in the local camp had been on a hunger strike since Monday. But he confirmed that thirteen Jews, from the ages of 18 to 24, had been arrested that day by the American First Infantry Division because they engaged in "close order drill," which is forbidden to civilians in the American occupation zone. He added that they were released within a matter of hours.

7 Killed Near Karlsruhe; Number Not Known at Borgsdorf

LONDON, May 8 (AP).—Reuters, quoting the British News Service in Germany, said an ammunition dump exploded tonight in Borgsdorf, near Berlin, killing an undetermined number of persons and blanketing the town with flying missiles.

Later, Reuters said seven persons were killed in another ammunition dump blast in the village of Huettenhem, near Karlsruhe, in the French occupation zone. This dispatch quoted the American News Service in Germany.

Russian Paper Opposes British Somaliland Plan

'Trud' Says Guardianship Would Expand the Empire

MOSCOW, May 8 (AP).—"Trud," Soviet trade union organ, said today that the proposal before the Paris Foreign Ministers' Council for British guardianship of a joint Somaliland is a plan to expand the British Empire at the expense of Ethiopia.

[British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin proposed to the Foreign Ministers April 29 a British trusteeship over British, French and Italian Somaliland and a section of Ethiopia. Under this plan, Ethiopia would be compensated with a slice of Italian Eritrea which would give her access to the sea.]

The "Trud" article said "the authors of the British project should at least recall Article II of the United Nations Charter on the sovereign equality of all members of the organization."

"The British argument of special rights by Great Britain on these lands freed from the Italians by the British armed forces cannot withstand criticism, either," it said. "The Soviet Union, by following such arguments, could demand to be given a guardianship over almost all central and eastern Europe, and the United States over France and Belgium."

Moscow Analyst Asserts Russia Is Dissatisfied

Cites Trieste, German Occupation and Spain

LONDON, May 8 (AP).—The Moscow radio commentator "analyzer" said today the Russian people are dissatisfied "with certain things going on in the world" on the anniversary of V-E day.

In an English-language broadcast commemorating the victory, the commentator cited as unsatisfactory the handling of war criminals, the Trieste boundary dispute and the occupation of Germany.

He asked why "active supporters of Hitler still hold responsible positions in the western zone of occupation in Germany." Why "figures in the United States and Canada speak out in defense of Mihailovitch, and why Americans and British do not take action to compel Franco to give up thousands of Hitlerite criminals, including the Belgian Fascist Degrelle."

Referring ta the Italian-Yugoslav border dispute, he quoted the Trieste correspondent of the London "Observer" as saying that the American and British line favors Italian Fascist and near-Fascist elements.

Reign Of Fear Told In Carpathians

Bratislava, Czechoslovakia, May 8 (AP)—Outlawed bands have brought such a reign of terror to the Carpathian foothills in the borderlands of Poland, Slovakia and the Ukraine that a state of emergency akin to martial law has been proclaimed.

Czechoslovak authorities say they believe the men are led by four or five fugitive German generals.

Advices from Poland said that along the San River four villages near Sanok were reported burned, forcing 5,000 peasants to flock to Sanok for shelter.

Courthouse Blown Up

The Polish reports also said that 800 men armed with automatic weapons, grenades and dynamite, blew up the Bukowsko courthouse, chased the town's 3,000 residents into the hills and burned the town to its foundations.

A Slovak Government source said that the final redoubt of German defense, which many believed before the war's end would be the Berchtesgaden region, actually came into being in the Carpathians around Dukla Pass, about 20 miles southwest of Sanok.

Elements Involved

"Raiding and plundering have reached such a scale that Czechoslovak forces in considerable strength are busy with the difficult control job," the source said.

Numerous SS remnants are known to be in the region, along with portions of the forces of Russian Lieut. Gen. Andrei A. Vlassov, who fought on the German side, Polish groups, Ukrainians and Nyilasi (the Hungarian SS).

Czechs to Sign Pact With Yugoslavia

Prague, May 8 (A. P.).—Premier Fierlinger left last night for Belgrade, where he will sign a Czecho-Slovak-Yugoslav treaty tomorrow. The treaty specifies that one partner will help the other militarily in event of an attack by Germany or a German ally and that both nations will observe full obligations toward the United Nations, he said.

King Of Italy's Abdication Near

Rome, May 8 (AP)—King Vittorio Emanuele will abdicate before the June 2 plebiscite to decide whether Italy shall be a monarchy or republic, Falcone Lucifero, minister of the royal household, said today, but the abdication document has not been drafted yet.

Vice Premier Pietro Nenni said the abdication probably would be held up until Premier Alcide de Gasperi returned from Paris, since the Premier is "notary of the crown." De Gasperi arrived in Rome later in the day.

Last week Royalist sources had predicted that the King would give up his throne between May 5 and May 15 in hopes of strengthening the chances of Crown Prince Umberto to hold the crown.

Lucifero's statement was the first from an authoritative source that abdication was imminent.

Rumania Hails Paris Decision

BUCHAREST, Rumania, May 8 (AP)—The war-crimes trial of former Premier Ion Antonescu and sixteen members of his Government was interrupted by a spontaneous demonstration today when it was announced in the courtroom that the Big Four Foreign Ministers had agreed in Paris that Rumania should retain Transylvania. The defendants joined the audience in cheering and clapping. The news spread rapidly through the city, which took on a festive holiday air.

Greek Regent Favors Plebiscite

Athens, May 8 (A. P.).—Archbishop Damaskinos, Greek Regent, notified the American and British embassies today that he believed a plebiscite on the return of King George II to the throne should be held as soon as possible, provided the two Allies agreed.

Report Reds at Iran Frontier

British Officials in Tehran Get Data on Soviet Forces Streaming Northward.

Tehran, May 6 (Delayed) (A. P.)—Russian forces streaming northward today—the final date for the agreed evacuation of Iran—were stretched over fifty miles of road and railway in Azerbaijan province between Marand and Dzhulfa, on the Soviet frontier.

Reports reaching British officials here placed withdrawing units in the following order:

In Madrid, thirty miles north of Tabriz, the capital of a self proclaimed government of Azerbaijan—Six open trucks, three field guns, three covered trucks and two staff cars.

Just north of Marand—Three tanks, two trucks towing field guns and two staff cars.

Two miles further north—Four tanks and fifteen trucks stopped beside the road.

Ten miles further—Twenty trucks and half-tracks.

Five miles further—Eighteen tanks and two half-tracks kicking up dust in a move northward.

Just south of Dzhulfa—About eighty vehicles and twelve field guns in a parking lot.

Observation showed only one vehicle marked with the Russian star.

[The basis of the reports was not brought out. The observation may have been made by plane. This dispatch, filed at 2:35 P. M. Monday, was delayed transmission.]

City Reported Bombed

TEHERAN, May 8 (AP)—The newspaper Arman Milli reported today an outbreak of fighting between the Iranian Army and Kurdish tribesmen in Kurdistan and said the capital of Ghazi Mohammed's "independent Kurdish republic" had been bombed. "Heavy casualties" were reported at the city.

The report said Iranian forces under Gen. Jehanbani, from Sardasht and Saqqiz, had been "beaten back" by the tribesmen and had lost 190 officers and men.

Demand Schwartzkopf Ouster.

Tehran, May 8 (A. P.).—The Tabriz radio suggested last night that the Iranian Government discharge Col. H. Norman Schwartzkopf and his "band" as a step toward ending the Azerbaijan-Iranian controversy. Leftist newspapers in Tehran also have attacked him.

Schwartzkopf, former superintendent of the New Jersey State Police, came here several years ago to set up a special gendarmerie trained in American police methods. Persons close to Jafar Pishevari, head of the Azerbaijan delegation which has been negotiating with the Iranian Government officials for the last ten days, said that demands by the Azerbaijan group for revisions in the National army and Gendarmerie were delaying the talks.

TWO DOMINIONS FEAR PROPOSAL TO QUIT EGYPT

Spokesman Says Australia and South Africa Both Distrust Attlee Move.

LATTER APOLOGIZES TO HOUSE

Declares British Commonwealth Representatives Did Not Agree to Evacuation

London May 8 (A. P.).—An authoritative informant said tonight that at least two of the British dominions look with misgivings on the Labor Government's offer to withdraw the British troops from Egypt. This spokesman, who may not be quoted by name, said that representatives of the Union of South Africa here were particularly concerned and that the Australian Government would be very disturbed if the Attlee Government's decision leaves the British Commonwealth without a base for military operations in the Middle East in the event of war. For both Australia and South Africa the Suez Canal is a vital link with the United Kingdom.

Earlier today Prime Minister Attlee apologized to the House of Commons for giving the impression yesterday that dominion representatives had agreed to the withdrawal whereas actually they had not been asked to commit themselves. While sparring yesterday with former Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, Attlee said that dominions officials now in London had discussed the proposal and "agreed this was the best method of approach." Today he explained that he was "led away" in the course of the debate, and that "the Dominions ministers were not called upon to express agreement in a matter which was one of United Kingdom responsibility."

Attlee Wins Test.

The Attlee Government, accused by Winston Churchill of presiding over the destruction of the British Empire, won a vote of confidence, 327 to 158, last night after a heated debate on the proposal to withdraw all British forces from Egyptian territory. Marking the Conservative minority's first open split with the Laborite majority on foreign policy, the vote came after Herbert Morrison, Laborite floor leader, declared that the alternative to moving out of Egypt was "almost certain disturbance, riot and possibly even revolution."

Attlee described the proposal as the best means "to calm rising Egyptian nationalism." He rose after Ian Fraser, Conservative, had declared that the Government was beginning "to unbutton the British Empire."

Churchill, terming the proposal "one of the most momentous I have heard in the House," was backed solidly by his Conservative party minority in challenging the Government. Anthony Eden, who was Foreign Secretary when the twenty-year Anglo-Egyptian pact was negotiated in 1936, contended that the security of the Suez Canal "cannot be ignored, however strong the national feeling may be," and questioned Attlee persistently about Dominion approval of "the terms and timing of the announcement."

"I did not come to this House—," Attlee shouted, and then broke off, adding a moment later: "The Government takes full responsibility."

Sidky in Bid to U. N.

CAIRO, May 8 (AP).—Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha told the Egyptian Chamber of Deputies tonight that the Egyptian government will make armed forces and facilities, including rights of passage, available to the Security Council of the United Nations on its call.

Addressing the chamber on the British proposal to evacuate troops from Egypt, the Premier said, "The Egyptian government has informed the British delegation of its decision to effect an agreement with the Security Council in accordance with Article 43 of the United Nations Charter."

[Article 43 commits members of the United Nations "to make available to the Security Council, on its call and in accordance with a special agreement or agreements, armed forces, assistance and facilities, including rights of passage, necessary for the purpose of maintaining international peace and security."]

Sidky said the Egyptian people "should be pleased with the wise decision" of Britain to withdraw British troops from Egypt, which, he said, "will show the real friendship between Britain and Egypt."

He said British and Egyptian delegates will open negotiations at noon tomorrow on the stages of evacuation and the time f its conclusion. He said the delegates also will discuss terms of "mutual assistance which the Sgyptian government could give in case of war or threat of war."

"It is our good luck," he added, "that our ally realized a dangerous situation in Egypt and has sent a supreme delegation for negotiations."

Sidky's speech touched off a debate in the Chamber in which Fikry Abaza Bey, of the Nationalist party, said the signing of a military treaty with Britain would contradict the United Nations Charter and would mean continuation of the 1936 Anglo-Egyptian treaty, which, he said, is "void according to the San Francisco charter."

"This new treaty," he said, "will connect us forever with Britain without reason."

Cairo Parley On Amid Suspicion Of Trickery

Cairo, May 8 (AP)—A British delegation and Egyptian Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha talked for more than an hour today behind closed guarded doors over the British offer to withdraw all armed forces from Egypt.

Egyptian politicians and newspapers treated the proposal with suspicion and reserve.

The conferees were understood to have talked about the date for completion of the British withdrawal. The Egyptians were reported insisting that the evacuation could be completed within two years and that Egyptian Army effectives could be doubled in that period.

Red Light Outside Door

No announcement was made. A red light was displayed outside the conference room, warning that not even secretaries were permitted to disturb the discussions. The British proposals will be discussed tomorrow at the formal opening of negotiations to revise the twenty-year Anglo-Egyptian treaty of alliance, which affords Great Britain military privileges, particularly around the Suez Canal and the naval base of Alexandria.

Sabri Abou Alam Pasha, leader of the Senate opposition and secretary general of the powerful Wafdist party, announced he would ask Premier Sidky Pasha to explain the British proposals.

Angered By Churchill

Nationalist newspapers were expressly bitter about yesterday's House of Commons address by former Prime Minister Churchill. Kotla, the Wafdist party newspaper, declaring that his remarks were informed by an "evil imperialistic spirit which ought to be destroyed before it detroys us," and adding that both Churchill and Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts, the Premier of South Africa are war-mongers and imperialists.

Sheik Ha... the Moslem ... tion, asserted ... trying to wi... chance to raise her ... to the Security Council is ...

The newspaper Bana, under the heading "British Announcement Is a Ruse; All Egyptians Must Open Their Eyes," bitterly criticized the British proposal and complained:

"Great Britain is trying to force Egypt to sign a military alliance at a time Egypt is occupied by British troops."

Arab Leader Asks U.S., Britain To Reject Report on Palestine

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia, May 8.—(AP) King Ibn Saud, one of the most influential Arab leaders, today branded the British-American Inquiry commission report on Palestine a "betrayal" and urged the United States and Britain to "fulfill their promises" and reject its findings.

"I cannot advise Arabs any longer to keep quiet," the monarch declared in an interview. "I have been doing by best to convince Arabs to work hand in hand with the Allies because I was certain justice would be done. But now we feel these recommendations are a betrayal."

The inquiry commission's report recommended immediate immigration of 100,000 Jews and urged that Palestine be neither a Jewish nor an Arab state.

Cites British Studies

The six-foot-four ruler who wields great influence because of his position as protector of the cities of Mecca and Medina, said it was "known that the British government carried out several studies and investigations to find a solution to the Palestine question," and that as a result this policy was laid down:

"1. The British considered that their duty definitely was fulfilled as regards the promise of a Jewish national home in Palestine.

"2. Recognition of the necessity for establishment of an independent Palestinian government.

"3. Imposition of restrictions on Jewish purchase of lands.

"4. Complete abolition of immigration.

"Unfortunately the superficial recommendations of the committee upset these basic principles. This gives to the committee recommendations their erroneous and dangerous character.

"Besides this, the late President Roosevelt had undertaken in the name of the United States government not to take any decision prejudicial to Arab rights or favor any change in the four basic principles just named except after consulting with the Arabs and obtaining their consent. The committee overlooked all these considerations.

"We hope the two governments will fulfill their promises. We expect them to reject the recommendations of the committee."

Ibn Saud said the immigration of 100,000 European Jews into Palestine would not settle the refugee question. He added that terrorism had been "eliminated all over Europe and the Jews can live peacefully there," helping the Allied occupation authorities with reconstruction.

Smiling wryly, he said it appeared the Arabs were being ranked by the Allies with the Germans and the Japanese.

"The Arabs aided the Allies during the war," he said. "Why should we be treated like a defeated people? The Allies are taking Italy to their bosom—Italy, who fought against them. Why do they treat us this way?"

Asserting that the Arabs had trusted the United States as a "bearer of the light of freedom, equality and justice," the monarch said that "from what we see now of United States policy in the Middle East we are afraid we were under a great deception."

"Undoubtedly the report of the committee is not a result of deep scientific studies," he said. "It is not free from prejudice and could not be described as impartial. Otherwise the recommendations would have been more logical and reasonable."

Arabs Betrayed, King Ibn Saud Declares

Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, May 8 (AP), King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia, terming the British-American inquiry committee report on Palestine a "betrayal," declared today "I cannot advise Arabs longer to keep quiet."

The 6-foot-4-inch monarch, who is regarded as the foremost leader of the Arab world because of his position as protector of the cities of Mecca and Medina, said in an interview:

"We still hope the American and British Governments won't put these recommendations into effect because then the betrayal will be complete.

Expected Justice

"I have been doing my best to convince Arabs to work hand in hand with the Allies because I was certain that one day justice would be done," he continued. "But now we feel these recommendations are a betrayal."

The King said he "recognized that something must be done to help the Jews in Europe" but indicated he felt it was a problem in the solution of which the entire world should participate.

"The fact that the acceptance of 100,000 Jews into Palestine (one of the inquiry committee's recommendations) does not settle the refugee question makes Jewish conspiracies and hidden motives apparent," the King added.

"Can Live In Europe"

He said terrorism had been "eliminated all over Europe and Jews can live peacefully there."

"Jews could help Allied occupation authorities in this reconstruction work in Europe," he continued. "Difficulties would arise out of the decision to send 100,000 Jews to Palestine in such a short time."

The King smiled wryly as he said it appeared the Arabs were being ranked by the Allies with the Germans and the Japanese.

Cites Aid To Allies

"The Arabs aided the Allies during the war," he asserted. "Why should we be treated like a defeated people? The Allies are taking Italy to their bosom—Italy, who fought against them. Why do they treat us this way?

"The Jew in Palestine has done what he has done with the aid of money from all over the world. The Arab has done his work unaided and alone.

"The Jew comes to Palestine armed. My information is that there are 60,000 armed Jews now in Palestine. Do people who come to settle in a country peacefully carry arms?

"Undoubtedly the report of the committee is not the result of deep scientific studies," the King declared.

British Suggestions

"Further, it is known that the British Government carried out several studies and investigations to find a solution to the Palestine question. Numerous conferences were held. As a reslult of these conferences and studies solid foundations were laid down specifying the policy to be followed. In brief, they are:

"One—The British considered that their duty was definitely fulfilled as regards the promise of a Jewish national home in Palestine.

"Two—Recognition of the necessity for establishment of an independent Palestinian government.

"Three—Imposition of restrictions on Jewish purchase of lands.

"Four—Complete abolition of immigration.

Principles Upset

"Unfortunately, the superficial recommendations of the committee upset these basic principles. This gives to the committee recommendations their erroneous and dangerous character."

Turning from the Palestine question to the matter of the development of the oil resources of his country—now fifth among the world's producers—the King was reminded of the recent Soviet-Iranian oil agreement and was asked if he felt a need for closer treaty relations with a large power as a possible protection against aggression.

"I believe in the possibility of overcoming every obstacle and difficulty in international relations by good will and a sense of impartiality and in accordance with the principles of the Atlantic Charter," he said.

ARABS TO REQUEST AID FROM RUSSIA

JERUSALEM, May 8 — (AP) An Arab Higher committee official announced today Palestine Arabs would seek Russian and all other support against the British-American inquiry report, and denounced the Birtish appeal for American aid in implementing the recommendations as "a threat of additional force."

Dr. Izzat Tannous, secretary of the committee, said delegations would be dispatched to Vatican City to seek Christian support; to Moslem leaders in India and Afghanistan; to neighboring Arab nations and to nations not represented in Palestine. This, he added, "of course includes Russia."

Tannous said the Higher committee in a day or so would issue a statement replying to Prime Minister Attlee's appeal for American militiary and financial aid in carrying out the terms of the report, which recommended immediate immigration of 100,000 Jews.

The statement, he said, "will declare that this is a threat of additional force and we will do all we can to defend ourselves."

1,014 Refugee Jews Sail For Palestine

La Spezia, Italy, May 8 (AP)—Cheered by a large crowd, 1,014 Jewish refugees delayed here several weeks sailed from Palestine today aboard two chartered vessels.

The refugees, bearing British permits to enter Palestine, are expected to reach Tel Aviv May 17.

Arabs Seek Help.

Jerusalem, May 8 (A. P.).—Palestine Arab delegations are leaving shortly for Vatican City, India and Afghanistan to enlist support for their opposition to the Anglo-American Inquiry Committee report which recommended admission of 100,000 Jews to this country.

The Arab Higher Committee, which met today, also decided to send delegations to neighboring Arab nations to confer with the diplomatic representatives of nations not represented in Palestine.

"This, of course, includes Russia," said Dr. Izzat Tannous, committee secretary.

Tannous said the committee soon would issue an answer to British Prime Minister Attlee's bid to the United States for military and financial aid in implementing the inquiry report. Tannous said the committee regarded this as a "threat of additional force and we will do all we can to defend ours

New Facilities Planned

Nehru Urges British Army Leave India Too

Simla, India, May 8 (AP)—Jawaharlal Nehru, powerful member of the working committee of the Congress party, termed the British proposal to withdraw from Egypt a wise decision and said: "The sooner British troops are withdrawn from India, the better."

A British Cabinet delegation is in India seeking a formula for Indian independence.

Nehru said: "Undoubtedly the decision will have a good effect in India. So far as we are concerned, the final test of British withdrawal from India is the withdrawal of the British Army."

KOREA DELEGATES REACH DEADLOCK,

SUSPEND PARLEY

SEOUL, May 8—(AP) The American-Soviet Joint commission assigned to form a democratic provisional government for Korea suspended negotiationes tonight with its task unfinished and the Russian delegation packed its bag for departure.

No date was fixed for a resumption of the meeting. A U. S. Army press release made clear no agreement had been reached on establishment of a government and removal of the 38th parallel military boundary presently splitting the country in half and blocking its rehabilitation.

Impasse on Vital Issues

The 10-man joint commission, which has been meeting here for seven weeks, adjourned in a friendly atmosphere, Army headquarters said, but the press release disclosed that an impasse on vital issues "left no other alternative" but adjournment.

The Army announcement said negotiations had been halted because the Soviet delegation had refused to consult with Korean groups and parties collaborating with the American Military Government in southern Korea until they renounced their opposition to Allied trusteeship, and had refused to consider an American proposal that the 38th parallel boundary be abolished.

"Since there was no other task that the commission could undertake at this stage," it added, "the American delegation was left with no other alternative but to ask for adjournment."

Ready to Meet Again

Later Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, American commander in Korea, told a press conference that "the American delegation is ready to resume work any time the Soviet delegation desires — tomorrow if they wish."

He added that the Russians "gave no indication they would resume the meetings" and were preparing to return to the Russian zone in north Ko... by special train tomorrow.

The Korean parties and organizations with which the Russians refused to deal are affilated with the representative Democratic Council of South Korea, advisory body to General Hodge. It was formed voluntarily by Koreans early this year and was headed, at Hodge's request, by Dr. Syngman Rhee, with Kim Koo and Kim Kyusik as vice-chairmen.

Korea Talks Adjourn; U.S., Russ Deadlocked

Seoul, Korea, May 8 (AP)—A deadlocked American-Soviet commission has adjourned after the Russians balked at a United States plan to abolish the line of demarcation splitting Korea into two isolated zones of occupation, it was announced officially tonight.

A special press release said the commission had adjourned Monday sine die, but it was not immediately clear whether negotiations had collapsed completely.

The impasse developed, the release said, when the "Soviet delegation made it clear it was not prepared to consult" with Korean political parties which had "actively opposed the Moscow decision" under which a five-year United States-Soviet trusteeship for Korea was projected.

Hoover Involved

It was reported without confirmation that the Russians were irked by a reported recommendation by Herbert Hoover that food be imported from the Russian zone of northern Korea to the American occupation zone in the south.

The press release, however, made no mention of such speculation and referred only to the Soviet opposition to dealings with Korean politicians who have persistently opposed any trusteeship for Korea.

Removal Of Boundary

"Inasmuch as the new situation thus created by the Soviet delegation will inevitably involve considerable delay in forming a provisional government," the release said, the American delegation suggested the removal of the Thirty-eighth Parallel boundary "as an obstacle to reunification of Korea."

The Soviet delegation refused to consider this proposal, the announcement said, and "the American delegation was left with no other alternative but to ask for adjournment."

JAP LIBERAL SAID TO FACE WAR TRIAL

Tokyo, May 8 (A. P.).—Ichiro Hatoyama, the Liberal party leader who was purged from politics just as he was slated to become Premier may soon face war crime charges, spokesmen at Gen. MacArthur's headquarters said today, and Wataru Narahashi, the Chief Cabinet Secretary, who is responsible for applying the political purge, may likewise be disqualified from office as a result of current investigations.

MacArthur is becoming increasingly annoyed because of the still unsettled Japanese political crisis and the disinclination of the Japanese Government to fully enforce his purge directive, they added.

Earlier today headquarters directed the Japanese Government to notify the Irish Government that Setsuya Beppu, Japanese Consul-General in Dublin, no longer holds that official position. He has continued to occupy that post despite orders to turn over the facilities of his office to an Allied representative.

Beppu was recalled by the Japanese Government last October but delayed leaving Dublin. In November—headquarters ordered the Japanese to repeat the order. Beppu, however, has still not complied. The new message will be sent to the Irish Government through the Swiss Government.

Also today the Japanese Government was ordered to restore immediately all existing property seized from United Nations nationals living in Japan when that country went to war in December, 1941.

Meanwhile, Yasushi Agata, former Tikkyo University teacher, who was barred from his profession last October by Allied headquarters, was reinstated today by MacArthur.

All Teachers To Be Screened

Headquarters said an investigation showed that Agata had been anti-militarist and in trouble with the Japanese war machine.

Headquarters also ordered the reinstatement of Seiki Tasaka, who had been removed by the Japanese from his teaching post during the war.

Within a short time, all of Japan's 400,000 teachers will be subject to a screening process designed to abolish militarism from the class rooms.

Teachers who were or are active proponents of militant nationalism, totalitarianism, race prejudice, Shintoism or held political posts will not be acceptable to occupation forces.

Japs Must Return Holdings

Tokyo, May 8 (AP)—The Japanese Government was ordered today to restore immediately all existing property seized from United Nations nationals living in Japan when that country went to war in December, 1941.

Red Star Denies Japs Lack Food

Moscow, May 8 (AP)—An article in the army newspaper Red Star today asserted there was no food shortage in Japan but that difficulty was due mainly to the "undermining activity of rice speculators and Government purchasing and storage agencies."

"The Japanese Government itself is creating difficulties in selling purchased rice in order to picture the foodstuff and raw material situation of the country in the darkest colors," the article said. "Thereby they would obtain from the Allied command permission to import and also gain the lightest possible reparation payment terms."

The article blamed "sabotage of industrialists" for interfering with the quick rehabilitation of Japanese economy.

"They hide and don't want to put into production big reserves of raw material and fuel which they have," the article asserted. "The main reason for the sabotage of the industrialists is that they intend to oppose the Allied command's intended measures of removing part of the industrial equipment as reparations."

[The Moscow radio accused British occupation officials of giving full rein in the British zone of Germany to most Nazis and said the food shortage there was "deliberately being engineered by the Nazis."]

Tokyo Approves Its Policewomen

Tokyo, May 8 (AP)—Japan's first policewomen (Fujin Keiken) are making a hit with the Toyko public after there days on the job.

"They're so gentle," said a 38-year-old machinery salesman as he waited fora policewoman's signal to cross a busy intersection.

A middle-aged housewife, attracted by the women's smartly tailored uniforms, said the Fujin Keiken were making a good impression.

"My, Aren't They Brave?"

"My, aren't they brave?" exclaimed another shopper, who looked upon them as apostles of a new freedom for the women of Japan.

A stubborn, 64-year-old contractor commented, "I never thought I'd live to see women in the Tokyo police force." He conceded they weer performing ficiently.

Final acceptance was vonced by Tetsuksuke Watanabe, a traffic officer ten years, as he watched policewomen at each of four corners direct pedestrians.

"They're working out very well," he said.

Jeep Ride Against Rules

Three of the women agreed to an interview after they were relieved of duty, but thy declined to ride in a jeep because it was against the rules or to do their talking at a teahouse across the street.

They were petitie Shuzue Miyamoto, 26, a former office worker and very pretty in her uniform—olive drab slacks ad jacket, pert matching cap, white shirt and red tie; tall Kane Izaki, 22, who gave up stenographw in a Government bureau for her new career, and Fusako Yamada, 23, heavy-set former communications assistant.

Likes Helping Children

"I lik ethe work very well," said Miss Miyamoto. "I especially like guiding little children across the street."

Miss Izaki said the public cooperates very well and that there has been no masculine resentment at being told by a woman when to cross a street.

"Some people don't obey traffic rules," said Miss Yamada. "But they comply with our directions when we speak up—which we do on occasion."

Other Duties In Prospect

The first class of 61 policewomen was assigned exclusively to traffic control, but it is expected there will be more of them, doing a variety of jobs, before long. On duty eight hours a day, they slow a lot of whistles for 270 to 300 yen ($18 to $20) a month.

The Fujin Keiken learned how to handle the public politely and were taught a modified judo for self defense in their month-and-a-half training course. They haven't found judo necessary yet.

"People respect us," said the Misses Miyamoto, Izaki and Yamada.

4 To Prison In Sugar Sales

Tokyo, May 8 (AP)—Four employes of the Tokyo Metropolitan Food Distributing Agency today were sentenced to prison terms up to three years for the sale of 4,200 pounds of Australian sugar on the black market for 300,000 yen ($20,000). The sugar was stolen from United States Army supplies.

CURB ON MAILING OF WAR SOUVENIRS

Tokyo, May 8 (A. P.).—War souvenir collectors suffered a blow today when the mailing of trophies such as firearms or swords was halted. Henceforth only men who were in the Pacific prior to V-J day will be permitted to mail such souvenirs.

In one week recently postal clerks handled eight freight-car loads of souvenirs.

Jap Textile Plan Near Completion

New York, May 8 (AP)—Plans for partial restoration of the Japanese cotton textile industry under strict American supervision are nearing completion by United States agencies, William C. Planz, president of the Textile Export Association of the United States, said today.

The plan will safeguard American textile interests, he told the association's annual meeting today.

"Cotton will be supplied to Japan at actual United States market prices, plus all shipping costs, and without benefit of subsidy," Planz said.

"Japan will turn back to the appropriate American Government department 60 per cent of the textiles manufactured for export, the proceeds from which will be used to defray the cost of cotton and any balances will be turned over to the American Military Government in Japan.

"The adopted policy appears to be sound, and it is not likely that we shall be faced with an unfair type of Japanese competition for a number of years."

Yokohama May 8 (A. P.).—Affidavits introduced today at the trial of Unosuke Mantani, former second in command at Kioka prison camp, charged that prison guards repeatedly rushed into the hospital yelling and beating on the walls and striking injured prisoners to "persecute those who were dying."

"They beat us with clubs, belts and other implements so many times I can't remember any particular case," said an affidavit from James T. Fite of Montgomery, Ala.

Among other complaints filed were those by Harold J. Ferguson of 424 St. Marks avenue, Brooklyn, and Christopher Vissaris of 415 East 70th street, New York city.

'Huk' Leader Demands Manila Curb Its Militia

Guerrilla Puts Condition on Halt to Disorders

MANILA, May 8 (AP).—Luis Taruc, Hukbalahap leader, said today his guerrilla organization will stop fighting in central Luzon when it is "assured of the government's ability to control irresponsible elements attacking us in the name of law and order."

Tarus outlined the objectives of his guerrilla peasant organization preceding a closed meeting of some twenty Hukbalahap and government officials called by Defense Minister Alfredo Montelibano. More than twenty deaths in central Luzon in the last three weeks have been blamed on disorders involving the "Huks" and Filipino military police.

DEATH MARCH CAMP BEING REBUILT

Camp O'Donell, P. I., May 8 (A. P.).—This south central Luzon terminus of the infamous Bataan Death March is being rebuilt into a training ground for the Philippine Scouts, who may join Allied occupation forces in Japan.

Nothing is left of the huge prison camp except the graves of those who perished. Only a few bodies of the 30,000 who died of disease, starvation and brutality ever were identified. The new camp is being constructed only a few hundred yards from the burial grounds.

AMERICA WARNED BY CHINESE REDS

Mukden

Changchun, May 7 (Delayed) (A. P.).—Chinese Communists declared today that American friendship in China would receive a setback if the United States persisted in transporting Government troops to Manchuria. With the Communists in control of 70 per cent of rich Manchuria and sitting firmly in the capital at Changchun, they view with concern the reports of continuing American help.

Gen. Peng Sheng, Secretary-General of the Communists' Manchureau bureau, declared in an interview that United States "facilities" (presumably ships) were transporting the Central Government's 93rd army to the embattled territory of northwestern China.

Continued American aid, he said, would "seriously obstruct" the efforts of General Marshall, special United States envoy to China, to end the fighting in Manchuria which threatens to spread southward.

Triumph In Manchuria Near, Chinese Reds Say

Mukden

Changchun, May 7 [AP—Delayed]—Chinese Communists, having seized 70 per cent of Manchuria, confidently forecast today "an end to civil conflict — either through negotiations or through complete victory over Chiang Kai-shek's armies."

Gen. Peng Sheng, secretary general of the Communist Northeast (Manchuria) Bureau, said that Chiang's troops would be defeated if they continued to fight "because the Government soldiers no longer are willing to fight."

Communist leaders called for an end to China's civil strife after their three Northeast armies, totaling more than 300,000 well-equipped troops, had grabbed 70 per cent of wealthy Manchuria.

Chiang's Force Hampered

After adroitly maneuvering and outfighting the Central Government's forces—which were outnumbered and plagued by long and crippled supply lines—the Reds consolidated the advantage they had gained.

The Communist army established governments in eight of Manchuria's nine provinces, Peng continued. He said the ninth was Hsingan, where the Mongolians are trying to form an autonomous government.

On May 1, thirteen days after Changchun fell to the Reds, the Democratic Unity Army shifted its Northeast Bureau from Meikokow to this city, making Changchun the Communist capital of Manchuria.

City Is Ravaged

Changchun suffered not only the ravages of the fierce four-day Communist-Government battle for its possession but previously had been stripped by the evacuating Russian troops.

The Russians did not stop at removing machinery and equipment from Changchun factories, but took away furniture and even bathroom fixtures.

The Communists report the population of the territory they hold includes approximately 70 per cent of Manchuria's 38,000,000 people. They claim control of all of this former Japanese puppet state except the southern industrial cities.

Quit Easily, Peng Says

Discussing the fighting, Peng said that Government troops fought stubbornly in December and January, but in the last two months "a great change has taken place in the Army. They (now) easily put down their arms."

Almost every day, Communist reports from all fronts claim the Government troops are deserting and going over to the Reds, he said. The 87th Division of the 71st Army, which had not been fighting long, laid down its arms in the recent battle near Szepingkai, south of Changchun, Peng added.

China Charges More For Mule Than Man

TIENTSIN, China, (AP)—Marines in North China are finding that human life is pretty cheap in this teeming country.

In accidents involving Marine equipment the U. S. government is called on to pay about $55 in American money at the current North China rate of exchange for each Chinese life lost.

Where a mule is killed in a similar accident the government has to pay about $75 to the mule owner.

Bermuda Reinvokes 'Scanty-Panty' Ban

Hamilton, Bermuda, May 8 (AP)—The return of tourists, including American girls in shorts, has brought re-enforcement of Bermuda's "scanty-panty" prohibition.

The police regulation forbids wearing of bathing suits and similar abbreviated attire on public roads. It was unneeded during the war because Bermuda had no tourists. But now dowagers are complaining about girl visitors in too-small costumes.

Navy Priority Lets Heir Fly From Hawaii

Honolulu, May 8 (AP)—The Navy flew millionaire Seaman John Ochsner to California today amid reports that he soon would be discharged and returned to his mother, who rescued him from two romantic episodes in Hawaii.

Ochsner was taken under guard to John Rodgers Airport and placed aboard a Naval Air Transport Service plane just before last midnight. He had an emergency furlough priority.

To Plead Innocent If Tried

Nothing was said officially about the morals charge involving a girl less than 16 years old filed against him recently.

Attorney Paul Morse, flown here by Ochsner's mother, Mrs. Hilda Ochsner Hinckley, of Oakland, Cal., said yesterday the 19-year-old heir would plead innocent if tried. Early today he said the Navy's investigation was completed, but gave no details. He added: "Under normal conditions, Ochsner is due for discharge."

Fears Hitch In Release

Morse declined to comment further, expressing fear any premature publicity might retard Ochsner's possible quick discharge.

Ochsner's flight put 2,500 miles between him and Marguerite Human, Oakland dancer who stowed away on a navy troop transport to follow the youth here. Mrs. Hinckley's intervention prevented the pair marrying here shortly after the girl arrived a few weeks ago.

SEAMAN LEAVES GIRL IN HONOLULU

OAKLAND, Cal., May 8—(AP) John Ochsner, 19-year-old Navy seaman heir to a $2,000,000 oil fortune, arrived at the Oakland airport this afternoon and into the arms of his mother, Mrs. Hilda Ochsner. He said he was "all through" with Marguerite Human, the girl who stowed away on a government liner to meet him in Honolulu.

He told newsmen he was "under orders not to answer questions" about the Honolulu charges of intimacy with a minor girl there which his mother declared were "a frame-up." The youth was turned over to Navy authorities after arrest there, and in Honolulu his attorney said the investigation had been completed.

Young Ochsner was due for a Navy discharge and he would plead innocent to the charges, his attorney added.

Asked if he still intended to marry Miss Human he muttered "decinitely no."

Mrs. Ochsner was nervous and wet-eyed as she clung to her son. She gave the wheel of a waiting automobile to him, saying she didn't feel she should drive.

In Honolulu, Miss Human sobbed "I'm hurt because Johnnie left without saying a word to me, but I'm going to take the first boat I can get and return to California to. All I want to do now is get home."

World Bank to Float Bonds

Directors Get Down to Business of Raising Funds for War-shattered Nations.

Washington, May 8 (A. P.).—The World Bank and International Monetary Fund got down to brass tacks today on its job of organizing an economic foundation for world peace.

The twelve-nation directorate of the bank gave top priority to the question of floating "world bank bonds," to raise funds which the bank will lend to war-shattered countries for reconstruction and to undeveloped countries for the building of industry.

Emilio Collado, United States director and temporary chairman, said the directors agreed at their first session yesterday, that the bond-selling problem was "the heart of the business of the bank."

In spite of its $7,670,000,000 assets subscribed by thirty-eight nations, the bank can call for only a small part of this capital in any single year. Private investors—here and abroad, but mostly here—will be invited to provide most of the funds for the projected bond issue this fall.

Requests for loans will come quickly, Collado indicated. Some countries which have been negotiating for credits from the export-import bank, such as France, already have inquired about the chances of long-term help from the world bank.

Prominent Man Needed.

The choice of an American of prominence to head the bank is considered essential in order to reassure American investors of the soundness of its policies and to assure its securities a good reception.

Collado evidently had this in mind when he told the directorate yesterday that the United States regretted its inability to name a candidate yet, but felt that a delay of a week or two in selecting the right man, was justifiable in view of the "great importance and responsibility" of the position.

Both the bank and the fund are handicapped by having to start from scratch, without clerical or administrative help. The fund is anxious to get started on its first major task, the setting of valuations on the currencies of thirty-nine nations in terms of gold and dollars. This is a prerequisite to its operations toward stabilizing world currencies.

British Base Demand Defeated

Senate Rejects, 45 to 40, Amendment to Loan Bill Offered by McFarland.

Washington, May 8 (A. P.).—The Senate rejected today a proposal by Senator McFarland (D.-Ariz.) to require Great Britain to yield title to Atlantic military bases and open other empire areas to American commercial use in order to obtain a proposed $3,750,000,000 loan. The vote was 45 to 40.

The administration thus beat down what loan opponents regarded as their strongest attempt to alter the terms of the financial agreement with the British. Their victory apparently cleared the way for Senate approval of loan authorization legislation without major amendment, although some loan opponents voted against the amendment.

The Roll Call.

The Senators were recorded as folows on the roll call:

FOR AMENDMENT—40.

Democrats for: Bankhead, Byrd, Carville, Ellender, Green, Huffman, Johnson (Col:), Johnston (S. C.), Kilgore, Magnuson, McCarran, McClellan, McFarland, O'Daniel, Russell, Stewart, Tydings, Walsh, Wheeler—19.

Republicans for: Brewster, Brooks, Buck, Bushfield, Butler, Capehart, Capper, Cordon, Langer, Hawks, Millikin, Moore, Revercomb, Robertson, Shipstead, Taft, Wherry, Willis, Wilson, Young—20.

Progressive for: LaFollette—1.

AGAINST AMENDMENT 45.

Democrats Against: Barkley, Briggs, Downey, Eastland, Fulbright, George, Gerry, Guffey, Hatch, Hayden, Hill, Hoey, Lucas, Maybank, McKellar, McMahon, Mead, Mitchell, Murdock, Myers, O'Mahoney, Pepper, Radcliffe, Taylor, Thomas (Okla.), Thomas (Utah), Tunnel, Wagner—28.

Republicans Against: Aiken, Austin, Ball, Donnell, Ferguson, Gurney, Hart, Hickenlooper, Knowland, Morse, Reed, Saltonstall, Smith, Stanfill, Tobey, White, Wiley—17.

Not voting, but announced as against the amendment: Vandenberg, Republican; Bailey and Chavez, Democrats.

The following pair was announced: Against the amendment, Connally, Democrat; for the amendment, Overton, Democrat.

Predicted Fall of Cabinet.

Just before the vote, Majority Leader Barkley told the Senate that adoption of the amendment would "sound the death knell" of the proposed loan.

"I am not versed in the mysteries of British parliamentary procedure, but it is my conviction that any Government which agreed to a proposal like this at the end of a shotgun would fall within forty-eight hours," Barkley said.

McFarland had proposed that before the British draw any funds they agree to turn over to the United States title to the Atlantic military bases now held by this country under ninety-nine-year lease. His amendment also would have required the negotiation of agreements for commercial use by this country of other empire bases built with American funds.

These exchanges would apply on Britain's unpaid World War I loan from this country of about $4,000,000,000.

Rejection of the McFarland proposal left several other amendments pending. Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D.-Col.) was expected to furnish the next test vote with a motion to throw the loan bill out of the Senate. He contends it is a revenue-raising measure which must originate in the House.

The Senate met fifteen minutes earlier than its usual noon convening hour under an agreement to dispose of the McFarland amendment.

McFarland said that all he asked was that "Britain shall sit down with us and work out some mutually equitable method of adjusting the first world war indebtedness."

Noting that this amounts to the disputed unpaid balance on $4,277,000,000, which some loan proponents believed should be forgotten, he added: "Let them go out and explain that to the American taxpayers who dug into their pockets to float and pay for that loan and the interest on it."

Any agreement on the old debt, he asserted, should grant the United States "first, permanent use of the so-called ninety-nine-year bases; second, the elimination of the present restriction against commercial use of those bases, and third, the right to use for commercial purposes other bases which we with blood, sweat and tears won back from the enemy for Britain, and others which we helped Britain retain."

TERMS AGREED WITH TURKEY

$4,500,000 Settlement Set In $90,000,000 Lend-Lease

Washington, May 8 (AP)—Turkish officials have agreed to settle that nation's $90,000,000 lend-lease account with the United States by a cash payment of $4,500,000 within 30 days, the State Department announced today.

Provision for the final settlement was signed in Ankara yesterday by Ambassador Edwin C. Wilson and Turkish Government officials. It is expected to be ratified by the Grand National Assembly in a few days, the department said.

The $4,500,000 actually will pay for lend-lease equipment "of a civilian nature" which originally cost this country $5,728,000, the announcement said.

Balance For Military Goods

The balance of the $90,000,000 account was for military equipment for which the United States will not receive payment, but can take back any it can use, the department said.

In the agreement, however, the United States declared that it did not intend generally to exercise this recapture right.

At the same time, the State Department disclosed that all previously unsold United States Army surpluses in Turkey, originally valued at nearly $700,000, were purchased late last month by Turkey for $500,000. It was mostly airport maintenance materials, the department added.

Tools And Transport Items

A department official said civilian goods covered in the $4,500,000 lend-lease settlement consist primarily of machine tools, railroad equipment and trucks.

The department recalled that the United States and Britain had delivered substantial quantities of war material to Turkey "to strengthen Turkey's capacity to resist Axis pressure and to meet such demands for Turkish assistance as Allied strategy might require."

It also noted that Turkey recently had concluded a commercial aviation agreement with the United States "containing terms regarded as satisfactory by the Department of State."

U. S. Not Holding Billion for Russia

Reservation Is Dropped as Moscow Fails to Act

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP).—American officials have decided against reserving any longer $1,000,000,000 of Export-Import Bank funds for a Russian loan.

Diplomatic officials said uncertainty over whether Moscow intends to accept an American invitation to begin loan negotiations has caused high government policy makers to take this action.

It has been decided to use the bank's present $1,500,000,000—to make loans to France, China and Italy, officials said. Approval of these three loans would leave the bank with little or no funds.

This may throw the Russian loan issue into an eventual Congressional debate. In order to get more capital with which it could grant a Russian loan, the Administration would have to get Congress to approve its pending request for additional funds for the bank.

President Truman several months ago sent a recommendation to Congress asking it to increase the bank's lending authority by $1,250,000,000.

The "reserved" sign was first put on the $1,000,000,000 last year when the agency had its resources increased to $3,500,000,000. In the mean time, Russian negotiations were stalled, first by the loss of the original application from Moscow.

The United States has informed the Soviet Union of loan conditions, and Moscow has replied with counter proposals.

The American answer to these has not yet brought a Russian reply, so that officials now maintain they do not actually know whether Russia ever will begin negotiations.

G.I. TERMINAL PAY BILL GETS BACKING IN HOUSE REPORT

WASHINGTON, May 8. — (AP) The House military committee recommended today that enlisted men be given the same terminal pay benefits accorded officers, but that in the future the payments be dropped for everyone.

It approved legislation giving enlisted men of all services the right to receive pay, at the time of discharge, for all furlough time to which they were entitled but which they did not actually receive.

Limit of 120 Days

The pay would be at the rate of compensation and allowances received at the time of discharge and would be computed on the basis of two and one-half days for each month of service, up to a top of 120 days.

For example, a man who, at the time of discharge, had received only 20 of the 70 days furlough time to which he was entitled would be paid in cash for the 50 days he didn't get off.

Men already discharged, but who served after September 8, 1939, would be eligible for the payments upon application within a year from the date the legislation becomes law.

To speed payments, the committee recommended that the affidavit of an honorably discharged man shall suffice to determine how much time he has coming.

Cost Estimates Vary

General estimates of the cost of the legislation have been in the neighborhood of $2,000,000,000, although some have been as high as $8,000,000,000. Estimates were based on average service of 28 months for every man and the assumption that most men received most of their furlough time of 70 days.

The committee's plan for enlisted men is similar to that already in effect for officers of the armed services. In the future, the committee urged, payments should not be made in time of emergency to any men.

The committee's action left somewhat snarled the legislative situation with respect to the bill. Last month 218 House members signed a petition discharging the Military committee from further jurisdiction, the committee having indicated an inclination to shelve the bill after the Budget bureau opposed it.

The discharge petition, circulated by Rep. Dwight Rogers (D-Fla), normally would come before the House next Monday, but since the committee already has reported the bill to the House the petition is meaningless.

Committee members said, however, that the legislation probably will come up for a House vote next week under normal procedure.

DRAFT LAW FATE REMAINS OBSCURE

Congress Has Week Left to Act Before May 15 Expiration.

WASHINGTON, May 8. — (AP) The wartime draft came up to the last week of its legal life today and whether Congress would ride to the rescue in time to prolong it remained an open question.

Selective Service headquarters said registrations and inductions will be halted May 16 if the law is not renewed by May 15.

Senator Gurney (R-S.D.), who has been leading the fight for a full year's extension, told a reporter he expects both the Senate and House to act before the deadline.

But Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) said "it may be months before we get around to the draft at our present rate of speed."

Majority Leader Barkley (D-Ky.) told reporters he hoped to win Senate passage of the British loan tomorrow "and then take up the draft."

Complicating plans for action are a large number of obstacles.

Senator Knowland (R-Calif.), with some support, has demanded that the Senate take up labor disputes legislation unless the coal strike ends by Thursday.

Senate enactment of draft legislation differing widely from that passed by the House will require a compromise by a Senate-House committee, often a lengthy process, and subsequent approval by both bodies.

Any senator could prevent draft extension before the May 15 date by simply talking until then.

The House approved a suspension of actual inductions between May 15 and October 15, when it passed a nine-months extension of the draft. It also barred drafting of 18 and 19 year old youths.

Provides Pay Increases

The Gurney bill awaiting Senate action would allow a full year extension and provide a pay increase for enlisted men.

Both the Senate and House bills would bar inductions of fathers if they objected, provide for release of fathers now inducted, limit draft service to 18 months, and release inducted men who had served that long.

A high official of Selective Service who withheld use of his name said today that if the legislation is allowed to lapse "we probably would have no authority" to hold conscientious objectors in public service camps. He estimated that there are about 4,000 men in these camps.

Men already in the armed forces, the official added, will not be affected if the law should lapse. He said other legislation provides that draftees must serve for the duration and six months, unless discharged sooner.

Truman Draws V-E Day Lesson

President Says Opportunities to Build Secure World Are Still With Us.

Washington, May 8 (A. P.).—President Truman said today that a year after V-E day the opportunities "to build a just, secure and peaceful world are still with us."

The men and women whose sacrifices made victory possible, he said in a statement on the first anniversary of Germany's surrender, "gave us not justice, but the opportunity to achieve it, not security, but the opportunity to win it, not peace, but the opportunity to make it."

His statement follows:

On the first anniversary of V-E Day the people of the United States remember with grateful pride the men and the women of the United Nations whose unstinted sacrifices made the victory possible. The year that has passed has made us realize with greater awareness the nature of their gift to this and succeeding generations.

They gave us not justice, but the opportunity to achieve it, not security, but the opportunity to make it. Let each of us judge for himself how well in the past years we have used what came to us at such great price.

These opportunities will not be ours forever. Unless we take advantage of them fully, quickly and selflessly, they will slip from our grasp. A year after V-E Day, the opportunities that it brought to build a just, secure and peaceful world are still with us.

To the extent that we maintain our unity within ourselves and with other peoples, and to the extent that we dedicate ourselves wholely and unselfishly to the mighty tasks confronting us they will become on succeeding anniversaries not narrowing but expanding vistas of the hopes of man.

PRICE INCREASES ORDERED ON GRAIN TO SPUR DELIVERY

OPA, Agriculture Dept. Announce New Ceilings on Wheat, Corn.

MAY REDUCE LIVESTOCK

More Meat Seen Now for Consumers, Less Later.

WASHINGTON, May 8 — (AP) The government announced jumps in the ceiling price of wheat, corn and other grain and livestock feeds tonight in a new effort to remedy the food situation at home and abroad.

The increase of 25 cents a bushel for corn, 15 cents for wheat, five cents for oats, nine cents for barley, and 10 cents for rye, will become effective May 13. One purpose is to get grain for famine areas.

The action was announced in a joint statement by the Office of Economic Stabilization, the Agriculture department and the Office of Price Administration at the close of a day that saw these other developments bearing on the world food picture:

Briton Brings Proposals

1. The White House announced that Herbert Morrison, Lord President of the Council in the British cabniet, is coming here this weekend to take up with President Truman new proposals for meeting the hunger crisis abroad. The grain price increases were announced after diplomatic informants had said he might urge against such tactics.

2. Sir John Orr, director general of the United Nations Food and Agriculture organization, called for an international four or five-year plan for the long pull against famine.

The world food situation is likely to remain critical that long, he said.

Sir John's appeal was made in invitation to U. N. member countries and to a number of other international organizations asking them to send representatives to a F.A.O. meeting here May 20 to consider the food problem.

Large Deficit in Wheat

He said preliminary estimate of world food needs for the period of July, 1946, to July, 1947, indicated areas will need at least 1,125,000,000 bushels of wheat from surplus producing areas.

He said, however, that the exportable supply is not likely to be more than 750,000,000 bushels, assuming that weather conditions are at least average. The bulk of this supply would have to come from the United States, Canada, Australia and Argentina.

Surveys made by the F.A.O., the director general said, indicated that neither Europe nor the Far East will be able to produce sufficient food this year to meet minimum nutritional requirements of their people.

He said Europe will need, during the 1946-47 season, wheat imports of at least 470,000,000 bushels to bring it up to 90 per cent of the average pre-war consumption rate, or a minimum of 1,900 calories per person daily. He said the Far East will need at least 375,000,000 bushels to provide a daily average diet of from 1,500 to 1,600 calories.

No Estimates on Others

No estimate has been made yet, Sir John said, as to overseas requirements of fats and oils, sugar, meats and dairy products.

"But it is clear," he said, "that for all foods together the difference between import needs and export supplies will be even greater than that indicated for wheat."

In urging action now, Sir John pointed out that there is at present no organization with executive authority to deal with the situation during the next four or five years.

World Plan for Five-Year Famine Fight Urged by Head of U.N. Food Organization

WASHINGTON, May 8—(AP) Sir John Orr, director general of the United States Food and Agriculture organization, called tonight for an international four or five-year plan for the long pull against famine.

The world food situation is likely to remain critical that long, he said.

In urging action now, Sir John pointed out that there is at present no organization with executive authority to deal with the situation during the next four or five years.

UNRRA, the Combined Food Board, and the Food committee of the Emergency Economic Committee for Europe are temporary organizations which, unless extended will expire within the current year.

"The F.A.O., which was established to serve as the advisory body on world food policies, has no executive functions," Sir John said. "Hence, none of the organizations has power or resources to grapple fully with the crisis."

The international organizations invited to send representatives to the F.A.O. meeting are the Combined Food Board (representing the U. S., Canada and Great Britain), UNRRA, the Emergency Committee Economic Committee for Europe and the United Nations. The International Bank for Reconstruction and Development and the International Labor Office were invited to send observers.

tue.

3. President Truman and the British and Canadian prime ministers announced that the Combined Food board will be continued until next Dec. 31 and longer if necessary, in view of the critical food situation. It had been thought the board might wind up its work by June 30.

The grain and feed price hikes were aimed to remove uncertainty concerning price ceilings between now and June 30, 1047, encourage movement of grain for foreign and home use and bring the number of livestock into "proper balance" with feed balances.

If it accomplishes its aim of reducing the number of livestock, it will mean more meat for consumers now, but less later.

Corn Bonus to End

The government will end payment of a 30-cent per bushel bonus on corn, offered to get the grain off farms for famine relief purposes, after next Saturday. The 30-cent wheat bonus for the same purpose will continue until May 25, as originally scheduled.

Diplomats said Morrison would be deeply concerned in his White House talks with preventing the world food crisis from playing into the hands of Communists in Europe—particularly in France, Italy and Germany.

Furthermore he may urge upon President Truman the adoption of methods other than price boosts to get grain off of the farms and into the bread baskets of food shortage countries. The British are represented as concerned about the fact that the bushel price of Canadian wheat on the farm is 59 cents lower than that of American wheat.

Oppose Heavy Payment

British authorities say this means that Britain is paying a heavy price for American wheat to feed the Germans in the British zone. They contend that this is unfair since Britain is serving American interests by trying to keep Germany and particularly the two nations' sections of it from falling into Russian hands through Communist politics.

The British have seemed for some time to be more seriously concerned about the political results of hunger and other suffering in Europe than the U .S. government which in the main has tackled the problem as a humanitarian one. Morrison evidently intends to try to shift the emphasis somewhat and thereby increase the forcefulness of American measures to meet the food crisis.

Service Merger Hit By Ex-WPB Official

Washington, May 8 (AP)—Charles E. Wilson, president of the General Electric Company, said today that a merger of the War and Navy departments would be an "invitation to inefficiency, to authoritarianism and to stultification."

Wilson, former vice chairman of the War Production Board, testified before the Senate Naval Committee at a closed hearing which he had requested. His prepared statement was made public, however.

Wilson said he had not studied in detail the bill approved by the Senate Military Committee for consolidation of the armed forces into a single "department of common defense" with land, sea and air branches.

WALLACE URGES RETENTION OF OPA

Detroit, May 8 (A. P.).—Secretary of Commerce Wallace said last night that behind the clamor for repeal or emasculation of price controls is "the voice of a pied piper of Republican normalcy beguiling us to national ruin."

In an address prepared for delivery before a meeting of the Michigan Citizens Committee, a non-party political action group, Wallace added that the voice, "dripping with honeyed words of freedom of initiative and action," would produce catastrophic inflation from which "a comparatively small handful will profit—the giants of business, well-fattened on war profits, the speculators."

Against it, he called for independent voters' support of "the legislative program that continues to embody the national cause of the New Deal.

In championing the OPA, Wallace declared that "unfortunately, too many farmers seem to believe that they could ride out this price rise in safety and thus, too many of them are giving support to the enemies of OPA."

Among the latter, he denounced the National Association of Manufacturers, and added:

"From personal contact, I know that many business men — big, medium and small—are opposed to the blind opposition of the greedy policy makers in the National Association of Manufacturers."

McNeal On Bowles's Staff

Washington, May 8 (AP)—Dean McNeal, of St. Louis, former OPA agriculture consultant, has been appointed assistant to Stabilization Director Chester Bowles on problems of food pricing and production.

McNeal is on leave from the Ralston-Purina Company.

BURIAL BILL APPROVED

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—Congress gave final approval and sent to President Truman today a bill authorizing return of the nation's war dead to this country for burial. The War department would return and bury the bodies of any war dead whose immediate family requests such action.

U. S. EQUIPMENT FOR LATIN AMERICA

Washington, May 8 (A. P.).—The Army said today that, if Congress enacts legislation asked by President Truman, surplus United States Army military equipment will be transferred to other American countries for hemisphere defense.

A War Department statement said:

"The legislation provides for the substitution of United States standard equipment wherever possible for obsolete types of equipment now existing in many of their countries.

"Insofar as practicable and consistent with our own national requirements, it is contemplated that surplus military equipment would be used in the program."

The inter-American military collaboration bill submitted to Congress by President Truman would provide for continuation of military co-operation between the United States and the other American countries which started long before Pearl Harbor.

The War Department noted that under legislation enacted in 1926, almost all the other American republics already have requested United States air and ground military missions, and that under a 1938 act, more than 1,000 Latin American officers and men have been trained here.

5 Sailors Accused of Sabotage

Navy Men Charged With Damaging Former Jap Cruiser on Way to Atomic Test.

Pearl Harbor, May 8 (A. P.).—Court-martial specifications were prepared today against five United States Navy men accused of sabotaging the former Japanese cruiser Sakawa en route to Bikini, and thereby endangering lives of their shipmates.

Commander L. W. McConnaughay, director of discipline for the Fourteenth Naval District, announced the preparation of charges, but said he was not yet ready to report their exact nature. The five men were held meanwhile as prisoners-at-large.

Lieut. David Merrill of Hartford, Conn., chief engineer aboard the Sakawa as she made her hazardous forty-day cruise to Bikini to become an atomic bomb target, said sabotage occurred on April 5, 6 and 7 at Eniwetok. Members of the crew, he said, knocked out the ship's fuel system, smashed instruments and valves, and cut high pressure steam lines, so that "if any one had walked in front of that leak, it could have cut them in two."

Names Accused Men.

McConnaughay said the accused men had hoped to be relieved of duty aboard the filthy warship. He named the five as Larry W. Lajoie, fireman 2/c, of Chicago; Stanley J. Berrent, fireman 1/c, of Baltimore; Robert J. Eby, fireman 2/c, of Lansdowne, Pa.; Lloyd E. Faulkner, seaman 2/c, of Baltimore, and William N. Lambright Jr., seaman 2/c, of East Palestine, Ohio.

If the Sakawa could legally be termed an American ship, McConnaughy said, damaging it wilfully could be punishable by death.

The Sakawa's voyage from Japan was a forty-day tale of woe, Pearl Harbor staff officers related; they termed it "a remarkable exhibition of seamanship" that she reached Bikini.

Merrill said the odor aboard the filthy ship was "horrible"; that failing refrigeration afforded only a twelve-day supply of perishable foods for the trip; that the cruiser exhausted her fuel before reaching Eniwetok, and that, after being towed in, the crew had only one small boat for bringing fresh supplies aboard as well as affording the crew recreation ashore.

The Japanese battleship Nagato, making the same trip, took forty-four days to reach Bikini; she, too, ran out of fuel, her electric power failed, and eight of her boilers blew out.

5 Generals Sued By Pair In Hawaii

Honolulu, May 8 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Gunther H. Walther, German-born American citizens, have filed suit against five United States generals, asking $130,000 damages for an asserted twenty months' internment after the Pearl Harbor attack. They contended their confinement was illegal.

The suit, brought in Federal Court, named as defendants Lieut. Gen. Walter C. Short, army commandant here when the war began; Lieut. Gen. Delos Emmons and Lieut. Gen. Robert C. Richardson, later commandants; Maj. Gen. Thomas H. Green, judge advocate general, and Brig. Gen. William R. C. Morrison, former aide to Richardson.

The Walthers asserted in their suit that they were unlawfully interned after a hearing before the Enemy Alien Board on their loyalty to the United States; that they had been given no trial, but were confined "without legal right or authority or judicial process of any kind, although they were both naturalized citizens of the United States."

Gandhi's Son, Lacking Hotel, Explores City

Editor Offered His Room to Woman on Plane in Belief He Had Extra One

Devadas Gandhi, forty-five, son of Mohandas K. Gandhi and managing editor of "The Hindustan Times," of Delhi, India, passed several hours amiably trying yesterday to get a New York hotel room from which he might try to get some newsprint.

At 2:59 a. m. Mr. Gandhi, wearing a small white Gandhi cap which looks like a sailor's hat, and wrapped in a flowing black shewani, the North India robe, arrived at La Guardia Field from London via American Overseas Airlines. He though he had a room. He believed in fact he had one and one-half rooms at the Biltmore. He intended to share one with Ramnath Goenka, a publisher who accompanied him; and thought that Derek G. Currie, the party's third member, would move in with a British Supply Mission representaive already staying at the hotel.

On learning at the airport that a third room was waiting, Mr. Gandhi expansively offered it to a fellow passenger, a woman physician from India. The report proved to be exaggerated, however. Mr. Gandhi stood by his offer; the physician took the room, Mr. Currie took the half with the supply man and Mr. Gandhi and Mr. Goenka went out looking.

Quickly stumped by the Grand Central district's hotel clerks, who were bewildered by offhand inquiries, Mr. Gandhi decided to drive about and see a few dawn sights. He did so and also explored the area afoot while waiting for a taxi. At 7 a. m., fortified by coffee and milk in a one-arm restaurant, he and Mr. Goenka found a cab which took them around for an hour and deposited them once more at the Biltmore. In the barber shop, an American business man struck up an acquaintance with them, vanished and returned to announce a room had been vacated and was theirs.

They had been greeted at the airport by Miss Adrienne Moore, from the office o ftheir American agent, Joshua B. Powers, 345 Madison Avenue, who will help them in their quest for newsprint. With Mr. Currie, who is director of paper control in the India government supply department, and Mr. Goenka, publisher of the Express chain of newspapers in Madras and Calcutta, Mr. Gandhi will go to Washington tomorrow and later will travel to Canada to see that country's pulp and paper people.

WITH FOREIGN MINISTERS (210)

PARIS, MAY 8-(AP)-REPRESENTATIVES OF THE UNITED STATES AND GREAT BRITAIN HAVE SUGGESTED TO THE FOREIGN MINISTERS CONFERENCE THAT ITALIAN REPARATION PAYMENTS BE LIMITED TO ITALY'S FOREIGN ASSETS AND SURPLUS WAR-TIME INDUSTRIAL EQUIPMENT.

A FOUR-POWER REPORT ON REPARATIONS ALSO DISCLOSED THAT RUSSIA STILL MAINTAINED HER DEMANDS FOR A TOTAL PAYMENT OF $300,000,000 FROM ITALY, WITH $100,000,000 TO GO TO THE SOVIET UNION AND THE REMAINDER TO BE SPLIT AMONG GREECE, YUGOSLAVIA AND ALBANIA.

FRENCH EXPERTS, WHO TOOK A MIDDLE STAND BETWEEN THE RUSSIANS AND THE UNITED STATES AND BRITAIN, SUGGESTED THE SOVIET RECEIVE ONLY FULL CLAIM OF $100,000,000, BUT THAT ALLIED AGENCY BE SET UP TO SEE THE MONEY COMES FROM SOURCES WHOSE DEPLETION WOULD NOT EMBARRASS ITALIAN ECONOMY.

THE RUSSIANS PROPOSED THAT ITALY PAY REPARATIONS IN SIX YEARS, AND INCLUDE NOT ITALIAN MERCHANT FLEET EITHER NOW AFLOAT OR TO BE BUILT AND ITALIAN FACTORY EQUIPMENT AND CURRENT AGRICULTURAL AND INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION AS REPARATIONS SOURCES.

THE UNITED STATES SUGGESTED EACH ALLIED NATION WITH CLAIMS AGAINST ITALY SATISFY THEM FROM ITALIAN ASSETS IN ITS JURISDICTION. RUSSIA HOLDS NO SUCH ASSETS, BUT THE AMERICAN PLAN PROVIDES FOR TAKING OVER ITALIAN HOLDINGS IN ROMANIA, HUNGARY AND BULGARIA.

THE BIG FOUR YESTERDAY, IN TWO SESSIONS, CAME UP WITH THREE AGREEMENTS, FIVE DISCORDS AND, FOR THE FIRST TIME SINCE THEIR MEETING BEGAN IN PARIS, REFERRED TWO ISSUES TO THE PROPOSED 21-NATION PEACE CONFERENCE.

THESE LATTER ISSUES WERE THE DISPUTED GREEK-BULGARIAN FRONTIER AND BULGARIAN REPARATIONS TO GREECE AND YUGOSLAVIA.

IT WAS THE FOREIGN MINISTERS' COUNCIL'S FIRST REFERENCES TO THE PEACE CONFERENCE AND WAS ACCEPTED AS AN ENCOURAGING SIGN. THE CONFERENCE ORIGINALLY SCHEDULED TO BE HELD MAY 1 IN PARIS, WAS POSTPONED INDEFINITELY BECAUSE OF DISAGREEMENTS WHICH MADE THE PRESENT BIG FOUR MEETING NECESSARY.

AGREEMENTS REACHED BY THE FOREIGN MINISTERS WERE:

1. FASCIST ORGANIZATIONS IN ROMANIA SHOULD BE DISSOLVED.
2. TRANSYLVANIA SHOULD BE TAKEN FROM HUNGARY AND RESTORED TO ROMANIA.
3. THE 1940 TRANSFER OF SOUTHERN DOBRUJA FROM ROMANIA TO BULGARIA SHOULD BE RECOGNIZED.

MOSCOW, MAY 8-(AP)-RUSSIAN POLITICAL WRITERS IN IZVESTIA AND TRUD ASSERTED TODAY THAT THE PROPOSED FRENCH CONSTITUTION WAS DEFEATED IN LAST SUNDAY'S ELECTION BECAUSE OF RIGHTIST CLAIMS THAT THE UNITED STATES AND GREAT BRITAIN WANTED THE CHARTER REJECTED.

THE FRENCH SOCIALISTS ALSO WERE BLAMED FOR FAILURE TO CAMPAIGN JOINTLY WITH THE COMMUNISTS FOR APPROVAL.

IZVESTIA AND TRUD ARTICLES SAID OTHER FACTORS IN THE DEFEAT WERE THE INFLUENCE OF THE CATHOLIC CHURCH, ON INEXPERIENCED WOMEN VOTERS AND PUBLISHED STATEMENTS THAT GEN. CHARLES DE GAULLE WAS FRAMI ANOTHER CONSTITUTION WHICH WOULD BE OFFERED LATER.

"THE RESULTS OF THE REFERENDUM ONCE MORE EMPHASIZE THE NECESSITY FOR ALL FORCES OF DEMOCRACY TO UNITE FOR THE STRUGGLE AGAINST REACTIONARY FORCES, SUPPORTERS OF PETAINS AND VICHYITES AND ALL KINDS OF FASCIST ELEMENTS," THE IZVESTIA STORY SAID.

THE TRUD CORRESPONDENT SAID RIGHTISTS DECLARED THROUGHOUT THE ELECTION CAMPAIGN THAT THE UNITED STATES AND BRITAIN WANTED THE CONSTITUTION DEFEATED AND THAT OTHERWISE FRANCE WOULD BE THREATENED WITH A DIPLOMATIC BREAK.

THE NEWSPAPER STRESSED COOPERATION BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND THE VATICAN UNDER THE HEADING "HEALTHY COLLABORATION."

"TRUMAN'S WORDS ARE THE ATLANTIC CHARTER OF PEACE BECAUSE THEY INDICATE THE SOLE CONDITION FOR THE TRIUMPH OF PRINCIPLES OF THE ATLANTIC CHARTER OF WAR," THE NEWSPAPER SAID.

ROME, MAY 8-(AP)-THE ITALIAN NEWS AGENCY ANSA SAID IN A DISPATCH FROM MILAN TODAY THAT TWO OF THE 12 PERSONS ARRESTED IN CONNECTION WITH THE THEFT OF BENITO MUSSOLINI'S BODY HAD CONFESSED THEIR PARTICIPATION AND SAID IL DUCE'S BODY NOW WAS HIDDEN "IN A SECURE PLACE."

THE DISPATCH QUOTED WHAT IT CALLED "EXACT INFORMATION FROM A RELIABLE SOURCE," BUT DID NOT DISCLOSE THE NAMES OF THE TWO PERSONS. IT ADDED THAT THEY OFFERED TO TELL THE WHEREABOUTS OF THE BODY, WHICH WAS STOLEN FROM ITS POTTER'S FIELD GRAVE AT MILAN APRIL 23, IF THE POLICE PREFECT OF MILAN PERSONALLY WOULD GUARANTEE ITS REINTERMENT IN THE MUSSOLINI FAMILY PLOT AT PREDAPPIO.

ROME, MAY 9-(AP)-INTERIOR MINISTER GIUSEPPE ROMITA SAID TODAY THE THEFT OF BENITO MUSSOLINI'S BODY HAD BEEN CONFESSED BY A MAN NOW IN POLICE CUSTODY AND THAT THE REMAINS APPARENTLY ARE HIDDEN IN MILAN.

ROMITA ADDED THAT THE MAN HAD TOLD POLICE HE WOULD TURN THE BODY OVER TO THEM IF HE WERE ASSURED THAT THE CORPSE -- REMOVED FROM A MILAN POTTER'S FIELD -- WOULD BE BURIED IN THE FAMILY PLOT AT PREDAPPIO. THE INTERIOR MINISTER SAID THE OFFER HAD BEEN REFUSED.

"THE GOVERNMENT ABSOLUTELY WILL NOT DEAL ON THIS," HE ASSERTED. "DO YOU THINK WE WANT A NATIONAL MONUMENT AT PREDAPPIO?"

ROMITA DECLINED TO DIVULGE THE IDENTITY OF THE ARRESTED MAN, SAYING HE WAS AWAITING A FULL REPORT FROM MILAN WHERE THE MAN IS NOW BEING HELD.

AN EARLIER DISPATCH FROM GENOA SAID POLICE THERE HAD RECEIVED INFORMATION THAT MUSSOLINI'S BODY WAS ABOARD THE ITALIAN STEAMER BEATRICE, WHICH SAILED YESTERDAY FOR LIVORNO, WHERE AUTHORITIES HAVE BEEN ALERTED.

Bucharest, May 8-(AP)-Eugen Christiscu, wartime director of the Romanian secret police, testified at his war crimes trial today that the Germans operated 11 espionage organizations in Romania during the war.

He said Germany directly supported the Iron guard and assisted its leader, Horia Sima, to escape to Germany in 1941.

Christiscu is on trial with other members of the wartime Antonescu government. He swore the gestapo was active in his country as early as 1934 and was directly responsible for a series of political murders, carried out mainly by the iron guard, which shattered Romanian political life during the thirties.

He said Former King Carol allowed the conclusion of a German-Romanian secret service cooperation pact in 1939 for the exchange of information on unfriendly countries. He charged that members of the Maniu national peasant party were agents for the British secret service and split nearly $1,000,000 of operations funds among themselves.

NEW YORK, MAY 8-(AP)-ANDREI A.GROMYKO, RUSSIAN DELEGATE TO THE U.N.SECURITY COUNCIL, SAYS THAT ANY NATION OR GROUP OF NATIONS WHICH TRIES TO IMPOSE ITS WILL ON THE REST OF THE WORLD WILL MEET THE SAME FATE AS GERMANY.

GROMYKO SPOKE AT A DINNER LAST NIGHT OF THE AMERICAN-RUSSIAN INSTITUTE AT WHICH THE FIRST ANNUAL AWARD OF THE INSTITUTE WAS CONFERRED POSTHUMOUSLY UPON PRESIDENT FRANKLIN D.ROOSEVELT AS THE MAN WHO HAD DONE MOST TO IMPROVE RELATIONS BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND THE SOVIET UNION.

A BRONZE PLAQUE WAS PRESENTED TO THE ROOSEVELT FAMILY.

"THE STRENGTHENING OF THE ESSENTIALS OF VICTORY, THE BUILDING OF ENDURING PEACE," GROMYKO SAID "ARE POSSIBLE ONLY IF THE RELATIONS BETWEEN ALL SOVEREIGN PEOPLES WHO HAVE BROUGHT INTO BEING THE UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION ARE FOUNDED UPON PRINCIPLES OF EQUALITY AND INHERENT RECOGNITION OF THEIR INTERESTS.

"THIS GOAL CANNOT BE REACHED IF ANY ONE COUNTRY OR GROUP OF COUNTRIES, HOWEVER STRONG ITS POSITION MAY BE ECONOMICALY OR IN ANY OTHER RESPECT, TRIES TO IMPOSE ITS WILL UPON OTHER COUNTRIES; IF IT TRIES TO OBTAIN GUARDIANSHIP OVER THE WORLD WICH IS NOT REQUESTED BY THE OTHER COUNTRIES. GENERALLY SPEAKING, THE IDEA OF GUARDIANSHIP BY ONE OR EVEN TWO COUNTRIES IS A VAIN ILLUSION. IN THE PAST SUCH ATTEMPTS INVARIABLY MET WITH FAILURE.

IN A MESSAGE TO THE DINNER, GENERALISSIMO STALIN PRAISED THE LATE PRESIDENT AS "THAT GREAT STATESMAN" TO WHOM "HUMANITY SHOULD BE THANKFUL."

THE COUNCIL ADJOURNED AFTER SITTING 43 MINUTES, SUBJECT TO THE CALL OF THE CHAIRMAN.

THE BRITISH DELEGATE, DECLARING THAT THE ABSENCE OF A DELEGATE DOES NOT STOP THE WORK OF THE COUNCIL, SAID THAT "IT IS QUITE TRUE THAT WE ALL SIT HERE, LARGELY HAVING A SORT OF RESPONSIBILITY TO THE TOTALITY OF THE MEMBERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS, AND TO REMAIN AWAY FROM ANY OF OUR DISCUSSIONS CAN BE CONSIDERED, TO AMOUNT, TO A CERTAIN EXTENT, TO AN EVASION OF THAT RESPONSIBILITY."

"WELL," SIR ALEXANDER ADDED, "THAT IS A MATTER WHICH ANY MEMBER OF THE COUNCIL MUST SETTLE WITH HIS OWN CONSCIENCE."

HASLUCK PROPOSED THAT THE COUNCIL ASCERTAIN FROM THE ABSENT GROMYKO JUST HOW HE REGARDS THE EFFECT OF HIS ABSENCE FROM THE TABLE.

HE POINTED OUT THAT EACH MEMBER OF THE COUNCIL, WHETHER PERMANENT OR NON-PERMANENT, "ACTS IN A REPRESENTATIVE CAPACITY THAT EXTENDS BEYOND THE REPRESENTATION OF HIS OWN GOVERNMENT."

"CAN WE ENTERTAIN A SITUATION WHERE A MEMBER HOLDING OFFICE UNDER SUCH CONDITIONS CAN SELECT AN OCCASION ON WHICH HE DOES NOT CHOOSE TO ACT AS A REPRESENTATIVE?" HE SAID. "IF WE ENTERTAIN THAT IDEA FOR A MOMENT IT WOULD UNDERMINE THE WHOLE STRUCTURE OF THIS BODY."

"IF IN ADDITION TO THAT," HASLUCK CONTINUED, "WE ENTERTAIN THE OTHER PROPOSITION THAT A MEMBER BY ABSENTING HIMSELF COULD ALSO PREVENT THE COUNCIL FROM TAKING ACTION, THEN WE NOT ONLY FAIL IN OUR DUTY AS REPRESENTATIVES BUT I SUGGEST THAT WE DEFEAT THE WHOLE PURPOSE FOR WHICH THIS BODY WAS CREATED."

STETTINIUS TOLD THE COUNCIL THAT THE SOVIET UNION HAS NOT COMPLIED WITH THE REQUEST OF THE COUNCIL TO REPORT AND THAT IRAN HAS COMPLIED ON MAY 6 "ONLY IN A PRELIMINARY MANNER AND APPARENTLY AS FULLY AS CONDITIONS HAVE PERMITTED."

HIS RESOLUTION PROVIDES THAT THE COUNCIL SHALL CONSIDER WHAT ACTION TO TAKE IN THE CASE AFTER RECEIVING THE FURTHER INFORMATION REQUESTED FROM IRAN.

NEW YORK, MAY 8-(AP)-THE TEMPORARY SOCIAL COMMISSION OF THE UNITED NATIONS BY A VOTE OF 5 TO 2, DECIDED TODAY TO INVITE THE WORLD FEDERATION OF TRADE UNIONS TO SEND AN OBSERVER TO FORTHCOMING COMMISSION MEETINGS.

U.N.--PRESS

BY ...RRY HAUCK

NEW YORK, MAY 8-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES DELEGATION TO THE UNITED NATIONS PROPOSED TODAY THAT A UNITED NATIONS SUB-COMMISSION ON FREEDOM OF INFORMATION BE ESTABLISHED TO DRAW UP RECOMMENDATIONS ON WORLD-WIDE PRESS FREEDOM.

THE COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS, TO WHICH THE PROPOSAL WAS ADDRESSED, POSTPONED ACTION ON IT UNTIL A LATER DATE.

MR. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, CHAIRMAN OF THE COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS, TOLD THE COMMISSION WHEN IT MET THIS MORNING THAT SHE HAD RECEIVED THE COMMUNICATION.

"I DON'T THINK WE HAVE TO TAKE THAT UP BECAUSE WE HAVE NOT YET REACHED THE DISCUSSION ON THAT POINT," SHE SAID.

WHEN THE COMMISSION HELD ITS ORGANIZATION MEETING IT DECIDED TO DEAL WITH TOPICS ON THE PROVISIONAL AGENDA BEFORE THE MEETING OF THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL, ITS PARENT BODY, HERE ON MAY 25. FREEDOM OF INFORMATION IS ONE OF THE ITEMS ON THAT AGENDA AND IT IS EXPECTED THAT THE PROPOSAL MADE TODAY BY THE UNITED STATES WILL COME UP BEFORE MAY 25.

THE UNITED STATES DELEGATION PROPOSED TO THE COMMISSION THAT IT RECOMMEND TO THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL THAT A SUB-COMMISSION OF FROM 10 TO 15 MEMBERS, WHO NEED NOT BE MEMBERS OF THE COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS, BE SET UP.

THE DELEGATION STATED THAT IT IS THE VIEW OF THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT THAT:

"A. MATERIAL PROGRESS TOWARD THE ULTIMATE ATTAINMENT OF UNIVERSAL FREEDOM OF INFORMATION IS OF THE UTMOST IMPORTANCE IF THE UNITED NATIONS IS TO ACHIEVE THE PRUPOSES FOR WHICH IT HAS BEEN ESTABLISHED;

"B. THE COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS WILL REQUIRE SPECIAL ADVICE AND ASSISTANCE IN CARRYING OUT ITS RESPONSIBILITY TOWARD THE FULFILMENT OF THIS IMPORTANT AND COMPLEX TASK."

THE UNITED STATES SUGGESTED THE FOLLOWING TASKS FOR THE PROPOSED SUB-COMMISSION.

"1. THE SUB-COMMISSION SHOULD SUBMIT PROPOSALS, RECOMMENDATIONS AND REPORTS TO THE COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS REGARDING FREEDOM OF INFORMATION. IN THE DISCHARGE OF THIS FUNCTION, THE SUB-COMMISSION SHOULD:

"A. DETERMINE WHAT RIGHTS, OBLIGATIONS AND PRACTICES SHOULD, IN THE SUB-COMMISSION'S OPINION, BE INDLUCED IN THE CONCEPT, FREEDOM OF INFORMATION;

"B. CONSIDER AND REPORT ON THE EXTENT TO WHICH FREEDOM OF INFORMATION AS THUS DEFINED IS ACCORDED TO THE PEOPLES OF THE UNITED NATIONS; AND THE NATURE AND EXTENT OF OBSTACLES THERETO;

"C. EXAMINE PROPOSALS FOR PROMOTING OR FACILITATING FREEDOM OF INFORMATION AND ELIMINATING OBSTACLES THERETO;

A42

MAY 9 1946

"D. MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS TO THE EXTENT DEEMED APPROPRIATE FOR ACTION BY THE UNITED NATIONS, BY MEMBER STATES, AND BY THE UNITED NATIONS ECONOMIC, SOCIAL AND CULTURAL ORGANIZATION AND OTHER SPECIALIZED AGENCIES;

"E. ASSUME CONTINUING RESPONSIBILITY FOR DISCUSSING AND PREPARING, WITH THE ASSITANCE OF THE SECRETARIAT, A DRAFT PROVISION ON FREEDOM OF INFORMATION TO BE INCORPORATED IN A BILL OF RIGHTS."

THE MATERIAL BEFORE THE COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS, WHICH WILL BE STUDIED IN ITS DISCUSSIONS ON THE TOPIC OF FREEDOM OF INFORMATION, INCLUDE DECLARATIONS ON FREEDOM OF THE PRESS BY KENT COOPER, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS; HUGH BAILLIE, PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED PRESS; AND WILBUR FORREST, CHAIRMAN OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE ON WORLD FREEDOM OF INFORMATION OF THE AMERICAN SOCIETY OF NEWSPAPER EDITORS.

LONDON, MAY 8-(AP)-AUSTRALIA AND SOUTH AFRICA, TAKING THE POSITION THAT THE SUEZ CANAL IS A VITAL LINK IN COMMUNICATIONS BETWEEN THEM AND THE UNITED KINGDOM, VIEW WITH MISGIVINGS BRITAIN'S PROPOSAL TO WITHDRAW HER TROOPS FROM EGYPT, AN AUTHORITATIVE SOURCE DISCLOSED TONIGHT.

NIGHT

THIS HIGH SOURCE, WHO CANNOT BE IDENTIFIED BY NAME, SAID REPRESENTATIVES OF THE UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA WERE "PARTICULARLY CONCERNED" WITH THE PROPOSAL, WHILE THE AUSTRALIAN GOVERNMENT WOULD BE "VERY DISTURBED" IF THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH WERE LEFT WITHOUT A BASE FOR MILITARY OPERATIONS IN THE MIDDLE EAST IN THE EVENT OF WAR.

THE BRITISH PROPOSAL, MADE IN CAIRO AS A FORERUNNER OF NEGOTIATIONS

FOR REVISION OF THE 1936 ANGLO-EGYPTIAN TREATY, SPURRED HOPES IN INDIA, MEANWHILE, THAT A SIMILAR POLICY MIGHT BE APPLIED THERE. BUT IN CAIRO THE ANNOUNCEMENT WAS GREETED WITH SUSPICION AND RESERVE, BOTH BY EGYPTIAN POLITICIANS AND EGYPT'S PRESS.

IT WAS LEARNED RELIABLY THAT AUSTRALIA TOOK THE POSITION THAT WITHDRAWAL OF THE BRITISH MILITARY ESTABLISHMENT MIGHT BE ACCEPTABLE IF, IN FUTURE NEGOTIATIONS, BRITAIN AND EGYPT COULD AGREE ON A BRITISH BASE ADEQUATE FOR PROTECTION OF THE SUEZ CANAL AND OTHER VULNERABLE POINTS IN THE MIDDLE EAST. THE AUSTRALIANS WERE REPRESENTED AS BELIEVING THE WITHDRAWAL MIGHT SERVE A GOOD PURPOSE IN PERMITTING ANGLO-EGYPTIAN DISCUSSIONS ON AN EQUAL PLANE.

NEITHER DR.H.V. EVATT, AUSTRALIAN MINISTER FOR EXTERNAL AFFAIRS, NOR FIELD MARSHAL JAN CHRISTIAAN SMUTS, PRIME MINISTER OF SOUTH AFRICA, ISSUED ANY PUBLIC STATEMENT ON THE SITUATION, HOWEVER.

PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE, WHO APOLOGIZED TO THE HOUSE OF COMMONS FOR GIVING THE IMPRESSION YESTERDAY THAT DOMINION REPRESENTATIVES HAD AGREED TO THE PROPOSAL IN ADVANCE, MADE IT CLEAR THAT EVENTUAL WITHDRAWAL FROM EGYPT WAS A DECISION FOR WHICH HIS LABOR GOVERNMENT WOULD ASSUME FULL RESPONSIBILITY. THE DOMINION REPRESENTATIVES WERE CONSULTED BUT NOT ASKED TO COMMIT THEMSELVES, HE SAID.

IN SIMLA, WHERE INDIAN LEADERS HAVE BEEN CONFERRING WITH BRITISH REPRESENTATIVES ON A FORMULA FOR INDIA'S INDEPENDENCE, PANDIT JAWAHARLAL NEHRU OF THE CONGRESS PARTY WORKING COMMITTEE SAID THE PROPOSAL WAS A WISE ONE, AND ADDED THAT "THE SOONER BRITISH TROOPS ARE WITHDRAWN FROM INDIA THE BETTER."

MOHAMED ALI JINNAH, PRESIDENT OF THE MOSLEM LEAGUE, SAID HE WAS "GLAD TO HEAR THE NEWS," AND OTHER INDIAN LEADERS HAILED THE PROPOSAL AS AN APPARENT SHIFT IN BRITISH POLICY WHICH WOULD CREATE GOODWILL IN INDIA.

IN EGYPT, HOWEVER, NEWSPAPERS WARNED AGAINST BRITISH MOTIVES AND ADVISED FIRM DEALING IN THE TREATY NEGOTIATIONS SCHEDULED TO BEGIN IN CAIRO TOMORROW. BRITAIN IS SEEKING A REVISION OF THE 20-YEAR ANGLO-EGYPTIAN PACT SIGNED IN 1936, AND HAS MADE HER PROPOSAL TO WITHDRAW HER MILITARY ESTABLISHMENT CONTINGENT UPON A REVISION.

POLITICAL LEADERS ALSO CHALLENGED BRITAIN'S MOTIVES. SABRI ABOU ALAM PASHA, LEADER OF THE SENATE OPPOSITION AND SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE WAFDIST PARTY, SAID HE WOULD ASK A FULL EXPLANATION OF THE PROPOSALS FROM PREMIER ISMAIL SIDKY PASHA. SHEIK HASSAN EL BANA, LEADER OF THE MOSLEM BROTHERHOOD ASSOCIATION, ASSERTED THAT "THE BRITISH ARE TRYING TO WIN TIME SO EGYPT'S CHANCE TO RAISE HER CASE BEFORE THE (UNITED NATIONS) SECURITY COUNCIL IS LOST."

IN BRITAIN, REACTION WAS LARGELY ALONG PARTY LINES. THE CONSERVATIVE PRESS ATTACKED THE PROPOSAL AND LABOR NEWSPAPERS HAILED IT.

TOKYO, THURSDAY, MAY 9-(AP)-DEMOCRACY IN JAPAN IS GETTING RUGGED; TOKYO UNIVERSITY HAS REFUSED TO ADMIT A ROYAL PRINCE WHO FAILED ITS ENTRANCE EXAMS.

HE IS PRINCE MORIHIRO HIGASHI-KUNI, SON-IN-LAW OF EMPEROR HIROHITO. THE 30-YEAR-OLD ARMY CAPTAIN MARRIED HIROHITO'S FIRSTDAUGHTER, TERU, IN 1943.

WHILE THE PRINCE WAS FLUNKING, SOME GIRLS PASSED---THE FIRST WOMEN STUDENTS EVER ADMITTED.

THE WHOLE IDEA OF PRINCES GOING TO COMMON SCHOOLS IS STRICTLY POST-SURRENDER. PREVIOUSLY, THEY ATTENDED PEERS' SCHOOLS AND HAD TUTORS.

THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS ARE MAKING THE STRONGEST EFFORT IN NANKING AND BY PETITIONS TO CONGRESSMEN IN THE UNITED STATES TO CUT OFF UNITED STATES ASSISTANCE, WHICH WOULD SMASH THE GOVERNMENT'S MAIN SOURCE OF SUPPLY FOR OPERATIONS IN MANCHURIA.

COMMUNIST LEADERS HERE CONFIDENTLY PREDICTED "AN END TO THE CIVIL CONFLICT, EITHER THROUGH NEGOTIATIONS OR THROUGH COMPLETE VICTORY OVER CHIANG KAI-SHEK'S ARMIES."

GENERAL PENG CLAIMED THAT "THE GOVERNMENT SOLDIERS NO LONGER ARE WILLING TO FIGHT" AND ARE DESERTING DAILY.

HE ANNOUNCED THE COMMUNISTS HAD SET UP GOVERNMENTS IN EIGHT

OF MANCHURIA'S NINE PROVINCES. THE NINTH, HSINGAN IN THE NORTHWEST NEXT TO MONGOLIA, WAS LEFT TO MONGOLIANS WHO ARE TRYING TO FORM AN AUTONOMOUS GOVERNMENT.

(DESPITE PENG'S CLAIMS, GOVERNMENT TROOPS ARE IN CONTROL OF LIAONING PROVINCE, WHICH EMBRACES MUKDEN, AND HAVE WEDGES AT LEAST IN TWO OTHER SOUTHERN PROVINCES--ANTUNG AND LIAOPEH.)

GEN.CHOW PAO-CHUNG, COMMUNIST CAPTOR OF CHANGCHUN, PREVIOUSLY EXPRESSED TO AMERICAN CORRESPONDENTS HIS RESENTMENT AT AID GIVEN RIVAL ARMIES BY THE UNITED STATES.

WHEN AMERICAN CORRESPONDENTS WERE GIVEN A RIDE IN A JEEP STAMPED "U.S.A." CHOW QUIPPED: "I'M LOSING FACE BECAUSE THE ONLY VEHICLES I HAVE TO GIVE YOU ARE AMERICAN JEEPS AND TRUCKS MY SOLDIERS CAPTURED FROM THE ENEMY (GOVERNMENT ARMY)."

CHOW DENIED THE COMMUNISTS HAD OBTAINED ARMS FROM RUSSIA FOR THE BATTLE OF CHANGCHUN. HE SAID FURTHERMORE, WITHOUT ELABORATIO, THAT HIS RELATIONS WITH RUSSIA "ARE BECOMING INCREASINGLY DIFFICULT."

WHILE THE RUSSIANS OCCUPIED MANCHURIA, HOWEVER, THEY DID NOTHING TO PREVENT A STRONG CHINESE COMMUNIST ARMY OF MORE THAN 300,000 MEN FROM ENTERING AND MOVING ABOUT FREELY. GOVERNMENT FORCES, HOWEVER, WERE FORBIDDEN TO ENTER ANY RUSSIAN OCCUPATION ZONE.

CONSEQUENTLY, THE GOVERNMENT ARMY HAD TO FIGHT ITS WAY INTO MANCHURIA AGAINST FIRMLY ENTRENCHED COMMUNIST FORCES, WHO TOOK OVER MORE AND MORE TERRITORY AS THE RUSSIANS PULLED OUT FOR SIBERIA.

CHANGCHUN WAS AN EXAMPLE. THE COMMUNISTS MOVED UPWARD OF 200,000 TROOPS AROUND THE CITY AND WHEN THE RED ARMY LEFT THEY QUICKLY OVERWHELMED A SMALL GOVERNMENT GARRISON.

NOW CHANGCHUN IS THE COMMUNIST CAPITAL OF MANCHURIA. THE PARTY'S "DEMOCRATIC UNITY ARMY" HAS MOVED ITS HEADQUARTERS HERE.

CHANGCHUN, HOWEVER, IS A SAD LOOKING CITY.

BESIDES THE SCARS OF THE FIERCE FOUR-DAY BATTLE PRECEDING ITS FALL, IT WAS STRIPPED BY THE RUSSIAN ARMY. THEY NOT ONLY TOOK MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT FROM FACTORIES, THEY EVEN TOOK FURNITURE AND BATHROOM FIXTURES.

(THIS DISPATCH WAS WRITTEN SHORTLY BEFORE MASTERSON AND FOUR OTHER U.S. CORRESPONDENTS LEFT CHANGCHUN AFTER BEING HELD FOR 14 DAYS BY CHINESE COMMUNISTS WHO CAPTURED THE MANCHURIAN CAPITAL.)

BY TOM MASTERSON

CHANGCHUN, MAY 7-(DELAYED)-(AP)-A HIGH CHINESE COMMUNIST GENERAL DECLARED TODAY HIS PARTY WAS WILLING TO ALLOW THE "COMMON PEOPLE" AMONG 1,500,000 JAPANESE SETTLERS TO REMAIN IN MANCHURIA.

"THE COMMUNIST PARTY IS NOT AGAINST THE COMMON PEOPLE (JAPANESE) WHO ARE MAKING A HUMBLE LIVING REMAINING IN MANCHURIA," SAID GEN. CHOW PAO-CHUNG, CONQUEROR OF THIS MANCHURIAN CAPITAL.

CHOW, WHO HAS BEEN NAMED COMMUNIST GOVERNOR OF KIRIN PROVINCE IN WHICH CHANGCHUN IS LOCATED, SAID THE COMMUNISTS WERE NOT OPPOSED TO THE POTSDAM DECLARATION CALLING FOR REPATRIATION OF JAPANESE.

THEIR CHIEF CONCERN IS TO RETURN TO JAPAN THE WAR CRIMINALS WANTED BY THE ALLIED POWERS, CHOW ADDED, AND NOT TO UPROOT THE "COMMON PEOPLE."

"WE ACCEPT THE REPATRIATION OF THE JAPANESE PROVIDED IT IS DONE UNDE A COALITION GOVERNMENT," CHOW CONTINUED.

"OTHERWISE, THE COMMUNISTS FEAR THE KUOMINTANG (GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI-SHEK'S NATIONALIST PARTY) WILL TRY TO ORGANIZE THE JAPANESE.

EIGHT MONTHS AFTER JAPAN'S SURRENDER, NO MOVE HAS BEEN MADE TO REPATRIATE ANY OF THE JAPANESE SETTLERS WHO MOVED IN BEHIND THE CONQUERING ARMIES OF JAPAN IN 1931.

NEITHER THE RUSSIANS DURING THEIR OCCUPATION OF MANCHURIA NOR THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS WHO CLAIM TO CONTROL 70 PERCENT OF THE TERRITORY HAVE TAKEN ANY STEPS TO COMPLY WITH THE POTSDAM DECLARATION.

WHILE THE RUSSIANS OCCUPIED MANCHURIA, THE U.S. ARMY OFFERED TO REPATRIATE THE JAPANESE, SAYING IT HAD THE PERSONNEL AND FACILITIES ALREADY SET UP IN THE REST OF CHINA.

A98KX

THE RUSSIANS APPARENTLY TOOK NO NOTICE OF THE OFFER. ALTHOUGH THEY ADMITTED THAT JAPANESE SOLDIERS HAD BEEN TAKEN FROM MANCHURIA TO SIBERIA TO WORK CAMPS.

THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS HAVE NO FACILITIES NOW TO TRANSPORT JAPANESE OUT OF MANCHURIA, ALTHOUGH MANY OF THE SETTLERS ARE ANXIOUS TO GO HOME.

TWO DAYS AFTER COMMUNISTS CAPTURED CHANGCHUN, A JAPANESE COMMUNIST NEWSPAPER HERE PROPOSED THAT THE JAPANESE BE RETURNED TO JAPAN IF THEY WERE WILLING TO GO.

"THE JAPANESE WILL BE TREATED ON AN EQUAL BASIS UNDER THE NEW DEMOCRACY," THE NEWSPAPER SAID, "AND ONLY THIS NEW DEMOCRACY CAN HELP LIBERATE THE JAPANESE AGAIN."

CHANGCHUN BY TOM MASTERSON

CHANGCHUN, MAY 7-(DELAYED)-(AP)-CITING A GREAT NEED FOR BOTH FOREIGN CAPITAL AND TECHNICIANS, GEN. PENG CHENG, SECRETARY-GENERAL OF THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS' NORTHEAST BUREAU, TODAY UNOFFICIALLY OPENED THE DOOR OF COMMUNIST MANCHURIA TO AMERICAN BUSINESS.

HE SAID U.S. BUSINESS COULD OPERATE IN MANCHURIA TO THE BENEFIT OF BOTH AMERICAN CAPITAL AND MANCHURIA, OF WHICH THE COMMUNISTS CLAIM TO CONTROL 70 PERCENT.

HE TOLD INTERVIEWERS THE COMMUNISTS, WITHIN FIVE MONTHS AFTER THE CESSATION OF MANCHURIA'S CIVIL STRIFE, WOULD ELIMINATE ONE OF THE BIG HINDRANCES TO FOREIGN BUSINESS BY UNIFYING THE MONETARY SYSTEM. ONLY COMMUNIST NORTHEAST (MANCHURIA) CURRENCY WOULD BE USED.

(PENG'S STATEMENT SEEMED TO TAKE IT FOR GRANTED THAT THE COMMUNISTS WOULD BE GIVEN VIRTUAL CONTROL OF MANCHURIA IN ANY SETTLEMENT WITH THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT.)

THE NORTHEAST NOTES, VALUED AT 1 TO 13 CHINESE NATIONAL CURRENCY, WOULD BE BACKED BY BOTH GOLD AND COMMODITIES, PENG SAID. THIS STABILIZATION OF THE MONETARY SYSTEM WOULD BE MAINTAINED THROUGH SALE OF COMMODITIES. THE CURRENCY IS ISSUED BY THE COMMUNISTS' NORTHEAST BANK.

PENG STIPULATED THAT THE COMMUNISTS WOULD COOPERATE WITH THE UNITED STATES ECONOMICALLY PROVIDING THERE IS NO VIOLATION OF CHINESE SOVEREIGNTY.

HE SAID THAT IF AMERICAN CAPITAL WANTS TO INVEST IN MANCHURIA IT WOULD HAVE TO DEAL WITH THE COMMUNIST GOVERNMENT AT YENAN UNTIL A CHINESE COALITION GOVERNMENT IS ORGANIZED.

EXPRESSING OPTIMISM OVER THE POSSIBILITY OF TRADE BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND MANCHURIA, PENG TOLD CORRESPONDENTS THAT MANCHURIA HAS A SURPLUS OF SOY BEANS, LEATHER, FUR AND SILK AND NEEDS SUCH AMERICAN PRODUCTS AS MACHINERY AND COTTON CLOTH.

ABOARD USS MT. MCKINLEY, MAY 8-(AP)-THIS FLAGSHIP SET OUT TODAY FROM SAN FRANCISCO TO FATHOM SOME OF THE MYSTERIES OF THE ATOMIC BOMB AND ITS INFLUENCE ON TOMORROW'S NAVY.

FIRST PORT OF CALL FOR THE MT. MCKINLEY, AMPHIBIOUS COMMAND SHIP OF THE ATOM BOMB TEST EXPEDITION, WAS PEARL HARBOR, WHERE VIRTUALLY ALL THE 74 TARGET SHIPS WERE RIDING AT ANCHOR, AWAITING INSPECTION BEFORE THEY PROCEEDED TO THE BOMB'S BULLS' EYE AT BIKINI.

THIRTY-THREE SHIPS, MAINLY TRANSPORTS, COMMAND SHIPS, OBSERVER VESSELS AND SUPPLY CRAFT, AWAITED SAILING DATES IN WEST COAST PORTS. AT PEARL HARBOR, BIKINI OR EN ROUTE WERE 177 OTHERS.

THE FINAL, FULL DRESS REHEARSAL IS SCHEDULED FOR ABOUT JUNE 25, WHEN EACH OF THE 42,000 MEN INVOLVED WILL PLAY HIS PART--IN THE BOMBER, IN INSTRUMENT PLANES, IN SHIPS.

TASK FORCE OFFICIALS SAY THAT THE TWO PRIME PURPOSES OF THE EXPERIMENT ARE TO "MEASURE THE BOMB AS A BOMB," (ITS DAMAGE AND NUCLEAR EFFICIENCY) AND TO DETERMINE ITS EFFECT ON SHIPS. THE EXPERIMENT ALSO WILL INCLUDE TESTS AGAINST THE EQUIPMENT USED BY LAND ARMIES--TANKS, ORDNANCE, SUPPLIES.

MANY IN POSITION TO KNOW DO NOT BELIEVE THAT THIS SERIES OF TESTS, IN THEMSELVES, WILL DECIDE WHETHER NAVIES ARE OBSOLETE. WHAT THEY DO EXPECT IS EVIDENCE TO SHOW HOW WARSHIP DESIGN SHOULD BE CHANGED, WHAT TYPES OF SHIP CAN BEST COPE WITH THE BLAST OF A NUCLEAR FISSION BOMB, HOW FLEETS SHOULD BE DEPLOYED, BOTH TACTICALLY AND STRATEGICALLY, WHAT CHANGES SHOULD BE MADE IN THE LOCATION AND CONSTRUCTION OF THE BIG FLEET BASES.

DELIBERATE CARE IS BEING TAKEN THAT NOT ALL SHIPS BE DESTROYED. THE TARGET IS BEING ARRAYED SO THAT THE DAMAGE WILL BE GRADED, FROM MAXIMUM DESTRUCTION AT THE CENTER TO A MERE SINGEING OF PAINT AT THE PERIMETERS.

AT THE BULL'S EYE WILL BE THE 30 YEAR OLD VETERAN BATTLEWAGON NEVADA, PAINTED A BRILLIANT ORANGE TO HELP THE BOMBARDIER'S AIM. ABOUT HER, IN A 1,000 YARD RADIUS, WILL BE CLUSTERED AN ASSORTMENT OF OTHER VESSELS NUMBERING PERHAPS 23.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN?

PERFORMANCE RECORDS OF THE THREE OTHER A-BOMBS ALREADY EXPLODED SUGGEST POSSIBILITIES.

THE NEVADA MAY RECEIVE A SLEDGE-LIKE BLOW FROM ABOVE, EXERTING A PRESSURE OF HUNDREDS OF TONS ON HER HORIZONTAL SURFACES, TENDING TO SHOVE HER DOWN INTO THE WATER. HOWEVER, THE DENSITY OF WATER WILL HOLD HER STRUCTURE UP AGAINST THE BLAST, PRODUCING AN ANVIL EFFECT THAT MAY CRUSH HER DECKS AND BREAK HER FRAME. THE SHOCK OF THE EXPLOSION PROBABLY WILL TEAR LOOSE OBJECTS WITHIN HER, CONVERTING THEM INTO PROJECTILES TO PRODUCE ADDED DAMAGE.

THERE WILL BE HEAT--MILLIONS OF DEGREES, BUT OF SHORT DURATION. HERE WILL BE A TEST FOR ANY CARRIER WITHIN RANGE OF THE FIRST, SPLIT-SECOND AND VIOLENT BLAST OF HEAT AND THEN THE FOLLOW-UP HEAT WHILE THE BALL OF FIRE CREATED BY NUCLEAR FISSION HOVERS FOR A MEASURABLE INTERVAL OVER THE SCENE. THE WOOD OF A CARRIER'S DECK PROBABLY WILL BE VULNERABLE TO THIS HEAT.

THE ATOMIZING EFFECT ON SMALL METAL MATERIAL WILL BE CLOSELY STUDIED AT THE ALAMOGORDO TEST LAST JULY IT WAS NOTED THAT TELEPHONE WIRE DISAPPEARED. SUCH REACTION WOULD BE SERIOUS TO THE NERVE SYSTEM OF A SHIP--THE RADIO AERIALS AND RADAR EQUIPMENT IN EXPOSED POSITIONS.

King Vittorio Emmanuel Abdicates in Italy, Sails to Exile as Umberto Takes Throne

NAPLES, May 9 — (AP) Vittorio Emanuel III, tired little king of Italy, formally abdicated in favor of his son Umberto the throne he has held for almost 46 years and sailed tonight with his queen, Elena, into voluntary exile.

A communique issued at Quirinale palace just before midnight said, "as soon as the new king (Crown Prince Umberto) has returned to Rome, official cognizance will be given the Council of Ministers."

In Rome a minister of the Royal house said Umberto would issue a proclamation after a special cabinet meeting tomorrow morning.

Blamed for Reverses

Once idolized by his people, the 76-year-old monarch was blamed with the downfall of Mussolini for sharing responsibility for Italy's woes, and many Italians long have demanded his abdication.

He had succeeded to the throne July 29, 1900, when his father, Umberto I, was assassinated near Milan.

Crown Prince Umberto, who was appointed lieutenant-general of the realm by his father nearly two years ago, was expected to assume the title of King Umberto II.

Umberto spent the entire afternoon at the royal villa in discussions with his father and other members of the royal family. A cordon of carabinieri was thrown across the entrance to the villa, and the port area was also closely guarded.

Sail Aboard Cruiser

The abdication act was signed at 3:15 p.m., and four hours later the King and Queen boarded the cruiser Duke of Abruzzi. It sailed shortly after 8 p.m., escorted by two destroyers, with the King's destination reliably reported to be Egypt.

It was a moving scene as the tiny King and the tall Queen said farewell to intimates who went shipside with them. Several wept. But the departing monarch and the Queen were dry-eyed and serene, as was Umberto.

The commander of the modern cruiser, which had been scheduled to go to Port Said to pick up Italian war prisoners, received orders three days ago to have steam up for a "special mission," it was learned.

Since then there had been much activity aboard, with brasswork shined to a high polish.

Two launches brought the royal passengers and their baggage out to the cruiser, which circled the Gulf of Naples a half hour before steaming out to sea.

Italy will vote June 2 to decide whether it wants a monarchy or republic. It had been predicted that King Vittorio would step down in hopes of strengthening the chances for Umberto to keep the throne for the House of Savoy.

A royal household informant in Rome said that Umberto would return to the capital tonight with the instrument of abdication signed by his father.

Allies Informed

It was reported that Allied authorities had been advised of the King's "irrevocable" decision to surrender the throne.

In Rome, Rear Admiral Ellery Stone, head of the Allied commission in Italy, confirmed that the Italian government had kept the Allies informed of all developments in connection with the abdication, but added he regarded it as "entirely an Italian matter" and that any formal announcement must come from Italian sources.

In yielding his throne, King Vittorio Emmanuel paid the final bitter price for surrendering 24 years earlier to Mussolini and Fascism.

It was the aged monarch's last desperate effort to salvage the House of Savoy for his son Umberto. For two years, he had been a King in name only, after surrendering his royal prerogatives to Umberto as lieutenant general of the realm when the Allies captured Rome.

Deserted Nazis

His last days of power had been marked by a veritable game of hide and seek with the Germans. In collaboration with old Marshal Badoglio, he had given over Italy to the Allies, only to see the Germans turn it into a battleground.

When he finally found asylum with the Allies he had fought, he started denouncing Mussolini and Hitler and trying to repair some of their actions in Italy. But it was too late. While Allied armies painfully advanced north, Vittorio Emmanuel was greeted wherever he showed himself with cries demanding his abdication.

He finally found peace and relative security in a small, unpretentious but comfortable villa near Naples—a borrowed villa, loaned by an aide of Umberto.

He had been an idol of the Italians after the first World war, when he led his country against the German and Austria-Hungary. He won a reputation as a sympathetic monarch, interested in his people's welfare.

But when the strident Mussolini took power as premier, the war and influence of Vittorio Emmanuel went into gradual eclipse. He acquiesced to Mussolini's demands that led to a Fascist dictatorship, although Badoglio was at his side in October, 1922, willing to smash the upstart with a regiment of troops.

The King remained in the background during the bombastic days of Italian Fascism, allowing Mussolini to dub him "Emperor of Ethiopia" after that warm-up campaign in the great war. But when Mussolini fell from power as the Allies moved up the Italian boot, Vittorio Emmanuel turned against him, named Badoglio premier and denounced the "Fascist republic" which Mussolini formed in northern Italy after the Germans rescued the dictator from imprisonment.

BYRNES, MOLOTOV CLASH ON PACTS

U. S. Official Battles for Plan to Call 21-Nation Peace Conference.

PARIS, May 9—(AP)—James F. Byrnes, U. S. Secretary of State, and Russia's foreign minister, V. M. Molotov, battled verbally for two hours today on an American proposal to call a 21-nation peace conference June 15. Without agreement, the foreign ministers conference finally adjourned until tomorrow.

Against vigorous American opposition, Molotov sought to require a four-power accord on all treaties as a preliminary to opening a peace conference, American sources said.

Amends Byrnes Proposal

Molotov presented the Russian position in the form of an amendment to Byrnes' original plan. The Russian proposed that the ministers of the United States, Britain, Russia and France meet again June 5 and pass treaty drafts on to the full 21-nation conference "when they have agreed on the treaty drafts."

The American Secretary of State countered with a proposal to amend the Russian amendment, inserting the words, "as far as possible," after the word "agreed." He argued that otherwise the ministers by their disagreements would be preventing other governments of the world from going ahead on treaty making.

At this point Molotov, British sources said, accused the United States of backtracking on the Moscow agreement of three foreign ministers last December. He said according to these sources, that the U.S., Britain and Russia had decided then that the ministers would have to draft and agree on the treaties before submitting them to a general peace parley. Byrnes' proposal, he contended, "emasculated" the Moscow accord and was unacceptable to the Soviet Union.

Compromise Offered

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin sought to heal the breach between the U. S. and Russia with a compromise proposal that the ministers submit first drafts of treaties, along with an outline of points of disagreement, to the large peace conference, with the understanding that the Big Four must agree before they are signed.

This would mean, in effect, that the Big Four would bind themselves to agree on Italian, Balkan and Finnish treaties, after the large peace conference, instead of before it. It would presumably give the smaller nations a more influential voice in framing treaties.

Molotov objected to this, saying the council had to abide by the Moscow agreement, which he contended once again required the four nations to agree among themselves first.

Earlier the deputy foreign ministers presented their report on their chiefs' results to date. These included, it was reported, 19 agreements, including seven on Italy, three on Romania, three on Bulgaria, four on Hungary and two on Finland.

They did not enumerate the items of disagreement.

Minor Points Settled

Most of the agreements concerned minor points of treaties and several were repetitious in that the same issue was present in more than one treaty. Thus, it was said in British quarters, the council really had agreed only on about 10 minor points.

It was believed discussion of the Byrnes' proposal will continue at tomorrow's session, scheduled for 10 a. m. (5 p. m. Eastern Standard Time.). In any event before adjourning the ministers decided to take up a list of discords tomorrow and go over them one by one in a final attempt to achieve unity. This apparently will be done before the ministers take up the controversial German problem, which France has asked the council to consider in connection with her demands for detachment of the Ruhr and Rhineland.

Meanwhile, sources at the conference said the United States and Britain have refused Russia's demand for one of Italy's two new battleships, both 35,000 ton sluggers.

This disagreement was said to be one of several important points in the naval clauses in the Italian treaty upon which the naval experts of the four powers were approaching a deadlock.

The ministers were reported agreed on 45 as the minimum number of warships to be left to Italy, but were bogging down on the attempt to translate figures into decisions on specific vessels.

France supported Byrnes's suggestion but Russia demurred. All three said they would have to consult their governments.

An American delegate said the United States did not believe it necessary to submit a hard and fast treaty to the peace conference, but that drafts should be turned over to the conference as a basis for work.

The British, at first strongly opposed to Byrnes's proposal to lighten the armistice burden on defeated nations, were reported falling in line as it became apparent that the peace treaties could not be written quickly.

Prior to the conference, Russia had stated no objections to armistice revisions and French sources said France would support Byrnes, who was said to be ready to press the issue.

Trieste Study Ended

Meantime, it was learned that a four-power committee of experts had abandoned for the present proposals for international administration of Trieste because Russia insisted the city's sovereignty be decided first.

The question of Italian reparations—which brought about the split yesterday leading to Byrnes's peace conference proposal—received further attention today when the United States and Britain suggested that Italy's reparations payments come from foreign assets and surplus wartime industrial equipment only.

Russia has demanded that reparations payments—totalling $300,000,000, with a third to the Soviet Union and the remainder to Greece, Yugoslavia and Albania—come from current production.

Easier-Armistice Hope Lightens Paris Gloom

Paris, May 9 (AP)—Prospects for adoption of an American proposal to ease armistice terms for Europe's vanquished nations improved today as the Foreign Ministers' Council began its third week of conferences amid an otherwise generally pessimistic atmosphere.

On the agenda was United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes's suggestion that the Big Four Foreign Ministers recognize their present failure and shift the drafting of peace treaties to a 21-nation conference, which it was thought might last six months.

The deputy foreign ministers, meanwhile, continued listing their apparently complete disagreement on most major points of the peace-treaty drafts in a balance sheet to be presented later in the day. The balance sheet was called for following Byrnes's proposal for a general European peace conference in Paris on June 15.

Reminder Of Promise

Byrnes told the conferees yesterday that the Ministers at Moscow last December promised the world a peace conference. Britain and this meant a split of Europe into Soviet and Western spheres.

Denies Any Policy Change

Mr. Truman also told reporters he had not heard about any drastic change in American policy toward Russia because of the disagreements on major European peace issues that the Paris meeting has produced.

And, he remarked sharply, the President makes the foreign policies.

Mr. Truman was asked, too, whether he knew of the existence of a German army in the British zone of occupation in Germany. He said he did not think there is one.

Comments On Hindsight

The questioner had referred to articles by Walter Lippmann, New York Herald Tribune columnist, on conditions in Germany as a result of a personal study of conditions there.

Mr. Truman said he had read the articles and by way of comment remarked that hindsight is a great thing.

A reporter wanted to know whether in this case "hindsight is accurate." Mr. Truman said he couldn't answer that, that he hadn't been to Germany himself.

Diplomats' View

Diplomatic authorities here, taking a pessimistic view of the Foreign Ministers' meeting, expect impending developments to complete the cleavage between the areas of Russian dominance and those under the influence of the Western powers, headed by the United States and Britain.

A final factor, they believe, will be Britain's announcement in the next few days of support for Secretary Byrnes's proposal for long-range control of Germany—a proposal sharply assailed in the Soviet press.

Foreign Minister Bevin reportedly was cool to the Byrnes idea at first but upon study was said to have revised his opinion.

The Byrnes Idea

Byrnes advocated a 25-year treaty among the United States, Britain, Russia and France to keep Germany from making war again. Russia immediately objected.

Byrnes took the treaty proposal to Paris in the hope that if all other methods of establishing peace in Europe seemed to be failing he could at least win Big Four agreement on a formula for removing Germany from the arena of power politics. At worst, he believed the treaty proposal would provide a test of the willingness of the powers to try to agree.

Signs Of Wider Rift

Russia's reaction to the proposal has served to make it, in the American and British view, a symbol of the long-feared split, foreshadowing Europe's division into competing spheres of influence.

Indications point to an intensification of the differences between Russia and the Western powers in the United Nations Security Council and in the handling of various related issues in Asia and Europe.

This disharmony is one of the fundamental conditions for building fears, hatreds and ambitions that could lead to a new war.

Sees Need of Good Will.

Moscow, May 9 (A. P.).—Difficulties blocking progress by the Foreign Ministers Council could be overcome by good will, Tass said today in a Paris dispatch.

"The difficulties are connected with an obvious lack of desire on the part of the American and English delegations to understand that one should not try to enforce his will on other participants in negotiations," the official Soviet news agency asserted.

Danes Seek Voice on Germany

COPENHAGEN, May 9 (AP) — Foreign Minister Gustaf Rasmussen said today that Denmark had asked the Foreign Ministers' conference in Paris not to "make any decision on Germany's northern border until Denmark has been consulted."

Truman Disputes Paris 'Failure'

Washington, May 9 (AP)—President Truman told his news conference today that he did not yet consider the Foreign Ministers' conference in Paris a failure.

When the time comes that it has broken down, he said, Secretary of State Byrnes will be authorized to make an announcement.

Some diplomatic authorities here, however, took the view that the conference had failed and that

Mr. Molotov And 'Yes'

Paris, May 9 (AP)—Senator Tom Connally (D., Texas) asked Russian Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov at a party at the United States Embassy last night if he could say "yes" in any language.

Nikolai Pavlov, the Soviet interpreter, laughed so hard at the question that he was unable to translate immediately. When he did, Molotov also burst into laughter.

But he didn't say "yes."

Churchill Urges 2 New 'U.S. Of Europe'

The Hague, May 9 (AP)—Winston Churchill expressed the hope before The Netherlands Parliament today that the western democracies might draw together "in an ever closer association" and suggested two United States of Europe, in the West and East.

He came here at the invitation of Queen Wilhelmina to speak on the eve of the fifth anniversary of the German invasion of Holland.

He said the more effective the bonds of friendship were between the great powers, the more effective would be the safeguard against another war.

Tributes United States

He paid tribute to the United States in these words:

"Had not our friends from beyond the ocean come with powerful weapons to our aid, perhaps all Europe would have fallen into darkness."

He added, however, that had the United States taken an active part in the League of Nations and if the League had been prepared to use force to prevent German rearmament, there would have been no need of the last World War.

Prosperity And Peace

"I see no reason," he declared, "why under the guardianship of a world organization there should not arise the United States of Europe, both of the East and of the West, which will unify this continent in a manner never known since the Roman Empire.

"It will give you prosperity, justice and peace."

His statement evoked long applause.

Strengthen United Nations

"These special alliances between nations, far from weakening the structure of the United Nations, should make the United Nations indivisible and invincible," the former Prime Minister of Britain declared.

"It is evident that the affairs of the British Commonwealth are becoming ever closer with those of the United States. There can be nothing but good for the whole world from such a close friendship."

Churchill said Britain's twenty-year treaty of friendship with the Soviet Union "will also be a guarantee for peace."

Protect Small States

"We welcome the proposed treaty of friendship with France," Churchill added, and expressed the hope that "the Western democracies of Europe may draw together in closer association."

He called for affirmation "of the sanctity of smaller states."

"The duty of large powers in the modern world is to see that those rights are protected," he said. "It is the purpose of the United Nations organization to make sure that the force of right will be protected by the right of force."

SECURITY COUNCIL TO RESUME WORK ON SPANISH CASE

NEW YORK, May 9—(AP) The Polish delegation worked today to strengthen its case against Franco Spain in preparation for a fifth meeting tomorrow of the United Nations Security council sub-committee investigating Spain.

A Polish spokesman said the delegation was busy all day on details of the Spanish case, which Poland put before the Security council last month with a demand that the United Nations break relations with Generalissimo Francisco Franco. Poland charged that Franco's regime was a menace to world peace and was harboring Nazi scientists and war criminals.

Requests Information

The sub-committee has requested every member of the United Nations organization to submit information on Franco.

Added ammunition for Poland was expected this week-end when Jose Giral, premier of the Spanish Republicans exiled in Paris, arrives from Paris, perhaps Saturday. Giral said in London last Monday he would bring to the sub-committee a "complete report and eight annexed documents showing that Franco's regime is a danger to world peace." The sub-committee has until May 31 to report.

A sense of keen disappointment over Russia's boycott of the Iranian case permeated the Security council today.

A spokesman for one delegation voiced what United Nations observers said was the general view of the council when he said his delegate was "disappointed" because Russia failed to attend yesterday's 10th council meeting, called to receive reports on Iran, and because the Russians completely ignored the council request for a report by May 6 on the Red army withdrawal from Iran.

Iran Report Awaited

This spokesman said the only course now left on the Iranian case was to await a report from Iran on the withdrawal of the Russians. The council yesterday asked Iran to make a report by May 20, if not before, on the situation.

There was no word when the next council meeting would be held.

Work continued meantime, among the commissions meeting at Hunter college to prepare reports and recommendations for the May 25 meeting of the United Nations Economic and Social council.

The sub-committee on the status of women approved recommendations for "strong measures to put down traffic in women and children" and the abolition of prostitution. Its report will be studied by the Commission on Human Rights, which is drawing up a report for the economic and social council.

Final Iran Report Expected Soon

New York, May 9 (AP)—Iranian sources indicated today—amid a stony Soviet silence—that they hoped to report soon and conclusively to the United Nations Security Council on the departure of Russian troops from Iran.

The Iranians appeared satisfied with the Council's action yesterday in deferring further discussion of the Soviet-Iranian issue until May 20 to obtain fuller information on which to determine its next move.

As Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala prepared to return to Washington today, a spokesman for Iran said he expected a "conclusive" report from his Government well before May 20.

Stettinius Makes Motion

The Council, in the face of Russian Delegate Andrei Gromyko's boycott of yesterday's meeting and the continuing silence of Moscow on the Council's request for information on Iran, decided not to call on Russia again for the status of Red Army withdrawals.

Instead, on the motion of United States Delegate Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., it took into account "the communication and travel difficulties in that remote area" and asked Iran to supplement her preliminary report on May 6 as soon as possible or report any information whatever not later than May 20.

Only Azerbaijan In Doubt

Ala reported in a memorandum to the Council Monday night that four northern provinces had been cleared, but that interference in Azerbaijan prevented Iran from ascertaining whether the evacuation there was complete.

The Council adjourned without setting a date for its next meeting after a 43-minute session at which the Russian boycott brought from Australian Delegate Paul Hasluck the assertion that "it seems the Soviet Government has ignored this Council."

Hasluck demanded that the Council "obtain from the absent member a clearer idea of what he claims is the effect of his absence."

Cadogan Disagrees

Britain's Sir Alexander Cadogan discounted Hasluck's contention that the absence of a member, even one with veto power, might stall the Council completely.

United Nations activities today were limited to routine committee meetings while the Security Council's subcommittee on Spain prepared for a session tomorrow.

Senators Welcome U. N. to Connecticut

Hartford, Conn., May 9. (A. P.).—The Connecticut Senate adopted a resolution today welcoming "with pleasure" the United Nations to this State. The resolution similar in intent to one adopted yesterday by the House, said that establishment of U. N. headquarters in the State would make Connecticut "the seat of the greatest attempt in history to make permanent the peace of the world."

Plane Outmoded U-Boat, Says Doenitz

Nuernberg, May 9 (AP)—Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz testified today that air power had almost rendered the submarine obsolete as a weapon of attack and declared that in his opinion plane-directing radar, "next to the atom bomb, was the most decisive weapon of this war."

He cited to the International Military Tribunal the tremendous dangers faced by U-boats from air attack as justification for his order, already introduced by the prosecution, forbidding submarines to attempt any rescue of survivors of torpedoed ships.

"One moment the U-boat commander's situation would appear clear, the next moment hopeless," he said. "A U-boat needs one minute to dive while an airplane, on the average, flies 6,000 meters (3.72 miles) in one minute. . . .

Helpless Under Air Attack

"Rescue work interrupts a submarine's state of alertness and therefore a U-boat attempting it is helpless in the face of air attack."

Radar-directed planes compelled the Germans to develop the Schnorkel tube, a breather device which enabled U-boats to charge their batteries under water and "travel from Germany to Japan without surfacing at all," Doenitz said.

Earlier, the Admiral told the tribunal that Adolf Hitler proposed in May, 1942, that U-boats kill survivors of torpedoed ships at the scene but that the German Navy refused.

The Führer complained, Doenitz testified, that a large percentage of Allied ship crews was being rescued to fight again.

Rejected "Unequivocally"

"He asked whether some action might be taken but I rejected that unequivocally and said the only possibility was to develop a quicker detonator for quicker sinking of ships," Doenitz asserted.

He said U-boats had instructions to rescue survivors when it was not dangerous to the undersea craft, and "I am of the opinion that I lost ships through rescue work—of course, I can't prove that."

The prosecution has offered a document intended to show that Hitler promised Lieut. Gen. Hiroshi Oshima, then Japanese Ambassador to Germany, on January 3, 1942, that he would order the killing of Allied ship crews. Doenitz declared, however, that Hitler never issued such an order.

Doenitz Says War Had to Go On

Asserts It Was Prolonged to Save Millions From Death at Hands of Reds.

Nuernberg, May 9 (A. P.).—Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, the man who surrendered Germany, testified before the International Military Tribunal today that millions of German lives were saved by prolonging the war until last spring, so that Germans could flee from the Russian armies and reach sanctuary in the west.

"It was painful to go on fighting" and to take a loss of from 300,000 to 400,000 additional lives through the "bombing of our cities" in those same months, but Germany had to continue to preserve the Eastern Front from the winter months until the spring of 1945 because a break there would have meant "the extermination of the people behind the front," Doenitz declared, adding: "We knew that from practical experience."

The Allied bombing of Dresden "cannot be justified on a military basis," he flatly declared, but the loss of life in that destroyed city "was small compared with the millions of Germans who would have been lost in the East if we had capitulated during the winter."

[Dresden was hit by British and American bombers in three heavy raids in fourteen hours on February 14, 1945.]

To Save German People.

Doenitz said that he was motivated by "the same basic principle, to save the German people," when he made contact with Field Marshal Montgomery on May 2, 1945, to surrender German troops in Denmark and Holland and began overtures for a final surrender to Gen. Eisenhower.

The witness testified that he received a radio message from Adolf Hitler's headquarters on April 30, 1945, announcing that Hitler had "designated me his successor and authorized me to take all measures necessary." The next day, however, another message informed him, he said, that he was to become Reichspresident with Joseph Goebbels as Chancellor and with key Government posts going to Martin Bormann, Hitler's missing deputy, and to Arthur Seyss-Inquart, now on trial with Doenitz. He said he ignored the second message because it was contradictory to the first and because "under no circumstances would I have agreed to collaborate with the people mentioned with the exception of Seyss-Inquart."

Hitler's last political testament never reached him, Doenitz declared, and he never heard of it until he read of its discovery some months ago. He added that he had never had the slightest thought of being chosen to succeed Hitler.

Under Cross-Examination.

The direct examination of Doenitz finished today and cross-examination was started by the British Prosecutor. Under this questioning, Doenitz denied knowledge of slave labor, concentration camps and mass murders.

Earlier today, Doenitz said that he believed that air power had almost made the submarine obsolete as a weapon of attack, and that plane-directing radar "next to the atomic bomb, was the most decisive weapon of this war."

Hitler, he testified, had proposed in 1942 that U-boats kill survivors of torpedoed ships at the scene so that they could not be rescued to fight again, but he said that the German Navy had refused this idea. Dangers to U-boats from air attacks were so great, he added, that an order forbidding German submarine commaanders to attempt to rescue survivors of torpedoings was justified.

RED CELEBRATION DIMMED BY FEAR OF NEW WARFARE

MOSCOW, May 9—(AP) The official newspapers Izvestia and Pravda today warned Russians celebrating the anniversary of victory over Germany that "the menacing nightmare of a new war is looming" in the plans of international reactionaries.

Moscow's newpapers devoted their front pages almost entirely to commemorating the end of the war with Germany, and today was celebrated throughout the Soviet Union as a major holiday.

An editorial in Izvestia, appearing beside a large picture of Generalissimo Stalin, declared that "peoples of the world know from experience that the Soviet Union is the main obstacle in the way of the reactionary clique which is rearing up plans for a new war.

"That is why freedom-loving peoples see in the Soviet Union the stronghold of their own security," the government organ said. They rely with confidence not only on the might but on the just character of the abiding principle and unchanging policy of the Soviet Union—the policy of equality and friendship between peoples."

Pravda, official newspaper of the Communist party, also warned about reactionaries and the danger of a new war. The Red Army, it said, is continuing its vigilance.

A Tass dispatch from Paris meanwhile declared that goodwill could overcome the problems blocking progress of the foreign ministers conference.

"The difficulties are connected with an obvious lack of desire on the part of the American and English delegations to understand that one should not try to enforce his will on other participants in negotiations," Tass said.

Izvestia, in an international review on its foreign page, charged that The London Sunday Times was "trying to enforce on the world the idea of hegemony, if not only of the British Empire, then at least of an Anglo-American bloc."

"Such propaganda contradicts the main tendencies of the freedom-loving peoples who have learned in the experience of the last war the simple truth that the hegemony of one country or any kind of bloc of countries is only the first step to a new war."

M'NARNEY HAILS CZECHO-SLOVAKS

Frankfurt, May 9 (A. P.).—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, commander of United States occupation forces in Germany, told the Czecho-Slovak people today in an address at Prague that America has "a continuing interest in Czecho-Slovakia. He spoke during an official visit to the Czecho-Slovak capital for the V-E Day anniversary celebration. His address was released by the United States Army's public relations division here.

"Americans have great respect for and interest in the proud history of Czecho-Slovakia," McNarney said. "We will remember the efforts of that great Czecho-Slovak statesman, Thomas G. Masaryk when, with his small group in Pittsburgh, Pa., he laid the foundation for the rebirth of Czecho-Slovakia as an independent nation."

The American commander declared that during the two world wars Czecho-Slovak-American relations were marked by continued friendly association, and "when the invader again plunged Europe into war American sympathy was wholly with the valiant Czecho-Slovak people."

"One year ago," he continued, "the armed forces of the United States under the leadership of a great American, Gen. George [illegible] Patton, brought hope again t this nation. . . . Then and now Americans have shown a continuing interest in the liberation rehabilitation and future development of a prosperous, independent and democratic Czecho-Slovakia."

75 War Orphans to Sail From Germany for U. S.

Are First Contingent of 2,000 Children, Some Nameless

FRANKFURT AM MAIN, May 9 (AP).—Seventy-five war orphans stranded in Germany without homes and parents and sometimes without known names or nationalities, will sail from Bremerhaven for the United States this week.

They are the first contingent of 2,000 such children gathered from war-wrecked German towns by the American Committee for the Care of European Children. The group headed by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Marshall Field, has offered them homes in America, and President Truman has expedited their immigration by a directive.

Either their parents were victims of Nazi persecution, or the children were abandoned. No country will claim the orphans, whose ages range from nine months to eighteen years.

Each child wears a tag bearing a name, probably chosen for him at random, and each represents a story that never will be fully known.

Some are badly undernourished, as is nine-month-old Fasil Krainik. His scrawny little body is topped by a pinched face that resembles an old man's. He was found deserted and nearly starved.

Their new and better life already has begun while they wait at Bremerhaven, for they are living in a sunny, toy-filled nursery.

U.S. Civilians Abroad Pay For Army Services

Frankfurt, Germany, May 9 (AP)—American and Allied civilians in Germany and Austria who have been getting many things and services for little or nothing from the United States Army will have to pay for such items as transportation and medical and other services from now on.

Newspaper correspondents and thousands of civilians employed by military-connected agencies are effected by the order. Previously they had been paying only for meals, clothing and post exchange supplies, as part of an army little-or-no-cost custom begun in wartime when no other facilities were available overseas.

Rates of $2 daily have been set for sleeping rooms, and medical calls now will cost $1 each, with hospitalization at $6 daily. Transportation charges will be 10 cents a mile in privately-hired vehicles and at regular civilian rates in railroad trains.

Deal For Duce's Body Rejected

Milan, Italy, May 9 (AP) — Two men have confessed stealing Mussolini's body, telling police they would disclose its whereabouts on the promise that the body would be reburied in the Mussolini family plot at Predappio, the prefect of Milan said today.

Authorities have not identified the two men.

Offer Turned Down

In Rome, Interior Minister Giuseppe Romita said the offer had been refused.

"The Government absolutely will not deal on this," he declared. "Do you think we want a national monument at Predappio?"

Romita said the "remains apparently are hidden in Milan." The body was taken from an unmarked grave in a Milan potter's field.

PRISONER SAYS HE STOLE DUCE'S BODY

Rome, May 9 (A. P.).—Giuseppe Romita, Minister of the Interior, said today that the theft of Benito Mussolini's body has been confessed by a man now in police custody, and that the "remains apparently are hidden in Milan." The man offered to turn it over to the police if he were assured that the corpse—exhumed from a Milan potter's field—would be buried in the family plot at Predappio, Romita continued, but this offer has been refused.

"The Government absolutely will not deal on this," he declared. "Do you think we want a national monument at Predappio?"

Romita declined to divulge the identity of the arrested man, saying that he was awaiting a full report from Milan where the man is now being held. An earlier dispatch from Genoa said that the police there had received information that Mussolini's body was aboard the Italian steamship Beatrice, which sailed yesterday for Livorno, where the authorities have been alerted.

Gen. Weygand Paroled From Military Hospital

Paris, May 9 (AP)—Gen. Maxime Weygand, 80, who commanded France's armies at the time of their collapse against the Axis in 1940, was freed on parole today from a military hospital. He had been held for investigation on charges of collaboration.

The examining commission of the French High Court of Justice said it took the measure because of Weygand's poor health and because detention was "no longer necessary" for the investigation.

TRUMAN BIRTHDAY MARKED IN BERLIN

Nuernberg, May 8 (Delayed) (A. P.).—A Soviet general, a member of the International Military Tribunal, flabbergasted the Americans today on a matter of dates.

At a luncheon on the anniversary of V-E day the legal staffs of the four Allied Powers participating in the war crimes trial assembled for an extra-special meal. As the fruit cup course arrived, it seemed a good idea to toast V-E day and Justice Robert H. Jackson, the chief American prosecutor, got up and proposed one.

"This day has an even greater significance to me," said Major-Gen. I. T. Nikitchenko, Russian member of the tribunal, holding aloft his glass of wine: "Let's drink instead to the birthday of the President of the United States, Mr. Harry Truman."

After the luncheon broke up, one American prosecutor turned to another and said: "Hey, where's that almanac? I never knew this was Truman's birthday." The book bore out Nikitchenko. It was the President's sixty-second birthday.

Azerbaijan Talks Break Down

Iranian Spokesman Says Northern Province Made Exaggerated Demands.

Tehran, May 8 (Delayed) (A. P.).—A special attorney for the Iranian Foreign Office said tonight that negotiations with a delegation representing the self-proclaimed autonomous government of Azerbaijan province had broken down because of "the exaggerated demands" of the Azerbaijan leaders.

The attorney said that Iranian Premier Ahmed Qavam had refused to meet the Azerbaijan demands "because he is conscientiously following the letter and spirit of constitutional law." The spokesman asserted that the Azerbaijan delegation was persisting in these demands "because of Russian sponsorship and the knowledge that the Red Army still backs them."

There still was no official information as to whether the Russians had withdrawn all their troops from Azerbaijan Province in fulfillment of a Soviet-Iranian agreement concluded on April 5. Prince Mozaffar Firouz, Iranian Propaganda Minister, was not in his office and a secretary said he was ill.

The Azerbaijan delegation, headed by Premier Jafar Pishevari of the autonomous regime, arrived here two weeks ago to begin negotiations looking toward a settlement of Azerbaijan's differences with the national government. Under the April 5 agreement Russia recognized the Azerbaijan problem as an "internal affair" to be settled by the Tehran Government. (The dispatch did not indicate whether Pishevari and his aids had left Tehran.)

The report of the breakdown coincided with a radio broadcast from Tabriz, Azerbaijan capital, which declared that "we have won our freedom by spilling our own blood and we will not give it up." The same broadcast said that an "unidentified plane" had been observed over the Rezaieh area about seventy-five miles southwest of Tabriz and added: "We will not be responsible if any plane flying into Azerbaijan in the future is shot down."

Earlier the Tehran newspaper Arman Milli published a report that Iranian troops had clashed with Kurdish tribesmen in Kurdistan and that Saujbulagh, capital of Ghazi Mohammed's "independent Kurdish Republic," had been bombed. Saujbulagh is about seventy-five miles south of Rezaieh.

Britain, Egypt Differ on Time Needed for Troops' Removal

CAIRO, May 9—(AP) A reliable source said today that Britain had asked a year's time to effect her proposed withdrawal of military forces from this crossroads of the British empire, while Egypt urged that the time be slashed to six months.

The first formal discussions on the British offer, made in connection with the contemplated revision of the 1936 British-Egyptian treaty of Alliance, ended early this afternoon without any announcement on whether progress had been achieved.

Previously British sources in London had estimated it would take five years to complete the removal of the British from their extensive Egyptian military installations guarding the Suez canal, vital empire link with Asia and the Pacific.

No date was set for the next formal session of the negotiators but Egyptian Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha invited both delegations to join him in a Sunday outing and talks at Mohamed Aly Barrages, a dam on the Nile.

Sidky Pasha has expressed the willingness of his country to negotiate a mutual assistance pact with Britain, and Lord Stansgate, head of the London delegation, declared the most vital subject before the conference was agreeing on arrangements necessary to make effective "the continuation of our alliance."

The British secretary of state for air asserted "today we fortify the military alliance which has brought us victory with a true union of hearts."

He called attention to the British offer for withdrawal from Egypt and said "it remains for us to liquidate the past by settling the program of our withdrawal."

Premier Sidky Pasha opened the conference with an expression of confidence in the sincere desire of both Britain and Egypt to work for complete independence of the Nile Kingdom.

He said that one of the first conditions for permanent and fruitful British-Egyptian friendship was complete independence of Egypt and respect of that independence.

He said "I am very hopeful of the result" of the conference and told the Egyptian delegates they would find in Lord Stansgate and British Ambassador Sir Ronald Campbell both a good spirit and realization of the facts involved for both countries.

Lord Stansgate said that the offer of the Egyptian government to provide armed forces for the United Nations was not a condition of the British withdrawal, and Egyptian sources confirmed his statement.

CAIRO PREMIER GREETS BRITONS AT CONFERENCE

Delegates Begin Negotiating Plan for Withdrawal From Egypt.

Cairo, May 9 (A. P.).—Negotiations for the withdrawal of British forces from Egypt began today in the police-guarded Egyptian Foreign Ministry. Reliable informants said the British were asking one year in which to get their forces out, while Egypt was urging that the withdrawal be completed in six months.

In the background was Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha's declaration to the Egyptian Parliament yesterday that he was willing to negotiate terms of a mutual assistance pact with Britain, one of the conditions Britain has set for the withdrawal of her military, naval and air forces after an occupation of sixty-four years. The Premier also told Parliament that Egypt would make armed forces and facilities, including the right of passage through her territory, available to the United Nations in accordance with the San Francisco charter.

To Liquidate the Past.

Sidky Pasha, who was celebrating his seventy-first birthday, opened today's formal discussions with a speech in which he expressed confidence in the sincere desire of both the British and Egyptian delegations to work for the complete independence of the Nile kingdom. During the preliminary negotiations that led to the British offer to withdraw, he said "we had at our disposal new ideas fostered by the war." Among these new ideas, he said, were the principle that everyone is boss in his own home, the principles of liberty and the principle of safeguarding them under a collective system.

Frail Lord Stansgate, British Secretary of State for Air and head of the delegation from London, replied: "Today we fortify the military alliance which has brought us victory with a true union of hearts. It remains for us to liquidate the past by settling the program of our withdrawal."

More important for the future, he added, was an agreement on arrangements for the continuation of our alliance.

Sidky Pasha, alluding to Britain's announced intention both to withdraw and to renew her alliance with Egypt, told the negotiators: "It is up to you gentlemen to build on the basis of these principles and I am very hopeful of the result."

Egypt's Own Idea.

The first session of the formal negotiations ended shortly after noon, and Sidky Pasha invited both delegations to join him on Sunday on an outing to Mohamed Aly Barrage, a dam on the Nile.

An Egyptian informant said Egypt's offer of armed forces to the United Nations was the Egyptian Government's idea and not one of the conditions for withdrawal of the British forces. He added that the offer "will be discussed in formal negotiations, but it is definitely the Egyptian Government's intention to do so, regardless of the conditions of withdrawal."

Lord Stansgate said: "We have known for some time that the Egyptian Government has intended to do this. As a matter of fact it is in the framework of the United Nations Charter. This was not a condition of British withdrawal of troops."

"negotiations on the future defense of the Suez Canal will be watched with anxiety by Australia and New Zealand."

The Sydney Sun asserted: "Conceding that Britain has the full right to dispose of her forces in the Middle East, the Pacific dominions must recognize the need to assume ever increasing responsibilities for their own security."

Richard Gardiner Casey, former British resident minister in the Middle East, said the move was "difficult to believe."

Strike Threat Diminishes

CAIRO, Egypt, May 9 (AP)—Threat of a general strike throughout Egypt tomorrow, which had been called by Moslem and Arab associations in protest against the Anglo-American report on Palestine, appeared to be breaking down today.

The Moslem Brotherhood, largest Moslem group in Egypt, agreed to observe the plea of the Arab League not to hinder the election of the Patriarch of the Coptic Church, which is scheduled to take place tomorrow.

There also is dissension among other Egyptian associations whether to call the strike.

The Arabic language newspaper Al Mokattam said it had "heard that the Russian Government has agreed to present the Palestine case before the United Nations with its full support."

However, Secretary General Abdul Rahman Azzam Pasha of the Arab League and other Arab officials said they had received no information about such a report.

Atiyah, secretary of the Arab office established here a year ago under the auspices of the Arab league, said that the possibility of an appeal to the United Nations Security council to settle the Arab-Jewish question was "now under serious consideration."

In Cairo the Arabs were preparing to observe a general strike tomorrow in protest against the recommendations of the British-American Committee of Inquiry on Palestine. Cairo will be out of bounds for British troops, but those on duty within the city will remain. The Cairo police and the Egyptian army were making special preparations to prevent any disorders which may flare during the strike.

Atiyah said Arabs feel that the inquiry committee's report was "very largely the result of American pressure."

"The issue was to a great extent prejudged by the wishes and declarations of President Truman and the American Congress.

"No Arab can be so simple-minded as to imagine that it was a mere coincidence that President Truman demanded and the committee recommended the immediate admission to Palestine of the same number of Jewish immigrants.

"The Arabs also know that this is an election year in the United States. They also know how sensitive the President and Congress are to the influence of the Jewish vote and of the Zionist pressure groups."

Empty Words, Reds Say

London, May 9 (AP)—The Communist Daily Worker scoffed at the "sovereign independence" of Egypt as empty words today and some London Conservative newspapers criticized the British offer to evacuate Egypt as a surrender of strategical advantages in maintaining an empire.

"The Empire must decide," said Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard.

"The decision, as it concerns every dominion, should have been made with every dominion's agreement. No further steps should be taken until Great Britain and the dominions, as equal partners, have agreed on a unanimous course."

Security "Surrendered"

The conservative Daily Sketch criticized the London Times as trying "to justify this surrender of British security and the sacrifice of imperial necessity."

The Daily Worker commented:

"The sovereign independence of Egypt, which the British Government recognized in name as long as 24 years ago, has never been real because of the economic domination and virtual military occupation exercised from this country. The economic dominance will remain. If, in fact, the troops do go, it must mean a strengthening of Egypt's national rights."

Attlee Criticized

The Daily Mail printed a cartoon of Prime Minister Attlee surrendering the Suez Canal.

The Daily Mail wrote of Attlee's statement to Commons:

"No more damaging admission has been made by a British Prime Minister on a matter of such supreme importance. Such a manner of conducting our imperial affairs may well result in a weakening of those ties of sentiment which are the only bonds of empire. The dominions may even begin to think that they have been sacrificed to British party politics."

Empire's Collapse Seen By Blamey

Sydney, Australia, May 9 (AP)—Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, wartime commander of Australian forces in the Middle East, expressed the opinion today that Britain's decision to withdraw her forces from Egypt would have a "disintegrating effect" on the Empire.

"I find it impossible to believe that Britain really intends to abandon control of the Eastern Mediterranean," Blamey said. "If the proposal is caried out, its far-reaching effects on Empire relationships must obviously have a disintegrating effect. We will be entering upon a new phase in Empire history."

Papers Concerned

Australian newspapers voiced editorial concern over Britain's decision.

The Melbourne Herald said

ARABS TO CONTEST JEWISH MIGRATION INTO HOLY LAND

LONDON, May 9—(AP) Edward Atiyah, secretary of the Arab office, declared today that Jewish immigration into Palestine would precipitate "perhaps a general clash throughout the Middle East," and said Arab resistance was already being prepared "on the widest possible scale."

Attacking the British-American recommendations for admitting 100,000 Jews to Palestine, Atiyah charged that Zionism was "a fraud practiced against the Arabs with foreign armed resistance," and that the Arabs would "use every means" in opposing it.

Viceregal Council Offers To Resign

Simla, India, May 9 (AP)—The Viceroy's Executive Council, India's equivalent of a cabinet, has tendered its resignation to King George in a step to aid the Simla conference on Indian independence, it was announced officially today.

Indian leaders and a three-man British Cabinet mission are negotiating here on self-government for India, and their conference appeared to take a brighter turn with the new announcement. The Britons and representatives of the Moslem League and All-India Congress party conferred more than an hour today and then recessed until Saturday.

Attlee's Pledge Noted

The gesture indicating that the present Executive Council would go was interpreted in some quarters as intending to show that Britain was determined to carry out Prime Minister Attlee's pledge of freedom for India.

[The India Office in London said the tendering of council resignations indicated that negotiations for bringing Indian nationalist leaders into the Government were nearing completion.]

The announcement said members of the council, including General Sir Claude Auchinleck, commander in chief of India, "have placed their portfolios at the disposal of his Majesty, the King, and the Viceroy in order to facilitate arrangements which the Cabinet mission and the Viceroy are seeking to make."

Ten Indians In Council

When he addressed the Indian Central Assembly last January, Viceroy Lord Wavell pledged "a new executive council formed of political leaders" as the first step toward a new constitution for India.

Ten Indians and five Britons, including Auchinleck as member for war and the Viceroy as ex-officio member, comprised the present executive council.

One purpose of the British Cabinet mission was to make the Indian representation more national in character by bringing in leaders of the Congress party, the Moslem League, and other groups.

INDIA CABINET QUITS

London, May 9 (A. P.).—A Reuters dispatch from Simla today said that all members of the Viceroy's Executive Council, India's equivalent of a cabinet, have offered their resignations as a first step toward forming a new and broader regime.

The India Office in London said that this indicated that the negotiations for bringing Nationalist leaders into the Government, conducted by the British Cabinet mission to India, were nearing completion.

EISENHOWER ASKS ARMY TO DEVELOP CHINA FRIENDSHIP

NANKING, May 9—(AP) General Eisenhower, arriving in this Chinese capital on an inspection trip, declared today the U. S. Army's sole aim in troubled China is "to promote the growth of friendship."

The Army chief of staff thus answered, indirectly at least, Chinese Communist critics who have been calling for U. S. land and sea forces to get out of China and to quit transporting government troops to the fighting zone in Manchuria.

"We still have the Army, Navy and Marines working hard together for a specific purpose—from a national point of view a selfish one," Eisenhower told a news conference.

Wants China as Friend

"We want China as a friend, so we are working hard. Our theory is that we go out to help people help themselves. We have no ulterior motives. We want to help them to develop according to their genius and methods.

"We want to promote the growth of friendship, which is the basis of all peaceful international relations."

Eisenhower went almost at once to the home of his war-time superior, General Marshal, who as special U. S. envoy to China is trying to end the fighting in Manchuria with a Government - Communist truce.

(Dispatches to newspapers in Peiping said fighting had erupted again in China proper with the Communists launching a "strong" assault on Weihsien, railway city in the seaboard province of Shantung 85 miles northwest of the U.S. Marine-occupied port of Tsingtao.

Fighting in Hopeh Province

(The dispatches asserted that other strong Communist forces attacked Government positions farther west in Hopeh province, captured two towns and looted a railroad station. Both, Shantung and Hopeh are on the Government supply route to Manchuria.

(Communist headquarters in Yenan charged that 35 Government armies totaling 95 divisions had moved into battle position or were already striking at Communist strongholds in north China and Manchuria in violation of the truce of last Jan. 10.)

Eisenhower told U.S. soldiers assigned to Nanking they would not be the "forgotten men of the world," but the Army still was plagued by the problem of replacements. He invited those who felt they are entitled to go home to speak to him personally.

Eisenhower had lunch with the Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-shek. His next stop on his inspection tour will be General MacArthur's headquarters in Tokyo.

told a quickly arranged [illegible] conference emphatically he was dissatisfied with the program for building a peacetime United States Army.

"We need men and they must be provided. Men in the service must not serve an unduly long time. They must have replacements. Something must be done to insure the accomplishment of this job."

He invited the troops to turn over their problems to his staff and said if they had any feeling that they should be going home, to speak to him personally because "I do not believe in running an impersonal army." He promised that the troops in China would not be the "forgotten men of the world" and would be helped with "every legal effort."

Wants China as Friend.

Of China, he said:

"We want to promote the growth of friendship, which is the basis of all peaceful international relations. We want China as a friend, so we are working hard toward that end. We have no ulterior motives; we want merely to help them to develop according to their genius and methods."

He went then to the home of Gen. Marshall, President Truman's special envoy, for a brief talk. He met other ranking American officers and lunched with Generalissimo and Mme. Chiang Kai-shek.

Addressing American soldiers assigned to this Chinese capital, he said:

"We in the United States do not believe the world can long exist in an atmosphere of suspicion, mutual recrimination and of arming ourselves indefinitely."

EISENHOWER DELAYED ON WAY TO M'ARTHUR

NANKING, May 9 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, arriving on an inspection trip, said today that the United States Army's sole aim in troubled China was "to promote the growth of friendship."

He remained in Nanking only five hours and then took off for Tokyo to visit Gen. Douglas MacArthur, but bad weather had forced him to halt at Shanghai overnight.

NANKING, May 6 (AP)—Spokesman K. C. Wu said today that the Government would insist on the return of Communist-held Changchun in any settlement with the Communists in Manchuria.

In answer to Communists charges the Government had moved eight armies into Manchuria Dr. Wu said that the total force there was 241,500, wel within the limit set by the unity agreement for army reorganization.

Chinese Red Bids For U.S. Trade In Manchuria

Changchun, May 7 [AP—Delayed]—Citing a great need for both foreign capital and technicians, Gen. Peng Sheng, secretary general of the Chinese Communists' Northeast Bureau, today unofficially opened the door of Communist Manchuria to American business.

He said United States business could operate in Manchuria to the benefit of both American capital and Manchuria, of which the Communists claim to control 70 per cent.

He told interviewers the Communists, within five months after the cessation of Manchuria's civil strife, would eliminate one of the big hindrances to foreign business by unifying the monetary system. Only Communist Northeast (Manchuria) currency would be used.

Takes Control For Granted

[Peng's statement seemed to take it for granted that the Communists would be given virtual control of Manchuria in any settlement with the Chinese Government.]

The Northeast notes, valued at 1 to 13 Chinese national currency, would be backed by both gold and commodities, Peng said. This stabilization of the monetary system would be maintained through sale of commodities. The currency is issued by the Communists' Northeast Bank.

Peng stipulated that the Communists would co-operate with the United States economically, provided there is no violation of Chinese sovereignty.

Must Deal With Yenan

He said that if American capital wants to invest in Manchuria it will have to deal with the Communist Government at Yenan until a Chinese coalition government is organized.

Expressing optimism over the possibility of trade between the United States and Manchuria, Peng told correspondents that Manchuria has a surplus of soybeans, leather, fur and silk and needs such American products as machinery and cotton cloth.

Red Attacks Reported

Peiping, May 9 (AP)—Chinese newspaper dispatches today reported that the Communists were attacking Government forces strongly at Weihsien in Shantung province, and two towns in Hopeh province.

The dispatches also said the Communists had captured Fenchiakow in Hopeh province yesterday, and had occupied and looted the Pingyao railroad station Tuesday but later withdrew.

[The Associated Press listening post in San Francisco recorded a broadcast from Chinese Communist headquarters at Yenan asserting that 35 Chinese Government armies, with 99 divisions, have been moved into striking positions or are already striking at Communist-held areas. Yenan charged that eight Government armies—exceeding the five stipulated in the January truce agreement—have moved into Manchuria.]

German Ex-Envoy Leaves Japan

PEIPING, May 9 (AP).—Major General Eugen Ott, German Ambassador to Japan during the war, returned today from Japan. He was arrested here last December and on General Douglas MacArthur's orders was sent to Tokyo for trial, but later was released. In good spirits on his return, Ott said, "I proved very useful to the Allies. MacArthur promised me to work for German reconstruction."

Puppet Minister Sentenced

Nanking, May 8 (AP)—Mei Sze Ping, Minister of Interior in the puppet Nanking Government during the Japanese occupation, was sentenced to death for treason.

Mukden, May 9 (A. P.).—Col. Genji Matsuda, commander of the infamous Hoten prison camp when Gen. Jonathan Wainwright and 1,500 other American war prisoners were held, today was taken to Shanghai to stand trial as a war criminal. He is charged with responsibility for the deaths of some 200 Americans, condoning cruelty by his staff and forcing prisoners to work in war industries without providing air raid shelters for them.

He and his staff were captured by an American ground rescue team September 19, 1945. The prisoners at the Hoten camp near here, were survivors of the Philippines invasion. Many had gone through the Bataan Death March.

Rations were meager and heat was insufficient for the sub-zero weather. Medical supplies were non-existent and the Japanese refused to distribute Red Cross supplies.

Japs Again Fail To Pick Cabinet

Tokyo, May 9 (AP)—Japan's Social Democratic Party acknowledged today its inability to form a coalition government as the nation's political crisis entered its eighteenth day.

It was the second failure at formation of a coalition cabinet. The first was last week when Ichiro Hatoyama, Liberal Party leader, was purged by General MacArthur.

Next Move Obscure

Tetsu Katayama, secretary general of the Social Democrats, told Premier Shidehara of his party's failure.

The next move was obscure, but Tokyo political editors inclined to the possibility that a coalition between the Liberals and Shidehara's Progressive Party, both of which are on the right wing, would develop.

Matsuoka In Hospital

Meanwhile, former Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka has entered an American Army hospital for a medical examination which will decide whether he is in condition to be tried as an accused war criminal.

Defense Attorney Toshizo Kobayashi, who said Matsuoka was suffering from tuberculosis and neuralgia, received permission from the International Military Tribunal to remove Matsuoka from Sugamo Prison.

Matsutka, a University of Oregon graduate, negotiated Japan's tripartite pact with Berlin and Rome.

M'Arthur Reveals Roxas Was His Aide

Tokyo, May 9 (AP)—General MacArthur disclosed today that Philippines President-elect Manuel Roxas acted as his contact man in the Philippines during the Japanese occupation.

Meeting Roxas, who is en route to Washington with Paul McNutt, United States Commissioner to the Philippines, at a midnight stopover, he refuted charges made during the recent Philippines election that Roxas was a collaborationist.

As his agent in the islands, MacArthur said, Roxas "not only was instrumental in providing me with vital intelligence of the enemy, but was one of the prime factors in the guerrilla movement."

He described Roxas as "a stanch patriot and most fitting representative of his people."

JAP ASKS PENSION FROM U. S. NAVY

Tokyo, May 9 (A. P.).—Hoichi Narasaki, who served thirty-two years in the United States Navy and then returned to Okayama, Japan, to live in 1934, has applied for resumption of pension payments from the Navy.

Occupation Headquarters said Narasaki was the first to make formal application for the pension, but that many other former United States Navy men now in Japan had made inquiries.

Narasaki drew his pension from 1934 until the freezing of Japanese assets in the United States in 1940. Headquarters advised him he would have to await settlement of the reparations program.

Jap University Turns Down Prince

Emperor's Son-in-law Fails Entrance Exams—Girls Admitted for First Time.

Tokyo, May 9 (A. P.).—Democracy in Japan is getting rugged; Tokyo University has refused to admit a royal prince who failed its entrance exams. He is Prince Morihiro Higashi-kuni, son-in law of Emperor Hirohito. The 30-year-old army captain married Hirohito's first daughter, Teru, in 1943.

While the Prince was flunking, some girls passed—the first women students ever admitted. The whole idea of princes going to common schools is strictly post-surrender. Previously they attended peers' schools and had tutors.

While Prince Higashi-kuni found his aim of mixing with commoners in the classroom blocked by his examination grade, Prince Kuninaga Kaya, 24, member of a branch royal house, passed easily the tests at Kyoto Imperial University.

The newspaper Asahi said Prince Takahito Mikasa, the Emperor's younger brother, recently rubbed elbows with common folk in a crowded tram car.

"Most people couldn't understand that I did it because I wanted to," the Prince explained. "They worried about my health. Still others thought I had run out of gasoline. They missed the idea I want to learn about people."

Peasants Sign Truce

MANILA, May 9 (AP).—A truce designed to end fighting between Hukbalahaps (armed peasants) and Philippine military police in central Luzon was signed today, to be effective until May 28, when President-elect Roxas takes office. Fifty lives have been lost in fighting during the last three weeks.

Manila, May 9 (A. P.).—Four Japanese Thought Policemen went on trial for war atrocities today charged with having beaten to death some three score Filipinos whom they had suspended from beams by their thumbs. A fifth scheduled defendant was excused on grounds of insanity.

Chennault Comments.

Honolulu, May 9 (A. P.).—To Major-Gen. Claire L. Chennault "it is evident" that Communists in China are getting supplies from Russia and would like to take over the Chinese Government. The former commander of the Flying Tigers is en route from China to Washington after a secret mission to the Orient.

"There have been a good many artillery duels between Chinese Communist and Nationalist (Government) forces," Chennault said in an interview here. "Chinese Reds are not getting their stuff from heaven. It is evident it is coming from Russia."

Surplus Army Food For Japs

Tokyo, May 9 (AP)—Allied headquarters today approved release to the Japanese Government of 59,369 tons of surplus army foods, of which 40,000 tons are at Saipan. The Japanese were told to send vessels to Saigon for the food there.

Koreans Warned To Keep Calm

Seoul, May 9 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. John R. Hodge, American occupation commander, today warned Koreans "against undue excitement over the temporary adjournment" of the United States-Russian trusteeship commission.

"Mud-slinging, personal attacks, demonstrations or derogatory remarks about any Allied powers or their representatives can only operate to hurt the cause of Korean independence," Hodge said in a translated broadcast.

Russian delegates to the stalled conference left today on two sections of a special train for their occupation zone, Northern Korea. There was no indication when or if they might return to resume planning a unified, self-governed Korea.

Arnold Sees Them Off

An American-supervised pilot locomotive preceded the train, but only as far as the thirty-eighth parallel — the border between American and Russian zones.

Maj. Gen. A. V. Arnold, chief of the American delegation on the commission, saw the Soviets off, chatting pleasantly with Col. Gen. T. F. Shtikov, chief Russian delegate. The two shook hands before Shtikov climbed aboard his coach.

Negotiations had reached an impasse over the issue of free speech for Koreans. An American press release said the Russians refused to deal with any Korean groups which had opposed Allied trusteeship over the country—demanding, in effect, a purge of Korean leaders who had spoken their honest preference for immediate independence.

Carrier Launches Radio-Run Planes

Aboard U.S.S. Shanghri-La Off San Diego, May 9 (AP)—The Navy launched radio-controlled fighter planes from a carrier for the first time, publicly, today and capped the demonstration by catupulting a couple of army generals into the air.

The "drone" fighters were sent away shoreward under control of "mother" planes in a preview of one phase of the aerial observation of the Bikini atomic bomb July 1.

There they will fly through the atomic cloudland on to a Pacific island, with instrument-gathered data.

The demonstration was observed by Maj. Gen. William E. Kepner, army air commander o nthe "cross-roads" operation, and his assistant, Brig. Gen. T. S. Power.

The generals were then catupulted from Rear Admiral R. A. F. Sprague's carrier flagship in navy torpedo bombers which took them to Brown Field, south of San Diego.

Three of the four "drones" launched by the catupults at the carrier's stern carried "safety" pilots—to take over if radio controls failed. The fourth was without a pilot—as all will be at Bikini.

Bogota's Jews, Poles Attacked

Bogota, Colombia, May 9 (AP)—Several hundred rioting youths swarmed along the main street of this capital last night, shouting imprecations against the city's Jewish and Polish elements and stoning the windows of foreign-owned shops while police vainly attempted to quell the disorders.

The disturbance was said to have been caused by a fight between a Polish national and a Colombian, during which the latter suffered a slight knife wound.

Bogota has been in a state of tension since Sunday's election. President Alberto Lleras Camargo broadcast an appeal last night for peace and order.

Truman Denies Ibn Saud Threat

Washington, May 9 (A. P.).—President Truman was asked today whether King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia has threatened in a letter to cancel American oil concessions in his country if the United States goes through with a recommendation that 100,000 Jews be admitted to Palestine.

The President's reply simply was that he had not seen such a letter.

He was also asked whether he could disclose the contents of a letter which he had received recently from King Farouk of Egypt. He replied that he didn't remember anything in that letter having a bearing on important international affairs—that he had received only a letter enclosing some new Egyptian stamps.

Senate Extends Draft Until July 1

Washington, May 9 (A. P.).—The Senate voted a forty-five-day extension of the draft law in five minutes today in a burst of speed to reach labor legislation spotlighted by the soft coal strike.

Although the chamber turned back to a discussion of the $3,750,000,000 British loan after voting a draft extension until July 1, Democratic Leader Barkley promised that strike legislation would be taken up as soon as the loan is acted on.

The draft extension came after Barkley had attempted unsuccessfully to get an agreement for a vote by 9 o'clock tonight on the loan legislation. Senators Langer (R.-S. D.) and Taft (R.-Ohio) objected to fixing a definite hour.

In acting on the draft extension, the Senate adopted a joint resolution by Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D.-Col.).

Extends Power Over Mind.

If the measure later is approved by the House, the draft act will be continued in its present form for a month and a half beyond its May 15 expiration date.

Barkley noted that the extension also would keep alive until July 1 President Truman's authority, under the Smith-Connally Amendment to the Selective Service act, to seize struck coal mines. He had told the Senate earlier that this authority would expire on May 15, unless the draft law were extended.

Barkley fought the move to sidetrack the British loan in favor of labor control legislation.

Taking the floor in opposition to a move by Senators Eastland others, Barkley told his colleagues bluntly that he does not believe the Senate now knows what kind of labor legislation it wants to pass. He said that unless the selective service law is kept alive, the Smith-Connally act authority for the President to take over the struck mines will expire with it, because that measure amended the draft law.

Mr. Truman told his news conference earlier in the day that he will cross the mine seizure bridge when ne comes to it. Barkley's insistence on draft extension indicates consideration of such a move.

Loan Action Being Rushed.

After voting on the draft, the Senate drove toward a final vote today on the loan bill.

Eastland withdrew his motion to take up the rewritten Case bill, already passed by the House, on Barkley's promise that it will be the next measure after a Loan bill vote.

Barkley said the Senate will work into the night in an effort to dispose of the loan legislation, but he failed to win agreement on a definite hour for the vote or a debate limitation.

Johnson Move Is Defeated.

Earlier the Senate had rejected, 54 to 27, a proposal by Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D.-Col.) to halt action on the loan bill until the House had considered it. Johnson argued that it was a revenue measure which should have prior House action.

Subsequently, the Senate also voted down 55 to 25 an amendment by Senator Capehart (R.-Ind) to limit the loan to $1,500,000,000.

Eastland told his colleagues that while he supports the loan proposal, it ought to be laid aside while Congress deals with "a selfish, would-be dictator, John L. Lewis."

Calling settlement of the coal strike the "pressing need of the hour," Eastland argued that some sort of restrictive legislation should be passed which would bring the walkout to an end.

Previously he had told a reporter he had in mind no specific amendment to the pending House-approved Case bill. As revised by the Senate committee, most of its restrictive clauses were eliminated.

Eastland predicted food riots if the coal strike continues much longer. He said railroad freight movement will be cut 70 per cent.

Strike Control Urged Before Loan Action

Washington, May 9 (AP)—Senator Eastland (D., Miss.) asked the Senate today to lay aside the $3,750,000,000 British loan bill and take up immediately a revised strike control bill previously passed by the House.

Eastland acted after the Senate had rejected, 54 to 27, a proposal by Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D., Col.) to halt action on the loan bill until the House had considered it. Johnson argued that it was a revenue measure, which should have prior House action.

Subsequently, the Senate also voted down, 55 to 25, an amendment by Senator Capehart (R., Ind.) to limit the loan to $1,500,000,000.

Eastland Assails Lewis

Eastland told his colleagues that while he supports the loan proposal, it ought to be laid aside while Congress deals with "a selfish, would-be dictator, John L. Lewis."

Calling settlement of the coal strike the "pressing need of the hour," Eastland argued that some sort of restrictive legislation should be passed that would bring the walkout to an end.

Previously he had told a reporter he had in mind no specific amendment to the pending House-approved Case bill. As revised by the Senate committee, most of its restrictive clauses were eliminated.

Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky.), pressing for final action on the loan by nightfall, promised a fight against Eastland's proposal. He said labor measures must wait until the Senate has acted on extension of the draft law, due to expire next Wednesday.

Eastland predicted "food riots" if the coal strike continues much longer. He said railroad freight movement soon will be cut 70 per cent.

Walsh Against The Loan

Chairman Walsh (D., Mass.) of the Senate Naval Committee announced today his opposition to passage of the loan bill. He had not previously taken a public stand.

Walsh said in a speech prepared for Senate delivery that if the loan is made to Britain, this country will have difficulty in denying similar financial aid to Russia, France, China and other countries. He added he had come to the conclusion that it would not help American business and workers and in the long run would be "a bad bargain."

Vote On Johnson Move

The roll-call vote by which the Senate rejected, 54 to 27, Johnson's contentions that the House should act first was:

For Johnson's point of order (27):

Democrats For—Ellender, Huffman, Johnson (Col.), Johnston (S.C.), McCarran, McClellan, McFarland, Stewart, Walsh, Wheeler (10).

LaGuardia Asks New Agency For Food

Washington, May 9 (AP)—Creation of a new international agency was advocated today by UNRRA Director General Fiorello H. LaGuardia to handle the problems of food shortages "in these years of starvation."

In an address before UNRRA's 48-government council, the chief of the international relief organization also:

1. Called for swift action by member governments to bring home the approximate 1,400,000 persons—"a great stockpile of human misery"—in the displaced persons' camps within the next 30 to 60 days, provided they are cleared of collaboration charges.

2. Blamed the United States, in part, for inaction in finding new homes for the war-created exiles.

3. Urged countries with room for refugees to "sit down at a table" and talk over methods for bringing the refugees in.

Appeal For Aid

LaGuardia's recommendations were advanced after he told the Council that food allocations were "grossly inadequate" and appealed to nations with available supplies for help "in preventing a catastrophe."

Then, speaking extemporaneously, he stressed the need for a new and "stronger" agency to take over the work which now is handled chiefly by the Combined Food Board, on which sit representatives of Britain, Canada and the United States.

"Some agency must be found with power to carry out decisions and implement these decisions with action," he said.

Just As Bleak

LaGuardia placed before the 48-government council of the international relief organization the results of his study and efforts since the group adjourned five weeks ago at Atlantic City. And the situation outlined in his report appeared as bleak now as then.

Even before the session opened, a council move was anticipated to back LaGuardia in seeking a bigger allocation from the Combined Food Board.

LaGuardia declared in his report that UNRRA at present cannot learn "even a month in advance what it can count upon." This situation places receiving countries "in a hopeless position in attempting to plan food rationing," he added.

One Crop Held No Solution

At the same time, he said that this year's harvest would not solve the world food crisis.

"The efforts of both the individual members of the United Nations as well as the existing organizations," he said, "will be required if the world is not to see a repetition in 1947 of the situation with which we have been unsuccessfully attempting to cope during the Spring of 1946."

UNRRA MAKES FOOD DEMAND

Calls For Immediate Improvement In Distribution

Washington, May 9 (AP)—The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration today demanded immediate improvement in the distribution of food to war-ravaged nations under its wing.

Following up the protest of the UNRRA director general, Fiorello H. LaGuardia, that present allocations are "grossly inadequate" to feed Europe and Asia's starving millions, the 48-member governing council passed a resolution, without a dissenting vote, urging improvement.

Sponsored By U.S. Delegate

Lester Pearson, Canadian Ambassador to the United States, while supporting the resolution, declared that what the world needs most is not improved machinery, but "more food."

The resolution was sponsored by C. Tyler Wood, United States delegate, who told the council that this country was planning to present a proposal May 20 to improve the international distribution machinery at a meeting of the Food and Agriculture Organization called by the United Nations.

Specifically, it recommended that governments—both those supplying and importing food—"develop immediately plans for the improvement of international machinery for the allocation of foodstuffs in short supply."

World Food Board Urged

Passage of the resolution ended the fourth session of the council, which opened in Atlantic City, but recessed five weeks ago to allow LaGuardia time to study the situation.

The former New York Mayor opened today's session with a demand for establishment of an international agency with far-reaching controls over grain and other scarce foods.

LaGuardia placed his proposal before the council.

Delegates piled protest on protest that more and bigger shipments of food were needed urgently in a situation approaching catastrophe.

The relief chief acknowledged his own desperate search for food had proven "disappointing" since he took the job six weeks ago.

Asks "Equitable Share"

But he insisted that, given an "equitable share of available foodstuffs," it would be possible for the UNRRA to prevent starvation in Europe during the next six months.

Meanwhile, the Department of Agriculture announced a ten per cent cut in home supplies of fats and vegetable oils for the April-June quarter because of lower production and famine-relief shipments.

The Government late yesterday posted higher prices for grain and protein feeds to encourage farmers to market their supplies rather than feed them to livestock.

LaGuardia offered a number of specific recommendations in addition to his proposal for an international food board with power to make food allocations, stimulate production and back up its decisions with action.

Other Recommendations

These proposals included:

1. An international agreement for co-ordination of all government purchases of grain and other basic foods for the duration of the crisis "in a manner which will preclude competitive buying and speculative selling."

2. Action within 30 to 60 days to repatriate displaced persons now living in camps in Europe, except those under collaboration charges and those who do not want to return home. He estimated the number at 1,400,000.

3. Immediate consideration by countries with room for refugees "such as the United States, Canada, Brazil, Argentina, Bolivia, Colombia, Chile and Australia," of concrete steps to bring them in.

4. Consideration at the next Council meeting, scheduled for Paris in August or September, of the necessary steps for terminating the UNRRA's activities by the end of this year in Europe and by March of next year elsewhere, and turning its functions over to an agency of the United Nations.

"Extremely Disappointing"

LaGuardia told of his efforts with the Combined Food Board—an American-Canadian-British agency—to increase allocations for the UNRRA and declared, "The results have been extremely disappointing."

He said the allocations of bread grains amounted to only 60 per cent of minimum requirements. The board decides the shares each country shall receive from available supplies.

The director general said that "not only are the quantities of food grossly inadequate, but the administration does not know even a month ahead what it can count on.

"This places the countries receiving UNRRA aid in a hopeless position in attempting to plan food rationing."

He said the cuts made by the Combined Food Board can only mean "severe undernutrition and a drastic reduction of all work on agricultural and industrial production and rehabilitation."

"To Prevent A Catastrophe"

Once again, LaGuardia appealed to the governments of supplying countries "to prevent a catastrophe, the evil effects of which would be with us for many years to come."

Representatives of India, Ukrainian Russia and China told the Council of their countries' needs, pleading for increased and accelerated deliveries of supplies.

The Indian delegate said the gravity of the situation in his homeland had increased since the UNRRA's meeting six weeks ago, when he reported that from 5,000,000 to 15,000,000 people may die of starvation.

China's spokesman said 30,000,000 were starving in his country and were receiving less aid than that furnished the peoples of former enemy countries.

Eberstadt Assails Merger Bill

Washington, May 9 (AP)—Ferdinand Eberstadt testified today that civilian heads—secretaries without Cabinet status—of the Army, Navy and Air Forces would have "seven bosses at the same time" under the merger bill approved by the Senate Military Committee.

Eberstadt, a New York city banker and lawyer, told the Senate Naval Committee that these bosses would be the "President, the secretary of common defense, the under secretary of common defense, and four more partial bosses in the persons of the several assistant secretaries of common defense."

Backs Truman's Aims

The witness served as a wartime Government official with the War Production Board and other agencies and drafted an armed forces unification plan at the request of Navy Secretary Forrestal.

Eberstadt said he is in complete agreement with the "nine specific points or objectives" that President Truman listed in asking postwar merger of the armed forces.

He said that the bill recommended by the Military Committee "fails to meet some of the most important" objectives of the President.

Sees Four Possible Ways

The Eberstadt said unification could be attained at four levels: on the President's desk, where it now resides; through a presidential deputy as chairman and coordinator of the Council of Common Defense; between this council and military departments, and finally in a secretary of a merged single department.

He praised proposals for a Council of Common Defense, but said the pending merger bill "fails into the fourth category and suffers from the weaknesses inherent in seeking unification at too low a level."

HOUSING MATERIAL SUBSIDIES VOTED

Washington, May 9 (A. P.).—By a vote of 187 to 158 the House reversed its position today and voted $400,000,000 for building material subsidies in the administration program designed to build 2,700,000 houses in two years. The House action broke the months-old logjam on the housing legislation. The administration had asked $600,000,000 for the subsidies and the House had refused any.

The House did an about-face after top administration production officials sent word to Capitol Hill that without the subsidies the housing goals could not be met. Chairman Spence (D.-Ky.) of the Banking Committee has said that final rejection of the subsidy would "sabotage" the whole program.

Republican opponents argued that the subsidy would give the administration a $400,000,000 "slush fund, a blank check."

Truman Says Radio Must Be Free

Washington, May 9 (A. P.).—The board of directors of the National Association of Broadcasters called on President Truman today and reported that he emphasized that there must be complete freedom of radio.

Justin Miller, NAB president, recalled to Mr. Truman that the President had told him in a letter last summer that radio must be as free as the press. C. E. Arney Jr., NAB secretary-treasurer, said that Mr. Truman authorized this statement in reply:

"Let me re-emphtasize my belief that there must be complete freedom of radio."

BattleshipMissouri Back, Laden With Art Objects

Italian Loans to Metropolitan Museum Arrive

NORFOLK, Va., May 9 (AP).—The battleship Missouri returned today from a mission of state to Turkey, laden with European art objects valued at more than $750,000 loaned by the Italian government for the diamond jubilee of the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York.

Arriving on the Missouri were Wallace Murray, American Ambassador to Iran, being replaced by George Allen because of ill health, and Alexander Weddell, of Richmond, retired diplomat who was given the rank of ambassador to escort the body of the late Turkish Ambassador, Mehmet Ertegun, to Turkey aboard the Missouri.

Immediately after the ceremony of presentation of the treasures to representatives of the Metropolitan Museum, they were taken from the pier to the railway station in an effort to get them started for New York before the freight embargo became effective at midnight.

HOUSE REVERSES SUBSIDY STAND BY VOTE OF 187-158

WASHINGTON, May 9 — (AP) Reversing its position, the House today approved $400,000,000 in housing subsidies, giving President Truman a victory in his program for construction of 2,700,000 houses by private enterprise in two years.

The vote was 187 to 158.

Wilson W. Wyatt, housing administrator, immediately declared:

"This throws the veterans housing program into high gear."

Chairman Spence (D-Ky) of the House Banking committee said this means the housing bill will be on Mr. Truman's desk "in a day or two." Today's action broke a month's old stalemate on housing legislation.

The House a month ago rejected 161 to 92 a proposal for $600,000,000 in housing subsidies, but some southern Democrats who teamed with Republicans in the earlier vote sided today with the Administration.

In today's roll call vote, 155 Democrats were joined by 30 Republicans and two minor party members in support of the subsidy program—described by Mr. Truman as the "very heart" of the housing program. Opposing were 25 Democrats and 133 Republicans.

This was the first test vote on Administration economic policy since the Housing members took 10 days off at Eastertime and many went home to learn how their constituents felt about things in general.

The housing bill came back to the House as the Senate-House conference committee deadlocked on the Administration's proposal for use of $600,000,000 in subsidies to encourage larger production of scarce building materials. The Senate had voted to authorize the subsidies after the House rejected them.

Spence moved today that the House instruct its conferees to accept a compromise figure of $400,000,000 and the motion carried.

The House-Senate conference committee now will meet again. Spence said this will be merely a formality, and the Housing bill will speed to the President's desk.

Surplus Property Inquiry Approved

Washington, May 9 (A. P.).—The House approved today establishment of a five-member special committee to investigate Government disposal of $100,000,000,000 of surplus property.

The resolution, introduced by Representative Slaughter (D.-Mo.), does not require Senate approval. It calls for appointment of an investigating committee by the Speaker of the House and stipulates that it report its findings by next December 31. Action was taken by voice vote.

Navy Officials Are Accused In Probe of Thefts in Hawaii

Senate Committee Gets Report Charging Mismanagement at Pearl Harbor.

WASHINGTON, May 9. — (AP) An official Navy report alleging wholesale thefts and mismanagement of naval property in the 14th (Hawaiian) Naval district was turned over today to the Senate War Investigating committee.

It charged that "a large amount of money and merchandise" had been stolen from the Ships' Store at the Pearl Harbor submarine base, that merchandise from the store was sold to Honolulu merchants, that goods for Honolulu merchants were brought from the mainland in Navy ships, and that lumber enough to build a house for an officer was purloined from a salvage dump.

Acquitted by Navy

The allegations were made in a report by Rear Admiral Austin K. Doyle, deputy inspector general of the Navy. Doyle was ordered into the case after Comdr. Laurence H. Blodgett was a cquitted by a court martial on a charge of diverting a large quantity of Navy meat and butter to his private use.

High Navy officers, ranging up to a vice admiral, were criticized for alleged negligence and inefficiency in Doyle's report.

They included Vice Admiral D. W. Bagley, Rear Admiral William R. Furlong, Rear Admiral E. W. Hanson, Rear Admiral (then Captain) R. W. Paine, Rear Admiral C. O. Kell, and Captain John H. Kangeter.

The report said that Furlong was "negligent, careless, indifferent and inefficient." The allegations concerning the others fell within the same general categories.

May Face New Charge

Doyle told the committee there is a "possibility" that Blodgett may be tried again on different charges.

The admiral, who conducted a seven-month general investigation, told the committee he agrees with Admiral Chester W. Nimitz' assertion that Blodgett's acquittal was "a miscarriage of justice." He said, however, that Blodgett could not be tried again on the original charge because of the double jeopardy provision.

Wary about divulging future plans in the case, Doyle told the committee only that he assumed steps would be taken which would enable the committee "to have a final report in about two months.

Doyle said Blodgett now is "a retired officer on active duty" in Hawaii.

Committee Chairman Mead (D-N.Y.) reported that Lt. Col. Iven H. Stickney of the Marines, stationed at the Pearl Harbor Naval Ammunition depot, discovered "a large quantity of meat and butter stamped with a Navy marking and carrying tags saying 'private property of Commander Laurence H. Blodgett' in a Marine refrigerator" at that base.

Mead said Stickney reported the matter to his superior and was subsequently transferred; while Blodgett "was absolved of any wrongdoing after a board of investigation had made a partial inquiry."

Stickney then called the matter directly to the attention of the Secretary of the Navy. Blodgett was acquitted in the court martial last August. Nimitz, reviewed the file in September, called Blodgett's acquittal "a miscarriage of justice" and recommended the investigation which was carried out by Doyle.

Secretary of the Navy Forrestal ordered Stickney made a full colonel and awarded him the Legion of Merit.

Gandhi's Son Hopeful About Parleys In India

New York, May 9 (AP)—Devadas Gandhi, son of Mohandas K. Gandhi, said today that talks now going on between a British Cabinet mission and Indian leaders led him to believe the British had "turned a new leaf" in their relations with India.

Expressing optimism over the outcome, Gandhi told a news conference that he believed the British Government had "taken a very sincere decision, and for the first time, to close the chapter of Indo-British conflict by peacefully conceding the demand for Indian independence."

Indians would have "very little desire" to participate in the talks "if it were not absolutely clear in our minds that the decision to let India have her independence this time is entirely unconditional," he said.

PARIS, MAY 10-(AP)-THE FOUR-POWR FOREIGN MINISTERS WERE STYMIED TODAY NOT ONLY ON TERMS OF A NEW PEACE FOR EUROPE BUT ALSO ON THE CALLING OF A CONFERENCE TO DISCUSS THE TERMS.

ALTHOUGH THE CONFEREES WERE EXPECTED TO MAKE A LAST DITCH EFFORT TODAY TO COMPROMISE THE DIVERGENT VIEWS OF RUSSIA AND THE UNITED STATES ON THE CONVENING OF A GENERAL PEACE PARLEY, MOST OBSERVERS PREDICTED THAT NO SUCH AGREEMENT WOULD BE EFFECTED AND THAT THE MINISTERS WOULD RETURN TO THEIR HOMES EARLY NEXT WEEK.

DELEGATES THEMSELVES ADMITTED PRIVATELY THAT THERE WAS ONLY A FLICKER OF HOPE FOR BRIDGING THE GAP BETWEEN RUSSIA AND THE WEST ON SEVERAL FUNDAMENTAL ISSUES.

THAT GAP WAS WIDENED YESTERDAY, WHEN JAMES F. BYRNES, U.S. SECRETAR OF STATE, AND V.M. MOLOTOV, RUSSIA'S FOREIGN MINISTER, ARGUED FOR TWO HOURS -- WITHOUT AGREEMENT -- ON BYRNES' SUGGESTION THAT A 21-NATION PEACE CONFERENCE MEET IN PARIS JUNE 15.

MOLOTOV, REPORTEDLY ACTING ON FRESH INSTRUCTIONS FROM MOSCOW, INSISTED THAT A 21-NATION PEACE CONFERENCE SHOULD ACT ONLY ON TREATIES ON WHICH RUSSIA, FRANCE, BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES HAD REACHED A PRIOR ACCORD.

TO SUPPORT HIS VIEW, HE OFFERED TWO AMENDMENTS, BOTH OF WHICH WERE OPPOSED BY BYRNES.

THE FIRST OF THESE ACCEPTED JUNE 15 AS THE DATE FOR SUCH A CONFERENCE, PROVIDED THE FOUR MINISTERS REACHED A PRIOR AGREEMENT ON TREATIES TO BE DISCUSSED.

THE SECOND SUGGESTED THAT THE MINISTERS ADJOURN NOW AND MEET AGAIN NOT LATER THAN JUNE 5, WHEN A 21-POWER CONFERENCE WOULD BE CALLED IF AN AGREEMENT COULD BE REACHED ON THE TREATIES.

BYRNES COUNTERED WITH A SUGGESTION THAT THE 21-POWER CONFERENCE SHOULD RECEIVE THE TREATIES AFTER THE FOUR MINISTERS HAD AGREED "AS FAR AS POSSIBLE." OTHERWISE, HE SAID, DISAGREEMENTS AMONG THE MINISTERS WOULD BLOCK THE REST OF THE WORLD FROM GOING AHEAD WITH TREATIES.

MOLOTOV THEN ACCUSED THE SECRETARY OF STATE OF BACKTRACKING ON AN AGREEMENT OF THE FOREIGN MINISTERS LAST DECEMBER IN MOSCOW. AT THAT TIME, HE SAID, THE MINISTERS HAD DECIDED THAT THEY WOULD AGREE ON TREATIES BEFORE SUBMITTING THEM TO A GENERAL PEACE PARLEY.

AN AMERICAN SOURCE SAID THAT BYRNES WOULD NOT INSIST ON CALLING A GENERAL PARLEY IF RUSSIA REFUSED TO ATTEND.

EVEN IF THE CONFEREES FAIL TO REACH ANY AGREEMENT ON THE PEACE TREATIES, THEY ARE EXPECTED TO REMAIN IN SESSION FOR SEVERAL MORE DAYS TO DISCUSS THE GERMAN SITUATION--LAST ITEM ON THE AGENDA.

IT WAS LEARNED THAT THE UNITED STATES WAS DETERMINED TO INSIST ON FULL CONSIDERATION OF ALL ANGLES OF THE GERMAN QUESTION, INCLUDING BYRNES' PROPOSED FOUR-POWER TREATY TO SUPERVISE GERMAN DISARMAMENT AND FRANCE'S REQUESTS ON THE RUHR AND RHINELAND.

NIGHT LEAD FOREIGN MINISTERS
BY JOSEPH DYMAN

PARIS, MAY 9-(AP)-THE FOREIGN MINISTERS OF THE UNITED STATES, BRITAIN, RUSSIA AND FRANCE MET TODAY TO SURVEY THEIR PEACE-MAKING EFFORTS OF THE LAST TWO WEEKS AND PROBABLY TO DECIDE UPON THEIR FUTURE COURSE OF ACTION.

STILL DEADLOCKED ON THE MAJOR POINTS IN TREATIES FOR ITALY AND THE BALKANS, THE MINISTERS HAD BEFORE THEM U.S.SECRETARY OF STATE JAMES F. BYRNES' PROPOSAL TO REFER THE DISPUTED ITEMS TO A 21-NATION PEACE CONFERENCE HERE JUNE 15. THEY ALSO RECEIVED A REPORT FROM THEIR DEPUTIES LISTING AGREEMENTS REACHED THUS FAR, AND THE UNSOLVED ISSUES.

BOTH BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN AND FRENCH FOREIGN MINISTER GEORGES BIDAULT WERE REPORTED TO FAVOR THE BYRNES' PROPOSAL, BUT SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER VYACHESLAV M. MOLOTOV WAS SAID TO BE STILL AWAITING FURTHER INSTRUCTIONS FROM MOSCOW.

IF MOSCOW VETOES CONVOCATION OF THE LARGER CONFERENCE AT THIS TIME, IT WAS PREDICTED THAT THE MINISTERS MIGHT POSTPONE TREATY-WRITING INDEFINITELY AND LIBERALIZE THE ARMISTICES WITH ITALY, FINLAND, ROMANIA HUNGARY AND BULGARIA TO FILL THE GAP.

SENTIMENT FOR LIBERALIZING THE ITALIAN ARMISTICE WAS SAID TO BE GAINING GROUND IN BRITISH QUARTERS, WHICH PREVIOUSLY HAD OPPOSED SUCH A MOVE AS DETRIMENTAL TO TREATY-DRAFTING.

THE MINISTERS TODAY WERE SCHEDULED TO TAKE UP THE REPORT OF A COMMISSION OF INQUIRY ON THE ITALIAN-FRENCH BOUNDARY, WHERE FRANCE IS ASKING MINOR CHANGES; A REPORT OF NAVAL EXPERTS ON DIVISION OF THE ITALIAN FLEET AND, IF TIME ALLOWED, THE FIRST PHASES OF THE GERMAN QUESTION.

FRANCE WILL ASK THE CONFERENCE TO DETACH THE RUHR AND RHINELAND POLITICALLY AS WELL AS ECONOMICALLY FROM THE REICH. OTHER PHASES OF THE GERMAN QUESTION WERE SAID TO BE TRANSFER OF THE SUDETENLAND TO CZECHO-SLOVAKIA AND PERHAPS DUTCH CLAIMS TO MINOR CHANGES IN HER FRONTIER WITH GERMANY.

BEVIN CONFERRED TODAY WITH BOTH BYRNES AND BIDAULT. THEIR TALKS WERE BELIEVED TO CONCERN A BRITISH PLAN TO SOCIALIZE RUHR INDUSTRIES UNDER AN INTERNATIONAL COMMISSION WHILE MAINTAINING GERMAN SOVEREIGNTY IN THE AREA.

LONDON, MAY 9-(AP)-MOSCOW RADIO TONIGHT TOLD ABOUT A MOSCOW CORRESPONDENT TELEPHONING GEORGE BERNARD SHAW TO ASK HIM FOR A GREETING STATEMENT ON THE FIRST ANNIVERSARY OF THE ALLIED VICTORY

THE BROADCAST SAID THAT WHEN THE RUSSIAN NEWSMAN CALLED THE 89-YEAR-OLD PLAYWRIGHT AND SOCIALIST, SHAW ANSWERED, "WHO AM I TO DARE TO SEND GREETINGS TO THE SOVIET UNION?"

"HOWEVER," THE BROADCAST QUOTED SHAW AS CONTINUING: "I WILL NEVERTHELESS SAY THAT I FORESAW THE GREATNESS AND STRENGTH OF YOUR COUNTRY EVER SINCE THE FIRST DAY OF ITS EXISTENCE.

"I NEVER RECEDED FROM THIS OPINION, AND I AM GLAD TO EXPRESS IT NOW AGAIN."

AND SAID IT "IN NO WAY CONFLICTS WITH OTHER TREATIES." Hague-Churchill xxx peace

AT ANOTHER POINT, SPEAKING OF NATIONALISM, CHURCHILL ASSAILED "THAT TYPE OF NATIONALISM WHICH WOULD REDUCE US ALL TO ONE UNIFORM," AND CRITICIZED COUNTRIES WHOSE NATIONALISM IS EXPRESSED "IN A SENSELESS URGE TO BE THE BIGGEST IN THE WORLD."

NOW LEADER OF THE CONSERVATIVE OPPOSITION IN THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT, CHURCHILL DECLARED THAT BRITAIN "WELCOMES THE PROPOSED TREATY OF FRIENDSHIP WITH FRANCE" AND GAVE VOICE TO THE WISH THAT THE WESTERN DEMOCRACIES OF EUROPE MIGHT DRAW TOGETHER "IN AN EVER CLOSER ASSOCIATION."

HE FOLLOWED THIS WITH A DEFINITION OF DEMOCRACY.

"THERE ARE CERTAIN, SIMPLE, PRACTICAL TESTS BY WHICH THE VIRTUE AND REALITY OF ANY POLITICAL DEMOCRACY MAY BE MEASURED," HE SAID.

"DOES THE GOVERNMENT IN ANY COUNTRY REST ON A FREE CONSTITUTIONAL BASIS, ASSURING THE PEOPLE THE RIGHT TO VOTE ACCORDING TO THEIR WILL FOR WHATEVER CANDIDATES THEY CHOOSE? IS THERE THE RIGHT OF FREE EXPRESSION OF OPINION, OF FREE SUPPORT, FREE OPPOSITION, FREE ADVOCACY, FREE CRITICISM OF THE GOVERNMENT OF THE DAY?"

SPEAKING SLOWLY AT THE START AND LATER WITH QUICKENING TEMPO, CHURCHILL ASSERTED THAT ONE OF THE FIRST DUTIES OF THE UNITED NATIONS WAS TO AFFIRM THE SANCTITY OF THE SMALLER STATES. +

NUERNBERG, MAY 10-(AP)-GRAND ADMIRAL KARL DOENITZ WAS ACCUSED BEFORE THE INTERNATIONAL MILITARY TRIBUNAL TODAY OF PROPOSING TO ADOLF HITLER IN 1943 THAT GERMAN TROOPS OCCUPY SPAIN SO THAT U-BOAT WARFARE COULD BE STEPPED UP THROUGH NEWLY-ACQUIRED BASES.

SIR DAVID MAXWELL FYFE, BRITISH PROSECUTOR, SAID MINUTES OF THE DOENITZ-HITLER CONVERSATIONS CAPTURED BY THE ALLIES SHOWED THE FORMER GERMAN NAVAL CHIEFTAIN INFORMED THE FUEHRER THE U-BOAT CAMPAIGN WAS GOING BADLY AND THAT THE ONLY STRATEGIC AREA LEFT FOR OPERATION WAS THE BAY OF BISCAY.

"THE BEST STRATEGIC SOLUTION LIES IN THE OCCUPATION OF SPAIN," DOENITZ WAS QUOTED AS TELLING HITLER.

HITLER'S REPLY, THE PROSECUTOR SAID, WAS THAT SUCH A STEP WOULD HAVE BEEN POSSIBLE IN 1940 WITH SPAIN'S COOPERATION BUT THAT THE REICH NO LONGER HAD THE RESOURCES FOR SUCH A VENTURE.

"I DON'T THINK I PROPOSED TO THE FUEHRER THAT WE OCCUPY SPAIN," DOENITZ TOLD THE TRIBUNAL FROM THE WITNESS STAND.

SIR DAVID RETORTED THAT THE ORIGINALS OF THE CAPTURED MINUTES WERE IN LONDON AND COULD BE PRODUCED.

THE BRITISH PROSECUTOR SHARPLY ATTACKED THE ADMIRAL'S CONTENTION THAT THE GERMAN NAVY UNDER HIS DIRECTION ABIDED BY THE RULES OF WARFARE. HE QUOTED FROM THE MINUTES OF ANOTHER MEETING BETWEEN DOENITZ AND HITLER WHEN HITLER DECLARED: "THE ONLY WAY TO MEET TERROR IS WITH TERROR," AS A MEANS OF BREAKING A GENERAL STRIKE IN COPENHAGEN.

"WHY DID YOU CIRCULATE THAT AMONG YOUR OFFICERS?" SIR DAVID ASKED. "WAS IT TO INCULCATE RUTHLESSNESS IN YOUR OFFICERS?"

"THAT IS NOT SO," DOENITZ REPLIED. "IT WAS MERELY TO INFORM THEM THAT THE STRIKE EXISTED."

SIR DAVID DECLARED THAT HITLER PROPOSED IN FEBRUARY, 1945, THE RENUNCIATION OF THE GENEVA CONVENTION AND THAT DOENITZ ADVISED HIM THAT "FROM A MILITARY STANDPOINT THERE ARE NO GROUNDS FOR THIS STEP REGARDING THE WAR AT SEA. THIS MEASURE WOULD BRING NO ADVANTAGES. IT WOULD BE BETTER TO TAKE THE NECESSARY STEPS WITHOUT LOSING FACE WITH THE ENTIRE WORLD."

DOENITZ SAID THAT BY "NECESSARY STEPS" HE MEANT ONLY REDUCED RATIONS FOR WORK UNITS INVOLVED IN SABOTAGE.

WARSAW, MAY 9-(AP)-THE POLISH PRESS AGENCY SAID TODAY THE POLISH-SOVIET TRADE AGREEMENT SIGNED LAST MONTH PROVIDES THAT POLAND WILL EXPORT FROM RUSSIA, AMONG OTHER PRODUCTS, COTTON, OIL, SEEDS, BENZINE, PETROLEUM COKE, IRON AND MACHINERY.

POLAND WILL EXPORT TO RUSSIA COAL, COKE, LEAD, ZINC, CALCIUM SODA, CAUSTIC SODA, CARBIDE, LINEN AND COTTON FABRICS AND CEMENT.

THE TREATY RUNS UNTIL MARCH 31, 1947 AND CALLS FOR A $96,000,000 EXCHANGE OF GOODS.

DOEBERITZ, GERMANY, MAY 9-(AP)-A FOREST FIRE CAUSED THE EXPLOSION TODAY OF AVIATION BOMBS AND MUNITIONS STORED IN THE WOODS OUTSIDE THIS TOWN NEAR BERLIN.

CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE WAS DONE TO THE TOWN, BUT SOVIET OCCUPATION AUTHORITIES DID NOT ANNOUNCE WHETHER THERE WERE ANY CASUALTIES. THE TOWN WAS ENVELOPED IN THICK SMOKE, MANY WINDOWS WERE SHATTERED AND NUMEROUS ATTICS HEAVILY DAMAGED.

THE BOMB AND MUNITIONS DUMP WAS ONE INSTALLED BY THE LUFTWAFFE AND APPARENTLY OVERLOOKED BY OCCUPATION FORCES.

ROME, MAY 10-(AP)-THE ITALIAN CABINET WAS SUMMONED TODAY TO CONSIDER THE ABDICATION OF KING VITTORIO EMANUELE III AS CROWN PRINCE UMBERTO PREPARED TO ASCEND THE THRONE OF ITALY IN THE FACE OF POSSIBLE LEFTIST OBJECTIONS.

IT APPEARED LIKELY THAT COMMUNIST AND SOCIALIST MINISTERS MIGHT CHALLENGE UMBERTO'S RIGHT TO SUCCEED HIS FATHER, NOW SAILING TOWARD CAIRO AND VOLUNTARY EXILE, AT A CABINET SESSION SCHEDULED FOR 10 A.M. (3 A.M., E.S.T.).

PIETRO NENNI, SOCIALIST AND VICE PRESIDENT OF THE CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY, AND PALMIRO TOGLIATTI, COMMUNIST AND MINISTER OF JUSTICE, ARGUED THAT ONLY THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION TO BE ELECTED IN THE JUNE 2 PLEBISCITE ON THE MONARCHY HAS THE RIGHT TO SELECT A NEW KING, ALTOUGH TOGLIATTI SAID A "CONSTITUTIONAL FICTION" WOULD PERMIT UMBERTO TO CALL HIMSELF KING UMBERTO II.

A SOCIALIST PARTY MANIFESTO TERMED THE ABDICATION "A DIVERSION TO DERANGE ORDERLY PREPARATION OF THE REFERENDUM" JUNE 2. A REPUBLICAN PARTY LEADER, RANDOLFO PACCIARDI, SAID IN AN INTERVIEW THAT THE ABDICATION WOULD HAVE NO EFFECT ON WHAT HE CALLED THE NATION'S SWING TOWARD A REPUBLIC.

PREMIER ALCIDE DE GASPERI, TO WHOM VITTORIO'S 17-WORD ABDICATION DOCUMENT WAS BEING FORWARDED FROM NAPLES, COMMENTED ONLY THAT HE WAS CONFIDENT THE MONARCHY WOULD ABIDE BY THE DECISIONS OF THE PLEBISCITE AND THE SUBSEQUENT CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

A MINISTER OF THE ROYAL HOUSE SAID UMBERTO WOULD ISSUE A PROCLAMATION AFTER TODAY'S CABINET SESSION.

THE 42-YEAR-OLD CROWN PRINCE, WHO ALSO IS LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR OF THE REALM, RETURNED TO ROME FROM NAPLES, WHERE HIS FATHER FORMALLY RENOUNCED THE THRONE YESTERDAY AFTER 46 YEARS AS ITALY'S MONARCH.

THE 17-WORD ABDICATION DOCUMENT, WRITTEN IN THE 76-YEAR-OLD KING'S OWN STEADY HAND, ADDED VITTORIO EMANUELE TO THE LONG LIST OF UNEMPLOYED EUROPEAN MONARCHS. HE AND HIS TALL CONSORT, QUEEN ELENA, SAILED TOWARD VOLUNTARY EXILE IN EGYPT ABOARD THE CRUISER DUKE OF ABRUZZI.

MAY 10 1946

OBSERVERS SAID THE RENUNCIATION WAS AN ELEVENTH-HOUR EFFORT TO STRENGTHEN THE HOUSE OF SAVOY, UNDER WHICH ITALY WAS UNIFIED IN 1861-70, FOR ITS TEST WITH THE ADVOCATES OF A REPUBLIC AT THE PLEBISCITE THREE WEEKS HENCE. EVEN THE MOST OPTIMISTIC MONARCHISTS GIVE THE MONARCHY ONLY A 50-50 CHANCE OF SURVIVING THE PLEBISCITE.

FOR WEEKS, MONARCHIST CIRCLES SAID, ADVISERS HAD TOLD THE KING THAT BY CLINGING TO THE THRONE AFTER HIS "IRREVOCABLE" RETIREMENT FROM PUBLIC LIFE IN JUNE, 1944, HE WAS HURTING THE MONARCHY IN THE EYES OF THE VOTERS. THEY TOLD HIM, THESE SOURCES SAID, THAT BECAUSE OF HIS LONG ACQUIESCENCE IN THE POLICIES OF BENITO MUSSOLINI ITALIANS BLAMED HIM FOR FASCISM AND ITS DISASTROUS WARS.

FINALLY, THE THIRD SAVOY KING OF UNIFIED ITALY SEATED HIMSELF AT HIS DESK IN THE STUDY OF THE ROYAL VILLA IN SUBURBAN NAPLES AT 3 P.M. YESTERDAY AND PENNED THESE WORDS:

"I ABDICATE THE CROWN OF ITALY IN FAVOR OF MY SON UMBERTO OF SAVOY, PRINCE OF PIEDMONT."

A NAPLES NOTARY, COMMANDER NICOLA ANGRISANI, ATTESTED THE KING'S SIGNATURE, AND TWO ARMY OFFICERS AND ROYAL AIDES, GEN. PAOLO PUNTONI AND LT. COL. BRUNORO BUZZACCARIA, SIGNED AS WITNESSES. THEY WERE THE ONLY PERSONS PRESENT TO WITNESS THE END OF THE LONGEST REIGN OF ANY MODERN MONARCH.

THEN THE FIVE-FOOT, THREE-INCH MONARCH, KNOWN TO ROMANS HALF-AFFECTIONATELY AND HALF-DERISIVELY AS "PIPETTO" (LITTLE PIPE), MARCHED INTO THE VILLA'S SALON TO BID FAREWELL TO HIS WEEPING HOUSEHOLD AND TO UMBERTO. A FEW HOURS LATER HE SAILED INTO EXILE WITH HIS QUEEN, WHOSE EYESIGHT HAS BEEN REPORTED AFFECTED AS A RESULT OF THE SHOCK OF LEARNING OF THE DEATH OF HER DAUGHTER, PRINCESS MAFALDA, IN A GERMAN CONCENTRATION CAMP.

THUS ENDED A REIGN BEGUN IN TRAGEDY, GLORIFIED BY THE IDOLATRY OF THE ITALIAN PEOPLE AND CONCLUDED IN HUMILIATION. VITTORIO ASCENDED THE THRONE IN 1900 FOLLOWING THE ASSASSINATION OF HIS FATHER, UMBERTO I IN MILAN.

DURING THE FIRST WORLD WAR HE WON THE HEARTS OF HIS PEOPLE BY SHARING THE HARDSHIPS OF HIS SORELY-PRESSED SOLDIERS ON THE AUSTRIAN FRONT. ITALIAN HISTORIANS CREDIT HIM WITH THE DECISION TO STAND AT THE PIAVE AFTER THE DISASTROUS DEFEAT AT CAPORETTO--A DECISION WHICH BROUGHT ULTIMATE VICTORY.

THEN AS MUSSOLINI OVERSHADOWED THE THRONE, THE KING'S PRESTIGE SHRANK UNTIL IT APPROACHED HIS OWN DIMINUTIVE STATURE AND HE BECAME THE BUTT OF ITALIAN JOKES. AFTER ITALY'S SURRENDER HE RELINQUISHED HIS AUTHORITY TO HIS SON, UMBERTO, AND TOOK NO PART IN ITALIAN AFFAIRS.

LONDON, MAY 10-(AP)-A GENERAL STRIKE OF ARABS PROTESTING BRITISH-AMERICAN INQUIRY COMMITTEE RECOMMENDATIONS THAT PALESTINE BE OPENED TO 100,000 JEWISH IMMIGRANTS FROM EUROPE HALTED BUSINESS ACTIVITY IN MOST IMPORTANT CITIES OF THE MIDDLE EAST TODAY.

TWO BOMBS EXPLODED IN JEWISH STORES IN BEIRUT LAST NIGHT, CAUSING HEAVY DAMAGE AND WOUNDING FOUR PERSONS, BUT ELSEWHERE THERE WAS TENSE QUIET.

POLICE AND TROOPS TOOK EXTRAORDINARY PRECAUTIONS AGAINST ANY OUT-BREAK OF VIOLENCE AND EGYPTIAN PRIME MINISTER ISMAIL SIDKY PASHA, ACCOMPANIED BY AN ARMED ESCORT, TOURED THE STREETS OF CAIRO, ALERT FOR ANY SIGN OF TROUBLE.

MOST CAIRO SHOPS WERE CLOSED AND TRAMCARS WERE NOT RUNNING. EXTRA POLICE WERE ON DUTY AND LARGE RESERVES WERE HELD IN READINESS FOR EMERGENCY.

MILITARY VEHICLES TOOURED THE STREETS AND THE CITY WAS PLACED OUT OF BOUNDS FOR BRITISH TROOPS. A HEAVY POLICE GUARD WAS THROWN AROUND THE OLD MOUSKY BAZAAR, CAIRO'S MARKET PLACE, WHICH WAS THE GOAL OF A MOB ATTACK IN A PALESTINE PROTEST LAST NOVEMBER.

THE WORK STOPPAGE WAS ALMOST 100 PERCENT EFFECTIVE IN ALEXANDRIA, WHERE LARGE FORCES OF POLICE AND SOLDIERS, SOME OF THEM PATROLLING THE MAIN THOROUGHFARES IN TRUCKS, WERE ON DUTY. DIPLOMATIC SOURCES IN CAIRO SAID THE STRIKE WAS NATIONWIDE IN IRAQ.

IN PALESTINE, WHERE A FEW MINOR DEMONSTRATIONS WERE REPORTED, THE ARAB HIGHER COMMITTEE MADE PUBLIC THE TEXT OF CABLES SENT TO PRIME MINISTER STALIN AND FOREIGN MINISTER MOLOTOV OF RUSSIA; PRESIDENT TRUMAN AND PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE IN WHICH THE COMMITTEE SAID IT WOULD OPPOSE THE INQUIRY COMMITTEE'S RECOMMENDATIONS "TO THE LAST MAN."

THE HIGHER COMMITTEE ALSO CABLED THE FOREIGN MINISTERS CONFERENCE IN PARIS, DEMANDING ABOLITION OF THE BRITISH MANDATE IN PALESTINE AND ARAB INDEPENDENCE IN PALESTINE.

JAMEL EFFENDI HUSSEINI, CHAIRMAN OF THE ARAB HIGHER COMMITTEE, VISITED JAFFA TODAY FOR THE FIRST TIME SINCE HIS RETURN FROM POLITICAL EXILE NINE YEARS AGO. JAFFA IS AN ARAB POPULATED PORT ADJOINING THE ALL JEWISH CITY OF TEL AVIV.

(EDITORS NOTE: TOM MASTERSON, ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT WHO WAS FLOWN OUT OF CHANGCHUN TWO DAYS AGO AFTER BEING TRAPPED IN THE CITY FOR 25 DAYS ALONG WITH FOUR OTHER AMERICAN CORRESPONDENTS, TELLS SEVERAL INCIDENTS THAT OCCURRED IN THE LAST DAYS OF BITTER FIGHTING IN THE FOLLOWING DISPATCH. YOUR ATTENTION IS CALLED TO THE "CHANGCHUN INCIDENT" STORY BY MASTERSON IN THE DAY REPORT, A95-96FX, WHICH RELATES EARLIER EXPERIENCES.)

BY TOM MASTERSON

CHANGCHUN, MAY 7-(DELAYED)-(AP)-DURING THE LAST TWO DAYS OF THE BITTER STREET FIGHTING FOR CHANGCHUN THE FIVE AMERICAN CORRESPONDENTS TRAPPED IN THE CITY WERE FORCED TO MOVE TO THE HOME OF FRIENDLY MAYOR C.M.CHAO, A GRADUATE OF THE UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN. THEIR OWN COMPOUND HAD BECOME A POINT OF BATTLE.

THE MAYOR'S HOUSE, JUST SOUTH OF TATUNG CIRCLE, ALSO WAS IN THE PATH OF COMMUNIST TROOPS ADVANCING ON THE CITY'S CENTER.

LUCKILY NONE OF THE FIVE AMERICAN AND THREE CHINESE CORRESPONDENTS IN THE HOUSE WAS INJURED DESPITE THE FACT THAT BULLETS CRACKED THROUGH THE WINDOWS AND SPLATTERED AGAINST THE WALLS. MORTAR AND ARTILLERY SHELLS POUNDED THE STREET OUTSIDE INCESSANTLY.

AT THIS STAGE IN THE FIGHTING MAYO CHAO DECIDED TO MASQUERADE

30.24-2749

AS A CORRESPONDENT FOR A SHANGHAI NEWSPAPER TO AVOID CAPTURE BY THE COMMUNISTS.

WHEN THE FIGHTING PASSED THE HOUSE COMMUNIST SOLDIERS, WHO HAD NOT SLEPT FOR TWO DAYS, MOVED IN AND NO AMOUNT OF ARGUING COULD GET THEM OUT AGAIN. NEARLY A HUNDRED SWARMED IN AND MADE THEMSELVES COMFORTABLE, OCCUPYING EVERY ROOM, UNAWARE THAT THE ALLEGED SHANGHAI CORRESPONDENT WAS MAYO CHAO, A POTENTIAL PRIZE PRISONER FOR THE COMMUNISTS.

WHEN THE MAYOR DID SURRENDER HE SAID NOTHING ABOUT HIS SUBTERFUGE.

MAJ.GEN.SUN CHEN, WHOSE DIVISION SPEARHEADED THE ATTACK ON TATUNG CIRCLE, INFORMED US TWO HOURS BEFORE THE BATTLE ENDED WE WOULD BE CONFINED. THEN BEGAN A SERIES OF PROTESTS WHICH CONTINUED FOR THE DURATION.

THE COMMONISTS CALMLY TOOK THE HECKLING, WHICH AT TIMES BORDERED ON ABUSE, AND NOT ONCE DID THEY VARY THEIR RIDICULOUS REASON FOR IMPRISONING US--THAT THEY WERE PROTECTING OUR SAFETY.

DURING THE TWO DAYS FOLLOWING THE BATTLE THERE WAS CONSIDERABLE SHOOTING AS THE COMMUNISTS ROUTED OUT AND DISARMED NATIONALISTS HOLDING ISOLATED POCKETS OF RESISTANCE, BUT FROM THEN ON CHANGCHUN WAS PEACEFUL AND EVERYBODY EXCEPTING THE AMERICANS HAD UNLIMITED FREEDOM.

ONCE DURING THE MIXUP IN CHANGE OF GUARDS THE GATE WAS LEFT UNGUARDED FOR A FEW MINUTES AND WE SLIPPED OUT OF THE COMPOUND AND GOT A GOOD LOOK AT THE RUINS. THE GUARD DID NOT LIKE IT, HOWEVER.

WE NEVER COULD DETERMINE WHETHER THE GUARDS ACTUALLY WOULD HAVE SHOT US, HAD WE ATTEMPTED TO ESCAPE, ALTHOUGH THEY DID BAR ATTEMPTS TO GET OUT WITH BAYONET POINTS.

THE COMMUNISTS, ESPECIALLY GENIAL GEN.CHOW PAO-CHUNG, WERE FRIENDLY TO THE CORRESPONDENTS AND OFTEN EXPRESSED WILLINGNESS TO GRANT US ANY REQUEST, EXCEPT, OF COURSE OUR FREEDOM. WE ACCEPTED TWO OF CHOW'S INVITATIONS AND ONCE INVITED HIM TO DINNER IN THE COMPOUND, DURING WHICH HE TALKED FREELY BOTH ABOUT COMMUNIST MILITARY AND POLITICAL ACTIVITIES.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: TOM MASTERSON, ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT WHO WENT TO CHANGCHUN TO REPORT THE RUSSIAN WITHDRAWAL AND WAS TRAPPED THERE 25 DAYS, HIGHLIGHTS SOME OF HIS EXPERIENCES IN THE FOLLOWING DISPATCH. HE AND FOUR OTHER AMERICAN CORRESPONDENTS WERE FLOWN OUT OF CHANGCHUN TWO DAYS AGO.)

CHANGCHUN, MAY 7-(DELAYED)-(AP)-HISTORIANS LIKELY WILL CALL THE STORMING OF THIS MANCHURIAN CAPITAL "THE CHANGCHUN INCIDENT"--THE EVENT THAT SET OFF CHINA'S MODIFIED INTERNAL STRIFE INTO ALL-OUT CIVIL WAR.

TO THIS CORRESPONDENT, WHO WATCHED THE CRACK CHINESE COMMUNIST ARMY BLAST ASIDE OUT-NUMBERED CHINESE GOVERNMENT FORCES TO CAPTURE THIS CITY APRIL 18 AFTER A BLAZING FOUR-DAY BATTLE, "THE CHANGCHUN INCIDENT" WAS NOT ONLY HISTORY IN THE MAKING BUT APPEARED TO BE A PREVIEW OF A LONG, DEVASTATING FIGHT FOR MANCHURIA.

I AND FOUR OTHER AMERICAN CORRESPONDENTS ARRIVED APRIL 13, INTENDING TO REMAIN ONLY LONG ENOUGH TO WATCH THE EVACUATION APRIL 14 OF THE LAST OF RUSSIA'S OCCUPATION TROOPS AND THE BEGINNING OF AN EXPECTED COMMUNIST ATTACK.

INSTEAD, OUR STAY EXTENDED TO 25 DAYS, DURING 15 OF WHICH WE WERE HELD VIRTUAL PRISONERS BY THE COMMUNISTS, WHO DID NOT WANT US TO SEE THE CLEANING UP FOLLOWING THE BLOODY, DESTRUCTIVE FIGHTING.

AS WE WATCHED THE HARBIN-BOUND TRAIN CARRYING MAJ.GEN.FEODOR KARLOFF, THE SOVIET OCCUPATION COMMANDER OF CHANGCHUN, PULL AWAY FROM THE STATION, SOUNDS OF FIGHTING IN THE OUTSKIRTS COULD BE HEARD. A FEW HOURS LATER, WE WERE TRAPPED WHEN THE COMMUNISTS LAUNCHED A DRIVE ON THE AIRPORT. THEY CAPTURED THE FIELD--OUR ONLY AVENUE OF ESCAPE--THAT NIGHT.

DURING THE FIRST TWO DAYS OF BATTLE, THE GOVERNMENT GAVE US FREEDOM OF THE CITY AND PERMITTED US TO GO TO BATTLE AREAS. A DEFEATIST ATTITUDE AMONG THE OFFICERS AS WELL AS AMONG THE POORLY-EQUIPPED SOLDIERS WAS APPARENT, DESPITE THE FACT THAT CHANGCHUN'S PHYSICAL DEFENSES WERE STRONG.

THE GOVERNMENT TROOPS NOT ONLY WERE HEAVILY OUT-NUMBERED, BUT WERE DESPERATELY SHORT OF AMMUNITION. THEY TRIED TO ALLEVIATE THAT CONDITION BUT THE ATTEMPT TURNED INTO DEMORALIZING FAILURE.

ON THE MORNING OF APRIL 16, A LONE PLANE FLEW LOW OVER THE CITY THROUGH HEAVY COMMUNIST MACHINEGUN FIRE AND PARACHUTED WITH REMARKABLE ACCURACY CANNISTERS OF AMMUNITION INTO THE CITY'S CENTER, TATUNG CIRCLE. BUT FIVE PLANES THAT FOLLOWED DROPPED AMMUNITION INTO THE MIDST OF THE COMMUNISTS.

WE RAN OUT OF OUR QUARTERS TO GET PICTURES OF THE AIR-DROP. BUT THE COMMUNISTS HAD SIFTED INTO THE CITY AND BEGAN SHOOTING AT US. ALTHOUGH BULLETS KICKED UP DUST ONLY A FEW FEET AWAY, NONE OF US WAS HIT.

WHEN ONE OF THE 'CHUTES DROPPED INTO A TREE, GOVERNMENT SOLDIERS FOUND A HUGE SAW AND BEGAN TO CUT IT DOWN. INSTEAD, I CLIMBED THE TREE AND CUT DOWN THE 'CHUTE FOR THE GRINNING, HAND-SHAKING CHINESE SOLDIERS. GEORGE WELLER OF THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS TOOK A PICTURE OF THE INCIDENT.

FIVE DAYS LATER, WHEN I DISOBEYED COMMUNIST ORDERS AND TOOK PICTURES OF A BURNING AMMUNITION DUMP, BOTH WELLER'S AND MY CAMERAS WERE CONFISCATED FORCIBLY. I DID HAVE, HOWEVER, PERMISSION OF TWO GUARDS TO TAKE THE PICTURES. THE CAMERAS WERE RETURNED FIVE DAYS LATER.

CHANGCHUN, MANCHURIA, MAY 7-(DELAYED)-(AP)-M/SGT.CLAYTON POND, U.S. ARMY PILOT FROM PORTLAND, ORE., SAID TODAY HE HAD SEEN 10 BODIES OF RUSSIAN CIVILIAN RESIDENTS SLAIN WITHIN A FEW HOURS AFTER CHANGCHUN FELL TO CHINESE COMMUNISTS -- AND THAT FIVE, INCLUDING A WOMAN AND BABY, WERE HORRIBLY MUTILATED.

AMERICAN CORRESPONDENTS UPON THEIR ARRIVAL APRIL 13 HAD BEEN CAUTIONED BY CHINESE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS NOT TO APPEAR ON THE STREETS WITHOUT PROTECTION AGAINST POSSIBLE ANTI-RUSSIAN DEMONSTRATIONS, AND A SIMILAR WARNING WAS ISSUED TO THE RESIDENTS AFTER CHINESE COMMUNISTS TOOK THE CITY.

EIGHTEEN RUSSIAN RESIDENTS OF CHANGCHUN WERE REPORTED KILLED AFTER CHINESE COMMUNISTS SEIZED THE CAPITAL. SERGEANT POND, PILOT FOR U.S. MILITARY ATTACHE MAJ.ROBERT RIGG OF CHICAGO, SAID FIVE OF THE 10 DEAD HE SAW HAD BEEN KILLED IN A CELLAR, MUTILATED AND THEN THROWN INTO A WELL.

SEVERAL BUILDINGS OWNED BY RUSSIANS WERE BURNED.

MOST RUSSIAN RESIDENTS DEPARTED HURRIEDLY FOR HARBIN THREE DAYS AFTER THE CITY FELL TO CHINESE COMMUNISTS APRIL 18, BUT MANY OTHERS WERE LEFT BEHIND BECAUSE OF A MIXUP IN ARRANGEMENTS FOR TRANSPORTATION.

CHINESE GOVERNMENT AUTHORITIES HERE BEFORE THE CITY'S CAPTURE BY CHINESE COMMUNISTS ADMITTED FREELY THAT SOME RUSSIAN CIVILIANS HAD BEEN INTERNED. THEY SAID THE INTERNMENTS WERE IN RETALIATION FOR TREATMENT CHINESE HAD SUFFERED AT THE HANDS OF SOVIET TROOPS.

EUROPEAN RESIDENTS OF CHANGCHUN WHO ASKED THAT THEIR NAMES BE WITHHELD RELATED THEY LIVED IN CONSTANT FEAR OF ROBBERY AND RAPE DURING THE SOVIET OCCUPATION, WHICH ENDED JUST BEFORE CHINESE

COMMUNISTS MOVED IN.

YOUNG GIRLS, THESE EUROPEANS ASSERTED, ATTEMPTED TO EVADE AMOROUS RUSSIAN TROOPS BY DISGUISING THEMSELVES AS OLD WOMEN -- BUT AGE, THEY ADDED, DID NOT SEEM TO MATTER; THE GIRLS WERE ATTACKED ANYWAY.

CAHGCHUN, MAY 7-(.$3)-$3$)-(AP)-GEN.PENG SHENG, SECRETARY-GENERAL OF THE CHINESE COMMUNISTS' NORTHEAST (MANCHURIA) BUREAU, DISCLOSED TODAY THAT THE COMMUNISTS CREATED A GOVERNMENT PREPARED TO TAKE CHARGE IN CHANGCHUN FOUR MONTHS BEFORE THEY ACTUALLY CAPTURED THIS MANCHURIAN CAPITAL.

IN AN INTERVIEW, PENG SAID THAT ON LAST DEC.26 COMMUNIST REPRESENTATIVES FROM 17 OF KIRIN PROVINCE'S 20 PRINCIPAL CITIES ORGANIZED A COMMITTEE OF 13 TO GOVERN THE PROVINCE, OF WHICH CHANGCHUN IS THE SEAT, AND WERE ALL SET TO TAKE OVER WHEN THE CITY FELL APRIL 18.

COMMUNIST PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENTS ALSO WERE ORGANIZED IN SEVEN OTHER OF THE NINE PROVINCES COMPOSING MANCHURIA.

(CURIOUSLY, THIS NINE-PROVINCE SYSTEM, TO WHICH THE COMMUNISTS SEEM TO HAVE CONFORMED FULLY, WAS LAID OUT NOT BY THE COMMUNISTS BUT BY THE CHINESE CENTRAL GOVERNMENT LAST OCTOBER.)

THE ONE PROVINCE IN WHICH THE COMMUNISTS HAVE NOT ESTABLISHED A GOVERNMENT, PENG SAID, IS HSINGAN, WHERE AN AUTONOMOUS MOVEMENT IS IN PROGRESS FOR AN "EASTERN MONGOLIAN REPUBLIC."

PENG SAID THE HSINGAN MOVEMENT WAS LED BY FORMER MEMBERS OF THE CENTRAL GOVERNMENT'S KUOMINTANG PARTY BUT THAT THE COMMUNISTS FAVOR IT AND THE HSINGAN LEADERS HAVE RECOGNIZED LOCAL GOVERNMENTS WHICH ARE PRO-COMMUNIST. HE ADDED THAT HE HAD NOT HEARD OF ANY RUSSIAN INFLUENCE IN THE AUTONOMOUS MOVEMENT.

PENG INDICATED THE COMMUNISTS HAD MARKED MANCHURIA FOR THEIR OWN LONG BEFORE THE JAPANESE SURRENDER AND STARTED MOVING IN RAPIDLY AS SOON AS THE JAPANESE QUIT.

WHILE THE CENTRAL GOVERNMENT HAD NO TROOPS READILY AVAILABLE TO OCCUPY MANCHURIA AND HAD TO ASK THE RUSSIAN ARMY TO STAY ON, THE COMMUNISTS WERE GETTING SET IN STRATEGIC POSITIONS.

WITH THE AID OF AMERICAN SHIPPING, THE CENTRAL GOVERNMENT SINCE HAS BROUGHT UP EIGHT ARMIES AND PUSHED THE COMMUNISTS OUT OF SOUTHERN MANCHURIA, BUT THE COMMUNISTS NOW HOLD SOME 70 PER CENT OF THE TERRITORY, PENG SAID.

TOKYO,MAY 9-(AP)-KYODO NEWS AGENCY SAID TODAY THE FINANCE MINISTRY REPORTED JAPAN'S EXPORTS AND IMPORTS FOR THE CALENDAR YEAR 1945 TOTALED APPROXIMATELY 1,340,000,000 YEN ($89,333,333)--41 PERCENT OF HER 1944 TRADE. TOKYO,MAY 10-(AP)-ADMIRAL LORD FRASER SAID TODAY THAT SHIPS OF THE BRITISH FLEET IN THE PACIFIC ARE "DOING ANY ESCORTING REQUIRED FOR UNITED STATES SHIPS WHICH ARE TAKING CHINESE (CENTRAL GOVERNMENT) TROOPS TO NORTHERN PORTS.

(THE DISPATCH DID NOT ELABORATE ON THE TRANSPORTATION ACTIVITIES OF UNITED STATES SHIPS. CHINESE COMMUNISTS, OPPOSING CENTRAL GOVERNMENT TROOPS IN TROUBLED MANCHURIA, HAVE CHARGED SUCH ACTIVITIES AMOUNT TO DISCRIMINATION BY THE UNITED STATES IN BEHALF OF CHIANG KAI-SHEK'S GOVERNMENT).

IN AN INTERVIEW, THE BRITISH FLEET COMMANDER IN THE PACIFIC ALSO SAID THE BRITISH ARE AIDING IN MOVING CHINESE GOVERNMENT ARMIES FROM SOUTH TO NORTH BY MAKING HONG KONG FACILITIES AVAILABLE.

ADMIRAL FRASER, IN TOKYO TO BID GOODBYE TO GENERAL MACARTHUR BEFORE RETURNING TO ENGLAND IN ABOUT A MONTH, SAID THE BRITISH WOULD TURN OVER THE CRUISER HMS AURORA TO THE CHINESE, WHO ALREADY HAVE ACCEPTED ONE ENGLISH CORVETTE.

THE BRITISH ALSO ARE ASSISTING IN INSTRUCTING CHINESE WHO WILL MAN SHIPS CHINA RECEIVES FROM THE UNITED STATES AND TREAT BRITAIN.

"MOST OF MY SHIPS HAVE SOME CHINESE ABOARD IN TRAINING," THE ADMIRAL SAID.

HE BELIEVES BRITISH PRESTIGE IN THE ORIENT HAS INCREASED SINCE THE WAR AND THE CHINESE ARE IMPRESSED WITH THE FIGURE CUT BY HIS

SHIPS IN FAR EASTERN WATERS. HE ADDED, HOWEVER, THAT THE CHINESE ARE "FRIGHTENED" BY BRITISH HELP, RECALLING THAT WHEN HE WANTED TO SEND ONE OF HIS VESSELS TO A CHINESE PORT THE CHINESE IMMEDIATELY DEMANDED THE REASON FOR SUCH ENTRY.

DESPITE THIS FEELING, THE CHINESE "COULDN'T BE MORE HELPFUL IN COOPERATING WITH THEIR ALLIES, THE ADMIRAL COMMENTED.

HE PREDICTED A "LONG OCCUPATION" FOR JAPAN.

"WHATEVER HAPPENS, CONTROLS MUST BE MAINTAINED A LONG TIME AND MUST HAVE A STEADYING EFFECT ON THIS COUNTRY," HE SAID.

"ASKED "HOW LONG WILL BRITISH TROOPS OCCUPY JAPAN?" HIS ANSWER WAS ANOTHER QUESTION: "HOW LONG WILL AMERICAN TROOPS OCCUPY JAPAN?"

HE PRAISED MACARTHUR'S HANDLING OF THE OCCUPATION AND SAID HE WAS IMPRESSED WITH THE AMOUNT OF RECONSTRUCTION IN JAPAN SINCE HE WAS LAST HERE AT THE TIME OF THE SURRENDER.

ON A BRIEF TRIP THROUGH THE COUNTRYSIDE HE HAD NOTED A "TREMENDOUS AMOUNT" OF LAND UNDER CULTIVATION, ADDING "I HAVEN'T SEEN MANY JAPANESE LOOKING VERY HUNGRY."

CHANGCHUN, MANCHURIA, MAY 7-(DELAYED)-(AP)-FAMED YOUNG MARSHAL CHANG HSUEH-LIANG, HELD AS A POLITICAL PRISONER, SHOULD BE RELEASED IF CHIANG KAI-SHEK IS SINCERE IN CARRYING OUT THE JANUARY TRUCE AGREEMENT, THE YOUNG MARSHAL'S BROTHER SAID TODAY.

CHANG HAS BEEN HELD 10 YEARS, SINCE ENGINEERING THE KIDNAPING OF THE GENERALISSIMO. CHIANG WAS RELEASED BY THE KIDNAPERS AFTER AN AGREEMENT WAS REACHED FOR A UNITED FRONT AGAINST ENCROACHING JAPAN.

THE MARSHAL'S BROTHER IS GEN. CHANG HSUEH-SHIH, RECENTLY NAMED GOVERNOR OF LIAONING PROVINCE BY THE CHINESE COMMUNIST PARTY. HE DECLARED EMPHATICALLY THAT THE GENERALISSIMO HAD BROKEN FAITH WITH CHANG, RECALLING THAT THE MARSHAL WAS PARDONED AFTER THE INCIDENT.

WASHINGTON, MAY 9-(AP)-TURKEY'S $90,000,000 LENDLEASE ACCOUNT WAS MARKED "SETTLED" BY THE UNITED STATES TODAY WITH THE TURKISH PROMISE TO PAY $4,500,000 CASH WITHIN 30 DAYS.

AN AGREEMENT NEGOTIATED IN ANKARA GAVE TURKEY THE RIGHT TO KEEP THE AMERICAN WEAPONS, PLANES AND MUNITIONS ALONG WITH $5,728,000 IN CIVILIAN GOODS, MOSTLY TRANSPORTATION STOCK AND AIRPORT EQUIPMENT.

MOST OF THE ARMS WERE SENT TO THE TURKS WITH THE LATE PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S APPROVAL DURING THE FOUR YEARS THAT THEIR COUNTRY REMAINED A NEUTRAL IN THE WAR AGAINST THE AXIS. THE STATE DEPARTMENT SAID THIS WAS DONE TO "STRENGTHEN TURKEY'S CAPACITY TO RESIST AXIS PRESSURES AND TO MEET SUCH DEMANDS FOR TURKISH ASSISTANCE AS ALLIED STRATEGY MIGHT REQUIRE." TURKEY DECLARED WAR AGAINST GERMANY FEBRUARY 23, 1945.

WASHINGTON, MAY 9-(AP)-DIPLOMATIC OFFICIALS SAID TONIGHT THAT THE RECENTLY CONCLUDED $90,000,000 LOAN AGREEMENT WITH POLAND IS BEING RECONSIDERED BECAUSE THE POLISH GOVERNMENT HAS NOT FULFILLED ITS PART OF THE BARGAIN.

INQUIRY AT THE STATE DEPARTMENT BROUGHT ONLY THE OFFICIAL REPLY THAT THE LOAN HAD NOT YET BEEN CANCELLED.

HOWEVER, IT WAS LEARNED THAT THE WHOLE ARRANGEMENT IS UNDER REVIEW AND CANCELLATION APPEARED TO BE A DISTINCT POSSIBILITY.

IN ORDER TO GET THE LOAN, THE POLISH GOVERNMENT MADE A SERIES OF COMMITMENTS INCLUDING A PROMISE TO HOLD FREE ELECTIONS, A DECLARATION THAT THE POLISH PEOPLE WOULD BE FULLY INFORMED OF THE AGREEMENTS AND THAT IN FUTURE THE UNITED STATES AND POLAND WOULD EXCHANGE FULL INFORMATION ON THEIR TREATIES AND AGREEMENTS WITH OTHER NATIONS.

WARSAW INFORMED WASHINGTON A FEW DAYS AGO THAT ELECTIONS WOULD BE HELD AS PROMISED NEXT FALL, BUT THIS WAS REGARDED SIMPLY AS A RE-AFFIRMATION OF WHAT ALREADY HAD BEEN STATED.

ON THE OTHER HAND, INFORMATION REACHING WASHINGTON IS THAT THE POLISH GOVERNMENT HAS NOT YET INFORMED ITS PEOPLE IN WAY OF THE LOAN OR THE COMMITMENTS IT UNDERTOOK IN OBTAINING THE CREDITS NOR HAS IT SUPPLIED THE UNITED STATES WITH REQUESTED INFORMATION ON ITS AGREEMENTS WITH OTHER NATIONS. PRESUMABLY THE SPECIFIC ISSUE IN THIS CASE IS POLISH AGREEMENTS WITH RUSSIA.

THE POLISH CREDIT IS IN TWO PARTS. FROM THE EXPORT-IMPORT BANK THE POLES ARE SUPPOSED TO OBTAIN A $40,000,000 CASH LOAN FOR NEW PURCHASES. WHILE THIS WAS COMPLETELY AGREED TO AND THE MONEY MADE AVAILABLE AT THE TIME THE AGREEMENT WAS COMPLETED, NONE OF IT YET HAS BEEN PAID OUT, ACCORDING TO GOVERNMENT FINANCIAL AUTHORITIES.

FROM THE FOREIGN LIQUIDATION COMMISSION, THE POLES WERE SUPPOSED TO OBTAIN AN ADDITIONAL $50,000,000 WORTH OF GOODS ON A CREDIT BASIS. NONE OF THE GOODS HAVE ACTUALLY BEEN DELIVERED, HOWEVER. THIS WOULD CONSIST OF SURPLUS WAR MATERIAL ALREADY IN EUROPE.

THUS CANCELLATION OF THE ARRANGEMENT WOULD DENY THE POLES ALL THE FINANCIAL AND MATERIAL HELP WHICH HAD BEEN PROMISED THEM.

RUSSIANS YIELD ON TWO POINTS

IN ITALIAN PACT

Concessions Seen Possible Opening Wedge in Week-long Stalemate.

AGREE ON TRUSTEESHIP

Reds Consent to Allied War Criminals Board Inside Italy.

J. Dynan

PARIS, May 10. — (AP) Russia yielded tonight on two disputed points in the Italian treaty before the four-power foreign ministers council, indicating, American sources said, a possible opening wedge in the week-long stalemate between the Soviet Union and the Western powers.

NIGHT

V. M. Molotov, Soviet foreign minister, agreed to give Italy sole trusteeship of her colonies won in pre-fascist days and to consent to an Allied War Criminals commission inside Italy—two points he previously opposed.

British 'Reservation'

Although, American sources said, Secretary of State James F. Byrnes agreed to both points, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin told the council he maintained "reservations" concerning the colonies.

Molotov previously had disagreed with the proposal—first put forth by the French—for allowing Italy to act as trustee of her former colonies under the United Nations, demanding that Russia be given a dominant role in Tripolitania in northern Africa. Observers believed Molotov's surprise move today was tantamount to withdrawing his demand for Tripolitania.

British sources said Bevin consented to designate Italy as sole trustee of Tripolitania and other portions of her former African empire only if the council agreed to name Great Britain as trustee of Cyrenaica, a colony adjoining Tripolitania on the Mediterranean.

Molotov's new statement concerning the Italian treaty followed a British charge that Russian opposition to calling a European peace conference before "Big Four" agreement on all treaties constituted a veto against hearing the other Allies.

Russia replied that any other course would risk splitting the world into two camps, informants said.

Agrees to Commission

Along with his agreement to modify his previous demands on Italian colonies, Molotov also waived his previous objections on a United States proposal to continue the work of the Allied Control commission in Italy by naming an Allied War Criminals commission to work inside the country.

British sources said that Bevin, in asking for British trusteeship of Cyrenaica, cited Great Britain's war-time promise to the tribesmen of that colony that they never again would be placed under Italian rule.

The blood of thousands of British soldiers spilled on the sands of Cyrenaica, Bevin told Molotov, entitled Britain to the trusteeship.

"Tobruk is to us what Stalingrad is to the Russians," British sources quoted Bevin as saying.

Concerning Russia's stand on the European peace conference, American and British sources said Byrnes pleaded with the council to set a definite date for the peace conference—on June 15, July 1, July 15, or any date so long as it was definite.

Molotov concurred with all such proposals, informants said, but always on the condition that the four powers must agree first on the essential points in all treaties to be considered before the invitations are sent out.

Must Face Issue

"We must all face it," Bevin was quoted as saying, "the issue is whether anyone of us can block holding the peace conference. This practically amounts to the use of the veto, and it would be carrying the veto too far to block the right of the other Allies to be heard at the peace conference."

American and British sources differed in their report of the discussion of the Italian treaty as to the exact extent of Russian support for France's suggestion to name Italy sole trustee for the colonies.

Americans said both Byrnes and Molotov supported it, but the British informants reported that the Russians consented to the proposal only with "certain reservations," which were not clarified.

British quarters said they believed Molotov's "certain reservations" might include giving the port of Trieste, heatedly disputed on the Italian treaty agenda, to Yugoslavia, and might wreck any hopes of colonial settlement. Russia previously offered to abandon her claims to a share in the Tripolitanian trusteeship if Yugoslavia's claims to Trieste were satisfied.

Real Progress Seen

However, Russia's concessions on both points were interpreted in American quarters as "real progress" in the negotiations and might be a harbinger that the area of disagreement between Russia on one hand and the United States and Great Britain on the other would be narrowed considerably.

The ministers reached no decision on either point and both subjects were carried over to tomorrow morning's meeting.

Today's second session opened with a review of the Trieste issue, with no change apparent on either side. According to American sources, the Russians insisted Yugoslavia get the port and most of the Istrian peninsula, while the other powers maintained it should go to Italy. The ministers then passed on to the Italian colonial issue.

Britain Accuses Russia Of New 'Veto' Move

J. DYNAN

Paris, May 10 (AP)—Russian insistence on full agreement among the Big Four before calling of a European peace conference was described at today's session of the Foreign Ministers as a "veto on permitting the nations which took part in the war to express their views" on the treaties, a British source said.

This source quoted British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin as attacking the Soviet stand during the morning's two-hour Council session.

A second meeting was scheduled for this afternoon in an effort to work out an agreement on the proposal of Secretary of State James F. Byrnes to convoke a 21-nation peace conference for June 15.

DAY

Byrnes Urges Parley Date

An American informant said Byrnes also opposed the Soviet stand and said the four governments had a responsibility before the world to see that the treaties were written and to safeguard the rights of the nations that participated in the war to have a say in the treaties.

Brynes suggested that the ministers set a definite date for the conference now and then continue working in Paris in small, informal sessions to try to narrow down the measure of disagreement between them before the conference.

Although the conferees were expected to make a last-ditch effort today to compromise their divergent views, most observers predicted that no agreement would be reached and that the Ministers would go home early next week.

Delegates themselves admitted privately that there was only a flicker of hope for bridging the gap between Russia and the West on several fundamental issues.

Gap Widened

That gap was widened yesterday when Byrnes and V. M. Molotov, Russia's Foreign Minister, argued for two hours—without agreement—on Byrnes's suggestion for a full conference June 15.

Molotov, reportedly acting on fresh instructions from Moscow, insisted that such a conference should act only on treaties on which Russia, France, Britain and the United States had reached a prior accord.

Russia's Proposals

To support his view, he offered two amendments, both of which were opposed by Byrnes.

The first of these accepted June 15 as the date for such a conference, provided the four Ministers reached a prior agreement on treaties to be discussed.

The second suggested that the Ministers adjourn now and meet again not later than June 5, when a 21-power conference would be called if an agreement could be reached on the treaties.

Byrnes countered with a suggestion that the 21-power conference should receive the treaties after the four Ministers had agreed "as far as possible." Otherwise, he said, disagreements among the Ministers would block the rest of the world from going ahead with treaties.

Backtracking Alleged

Molotov then accused Byrnes of backtracking on an agreement of the Foreign Ministers last December in Moscow. At that time, he said, the ministers had decided that they would agree on treaties before submitting them to a general peace parley.

An American source said Byrnes would not insist on calling a general parley if Russia refused to attend.

Even if the conferees fail to reach any agreement on the peace treaties, they are expected to remain in session for several more days to discuss the German situation—last item on the agenda. It was learned that the United States was determined to insist on full consideration of all angles of the German question, including Byrnes's proposed four-power treaty to supervise German disarmament and France's requests on the Ruhr and Rhineland.

ATTLEE 'GRATIFIED'; BEAVERBROOK BITTER

LONDON, May 10 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee's personal secretary said tonight that the Prime Minister was "highly gratified" by the Senate's approval of the British loan and would comment in Parliament.

News of the Senate's action was telephoned by The Associated Press to Mr. Attlee's country residence, where the Prime Minister's secretary informed him of the vote.

The announcement was received here soon after the Whitehall offices had closed down for the long British week-end, and most Government officials already had scattered.

The BBC, which seldom interrupts its programs, broke into its broadcasts to announce the news.

Sir John Anderson, Chancellor of the Exchequer in Winston Churchill's Government, said he was "very much relieved" by the Senate decision. He said confirmation from the House of Representatives would enable "us to do as we would wish to do, namely—to play our full part in world affairs, which otherwise would have been impossible."

Lord Beaverbrook, member of the wartime Coalition Cabinet, publisher of The London Daily Express and a stern opponent of the loan, said:

"The United States Senate has passed the loan. We have sold the empire for a trifling sum. Henceforth the United States of America reaps where we have sown.

Hunger Striker Dies In Dublin

Dublin, Saturday, May 11 (AP)—John McCaughey, 32, former Irish Republican Army "adjutant general," whose 23-day hunger strike provoked what police termed an "attempted attack" on Eire's President, died early today in his prison cell.

Prison sources disclosed the death.

Another imprisoned Irish Republican Army men, David Fleming, has been on a hunger strike for 49 days. Dr. Fred McSorley, a Nationalist member of Parliament in northern Ireland, after visiting Fleming in his Belfast prison, reported yesterday he stillhad surprising vitality and probably would live 'for many, many days yet.'"

He also said he had understood Fleming, who was convicted of felony and treason and sentenced to twelve years in jail for I.R.A. activities, "had made arrangements with his relatives to be buried near his home in Killarney." (ADD)

RUSSIA IS ASKED TO SUPPLY DATA ON FRANCO REGIME

L. HAUCK

NEW YORK, May 10—(AP) The United Nations broadened its investigation of the Franco regime today with a specific call to Russia and other governments for detailed information on Spain's activities during the war and now.

In addition to the Soviet government, which was asked to report on operation of the Spanish Blue division on the Eastern front, the Security Councils sub-committee addressed inquiries to the United States, Great Britain, Italy, all the Central and South American republics and the Philippines.

NIGHT

These requests were added to a general call for information to all United Nations members, the League of Nations, the U. N. War Crimes commission, the Nuernberg tribunal, the Allied Control Council in Germany, the Allied Council for Japan and the Allied Commission for Italy.

Among topics mentioned in the communications were requests for evidence of "subversive activities of the falange and Franco organization," harboring "German agents, organizations and war criminals," and "the attitude of the Franco regime during the recent war."

In announcing the wide scope of its investigation, the five-man committee reported after a fifth secret session that it had completed preliminary phases and would now begin holding daily sessions in an effort to meet the May 31 deadline on a report to the council.

A source close to the committee said the group today discussed the possibility of sending representatives to Spain to study the situation first hand, but that decision was reserved pending the results of the general call for information.

A non-committee delegate, who refused to permit use of his name, said, meanwhile, that a serious split already was developing on the committee, with Poland and France favoring sanctions against Spain and with Brazil and China opposed. The position of Australia, the fifth member, was described as unknown.

Two Reports Expected

This delegate said it could be expected that the committee finally would offer two reports—one suggesting sanctions and the other calling for a mere "moral condemnation" of the Franco regime. This delegate further suggested that if the council opposed sanctions, Russia could be expected to exert her veto power on the basis that it would be better or not at all than to move half-heartedly.

Jose Giral, premier of the exiled Spanish Republican government, was expected to arrive here from Paris over the week-end with what he has termed "a complete report and eight annexed documents showing that Franco's regime is a danger to world peace."

The Spanish Republicans presented their first batch of documents to the council through Oscar Lange, Polish delegate, in support of his charges that Franco menaced peace. Lange called for a worldwide rupture of relations with Madrid and the matter was referred to the subcommittee for study.

Spanish Republican Leader Due In N.Y.

New York, May 10 (AP) — The United Nations Security Council's investigating subcommittee resumed its study today of United Nations intelligence on Franco Spain with expectations of receiving another batch of documents shortly from the exiled Spanish republican leadership.

The Spanish republicans, responding to the investigators' invitation to all comers to submit information bearing on the Franco regime, are forwarding their latest contributions by their Premier, Jose Giral.

Giral Due In New York

He is expected here this week end from London, carrying what he called "a complete report and eight annexed documents showing that Franco's regime is a danger to world peace."

Spanish republican observers here said Giral would spend two days in New York before going to Mexico City to liquidate the exiled leadership's former headquarters, which has been removed to Paris, and would return here shortly to appear before the subcommittee.

Lange Presents Papers

The Spanish republicans presented their first file of documents to the Council through Polish Delegate Oscar Lange in support of his charges that Franco menaces peace and should be isolated by a collective United Nations break in diplomatic relations with Madrid.

Under the subcommittee's invitation, the way was opened for the Franco regime to state its own case, but thus far none has been reported received from the Madrid Government.

15 U.S. Reunions On French Soil

Paris, May 10 (AP)—Frenchmen looked with smiles of approval on an unaccustomed show of American emotion today, as All-American couples embraced on the St. Lazare railroad station platform.

It was the pioneer group of fifteen wives and twelve children of United States Army officers stationed in France and Belgium, being greeted by their husbands and fathers as they arrived from the United States.

Ten other similar households were set up in Paris, and most of the remainder in Belgium.

Mrs. Jerry McCann, wife of Second Lieutenant Marl P. McCann, of North Hollywood, Cal., got a surprise when she met her husband at the station for the first time in twenty months. While she was on the high seas en route to France, he was notified of his transfer from southern France to Berlin.

Paris-Posted Husbands

Two Paris-posted husbands on the platform already had greeted their wives at Le Havre yesterday. One was Major Clarence R. Brewer, of Indianapolis, meeting his wife Coral and daughters Paula, 13; Linda, 2½, and Judith, 1½; the other was Capt. Robert A. Salvador, of Ptesrson, N.J., meeting his wife Flora.

But not in the group was Mrs. Margaret Benedict. Her husband, First Lieutenant Paul H. Benedict, of Atlanta, Ga., had gone down to Le Havre in a jeep and taken her directly to his post at Campelgne.

Lieut. Col. Kurt Schnellenbach, of Kalamazoo, Mich., did almost as much for his family. He intercepted and took into his charge his wife, Eleanor, and children, Kurt, Jr., and Marlene, when they were riding between St. Lazare Station and their hotel.

U-Boat Order Against Rescue Of Survivors Defended by Doenitz

N. NORGAARD

NUERNBERG, May 10 — (AP) Grand Adm. Karl Doenitz said today he believed he was chosen to succeed Hitler in the last days of the war only because "after Reichsmarshal Goering was removed I was senior officer in command of an independent branch of the armed forces."

Doenitz, NIGHT defending himself against war crimes charges, told the international military tribunal he was strictly a military man until taking over as fuehrer.

When the Russian prosecutor challenged this statement, he declared that "when a soldier during the war stands solidly behind his nation and his government, that doesn't make him a politician."

Angrily Defends Order

The naval commander angrily reiterated many times that his order forbidding U-boats to attempt the rescue of survivors of torpedoed ships was intended only to insure the submarines' safety from surprise air attacks. This order has been one of the dominant points in the case against him.

A letter from 67 U-boat commanders now in British prison camps contended none could interpret the order as meaning they should exterminate Allied seamen deliberately.

Doenitz appeared most uneasy when reminded that he had cautioned the entire German navy in one order against "spreading the poison of Jewry." He explained hesitantly that he had believed "Germany's national strength and unity could not afford Jewish components."

British Prosecutor Sir David Maxwell Fyfe declared captured minutes showed that Doenitz had proposed in 1943 that Spain be occupied so U-boat activities could be increased from new bases. Hitler, he said, replied that Germany no longer had the resources to carry out such a venture.

Fyfe introduced admiralty records to show that the Germans had sunk 79 merchant ships without warning during the first year of the war. He said no warning was given to the Athenia, the first liner sunk in the war with heavy loss of British and some American lives.

Doenitz said "that was mistaken for an auxiliary cruiser and the commander was punished for it."

DOENITZ SOUGHT TO SEIZE SPAIN

Told Hitler U-Boat Bases Were Needed There.

J. REDY

Nuernberg, May 10 (A. P.).—Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz was accused before the International Military Tribunal today of proposing to Adolf Hitler in 1943 that German troops occupy Spain so that U-boat warfare could be stepped up through newly-acquired bases.

Sir David Maxwell Fyfe, British prosecutor, said that minutes of Doenitz-Hitler conversations captured by the Allies showed the former German naval chieftain informed the Fuehrer the U-boat campaign was going badly and that the only strategic area left for operation was the Bay of Biscay.

"The best strategic solution lies in the occupation of Spain," Doenitz was quoted as telling Hitler.

DAY

Possible in 1940.

Hitler's reply, the prosecutor said, was that such a step would have been possible in 1940 with Spain's co-operation, but that the Reich no longer had the resources for such a venture.

"I don't think I proposed to the Fuehrer that we occupy Spain," Doenitz told the tribunal from the witness stand.

Sir David retorted that the originals of the captured minutes were in London and could be produced.

The British prosecutor sharply attacked the admiral's contention that the German Navy under his direction abided by the rules of warfare. He quoted from the minutes of another meeting between Doenitz and Hitler when Hitler declared: "The only way to meet terror is with terror," as a means of breaking a general strike in Copenhagen.

Denies Ruthless Intent.

"Why did you circulate that among your officers?" Sir David asked. "Was it to inculcate ruthlessness in your officers?"

"That is not so," Doenitz replied. "It was merely to inform them that the strike existed."

Sir David declared that Hitler proposed in February, 1945, the renunciation of the Geneva Convention and that Doenitz advised him that "from a military standpoint there are no grounds for this step regarding the war at sea. This measure would bring no advantages. It would be better to take the necessary steps without losing face with the entire world."

Doenitz said that by "necessary steps" he meant only reduced rations for work units involved in sabotage.

A. M. G. Dissolves Monarchist Party

Bavarian Group Sought to Put Rupprecht on Throne

MUNICH, May 10 (AP).—The American Military Government dissolved today the growing Bavarian monarchist party and prohibited monarchist political activity.

Bavarian military government officers said the order to disband the "King and Fatherland" party came from higher authorities.

The Moscow radio charged recently that American authorities were sponsoring "Monarchist reaction" in Bavaria. They gave the party a temporary license in January.

In the party's first mass meeting in Munich ten days ago, disorders broke out in a packed theater when monarchist supporters forcibly ejected hecklers.

The party was founded to restore the monarchy in Bavaria and to place Crown Prince Rupprecht on the throne which his father, Ludwig III, lost in 1918.

Italian Cabinet Approves Rule By Umberto Until Referendum

E. Brutto

Rome, May 10 (AP)—The Italian Cabinet approved today the assumption of the throne by Crown Prince Umberto, but stipulated that he could rule only with limited powers until June 2, when the Italians will decide whether they want a monarchy or a republic.

The Cabinet decided at an extraordinary session that Umberto could approve decrees up until the referendum date with the signature "Umberto II, King of Italy," but ordered eliminated the traditional following phrase, "by the grace of God and the will of the people."

Recognition of Umberto was decided upon over the objection of the Communist leader, Palmiro Togliatti, who declared the abdication of King Vittorio Emanuele was a violation of the truce on the monarchy and would not be accepted by the people.

Limits Powers

The limitation on the powers of the Crown as provided by the Cabinet was merely a reaffirmation of the law already enacted last March restricting Umberto's powers as lieutenant general of the realm during the political campaign.

Earlier the Communists had indicated they would oppose Umberto's succession to the throne, and the Socialist press jeeringly referred to him as only "the King of the May." Headlines in a Socialist newspaper said "Fascist Prince Succeeds Fascist King for 23 days."

Dressed in a marshal's uniform and bareheaded, Umberto appeared eight times on the balcony of the royal palace during the day to acknowledge the acclaim of an estimated 10,000 cheering Romans.

Waving his hand and smiling, he came out three times singly, then with his consort, the former Princess Marie Jose, of Belgium, and four times with his family—the new Queen, three daughters and one son.

Umberto, who has served for two years as lieutenant general of the realm, was designated by his abdicated father to succeed to the throne before the King and Queen sailed away last night into exile.

Umberto in a letter to the Italian

Cabinet today promised to abide by the decision of the referendum on June 2 and thus may serve less than a month as king.

The letter said the abdication "does not in any way change the constitutional powers exercised by me as lieutenant general," although "legally it brought me to the succession."

It expressed confidence the Government "will still collaborate with me in the interests of the country until the decision of the people."

In a proclamation issued tonight, Umberto called upon his people to "gather about the flag under which the fatherland was unified and four generations of Italians have known how to live laboriously and die heroically."

The proclamation, dated yesterday, declared the abdication of Umberto's father was a step to contribute to "a more serene evaluation of national problems in the imminent peace."

"A Vigilant Custodian"

The new King also said in his proclamation that his first thought "went to the Italians of Venezia Giulia and of lands overseas who are begging to remain citizens of our common fatherland, to prisoners whose return is desired, to veterans to whom we owe every recognition and to all innocent victims of the enormous tragedy of the nations."

Umberto reiterated in the proclamation that he would abide by the decision of the people in the coming elections.

He declared he desired only "to be the first among Italians in the sorrowful hours and last in the happy ones." Umberto also asked to serve as "a vigilant custodian of the constitutional liberties and of international relations founded on honorable and acceptable accords."

While the Communist and Socialist press was hostile to Umberto, the monarchist newspaper Italia Nuova hailed him as "the King of the Italians" and the "only one who can work in defense of the permanent interests of the people."

Umberto Given King's Power Till June 2

J. McKnight

Rome, May 10 (AP)—The Italian Cabinet approved today the assumption of the throne by Crown Prince Umberto, but specified his powers would extend only until June 2. On that day the Italian people will decide whether to continue the monarchy.

The Ministry decided Umberto could sign decrees "Umberto II, King of Italy," but not use the phrase traditionally following the signature, "By Grace of God and Will of the People." Umberto's father, Vittorio Emanuele III, abdicated last night after a 45-year reign and sailed for Egypt.

"King Of May"

Communists oppose Umberto, and the Socialist press today called him the "King of May," and declared in its headlines "Fascist Prince succeeds Fascist king for 23 days."

The Socialist newspapers said the abdication was a "useless political maneuver" intended to influence the outcome of the June plebiscite.

Meanwhile, Greece also prepared to settle the fate of her king, George II. Premier Tsaldaris announced that Greeks would vote on the question as soon as electoral lists are revised. Previously, the Greek Government had not planned to hold a plebescite until 1948, but the Populist party, largely Monarchist, came into power in recent elections.

Agreement Reported

Recent announcements from Athens said the British and United States governments had agreed to the holding of an earlier plebiscite.

Rome's Communist party organ L'Unita charged that Vittorio's abdication had "broken the truce on monarchy." When the Allies captured Rome two years ago the Italian Government and Crown agreed to a truce on the question of the monarchy pending a voters' decision, but a British Foreign Office spokesman in London said recently the decision to hold the election June 2 was interpreted as ending the period of the true.

Earlier, Pietro Nenni, Socialist and vice president of the Constituent Assembly, and Palmiro Togliatti, Communist and Minister of Justice, argued that only the constitutional convention to be elected in the plebiscite has the right to select a new king.

Diversion Charged

A Socialist party manifesto termed the abdication "a diversion to derange orderly preparation of the referendum." A Republican party leader, Randolfo Pacciardi, said the abdication would have no effect on what he called the nation's swing toward a republic.

Premier Alcide de Gasperi commented only that he was confident the monarchy would abide by the decisions of the plebiscite.

The abdication document, written in the 76-year-old King's own hand, added Vittorio Emanuele to the long list of unemployed European monarchs. He and Queen Elena sailed aboard the cruiser Duke of Abruzzi for Cairo.

Urged By Advisers

Observers said the renunciation was an eleventh-hour effort to strengthen the House of Savoy for the plebiscite. But even the most optimistic Monarchists give the monarchy only a 50-50 chance of surviving.

For weeks, Monarchists circles said, advisers had told the King that by clinging to the throne after his "irrevocable" retirement from public life in June, 1944, he was hurting the monarchy.

Finally, the third Savoy King of unified Italy penned these words:

"I abdicate the crown of Italy in favor of my son Umberto of Savoy, Prince of Piedmont." (ADO)

Pope Is Notified

Vatican City, May 10 (AP)—Pope Pius today received formal notification of the abdication of King Vittorio Emanuele of Italy from Grand Admiral Thaon di Revel, Minister of Marine before the war.

The Pontiff, who is recovering from a slight throat ailment, which caused him to suspend daily audiences temporarily, made a special exception to receive the emissary and four noblemen privately.

"I have in mind," Britain's wartime Prime Minister told a news conference, "one combination of all Europe. If you can't have all at the first beginning, you may have to add to the organism as you go along."

Churchill talked for twenty minutes to Dutch editors at the Royal Palace in Amsterdam, where he is the guest of Queen Wilhelmina.

Prussia Is Danger Spot

He expressed "grave anxiety" over the future of beaten Germany and, with a faint smile, he added:

"I am not in position to propose a policy—but I would have had a policy."

To questions put by Dutch journalists, Churchill said he had long held the opinion that Prussia was the most dangerous part of Germany, and commented:

"I would have begun by separating Prussia from the rest of Germany. I would immediately have introduced a milder regime in the rest of Germany and kept strict vigilance on Prussia, which is the most malignant part of the former Reich."

"Must Live With Them"

Churchill commented that there were 80,000,000 Germans in the [illegible]ch "and we [illegible]t live with [illegible]m."

He said rearmament must be prevented.

"Those industries which make modern war possible must be subject to ceaseless vigilence," he said. "I would wish to see the Germans earning their own living as quickly as possible. We should be foolish to handle our affairs so as to prevent them from earning a living and then take the bread out of our own mouths to feed them."

He recalled that the most anxious period of the war was at the peak of German U-boat successes in 1941 and 1942, but said he never believed the Germans would be able to invade England.

Bids People of Europe Keep Tie to America

LEIDEN, The Netherlands, May 10 (AP).—Winston Churchill received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree today from historic Leiden University and, in a speech of acceptance, urged the people of Europe to keep their war-won unity with the Western Hemisphere.

"Let us keep our hands firmly clasped with that great power of America," he said. "Let us guard and cultivate those ties, and then we may find that, even in our time, we have taken our part in laying securely and unshakably the foundation of a better and brighter world."

BRITISH APPROVE VOTING BY GREEKS ON KING'S RETURN

I. Chakales

ATHENS, May 10—(AP) Premier Constantin Tsaldaris said today that Britain had approved the holding of a plebiscite on the return of King George II to the Greek throne as soon as election lists could be revised.

The plebiscite originally was scheduled for 1948. The present rightwing, royalist government of Tsaldaris has been urging an earlier vote since taking office last month.

Tsaldaris made the announcement after a call by British Ambassador Sir Clifford Norton. U. S. Charge d'Affaires Karl L. Rankin also called on the premier.

Date to be Set

Tsaldaris said the date would be determined by the Greek government when the electoral lists had been revised, or perhaps earlier. Greece has asked Allied observers to supervise the revision.

(Italy is scheduled to hold a plebiscite June 2 to determine whether to continue the monarchy or establish a Republican government.)

Leftwing groups boycotted the general elections March 31, the first in 10 years. Election lists have been declared far out of date, bearing the names of many voters who since died or moved away.

(In Moscow, the newspaper Pravda attacked Napolran Zervas, leader of the pro-monachist National party in Greece. Pravda charged that he was a Nazi collaborator who changed allegiance after German reverses and now was campaigning for extension of Greece's boundaries. It said Zervas received weapons from the Allies, but used them against Greek patriots.)

Reds' Occupation Costs In Austria Will Be Cut

Russia Also Will Provide Gas and Fuel for U. N. R. R. A.

VIENNA, May 10 (AP).—The Russians agreed at an Allied Control Council meeting today to cut their occupation costs in Austria substantially and to provide almost all of Austria's and U. N. R. R. A.'s gasoline and fuel oil requirements in this country from the Soviet-controlled Zistersdorf oil fields in Austria.

Occupation costs of the four Allied armies in Austria have accounted for about half of the Austrian budget since February. Under the agreement reached today these costs will be limited to 35 per cent of the budget. Russia has in Austria almost three times as many troops as the other three occupation powers combined.

A changed Russian attitude in Austria became apparent last month after Marshal Ivan S. Koney, Russian occupation commander, returned from a visit to Moscow. The Russians then withdrew their demand for large tracts of Austrian land and accepted a much smaller acreage, formerly used by the German army for training purposes.

POLE HELD PLANE OF BRITISH ENVOY

Warsaw, May 10 (A. P.).—A Polish general refused this week to allow the plane of British Ambassador Victor Cavendish-Bentinck to leave the Krakow airdrome for more than twenty-four hours.

When the envoy, Group Capt. Charles Burt-Andrews, finally was advised yesterday that he could take off, Burt-Andrews said he found that "a Russian had shoved his boot through the wing and tampered with the locks of the baggage compartment."

The Ambassador flew to Krakow to attend a film showing of "True Glory." Crowds cheered him wildly and hoisted him and Col. Walter Pashley, American military attaché put their shoulders and carried them to their hotel. Cavendish-Bentinck returned to Warsaw by automobile after protesting that "under the Moscow agreement, British and American planes had freedom of the air in Poland." The Polish general, in refusing permission for his take-off, asserted that he needed authorization from the war and foreign ministries.

Russia to Repatriate Poles

WARSAW, May 10 (AP).—Dr. Henry K. Wolpe, chairman of the Polish-Soviet repatriation commission, announced today upon returning from Moscow that the repatriation of approximately 800,000 Poles from Russian territory will be completed by the end of July. Sixty per cent already have left Russia, he said.

Big UNRRA SHARE For Polish Peasants

WARSAW (AP)—The peasants of Poland, estimated at 60 percent of the nation's 23,000,000 people, are expected to get a large share of UNRRA aid.

UNRRA's program calls for these deliveries to the farmlands: 23,000 horses, 19,000 head of cattle, 15,000 sheep, 25,000 hogs, 10,000 fowl, and 10,000 eggs for hatching. Twenty-one thousand tons of fertilizer will be distributed.

12 NAZIS QUIT SPAIN

Madrid, May 10 (A. P.).—Twelve Germans, including Major-Gen. Hans Doerr, former military attache of the German Embassy here, boarded a United States Army plane for Frankfurt today under the Allied Control Commission's repatriation program.

The British and American Embassy repatriation representatives had expected to send sixteen persons—the plane's capacity—but Spanish authorities failed to produce the remaining four. One of the four was Naval Attache Capt. Kurt Meyer Koehner.

Turkey Offers Export Food

Ankara, Turkey, May 10 (AP)—Turkey created a credit of 6,000,000 Turkish lira (about $4,800,000) yesterday in favor of UNRRA and announced she had ready for export to starving nations about 650,000 head of livestock, plus other foodstuffs.

Agriculture Minister Rasit Hatiboglu said he was unable to say what portion of the credit Turkey would be able to supply in actual food, but that he hoped it would be large. The nation must wait until the end of May of determine what foods can be furnished in accord with spring rains.

He said Turkish food would be distributed abroad on a purchase basis to nations and on a credit arrangement to UNRRA.

CAIRO ARAB FIGHT POLICE AT MOSQUE

40 Are Hurt and 200 Seized as Guns and Clubs End Rioting Against Palestine Report

PROTEST SENT TO BIG 3

CAIRO, Egypt, May 10 (AP)—Egyptian police fired at rioting Arabs with shotguns and wielded clubs today as violence flared in Cairo during the one-day Arab general [illegible] in all chief cities of the Middle East to protest against the recommendations of the Anglo American Committee of Inquiry on Palestine.

At least 40 persons were injured and more than 20 arrested in an outbreak at the ancient Azhar Mosque in the heart of Cairo's bazaar district, scene of previous riots.

There were no reports of violence from other main Middle Eastern cities, where the strike paralyzed business. Several minor demonstrations ocurred in Palestine, and two bombs exploded in Jewish stores last night in Beyrouth.

Battle On Mosque Roof

The Egyptian police opened fire with their shotguns on more than 200 stone-throwing Arabs on the roof of the Cairo Mosque after dispersing several thousand Arabs who attempted to demonstrate in the square in front of the massive building. The crowds gathered as they came from their noonday prayers.

The police were forced to retreat three times under a barrage of stones and debris. Reinforcements arrived and the police continued to fire at the Arabs on the roof.

The police prevented the crowd from swelling to even greater portions by keeping several thousand worshipers in the mosque.

Stones Litter Mosque Area

Finally the police entered the mosque and arrested more than 200 Arabs, taking them to the police stations in trucks. Then they cleared the crowds from the area in front of the mosque, which was littered with thousands of stones.

Blows from the policemen's clubs caused most of the injuries. One policeman and three other persons were hospitalized, while ambulance crews gave first aid to the others.

It was not known how many of the Arabs on the roof suffered wounds from shotgun pellets. Police attributed the stone-throwing to members of the Misr El Fatat youth organization, known also as the "Green Shirts." The Government has forbidden them from wearing the insignia from which thew derive their name.

Premier Tours Streets Of Cairo

Before the outbreak, Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha, accompanied by an armed escort, had toured the streets of Cairo. Most foreign-owned Cairo shops were closed, and tramway cars were not running.

In Alexandria the strike was quiet but effective, and similar reports were received from Port Said.

Diplomatic sources in Cairo said the strike was country-wide in Iraq.

Police Pour Shot Into Mob Atop Cairo Mosque

Cairo, May 10 (AP)—Police fired buckshot among a crowd of more than 200 stone-throwing Moslems who had assembled on the roof of Azhar Mosque today in a demonstration against the British-American Commission report on Palestine.

The police dispersed a crowd of thousands in the square who had gathered on the Moslem sabbath.

The battle was an outgrowth of a general one-day strike called by Moslems and Arabs in support of their Palestine colleagues which tied up many of the larger cities of the Middle East.

Crowd Driven From Square

While police continued to fire shotguns at persons on the roof, the crowd was dispersed from the square. It took refuge on side streets out of range.

At least one policeman was injured.

Attempting to block demonstrations when the crowd of worshippers came from their noonday prayers, armed police on foot and horseback held several thousand inside the mosque in the heart of the Cairo bazaar district. Three times the police in front of the massive stone mosque, one of the oldest in the world, were forced to retreat under a hail of stones and other missiles.

200 Seized, 40 Injured

Reinforcements arrived and the police entered the mosque and arrested more than 200. Approximately 40 of them were injured, mostly by police clubs.

Three persons, including the policeman, were taken to hospitals. Ambulance crews gave first aid to others.

Police then began clearing the area in front of the mosque of spectators. The square was left littered with thousands of stones.

A police officer expressed the belief that the stoning was started by members of the Misr el Fatah Youth Organization, which also is known as the Green Shirts. The Government has forbidden the wearing of green shirts.

ARABS TO RESIST ENTRY OF JEWS INTO HOLY LAND

JERUSALEM, May 10—(AP) The Arab Higher committee announced today it had sent telegrams to the heads of the "Big Three" powers and to the Foreign ministers conference in Paris asserting the Arab world would resist "to the last man" American-British recommendations on Palestine.

The recommendations would "enable the Jews of the world to invade our country under the protection of the armed forces of Britain and America," the message to President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee and Generalissimo Stalin said. It was also sent to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

Mandate End Asked

Abolition of the British mandate over Palestine and complete independence for the Arabs in the Holy Land were demanded in the communication to the foreign ministers. Jamal Effendi Husseini, trustee for the powerful Higher committee, signed both messages.

The telegram to the "Big Three" powers [illegible]

"The report of the Anglo-American committee and its recommendations are an absolute injustice and a complete repudiation of all the principles of freedom, self-determination and democracy. It is nothing but an instrument of imperialism and clear proof of the bankruptcy of the Western democracies and the falsity of their claims for the protection of human rights.

"The recommendations will enable the Jews of the world to invade our country under the protection of the armed forces of Britain and America. The Arabs shall oppose enforcement of the recommendations to the last man. This policy will endanger the peace of the Middle East and the world. The Arabs of Palestine appeal for human justice."

Calls Democracy Failure

The telegram to the foreign ministers conference said:

"The Arabs consider the report of the British-American committee a submission to Jewish terrorism and financial influence, and a gross violation of the principle of self-determination and a complete failure of western democracy.

"The Arabs reject this instrument of imperialism violently and shall oppose its enforcement to the last man. They demand the abolition of the mandate and independence in their own country."

Jamal Husseini and other Arab leaders went to Jaffa today for a meeting with the Moslem brotherhood. It was his first visit to Jaffa since his return from political exile of nine years.

Arabs Protest 'Invasion' By World Jews

Jerusalem, May 10 (AP)—The Arab Higher Committee announced today it had cabled the Big Three nations that recommendations of the British-American committee on Palestine would "enable Jews of the world to invade our country under the protection of the armed forces of Britain and America."

The message, sent to Prime Minister Stalin, President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee—and to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, who is attending the Foreign Ministers conference in Paris—threatened to oppose the recommendations "to the last man."

Asking [illegible] Justice"

Jamal Effendi Husseini, trustee for the Higher Committee, signed the cables, which closed with an appeal "for human justice."

Coincidentally the Higher Committee cabled the foreign ministers conference a demand for the abolition of the British mandate in Palestine and for the granting of independence to the Arabs there.

This message said:

"The Arabs consider a report of the Anglo-American committee a submission to Jewish terrorism and financial influence and a gross violation of the principles of freedom of self-determination, and complete failure of Western democracy.

To Resist "Imperialism"

"The Arabs reject this instrument of imperialism violently and shall oppose its enforcement to the last man. They demand abolition of the mandate and independence in their own country."

The cable sent to the Big Three leaders said:

"The report of the Anglo-American committee and its recommendations are an absolute injustice and a complete repudiation of all principles of freedom of self-determination in all democratic principles.

Allies "False To Claims"

"It is nothing but an instrument of imperialism and clear proof of the bankruptcy of western democracies and the falsity of their claims for the protection of human rights.

"The recommendations will enable Jews of the world to invade our country under the protection of the armed forces of Britain and America. Arabs shall oppose enforcement of the recommendations to the last man. This policy will endanger peace of the Middle East and the world. The Arabs of Palestine appeal for human justice."

Arab Strike Ties Up Middle East Cities

London, May 10 (AP)—A general strike of Arabs protesting British-American inquiry committee recommendations that Palestine be opened to 100,000 Jewish immigrants from Europe halted business activity in most important cities of the Middle East today.

Two bombs exploded in Jewish stores in Beirut last night, causing heavy damage and wounding four.

Extra [illegible] Taken

Police [illegible] took extraordinary precautions against any outbreak of violence, and Egyptian Prime Minister Ismail Sidky Pasha, accompanied by an armed escort, toured the streets of Cairo.

Most Cairo shops were closed and tramcars were not running. Extra police were on duty and large reserves were held in readiness.

Military vehicles toured the streets and the city was placed out of bounds for British troops. A heavy police guard was thrown around the old Mousky Bazaar, Cairo's market place, which was the goal of a mob attack in a Palestine protest last November.

Alexandra Paralyzed

The work stoppage was almost 100 per cent effective in Alexandria, where large forces of police and soldiers, some of them patrolling the main thoroughfares in trucks, were on duty. Diplomatic sources in Cairo said the strike was nation-wide in Iraq.

Jamel Effendi Husseini, chairman of the Arab Higher Committee, visited Jaffa today for the first time since his return from political exile nine years ago. Jaffa is an Arab-populated port adjoining the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv.

Arabs [illegible] U.S. Assurance

Washing[illegible] May 10 (AP)—Dean Acheson, [illegible]g Secretary of State, disclosed t[illegible] that he had assured diplomats [illegible] five Arab countries that the United States will make no final decision on Palestine without first consulting their governments and the Jews.

Acheson told a news conference he had reiterated these promises to the representatives of Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Iraq, Lebanon and Syria when they called on him to protest the recommendations of the Anglo-American Commission on Palestine.

TRUCE IS REACHED BY RIVAL FACTIONS IN CENTRAL CHINA

U. Rogers 1946

NANKING, May 10 (AP) A new truce in central China was announced today, paving the way for further efforts to settle the Manchurian conflict where the rising Communist forces admittedly outnumber government troops two to one.

NIGHT

Manchurian negotiations have been at a standstill pending the settlement of the Honan-Hupeh border strife, where the Communists have charged that 300,000 government troops were trying to annihilate 60,000 Communists.

The new cease-fire agreement was announced by U. S. Brig. Gen. H. A. Byroade, Communist Gen. Chou En-Lai, and Government Gen. Hsu Yun-Chang, who went to the scene north of Hankow Sunday.

Fighting to Cease

It provides for all fighting to cease, exchange of prisoners, halting all troop movements and fortification building, exchange of liaison officers, evacuation of 1,000 Communist wounded and sick, and protection for demobilized Communists en route home.

Chou said the investigators had found evidence of skirmishes and troop movements but did not say whether there actually was any large-scale fighting. Government sources have derided previous Communist assertions that the fighting was of serious proportions.

In Manchuria, the government professed to have adopted a watchful waiting policy, although preparing for a possible resumption of warfare with the Communists.

Gen. Ho Ying-Chin, government army chief of staff, told correspondents here that the National armies in Manchuria totalled less than 210,000 men and that the Communists had twice that many there.

900,000 'Red' Troops

The Communists previously claimed to have 300,000 troops in Manchuria and to hold 70 per cent of the territory. A Communist spokesman in Peiping said today that exclusive of Manchuria the Communists now had 900,000 men under arms.

(In Mukden, Gen. Tu Li-Ming, government commander, claimed to have captured 8,000 to 9,000 Communists while "ten thousand others threw down their arms and went home" in the Penshi sector south of Mukden.

(He acknowledged, however, that on the road to Communist-held Changchun the Communist strength was "more formidable than we had imagined," and that the key railway city of Szepingkai south of Chungchun was only half-captured after a month of fighting.

(A Communist "communique" broadcast from Yenan, heard in Manila, accused the government forces of continuing to attack Szepingkai for the 23rd consecutive day, with artillery fire at the rate of 800 rounds an hour.)

With the military situation thus confused, the army unification program was reported stalled, as the government was reluctant to place modern American weapons in Communist hands for training purposes.

Thirty-five American army instructors have been waiting a month for the opening of the joint training school at Kaigan, but it has been postponed until June 1 and there are predictions it cannot open before July 1, if then.

TRUCE REACHED BY FACTIONS IN CENTRAL CHINA

Accord at Hankow Opens Way to Settlement of Manchurian Issue.

ACHIEVED BY SINO-U. S. TEAM

Marshall's Peace Attempts Had Been Stalled Pending Inquiry Into Communist Charges.

Nanking, May 10 (A. P.).—Communist and Government forces have reached a cease-fire agreement in central China that official spokesmen said opens the way for resumption of discussion of the Manchurian problem.

The truce was announced today by a Sino-American team upon its return from Hankow, scene of the signing. Members of the team are Brig.-Gen. Henry A. Byroade, Communist Gen. Chou En-lai, and Nationalist Gen. Hsu Yung-chang.

DAY

Attempts of Gen. Marshall's committee here to settle the Manchurian civil war have been stalled pending an investigation of Communist charges that 300,000 Government troops had begun a campaign on annihilation against 60,000 Comunnist soldiers in Central China. Chou said that skirmishing and troop movements had been discovered but it was not indicated there had been any large scale fighting.

The truce provided for an end to skirmishing, troop movements and building of block houses; for exchange of liaison officers, exchange of war and political prisoners, evacuation of 1,000 sick Communists and 100 Communist families, and protection for the demobilized Communists while they are leaving the area.

Chiang Troops Halt Drive On Reds

T. PATTERSON

Mukden, May 10 (AP)—Gen. Tu Li-ming, commanding Chinese Government troops in Manchuria, said today his forces have adopted a "wait and see" policy as they consolidated for a possible all-out battle with Chinese Communists at Szepingkai.

Tu conceded that the Communist forces at Szepingkai—midway between Mukden and Changchun—were "more formidable than we had imagined."

After more than a month of fighting, Government troops have taken only the southern half of the city. The Communists still hold the northern half and the mountainous area to the north.

The Key Situation

DAY

Capture of that mountainous area, Tu said, would ease the task of retaking Changchun, the Manchurian capital. The terrain thereafter flattens out.

The Chinese Reds claim control of about 70 per cent of Manchuria. Politically they are digging in solidly. They have three armies, totaling more than 300,000 well-equipped and trained troops, to protect their gains.

"Since the Communists have amassed a strong force at Szepingkai, we are waiting to see what kind of an agreement will be made at Nanking," Tu said.

General Marshall Active

General Marshall, president Truman's special envoy, is meeting in Nanking with Communist and Government representatives in an attempt to settle the Manchurian question.

Tu claimed a decisive victory in the south Manchurian sector of Penshi. He said that between 5,000 and 6,000 Communists surrendered, 3,000 were captured, and "10,000 others threw up their arms and went home."

[In Nanking, Gen. Ho Ying-Chin, commander in chief of the Chinese Army, told correspondents the Communist military strength in Manchuria is double that of the Government.

General Offensive Denied

[He said there were less than 210,000 Government soldiers and contended that, under the army reorganization program, the ratio should be five to one, with the Reds in the minority.

[He denied Communist charges that national troops have begun a general offensive in central Hupeh province in China proper.

[Reliable Nanking sources reported that Government reluctance to place modern American weapons in the hands of the Communists, even for training purposes, had developed a snag in the Chinese Army nationalization program.

[As a result, the opening of the projected army school for Communist officers is uncertain. Meantime, 35 American Army officers and enlisted men who were to be instructors at the school are awaiting a final decision.]

Says Secret Police Killed Chinese Editor

Nanking, May 10 (A. P.).—A Communist spokesman, Wang Ping-nan, charged today that secret police killed Li Fu-ren, editor of a liberal newspaper at Sian and prominent member of the Democratic League, on May 2.

DAY

Wang asserted that the killing was connected with Li's publication of details of the death of another Liberal newspaper man at Nantung in Kiangsu province.

Yank's Testimony Gives Jap 30-Year Sentence

Shanghai, May 10 (AP)—Lieut. (jg) Edwin J. Walasek's testimony that Major Yoshio Makizawa tortured him seven hours drew the Japanese a 30-year sentence from an American military tribunal that convicted him today.

Walasek, navy dive-bomber pilot from Omaha, Neb., was captured during an October, 1944, fleet attack on Formosa. He testified that despite the torture he refused to give the Japanese information regarding the fleet.

Makizawa had been sentenced to ten months' imprisonment by a Japanese court for the same offense. American military authorities, dissatisfied with the verdict, ordered him tried before a United States tribunal.

China To Fly Food To Famine Areas

Shanghai, May 10 (AP)—The Evening Post and Mercury, in a Nanking dispatch, today reported the Chinese Government had approved Gen. Claire L. Chennault's plan to fly food to famine areas.

The dispatch said the former commander of the Flying Tigers had arranged with the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration to fly 4,000 tons of foodstuffs a month to Central China beginning in July.

India Talks Progressing

Simla, India, May 10 (AP)—An informed source said today that Indian independence negotiations between a British Cabinet delegation and Indian party representative had progressed so far that the conferees were talking about personnel to occupy offices in the proposed interim central government.

A Congress party source predicted that the central government would be ready to take office in New Delhi in the next few days.

No Agreement Yet

DAY

It was conceded that the Moslem League had not accepted the Congress party's demand for establishment of such a government. But continuing talks which Mahomed Ali Jinnar, president of the League, had with Viceroy Lord Wavell and with Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, president elect of the Congress, were looked upon as being aimed at resolving existing conflicts.

It was learned that the Congress party was pressing to proceed with the formation of a new central government and to submit irreconcilable conflicts with the Moslem League to arbitration by an international body.

The League has insisted that the establishment of a separate Moslem state must be recognized as the basis for any progress and that Moslem "independence cannot be arbitrated."

Sydney Polio 'Worst Ever'

Sydney, Australia, May 10 (AP)—Eighteen new cases of infantile paralysis were reported here yesterday as medical men sought to stem an outbreak of the disease which they described as the worst in the city's history. Health authorities said the disease appeared to be spreading faster with the approach of winter instead of diminishing, as is usually the case.

19 Arrested in Korea

Song, Communist Aid, Among Those Held as Counterfeiters

SEOUL, Korea, May 10 (AP).—The arrest of nineteen persons, including Song Un Pil, assistant financial director of the South Korea Communist party, for questioning in large-scale counterfeiting operations, was announced today by Korean police. They said the peak of activity of the ring had been reached last month when one of every five 100-yen notes accepted at the Bank of Chosen (Korea) was counterfeit.

Song denied connection with the ring, but police said six others who confessed declared he had helped supervise the printing of 3,100,000 yen in 100-yen notes in January and February.

U. S. Plans to Revive Korean Silk Industry

Seoul, May 10 (A. P.).—The American Military Government today projected a long-range plan to revive Korea's silk industry, now at 15 per cent normal output, to a 1950 maximum which will compete with Japan and China in the world market. The plan contemplates 75 per cent production next year.

British Aiding U.S. Ships In China

Tokyo, May 10 (AP)—Admiral Lord Fraser said today that ships of the British fleet in the Pacific are "doing any escorting required for United States ships which are taking Chinese (Central Government) troops to northern ports."

[The dispatch did not elaborate on the transportation activities of United States ships. Chinese Communists, opposing Central Government troops in troubled Manchuria, have charged that such activities amount to discrimination by the United States in behalf of Chiang Kai-shek's Government.]

Aid Given At Hong Kong

DAY

The British fleet commander in the Pacific also said the British are aiding in moving Chinese Government armies from south to north by making Hong Kong facilities available.

Admiral Fraser, in Tokyo to bid good-bye to General MacArthur before returning to England in about a month, said the British would turn over the cruiser Aurora to the Chinese, who have already accepted one English corvette.

The British also are assisting in instructing Chinese who will man ships China receives from the United States and Britain. "Most of my ships have some Chinese aboard in training," the admiral said.

Sees British Prestige Up

He believes British prestige in the Orient has increased since the war and the Chinese are impressed with the figure cut by his ships in far eastern waters.

He added, however, that the Chinese are "frightened" by British help, recalling that when he wanted to send one of his vessels to a Chinese port the Chinese immediately demanded the reason for such entry.

Patriarch Heads Jap Defense Counsel

Tokyo, May 10 (AP)—Dr. Somei Uzawa, president of Meiji University and a patriarch of Japan's legal profession, has been installed as chief of the Japanese Defense Counsel group for the trials of his country's top-flight war criminal suspects.

Dr. Uzawa, said several weeks ago that he would never defend ex-Premier Hideki Tojo, because he considered him guilty. He is defending Toshio Shiratori, who as former Ambassador to Italy was a principal in the tripartite alliance, also former Gen. Iwane Matsui, accused of the "rape of Nanking."

The Japanese defense group decided at a meeting to replenish trial funds by obtaining 1,000 yen from each member of the counsel and 10,000 yen from each of the 28 defendants. The value of the yen is fifteen to one American dollar.

Matsudaira Among Premier Possibilities

Tokyo, May 10 (AP)—Speculation on possibilities for a new Japanese Premier turned today to Tsuneo Matsudaira, former Imperial Household Minister, an old-line politician and long-time associate of Premier Shidehara.

Shidehara is considered anxious to have a man of similar ideas, such as Matsudaira, succeed him.

Eleven members of the House of Peers, including Prince Tadashige Shimazu, Prince Saneatsu Tokudaiji and Count Naosuke Mizoguchi, resigned today under the Allied purge directive.

Pauley In Tokyo

Tokyo, May 10 (AP)—Edwin W. Pauley, United States reparations commissioner, arrived today and said he would confer with Generals Eisenhower and MacArthur.

M'Arthur Greets Eisenhower; Their First Meeting Since 1939

Tokyo, May 10 (AP)—The top commanders of victorious Allied armies in Europe and the Pacific met today for the first time since hostilities began.

"We never thought we'd be getting together again out here," exclaimed General Eisenhower, whose leadership brought victory in the European theater, to General MacArthur, supreme commander in the Pacific.

Parted In 1939

They had not met since 1939, when Eisenhower as a lieutenant colonel left the staff of MacArthur, then commander in the Philippines.

"Well, Mac, how are you?" were the chief of staff's first words as he grasped MacArthur's hands.

"It's good to see you again," exclaimed MacArthur as he slapped Eisenhower on the shoulder.

After a quick word with Lieut. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, 8th Army commander who accompanied MacArthur to Atsugi airport, the two top commanders departed for lunch at the American Embassy.

Radar Guides Plane In

Eisenhower's plane landed with the aid of radar because of a 500-foot ceiling and a drizzling rain.

Afterward they went to MacArthur's headquarters for a meeting with staff officers.

Tentative plans for Eisenhower's visit call for further conferences tomorrow and a review and inspection of the Tokyo occupation units and the 1st Cavalry Division on Sunday morning. Sunday afternoon Eisenhower is scheduled to leave for a two-day inspection of units in southern Honshu.

He plans to leave for the United States by plane from Kobe on Wednesday.

Rides With Jap Girls Banned

Yokohama, May 10 (AP)—The 8th Army provost marshal today ordered strict enforcement of rules against public fraternization between GI's and Japanese and of regulations concerning military courtesy and dress.

Cracking down on joy riding with Nipponese girls in army jeeps, the provost marshal ordered that all jeeps be checked to determine whether Japanese women passengers are being carried on authorized business.

Under Lieut. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger's order banning public display of affection more than a month ago, military police were ordered to check all theaters, clubs and public places, to enforce proper wearing of the uniform and also to enforce the 11 P.M. curfew and off-limits rules.

Tokyo Receiving Less Food

Tokyo, May 10 (AP)—Another serious food crisis is in prospect for Tokyo, the Kyodo news agency reported today, because of a steady drop in food receipts from outside prefectures. The agency said daily receipts dropped to 13,628 bales, far below Tokyo's 21,000 daily consumption.

3 U. S. Flyers Killed In 2 Crashes in Japan

Tokyo, May 10 (A. P.)—The Fifth Air Force reported today that three airmen were killed in two crashes and a third American plane was forced down by bad weather yesterday between Nagoya and Atsugi. Names were withheld.

B-29 SETS RECORD AT 39,360 FEET

Manila, May 10 (A. P.)—A United States Eighth Air Force Superfortress flew up to 39,360 feet with a load of more than 22,000 pounds of bombs over Guam, May 7, to break the world's altitude record for land planes in the 10,000 kilogram (22,046 pounds) class, headquarters of Army Air Forces in the Pacific announced today. The previous record was 23,759 feet set in 1938 by Karlheinz Kindermann, a German.

The B-29 was piloted by Capt. Arthur A. Pearson of Tucson, Ariz.

The B-29, "Challenger," took off from and landed at Harmon Field, on Guam. The Challenger was Lieut.-Gen. Jimmy Doolittle's plane. Recently while piloted by Col. C. S. Irvine, assistant chief of staff at headquarters here, it made record-breaking flights from Los Angeles to Hawaii and from Hawaii to Guam.

Other crew members on the altitude flight included Joseph Friedberg of New York city. C. R. Logsden of New York certified the record for the Federation Aeronautique Internationale.

Guerrillas, Huks Clash In Philippines

Manila, May 10 (AP)—Ten guerillas of the USAFFE were wounded in a three-hour clash yesterday with 500 Hukbalahaps in Neuva Ecija province, Filipino military police headquarters reported today, but it said that quiet now prevails—for the first time since April 23.

Lieut. Col. A. Dumlao, of the MP's, said news of the truce agreed upon here this week had not reached central Luzon in time to prevent yesterday's clash. He expressed the hope that today's calm indicated the end of sanguinary fighting that has taken 50 or more lives since the April 23 elections.

The USAFFE guerrillas were so named when General MacArthur's forces (United States army forces in the Farst East) recognized them after returning to the Philippines. They and the Huks both had sought recognition and have long been at odds.

Geiger Is China-Bound

Pearl Harbor, May 10 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Roy S. Geiger, commanding Pacific Marine forces, will leave by plane tomorrow morning for Tientsin to inspect Marine installations in China.

Brazil Plans Red Ouster

Rio de Janeiro, May 10 (AP)—Labor Minister Negrao Lima declared today "it is time for action" against Communists.

Returning from an investigation of Santos, the world's greatest coffee port, the Minister told a news conference that the Government might nationalize the port to release it from Communist domination.

"I wish to tell Brazilians that communism is a well-organized minority dominating thousands of our countrymen who are brutally exploited and humiliated by foreign Communists, especially Spaniards," he said.

The Communist newspaper Tribuna Popular asserted that Lima's charges were part of a Government plan to give Santos a blood bath, based on a false assumption of Communist agitation.

Ex-Head Of Panama Begins 9th Day Of Hunger Strike

Panama City, May 10 (AP)—Dr. Arnulfo Arias, former President of Panama, who began a hunger strike May 2 to protest alleged Government delay in bringing him to trial on charges of participating in an abortive armed revolt last December, was reported last night by his physician to be in a delicate but not serious condition.

Eighteen co-defendants, held with Arias since December in connection with an attack on a Colon police station, also went on strike. Thirteen are still refusing food.

Arias developed gall bladder trouble on the even of his fast and was transferred from his jail cell to a private hospital. His doctor said he started taking orange juice last night.

Six persons were killed and eight wounded in the uprising last December 21. Arias and 87 others were taken into custody. The district attorney said the plot was engineered by a youth organization, composed of Arias sympathizers. Arias has denied any knowledge of the attempted coup.

British Loan Approved By Senate

WASHINGTON, May 10—(AP) A 50-year loan of $3,750,000,000 to prime Great Britain's economic pump was approved by the Senate today and sent to an uncertain fate in the House.

By a 46 to 41 vote the chamber approved without changing any of its terms legislation authorizing the advance of funds under an agreement signed with the British last December.

Passage came after the administration, in full command of the situation, beat down amendments which Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky.) contended would have forced renegotiation of the agreement with resultant delays.

In the House, Chairman Spence (D-Ky.) of the Banking committee has ordered hearings to start Tuesday and expects them to last about two weeks. Representative Sparkman of Alabama, the Democratic whip, predicted the House would pass the measure a week later by a comfortable majority.

As approved by the Senate, the loan bill authorized the Treasury to advance up to $3,750,000,000 to the British during the next five years. They would pay no interest during that time, but would begin paying two per cent in 1951.

Interest Waiver Provided

The British could obtain waiver of interest payments whenever their exports failed to exceed 60 per cent those of the period immediately before the war.

In return, the British promised to attempt within a year to begin dissolving the war-time currency restrictions under which countries in the so-called "sterling bloc" sold goods to England, and received credits they could spend only for British goods and services.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) told his colleagues that $2,200,000,000 would be needed by Britain to meet her immediate financial obligations and $1,300,000,000 to bring British troops back from all over the world. An opponent of the loan, Taft said that would leave little for long-range financial help.

18 Republicans Opposed

On the final test, 17 Republicans joined 29 Democrats in supporting the loan proposal. Registered against it were 18 Republicans, 15 Democrats and one Progressive.

Opposition and support of the measure was scattered sectionally.

Before the final vote, the Senate beat down four last-minute attempts to amend the measure.

It sank, 52 to 29, a proposal by Senator Ellender (D-La.) to require the British to spend 90 per cent of the loan funds they receive for American products.

It then defeated, 55 to 26, a proposal by Senators Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) and Olin Johnston (D-S.C.) to advance the British $1,000,000,000 through the Reconstruction Finance corporation and finance the rest of the loan by sales of British bonds in this country.

Members then shouted down in quick order two amendments by Senator Langer (R-S.D.). One would have authorized $3,750,000,000

...hway improvements in this ...ry. The other would have ...ided for a subscription loan.

Curb On British Use Of Loan Is Sought

Washington, May 10 (AP)—Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky.) confidently predicted Senate approval of the $3,750,000,000 British loan today by a three to two margin.

With a vote on passage scheduled for this afternoon, Barkley said that the ease with which the Administration smashed down opposition amendments in a stormy session yesterday portended an even greater majority than he originally expected.

Before the Senate for its first action today was a proposal by Senator Ellender (D., La.) to require that 90 per cent of the money England will get be spent on American goods. As the agreement stands, there is no provision limiting the expenditures.

Taft, Langer Moves Fail

In a session lasting almost twelve hours yesterday, the Senate disposed of several amendments, striking down in an after-dark meeting proposals by Senators Taft (R., Ohio) and Langer (R., N.D.).

Taft sought to substitute a $1,250,000,000 gift, to be spent in this country, for the loan. The idea was beaten, 50 to 16. Langer tried to authorize Government loans to veterans on an interest-free basis for five years and then a 1.6 per cent rate. The Senate beat that by 56 to 12.

The Voting Agreement

Pushed by senators who want to get going on legislation they believe will help to end the soft-coal strike, Barkley had sought to force a final vote last night.

But Langer took the floor at the dinner hour and held it for four hours. When he finally sank into his chair to rest, Barkley proposed a final vote at 3 P.M. today. Senator Morse (R., Ore.) objected and proposed 5 P.M. Then Taft objected angrily, saying he could not be in Washington at that time. Barkley smoothed the ruffled tempers later and got his agreement.

Censorship of AP Dispatch Held Barrier to Polish Credits

WASHINGTON, May 10—(AP) Acting Secretary of State Acheson said today censorship of an Associated Press dispatch dealing with a Polish political speech had been largely responsible for suspension of American credits to Poland.

The article dealt with a speech by a Pole, Stanislaw Banczyk, Acheson told a news conference, and the Warsaw government's refusal to permit it to leave the country is regarded here as a probable violation of Poland's promise to hold free and unfettered elections.

Promise a Condition

That promise was a condition of granting Poland a $40,000,000 loan and credit.

On other points, Acheson said:

1. "The Soviet Union has taken a position that it will not compromise its claims to German assets in eastern Austria and does not intend to give other powers a voice in the matter.

2. The United States will not be satisfied with any action by Franco Spain on repatriation of Nazis to Germany until all 2,200 of those listed as obnoxious are thrown out of Spain.

3. The United States has assured the representatives of Arabian countries that it will not make any definite decision on the proposal for admittance of 100,000 Jews to Palestine without consulting the Arabian governments.

On the Polish situation, Acheson said a $50,000,000 credit covering acquisition by Poland of American surplus property in Europe, and a $40,000,000 cash loan from Export-Import bank are involved.

The only definite action thus far taken, he said, is to dispatch to Europe an order holding up all deliveries of surplus property to Poland.

But in response to a question, Acheson added that none of the $40,000,000 had been paid out to the Poles.

Larry Allen, Associated Press correspondent in Warsaw, said in a dispatch May 1 describing Polish censorship that the Polish secret police had countermanded a directive of the foreign ministry issued two weeks earlier declaring that all Polish censorship would be removed.

Allen said both outgoing and incoming dispatches still were being subject to censorship. He quoted aides of Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, who has been in opposition to the majority leaders in the Warsaw government, as saying that Mikolajczyk's newspaper had been censored 300 times within a month.

Quotes Banczyk

On April 27 Allen was able to send a dispatch quoting Stanislaw Banczyk, a leader of the Polish Peasant party, as telling the Polish parliament that the provisional government was following "the road to totalitarianism."

Banczky, in a speech, said the ministry of public security was employing 150,000 agents in the making of mass arrests and that if present conditions continue in Poland "then the name of reactionary to a Pole will become a privilege."

There was no indication in the April 27 dispatch as to whether it had been cut or otherwise altered by Polish censorship. Apparently it was another dispatch dealing with the Banzky speech that was stopped, but this brief April 27 dispatch showed why Banczyk"s views would not be popular with Warsaw leaders.

U.S. May Give Paris Normandie Credits

Compensation for Liner Is Under Consideration

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP).—France soon may be compensated under a special United States credit arrangement for the loss of her $50,000,000 liner, the Normandie, which burned at its pier in New York Harbor in 1942, informed government officials said today.

The 83,000-ton vessel, pride of the French merchant marine, has been in Navy Department custody since the start of the war when she was rigged up as a troopship. Officials describe her now as a "worthless hulk" of only scrap value.

It was generally estimated that credit compensation for the ship might be as high as 50 per cent of her original value. The French are expected to use that credit to procure surplus American vessels to help replenish the French merchant fleet.

United States maritime authorities have been discussing the matter with State Department officials and French experts here since the current French-American loan talks started some two months ago.

Negotiators headed by Secretary of the Treasury Fred Vinson and former French Premier Leon Blum, are expected to reconvene early next week for final conferences. Compensation for the Normandie was said to be part of the over-all American credits program aimed at helping France rehabilitate her economy.

There is also a possibility that loss of the Normandie, which is now moored at a New York City dock, may be chalked up against France's Lend-Lease obligations.

Plans Drawn Up For Freeing Of World Trade

Washington, May 10 (AP)—American officials have drafted a tentative charter for an international trade organization of the United Nations, it was learned today.

The charter would bind signatories to a world-wide program of lowered tariffs, elimination of Government restrictions on foreign trade and co-operative action against cartels.

The setting of a date for a fifteen-nation preliminary trade conference in London has been stalled pending congressional approval of the British loan.

Plan Hinged On Loan

State Department officials now believe the London meeting cannot be held before late fall and the "International Conference on Trade and Employment" of all United Nations countries before next year.

Failure of the loan to pass Congress would require recasting of the entire trade program, the Administration holds, since it would then be impossible for Britain to cast off her protective trade barriers as she agreed when the credit was negotiated.

"It is also a question," said one official "of whether the loan is approved without amendments which would mean the reopening of negotiations with Britain on the credit arrangement."

Drafters And Provisions

The proposed charter for the international trade organization was drawn by the executive committee on economic foreign policy. This body—made up of representatives of the State, Treasury, Commerce, Labor and Agriculture departments, Tariff Commission, Budget Bureau and other agencies—has turned over to subcommittees the task of polishing individual sections of the document.

Nations adhering to it would bind themselves to substantial tariff reductions and to rules limiting import quotas and embargoes and the practice of giving one country tariff preference over another. Subsidies on exports would be brought under supervision, and local taxes on imported products would be held to limits no higher than those imposed on similar items produced at home.

The Cartel Proposals

Co-operation to eliminate restrictive cartels is called for, and a special office created to hear complaints against international combines. Enforcement, however, would rest with the individual nations.

The organization would be open only to members of the International Monetary Fund. Thirty-nine countries are now fund members and four others have applied. Russia, not yet a member, nevertheless voted for the economic and social council's resolution taking sponsorship for the trade organization.

DEVERS'S TALK STIRS CONGRESS

But He Denies Calling Members 'Cowards.'

Washington, May 10 (A. P.).—Representative May (D.-Ky.) announced today that the House Military Committee of which he is the chairman, will "investigate immediately" a report, since denied that Gen. Jacob L. Devers referred to Congress as a group of "cowards."

In a statement last night, Devers said "I did not use the word coward."

May told the House that Devers, Army ground force commander, will be called before the committee next Tuesday to explain the statement attributed to him. He added that the War Department also will be asked for an explanation.

May's announcement came after several members had assailed Devers. They said they based their criticism on a news story (not carried by the Associated Press) in which Devers was quoted as referring to Congress as a group of "cowards, afraid to tackle the controversial draft bill."

Devers also was quoted as saying Congress "is afraid to make a decision" and that if one of his divisional commanders acted likewise "I'd fire him."

Denies Using Word Coward.

"I hope the General did not make such a statement," May declared. "If he did it was extremely unfortunate, and I am in entire disagreement with it."

Representative Clason (R.-Mass.) commented that Devers "may have to explain why he is not subject to court-martial procedure."

Devers's statement said:

"I have read the dispatch which followed my press interview in Atlanta, Ga., and wish to state that the statements made are my own personal views. I was speaking as a citizen of the United States and not for the War Department. The statements are substantially correct and are substantially what I was thinking; however, it was only partially quoted.

"I would like to add one remark and that is I did not use the word "coward" or "merger."

LISTS ATTACKS ON U.S. PLANES

Patterson Cites Incidents Involving Russians.

Washington, May 10 (A. P.).—Secretary of War Patterson reported today three instances in which he said Russian planes fired upon American aircraft since last August and two others in which they forced United States planes to land.

In a letter to Senator Bridges (R.-N. H.), Patterson transmitted reports showing that craft identified as Russian had fired upon and forced down a B-29 near Kanko, Korea, on August 20, 1945. He said that two planes tentatively identified as Stormoviks fired across the bow of a C-47 flying in the vicinity of Linz, Austria, on April 21, 1946. On April 22, he said that an Air Transport Command C-47 was attacked by four P-39 aircraft of the Russian Air Force while approaching Tulin, Vienna, but no damage was reported.

Asked List of Incidents.

Patterson's letter was in reply to Bridges's request that the War Department list the instances in which American planes had been menaced by Russian craft. Patterson said that no instance had been revealed of a Russian aircraft being forced to land as a result of United States action.

The Secretary gave a full report on an incident in which an American C-47 was forced down by Russian planes at Grossenheim, Germany, and pilot and crew held incommunicado for four days. The report said that they later were released and resumed their flight without assistance.

In another case, Patterson said that a B-17 of the Sixth Emergency Rescue Squadron, en route to Kimpo, Korea, to evacuate personnel, became lost and was forced down without damage by two Russian fighters at Wonsan, Korea. Crew members stated, he said, that they were given quarters, fed, entertained and given generally courteous treatment.

PLEDGES EXCHANGED BY TRUMAN, ROXAS

WASHINGTON, May 10—(AP) President Truman and President-elect Manuel Roxas of the Philippines conferred at the White House today, discussed some of the islands' problems, and exchanged pledges of cooperation.

Mr. Truman said in a formal statement afterward:

"General Roxas will have, as President Osmena has had, the full and heartfelt cooperation of the United States government in the many mutual concerns of Philippine-American relations."

Roxas, who will be the first president of the new Philippine republic which comes into being on July 4, said he was confident there would be "some solution to our problems" because of the understanding and interest Mr. Truman has in the Philippines.

Senate War Investigation committee by Rear Admiral Austin K. Doyle, deputy navy inspector general, and Marine Col. Iven H. Stickney.

Expressing indignation over the disclosures, Committee Chairman Mead (D-NY) declared as the hearing recessed:

"The good name of the Navy should not be jeopardized by the illegal rascalities of the men behind the line."

Gambling Sanctioned

Filling in details of testimony begun yesterday, the committee heard first about the Navy-sanctioned gambling which Doyle declared was carried on in 1943 and 1944 at the recreation hall of civilian housing area No. 3, adjacent to the Navy yard.

The admiral said a chief bo'sns mate was stationed in the gambling hall "to keep order, regulate the gambling and see that only the proper persons were admitted." Proper persons, he explained, were bona fide residents of the housing project which sheltered civilian navy yard workers.

Doyle testified that the responsible Navy officials, pestered by complaints of 'round-the-clock gambling in the workers' quarters, decided to permit supervised, penny-ante gambling in the recreation hall. Penny-anti didn't last long with the hard-boiled, well-paid Navy yard crowd, Doyle said, and soon the lid was off on the size of bets. Craps, blackjack and poker were the favored games.

Payoff Offered

The senators wanted to know whether anybody got a rake-off from the games. Doyle was reluctant to discuss that angle with the case still in preparation. However, he said one professional gambler had offered $300 a day and 10 per cent of the take for an exclusive franchise.

Mead read into the record that Rear Admiral William R. Furlong was commandant of the Navy yard at the time and Vice Admiral D. W. Bagley in charge of the Fourteenth (Hawaiian) naval district.

Hula Girl Brassieres Figure In Hawaii Corruption Report

WASHINGTON, May 10—(AP) Hula girl brassieres, navy-supervised crap games, and a $2,430 kickback on a carload of cold storage eggs figured today in an official account of wartime corruption at the Navy's Pearl Harbor base.

The report, based on a Navy investigation, was delivered to the housing area was Capt. (then Lt. Comdr.) John H. Kangeter, now under indictment along with another officer and two civilians for conspiracy to defraud the government.

Kangeter and the other three—Lt. John E. Carter, William S. Mitchell and A. L. Kilgo—organized the American Pacific Trading company and enjoyed some highly profitable dealings with concessions in the housing area. Doyle said.

Sold for Dollar

Kilgro acted on his own hook, however, in a lucrative operation in hula brassieres. As civilian manager of the messing clubs at the housing development, he paid one Dorothy Oka 20 to 25 cents apiece for doing the needlework on them. Stickney said Doyle boosted the price to $1 when he delivered them to the Hawaiian gift shop at the housing center.

Stickney figured Kilgro made $946.95 on the deal.

The report todl how Kangeter, Mitchell, Kilgro and Carter organized the American Pacific Trading company with papers drawn up by an Oklahoma City lawyer. Oklahoma City was the home town of the latter three, where Mitchell had managed a dime store (Woolworth) and Carter a creamery (Fairmont).

The company imported goods from the mainland and sold them to concessions in the housing area. Profits ran to $102,000 in a few months.

Mitchell later was sent to California by Kangeter as purchasing agent and labor recruiter for civilian housing area No. 3.

Some of his typical purchases, the Navy report said, were butter, eggs, jewelry, bath mats, coffee makers, radios, barber chairs, cocktail trays, comic picture post cards, tennis rackets, baby rings, archery equipment, hair tonic, toys, cookie jars, ladies rayon panties and teddy-bears.

"What did that have to do with winning the war?" Mead asked.

Doyle explained there might be some excuse for importing a certain amount of luxury goods as morale was a factor among the men, far from their families.

Paid $460 Monthly

While Mitchell was on the mainland, drawing $460 a month as purchasing agent, there developed what Mead referred to as "the case of the eggs—and it smells a little."

"The eggs were supposed to be fresh," the chairman added, "but I think the only fresh eggs in the case were Mitchell and his associates."

The story: Mitchell bought a carload of cold storage eggs from William Richard Perry, Los Angeles, for 43 1-2 cents a dozen. He came back later, had Perry change the invoice to read 57 cents a dozen and specify strictly fresh eggs, and got Perry to give him a check for the difference, $2,430.

"A chiseling, kick-back performance," Mead called it.

It also developed that Kangeter in July, 1945, got a promotion to captain and a letter of reprimand, based on an inquiry into the gambling case.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich), who sat through the months of Pearl Harbor hearings, observed dourly that he had seen several cases before where the same pattern of reprimand and promotion had been followed.

"You do something wrong, and you're an officer, you get a letter of reprimand," he said. "If you're an enlisted man, you go to the brig."

Mead said he wanted further information and would call another hearing next week.

"skeleton report" from the Navy Inspector-General's office listed five specific instances of irregularities in the way Government goods were handled at the Pacific outpost.

He referred to the contents of an official report by Rear Admiral Austin K. Doyle, Deputy Inspector-General, made public yesterday by the Senate war investigating committee which Mead heads.

Before summoning Doyle and other Navy witnesses for additional data today, Mead made the following summary of official Navy findings thus far filed with the committee.

1. "A housing scandal." Mead said that "so far as we know" about $100,000 worth of Navy housing was diverted and rented to civilians.

2. Shipment of goods to Honolulu merchants from the mainland in Navy bottoms, at a time, Mead said, "when we were conducting a war and ships were scarce."

3. The case of Commander Lawrence H. Blodgett, charged—and later acquitted by a Navy court martial—with diverting 1,500 pounds of Navy meat and 500 pounds of butter for private use, which Mead said included picnics.

4. Complaints that employees of naval ships' stores were stealing merchandise and selling it to Hawaiian merchants.

5. Diversion of serviceable lumber to a dump, from which enough was salvaged by individuals to build a house and carry out some other private construction.

Mead told an interviewer that the Blodgett case "unlocked the whole thing."

Charges Navy Supervised Hawaii Gambling

Admiral Doyle Tells of Poker, Dice and Blackjack at Pearl Harbor.

Washington, May 10 (A. P.).—An account of a Navy-supervised gambling hall at Pearl Harbor specializing in no-limit craps, blackjack and poker was laid before the Senate War Investigating Committee today by Rear Admiral Austin K. Doyle, deputy inspector-general.

Doyle said a chief bos'ns mate was stationed in the hall "to keep order, regulate the gambling and see that only the proper persons were admitted."

The sky's-the-limit games were played in the recreation hall of Civilian Housing Area No. 3, adjacent to the Navy Yard, during 1943 and 1944, Doyle said.

He testified the organized gambling was permitted as the lesser of two evils. He described the civilian employees of the yard as a rough element, few of whom had their families with them, and added that the atmosphere of the housing area was "kind of like that of an old-fashioned lumber camp."

Senator Mead (D.-N. Y.), chairman of the committee, read into the record that Vice Admiral D. W. Bagley was commandant of the naval district at the time.

"Was there any rake-off?" Mead wanted to know.

"I would prefer not to go into that at this time, as we are still investigating the case," Doyle replied.

When pressed by Senator Ferguson (R.-Mich.), Doyle conceded that "We are very suspicious there was some rake-off."

He testified at a hearing called to investigate charges of widespread theft and mismanagement of naval property in Hawaii during wartime.

Mead told a reporter that a

34 Seamen Arrested For Stealing Cargo

Accused of Taking Cigarettes and Reselling Them

SEATTLE, May 10 (AP).—Thirty-four officers and men on the Liberty ship Frank Kellogg were under arrest today by the Federal Bureau of Investigation as the War Shipping Administration announced a drive to curtail pilfering of cargoes in the Pacific.

The officers and men were charged with conspiring to steal cigarettes on the high seas. The W. S. A. accused the crew men of taking 300 cases of cigarettes from the ship and selling them in Batavia for as much as $400 a case.

The twenty-seven-year-old captain, Louis Guillemette, of Woonsocket, R. I., said cargo pilfering was common in the South Pacific and authorities at Batavia "from the colonel on down the line were hustling something or other on the black market."

The captain told newspaper men he had no knowledge of the alleged cigarette deals until he reached Seattle. He said cargoes were discharged into open fields in Batavia and left unguarded.

"It was tempting to every one to go there," he added, "and steal something and take it into town and peddle it."

All but four of the men arrested were held in the county jail on $5,000 bond each. The four, including John J. White, of Philadelphia, got a hearing before a United States Commissioner.

Billion-Dollar Wheat Crop Is Predicted for Nation

WASHINGTON, May 10—(AP) Another billion-bushel wheat crop this year appeared to be in prospect for the nation today despite an estimated serious April drought loss of about 88,000,000 bushels in the Southwestern plains.

The Agriculture department reported that prospects on May 1 indicated a winter wheat crop of 742,887,000 bushels compared with about 830,000,000 a month earlier. No estimate was given on spring wheat, but officials now except this crop to be at least 260,000,000 bushels.

Last Year's Figures

Last year's combined winter and spring wheat crops totalled 1,123,143,000 bushels--823,177,000 bushels of winter wheat and 299,966,000 bushels of spring wheat.

Officials expressed belief, however, that if an estimate were made of production prospects as of today, the winter wheat estimate would be larger than the May 1 forecast. They said rain had fallen in some drought areas during the past week to improve grain prospects.

Officials emphasized that any loss in production would be serious. The present worldwide shortage of grains and other foods is expected to continue at least until the 1947 harvest. A billion bushel domestic crop, while about 210,000,000 bushels above the 10 year (1934-43) average, would leave this country in a much less favorable supply situation than a year ago. It would probably would permit this country to export upwards to 300,000,000 bushels to famine areas compared with upwards to 400,000,000 from the 1945 crop, providing, of course, rigid measures are enforced to restrict domestic consumption, particularly feeding of wheat to livestock.

Rye Crops Small

In the only other grain crop forecast, the department said the rye crop was indicated at only 21,373,000 bushels, which would be the smallest since 1934. Production last year was 26,354,000 bushels, while production for the 10-year average was 41,484,000 bushels.

The acreage seeded to rye this year was the smallest in 65 years.

The condition of the oats crop on May 1 in ten southern states was said to have been 69 percent of normal, or ten points less than the favorable condition a year ago.

The department said that despite the unfavorable wheat crop development, food production prospects continue bright for the country as a whole. It said nature has cooperated well with farmers in their efforts to meet government appeals for maximum output of food.

HOOVER ASSAILS GROUPS PERILING

FOOD SHIPMENTS

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10—(AP) Back from a food and famine survey that took him into more than 20 countries in less than two months, former President Herbert Hoover today lashed out at the coal and threatened rail and shipping strikes which he said could bring death to millions.

"Many of the men working in these industries are descended from countries where the famine is on the doorstep," he said.

Hoover Looks Tired

Now nearly 73, Hoover looked tired but spoke vigorously at a brief news conference. He read a short prepared statement he had written himself in longhand, declined to speak over radio microphones and quickly withdrew to his hotel room.

He said he would go to Washington tomorrow to report to President Truman as head of the chief executive's Famine Emergency committee. Then on the night of May 17 in Chicago he will broadcast "a full report to the American people on the whole famine situation."

The statement, which he read before learning the news of work resumption being ordered in the coal mines, said:

"We are facing the greatest potential famine in all human history. There is only from 30 to 60 days supply of food in the famine areas of 27 different nations. They have five months to go until the next harvest. The potential of the famine is so imminent that if this coal strike continues, hundreds of thousands of people will die in the famine areas from delayed food shipments.

Death to Millions

"If the railroad strike takes place, it will mean death to millions of people.

"If the shipping strike takes place it will be a world holocaust."

Traveling with Hoover were Hugh Gibson, former ambassador to Belgium; Dr. Dennis A. Fitzgerald of the Allocations division, Department of Agriculture; Navy Captain Hallam Tuck of Baltimore, Md.; Perrin Galpin and Frank E. Mason, a wartime special assistant secretary of the Navy, both of New York, and Maurice Pate of Washington.

U.N. Inherits Two UNRRA Problems

Washington, May 10 (AP)—The United Nations inherited today two tough, down-to-earth problems—demands for better distribution of international relief supplies and for speedy repatriation of more than a million war-scattered European refugees.

The UNRRA placed both of the problems on the United Nations' doorstep for action.

By a unanimous vote the international relief organization's council late yesterday demanded immediate improvement of machinery for the "equitable distribution" of food supplies.

Delegates Back Stand

Earlier, amid obvious approval from most of the delegates from the 48 member nations, Director General Fiorello LaGuardia told the council that speed was essential in returning displaced persons to their homes, or in finding new ones for them. He emphasized that the problem would ultimately become one for the United Nations.

The call for improvement of food distribution machinery was sounded only after C. Tyler Wood, United States delegate, informed the council that this country was drafting a plan along that line for submission to the Food and Agriculture's Organization's conference called by the United Nations for May 20.

New Agency Urged

Wood spoke after LaGuardia protested present allocations to the UNRRA as "grossly inadequate" and proposed the formation of a brand new international agency to handle problems of the present food shortages and, eventually, those of food surpluses when the present crisis has passed.

On the question of displaced persons, LaGuardia suggested that governments with room for refugees in their countries get together and take concrete steps to admit some.

DRAFT EXTENSION SNARLED IN HOUSE

Debate Is Agreed After Objection Forces Delay Until Monday.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(AP) Administration hopes of getting an emergency 45-day draft extension through the House as speedily as it passed the Senate were shattered today and the fate of the act expiring next Wednesday reverted to uncertainty.

The Military committee quickly approved the resolution and leaders called it up in the House under procedure requiring unanimous consent for its consideration. An objection by Representative Sheridan (D-Pa.) of the Military committee, however, forced a postponement until Monday. The House unanimously agreed to debate it two hours then and vote.

Continued for Month

The resolution as passed by the Senate in five minutes yesterday would continue the draft from May 15 to July 1 as it now operates. With the delay in House action, however, several representatives indicated they would offer amendments to prevent the drafting of 18 and 19-year-olds.

If the House makes any changes, the measure would have to return to the Senate for further consideration and it might not be enacted before the present law expires.

Sheridan told the House he questions the motives behind the stop-gap proposal. He wonders, he said, whether the administration intends to use the draft law as a club against striking coal miners.

In the Senate, Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky declared that the President's power to seize strike-bound plants hinges on extension of the draft law, since the Smith-Connally war labor disputes act, under which the seizure power was extended, is an amendment to the draft act.

Interpretation Questioned

However, Representative Howard Smith (D-Va.) questioned that interpretation during today's House debate. While the Smith-Connally act amended the draft law in some respects, he said, the plant seizure provision is a separate law expiring six months after the official end of the war.

Representative Brooks (D-La.) reminded the House that reemployment rights of veterans are a part of the draft act and warned that those rights would be lost if the law expires.

Debate brought sharp criticism of the Senate for not having acted earlier on the bill originally passed by the House. Representatives Daniel Reed of New York and Frederick Smith of Ohio, Republicans, blamed what they called Senate inaction for the emergency situation necessitating a stop-gap law.

OPA Hopes Soar Due To Action

30.24-2761

On Housing

Washington, May 10 (AP)—Administration hopes for the OPA soared today after the House reversed itself to vote $400,000,000 in subsidies for President Truman's emergency home-building program.

The tally was 187 to 158. Last month the chamber turned down the premium payments, 161 to 92.

Democratic leaders attributed the change to the ten-day Easter recess, which gave many members their first chance in months to find out at home how their constituents are thinking.

Voice Confidence

These leaders voiced confidence that the House would also about-face on price-control extension which the House last month hammered down to a point where OPA Administrator Paul Porter said the agency would be without power after June 30.

Analyzing yesterday's vote, Representative Sparkman, of Alabama, the Democratic whip, said:

"Congress speaks for the people, and the people made their wishes known in this matter of housing. I think the housing vote indicates what we may expect with reference to the OPA when it comes back to the House. I think the same thing can be said about selective service.

"Mutiliated Three Bills"

"The House mutilated three successive bills. Since it did this, many members have heard from their people."

Meanwhile, the Senate Banking Committee hoped to wind up OPA sessions today after hearing Porter again.

The Administration housing victory broke a month-long deadlock over the legislation which Mr. Truman hopes will permit private enterprise build 2,700,000 homes, costing about $16,000,000,000, in two years.

Housing Expediter Wilson W. Wyatt said of the vote: "This throws the veterans housing program into high gear."

Back In Conference

The House action sent the legislation back to the House-Senate conference committee which had been deadlocked for weeks.

The Senate earlier had approved the full $600,000,000 in subsidies requested by the President.

The money is to be used for "premium payments" to building materials producers to increase production of scarce materials without a general increase in prices.

Preceding yesterday's vote, Democratic Leader McCormack, of Massachusetts, turned to the Republican side and asserted: "Remember, this roll call is going to count in the election next fall."

How They Voted

The Administration was supported by 155 Democrats, 30 Republicans and two minor party members. Opposing were 25 Democrats and 133 Republicans.

Some Southern Democrats who teamed with the Republicans in the April vote sided with the Administration yesterday.

Increase In TB Rate In Army Is Reported

Washington, May 10 (AP)—Reporting the detection of "a considerable number of cases of tuberculosis or suspected tuberculosis" among troops given chest X-rays at separation centers, the Bulletin of the Army Medical Department declared today:

"There are definite indications that the length of the war, the cumulative effect of exposure to tuberculosis in an aging group, and exposure overseas have finally taken a recognizable toll."

One In Every 1,000

The report said that about one man in every 1,000 examined "has been found to have changes in his chest X-ray film (as compared with a previous examination) requiring further study for determination of clinical significance."

"Higher rates are found in older men than in younger men in the Army," it stated, "and certain groups, particularly recovered prisoners, tend to have a higher rate than the average."

The bulletin did not state the present hospital admission rate for tuberculosis in the Army.

Admission Rates

The army surgeon general's office said that the overall admission rate since the beginning of demobilization had not yet been compiled, but that surveys for January and February of this year showed admission rates of 3.7 and 4.7 men per 1,000 army strength per year, respectively.

From January, 1942 to August, 1945, the overall admission rate was 1.12 men per 1,000 army strength per year.

SEES TOO MANY DENTISTS IN ARMY

Washington, May 10 (A. P.).—Brig. Gen. Thomas L. Smith of the Army Dental Corps said today that "a tight man power situation" exists regarding Army dentists. But Senator Reed (R.-Kan.) contended, "the Army has at least 2,000 more dentists than it can possibly justify."

Smith, director of the Dental Consultants' Division of the Army Surgeon-General's office, told a reporter that the situation necessitated maintaining discharge requirements for dentists at thirty-nine months' service, although discharge criteria for Medical Corps doctors were recently lowered.

"We just haven't enough dentists to allow any lowering of the discharge criteria at this time," he said. "If we lowered the term of service only three months, we'd be 200 dentists short by July 1 and 400 short by September."

Reed told another reporter that the discharge criteria for dentists should be lowered to thirty months' service—the same as the new criteria for Medical Corps general duty officers, announced May 1. He said he had notified Secretary of War Patterson that unless the Army "immediately makes satisfactory arrangements" for releasing reserve dental officers, he will press for an investigation of the Medical Corps.

Puerto Rico Delegates Laud Senator Tydings

Washington, May 10 (AP)—Dr. Gilberto Concepcion and Senator William Cordova, delegates of the Congress for Puerto Rican Independence, declared today that "Senator Millard E. Tydings continues to be the indisputable champion of our independence in the United States Senate."

The island delegates made this statement as they emerged from a 30-minute conference with the chairman of the Senate Committee on Territories. They arrived here yesterday to participate in discussions on the Puerto Rican political status with members of Congress.

Dr. Concepcion and Cordova said that on an invitation from Senator Tydings they will continue discussing the Puerto Rican status next Monday.

Halifax in Farewell Call Visits State Department

Says Good By to Acheson; Sails Monday From New York

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP).—The Earl of Halifax, retiring British Ambassador to the United States, called at the State Department today to say good by to Dean Acheson, acting Secretary of State.

He will sail for England Monday night from New York. Lord Halifax will be succeeded by Baron Inverchapel, of Loch Eck, the former Sir Archibald John Kerr Clark Kerr, who was British Ambassador to Russia.

Lord Halifax said that it might be several days before Lord Inverchapel takes up his diplomatic assignment here because he still has to complete a report on his trip to Batavia as special envoy in the Indonesian dispute.

McLean Calls Free News Flow Key to Peace

In Talk at U. of Missouri, He Warns on Making News a Tool of National Policy

COLUMBIA, Mo., May 10 (AP).—Robert McLean, publisher of "The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin" and president of The Associated Press, called today for exchange of accurate, impartial news among the peoples of the world as the key to peace.

The publisher's speech, high point in the University of Missouri's thirty-seventh annual Journalism Week activities, emphasized that news should be reported "in such a manner that its truthfulness and its accuracy will be accepted and its impartiality will not be suspect."

Mr. McLean, who earlier received an award for "The Bulletin's" distinguished services in journalism, added a warning against governmental interference in news exchange.

"The increasing tendency of some nations of the world, including our own, to try to use news in broadcasts as an instrument of national policy is a bit frightening," Mr. McLean commented.

"It is intriguing to think of 'peoples speaking to peoples' through the ether, but if the voices are partisan voices, nationalistic voices, each will have an ax to grind and the blade of the ax will not be the bright blade of truth—and I speak not of philosophical truth," Mr. McLean added, "but of the accurate reporting without bias as impartially and objectively as is humanly possible of the events of the whole world in such a manner that people everywhere can form their judgments on a sound basis of fact."

Concluded Mr. McLean: "We shall thus most fully bring about the free flow of information and knowledge among peoples of the world."

Earlier, the university honored three individuals and three publications for distinguished service to journalism.

"Bulletin" Gets Award

"The Philadelphia Bulletin" was praised for "its policy through many years of publishing honest news, without embellishment or exaggeration or emphasis on sensationalism," and also for its insistence on mechanical excellence.

Other awards went to:

"The Goeteborgs Handels-Tidning," Swedish newspaper recognized for "its outspoken sympathy with democratic ideals in government and its bold defiance of the attempts of Nazi leaders to silence the editorial utterance of its honest opinions."

"The Ladies Home Journal," cited for its long efforts to "reform advertising abuses, protect the public against adulterated foods and quack medicines and to lift the vocation of homemaking to a higher level," as well as its leadership on social issues.

28 Naval Airmen Die In Crash of 2 Bombers

Big Four-Engined Planes Collide Over Florida During Maneuvers.

MUNSON, Fla., May 10—(AP) Twenty-eight airmen were killed today when two big four engined Navy planes crashed in flames in a remote wooded area eight miles north of here.

Officers at the Pensacola Naval Air station, where the planes were based, said they collided in flight during an air maneuver.

Fourteen bodies were recovered from the wreckage of one ship and 13 from the other, an announcement said. One other body with an unopened parachute was found nearby."

Engaged in Maneuvers

The planes, identified as PB-4Y's, were engaged in training maneuvers and were accompanied by an F-6F Hellcat fighter. Word of the collision was radioed by the accompanying fighter plane to nearby Whiting field.

The fighter craft landed safely later.

Naval officers said the names of the victims would not be announced until the next of kin had been notified.

A statement issued by the Navy said:

"The two planes that crashed today were PB-4Y's. They were flying in a phase of a training program with an F-6F Hellcat fighter plane.

"As part of the maneuver, the F6F dove at the PB-4Y's. The bombers attempted to out maneuver the fighter plane and went into a turn. In the process of the turn, the PB-4Y which was flying wing position collided with the lead plane.

"One engine in the lead plane was knocked out and that plane immediately went into a spin and crashed. The other plane flew straight and level for a short time and also spun in and crashed.

"One body was seen to leave the second plane and was later found.

Fighter Flashes Report

"The F6F fighter immediately radioed Whiting field tower and an AR-4D, equipped as an ambulance plane, was dispatched to Brewton field for rescue operations.

"They found 14 bodies in one plane and 13 in the other.

"This is the first accident of PB-4Y's in the advanced training command since Dec. 12, 1945. Since that time the PB-4Y advanced training command has flown 24,000 operating hours without an accident, until the one today."

L. C. Cook, dispatcher for the State Forest Service at Munson, reported the two bombers, accompanied by the pursuit ship, roared overhead in a northerly direction about 10:30 o'clock this morning. The smaller craft was diving and wheeling about the bombers, apparently in practice, he said.

A few minutes later, Cook reported, he spotted a column of smoke and sent a ranger to investigate. Five miles to the north the ranger came upon the burning wreckage of the big ships, with the bodies of the victims inside, the dispatcher said. The body of one airman, with his parachute unopened, was found nearby.

An earlier report said the fighter plane also had crashed, but Navy officers reported only the bombers had gone down.

Munson is near the Alabama and northwest Florida line.

Army Launching First Test V-2

White Sands, N.M., May 10 (AP)—The Army posted danger flags today for the first in a series of spectacular tests with captured German V-2 rockets.

The experiments have the announced intention of developing for the United States even deadlier rocket missiles, with a far longer range.

Today's program called for launching the first of 25 V-2's of the type the Nazis used to bombard London and Antwerp.

Scientific Data Sought

With the aim of obtaining scientific data of all kinds, the others will be set off into space above the local proving ground at intervals of about a week.

Maj. Gen. G. M. Barnes, assistant chief of ordnance, said the tests would give the Army "a stepping off spot in the field of guided missiles."

Advance calculations were that the V-2's would soar at a maximum velocity of 3,500 or more miles an hour to an unprecedented altitude of 100 miles before plummeting down into the desert about 80 miles from the launching platform.

Instruments In Warhead

Technicians from the Army Ordnance Department, the Air Forces and the Signal Corps were ready to try to track the missile by radar at all stages of its flight of about seven minutes.

Instead of high explosive, the V-2's warhead was loaded with scientific instruments to obtain data on the composition of the upper atmosphere and other information.

QUEEN MARY'S U.S. JOB ENDED

Ship To Begin Carrying Civilians, Dominion Brides

New York, May 10 (AP)—Six years of high adventure with the flag of the United States flying at her forepeak ended today for the sturdy British sea giant ,the Queen Mary.

The huge vessel bade good-by to the United States Army as she tied up in New York with her farewell GI cargo—1,299 war brides and children.

The trip ended a career with the American Army which began in 1942, in the dark days of the Battle of the Atlantic, when she steamed out of Boston with 8,000 American troops pound for Australia, then in peril from the advancing Japanese.

Frmo now on, the Queen will carry only civilians and Canadian war brides.

15,000 On Every Voyage

At the peak of her wartime service, when American soldiers were pouring across the Atlantic, the Mary was carrying 15,000 men on every eastbound voyage.

With her sister ship, the Queen Elizabeth, the former luxury liner carried a total of 1,243,538 troops to war, most of them across the Atlantic.

She traveled, dark and alone, relying on her speed for protection, and not once did she sight a torpedo or fire her guns at an enemy. After victory in Europe, the Mary's lights blazed again, her guns were stripped away and she began a happier duty—returning hundreds of thousands of GI's to their homes.

Yanks Packed Tightly

The jubilant Yanks were packed as tightly as they were when they were heading for the battle zones, but discomfort was forgotten in the anticipation of the arrival home. The Queen did not lose a single man overboard.

In 1946, the third phase of her service with the United States Army began—"Operation Nursery." War brides and babies of GI's had to be transported to their new home.

British girls filed aboard the Queen carrying babies. The drained swimming pools of the Queen, formerly used as hospitals, now were covered with diaper driers.

Baby Lifebelts There

Special baby lifebelts hung beside each bunk. High chairs and beauty parlors sprang into being.

Since February 9, the Queen has carried 10,644 American war brides and children to New York. The last bride was Mrs. Joan Senior Keller, bound for Lewisville, Ohio, where her husband Gerald, a former paratrooper, lives.

The once beautiful teakwood railing along the main deck, however, will never be the same for cut into it are thousands of names, initials and dates left by the Americans. The Cunard-White Star Line plans to leave them there as a sentimental keepsake of the war saga of the Queen.

Redeployment Schedule

BEFORE THE FIRST A-BOMB WAS DROPPED ON JAPAN ON AUGUST 6, 1945, THE BULLETIN SAID, A PETITION SIGNED BY 64 SCIENTISTS WAS SENT DIRECTLY TO PRESIDENT TRUMAN AND A POLL OF 150 SCIENTISTS OPPOSED "ALL-OUT" USE OF THE NEW BOMB.
THE BULLETIN, PUBLISHED BY THE ATOMIC SCIENTISTS OF CHICAGO, SAID THE REPORT TO THE SECRETARY OF WAR JUNE 11 WAS "AGREED UPON UNANIMOUSLY" BY THE SEVEN MEMBERS OF THE "COMMITTEE ON SOCIAL AND POLITICAL IMPLICATIONS," APPOINTED BY THE DIRECTOR OF THE METALLURGICAL LABORATORY IN CHICAGO, WITH PROF.JAMES FRANCK AS CHAIRMAN.
WHEN THE REPORT WAS MADE, "THE WAR IN EUROPE HAD ENDED AND THE DANGER OF THE ENEMY COUNTRIES DEVELOPING THE BOMB FIRST HAD DISAPPEARED XXX," THE BULLETIN SAID.
"THE MAIN CONCLUSION REACHED BY THE COMMITTEE WAS THAT USE OF THE BOMB SHOULD BE CONSIDERED AS A FATEFUL POLITICAL DECISION, AND NOT MERELY AS A MATTER OF MILITARY TACTICS X X X
"THE COMMITTEE FELT THAT AMERICA SHOULD NOT FIRST INTRODUCE THE ATOMIC BOMB AS A LEGITIMATE MEANS OF WARFARE BY USING IT FOR A SURPRISE ATTACK ON JAPAN."
BETWEEN JUNE 11 AND AUGUST 6, TWO OTHER DEVELOPMENTS TOOK PLACE, THE BULLETIN SAID.
"ONE WAS A PETITION TO PRESIDENT TRUMAN, SIGNED BY 64 SCIENTISTS ASSOCIATED WITH THE METALLURGICAL PROJECT. THE AUTHORS OF THIS PETITION FELT THAT THE COMMITTEE REPORT, SENT THROUGH THE OFFICIAL WAR DEPARTMENT CHANNELS, WAS NOT ENOUGH, AND THAT AN APPEAL SENT DIRECTLY TO THE PRESIDENT AND CARRYING THE SIGNATURES OF INDIVIDUAL SCIENTISTS, WOULD BE MORE EFFECTIVE."
THE OTHER DEVELOPMENT WAS THE POLL, TAKEN AT THE REQUEST OF DR. ARTHUR H.COMPTON, FORMER UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PHYSICIST WHO NOW IS CHANCELLOR OF WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY, IN ST.LOUIS, MO., THE BULLETIN SAID.

THE POLL, IT SAID, PRESENTED FIVE ALTERNATIVES, RANGING FROM THE ALL-OUT USE OF THE ATOMIC BOMB "AS THE ARMY MAY SEE FIT," THROUGH "DEMONSTRATION ON A MILITARY OBJECTIVE," AND "DEMONSTRATION IN AN UNINHABITED LOCALITY," TO "NO USE IN JAPANESE WAR AT ALL" AND "KEEPING THE EXISTENCE OF THE BOMB A SECRET."
"OVER 150 SCIENTISTS TOOK PART IN THE POLL, WITH OVER ONE-HALF VOTING FOR 'PRELIMINARY DEMONSTRATION ON A MILITARY OBJECTIVE,' ABOUT ONE-THIRD FOR 'PRELIMINARY DEMONSTRATION ON UNINHABITED LOCALITY,' AND SMALL GROUPS FOR ALL-OUT USE, OR NO USE UNDER ANY CONDITIONS."
THE BULLETIN SAID THE POLL WAS RECENTLY REFERRED TO IN A PUBLIC STATEMENT BY DR.COMPTON, AND COMMENTED:
"OPINIONS WILL NECESSARILY BE DIVIDED AS TO WHETHER THE DESTRUCTION OF HIROSHIMA AND NAGASAKI WITH OVER 200,000 CASUALTIES WAS A 'DEMONSTRATION ON A MILITARY OBJECTIVE, (AS WAS IMPLIED IN DR.COMPTON'S SPEECH) OR AN 'ALL-OUT USE AT THE DISCRETION OF THE ARMY.'"

MOLOTOV BLOCKS PEACE CONFERENCE

Insists on 'Big Four' Agreement Before Calling General Parley

MAY 12 1946

PARIS, May 11—(AP) Russia, making it clear that the only stumbling block to accord apparently lay in the snarled Italian treaty, insisted again today before the deadlocked four-power foreign ministers council that agreement on all treaties with former Axis satellites must precede a general European peace conference.

American sources said, following today's second meeting of the ministers of the United States, Great Britain, France and Russia, that V. M. Molotov, Russian foreign minister, regarded the Italian treaty as an obstacle, and that he did not think the ministers harbored fundamental differences concerning the Balkan treaties.

Italy [illegible] continues

Russia [illegible] variance with the United States and Great Britain, the sources said, over Italian reparations and colonies, and the disputed port of Trieste, sought by both Italy and Yugoslavia.

Secretary of State James F. Byrnes urged Molotov once more today, the American informants said, to agree upon a specific date for convoking the 21-nation peace conference.

When Molotov declared that the ministers first should agree on all points, Byrnes replied that if the Russian thesis were accepted, then anyone could block the peace conference simply by disagreeing on any one point. After a [illegible] sive exchange of argu[illegible] point, the council [illegible] Monday morning.

Molotov pointed [illegible]

NIGHT

sians reversed their stand yesterday by agreeing to a French proposal that Italy be named sole trustee, under the United Nations, of all her pre-Fascist colonies. He said also he did not favor a British proposal for British trusteeship of Cyrenaica in northern Africa.

It remains to be seen, the Russian added, what could be done about Trieste and Italian reparations.

Colonial Question Looms

The Soviet delegation left the impression, the American sources said, that whereas Trieste and reparations were fundamental problems, Italian colonies would be named to the list if Great Britain kept pressing for control of Cyrenaica.

During the morning session, Byrnes said the United States would accept the French plan for Italian reparations, giving the Russians $100,000,000, provided payments were restricted to Italian assets in Balkan countries now occupied by the Russian army, Italian naval and merchant vessels and excess industrial equipment in former war factories.

The American suggested, informants said, that Russia might choose the Italian ocean liners Vulcania and Saturnia, now in American hands, which he said were valued at $25,000,000 each, thus together making up half the amount of reparations to Russia.

Disputes Evaluation

Molotov then disputed Byrnes' evaluation of the ships and of Italian assets in the Balkans, the sources said. He claimed also that naval vessels were "war booty" apportioned among the victorious powers as such and did not constitute reparations.

Byrnes was said to have replied that war booty could be claimed only by those who captured it [illegible] that the Russians had taken Italian naval vessels.

British Foreign Secretary Er[illegible] Bevin supported Byrnes' [illegible] on the naval vessels, [illegible] Brynes in opposing [illegible] to obtain reparat[illegible] production in [illegible] said.

Bevin was [illegible] that Italy's debt for relief work carried out among the Italian people by the British and Americans must be satisfied before reparations were paid.

The ministers did not discuss the question of the further demand of $200,000,000 in Italian reparations on behalf of Greece, Albania and Yugoslavia. Russia originally had requested $300,000,000 with two-thirds going to the Balkan nations.

MAY 12 1946

One responsible American source said that if those countries were awarded any Italian territorial holdings, the American attitude was that they should not expect any further dollar reparations. The Soviet reaction to this attitude was not learned. It was not disclosed when the question of the reparations for Greece, Albania and Yugoslavia would be discussed.

Meanwhile conference sources reported that the United States and Britain might accept French demands for economic and political control of the rich Saar basin by France on condition that France agree to international economic control of Ruhr.

American officials said the United States would accept under certain conditions France's demand for a customs union, military occupation and political administration of the Saar short of outright annexation. France had also demanded that the Ruhr and Rhineland be separated entirely from Germany.

Officials said the ministers probably would continue the discussion of treaties with former enemy countries for at least another week.

Reds Hit 1 Of 4 Conditions On Italy Payoff

MAY 12 1946

Paris, May 11 (AP)—United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes accepted today the Soviet Union's demand for $100,000,000 in reparations from Italy, but added conditions which led to a clash with Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Moltov.

This was reported by an American source.

Almost the entire two-hour informal meeting of the four-power conference was devoted to the reparations issue as the Ministers continued their review of disputed points in Italian peace-treaty proposals in efforts to narrow down the area of disagreement.

Fourth Condition Disputed

Byrnes, accepting the Russian reparations demand, was reported by the American source to have said these must be obtained only from:

DAY

1. Italian assets abroad.
2. Excess industrial equipment in former munitions factories.
3. Merchant shipping.
4. Naval vessels.

Moltov promptly disputed the last point. He said naval vessels were legitimate booty of war and should be apportioned among the victorious powers as such, and not as reparations.

Byrnes Defines Booty

Byrnes retorted that booty could be claimed only by those who had captured it, and the Russians had captured no Italian naval vessels.

The positions of British Foreign Secretary Bevin and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault could not be learned immediately.

A new informal session was scheduled for the afternoon, at which the conference was to continue discussion of the question of Italy's prewar bilateral treaties. This discussion was begun just before the conference broke up this morning.

May Break Deadlock

Two surprise Russian concessions paved the way for a possible break in the week-long deadlock which had brought the conference to the brink of failure.

The Russian concessions were made by Molotov, who agreed to withdraw his opposition to:

1. A French proposal allowing Italy to retain, as sole trustee under the United Nations, her pre-Fascist colonies.
2. A United States proposal providing for the establishment of an Inter-Allied Commission to investigate and prosecute war criminals within Italy for a certain limited time after the signing of the Italian peace treaty.

Molotov Presiding

Both issues were held open for additional discussion today, at a small, informal session in Molotov's office in Luxembourg palace. It is the Soviet delegate's turn to preside.

French official quarters said they were encouraged by last night's meeting in which, they said, Molotov took the initiative in an attempt to settle the long troublesome issue of Italy's African empire.

Cyrenaica Issue Raised

Secretary Byrnes seconded Molotov's motion on disposition of the Italian colonies, with the proviso that Libya and Eritrea be given their independence after ten years.

British sources said that Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Secretary, argued for the immediate independence of Libya and Eritrea, and then asked that Britain be given trusteeship over Cyrenaica, former Italian colony within Libya.

Reds Yield On Tripolitania

These sources said that Bevin cited Britain's war-time promise to tribesmen of Cyrenaica that they would never again be placed under Italian rule, and that he told Molotov:

"Tobruk is to us what Stalingrad is to the Russians."

Molotov's concessions were generally interpreted as tantamount to a withdrawal of Russian demands for a dominant role in Tripolitania.

MAY 12 1946

Molotov Too Busy"

Some observers analyzed Molotov's move as a sign that Russia said, "There is no obstacle for your interview from our side."

Prince Mozaffar Firouz, Iranian wished to avoid any stigma of responsibility for wrecking a proposed general peace conference.

Byrnes has insisted that such a conference be held between June 15 and July 15, but Molotov has maintained that such a conference should be contingent on Big-Four approval of peace treaty drafts.

"We must face it," Bevin was quoted as saying "the issue is whether anyone of us can block holding the peace conference."

Warns Of World Split

Molotov warned that the calling of a conference before the Big Four had agreed on the treaties might result in the world being split into two camps.

French sources said that Russia's demands for $100,000,000 in reparations from Italy were made not for the sake of the money, but as a symbol demonstrating that a nation cannot embark on aggression without paying for it.

This attitude was taken as opening the way for a compromise settlement whereby Greece would be compensated by receiving the Italian Dodecanese islands; Yugoslavia by at least portions of the Istrian Peninsula and Venezia Giulia; and Albania by various buildings in that country which are technically owned by the Italians.

Loan Okay 'Gratifying'

London, May 11 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee and Foreign Secretary Bevin expressed gratification today that the United States Senate had approved the British loan.

Attlee's personal secretary said the Prime Minister was "highly gratified" and would comment later in Parliament.

Bevin said in Paris, where he is attending the Foreign Ministers Conference: "This means that the commonwealths of the western world moves together. It will lead more and more to integration and, in turn, contribute to the peace of the world."

DAY

The average Briton looked forward to the proposed loan in terms of more dried eggs and canned food, and of greatly expanded world trade.

Morning newspapers gave banner headlines to the Senate approval. The only opposition came from Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express, which declared that the British people must "awaken before all is lost" and tell their Government "our own preference and structure must not be bargained away over the conference table."

Morrison Leaves Britain For Parley With Truman

He May Ask the President to Ration Meats and Fats

LONDON, May 11 (AP).—Herbert Morrison, Lord President of the Council, left by plane for the United States today, declaring his mission was to get a "higher priority" from President Truman for the famine battle.

The political correspondent for "The World," quoting the "highest authority," said Mr. Morrison would ask the President to ration meats and fats. These and many other foods are still rationed in Britain.

At the airport, Mr. Morrison told reporters that "in spite of all that has been done by the British, the United States, Canadian, Australian and other governments to mobilize supplies—we still are not winning the battle against world famine."

"I know the food experts are doing all they can within the limits imposed on them," he declared. "I shall discuss with the President—and I hope also with the Canadian government—how we can widen those limits and give the drive against famine a higher priority."

Asked why Sir Ben Smith, Food Minister, was not making the trip, Mr. Morrison replied: "This is above a departmental matter."

British Liberals Urge U.N. Atom Control

London, May 11 (AP)—The Liberal party's annual assembly in resolutions today urged United Nations control of atomic energy, worldwide relaxation of censorship and free access to news sources.

Calling for removal of "the gulf between Britain and Russia," Dingle M. Foot, former member of Parliament, said Soviet officials could begin "by raising the iron curtain and by permitting free access to, and reporting in, the territories under control."

Mothproofing Woolens With D.D.T. Foreseen

London, May 11 (AP)—All woolen goods can be completely mothproofed with D.D.T., Dr. Edgar H. Booth, chairman of the International Wool Secretariat, said today.

"D.D.T. is the absolute remedy," Dr. Booth told a press conference. "It can be put into the cloth in the final milling, and also can be added whenever the material is dry cleaned."

Azzam Pasha Sounds Warning

LONDON, May 11 (AP)—Abdul Rahman Azzam Pasha, Secretary General of the powerful Arab League, was quoted tonight in a Reuter dispatch from Cairo as saying that "if Tripoli is handed over to Italian trusteeship it means war."

"We have fought the Italians for twenty years and cannot allow them to come back now," Azzam Pasha declared.

"It will mean war against the British, too, because the British will have to support the Italians. Besides, the country must be maintained as one unit. The dividing of Tripoli and Cyrenaica means the economic ruin of the country."

GI Must Wait Year To Wed British Girl

Watlington, England, May 11 (AP). GI Johnnie Putignani, 21, tried to talk a stern British magistrate into letting him marry pretty Selma Townsend, a 17-year-old blonde, but all he got was the advice to "come back in one year."

Johnnie, a private first class, pleaded the case for his fiancee who had petitioned the court for permission to wed without parental approval, which is required under British law for those under 21.

He returned to his New York City home, he said, but reenlisted in order to get back to Britain and claim the girl he courted for the past two years. He added that he has been 85 days on a re-enlistment furlough.

With only five more furlough days left, and Johnnie scheduled to return to Germany next week, Selma sought court approval.

Mrs. Townsend, who refused to give approval to the marriage, told the court she considered Selma too young even to have dates. Selma said her mother's attitude had made it necessary to have secret meetings with Johnnie.

Of Mrs. Townsend, Johnnie said: "Can't she see I'm sincere. I came all the way back from America. Can't she see I love Selma a heck of a lot."

The presiding magistrate, Lord MacClesfield, said he was impressed but wanted a further waiting period of one year.

If the couple agree not to see each other during that period— although the judge conceded they might write—they may return to court next May and "apply again," the court ruled.

Calls Churchill 'Great Appeaser'

Birmingham, England, May 11 (AP)—Arthur Greenwood, Lord Privy Sael in the Labor Cabinet of Prime Minister Attlee, described Winston Churchill today as "the greatest of all appeasers."

Greenwood said in an address before the West Midland Labor party that the wartime Prime Minister practiced appeasement by promising the big powers "anything they wanted."

"He did it with the United States and he did it with Moscow," Greenwood said.

SINN FEIN MOURNS HUNGER STRIKER

MAY 12 1946

Second Man in Fast Writes Plans For His Burial

Dublin, May 11 (AP)—The Irish national flag fluttered at half-staff over Sinn Fein headquarters today for John McCaughey who died from a prison hunger strike, while a second hunger striker wrote a letter to his mother and gave final burial instructions.

McCaughey, 32, Irish Republican Army "adjutant general," died early this morning in the twenty-third day of his fast until death or release from a sentence of life imprisonment. Police took precautions against any demonstration in Dublin, where McCaughey's partisans regard him as a martyr.

NIGHT

Co[illegible] Day

In Belfast [illegible] Fleming, another member of the outlawed force, continued for the fiftieth day his hunger strike protesting treatment of political prisoners. Except for a four-day break in mid-April, he has not swallowed food or drink since mid-March.

Fleming's pretty sister, Nellie, said she told him McCaughey had died, and that he commented: "I thought it would have lasted longer."

"David looks wasted," she said, "but he is perfectly sensible and can carry on a normal conversation."

Fleming's last letter to his mother was declared Government property and the authorities refused to hand it over, she added.

Plans Decoration Of Grave

Fleming's "dying wish" was to be buried at the Republican plot at Killarney and he gave instructions for the decoration of his tombstone with a picture of a chapel, harp and shamrock, she continued.

Arrested in 1942 and convicted of treason and felony, Fleming was sentenced to twelve years. He declared anything he did was as a soldier of the Republican Army, and refused to recognize the court.

McCaughey was sentenced to death in 1941 for kidnapping and illegally assaulting another Irish Republican Army leader, Stephen Hayes, but the sentence was commuted to life imprisonment after a nation-wide appeal for clemency.

Meetings Demanded Release

His brother and four sisters were with him when he died. In the last few weeks, numerous Dublin mass meetings had demanded his release.

Harry Diamond, lone Socialist Republican member of the Ulster Parliament and an advocate of union of Northern and Southern Ireland, predicted further fasting but no violence in the event Fleming died.

He declared that Fleming was fed forcibly at one period.

I. R. A. LEADER DIES IN CELL AT DUBLIN

Dublin, May 11 (AP)—John McCaughey, 32 years old, tight-lipped former Irish Republican Army "adjutant-general," died in his cell at Dublin's Maryboro Prison early today after a twenty-three-day hunger strike which caused political agitation throughout Eire.

DAY

In Belfast, David Fleming, another imprisoned I. R. A. hunger striker, was reported in a weak condition as his fast entered its fiftieth day, but Dr. Fred McSorley, a Nationalist member of Parliament, who visited Fleming yesterday, said he showed surprising vitality and probably would live "for many, many days yet."

McCaughey, whose brother and four sisters were with him when he died, apparently kept silent to the end. He had refused to defend himself when a special Dublin Military Court sentenced him to death in 1941 for kidnaping and illegally assaulting another I. R. A. leader, Stephen Hayes. The death sentence was commuted to life imprisonment following a nationwide appeal for clemency.

The McCaughey case began in 1941, when Hayes, accused by his I. R. A. comrades of turning informer, appeared manacled, exhausted and terrified in Dublin and said he had been captured and imprisoned for two months by I. R. A. comrades. They tortured him, he said, in an attempt to force a confession of "informing," then marched him blindfolded twelve miles to Dublin, where a drumhead court sentenced him to be shot.

The cause of the two hunger strikers was reported to be threatening to widen the gulf of ill feeling between Eire and northern Ireland.

Mexico Is Preparing Report On Falangist Activities

By HAYDEN TALBOT

New York, May 11 (AP)—The United Nations subcommittee investigating Franco Spain will receive documents within the next few days purporting to show that agents of the Franco regime have been active in Latin America.

Mexican informants said Mexico would submit evidence next week that the Spanish Falange had engaged in "subversive activities" in some Latin-American countries.

At the same time, Spanish Republican sources said representatives of the Spanish Government in exile had received "important documents" on Falangist activities in the Western Hemisphere and were at work on a memorandum for the subcommittee.

NIGHT

[illegible] Rejected

The United States State Department is expected to present a comprehensive report to the committee "about the middle of the week" in response to the United Nations request for information on Franco Spain, a United States spokesman said.

It could not be learned whether this report would contain any evidence of Falangist activities in Latin America, but this was one of the points on which the subcommittee asked the United States for information.

The spokesman indicated the United States report would contain documents intended to show that Generalissimo Francisco Franco collaborated actively with the Axis powers during the war. Some of the documents already have been published in the State Department's White Book on Spain, but the new report was expected to contain additional information.

Giral Coming To U.S.

A Paris dispatch said Dr. José Giral, Premier of the Spanish Government in exile, left Paris by plane this afternoon with evidence to be submitted to the subcommittee. He was expected to arrive in New York tomorrow.

The subcommittee announced yesterday that it had concluded its preliminary studies on the scope of evidence necessary and was ready to start daily meetings Monday to begin examining the material already available.

The five-man group, established by the Security Council to study Poland's charges that the Franco regime threatens world peace, has until May 31 to complete its investigation.

U.N. Studies Delay On Applications

E. Reynolds

New York, May 11 (AP)—Security Council delegations considered today a United States proposal that would defer action on applications for membership in the United Nations until qualifications and procedures are determined in late summer by a subcommittee.

It was expected to have the support of Great Britain but there were indications it might provoke an open Soviet countermove on behalf of Albania when it comes up for debate at the next Council session some time next week.

No Other Applications

Albania's application, sponsored by Yugoslavia with Russian support, is the only one on file at present. It was tabled at the London sessions upon suggestion of United States Delegate Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., and is the only item on the current agenda which has not come up for debate.

Stettinius proposed in a resolution circulated among the delegations last night that applications received up to mid-July be examined by an eleven-nation subcommittee representing the full Council membership and reported out not later than August 1.

DAY

Britain Interested

The subcommittee's report would be taken up by the Council in August and the Council then would report to the General Assembly meeting here September 9.

The charter provides that new member nations may be added by the Assembly on recommendation of the Security Council. Other nations reported interested in joining the United Nations include Iceland, Sweden, Switzerald, Siam and Eire but they have not applied formally.

In the premable, Stettinius's proposal points out that membership is "open to all peace-loving states which accept the obligations contained in the charter, and, in the judgment of the organization, are able and willing to carry out these obligations."

Britain Opposes Albania

The Council's committee of experts is reported split on the question with the Russians contending a Council recommendation would be tantamount to a grant of membership and would need only the rubber stamp of the General Assembly.

Britain is a leader in opposition to the Albanian regime, which it refuses to recognize diplomatically.

The announcement of Stettinius's proposal coincided with a broadcast from Tirana, Albania, last night saying Premier Col. Gen. Enver Haxha had sent a note to the Big Four Foreign Ministers at Paris demanding a "portion" of the Italian Navy for Albania.

Spain Unit To Meet Daily

The Council subcommittee on Spain goes into daily sessions beginning Monday to assimilate the mass of material expected in response to inquiries cabled over the world for all information bearing on the Franco regime.

The Commission on Human Rights, headed by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, yesterday recommended the formation of a twelve-member subcommission on freedom of information.

The commission unanimously adopted "terms of reference" directing that the subcommission "examine what rights, obligations and practices should, in the first instance, be included in the concept, freedom of information, and report on any issue that may incidentally arise out of the examination."

All Defendants Convicted of Torture, Murder at Concentration Camp

C. Lowry

DACHAU, Germany, May 11—(AP) A U. S. military court today convicted all 61 defendants of killing and torturing thousands of prisoners in the Mauthausen concentration camp murder mill and set Monday for sentencing.

The trial was the largest yet of all mass war crimes trials.

Caused 70,000 Deaths

The defendants, mostly members of the German SS, were responsible for [illegible] the camp and "the clock would be turned back 1,000 years if the court condones these atrocities," the prosecutor Lt. Col. William Denson, declared in his summation.

NIGHT

The court deliberated one hour after a trial lasting six weeks. Many former prisoners testified about the murder of inmates by gassing, shooting, starvation and torture. Some persons were thrown into the crematory while still living, one witness said.

Correspondent Slain

Associated Press Correspondent Joseph Morton, captured while accompanying an Allied mission into Slovakia, was one of those put to death in Mauthausen.

Denson had urged the conviction of every defendant as being "part of a design to beat and kill prisoners," regardless of whether each was proved to have murdered an individual.

A chief defendant was August Eigruber, former Nazi gauleiter of Upper Austria, who was charged with a leading role in establishment of the camp near Linz, Austria.

61 NAZIS GUILTY OF CAMP CRIMES

Dachau, May 11 (A. P.).—All sixty-one defendants in the trial of Mauthausen concentration camp operators were convicted today of torturing and killing thousands of prisoners in that notorious extermination center. They will be sentenced Monday.

The United States Military Court of seven officers deliberated only an hour in reaching the verdict after a six-week trial.

The testimony against the sixty-one included a declaration by a former inmate, Izak Gruenberg, that some living prisoners were thrown into the crematory along with the dead. Defendant Hans Altfuldisch, a prison compound commander, told the court that the camp's goal was to kill people and if the staff had refused "we ourselves would have gone into concentration camps and probably even have been killed."

DAY

Lieut.-Col. William Denson, prosecutor, declared "these men are responsible for 70,000 deaths in the Mauthausen concentration camp between 1932 and 1945." He called for the conviction of each defendant as being "part of the design to beat and kill prisoners," regardless of whether each was proved to have committed murder individually.

contended Gisevius perjured himself in declaring that he was never employed by the American intelligence unit.

They sought thus to break down his testimony against the defendants.

Attorney Alfred Seidl told the tribunal it was known that Gisevius worked with the OSS in Switzerland. He referred to a dispatch filed from Nuernberg April 26, quoting a source on the American prosecution staff as saying that was true.

The court took under advisement the request to question Patterson and Donovan.

Quiz Of Patterson Sought By Nazis

Nuernberg, May 11 (AP)—Defense attorneys in the Nazi war-crimes trial asked permission today to question United States Secretary of War Robert Patterson and Maj. Gen. William J. Donovan as to whether the United States ever employed Hans Bernd Gisevius as a spy.

DAY

Gisevius, a former Gestapo officer who testified last month that he had friendly and political relations with the American Office of Strategic Services (formerly headed by Donovan) while he plotted against Hitler. Gisevius insisted, howeper, that he was never in the employ of a foreign power.

Perjury Charged

Counsel for Rudolf Hess and Hans Frank, two of the 22 top-ranking Germans accused before the international military tribunal, contended Gisevius perjured himself in declaring that he was never employed by the American intelligence unit.

They sought thus to break down his testimony against the defendants.

Attorney Alfred Seidl told the tribunal it was known that Gisevius worked with the OSS in Switzerland. He referred to a dispatch filed from Nuernberg April 26, quoting a source on the American prosecution staff as saying that was true.

The court took under advisement the request to question Patterson and Donovan.

Two Yanks Killed In German Ambush

N. Norgaard

Nuernberg, May 11 (AP)—Shots fired from ambush killed two American soldiers attached to the Army newspaper Stars and Stripes, as they rode in a jeep last night through this one-time shrine city of Nazidom.

Four companions, including three young women, escaped injury in the ambuscade. Both men were shot in the chest.

NIGHT

Army officials declared an intensive investigation had been started, but there was no indication that any clues to the assailants had been turned up yet.

The names of the victims were not disclosed pending notification of next of kin. The two were killed in the northern section of Nuernberg, where 22 leading Nazis now are on trial for war crimes.

The other four occupants of the jeep were identified officially as T/5 Elmer Holdway, of Cambria, Va.; Rose Korb, of Hammond, Ind.; Kay Gass, of London, England, and Kathleen O'Farrell, of Limerick, Eire.

Miss Korb is employed by the American prosecution in the war crimes trial. Holdway, Miss Gass and Miss O'Farrell also are on the Stars And Stripes staff.

TWO U. S. SOLDIERS SLAIN IN GERMANY

Nuernberg, Germany, May 11 (A. P.).—Two soldiers on the staff of Stars and Stripes, United States Army newspaper, were shot to death from ambush as they rode in a jeep with another soldier and three young women here last night. The names of the victims were withheld, pending notification of relatives.

Each was shot in the chest. The Army pressed an intensive investigation, but there was no indication that any clews had been found to the identity of the gunman.

DAY

The attack occurred in the northern part of Nuernberg, the site of the trial of twenty-two top Nazis on war crimes charges. Members of the party who escaped injury were officially identified as T/5 Elmer Holdway of Cambria, Va., another member of the Stars and Stripes staff; Kay Gass of London, England, and Kathleen O'Farrell of Limerick, Eire, employed by the newspaper, and Rose Korb of Hammond, Ind., employed by the American prosecution in the war crimes trial. Stars and Stripes sources said that Miss Korb's home is in Gary, Ind.

Army Hunting Fake DP's In Germany

Frankfurt, May 11 (AP)—The United States Army has ordered a hunt throughout the American occupation zone for imposters and criminals believed sponging on American and United Nations aid.

The Army, noting that new "displaced persons" were appearing mysteriously in free-care camps, ordered that the more than 400,000 DPs both in and out of camps be put through a screening.

Elaborate machinery will be in operation within a few days for the project, approved by the War Department, and the result may be the forcible ouster from the camps of many so-called "displaced persons."

DAY

Crime "A Serious Threat"

Army authorities also hoped the vast screening plan would reveal the perpetrators of crimes which have been attributed loosely to "displaced persons." One army report made available unofficially said that crime among displaced persons "poses a serious security threat."

Army authorities, moving carefully to avoid any possible charges of anti-semitism, said 27,000 displaced persons were repatriated in March but that by the end of the Month there were 8,000 more DPs on hand than there were before the month's repatriation had begun.

At the end of April, these authorities said, there were 11,244 more displaced persons in and out of camps than there were at the beginning of the month, despite the fact that 17,809 were sent back to their homes or were resettled.

Ambassador Robert Murphy, political adviser to the American Military Government of Germany, flew here this morning from Berlin to tell the immigrants, ranging in age from 6 months to 82 years:

"The great majority of those who are sailing on this ship were found in concentration camps, emaciated and starving. The United States has rescued more than 3,000,000 of these people. This is an essentially humanitarian movement. I wish you a happy voyage and success."

Besides 800 aliens of 17 nationalities ranging from German to Turk, the S.S. Marine Flasher also carried 67 United States citizens who were returning home after wartime years of exile.

The 800 prospective Americans were the first shipload of Nazi victims to leave Europe under the annual quota of 39,000 set by President Truman. The S.S. Marine Perch is scheduled to sail Monday with a second immigrant group.

N. Sokolovsky, a Soviet commentator, wrote that among the "narrow" goals sought by such joint effort were American-British domination over Italy and establishment of "the complete hegemony of England in the Mediterranean."

"Just" Demands Opposed

"The course of the Paris negotiations cannot fail to leave the impression" that the British and American delegations had gotten together beforehand and that they had opposed the "just" demands of other Allied countries, he declared.

"The tactics applied by the delegations of the Anglo-Saxon countries during the course of conferences in Luxembourg Palace do not seek a solution acceptable for all participants, but are designed specifically to force other delegations to adopt the decisions dictated by them," Sokolovsky asserted.

He said that certain attitudes of the British-American delegations would be hard to explain "if there were not plenty of facts witnessing the presence of a certain agreement between the Anglo-Saxon powers based in so far as can be judged on mutual compensations in various parts of the world."

Reparations Called Example

He declared that "it is only natural that such a political attitude and such tactical methods of the delegations of the United States and England in Paris cannot succeed."

The issue of Italian reparations, while not the most important before the conference, "serves as an example of the real character of the obstacles blocking agreement of the great powers on the peace settlement," Sokolovsky asserted.

He said it was indisputable that the Italians despoiled parts of Yugoslavia, Albania, Greece and the Soviet Union and that Italy should be punished as an aggressor.

French Agree To Request

He stated that the French delegation agreed to Russia's request for $300,000,000 in reparations, of which one third would go to the Soviet Union, but that the British and Americans dissented.

"This may seem mysterious at first glance," he added, "but the mystery is unveiled if we examine the American-English proposals on the peace treaty with Italy.

"The economic section of this proposal, which are far from legal, shed a brilliant light on the real aims of the Anglo-American solicitude for the welfare of Italy and the assurances of its insolvency.

Charges Removal Of Assets

"First of all, the Anglo-Saxon powers who have taken out of Italy assets many times the proposed sum of the reparations, now with the preparation of the peace-treaty demand from this country full compensation for damages inflicted on all the property of American and English firms, even including property ruined during the war by Allied aviation itself.

"Secondly, the American and English proposals are designed to force on Italy an economic regime that will place the country in complete dependency on American and English capital.

"It is not hard to notice the relation between these facts and the stubbornness of the American and English delegations on such a clear—one would think—question as reparations from Italy."

Reds See Selfish Plot On Italy

MAY 12 1946

B. JAMES

Moscow, May 11 (AP)—A commentator in the Soviet Government newspaper Izvestia accused the United States and Britain today of attempting to dictate to the Foreign Ministers Conference, according to a prearranged plan, "to gain their own narrow ends."

The writer, N. Sokolovsky, said these aims included British-American economic domination of Italy and the "establishment of a complete hegemony of England" in the Mediterranean.

The article said "the course of the Paris negotiations cannot fail to leave the impression" that a previous British-American agreement existed.

Cannot Succeed, He Says

"It is only natural that such a political attitude and such tactical methods of the delegations of the United States and England in Paris cannot succeed," he declared.

Singling out the problem of Italian reparations, the article said it was indisputable that Italian invaders despoiled portions of Yugoslavia, Albania, Greece and the Soviet Union and that Italy "deserves punishment as an aggressor."

Sokolovsky said the French delegation agreed with the Soviet representatives that reparations of $300,000,000, of which $100,000,000 would go to the Soviet Union, would be relatively insignificant in view of the damage the Italians caused, and would be far from ruinous to Italy's economy. He said the British and Americans disagreed.

Charges False Solicitude

"This may seem mysterious at first glance, but the mystery is unveiled if we examine American and English proposals on the peace treaty with Italy," Sokolovsky wrote. "The economic sections of this proposal, which are far from legal, shed a brilliant light on the real aims of the Anglo-American solicitude for the welfare of Italy and the assurances of its insolvency.

"First of all, the Anglo-Saxon powers, who have taken out of Italy assets many times the proposed sum of reparations now, with the preparation of the peace treaty, demand from this country full compensation for the damage inflicted on all property of American and English firms, even including property ruined during the war by Allied aviation itself.

Sees Capitalistic Motive

"Secondly, American and English proposals are designed to force upon Italy an economic regime that will place the country in complete dependency on American and English capital.

"It is not hard to notice the relation between these facts and the stubbornness of the American and English delegations on such (one would think) a clear question on reparations from Italy."

The article defended the Soviet plan for trusteeship in Tripolitania as having been based on "the understandable desire for a commercial port in the Mediterranean." From the beginning, the article said, the Soviet Union proposed the closest participation of Italy and all allied powers in the guardianship of all Italy's former colonies.

KING DENOUNCED IN ROME RALLY

G. Bria

ROME, May 11—(AP) Shouting "Down with the King!" 50,000 Roman Republicans marched to the seat of the Italian government at Viminale palace today in an orderly demonstration against the new monarch, [illegible].

At the [illegible] Falcone Lucifero, minister of the Royal house, announced that it had been decided to dispense with any ceremony by which Umberto would be sworn in as Italy's new king.

He said that failure to hold such a ceremony would not affect the validity of Umberto's title to the crown, since this had been acquired with the abdication of his father, Vittorio Emanuele III. The Italian cabinet has decided that Umberto can rule with limited powers Until June 2, when the Italians will decide whether they want a monarchy or a republic.

Today's demonstrators, who heavily outnumbered the 10,000 monarchists who acclaimed Umberto at the Royal palace yesterday, gathered at the people's square this morning for a rally.

Members of the leading Italian parties—the Action, Communist, Christian Democrat and Republican Socialist—were represented. Red flags and Italian flags, minus the cross of the House of Savoy, were carried.

Anti-Umberto Rally Staged In Rome

MAY 12 1946

G. Bria

Rome, May 11 (AP)—Roman Republicans staged an anti-Umberto demonstration today which dwarfed the acclaim Italy's new King received yesterday from Monarchists at the Royal Palace.

A crowd estimated at 50,000 gathered in the People's Square this morning for a rally, then marched to the seat of government at the Viminale Palace, where the marchers cheered the Cabinet and shouted "Down With The King."

A heavy police guard, armed with submachine guns, was posted about the palace, blocking all approaches. The demonstrators marched past the police cordons in an orderly manner.

Holds Despite Ban

The demonstration brought together members of leading Italian parties—the Action, Communist, Christian Democratic and Republican Socialist. Red flags and Italian flags minus the cross of the House of Savoy were carried.

The parade was held despite a Cabinet ban earlier today on all such demonstrations until after the nation votes June 2 on whether the monarchy should be retained. Public assemblies were not prohibited.

Disturbances Feared

A Cabinet communiqué said the action was taken at yesterday's lengthy session, called to consider the abdication of King Vittorio Emanuele III, because some ministers expressed fear of disturbances.

An estimated 10,000 Monarchists demonstrated before the Quirinale yesterday and afterward paraded through Rome, but their conduct was orderly.

King Umberto II, whose succession to the throne was approved by the Cabinet—which limited Umberto's powers and stipulated that he could rule only until the plebiscite—issued his first proclamation last night, reiterating his promise to abide by the decision of the electorate June 2.

Calls For Unity

He called upon the Italian people to "gather about the flag, under which the fatherland was unified and four generations of Italians have known how to live laboriously and die heroically," and said he desired only "to be the first among Italians in the sorrowful hours and last in the happy ones."

The Cabinet's communique confirmed that Vittorio left his vast coin collection—reputed to be the world's largest—to the nation.

WARSAW, May 11 (AP)—Premier Edward Osubka-Morawski said today the Government would outlaw all "anti-democratic Fascast" groups in the powerful Peasant party headed by Deputy Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, former head of the exiled Polish Government in London.

M. Mikolajczyk replied promptly that no single political party had the right to attempt to control Poland's forthcoming general elections, the definite date for which has not been set. He termed "untrue" the Premier's assertion that Fascist groups were within the Peasant party.

The Premier said at a news conference that the Polish Peasant organization had developed into a "mixture of democratic and anti-democratic Fascist elements." He said the names of "Fascist" leaders would be published and the groups they represent outlawed.

An authoritative source said that some Mikolajczyk groups already had been rounded up and disbanded.

Polish Peasant leaders previously had said that the outlawing of the party might precipitate a civil war.

[The United States has suspended deliveries on the $50,000,000 loan recently granted to Poland. A condition of the loan was the assurance of free elections this year.]

Meanwhile, there was evidence of growing tension and bitterness in the pre-election struggle between workers and Socialists on the one hand and the Peasant party on the other.

M. Osubka-Morawski said it was the Government's duty to purge groups whose activities failed to conform to the Potsdam and Yalta stipulations that only democratic parties should be allowed to function.

In a written statement handed to newsmen, M. Mikolajczyk said his party was being attacked because it "defended the liberties and rights of the common man."

"But," he added, "I will not surrender if in the future the Polish Peasant party is accused of being pro-German and pro-Hitler."

Poles to Admit Relief Packages

WARSAW, Poland, May 11 (AP)—William MacDonald, New York representative of the Cooperative for American Remittances to Europe, announced today he had signed an agreement with the Polish Government under which more than 50,000 packages of food could be sent to Poles from relatives and other donors in the United States.

Brig. Lister Acquitted

Amsterdam, May 11 (AP)—A court martial today acquitted Brig. J. F. A. Lister of charges relating to the misuse of Dutch property requisitioned by the Canadian Army while he was chief of staff of Canadian forces in the Netherlands.

Lister originally faced four charges, but one was dismissed during his trial. The court deliberated 48 minutes on the verdict.

[Canadian defense headquarters in Ottawa announced on April 19 that the 39-year-old brigadier faced charges arising from "the recent inquiry into the administration of the Canadian Army in northwest Europe."]

Tulips Treated by X-Ray Shown in Holland Shops

New Method Brings Varieties of Striking Color and Form

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, May 11 (AP).—Thousands of completely new varieties of tulips of striking color, size and form, grown from "pre-dated" bulbs subjected to a new X-ray treatment, are on display in shops here.

The tulips were developed by Dr. W. E. de Mol, Dutch horticultural expert who has been experimenting with bulbs for twenty years. Dr. de Mol has contended that X-ray treatment could change the hereditary structure of bulbs and bring into existence completely new varieties, which could then be used for natural cross-fertilization without loss of the artificially created qualities.

Dry bulbs planted in the fall after X-ray treatment, he explained, show a kind of "X-ray intoxication" for the first year, but thereafter some of them flower with new and striking types.

Turkey to Bar Parties Inspired From Abroad

Inonu Criticizes Democrats' Withdrawal From Poll

ANKARA, Turkey, May 10 (Delayed) (AP).—President General Ismet Inonu, in a speech opening a special session of the Grand National Assembly (Parliament), said today that Turkey will attempt to suppress any political parties "inspired from abroad."

"Turkey DAY to prevent through her law formation of parties or associations whose roots are abroad, that is to say, parties or associations which are foreign instruments and which are inspired from abroad," he said.

The President said the announced withdrawal from the forthcoming elections of the five-month-old Democratic party smacked of tactics employed in certain other countries where failure to participate in elections was designed to "accuse the government in the eyes of other states."

He mentioned no country by name, but observers said he apparently was referring to Greece, where Communist forces recently boycotted a national election.

Egypt Sect Elects Monk As Leader

Cairo, May 11 (AP)—Egypt's Copts yesterday elected a monk from the Upper Nile to be spiritual leader of the 1,500,000 followers of this Christian sect in Egypt and Ethiopia.

A slow train stopped at every junction throughout the Egyptian provinces to bring the Coptic voters to Cairo, where they named El Amba Yousab as the one hundred and thirteenth successor of St. Mark, said to have founded the church in Egypt.

Yousab, archbishop of the Church of Egypt, has been interim patriarch since his predecessor died several months ago. He now holds the position for life. He refused to campaign on traditional and spiritual grounds. Supporters of a rival, Abbuna Daud Makary, distributed pamphlets with pictures saying, "Vote for Makary, the learned one."

Yugoslav Will Return $600 in Coat From U. S.

By The Associated Press.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, May 11—The $600 and a savings account book that Mrs. Delia Hyer of New York sewed into the collar of her fur coat traveled a long way, but is being returned by a Yugoslav.

A local official in a remote village in Yugoslavia was sorting used clothing contributed by Americans when Milos Mikov felt a lump in the collar of a fur coat he was examining.

When he ripped the lining the money fell out with an account book from the Immigrant Industrial Bank of 51 Chambers Street, New York, with the last entry made in July, 1942.

M. Mikov said it was his "duty as an honest worker" to return the money, and the Minister of Finance approved a permit allowing the money to be sent to the United States.

24 JEWS FASTING IN PALESTINE JAIL

Hunger Strike Called Protest Of Alleged Ill Treatment

Jerusalem, May 11 (AP)—Twenty-four young Jews have been on a hunger strike in the prison at Acre since last Thursday in protest against alleged ill treatment by prison guards, it was learned here today.

The hunger strikers, who sent a letter to the Palestine High Commisioner requesting an inquiry and fair treatment, were arrested February 28 near the Biriya settlement in northern Galilee following an exchange of gunfire with an Arab Legion sentry and the subsequent discovery of arms and documents i nthe neighborhood of the settlement.

Set For 'Sacred War,' Asserts Arab Leader

Baghdad, May 11 (AP)—Ahmad Alshuqairi, member of the Arab Higher Committee, said today that Palestine, "fully prepared for a sacred war, chooses armed resistance with or without outside help" rather than the implementation of the British-American inquiry report recommendations.

Alshuqairi is director of the Arab propaganda bureau in Washington. He told a news conference on his arrival here that Arabs were seeking "political and all possible material help" from the Soviet Union to halt the proposed opening of Palestine to 100,000 Jewish immigrants.

"Same As Invasion"

He said the proposal was tantamount to invasion, which Arabs would resist with "the same blood, tears and sweat" by which Britain resisted the threat of invasion in 1940.

"De do not rest our hope on the (United Nations) Security Council, fearing British-American influence," he said. "Force is still the dominating law in the policies of Britain and America, which is betraying the Four Freedoms."

Azerbaijan Talks Reported Ended

Tehran, May 11 (AP)—Negotiations for reuniting Azerbaijan province with the Central Iranian Government have broken down, and the delegation led by Premier Jafar Pishevari was expected to return to Tabriz, a Cabinet minister said today.

The minister, not quotable by name, said that the break followed the Iranian Cabinet's refusal to accept new proposals offered by the Azerbaijan delegation.

A Foreign Office spokesman denied that a deadlock had arisen and added that "announcement of a friendly termination of the conference" was expected.

A foreign expert on Middle East affairs described the development as "very serious" and said that failure to settle the problem created by the establishment of the autonomous regime in Azerbaijan last December left the "threat of civil war."

No Confirmation

There was no confirmation in diplomatic circles that a breakdown had occurred in the negotiations, but diplomats here said such a development would not be surprising since a stalemate had prevailed for several days.

A Tabriz broadcast, criticizing delays in the negotiations, declared "we are not ready to give up our new freedom, but we are ready to sacrifice our lives to preserve it."

At the walled estate where the Pishevari delegation had been residing for the past two weeks a guard said, "It is all over. We are leaving tomorrow."

The nature of the new demands from the Azerbaijan delegation was not disclosed. Recently a Foreign Office source said that Pishevari was making demands which Iranian Premier Armed Qavam considered Premier Ahmed Qavam considered law.

Qavam's Proposals

Qavam on April 22 announced he had presented the Azerbaijan Government with a seven-point proposal for the return of the province to Central Government rule. He said then that the Iranian Cabinet had decided to permit the Azerbaijanis to "have their ideals realized as far as the constitution and laws of the country would permit."

Tudeh Reassured by Ghavam

Under Mr. Ghavam's proposals various Province officials would be elected by provincial and city councils, while their orders would be issued from Teheran. The provincial council would recommend nominees for Governor, who would be appointed by Teheran.

The proposals guaranteed that no action would be taken against the Tudeh [Democratic] party members who had installed the autonomous government and promised adjustments in Azerbaijanian representation in the Iranian Parliament.

Interviews with the negotiators have not been permitted by the Iranian Government. A telegram from Mr. Pishevari in reply to a request for an Associated Press interview said "there is no obstacle for your interview from our side."

The Iranian Government, meanwhile, dispatched an army colonel and civilian observer to the northwest Province to see "if the Red Army has evacuated Azerbaijan."

Iran Talks Over, Say Azerbaijan Delegates

Tehran, May 11 (AP)—The Azerbaijan delegation said today negotiations with the central Government had broken down, and they would return promptly to Tabriz, capital of the self-proclaimed autonomous state.

A spokesman of the central Government's Foreign Office denied that the negotiations were deadlocked, but said "an announcement of the friendly termination of the conferences is expected."

A foreign source here, who is an expert on Middle East affairs, said that if negotiations had broken down it would be "very serious." He said failure to settle the Azerbaijan problem might pose a "threat of civil war."

At the walled village, 5 miles out of Tehran, where the delegation have held their long series of conferences, a guard said: "It is over. We are leaving."

In diplomatic quarters there was no official word on the termination of the negotiations, but it was said the conference had been stalemated for several days.

An Azerbaijan Cabinet minister said the break followed refusal of the Central Government's Cabinet at a special meeting Thursday to accept new proposals of the Azerbaijan delegation, headed by "Premier" Jafar Pishevari.

Demands Not Disclosed

The nature of these demands was not disclosed. Recently a spokesman for the Central Government's foreign office said Pishevari was making "exaggerated" demands which Iranian Premier Ahmed Qavam considered contrary to Iranian constitutional law.

The Tabriz radio, criticizing delays in the negotiations during the past several days, sounded a new warlike note Thursday night, when it announced that "we are not ready to give up our freedom, but we are ready to sacrifice our lives to preserve it."

Secrecy Criticized

The northwestern Iranian province proclaimed its autonomy last November, at a time when Soviet Russian troops occupied the area.

The negotiations on the central Government's proposals to Azerbaijan have been held in the strictest of secrecy. But Pishevari, in a telegram to the Associated Press, indicated he was not in accord with this policy.

Shantung Province Truce Is Arranged

Nanking, May 11 (AP) A truce in Shantung province was announced officially today, erasing the last center of Government-Communist conflict in China proper and leaving only Manchuria embroiled in hostilities.

The official Chinese Government Central News Agency said the truce was signed in Tsinan, capital of the seaboard province where Communist forces had been reported mounting new attacks earlier this week.

Only yesterday Government and Communist negotiators arranged a cease-fire agreement for the central China trouble zone of Honan and Hupeh provinces.

Reported Casualties

Central News reported that the Shantung agreement called for immediate cessation of fighting and troop movements. The Government said three of its regiments had suffered heavy casualties in three months of fighting.

Eruption of fighting in the three provinces had sidetracked efforts to halt the trouble in Manchuria. Manchurian discussions presumably will be resumed, with General Marshall as mediator.

An official Government statement asserted that the Government lost 7,000 men in killed, wounded and missing in the Battle of Changchun alone, when strong Communist forces captured the Manchuria capital April 18.

It admitted the Communists had won a powerful position in Manchuria, saying they also had occupied 43 other cities in the northeast territory, including Harbin.

[Tom Masterson, Associated Press correspondent, today reported that Yingkow, South Manchurian port which is the second largest in northeast China, was set ablaze by the Communists when they were forced out last January and it remained useless to the Government.

[He said the port, which had bulked large in Chinese Government plans for taking over Manchuria, wuold take months to reblid. All harbor facilities were destroyed and nearly all the large buildings were razed in the fire that swept the city].

Truce Reported In Shantung Province

Nanking, May 11 (AP)—The official Central News Agency said today a cease-fire agreement to halt fighting in Shantung province has been signed in the provincial capital, Tsinan.

The pact provides for immediate cessation of fighting and an end to troop movements unless they are of an administrative nature.

The Government meantime announced its losses in the four-day battle of Changchun last month were 7,000 killed, wounded and missing.

Division Decimated

Recapitulating casualties between January 14 and April 30, the news agency said one Government division was completely decimated during fighting in Shansi province and many high-ranking officers were captured by the Communists.

The Communists occupied 44 localities, including Harbin and Changchun in Manchuria and Poshan in Shantung.

To Form Committee

A Supreme Economic Committee, comprising high-ranking Government members, will be formed within a fortnight to tackle China's economic ills.

Members will include the Ministers of Finance, Economics, Food and Agriculture, Communications and Social Affairs and the director of the Chinese National Relief Administration.

Premier T. V. Soong will set the date for the meeting.

U.S. Navy Man Slain By Chinese Boy

Shanghai, May 11 (AP)—The United States Navy announced today that a 15-year-old Chinese boy, described as a member of a prominent family but an opium addict, shot and killed a navy shore patrolman who had picked him up on suspicion of stealing a jeep.

The youth was killed in a gun battle with Chinese gendarmerie a few minutes later. He had grabbed the gun from the shore patrolman's belt holster and shot him in the back while being taken to Shanghai.

Chinese Government Gets Smashed Port

Yingkow, May 11 (AP)—The Chinese Government officially established sovereignty Monday over this important South Manchurian seaport, second largest in Northeast China.

Government officials said that destruction of harbor facilities would prevent the port's use for a long time, eliminating Yingkow as a debarkation point for the repatriation of Japanese from Manchuria.

Nearly all big buildings were destroyed, commerce is at a standstill, and the city is without water and light. Officials said Chinese Communists cut electric lines following seesaw battles with Government forces for this city of 200,000.

The Communists seized Yingkow October 28, after the Russian withdrawal. Government forces attacked January 8. Federal officials said the Communists fired the city before withdrawing two days later.

Record Korean Cod Catch

SEOUL, Korea, May 11 (AP).—One of the largest seasonal catches of cod in Korean history, more than 22,400,000 pounds, was reported today by the fishing industry. The record catch was made by a fishing fleet now one-third of its normal size, because of wartime losses to the Japanese.

U.S. Army To Repatriate Japs

Mukden, May 11 (AP)—The Chinese Government and the United States Army signed an agreement today providing for removal of an estimated 1,300,000 Japanese settlers from Manchuria.

Col. Richard C. Wittmenn, chief United States Army repatriation officer in China, predicted he could complete by September 30 the long-delayed program to clear all Japanese from the puppet state they carved out of China.

While the repatriation of Japanese elsewhere in China is well along toward completion, none has been sent home from Manchuria.

"I Have A Plan"

Gen. Chow Pao-Chung, Communist conqueror of Changchun, said the Communists were willing to permit the "common people" among the Japanese to remain in Manchuria.

Asked how he proposed to get the Japanese out of Communist-held central and northern Manchuria, Colonel Wittmenn replied: "I have a plan," but declined to elaborate.

Today Gen. Tu Li-ming, Chinese Government commander in Manchuria, announced the Central Government had assumed responsibility for the repatriation and had signed an agreement with the United States Army.

China To Repatriate Japs In Manchuria

Mukden, May 11 (AP)—Gen. Tu Li Ming, commander of the Chinese Government's northeast armies, announced today that the Government had assumed responsibility for repatriation of 1,300,000 Japanese from Manchuria.

The job will be done with advice and assistance of the United States Army, he said.

The repatriation agreement was signed by General Tu and Col. Richard T. Wittmenn, Lincoln, Neb., chief of the United States Army repatriation staff in China.

Wittmenn expressed confidence the repatriation program would be completed by September 30 despite the civil war in Manchuria. He said he had "a plan" by which the Japanese would be removed from the Communist-controlled areas, but did not elaborate.

Buffalo Milk Canned By Factory In India

New Delhi, India, May 11 (AP)—First factory of its kind in the world, a military dairy farm at Lahore is pioneering the production of canned buffalo milk.

In a country where the religious beliefs of a preponderantly Hindu population place the cow on a pedestal of worship, buffalos have long provided the bulk of the milk needed by infants and the infirm.

U.S. Hospital In Korea Damaged By Fire

Seoul, Saturday, May 11 (AP)—Forty-nine United States soldier-patients were brought to Seoul today for care at the 29th General Hospital after fire destroyed the supply building at the rear of the 71st Station Hospital at Pusan.

Three soldier firefighters suffered minor injuries and a Korean child was drowned in a near-by river during the fire.

About 100 patients were evacuated uninjured from the hospital. The 49 were transferred here to assure complete medical care while repairs are made.

Pauley Favors New Economic Balance in Asia

MAY 12 1946

U. S. Reparations Plan Calls for Purge of Japanese Control on Continent

TOKYO, May 11 (AP).—Reparations Commissioner Edwin W. Pauley informed General Douglas MacArthur today that his mission aimed to promote a new economic balance in Asia purged of Japanese control.

Pauley handed to the Allied supreme commander a letter, written on White House stationery but signed by himself, summarizing the objectives of the reparations mission as an effort to "aid in the establishment of a peaceful, prosperous economic balance in Asia by severance of tributary ties between Japan and the areas she conquered and by reintegration of the economies of those areas."

In line with these objectives, the letter explained, the mission aimed to determine how completely Japan industrialized Korea and Manchuria, how such industry was correlated with Japanese home industry and what Japanese installations in those territories were available for reparations.

The letter stressed that it was American policy to leave in China, Manchuria and Korea all Japanese assets found there, for settlement of reparations accounts in those countries.

Many Points Uncertain

The mission seeks to discover, it said, the "present status" of Manchuria and North Korea, in view of "reported changes since the end of the war," and to evaluate the effect of those changes on Korean and Chinese production capacity.

It said Pauley and his group intend to recommend, "in view of the present conditions of mining and industrial capacities in Manchuria and northern Korea, that facilities should be removed from Japan and distribution made to China and Korea."

[Part of Pauley's assignment in the Far East is to learn how much industrial and mining equipment the Russians already have removed from Manchuria and northern Korea. At last reports he had not yet received Russian permission to enter northern Korea; most of Manchuria, since its evacuation by the Russians, is under Chinese Communist control.]

The letter emphasized that in recommending removal of equipment from Japan "maximum consideration shall be given to the integration of economic development in greater China, Korea the Philippines and other countries victimized by Japanese aggression."

In a statement issued earlier today, Pauley said the reparations program for Japan would not reduce that nation's productive capacity below the 1933 level. There will remain, he asserted, "sufficient capacity to make the things necessary for civilian requirements."

Pauley conceded that reparations estimates proposed by the victorious nations were high, but explained that "the needs of those countries are so great they are looking forward to more than they will get."

MAY 12 1946

Wool Industry Included

Commenting on reports that Australia was asking for the Japanese wool industry as part of reparations, Pauley said "no ceramics, textiles or non-war potential" had been listed as available for reparations. He declared the United States would "resist demands for such."

Pauley's arrival in Tokyo coincided with a disclosure by informed sources that official thinking at Washington was swinging toward "a more practical policy" on the price Japan shall pay for losing the war.

The new line, these sources said, provides for maintenance of production levels favoring a start toward Japanese recovery "so that we won't have to take care of these people forever."

MAY 12 1946

Establishment of such subsistence levels of production, it was pointed out, would not preclude tight controls of such major industries as steel, petroleum, light metals and chemicals—all of which are war potentials.

The extent of Russian reparations demands upon Japan has not been disclosed, but if Pauley goes to northern Korea and Manchuria his findings there may help settle arguments likely to arise out of such demands.

Pauley said he "anticipated getting Russian permission" for his scheduled exploration of areas occupied by Soviet troops.

If industries have been removed from Manchuria and northern Korea by the Russians, Pauley continued, his recommendations will be based on American views which, he said, were concerned with the economy of China, north Korea and Manchuria rather than with the dollar value of equipment which might have been removed.

Reparation Policy Change Is Indicated

Tokyo, May 11 (AP)—Arrival here of Reparations Commissioner Edwin W. Pauley coincides with disclosure today by well-informed sources that official thinking in Washington is swinging toward "a more practical policy" on the price Japan will have to pay for losing the war.

The new thought involves establishment of production capacity levels which will enable Japan to start recovery "so that we won't have to take care of these people forever."

The sources said that the proposed policy, as yet unannounced and which has scuttled some reparations work done by the Allied command, includes setting up two production—capacity figures—maximum and minimum.

Basis Figures

The maximum figure, based on wartime production, is one the Japanese economy will be judged incapable of sustaining now.

The minimum, which will not be scaled lower, is a level of economy which Japan will be judged capable of maintaining within her own four islands.

Such policy would enable the Japanese to know what their production totals can be and would encourage resumption of industry by Japanese now timid about starting for fear that their facilities might be taken for reparations.

The establishment of a minimum would not preclude tight controls on such major industries as steel, petroleum, light metals and chemicals, all of which are war potentials.

Inspection Teams Proposed

The Far East Commission, which one source accused of being "laggard" on reparations policy, wants to send inspection teams to Japan to check reparations claims which will be entered by victor nations. The source termed these claims "high, even inflated."

Reliable reports indicate that Russia will ask for reparations from military actions, including the Siberian-Manchurian border clashes.

If Pauley goes to north Korea and Manchuria, his findings may go far toward settling almost certain arguments anticipated on Russian claims.

It is unknown whether Russia will enter her claims on the basis of inventories she herself submits as found in northern Korea and Manchuria or on the basis of inventories obtained by the Allied Command from Japanese sources.

Not Under 1933 Capacity

Pauley said today that the program for Japan will not reduce the nation's production capacity below that reached in 1933. There will remain, he added, "sufficient capacity to make things necessary for civilian requirements."

He conceded that estimates proposed by victor nations were high, but explained that "the needs of those countries are so great they are looking forward to more than they will get."

In reply to reports that Australia was asking for the Japanese wool industry, Pauley said "no ceramics, textiles or nonwar potential" had been listed as available for reparations. He said the "United States would resist demands for such."

U. S. Establishes Relations With Yemen After 23-Day Conference in Tiny Country

W. E. Curtis 1946

JIDDA, Saudi Arabia, May 11 (AP)—Col. W. A. Eddy, United States Minister to Saudi Arabia, said today that the United States had established formal relations with the little-known country of Yemen, following twenty-three days of discussions of commerce and friendship agreements.

He said the United States State Department would announce results of the talks between himself and the Imam, 81-year-old high priest and temporal ruler of Yemem, which is situated at the southeast tip of the Red Sea.

The Imam—whose full name and title is Imam Yehia Bin Mohamed Hamid ed-Din—had more overtures for establishing relations with the United States and showed interest in obtaining technical assistance especially in communications and public health, Colonel Eddy said.

EISENHOWER SAYS PEACE IS U. N.'S JOB

Tokyo, May 11 (A. P.).—Gen. Eisenhower believes that the extent to which the United Nations succeeds as an international preserver of peace largely governs the entire problem of United States bases in the Pacific and the Philippines.

The United States Army chief of staff today repeated previous assertions that the world cannot stand another war. He said it is imperative that the U. N. solve the problems which formerly have led to war.

Here to obtain information on the Pacific island hopping tactics, Eisenhower told a news conference that the question of bases in the Philippines depends, in addition to the U. N., upon an agreement satisfactory to the commonwealth, which soon becomes an independent nation.

He predicted it would not be long before United States troops were out of China, and said he had heard no recent discussion of the possibility of Russian troops joining in the occupation of Japan.

Yanks And Aussies In Tokyo Ceremony

Tokyo, May 11 (AP)—Slouch-hatted Australian soldiers took their place beside men of the American 1st Cavalry Division today at eleven guard posts outside the Imperial Palace.

The first two Australian guards to go on duty at the big east gate were Privates Bryan McNabb, of Rockdale, Sydney, and Thomas Evans, of Jondaryan, Queensland. Their platoon of the 34th Australian Infantry Brigade is commanded by Lieut. Austrin Chapman, son of Maj. Gen. John Chapman, of the Australian Military Mission in Washington.

Lieut. Thomas L. Moore, of Mountain View, Mo., and the 7th Cavalry Regiment won the coin toss which decided who was to act as adjutant at the colorful guard mount ceremony participated in by the Aussies and Americans.

Japanese Artists Bewail Paucity of Purchasers

By The Associated Press.

TOKYO, May 11—Fifty painters and sculptors complained to the Ministry of Finance today that nobody could buy their works because Government regulations limited spending to 500 yen [$33] a month for each Japanese.

Vice Minister Tenemi Yamada suggested they "produce something for the 500-yen-a-month people."

"You are insulting fine arts," snapped an artist.

The artists went away unappeased when Mr. Yamada proposed that they concentrate on work for tea rooms and restaurants, which could pay them in food.

Jap Korean Trials Seen

YOKOHAMA, May 11 (AP).—The War Crimes Commission trying Yoshika Yagi, former commandent of the Fukuoka prison camp, today heard a former American war prisoner's testimony that Yagi beat him and other Fukuoka internees with an iron bar.

In a written statement Paul G. Inzer, of Knoxville, Tenn., related: "Yagi lined up our entire detail of thirty men and with an iron bar about six feet long beat each man in turn until he fell to the ground. I arose and he knocked me down again."

Other former prisoners whose affidavits were heard included William J. Burns, of 319 East Ninety-second Street, New York.

5 Huks Reported Killed On Luzon

Manila, May 11 (AP)—Dispatches from Nueva Ecija province in central Luzon reported today that five members of the Hukbalahap guerrilla organization were killed and three rival USAFFE guerrillas were wounded yesterday in a six-hour skirmish near Cabanatuan.

The USAFFE (United States Army Forces in the Far East) guerrillas were organized and led during the war by American officers but have continued under their own leaders. The Hukbalahaps, a peasant organization, also has retained its arms and has shown violent political opposition to the others.

Yesterday's skirmish was described by the Associated Press correspondent in Cabanatuan as involving 700 Huks and about an equal number of the USAFFE guerrillas.

The Huks insist that in self-defense they must retain their arms until the rival organizations are disbanded. Capt. Antonio Villatema, however, sent word to military police headquarters today that the 4,000 Huks he claims to command were ready to surrender their arms after the inauguration of Manuel A. Roxas as President May 28.

Elsewhere in Luzon local peace groups were seeking to end the fighting which has taken more than 50 lives in the past three weeks.

Guerrilla Factions Battle On Luzon

Manila, May 11 (AP)—A six-hour skirmish between 700 Hukbalahaps and three companies of rival guerrillas yesterday afternoon a few miles from Cabanatuan was reported today.

The conflict near the capital of Nueva Ecija province, the trouble center of Luzon, resulted in at least eight casualties.

Hukbalahap Captain Antonio Villatema, commanding 400 guerrillas in Nueva Ecija province, advised Filipino military police headquarters that he would surrender after the inauguration of President-elect Manuel Roxas May 28.

Elsewhere in central Luzon, pacification committees are attempting to implement this week's truce agreement. More than 50 MP's and Huks have been killed in sporadic fighting in that area in less than three weeks.

Messersmith Sees World In 'Armed Truce' Period

In Mexico Farewell, He Calls Hemisphere Flank Exposed

MEXICO CITY, May 11 (AP).—American Ambassador George S. Messersmith said here last night that the world was going through a period of "armed truce" and added: "We have an exposed flank in this hemisphere."

Messersmith, who will leave Mexico next week to become Ambassador to Argentina, said at a farewell dinner given by the American colony that the world situation paralleled that of 1933-'38.

PEACE EDUCATION URGED BY TRUMAN

Tolerance Can End A-Bomb Peril, President Tells Fordham.

NEW YORK, May 11—(AP) President Truman declared today that until the world learns the science of human relationships "the atomic bomb will remain a frightful weapon which threatens to destroy all of us."

Speaking before a crowd which overflowed 10,000 seats on the campus of Fordham university, celebrating the 100th anniversary of its charter, the President declared:

"It is up to education to bring about that deeper international understanding which is so vital to world peace."

One Defense

Mr. Truman said there was at least one defense against the atomic bomb.

"That defense lies in our mastering this science of human relationships all over the world," he said. "It is the defense of tolerance and of understanding, of intelligence and thoughtfulness."

The President and his party landed at La Guardia field at 1:48 p.m. in his C-54 "the Sacred Cow," and drove to the Fordham campus immediately.

Police Commissioner Arthur W. Wallander estimated that 400,000 persons hailed the President, some waving, others shouting "Harry" as the motor caravan rolled swiftly through blocked-off streets.

Receives Honorary Degree

The president—who studied law in Kansas City in the early 1920's—donned a gold-tasseled cap and a purple-banded gown to receive Fordham's honorary degree as Doctor of Law.

"Education faces the greatest challenge in its history," the President said, in preparing veterans and other young men and women "to live in the new atomic age."

"Intelligent men do not hate other men just because their religion may be different, because their national origin or color may be different," he said.

"Intelligent Americans no longer think that merely because a man is born outside the boundaries of the United States he is no concern of ours."

Reads Roosevelt Message

Mr. Truman, reading to the convocation on the Fordham campus a "last message" from the late President Roosevelt, said:

"In a speech which he wrote just before he died, but which he never delivered he said:

"'We are faced with a pre-eminent fact that, if civilization is to survive, we must cultivate the science of human relationships—the ability of all peoples, of all kinds, to live and work together, in the same world, at peace.'

"Until citizens of America and citizens of the other nations of the world learn this 'science of human relationships' of which President Roosevelt spoke, the atomic bomb will remain a frightful weapon which threatens to destroy all of us."

Others on the program were Francis Cardinal Spellman, the Rev. Robert I. Gannon, university president, and Bernard Cardinal Griffin of Westminster, who also received an honorary degree.

Returns to White House

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP) President Truman arrived at National airport at 7 p.m. tonight from a brief visit in New York, where he made an address at Fordham university. He returned immediately to the White House.

Truman Labels Education A Peace Key

New York, May 11 (AP)—President Truman today told a Fordham University charter centenary celebration, "It is up to education to bring about that deeper international understanding which is so vital to world peace."

The President, who received an honorary doctor of laws degree at the campus ceremonies, declared:

"The new age of atomic energy presses upon us. New and terrible urgencies, new and terrible responsibilities have been placed upon education.

Breeders Of War

"Ignorance and its handmaidens, prejudice, intolerance, suspicion of our fellowmen, breed dictators. And they breed wars. Civilization cannot survive an atomic war.

"... We must look to education ... to wipe out that ignorance which threatens catastrophe."

Mr. Truman said there was at least one defense against the atomic bomb. He added.

"That defense lies in our mastering this science of human relationships all over the world. It is the defense of tolerance and of understanding, of intelligence and thoughtfulness."

Talk Is Broadcast

Mr. Truman, who flew here from Washington to open the celebration, said in his broadcast talk:

"Intelligent Americans no longer think that merely because a man is born outside the boundaries of the United States he is no concern of ours. They know that in such thinking lie the seeds of dictatorship and tyranny."

The President said Americans know that dictatorship and tyranny "are too ... less to stop at the borders of the United States," and he continued:

"They know what World War II and the atomic bomb have taught them—that we must work and live with all our fellow men if we are to work and live at all."

Ring Victory Bell

Earlier, Mr. Truman rang for the first time Fordham's victory bell, taken from the Japanese carrier Junyo, sunk by American bombs off Saipan.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz presented the bell to the Catholic school as a memorial to the 216 Fordham men killed in World War II. It will be used to ring out Fordham athletic victories.

Other speakers at the campus observance were Francis Cardinal Spellman, the Rev. Robert I. Gannon, university president, and Bernard Cardinal Griffin, of England, who also received an honorary degree.

Dinner Tonight

The university will have a dinner tonight at the Waldorf-Astoria. Speakers will include the Rev. Father Gannon, Mayor William O'Dwyer and Cardinals Spellman and Griffin.

President Truman originally was scheduled to attend the dinner but canceled his plans because of the 30-day mourning period for Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone.

Truman Address and Spellman Poem at Fordham

The text of President Truman's address at Fordham University yesterday afternoon as recorded and transcribed by THE NEW YORK TIMES:

Your Eminences, President Gannon, fellow alumni and friends:

It is very gratifying to be here at Fordham University in New York on the one hundredth anniversary of the granting of the charter to this great institution of higher learning. I am very grateful for this degree of Doctor of Laws from Fordham. I am happy to become a fellow-alumnus of the men who have gone out from Fordham and who are making such a substantial contribution to the Government and to their communities. One of my able secretaries is a graduate of this great institution, Mr. Matthew Connelly.

I should like in these few minutes to talk especially of the veterans who have enrolled in this university. For I think that there is great significance in the very fact of their being here—and of veterans being in thousands of other universities, colleges and schools throughout the land.

This nation has a comprehensive program to return its veterans to civil life. That program is being carried out. The Federal Government, with the wholehearted cooperation of the various States, has provided many things for veterans—medical care, rehabilitation, loans for homes and farms and businesses; it has provided life insurance and soon it will provide adequate housing. All these benefits are given not as a matter of favor but as a matter of right. Veterans must not be penalized for their war service.

Points to Education Program

Programs of this nature, though less comprehensive, were established for veterans of past wars. But today we find the beginning of a new and important concept—one which is given concrete evidence by the presence of veterans here today. That concept is that the nation must provide for its veterans something more than pensions, something more than insurance, loans, and rehabilitation. For those who wish it, the nation must also provide education.

An enormous and tragic deficit was accumulated during the war—a deficit in education—as millions of young men and women left behind them their books and their schools and colleges to go to war. Not only gratitude, but our national self-preservation as well, require that this educational deficit be diminished or wiped out. By providing educational benefits for our veterans, the Congress has started us on the way to our goal.

Some doubt was expressed a few years ago as to whether there would be any interest among the veterans in these educational aids. There were those—I call them skeptics or call them men without faith in the youth of our nation—who thought that only a handful of veterans would choose to come back to the quiet halls of learning. These men were wrong. The problem is not in the lack of veterans seeking education. The problem is to provide accommodations for those who seek it. Even some colleges which had been exclusively for women have had to open their doors to men students. The response of the colleges and schools to this thirst for knowledge of our veterans has been magnificent.

This desire for further schooling which has been evidenced by our veterans—men and women who will be our leaders of tomorrow—is full of healthy promise for the future. And may God give us those leaders, so that we may continue to assume that leadership which God had always intended us to take in this world.

A New Challenge Cited

The fact that so many veterans have taken advantage of these educational opportunities increases the heavy responsibility which rests upon our schools and colleges. In preparing our veterans and other young men and women to live in the new atomic age, education faces the greatest challenge in history.

There is profound truth in the first line of the new charter of the United Nations educational, scientific and cultural organization. The Charter declares: "Since wars begin in the minds of men, it is in the minds of men that the defenses of peace must be constructed."

I fear we are too much concerned with material things to remember that our real strength lies in spiritual values. I doubt whether there is in this troubled world today, when nations are divided by jealousy and suspicion, a single problem that could not be solved if approached in the spirit of the Sermon on the Mount.

The new age of atomic energy presses upon us. Mark that well! What may have been sufficient yesterday is not sufficient today. New and terrible urgencies, new and terrible responsibilities, have been placed upon education.

Ignorance and its handmaidens, prejudice, intolerance, suspicion of our fellow-men, breed dictators. And they breed wars. Civilization cannot survive an atomic war. Nothing would be left but a world reduced to rubble. Gone would be man's hope for decency. Gone would be our hope for the greatest age in the history of mankind—an age which you and I know can harness atomic energy for the welfare of man and not for his destruction.

Sees Need for Fellowship

And so we must look to education in the long run to wipe out that ignorance which threatens catastrophe. Intelligent men do not hate other men just because their religion may be different, or because their habits and language may be different, or because their national origin or color may be different. It is up to education to bring about that deeper international understanding which is so vital to world peace.

Intelligent Americans no longer think that merely because a man is born outside the boundaries of the United States, he is no concern of ours. They know that in such thinking lie the seeds of dictatorship and tyranny. And they know from sad experience that dictatorship and tyranny are too ruthless to stop at the borders of the United States and conveniently leave us alone. They know what World War II and the atomic bomb have taught them—that we must work and live with all our fellow-men if we are to work and live at all. They know that those without economic hope, and those to whom education has been forcibly denied, willingly turn to dictators. They know that in a nation where teachers are free to teach, and young men and women are free to learn, there is a strong bulwark against dictatorship.

That was the last message from President Roosevelt In a speech which he wrote just before he died, but which he never delivered, he said:

"We are faced with the preeminent fact that, if civilization is to survive, we must cultivate the science of human relationships—the ability of all peoples, of all kinds, to live and work together, in the same world, at peace."

Until citizens of America and citizens of the other nations of the world learn this "science of human relationships" of which President Roosevelt spoke, the atomic bomb will remain a frightful weapon which threatens to destroy all of us.

But there is at least one defense against this bomb. That defense lies in our mastering this science of human relationships all over the world. It is the defense of tolerance and of understanding, of intelligence and thoughtfulness.

When we have learned these things, we shall be able to prove that Hiroshima was not the end of civilization, but the beginning of a new and better world.

That is the task which confronts education. The veterans who attend the colleges and schools of today, and the children of the veterans who will go to school tomorrow, have a right to expect that the training offered to them will fulfill that task. It is not an easy task. It is a most difficult one. It is one which places burdens without precedent, both upon those who teach and upon those who come to be taught. There must be new inspiration, new meaning, new energies. There must be a rebirth of education if this new and urgent task is to be met.

I know that education will meet that challenge. If our civilization is to survive, it must meet it. All of our educational resources must be pledged to that end. The road is hard, but the reward is great.

I am confident that this splendid institution, with its educational system founded upon Christian principles, will play a full and noble part in the great adventure ahead of us. We can and we must make the atomic age an age of peace for the glory of God and the welfare of mankind.

The Cardinal's Poem

Following is the poem written by Cardinal Spellman and read by him at the Fordham ceremony yesterday, dedicated to the President and the American people:

PRAYER FOR OUR TIMES

At night, beneath a canopy of stars,
Through lonely canyons honeycombed with light,
I walk the strangely vacant avenues
Of this great city that I love—New York.
The past and present mingle in my thoughts,
For, having viewed on battlefields abroad
War's fodder in the cemeteries piled
Like old coats left discarded by a road,
And having mused the lessons there revealed
Where sleep the trampled glories of man's past—
The broken swords, the tarnished pomp of power,
Abortive dreams of dynasties, and all
The madness that is spawned from human hearts—
I sense with surety that even here,
Within the confines of our mighty state,
Enduring life may not by us be planned
Or plotted, sciencewise, on measured chart,
Or builded from cement or carven stone.
If dust would live, it must with spirit wed,
And man, vested with vital grace, through work
Must, selfless, serve his God and fellow man!

This is eternal life—to feed the poor,
To suffer little ones to come to Him
Who, for their sake, Himself, became a child.
Would we America immortal make,
Then must we learn to live in unity—
Neighbor with neighbor — state with state—be strong
In charity, and generous with strength
To open wide our hearts in friendly aid
And feed and clothe the hungry and the cold.
Thus may our land achieve enduring life!
Only in God may mankind hope to rise
Above the Stygian levels of his hate,
Only in God may mankind hope to build
A city and a state that shall endure.

As eagle poised on wings are we, above
The Great Divide: Upon the left, revealed
In blood and sweat and tears, are man-made gods,
Ruling a brotherhood of serfs and slaves;
Upon the right, behold a God-made man,
The flowing mercies of His love flung wide
To clothe the naked, heal our wounds.
No weapons in His hands save such as pierce
His innocence redemptive of our guilt,
No malice in His heart toward race or class,
For all are His, and He to all is all.
It is His arms alone that disarm man,
His wounds alone that close the festering sores;
His grace alone saves nations from decay,
His way alone guides men to live in peace.

Father, a thousand tiny lights break through
The great grey darkness of a city night
And are as candles lit before Thy shrine,
Each speaking to Thee of a special need,
And all these needs are one—and Thou that one!

Father, grant us the blessing of Thy peace!
Good men have sacrificed, brave men have died
That we and other nations might have peace.
Yet now, triumphant over all our foes,
We find ourselves without the peace we willed,
Without the wit to bind up our own wounds,
Without the courage, here at home, to share
The very gifts we carried overseas.
In the one home brothers are strangers now,
Hatreds gnaw deep, idle our workers stand,
And all our genius, power and resource
Are sabotaged by stubbornness and greed.

Father, within our time grant us Thy peace,
Not peace conceived in tyranny and lust
Where Thou art not, where men are pawns, and words,
Many as desert sands, are meaningless.
Father, break down the barriers men have built
Against themselves; remove the barnacles
That slow man's moral progress; guide aright
The steersman at the helm of human fate.

Father, within our time grant us Thy peace.

BARUCH LOAN VIEWS SOUGHT

Jesse Jones Also Will Be Asked To Present His Ideas

Washington, May 11 (AP)—Chairman Spence (D., Ky.) of the House Banking Committee said today he will invite Jesse Jones and Bernard M. Baruch to present their views on the proposed $3,750,000,000 British loan.

House committee hearings on the long-term credit arrangement, approved yesterday by the Senate after prolonged debate, will open Tuesday with Fred M. Vinson, Treasury Secretary, starting off the Administration's argument for passage.

Jones Criticized Loan

Neither Jones, former Secretary of Commerce and RFC chief, nor Baruch, long-time adviser of presidents, appeared during Senate committee hearings on the transaction.

Jones, however, has criticized the loan as "unbusinesslike" in the editorial columns of his Houston Chronicle, and Baruch has urged caution in loan policies.

Spence predicted a "ding-dong" battle in his committee, but a check of members indicated the loa nlegislation will get approval there, with strong Democratic support.

Sparkman Predicts Approval

Representative Buffett (R., Neb.), a committee member and one of the leaders of the opposition, said that "it may be a different story when the bill reaches the floor. The people don't want this loan."

However, Administration forces were heartened by the 46-34 Senate victory. House Democratic whip Sparkman, of Alabama, predicted the House would approve the loan "by a comfortable margin" in three weeks.

While Jones has not opposed economic aid for the British, he admonished in his newspaper against making a huge loan without adequate security. He suggested an alternative plan for advancing part of the dollars, with British investments in this country as collateral, supplemented by a mechanism for selling on credit to the British the commodities they need.

Production Considered

When Baruch appeared before the House Banking Committee March 25 to support OPA legislation, he took occasion to adivse: "Take stock before blindly lending—make inventroies of our goods, our cash, our credit before we increase the pressure on these."

He did not mention the British specifically as he declared: "I am not opposed to helping foreign nations. But until production warrants it, I am opposed to lending them money or assisting them except for direct needs to make purchases when we know they cannot be made here or elsewhere. At this time that would be to increase demand."

BRITISH LOAN BEFORE HOUSE; FATE IN DOUBT

Proponents Gladdened by Senate's Approval of 3 Billion Credit.

HEARINGS DUE ON TUESDAY

Question of Bases Is Likely to Be Raised Again in Lower Chamber.

Washington, May 11 (A. P.).—Half of its battle won, the British loan bill moved over to the House today, facing another hard struggle with its ultimate fate very much in doubt.

Administration forces, however, took much encouragement from the way the measure emerged victorious from the Senate by a 46—34 vote yesterday after a month's debate.

Britain's Prime Minister Attlee was represented as highly gratified over the Senate's approval of the $3,750,000,000 credit.

But the House battle on the credit was still to come, and Representative Spence (D.-Ky.), chairman of the Banking Committee, cleared the way for the opening skirmishes by scheduling public hearings on Tuesday. These are expected to take about two weeks.

Fred M. Vinson, Secretary of the Treasury, who contends the loan will be beneficial to American and world commerce as well as to Britain's post-war financial set-up, was called as the first witness.

Opposition Lines Up.

Opposition lines formed swiftly. Representative Buffett (R.-Neb.), Banking Committee member, announced that he will oppose the loan unless the legislation plans for a balanced budget and is financed by a special bond issue privately sold.

It was also expected that the issue of permanent possession of military and naval bases now leased from the British — vigorously debated, but defeated by the Senate—will be raised again in the House.

The office of Representative Barry (D.-N. Y.)., another Banking Committee member, reported that a poll of constituents in his Queens county district showed 88 per cent against the British loan and 94 per cent opposing a loan to Russia. However, an informal check of the Banking Committee members indicated that the group would approve the loan, perhaps by a narrow margin. As for the House membership, many said they have not made up their minds.

House Leader Is Optimist.

The House Democratic whip, Representative Sparkman of Alabama, was optimistic, predicting that the House would pass the bill by a comfortable margin in three weeks. Other leaders said privately that they were not certain of the outcome. One unpredictable factor is that many members are anxious to get away from Washington by mid-July to organize their campaigns for re-election.

The Senate approved the fifty-year loan without changing any of the terms worked out by representatives of the two nations last year. It provides:

1. Authorization for the Treasury to advance Britain up to the full $3,750,000,000 during the next five years, with no interest during that time. Interest at 2 per cent would begin in 1951.

2. The British could obtain waiver of interest payments whenever their exports failed to exceed by 60 per cent those of the period immediately preceding the war.

3. Britain in return proposes to attempt within a year to begin dissolving the wartime currency restrictions under which countries in the so-called sterling bloc sold goods to England and received credit which they could spend only for British goods and services.

Pool Proposed For Air Bases In Hemisphere

Plan for Joint Defense of Americas Would Keep an 1946

30.24-2775

Enemy Far From Coasts

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP).—A common pool of airbases throughout the Americas for military use of all their twenty-one nations was disclosed today as the main feature of a master plan for Western Hemisphere defense.

Existing civil airbases, which already span the two continents, and military and naval bases would be pooled for use of all American nations in the event of an attack by an outside enemy.

The plan was drafted by the Inter-American Defense Board, a war-time agency composed of military representatives of Western Hemisphere countries. Its details are outlined in a report which became available today for the first time. They are based primarily on a wide outer ring of defenses in order to meet an enemy "as far as possible" from the Western Hemisphere.

Should an enemy penetrate the outer ring, the plan calls for an immediate coastal defense to throw back or hold the enemy until reserves can be brought up.

It is this second plan in which the common air defense figures, as well as a combined use of navies, ground forces and overland transport.

The over-all strategy was approved by the defense board last November in the form of a confidential report dealing with proposals for inter-American military co-operation which since has been submitted to the twenty-one American nations for their study and action. Military men said the plan formed the basis for President Truman's recent proposal for military standardization in this hemisphere.

The plan is primarily the same in outline as the one being developed by the United States for its own protection and actually dovetails with it. The act of Chapultepec requires all American republics to go immediately to the assistance of any of its members in the event of an invasion.

The basic, strategic plan is stated in the board's document on "Doctrine of Continental War" and as quoted in the report on military co-operation states:

"1. Exterior defenses—The hemispher adopts the principle of dynamic defense in distance, by virtue of which defense will be carried out first by naval and air forces, which will maintain this defense as far as possible from the hemisphere supported by advanced bases.

"2. Interior Defenses—Interior defense will be made on the coast by a combination of land, Naval and air forces, to throw back any invasion operation, or to contain invading forces until sufficient elements are brought together to destroy them. Interior defense will be supported by a system of military, Naval and air bases which can be utilized on a basis of reciprocity for common security."

Military men familiar with the details of the plan said the Atlantic line of outer defenses runs roughly from Iceland, through England, the Azores, the Canary Islands to the Falkland Islands.

The Pacific line begins in the Aleutians and would run roughly through the Marianas Islands, the Caroline Islands, thence to the Manus Islands and Australia.

FARMERS ORDERED TO CUT PIG CROP TEN PCT. IN FALL

Action Taken to Release More Grain for Shipment Abroad.

MEAT TO BE SHORT

Bowles Says Pork Supplies Will Fall Next Spring, Summer.

MAY 12 1946

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP) Choosing between meat for this country and grain for starving lands, Secretary of Agriculture Anderson tonight asked farmers to produce 10 percent fewer pigs next fall than they did a year ago.

The action, he said, is dictated by the fact that grain supplies will not be large enough to continue hog production at present levels and supply famine areas abroad.

Shortage in Fall

It was taken as Stabilization Director Chester Bowles served notice to the public that the meat supply "pinch is really going to be felt next winter and spring." Meat will be more plentiful within the next few months, he reported, but then will become scarcer as a result of higher grain prices authorized in the hope of getting more grain for export.

"We aren't going to like it very much," Bowles said in a broadcast. "But we would like ourselves a whole lot less if we went on callously, blindly, stuffing our own mouths while we defaulted on our plain obligations to the starving of this earth."

A 10-percent smaller fall pig crop will be reflected in pork supplies moving into meat counters next spring and summer. The reduction in total pork supplies will be considerably more than 10 percent, however, because the coming fall pigs will be fed to much lighter weights than the 1945 fall pigs.

Sets National Goal

Anderson set the national fall pig goal at 31,500,000 head. Fall pigs are those farrowed between June 1 and December 1.

The secretary said there would be a good market next year for as many fall pigs as were raised last fall, if not more.

"However, we have had to weigh carefully the prospective demand for meat with the feed outlook and the urgent need for supplying grain and grain products for foreign relief," he said in a statement.

Anderson asked a pig reduction of nine percent in the midwestern corn belt and at least 12 percent in other areas. This difference recognizes the difficulty of obtaining adequate feed supplies outside the corn belt and the need for economy in the use of transportation facilities.

Cereal Shipments Fall

Cereal shipments fell 65 percent below requirements last week because of the failure of grain-producing nations to meet UNRRA's minimum needs, Director General Fiorello H. LaGuardia said in a statement.

Only 49,260 metric tons of cereals were shipped of the 160,500 tons required, he said, forcing the Austrian government to reduce food rations in Vienna to 867 calories daily and Poland to divert 20,000 tons of seed grain to human consumption. The normal European ration is 1,800 calories daily.

LaGuardia said the loss of the 20,000 tons of seed grain would reduce spring plantings in Poland by 242,000 acres, cutting eventual food production by 100,000 tons.

No rice or fats were available for shipment at all last week, he disclosed, and only small quantities of canned meat, milk, fertilizers and coal were loaded. Sugar was the only relief commodity which surpassed schedule, with 8,318 tons leaving—nearly 300 tons more than required.

More Food Demanded

Meanwhile in a letter to President Truman a group of citizens headed by former Governor Herbert H. Lehman, the one-time director general of UNRRA; and Clarence E. Pickett, secretary of the American Friends Service committee, suggested a five-point program for doubling American food shipments abroad.

The suggestions:

1. Increase the program of wheat exports for the period April 1-June 30, from 125,000,000 bushels to 250,000,000 bushels (a program which still would leave more than a third of the current supply of wheat and wheat products for our own use.

2. Increase meat exports for the same period from the 700,000,000 pounds to which we are committed, to 1,500,000,000 pounds (drawing on Army and Navy stock and some civilian supplies to speed shipments, but replacing these shortly from an expanded slaughtering program.)

3. Double exports shipments of fats and oils (by using supplies not essential here, and by an expanded hog-slaughtering program.)

4. Treble exports of needed dairy products, especially cheese, and evaporated, condensed and dried milk (by increasing production and cuts in unnecessary consumption here.)

5. Fulfill our rice export commitments by re-purchasing stocks already in distribution channels in this country (still leaving nearly three-quarters of the supply for our own uses.)

"The program," the group added in its letter, "would double our contribution to the fight against famine during the present critical months."

More Meat Seen Soon, With Real Pinch Later

MAY 13 1946

Washington, May 11 (AP)—Chester Bowles predicted today there will be more meat on dinner tables during the next few months, but that "the pinch really is going to be felt next winter and spring."

Meat supplies will increase and then decline as the result of sharp grain price hikes which have been authorized in the hope of meeting famine relief commitments, the stabilization director said in a radio address.

Citing Agriculture Department figures, Bowles said that during the first four months of this year the United States fell short of its grain shipment promises by 27,450,000 bushels.

"On My Conscience"

"I don't know how many people have died," Bowles said, "because that grain wasn't shipped. But that 27,450,000 bushels we failed to send is on my conscience, as I know it is on yours."

He added that the problem was "to strike a balance—to do what we could to guarantee good meat supplies at home, without failing the millions overseas who are asking only for bread." The only solution, he continued, "was for the Government to raise the ceiling prices of all grain feeds."

The increases, ranging from 25 cents a bushel for corn to 5 cents a bushel for oats, become effective Monday.

More, Then Less

"It's going to mean," Bowles stated, "that you'll get along with a little less meat in the next year or so, but not right away. In the next few months you'll actually get more meat (because) farmers won't be holding their livestock in barns and feeding pens quite as long, and more is bound to come to market soon. . . .

"The pinch is really going to be felt next winter and spring. We aren't going to like it very much. But we would like ourselves a whole lot less if we went on callously, blindly, stuffing our own mouths while we defaulted on our plain obligations to the starving of this earth."

Hope Of Lifting Wheat Curbs Dimmed

MAY 2 1946

Chicago, May 11 (AP)—Concern was expressed in grain circles today over the effect of last night's below freezing weather in Kansas on the developing winter wheat crop.

Traders said, however, that estimates of damage were impossible if only because the situation was without precedent. Major wheat producing areas in Kansas reported the coldest weather for this time of the year since 1889.

Washington, May 11 (AP)—The latest wheat-crop reports delivered a sharp blow today to any hopes of Government food officials for removal of present curbs on domestic consumption of flour and wheat products.

Dry weather in the Southwestern plains forced the Agriculture Department to revise its crop estimates downward from the 830,636,000-bushel forecast a month ago to the prospects of only 742,887,000 bushels.

The 88,000,000-bushel drop was unwelcome news for famine-relief planners.

Big Crop Still Possible

Despite present forecasts, however, improved weather and other conditions can still make possible another billion-bushel wheat crop, but present indications are that the total supply for the marketing season beginning July 1 may be 300,000,000 bushels short of the amount available during the current season.

Demands for wheat in famine areas are expected, on the other hand, to be at least as large as this season.

Unless the country's wheat prospects improve materially between now and harvest, food experts said the United States would have to continue rigid controls on domestic consumption if it is to supply hungry areas with even two thirds as much as it is now exporting.

Domestic Restrictions

Domestic consumption is being restricted by orders requiring millers to produce darker flour and to distribute 25 per cent less flour than consumers had been buying.

When these measures were inaugurated, food officials expressed hope that they could be dropped as soon as this year's grain crops are harvested here and abroad.

In issuing its May crop report on winter wheat yesterday, the Agriculture Department made no forecast on spring wheat production, but officials now expect it to be at least 260,000,000 bushels.

Combined Estimate

Thus the combined winter and spring crops would be about 1,002,000,000 bushels, compared with 1,123,143,000 last year and with 789,080,000 for the ten-year (1934-43) average.

This year's production will be augmented by a carryover reserve of about 100,000,000 bushels. A year ago the carryover was nearly 300,000,000 bushels.

Despite the fact that drought continued to plague some sections of the southwestern plains and that April rainfall was well below average for important crop areas, the department declared that this year's food production prospects continue bright for the country as a whole.

Wyatt Directs Staff to Speed Housing Plans

Seeks to Make UpTimeLost In Passing$400,000,000 Material Subsidy Bill

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP).—Wilson Wyatt, Housing Administrator, directed his staff today to launch a $400,000,000 building material subsidy program as soon as the housing bill is enacted next week.

Seeking to make up for time lost in Congress, which he said cost 3,000 houses a day, Mr. Wyatt plans to hold industry conferences at once to put the government funds to work increasing the production of scarce materials.

His aids represented him as disappointed at the decision of a Senate-House committee to cut the subsidy payments from the $600,000,000 he requested. He is determined to go back to Congress for more if the $400,000,000 proves insufficient.

The conference committee report is still to be formally adopted by the two chambers, but this is expected to be done early next week without further debate. President Truman is ready to sign the measure immediately.

In addition to the subsidies, the bill gives Mr. Wyatt broad power to issue directives to other government agencies; provides $1,000,000,000 in home mortgage loans and guaranties a market for thousands of prefabricated dwellings.

Mr. Wyatt laid greatest stress, however, on the subsidy plan at a conference with his top subordinates before leaving Washington for a speech at the Southern Labor Conference in Asheville, N. C.

He instructed them to consult as soon as possible with each of the "bottleneck" industries—tile, plywood, soil pipe, radiators and others—on their need for subsidy help to reopen closed plants, start second and third-shift operations, pay overtime wages, and take other steps to spur production.

Industrial consultants are being brought in from each industry. The entire program will be submitted to an industry advisory committee before being launched. Office of Price Administration and Civilian Production officials also will be consulted.

Progress in the campaign for 2,700,000 new homes in two years, Mr. Truman's goal, was reported by the Federal Housing Administration. Four hundred thousand applications for priorities to start dwellings have been approved since January, the agency said.

Officials said the new measure would help Mr. Wyatt over one of his biggest hurdles—the fact that many houses have been started but are standing half finished for lack of materials.

New Drive Against Teen-Age Draft

Washington, May 11 (AP)—A new House drive for a ban on teen-age inductions gathered momentum today to threaten a Senate-approved bill continuing the draft law as is until July 1.

The move threatened to complicate the uncertain draft picture even further, for the War Department has indicated that a substantial portion of the 80,000 youths eligible for induction before July 1 are of high school age, deferred to complete school courses.

Already On Record

Its backers, however, placed reliance on the fact that the House has already gone on record against teen-age inductions in any extension of the Selective Service Act.

Representative Sheridan (D., Pa.), who blocked House action yesterday on the Senate's stopgap resolution for continuing the draft six weeks beyond its present May 15 expiration date, said he would offer the 'teen-age amendment Monday when the House takes up the temporary measure.

The Pennsylvanian, only member of the Military Committee who opposed the resolution at yesterday's committee session, said he would also seek a ban on all inductions during the six-week extension period voted by the Senate.

Approved A "Holiday"

When the House on April 15 sent the Senate legislation extending the draft law until next February 15, it approved an induction "holiday" until October 15 by a 149-127 vote and ordered a ban on 'teen-age inductions by a count of 195 to 96.

Sheridan explained that a ban on 'teen-age inductions would protect many of some 80,000 high-school and college students holding deferments until the completion of their present school year, late this month and early in June. He said he saw no need for their induction.

Representative Short (R., Mo.), another committee member, suggested the possibility of the House amending the Senate resolution by substituting for it the originally-passed House measure on which the Senate has yet to act.

Fighting Against Time

Should that happen, the entire subject would be thrown into a Senate-House conference which Administration leaders fear might not be able to work out a compromise in time to save the present law from expiring next Wednesday midnight.

Short accused the Senate of "passing the buck" to the House on the draft and other controversial matters.

"The Senate knew the draft law was going to expire on May 15 unless they did something about it," he said, "yet they have allowed our bill to lie on the shelf for almost a month and now they come through with this stop-gap proposal. We ought to toss it right back at them."

Criticism of Army Attacked as Unjust

Royall Says Talk of 'Caste' and 'Brass' Hurts U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP).—Kenneth C. Royall, Under Secretary of War, declared tonight that an "increasing wave of unjust criticism" of the armed forces is affecting the Army's morale and efficiency and diminishing America's influence in the world.

"I have no quarrel with honest criticism based on fact," he said in an address for a meeting of the Society of Cincinnati, descendants of the officers of the Continental army. "In a democratic nation, government improves its operations through criticism and by compromising differences of conclusion and opinion.

"But I do take umbrage—and seriously so—at criticism based on gossip or on exaggeration or on plain falsehood.

"The tribute which some people are paying to the great leaders of the war is in the coin of sneers and the epithet 'brass.' To the young officers who, on their merit, earned their rank and led their units at the front with courage, or served with fidelity at the rear, the tribute is the rasping epithet 'caste.'"

"This increasing wave of unjust criticism of the armed forces already has cost the United States too much," he added. "Within our country it has built up enough prejudice against the Army to interfere with voluntary enlistments—and it has interfered with passage of the necessary draft law.

"It has also diminished our influence in the world today and has encouraged—and is encouraging—other nations to attempt steps and to make gestures and to resort to policies which [illegible] not have dared con[illegible] were no tbeginning ability, as well as our determination, to back up our policies."

EISENHOWER FOR MARINES

MAY 12 1946

'Would Be Last One To Advocate Their Abolition'

Washington, May 11 (AP)—General Dwight D. Eisenhower, replying to Marine Corps criticism that the Army wanted to reduce the Marines to "studied ineffectiveness," said today "I would certainly be the last one to advocate their abolition."

Gen. Alexander A. Vandegrift, Marine Corps commander, told the Senate Naval Committee Monday that the pending Army-Navy merger bill threatens the leathernecks with extinction.

"The merger bill in its present form makes this objective readily obtainable," Vandegrift added.

Marines' Operations Praised

Tonight the War Department here released a transcript of General Eisenhower's reply, given at a Tokyo news conference today.

Eisenhower said he had not seen complete accounts of Vandergrift's statements but declared "there is the intimation nevertheless that the War Department or I personally desire to abolish the Marines.

"Well, where any such misconception came from is far beyond me," Eisenhower added.

"No one, I think, has paid greater tribute to the war record o fthe Marines for more than a century and three quarters than I have. They have conducted operations, particularly landing operations, of great brilliancy. The only thing that I have intimated in that respect is this.

Unified Control Desired

"I feel that the United States cannot afford to provide and maintain two great forces, both of which have identical missions, conducting great landing operations."

Eisenhower said he personnally believed that "we should have unified civilian control at the top, but it came to be a service argument . . . it is not the Army's initiative that brought this about, and I think it is deplorable that the matter has become, before the public and before all of us, an Army-Navy fight.

"I think it is almost tragic," the chief of staff declared, "that we should have one great service lined up in support of an idea they believe to be right and have the other service condemning it as a nefarious plot to seize control over all services and the whole nation. I don't understand it."

Wherry Sees Monopoly Of Electronic Surplus

Says Evidence Warrants Full Inquiry Into Disposal

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP).—Senator Kenneth S. Wherry, Republican of Nebraska, said today some "apparently monopolistic angles" were uncovered today in a Senate judiciary sub-committee's inquiry into the War Assets Administration's disposal of surplus electronic equipment.

"The thing that surprises me is how few people get any of this equipment," he told reporters. "The evidence indicates that only a few large corporations are handling it now whereas when the surplus property disposal program began there were more than 200.

"Maybe there is a reason. We haven't gone into that yet."

The sub-committee heard two witnesses from the W. A. A. behind closed doors today in a continuation of its general investigation into the adequacy of present safeguards over secret United States electronics devices, including radar.

Senator Wherry, acting chairman at the hearing, said he was not at liberty to disclose the witnesses' names but that they were "top flight" men.

"We heard enough to convince me that there should be a complete investigation of the sale of surplus electronic equipment through the War Assets Administration, not only on the safety angle but on the system of distribution at home and abroad."

Child Leads Pickets At White House

MAY 12 1946

Washington, May 11 (AP)—A 3-year-old girl carrying a sign "Free My Daddy" led approximately 100 persons who picketed the White House today for the release of imprisoned conscientious objectors.

A statement by the Committee for Amnesty said the marchers, many of whom are relatives of imprisoned men, would petition President Truman for the release of 2,600 conscientious objectors still in Federal jails.

"The President has it in his power to grant a general amnesty as was done after the last war," the statement said.

The committee said several members of the delegation would be received by Philleo Nash, assistant of David Niles, presidential adviser on minorities.

Radar Again To Be Used To Locate Hurricanes

Washington, May 11 (AP)—Radar will be used again this summer to aid in locating newly formed hurricanes, a navy spokesman said today.

Radar holds the promise, he said, of becoming increasingly important as a hurricane spotter. At present, however, it has definite limitations, principally the matter of range.

Navy ships operating radar under present conditions sometimes have to get too close for safety to obtain effective use of the device. For this reason, the hurricane warning service will continue to rely heavily on reconnaisance planes and on the micro-seismograph, which records the slight earth vibrations created by hurricanes.

Legion Urges 6,700,000 Jobs For Veterans

Submits Plan to U. S. E. S. Conference; Seniority for War Service Asked

ST. LOUIS, May 11 (AP).—Jobs must be found for 6,700,000 veterans by 1947 if the nation is to avoid prolonged unemployment, Ralph H. Lavers, of Washington, national director of employment and veterans preference for the American Legion, declared today.

Mr. Lavers recommended to the opening session of the twelfth annual conference of veterans employment representatives of the United States Employment Service that, to help meet the problem, they urge formation of committees of business leaders in each community to maintain files of available jobs, induce employers to list jobs with the U. S. E. S., and show employers how they can create jobs within their businesses.

Omar B. Ketchum, national legislative representative for the Veterans of Foreign Wars, told the conference that seniority equivalent to the length of time passed in military service should be granted war veterans who, although they did not work before the war, acquired special skills while in uniform.

"Labor unions, which have fought seniority rights for veterans whenever those rights conflicted with seniority claims of non-veterans, must give more than lip service to veterans," Mr. Ketchum said. "Men should not be penalized for having served in the armed forces."

Perry Faulkner, chief of the Veterans Employment Service, Washington, said "the veteran will be needing greater service in, let us say, five years from now."

"It is not too much to say that the salvation of our industrial and social freedom depends upon the readjustment of the veteran from the soldier to civilian with a job."

The conference will close Wednesday with a panel discussion at which General Omar N. Bradley, Veterans Administration; General Lewis B. Hershey, National Director of Selective Service, and Lewis B. Schwellenbach, Secretary of Labor, are scheduled to appear.

W. Va. Hospital Is Given Name Of Soldier Hero

MAY 12 1946

South Charleston Honors Man Who Gave Life to Save His Comrades

CHARLESTON, W. V., May 11 (AP).—In the same gusty manner that South Charleston grew between the world wars to the rank of twelfth city of West Virginia, its citizens have erected a monument that may be unique in American tribute to Congressional Medal of Honor heroes.

Overcoming delays and adversities and with Federal financial help, they have built a hospital—a seventy-five bed institution that is the last word in modernity.

The brass plate encased in the brick entrance identifies it as "the Herbert J. Thomas Memorial Hospital."

Ground already had been broken for the hospital when Sergeant Thomas led a detail of Marines ashore on the Island of Bougainville.

Less than two weeks later, Herbert J. Thomas sr., read in his Sunday morning newspaper the story of how his twenty-six-year-old son had thrown himself on a live grenade to spare the members of his platoon.

It developed that one of those rare mixups had occurred in the casualty branch and the news report had gone out before the family had been notified. But there was no mistake about the heroic manner in which young Sergeant Thomas had sacrificed his life for his comrades.

The sergeant himself had hurled the hand grenade, aiming at a chattering machine-gun nest which was retarding progress on the beachhead. The missile struck some overhanging jungle growth and bounced back into the center of the group of marines.

Without hesitation Sergeant Thomas threw himself face forward, smothering the blast which cost him his own life.

The Medal of Honor was awarded to Sergeant Thomas, and a naval escort vessel was named for him.

Meanwhile, a popular movement arose in Sergeant Thomas's home town to pay his name a lasting memory. The hospital then under construction was the logical answer.

"There just wasn't any question about it," says slight, gray-haired Mayor L. Henry Oakes. "When the council met, only one name was put before it and it was adopted unanimously."

The City of South Charleston (pop. 10,377) is expected to turn out en masse when the $700,000 Thomas Hospital is dedicated later this year.

Already in its place of honor is a portrait of the young Marine hero, who was born and grew up in the thriving industrial town which was incorporated in 1917 and established an identity of its own despite the proximity of the capital city of Charleston on the north shore of the Kanawha River.

Beside the picture is a framed copy of the citation which was presented to Mr. Thomas sr., and his daughter, Audrey, by Secretary of the Navy Forrestal.

Service Rivalry Comes to Fore In Rocket Test

Le May Says Experiments With V-2 Show Lack of Research Co-ordination

WHITE SANDS, N. M., May 11 (AP).—A behind-the-scenes contest involving Army, Navy and Air Forces for control of development of long-range rockets as a weapon of the future was suggested by top officials today at the start of a series of spectacular tests with German V-2 missiles.

Although the Army described the current tests at White Sands Proving Ground as a joint venture of the three primary services, Major General Curtis LeMay told a reporter "there is no real co-ordination short of the President" and "no clear definition of responsibility between the Air and Ground Forces."

General LeMay is deputy chief of the Army Air Forces air staff in charge of research and development.

Vice Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, commander of the task force carrying out this summer's atom bomb test, acknowledged that as the range of rockets was increased from hundreds to possibly thousand of miles there might be difficulty in reconciling control of such weapons between land, sea and air forces. He suggested, however, that some competitive research might speed rather than hinder progress.

Admiral Blandy said the Navy's concern embraced ship to shore, as well as ship to ship, and ship to air rockets.

Meanwhile, the Army Ordnance Department, which is an element of the Ground Forces, has effective control of the V-2 tests as part of an announced program of developing rockets of giant size and even greater supersonic speed.

Officials said a War Department policy directive gave Ordnance direction of wingless projectiles while the Air Forces controlled only those with wings. General LeMay said this directive was not clear and that co-ordination through joint chiefs of staff was ineffective. He said further that as a result there had been some delay in post-war rocket research.

General LeMay is an ardent sponsor of a proposal to establish a new A. A. F. research and development center which would specialize on space weapons and cost an initial $300,000,000.

Rear Admiral Luis Deflorez said the Navy was planning an extensive incentive program to spur interest of youthful students in science by offering them trips on carriers and by other means.

187 Polish War Orphans Enter U. S. From Mexico

Children, 6 to 18, on Way to Chicago and Milwaukee

LAREDO, Tex., May 11 (AP).—One hundred and eighty-seven Polish orphans, fugitives from Nazism since 1940, today entered the United States on a special mercy train en route to Chicago and Milwaukee.

They had been living at Santa Rosa, Guanajuato, Mexico, since 1943.

They fled from Poland to India via Russia and Iran. They were evacuated to America on a United States refugee ship and then moved to Mexico.

The train left San Luis Potosi, Mexico, Thursday. Five Catholic nurses accompany the children.

After a check by United States immigration, customs and public health authorities, the train entered the United States and continued north today. The orphans, ranging in age from six to eighteen, will remain under the care of the Catholic Welfare Association. Later they will be offered for adoption. Government funds are financinb the trip.

Russia Also Errs, Says CIO Head

Atlantic City, May 10 (AP)—CIO President Philip Murray, in an address before the convention of the CIO Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union, said Russia, like the United States and Great Britain was "making her share of mistakes" and that it was up to labor to help them working in unity for the preservation of peace.

Murray said:

"Evidences are at hand to indicate that they are not making mistakes. But those mistakes are not all those of the United States either, or Britain. There is no infallibility in Russia, because I am quite sure she is making her share of mistakes.

"Russia Has Got To Bend"

"I am quite sure she is and has got to bend occasionally, just like the rest of the world and just like America and Great Britain.

"It must be the business of labor here in the United States and all over the world to see to it that peace is guaranteed."

The convention ends today with the nomination of officers. Hillman was assured of unopposed nomination for re-election as president. The election will be by popular vote among the 350,000 members of the union.

ABOARD USS MOUNT MCKINLEY ENROUTE TO BIKINI, MAY 11-(AP)-AFTER THE BIKINI ATOM BOMB EXPLSION, SCIENTISTS ARE GOING TO EXPLORE THE STRATOSPHERE FOR RADIOACTIVITY AT POINTS AS FAR AWAY AS WASHINGTON.

SOUNDING BALLOONS CARRYING GEIGER COUNTERS TO RECORD ANY ADIOACTIVITY WILL BE SENT UP AT VARIOUS POINTS, INCLUDING WASHINGTON, COCO SOLO IN THE CANAL ZONE, HONOLULU, WAKE AND GUAM.

EXPERTS SAY THERE IS NO DANGER TO PEOPLE FROM SUCH HIGH ALTITUDE RADIOACTIVITY, HOWEVER, BECAUSE IT IS PRESENT IN SUCH MINUTE QUANTITIES THAT ONLY DELICATE INSTRUMENTS CAN REGISTER IT.

IT IS THEORIZED THAT SUCH RADIOACTIVITY WOULD DRFT AROUND THE WORLD NUMEROUS TIMES IN THE UPPER AIR CURRENTS AT 70,000 FEET OR MORE.

PLANS ALSO ARE BEING MADE TO SET UP SUPERSENSITIVE MICROBAROGRAPHS AT GUAM, MIDWAY, WAKE AND HONOLULU TO SEE WHETHER THE SHOCK WAVE FROM THE AIRBURST OF THE BOMB WILL REGISTER AT POINTS P TO TWO THOUSAND MILES OFF. LIKE THE RADIOACTIVITY TEST, THE SHOCK WAVE EXPERIMENT IS PURELY A SCIENTIFIC STUDY AND THERE IS NO EXPECTATION THAT RESIDENTS AT THOSE DISTANT POINTS WILL EITHER FEEL OR HEAR THE BLAST.

NAVY LIEUTENANT P.A.HUMPHREY OF '683 LUCH STREET) MEMPHIS, TENN., ASSISTANT AEROLOGICAL OFFICER FOR THE TASK FORCE, IS WORKING HARD ON HIS CHARTS AND RECORDS COMPUTING CHANCES OF THE WEATHER BEING CLEAR AT BIKINI. HE SAID THE PERCENTAGE OF CLOUD COVER WAS THE MOST IMPORTANT FACTOR IN THE AIRDROP TEST, ALTHOUGH ESTIMATING THE WIND DIRECTION IS IMPORTANT BECAUSE OF THE DANGER OF POISONOUS CLOUD DRIFT OVER INHABITED ISLANDS.

AS FOR CLOUD COVER, HUMPHREY SAYS JULY MAY HAVE SEVEN OPERATIONAL DAYS WHEN A BOMBER CAN SEE THE TARGET, EIGHT QUESTIONABLE DAYS AND SIXTEEN NON-OPERATIONAL. HE POINTS OUT THAT UNITED STATES EXPERTS ARE FORCED TO MAKE THEIR ESTIMATES ON THE RECORDS FOR THE MARSHALL ISLANDS, WHICH COVER ONLY ONE YEAR, WHEREAS IT IS DESIRABLE TO HAVE WEATHER RECORDS FOR AT LEAST TEN YEARS IN MAKING SUCH ESTIMATES.

THE BOMB EXPLOSION COULD CREATE A LOCAL THUNDERSHOWER, HUMPHREY SAYS, BUT HE DISCOUNTS ANY CHANCE OF A GENERAL EFFECT ON WEATHER OR CLAIMTE. IN CONNECTION WITH THE BOMB CLOUD DRIFT, HE POINTS OUT THAT IT IS POSSIBLE FOR RAIN FALLING THROUGH CLOUDS TO WASH DOWN WITH IT SOME POISONOUS RADIO PARTICLES.

War Peril Seen in Iran, Talks Reach Stalemate

Azerbaijan Province Broadcasts Threat to Fight Tehran Government—Delegate Prepares for Trip Home Then Returns for New Parley.

NIGHT Godwin

TEHRAN, May 12—(AP) Reliable Iranian government officials expressed belief today that unfavorable flying weather may have postponed or averted civil war in Iran, as the Tabriz radio announced that the people of Azerbaijan province were "ready to fight."

Jafar Pishevari, premier of the self-styled autonomous Azerbaijan government, went to the Tehran airport yesterday to return to Tabriz. His departure was halted by an adverse weather report.

A translator in the office of Premier Ahmed Qavam of the central Iranian government said Pishevari later called on Qavam and agreed to reopen conversations on the central government's proposal for Azerbaijan's return to Tehran's jurisdiction. The northwestern province adjacent to the Soviet Union last November proclaimed its autonomy.

Pishevari was said to have expressed willingness to drop Azerbaijan counter-proposals, which observers here have blamed for preventing an agreement.

Earlier, a Foreign ministry protocol official said the negotiation had ended Friday night in a stalemate, despite insistence by Propaganda Minister Prince Mozaffar Firouz that "negotiations still are going on smoothly and the Azerbaijan delegates probably will remain here another week."

The broadcast from Tabriz, Azerbaijan's capital, said the negotiations on the central government's proposals had broken down because of "reactionary elements" in Tehran, and added "we are ready to fight."

An official who accompanied Pishevari to the airport yesterday said a breakdown of negotiations would be "extremely critical." He declared it might mean that "armed conflict between the Azerbaijan partisans and the Iranian army" would be inevitable.

The official Tehran radio denied a statement attributed to Qavam that force would be used to settle the Azerbaijan problem. But the Iranian army has been alerted for the past few days and reinforcements have been moved to frontier stations in Kurdistan and at points in Gilan province on the Caspian sea.

An Iranian Army staff officer said "large quantities of supplies and some arms" have been moving to loyal Zolfaghari tribesmen and members of the Afshar tribe, which previously have checked Azerbaijan penetrations.

Expect Resort To Arms

Many persons in Tehran have expressed conviction that the Azerbaijan-Central Government problem may have to be settled by arms.

The Azerbaijan delegation has been discussing with the Central Government for several weeks Tehran's proposals for the return of the northwestern province to the Government's fold.

At the walled village 5 miles outside Tehran, where the negotiations have been carried on in the strictest of secrecy, a guard said yesterday: "It is over. We are leaving."

Azerbaijan sources blamed the Central Government for refusing to accept new proposals of the Azerbaijan delegation.

INDIA PARLEY BREAKDOWN IS ADMITTED

Formal Statement Asserts British Mission Has Not Ended Efforts

Simla, India, May 12 (AP)—Collapse of the negotiations between the British Cabinet mission and Indian leaders for granting complete independence to India was formally announced tonight.

Increased bitterness within the country was forecast as an almost immediate result, both between Moslems and Hindus and between the Indians and the British.

The announcement was made after a final conference of more than an hour. A communiqué issued by Lord Pethick-Lawrence, head of the Cabinet delegation, said that the negotiators would issue a statement in a few days "expressing their views as to the next steps to be taken."

Hope For Quick Change Shaken

The sudden end of the negotiations was a shaking blow to the Indians, many of whom had expected a quick transition from a country under British control to one where the Indians would hold full sway.

Representatives of the All-India Congress and the Moslem League had met here for eight days with the three-man British Cabinet delegation, and hopes for a settlement had fluctuated with almost every move of the various delegations.

Apparently the negotiators had found no way of resolving the demands of the Moslem League for an independent Moslem state (Pakistan). The Congress bitterly opposed the league's demands.

No Blame On Either Party

A formal communiqué issued by the Cabinet mission, the Moslem League and the Congress party said:

"After considering views put forward by the two parties, the conference has come to the conclusion that no use would be served by further discussions and that therefore the conference should be brought to a conclusion.

"The Cabinet mission desires to emphasize the fact that no blame can be placed on either party for the breakdown of the conference, as both sides did their utmost to come to a settlement.

"It is proposed in the course of a few days to publish the correspondence that has passed between the parties during the conference."

It was explained at a news conference that the correspondence would cover that of all three—the Moslem League, the Congress party and the Cabinet delegation.

Not To Bring End To Mission

A second communiqué, issued jointly by the Cabinet mission and the Viceroy said:

"While greatly regretting that the discussions in Simla have not led to any agreed plan between the leaders of the Congress and the Moslem League for proceeding with working out of the new Indian constitution, we wish to make it clear that this does not in any way bring to an end the mission with which we were charged by his Majesty's Government and the British people.

"The Cabinet delegation and his Excellency, the Viceroy, will be proceeding to Delhi on Tuesday (May 14) and it is their intention to issue a statement in the course of a few days expressing their views as to the next steps to be taken."

30.24-2783

Maulana Abul Kalam Azad, retiring president of the Congress, said his party would withhold comments for several days.

"We appeal to the press not to indulge in speculation or censure until all facts have been made public," he added.

Exactly on what points the negotiations broke down were not officially known. As the conference approached a crisis, however, informed sources on both sides made plain their competing positions and there was strong resentment against one another on the grounds that each had been uncompromising.

Basically it appeared that the disagreement was over the demand of the Moslem League for separation of the northern sections of India into a separate and wholly independent Moslem state.

Insist On Central Executive

The Congress party insisted that the whole of India must be guided in certain subjects from a central executive. The subjects included foreign affairs, defense, communications, and a sufficient finance department to finance other central executives.

Only last Thursday the Viceroy's Executive Council, India's equivalent of a Cabinet, had tendered its resignation in an attempt to help the conference achieve concrete results.

Last night, however, both Moslem League and Congress party headquarters had conceded that only a "miracle" could save the conference. M. A. Jinnah, Moslem League president, and Jawaharlal Nehru, president-elect of the Congress, had held face-to-face talks in an attempt to reach a compromise.

Meet In Viceroy's Lodge

There was little of the dramatic about the collapse, despite the unusual surroundings of the conference.

The negotiators have been meeting in the lodge of Viceroy Lord Wavell. This is on a high hill overlooking Simla, which lies in the foothills of the Himalayas.

The final conference began before sundown, and a band of news men, both Indian and foreign, stood on the lawn outside the huge stone lodge which looks like an English Victorian country house.

About 8 P.M. out strode the towering Khan Abdul Gaffar Khan, a colorful Pathan from the northwest frontier. Silently he started the three-mile walk to the house where he is staying with Mohandas Gandhi, spiritual leader of the Congress party.

"Go On Forever"

He was followed by the balance of the Congress delegation, with Nehru last.

"The negotiations go on forever," he said, "but this particular conference has ended." He mounted his white horse and rode back to the house called "Retreat," where he is staying."

Members of the British mission, in addition to Lord Pethick-Lawrence, were Sir Stafford Cripps and A. V. Alexander. They had been appointed by Prime Minister Attlee, who had promised the Indians "full independence" if they desired it. The mission arrived in New Delhi the latter part of March. The conferences were moved from New Delhi to Simla in order to escape the blistering summer heat in the Indian capital.

Nehru Counsels Preparation

Approximately 500 persons were waiting at the "Retreat" for Nehru, The Indian leader, who will become president of the Congress at the next convention, stepped to the porch and said:

"It is not by cursing or blaming the mission or the Moslem League that you can win your objective. It is by silently preparing to shoulder your responsibility that you will help the cause of Indian freedom."

Within five minutes after the news circulated that the conference had broken down, crowds of Moslem League members and Congress followers were marching down the main street of Simla.

GREEKS VOTE SEPTEMBER 1

First Athens Parliament In 10 Years Convenes Today

Athens, May 12 (AP)—Acting in agreement with King George II, the Greek Government today fixed September 1 as the date for a plebiscite on the return of the monarchy.

The balloting will decide the fate of the King, now in exile in London. A favorable reply was received from him today on the plebiscite proposal and Regent Archbishop Damaskinos will make the formal announcement in Parliament tomorrow.

The present Greek Government is headed by Constantin Tsaldaris, leader of the Populist party, which emerged as most powerful in the March 31 elections. The Populists have urged holding a plebiscite on the return of King George as soon as possible, but have been opposed by Left-Wing elements who boycotted the March 31 elections.

Parliament Convenes Today

The first pariament in ten years will be convened tomorrow, and it was expected that the Liberals headed by former Premier Themistokles Sophoulis will question the advisability of holding the plebiscite on September 1.

The Liberals contend that the plebiscite should be delayed until order is finally restored in the country, election lists are revised and the people assured of "free" voting.

The Parliament, with the Royalists in a majority, will tackle, the vital problems of reconstruction, stabilization of economy, clarification of national aspirations, and peace settlements.

BIG-FOUR CONFERENCE TO CONTINUE TODAY

PARIS, May 12—(AP) The four-power foreign ministers, after a Sunday holiday in observance of the first anniversary of their countries' common victory in Europe, prepared tonight to plunge again into the problems of peace involving Italy and Germany.

Still deadlocked on the major items of the Italian treaty—reparations, colonies and the disputed port of Trieste—but with compromise solutions within reach on all except the Trieste issue, the ministers will meet again tomorrow morning for another try at bridging the gaps between the western powers and Russia.

Ernest Bevin, British foreign secretary, made a hurried trip by plane to London today for another conference with British and dominions officials before any major decisions were made on Italian issues or any discussion of western Germany. He plans to return to Paris tomorrow before the start of the council session.

Italian Royal Exiles Greeted By King Farouk At Alexandria

Alexandria, Egypt, May 10 (AP)—Vittorio Emanuele, a little man in a gray suit, debarked today from an Italian cruiser and began his exile in Egypt, leaving behind him almost 46 years as monarch of Italy.

The abdicated head of the House of Savoy and his former Queen, Elena, were greeted by King Farouk, then were whisked away quietly by automobile to a guest palace provided by the Egyptian ruler.

The arrival was in dramatic contrast to the last visit of the Italian royal family to Alexandria in 1933, when the entire city turned out in a wild and gala welcome. Vittorio came then to dedicate Italian school buildings in the port city.

Vittoric's Farewell

The cruiser, escorted by one destroyer, arrived in Alexandria harbor at 6 A.M. It was boarded immediately by Muran Mohsem Pasha, of the Egyptian royal household.

The Italian crew lined up amidships as Vittorio walked slowly past them, stopping now and then to talk to the men in the ranks.

Just before he walked down the ladder into the Egyptian royal launch riding the waves beside the cruiser, he turned to the men and said quietly:

"Farewell to you. You are the men I have loved all my life."

At the royal quay, Vittorio and Elena, who was wearing a black veil, were greeted by King Farouk. The King did not accompany his guests to Antoniades palace, where they will remain temporarily.

Police Line Entire Route

A cordon of police lined the entire route from the royal quay to the palace, but the streets were virtually deserted. The entire entourage was transported to the palace in a single black sedan, with a motorcycle police escort leading the way.

Virtually the only other sign of honor to the former Italian ruler was an Italian flag which fluttered from the aftermast of Farouk's luxurious yacht in Alexandria harbor.

Farouk had issued strict orders that no reporters or photographers were to see Vittorio. Seven police boats ringed the Italian cruiser, preventing approach within a thousand yards.

Thus Vittorio joined the growing ranks of homeless royalty, including Peter of Yugoslavia, Carol of Romania, George of Greece and Zog of Albania—the last named also living in exile on Egyptian soil.

An Egyptian police officer who watched Vittorio pass commented: "Look, now he is just a civilian."

Nuremberg Combed for Soldiers' Killers; Two Germans Reported Held; Gun Sought

NUREMBERG, Germany, May 12 (AP)—A hundred military policemen combed four square miles of Nuremberg today, searching from house to house, for evidence in the fatal shooting from ambush of two American soldiers Friday night.

United States Army officers said the search had failed to yield any clue. A high-ranking officer said he was not convinced a German was implicated. [Two young German civilians were arrested in the search, The United Press reported.]

The bullets were identified as from a 32-caliber gun. Many German pistols of this caliber are in the possession of American troops.

Every inhabitant and dwelling was searched in the area where the two soldiers, both on the staff of The Stars and Stripes, soldier newspaper, were shot while in a jeep. All unauthorized weapons were seized, one object being to find the gun that fired the bullets.

Troops who heard the three shots fired said they sounded like those from a United States Army carbine. Two shots hit the two soldiers in their chests.

Two companies of military police and fifty German civilian policemen carried out today's search.

Names of the soldiers slain were still not disclosed pending notification of relatives. Another soldier and three young women who were in the jeep when the shooting occurred escaped injury.

U.S. Gen. Moore Denies Protesting Sentry's Fire

Frankfurt Germany, May 12 (AP). Maj. Gen. Cecil R. Moore, the United States Army chief engineer in Europe tonight said Russian sentries fired over his car while he was en route to the Leipzig Fair on the anniversary of V-E day but declared "we were going the wrong way and they wished to attract our attention."

Moore said his car had passed American sentries near Eiseanach and he had driven a mile beyond when he came to a barrier.

"We thought the road was blocked and took another turn," he said.

The Russian sentry fired into the air shortly afterward, Moore said, "but we did not stop because we did not know what was happening. About a mile farther on another sentry fired over the car and we stopped. The sentry told us in German that we were going the wrong way, and that the barrier we avoided was a Russian sentry post."

Moore said reports that he protested to the Soviet zone commander were "false."

MANIU TRIES TO AID RUMANIAN ACCUSED

Testifies for Antonescu, but Raises Protest in Court From Party Supporters

BUCHAREST, Rumania, May 11 (Delayed) (AP)—Juliu Maniu, leader of the opposition National Peasant party, testified today before a People's Tribunal that he cooperated throughout the German occupation with Field Marshal Ion Antonescu, the country's wartime dictator.

Marshal Antonescu and twenty-three other members of his Government are on trial for their lives on war crimes charges of collaborating with the Nazi invaders of Rumania.

Dr. Maniu, called as a defense witness, provoked hostile demonstrations from court-room spectators with testimony that was expected to weaken his Peasant party's chances in the forthcoming elections, in which it is opposing the Communist-dominated coalition Government headed by Petru Groza.

Dr. Maniu testified that he asked Marshal Antonescu to carry out the coup d'état by which the puppet Premier seized power. He declared that Marshal Antonescu's secret service chief, Eugen Christiscu—one of those on trial—kept British intelligence informed of Rumanian developments by secret radio broadcasts to Cairo.

Dr. Maniu ended the day in court by shaking hands with a number of the accused—an action that brought unfavorable reaction from the spectators.

Clemency Urged For Dr. Alan May

London, May 12 (AP)—The British Association of Scientific Workers asked the Government today to reduce the ten-year prison sentence given Dr. Alan Nunn May, British physicist convicted of disclosing atomic secrets.

Dr. May, who pleaded guilty, was sentenced May 1 on a charge of violating the 1911 Official Secrets Act. His attorney said at the time of the sentencing that the restricted information went to Soviet Russia and concerned atomic energy.

The association statement said Dr. May shared his "fundamental scientific data . . . with a country that was not only friendly but a fighting ally."

"We further believe," the statement said, "that there is widespread public opinion shared by many scientists that the original decision to undertake the development of atomic energy without the closest co-operation with our Soviet ally was a hinderance to, and has largely contributed to, the present unfortunate position in international relations."

Dr. May was arrested shortly after an investigation was made in Canada of a Soviet-directed espionage ring. He had held a vital position in the nuclear research team sent to Canada in 1943 to work on atomic research.

World's Biggest Warship Blessed

Greenock, Scotland, May 12 (Reuter)—King George VI and Queen Elizabeth and their daughters, Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose, will travel in the Vanguard, the world's biggest battleship, when she makes her maiden voyage to South Africa early next year.

The commissioning and dedication service of the ship, which was held here today, was attended by Princess Elizabeth, who christened the vessel in 1944.

The Princess presented Capt. W. G. Agnew, commander of the Vanguard, a colored engraving of the first Vanguard, which helped to destroy the Spanish armada.

Officers and ships company were massed on the quarterdeck as Princess Elizabeth, wearing a navy blue ensemble, climbed the companion way. Her personal standard was broken from the topmast and the royal salute given.

More than 1,000 men were gathered on the quarterdeck for the service of blessing the ship, which was conducted by Archdeacon J. K. Wilson, chaplain of the fleet, and the Rev. G. L. Tiarks, the ship's chaplain.

Total cost of the Vanguard, including a short commission of twelve months, and allowing five weeks of varied fuel consumption on trials and three weeks all-out steaming to South Africa and back with the royal family, will be $50,000,000.

Greece is negotiating with Argentina for the purchase of 100,000 tons of wheat for immediate delivery.

JAPANESE ASSAILS WAR CRIMES BASIS

Defense Holds Surrender Was Conditional—American Makes Sharp Retort

TOKYO, Monday, May 13 (AP)—The question of whether Japan surrendered conditionally or unconditionally became the sharply debated central point in the defense challenge today of the Allied war crimes tribunal's authority.

Japan did not surrender unconditionally, chief Japanese defense counsel Ichiro Kiyose argued, and her top statesmen agreed to yield with the belief they themselves would not be prosecuted as war criminals.

"Surrender of Japan was utterly and entirely without condition," Chief Prosecutor Joseph B. Keenan replied.

The condition of the surrender, Dr. Kiyose asserted, included trial only of violators of then-existing international law—barring prosecution of crimes against peace and against humanity.

Mr. Keenan told the tribunal that examination of two Japanese communications delivered to the Swiss Government at the time of the surrender "will show that the surrender was without condition."

Reads From Ultimatum

He read Paragraph 13 of the surrender ultimatum, agreed upon by the Allies at Potsdam: "We call upon the Government of Japan to proclaim now the unconditional surrender of all Japanese armed forces and to provide proper and adequate assurances of their good faith in such action. The alternative for Japan is prompt and utter destruction."

Mr. Keenan at the start of his argument had spoken of the "pillage, murder and plunder" which he said defendants had caused.

Chief Justice Sir William Webb interrupted:

"Do you think those rhetorical phrases are fitting at this time?"

Mr. Keenan flushed and replied, "I regard the defense motion as being addressed to the thinking peoples of the world, and have not desired to let it go unchallenged."

He read again from the Potsdam Declaration, Paragraph 6:

"There must be eliminated for all time the authority and influence of those who have deceived and misled the people of Japan into embarking on world conquest. . . ."

Challenging the jurisdiction of the international war-crimes tribunal, Dr. Kiyose told that body that the Potsdam Declaration was accepted only with the understanding that punishment of war criminals would be based on then-existing international law.

"We in Japan at no time expected that it would be extended to crimes against peace and charges against important statesmen, diplomats and other leaders," he asserted, adding:

"The Potsdam Declaration not only binds Japan, but binds the Allies."

Over the objection of Mr. Keenan, Dr. Kiyose was allowed to discuss the question of Japanese aggression in Manchuria. He said he could not understand why Manchurian charges were included in the current Allied indictment, because the State of Manchukuo, established by Japanese policy there, had been recognized by Russia and other countries.

He concluded by asking that charges of crimes against Siam be stricken out because Siam "is not and was not an Allied nation," and the tribunal consequently "has no jurisdiction."

As the white-haired Japanese attorney began his argument, he protested that the Allies were "overstepping the bounds of international law by including charges of crimes against peace and crimes against humanity.

Pauley Planning Trips To Korea, Manchuria

Tokyo, Monday, May 13 (AP)—Edwin Pauley United States Reparations Commissionerand his staff are making up an itinerary which will take them into southern Korea and Manchuria to determine what remaining Japanese equipment and industry is available as reparations.

Pauley still has not received Russian permission to enter northern Korea. He said he expects to set up two bases—one at Seoul and the other probably at Mukden, Manchuria. Pauley added that Seoul would be his headquarters and he plans to leave for the Korean capital this week.

Reparations Group to Seek Economic Balance in Asia

TOKYO, May 12 — (AP) Reparations Commissioner Edwin W. Pauley informed General MacArthur today that his mission aimed to promote a new economic balance in Asia purged of Japanese control.

Pauley handed the supreme commander a letter, written on White House stationery but signed by himself, summarizing the objectives of the reparations mission as an effort to "aid in the establishment of a peaceful, prosperous economic balance in Asia by severance of tributary ties between Japan and the areas she conquered and by reintegration of the economies of those areas."

To Study Korea, Manchuria

In line with these objectives, the letter explained, the mission aimed to determine how completely Japan industrialized Korea and Manchuria, how such industry was correlated with Japanese home industry, and what Japanese installations in those territories were available for reparations.

The letter stressed that it was United States policy to leave in China, Manchuria and Korea all Japanese assets found there, for the settlement of reparations accounts in those countries.

The mission seeks to discover, it said, the "present status" of Manchuria and north Korea in view of "reported changes since the end of the war, and to evaluate the effect of those changes on Korean and Chinese production capacity.

Will Offer Recommendations

It said Pauley and his group intend to recommend "in view of the present conditions of mining and industrial capacities in Manchuria and northern Korea, what facilities should be removed from Japan and distribution made to China and Korea."

(Part of Pauley's asignment in the Far East is to learn how much industrial and mining equipment the Russians already have removed from Manchuria and northern Korea. At last reports he had not yet received Russian permission to enter northern Korea; most of Manchuria, since its evacuation by the Russians, is under Chinese Communist control).

The letter emphasized that in recomending removal of equipment from Japan "maximum consideration shall be given to the integration of economic development in greater China, Korea, the Philippines and other countries victimized by Japanese aggression."

In a statement issued earlier today, Pauley said the reparations program for Japan would not reduce that nation's productive capacity below the 1933 level. There will remain, he asserted, "sufficient capacity to make the things necessary for civilian requirements."

Proposals Too High

Pauley conceded that reparations estimates proposed by the victorious nations were high, but explained that "the needs of those countries are so great they are looking forward to more than they will get."

Commenting on reports that Australia was asking for the Japanese wool industry as part of reparations, Pauley said "no ceramics, textiles or non-war potential" had been listed as available for reparations. He declared the United States would "resist demands for such."

Pauley's arival in Tokyo coincided with the disclosure by informed sources that official thinking in Washington was swinging toward "a more practical policy" on the price Japan shall pay for losing the war.

The new line, these sources said, provides for maintenance of production levels favoring a start toward Japanese recovery "so that we won't have to take care of these people forever."

The establishment of such subsistence levels of production, it was pointed out, would not preclude tight controls on such major industries as steel, petroleum, light metals and chemicals—all of which are war potentials.

Japan Diet May Delay Opening

TOKYO, May 12 (AP)—The new Japanese Diet (Parliament)—elected under Allied occupation—may delay its formal opening ceremony until June 10 after an organization session next Thursday and Friday, the Kyodo news agency said today. Delay in the formation of a new cabinet may force the recess after the Diet selects a speaker and discusses procedure, Kyodo said.

JAPANESE 'STORM' PALACE

Communist-Led Crowd of 1,000 Asks Food, Better Rule

TOKYO, Monday, May 13 (AP)—A Communist-led band of Japanese invaded the Imperial Palace compound late yesterday to demand food and improved political leadership.

Led by Communist officials and carrying the red banners of that party, a crowd of approximately 100 pushed its way past guards at one of the main entrances to the palace and reached the Imperial Household Ministry. Nine hundred more waited at the gate.

No violence was reported, although a sharp argument developed at the gate when palace guards attempted to prevent the demonstrators from carrying their banners into the compound. Tokyo newspapers said that the 100 had pushed inside after a representative of the imperial household had angered them by proposing to hear their demands at the gate.

The demands were presented orally to officials at the Household Ministry—some 100 yards inside the palace compound, but far from the Emperor's personal residence.

Tokyo Unions Form Food Co-Operative

Tokyo, May 12 (AP)—Three hundred delegates formed the Tokyo Federation of Co-Operative Unions today for "protecting the living of the working classes in the metropolis," the Kyodo News Agency reported.

The federation plans to produce and purchase food and necessities for distribution to union members and to campaign for lower prices.

5,000 CHRI.. AN JAPS ATTEND CHURCH SERVICE

TOKYO, May 12—(AP) In the largest Christian service held in Japan since the war, 5,000 Japanese in Hibiya hall heard a United States Army officer declare today that the Allies are "striving for peace, peace that will last a thousand years in Asia."

Lt. Col. Paul Rusch, formerly of St. Paul's university here, spoke at the Episcopalian service, directed by the Most Rev. Shinji Sasaki, presiding Episcopal bishop of Japan and bishop of Tokyo.

All seven other Japanese Episcopal bishops and 50 members of the clergy attended at the gathering, the Right Rev. Hinsuke Yashiro, Bishop of Kobe, gave the sermon.

Japanese Quit Manchuria

SASEBO, Japan, May 12 (AP).—The first group of Japanese repatriates from Manchuria—more than 2,400 men, women and children—arrived today aboard two tank-landing ships from Hulutao. They are scheduled to debark tomorrow.

Woman First Japanese To Visit U.S. Since War

Seattle, May 12 (AP)—With mixed feelings of joy and sadness the first Japanese citizen to enter the United States since the end of the war returned to her "second home" today on the S. S. Stetson Victory from Yokohama.

Mrs. Tamaki Uemura, a great religious leader among her people and pastor of a non-denominational Christian church in Tokyo, brought to the United States a plea for Christian forgiveness and a message of good will to the American people from Emperor Hirohito.

"I am glad to see America just as it was before the war," the tiny Japanese woman said. "It has been a second home to me. Our people are suffering very much in spiritual, physical and mental ways. I have come to show my desire for true spiritual reconciliation between the Christians of this country and Japan."

REDS IN CHINA RAP CHIANG AIDES

NANKING, May 12—(AP) Communist Gen. Chou En-Lai charged today that "elements" in Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Kuomintang were trying to involve the United States in a full-scale civil war in China.

The chief Chinese Communist truce negotiator told a news conference these elements were trying to sabotage the efforts of General Marshall, special U. S. envoy, to restore peace to China.

Thus, Chou asserted, Kuomintang die-hards "trying to bring China to disaster" hoped to convince world opinion that civil war was inevitable.

Chou said he was anxious to localize the conflicts, now centering chiefly in Manchuria.

The general said he was impressed with the fair dealing and sincerity of Brig. Gen. Henry A. Byroade, chief of staff of executive truce headquarters at Peiping, and U. S. Charge d'Affaires Walter G. Robertson, who were instrumental in arranging last week's truces in central China and Shantung province.

Crimes Arouse Manila Police

Manila, May 12 (AP)—Police of metropolitan Manila today sought to check a wave of killings, kidnapings and robberies which has plagued the city for weeks.

Three men were kidnapped Saturday a few miles south of Manila. A Manila-bound bus was hijacked by four bandits, the passengers were robbed, and the driver was held for ransom. A United States Navy steward was spirited away from his home. A Chinese business man was abducted in a sailboat.

Thirty-five Chinese have been murdered or have disappeared in Manila in the last year, but police have made little progress in the cases.

"Chinatown," says Police Chief Angel Tuason, "just won't talk."

Some victims probably were killed for money, but many died at the hands of Chinese resistance groups who accused them of collaboration with the Japanese.

A wave of jeep-stealing occurs every three months, as the jeeps previously stolen wear out. A United States Army officer died last week of bullet wounds received when he tried to stop robbers who were taking his jeep.

PHILIPPINES FOOD REPORT DISPUTED

MANILA, May 12—(AP) Frank S. Gaines, chief of the UNRRA mission to the Philippines, took issue today with recent statements of former President Herbert Hoover in Manila that the Philippines food situation is comparatively good.

He told the Philippine Academy of Foreign Affairs that an acute food shortage seems likely within 90 days with rice output 40 per cent under the prewar figure.

Mrs. Irene Murphy, sister-in-law of the U. S. Supreme court justice and head of the private Philippine War Relief mission, said 10,000 people already have died of starvation, mostly in the northern Luzon mountains, "and 50,000 more face the same grim prospect unless relief comes and comes quickly."

Gaines said price controls were depriving Europe of much needed fats and oils through failure to stimulate production. He told the academy that millions of coconuts are rotting on the ground and hundreds of plantations remain covered by jungle because local producers do not want to sell at the controlled price.

He also criticized price control as cutting down exportation of Philippine copra, which once had Europe as a market but presently goes only to the United States.

UNRRA OFFICIAL QUITS CHINA POST IN POLICY CLASH

SHANGHAI, May 12. — (AP) Benjamin Kiser, director of UNRRA's China office, announced his immediate resignation today because of disagreement with proposed changes in operation.

Kiser said he had discussed policies with Maj. Gen. Lowell W. Rooks, newly-arrived special representative of UNRRA Director Fiorello H. LaGuardia, and found himself in foundamental disagreement.

Kiser did not say what the changes were but denied they had anything to do with recent newspaper charges that food desperately needed to alleviate famine was going to the black market in large lots.

Kiser, who is from Spokane, Wash., also announced that Ralph Olmstead of Boise, Idaho, UNRRA operations director, had been transferred at the request of the Chinese government to the Chinese National Relief and Rehabilitation administration (CNRRA).

Olmstead, will aid Dr. O. S. Liu, director of CNRRA operations. Kiser said Olmstead could use his administrative talents to better advantage in his new post because of the wider scope of operations.

Kiser said he would remain two months as adviser to J. Franklin Ray, Jr., Washington, D. C., who will act as temporary director.

BLASTS WRECK TRAIN

HONG KONG, May 12. — (AP) At least 12 Chinese passengers and crewmen were reported killed when a two-car express train hit and exploded two land mines near Canton Friday. Passengers said the tracks apparently had been mined by 10 bandits who robbed them after the explosion.

T/5 Famous Brown Meets Eisenhower

Yokohama, May 12 (AP)—General Eisenhower discussed Chicago and the Army with a Negro GI from that city before starting a train trip today to Miyanoshita to inspect United States units.

Strolling through the 8th Army area after an automobile trip here from Tokyo, where he reviewed troops, Eisenhower stopped at the Red Cross Club. He shook hands with soldiers in the center.

At Yokohama port he met T/5 Famous Brown, of Chicago.

"I once served with the colored National Guard regiment from Chicago—the 8th Illinois—but that was before you were born," Eisenhower told Brown.

AHEAD IN AIR, MITSCHER SAYS

Navy Leads Other Powers By 10 Years, Admiral Asserts

On Board U.S.S. Franklin D. Roosevelt, May 12 (AP)—Admiral Marc A. Mitscher, veteran leader of the seaborne air scourge of Japan, said today American naval aviation "is at least ten years ahead of that of any other power."

United States advantage lies not only in equipment, Mitscher said at a press conference aboard this flagship of the 8th Fleet, but also in the thinking and planning of carrier-warfare tactics and operations.

Asked to amplify the ten-year estimate, the Admiral said it represented the time which would be required for another country to develop and produce equipment—planes, ordnance and radar—and to devise tactics and train men to operate at the present level of the United States fleet.

Fleet Leaves Guantanamo

Mitscher spoke as the 8th fleet hoisted anchor in Guantanamo (Cuba) harbor and steamed south for a continuation of training maneuvers. They began April 19 and will continue until anchors are dropped at New York May 27, after an aerial parade over the city.

This operation, involving around 20,000 men on 30 ships, is being conducted on the lines of the air strikes against Japan. It is the first time these tactics are being used in the Atlantic and will serve to demonstrate whether the Pacific methods must be modified for aplication in this ocean.

The major purpose, however, is to train men, although many of those now on board will be discharged when the fleet reaches New York.

Lack Of Personnel Noted

One officer said that lack of fully trained personnel made it difficult to carry out a full-scale air operation and at the same time man other stations requiring experienced personnel. Some of the men are assigned two different jobs until sufficient personnel have been trained adequately.

This week's operations are built around an amphibitious landing at Medio, Mundo, small bay on the east coast of Puerto Rico. Five thousands Marines under Brig. Gen. David R. Mimms will go ashore after three days of air attacks and two days of bombardment from cruisers and destroyers.

The operation will demonstrate the theory of fleet mobility which Mitscher rates as the outstanding factor in United States leadership in naval air power.

To Provision And Fuel At Sea

The fleet wil lprovision and fuel at sea Tuesday and will have with it repair ships for necessary overhaul, so that in effect is carries its base along.

The main striking force comprises two super carriers, the Roosevelt and Midway, and the Princeton, an Essex class ship. The Missouri will join up Tuesday morning as the only battleship. There are two cruisers, two escort carriers, thirteen destroyers and nine support ships. The latter are under command of Vice Admiral Thomas I. Gatch aboard the Renate, a supply ship.

The 8th Fleet as it sailed today was described by Captain Charles D. Griffin, operations officer as "typical of the postwar fleet."

Strikes Hold 100 Ships At Australian Ports

Sydney, May 12 (AP)—A hundred ships, including vessels loading food for Britain, India, China and Japan, were held up at five Australian ports today by a six-day-old strike over handling "double-dumped" wool—two bales compressed and lashed together weighing a total of 660 pounds.

Nineteen thousand men already are involved in the strike, which began last Monday when 200 members of the Waterside Workers Federation refused to handle the double bales of wool. Sympathy strikes tied up all ships at Sydney, Newcastle, Brisbane, Melbourne and Launceston.

POLICE OCCUPY SANTOS AREA

Start Of Anti-Communist Campaign By Brazil Indicated

Rio de Janeiro, May 12 (AP)—Brazilian Government police occupied strategic areas of the port of Santos, world's largest coffee outlet, in what was considered a first move in a long-threatened campaign against Communists.

The action followed the closing of the Stevedores' Syndicate for six months by the Labor Ministry, which recently employed police to force dock workers to unload Spanish ships. Stevedores had refused to work on ships flying the flag of Franco Spain.

Arrests Made On Suspicion

Police, directed by the Sao Paulo public security chief, arrested persons they considered among "suspicious elements" last night, and posted guards around the Stevedores' Syndicate headquarters. Mounted police looked on as the mass meetings were held in the plaza.

The commanding general of the Sao Paulo military region asserted the army was standing by to preserve order, but resistance to the Government was believed unlikely, in view of repeated warnings by Communist Leader Luis Carlos Prestes against any provocation of authorities.

Labor Minister Accused

The Communist newspaper Tribuna Popular accused the Labor Minister Negrao Lima, of being a "gendarme of Franco," and repeated the words of the party's national treasurer: "It is not with machine guns and tanks that Dutra (President Eurica Dutra) can solve Brazil's problems."

The newspaper Correio Da Manha said conditions at Santos harbor were "deplorable" and that recently United States and British authorities had complained of the congestion and obsolete equipment there.

Prime Minister King On Way To Parleys

Ottawa, May 12 (AP)—Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King and his party left by train for New York today on the first stage of a journey to London to attend the current British Commonwealth consultations.

The Canadian Prime Minister, who serves also as Foreign Minister, was accompanied by Norman Robertson, Under Secretary of State for External Affairs.

PACT ON AIRPORTS SIGNED SECRETLY AT APRIL PARLEY

Montgomery

OTTAWA, Ont., May 12—(AP) U. S.-Canadian cooperation in mapping defense of the northern hemisphere has received its first sharp jolt since the start of the war nearly seven years ago.

The jolt was delivered by an agreement among Canada, Britain and Newfoundland, signed secretly on April 8 and announced only last Tuesday, concerning defense of strategic Newfoundland.

Holds 99-Year Lease

The United States has 99-year leases on several defense bases on Newfoundland, with about $200,000,000 invested in them. The United States considers itself a principal defender of this island, which controls the airways and seaways of the North Atlantic and stands as the strategic keystone for defense of North America against attack from Europe.

American officials expressed surprise the agreement was made without their knowledge after seven years of open and frank wartime cooperation in plans for defense of the continent.

In Washington informed officials said the agreement involved "no change" in relations fo the United States with Canada and Newfoundland. They said Canada continued to be "100 per cent cooperative" and expressed satisfaction concerning relations with the neighbor country.

The Canadian view as explained officially is that the agreement did not affect the United States nor require consultation, and that it merely "tidies up" the situation regarding Canadian defense installations in Newfoundland, built during the war under agreements expiring with the end of the war.

Return of Air Bases

The agreement, effective for three years, provides for return to Newfoundland of control of air bases which were operated by Canada during the war and covers future air services.

The American officials have no objection to this, but expressed concern at the agreement's Article V, which provides:

"The governments of Canada and Newfoundland and, as necessary, the government of the United Kingdom, will consult with one another from time to time as occasion may require with a view to coordinating defense requirements in Newfoundland."

The Americans saw in this the implication that there need be no consultation with the United States.

The agreement was made effective as of March 31 and presented to the public six weeks later. American officials had their first news of it when it was presented in the Canadian Parliament Tuesday. They hurriedly consulted the Canadian government for details.

The combined chiefs of staffs during the war placed Newfoundland specifically witthin the U. S. aera of defense. According to the best available information the new agreement was negotiated without reference to the Permanent Joint Board of Defense, the U. S.-Canadian civilian and military body which served as a clearing house for such matters through the war. The life of this board has been specifically lengthened to operate on hemisphere defense problems in this postwar period.

Canadian and British defense installations on Newfoundland are small compared to the $100,000,000 U. S. naval base on the island at Argentia, paired with four U. S. Army bases, including the elaborate and modern Harmon field, one of the larger American air bases.

Seek Newsprint In U.S.

Washington, May 12 (AP)—Devadas Gandhi and Ramanath Goenka, Indian newspaper editors, seeking newsprint in the United States and Canada for 150 Indian newspapers, said today they thought their mission would be successful.

Diplomacy Supported By Dollars

Washington, May 12 (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall is holding an absolute veto over a $500,000,000 American loan to China, it was learned today.

It is one of the strongest grants of power ever made by a President to an American envoy to back up United States policies in a foreign country.

The Chinese loan is cited by diplomatic authorities as a striking example of the extent to which President Truman and Secretary Byrnes have carried their new policy of bargaining for American aims with American dollars.

Poland Another Instance

In another application the State Department has suspended credits to Poland—involving $90,000,000 in cash and surplus war property—until it can determine whether the Polish Government intends to grant promised political freedoms.

Some decision on the Polish situation may be forthcoming this week. Under investigation chiefly are charges that the Communist-dominated Polish Government has a censorship on outgoing political news, which Polish diplomats here deny, and that it withheld from the Polish people word of the political freedom pledges it made to get the American money.

On still another financial front, Fred M. Vinson, Treasury Secretary; Leon Blum, negotiator, and Export-Import Bank officials may make the financial decisions this week necessary to release about $650,000,000 to France and make available war goods and other credits to give the French a total assist of substantially more than $1,200,000,000.

[illegible] Effect Hinted

While officials are wary on the subject, every indication is that the timing of the loan announcement will be made with an eye to maximum effect on the French elections in June. Privately, American officials make no denial that they would like to strengthen Foreign Minister George Bidault's Popular Republican movement and Leon Blum's Socialist party against the Communists.

In the case of China, the loan is being used directly for political effect. When Marshall was sent to China last December, Mr. Truman announced that the United States would regard financial aid for China favorably to the extent that the Chinese put their house in order.

Marshall returned here in March and had several conferences with Mr. Truman. The Chinese had once filed for credits and cash of $2,000,000,000. At that time they were on the way to getting $500,000,000. The loan was being negotiated by the Central Government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Loan Held Up

But Marshall is said to regard his problem as being to bring the Central Government and Chinese Communists together in the interest of strengthening China. The loan, which was about ready for Export-Import Bank action, was held up and Marshall was assured of his full control over that as over all other aspects of American relations with China under the President.

While he was in this country a formula he had worked out for keeping peace and slowly merging the Communist and Central Government forces broke down under the stress of disputes in Manchuria. Since he returned to China, Marshall's problem has been to recover from this setback.

His most practical tool in doing so has been his control of the loan. American troops have been cut to little more than 30,000, mostly Marines doing guard duty.

U. S. Export Credit Insurance Planned

Washington, May 12 (AP)—A bill to establish a $100,000,000 insurance division of the Export-Import Bank to insure American exporters against the risk of nonpayment by foreign customers was prepared today by Senators Pepper (D., Fla.) and Murray (D., Mont.).

"The measure would not provide a subsidy for American exporters," Pepper said in a statement, "nor would it encourage unsound business practices. A fundamental of the system contemplated is that premium incomes shall be sufficient to defray the costs of the system's operation and any loss incurred.

"Other nations have for years provided export credit insurance for their export trade."

BOWLES LOOKS TO RATIONING

To Urge Curbs Unless Relief Prospects Improve

MAY 13 1946

Washington, May 12 (AP)—Chester Bowles, stabilization director, plans to recommend that President Truman restore food rationing in August unless prospects for meeting famine-relief commitments improve quickly.

He believes, said a high official who asked to remain anonymous, that it may become necessary to ration meat, butter and cheese, and possibly bread—the latter for the first time in this country's history.

Hoover Returns

Bowles's views on rationing became known today as former President Herbert Hoover returned from his round-the-world survey of food requirements and headed promptly for a conference with Clinton P. Anderson, Secretary of Agriculture, who met him at the airport. Hoover declined to comment on the conditions he found or on his recommendations, pending a conference with President Truman tomorrow.

Another arrival was Herbert Morrison, president of the British Council. He issued a statement at the airport saying he had "come here on behalf of the British Government and people to discuss with the President how the causes for which you and we fought victoriously in this war can be saved from being dragged down into defeat by world famine."

In London, the political correspondent for the World, quoting the "highest authority," reported that Morrison will ask the President to ration meats and fats in the United States.

Repeats Warning

Anderson, meanwhile, renewed his warning that depletion of the nation's grain reserves requires a reduction in production of livestock products if famine abroad is to be prevented next winter.

Describing the food outlook in a broadcast, Anderson reported "every indication that the world food shortage will continue until the 1947 harvest."

"There should be temporary relief of the critical famine situation near the end of the summer when the European grain harvest is completed, but the relief will be only temporary," he added.

Points To Choice

"We must make a choice between feeding starving people and maintaining our livestock numbers at record levels. Our choice, obviously, must be in favor of people."

Anderson declared that Americans must "face the fact that several times as many people can be fed directly with grain as can be fed if the grain is converted into livestock products" even though it means less meat and poultry.

Government officials have steered clear of committing themselves publicly for rationing, in line with Mr. Truman's position that it could not be put into effect in time to do any good. But rationing has been urged by many outside the Administration, including Herbert H. Lehman, former UNRRA director general.

Union Urges Rationing

The CIO Food, Tobacco, Agricultural and Allied Workers Union made public an open letter to the President today asserting that "we must immediately reinstate rationing of essential foods, particularly cereals, fats and oils." The union said that the "utter failure of the voluntary food control program" must be faced.

Paul Porter, OPA administrator, whose agency would administer rationing if it is restored, has not expressed his views publicly but friends said he will agree to rationing if there is no other solution.

"It would pose a big problem to get a rationing staff back together again," said one OPA official privately, "but it could be managed."

Hint Recalled

Government officials who would be concerned with the restoration of rationing reportedly have taken the position that unless the program were started by August, it probably would stay on the shelf until after the November elections.

Bowles hinted a week ago that it might be necessary to return to rationing. He said in a speech then that he is confident that the American people would approve such a step if it were the only way to meet food commitments abroad.

Friends of Bowles say he is attempting to prepare the way for restoration of rationing, should it become necessary. He reportedly is convinced it could never succeed or even get started unless the people were behind it.

Senators Will Start Drafting Of O.P.A. Extension Act Today

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP).—The Senate Banking Committee buckles down tomorrow to writing an Office of Price Administration extension bill, with the future of food subsidies a major point of controversy.

Republicans, led by Senator Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, are insisting that a program must be mapped to "taper off" the present $1,600,000,000 a year of government spending to hold down retail food prices. The House voted to end them by Jan 1.

Almost half of the subsidy money goes for meat. O. P. A. officials contend removal of all subsidies would mean an increase of 5 to 6 cents a pound in meat prices and of 1 cent a loaf on bread. Some canned goods also are subsidized.

Indicating a willingness to compromise, Paul Porter, O. P. A. chief, told the committee when hearings closed Friday that he would accept a 25 per cent reduction in subsidies. Mr. Porter is to discuss the subject further during the closed sessions when the committee puts together the measure it will report to the Senate.

Chairman Robert Wagner, Democrat, of New oYrk, said he hopes a bill will be ready for Senate action by the week's end, but other members said privately they think the chairman is over-optimistic. They figure it will take two weeks at least to whip the bill into final shape.

The hearings developed strong indications that there will be bipartisan support for restoring some of the controls the House voted to remove. Senator Charles W. Tobey, Republican, of New Hampshire, is a strong supporter of price control, and Senator Bourke B. Hickenlooper, Republican, of Iowa, told reporters it would be his "guess" that the committee will not go as far as the House in shearing O. P. A.'s powers.

Senator Elmer Thomas, Democrat, of Oklahoma, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, announced a special hearing by his group Wednesday and Thursday on the "threat of curtailed milk production and protests of dairy farmers against subsidy increases in lieu of price adjustments." The testimony undoubtedly will figure later in the O. P. A. debate on the floor.

"Fear of subsidies appears to be a serious factor in the picture of diminishing dairy products," Senator Thomas's statement said.

Pearl Harbor Probers Split Sharply on Findings, May Be Unable to Draft Report by June 1 Deadline

WASHINGTON, May 12. — (AP) The Pearl Harbor committee today was reported so sharply divided on prospective findings that it may have no report on its inquiry before the June 1 deadline fixed by Congress.

Seth Richardson, committee counsel, has laid before the 10 senators and representatives a lengthy summary of evidence bearing on both sides of major controversial points raised in months of hearings on the naval disaster which ushered in the war with Japan.

Richardson's report, obviously intended to be used as the basis for committee findings, has provoked varied interpretations by members. Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) said he does not see how the group can get together on any recommendations within the next three weeks.

"The Senate has a great deal to do before June 1," he told a reporter. "We have labor legislation before us, an OPA measure on the way, the draft extension yet to be decided and appropriation bills to handle. We're going to need more time to write the kind of report that should be made."

Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky), chairman of the group, said he still believes a report can be drawn in the remaining time but Senator Lucas (D-Ill) reported that no progress has been made thus far.

Senator George (D-Ga) said he had urged that the committee get to work immediately on what he feels should be a "largely factual" report with some recommendations for changes in the military setup.

While Ferguson said he regards Richardson's report as merely a summary of evidence without any specific recommendations, George told a reporter he read into it indications that the counsel feels that little, if any, blame should be attached to the late President Roosevelt and former Secretary of State Hull for the surprise the Japanese achieved.

George said Richardson stressed the responsibilities undertaken by Mr. Roosevelt in connection with the shooting war then going on in the Atlantic.

He interpreted the counsel's memorandum, George said, as indicating the belief that Hull gave the armed forces about all the warning possible that war was imminent.

JONES AND BARUCH ASKED TO TESTIFY ON LOAN TO BRITAIN

MAY 13 1946

WASHINGTON, May 12 — (AP) Chairman Spence (D-Ky.) of the House Banking committee said today he will invite Jesse Jones and Bernard M. Baruch to present their views on the proposed $3,750,000,000 British loan.

House committee hearings on the long-term credit arrangement, approved yesterday by the Senate after prolonged debate, will open Tuesday with Treasury Secretary Fred M. Vinson starting off the Administration's argument for passage.

Not Called By Senate

Neither Jones, former Secretary of Commerce and RFC chief, nor Baruch, long-time adviser of Presidents, appeared during Senate committee hearings on the transaction.

Jones, however, has criticized the loan as "unbusinesslike" in the editorial columns of his Houston (Tex.) Chronicle, and Baruch has urged caution in loan policies.

Spence predicted a "ding-dong" battle in his committee, but a check of members indicated the loan legislation will get approval there, with strong Democratic support.

Rep. Buffett (R-Neb.), a committee member and one of the leaders of the opposition, said that "it may be a different story when the bill reaches the floor. The people don't want this loan."

However, Administration forces were heartened by the 46-34 Senate victory. House Democratic Whip Sparkman of Alabama predicted the House would approve the loan "by a comfortable margin" in three weeks.

While Jones has not opposed economic aid for the British, he admonished in his newspaper against making a huge loan without adequate security. He suggested an alternative plan for advancing part of the dollars, with British investments in this country as collateral, supplemented by a mechanism for selling on credit to the British the commodities they need.

GIRAL ARRIVES WITH REPORTS

Exiled Spanish Premier Brings Data For Security Council

New York, May 12 (AP)—Dr. José Giral, Prime Minister of the Spanish Republican Government in exile, said today on his arrival from Paris that he would submit documents to the United Nations tomorrow to show that the Franco regime is a threat to world peace.

In a hurried interview at the airport, Giral indicated his report to the Security Council's subcommittee investigating Franco Spain would be "very extensive."

Gen. José Asensio, former Secretary of War in the Republican Government, told reporters that the Ordnance Department of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's army "is working with Germans in Granada and Murcia on atomic energy."

In Southern Spain

These two cities are in southern Spain. Polish Delegate Oscar Lange told the Security Council recently that he had evidence German scientists were working on atomic energy and other potential weapons of war in Spain.

General Asension was one of a group of representatives of the Government in exile which greeted the Prime Minister as he stepped from the plane.

Asensio said the Franco Government not only was a menace to peace but the Falange movement presents "a danger to the security of America in Spanish-speaking countries, because the Falange is active in underground movements."

Giral said he would appear personally before the United Nations subcommittee as a voluntary witness.

Extensive Report

"I will present a very extensive report to the United Nations," he said. "This report was prepared by the Spanish Government in exile, and consists of one main document and twenty other documents. The main document is 50 pages and the others 300 pages long."

The five-man subcommittee will meet tomorrow afternoon to start examining the evidence already received since it began its inquiry. It is expected to meet almost daily from now until May 31, when it must report to the Security Council.

Among other documents which the subcommittee is scheduled to receive this week is a comprehensive report from the United States State Department, showing the purported relationship between the Franco regime and the Axis during the war.

Mexico Prepares Documents

The Mexican Government also will submit documents, a Mexican informant said, showing that Falangist agents have engaged in subversive activities" in Latin America.

Meanwhile, some delegates indicated the Security Council probably would meet Thursday or Friday to take up the resolution which Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., the United States delegate, circulated Friday night on the procedure for admitting new members to the United Nations.

This resolution proposed that the Council hold up action on requests for United Nations membership pending a study of qualifications and procedure by a subcommittee. The request, if approved, would block any early efforts for the admittance of Albania, the only application now on the agenda.

GROUNDWORK LAID FOR BEGINNING OF HOUSING SUBSIDIES

MAY 13 1946

WASHINGTON, May 12 — (AP) Housing Administrator Wilson Wyatt directed his staff today to launch a $400,000,000 building material subsidy program as soon as the housing bill is enacted next week.

Seeking to make up for time lost in Congress, which he said cost 1,000 houses a day, Wyatt plans to hold industry conferences at once to put the government funds to work increasing the production of scarce materials.

His aides represented him as disappointed at the decision of a Senate-House committee to cut the subsidy payments from the $600,000,000 he requested. He is determined to go back to Congress for more if the $400,000,000 proves insufficient.

30.24-2787

The conference committee report is still to be formally adopted by the two chambers but this is expected to be done early next week without further debate. President Truman is ready to sign the measure immediately.

In addition to the subsidies, the bill gives Wyatt broad power to issue directives to other government agencies; provides $1,000,000,000 in home mortgage loans and guarantees a market for thousands of prefabricated dwellings.

Wyatt laid greatest stress, however, on the subsidy plan at a conference with his top subordinates before leaving Washington for a speech at the Southern Labor Conference in Asheville, N. C.

He instructed them to consult as soon as possible with each of the "bottleneck" industries—tile, plywood, soil pipe, radiators and others—on their need for subsidy help to reopen closed plants, start second and third-shift operations, pay overtime wages, and take other steps to spur production.

Progress in the campaign for 2,700,000 new homes in two years, Mr. Truman's goal, was reported by the Federal Housing administration. Four hundred thousand applications for priorities to start dwellings have been approved since January, the agency said.

such weapons between land, sea and air forces.

He suggested, however, that some competitive research might speed rather than hinder progress.

Blandy said the Navy's concern embraced ship to shore, as well as ship to ship, and ship to air rockets.

Meanwhile, the Army Ordnance department, which is an element of the ground forces, has effective control of the V-2 tests as part of an announced program of developing long range rockets of giant size and even greater supersonic speed.

Officials said a War department policy directive gave Ordnance direction of wingless projectiles while the Air forces controlled only those with wings. LeMay said this directive was not clear and that coordination through joint chiefs of staff was ineffective. He said further that as a result there had been some delay in postwar rocket research.

LeMay is an ardent sponsor of a proposal to establish a new A.A.F. research and development center which would specialize on space weapons and cost an initial $300,000,000.

Rear Admiral Luis DeFlorez said the Navy was planning an extensive incentive program to spur interest of youthful students in science by offering them trips on carriers and by other means.

BIG-4 SECRECY IS ATTACKED

Welles Says It Denies People Voice In Paris Parley

Washington, May 12 (AP)—Sumner Welles, former Under Secretary of State, declared tonight that secrecy keeps the people from having a voice in the Paris Foreign Ministers' conference.

"Yet at this conference the decisions to be reached may affect the destinies of our nation for generations to come," Welles said in a broadcast.

"Freedom of information is one of the most essential objectives for which we seek today. . . . Unless the peoples of the world are given a far greater measure of information regarding the objectives sought by their representatives" in this and other conferences "the possibility of a real people's peace will be very remote indeed," he added.

U.N.S.C. Publicity Cited

Welles observed that "the kind of secrecy which is maintained at Paris prevents popular understanding. It gives rise to leaks, to rumors and to false reports."

Welles recalled that the Big Three Foreign Ministers conference at Moscow in December "was held under a veil of close secrecy" and the American people were not told of the subjects to be taken up.

Yalta Commitments Set Aside

The meeting resulted, he said, in setting aside Yalta commitments for free elections before installing new governments in eastern Europe and the Balkans and agreement on our part to setting up governments "responsive only to the influence of the Soviet Union."

It meant this country would no longer be in position to insist on establishing "true democracy in a very large region of the world," he declared.

In contrast, Welles cited the United Nations Security Council sessions as an example of "how beneficial full publicity has proved to be."

"The public has known from the outset every detail of the problems taken up. . . . It has known what is going on in Iran. It has been able to understand why the Soviet Government has followed the course which it has pursued."

Had the Paris policy prevailed, "is it not probable that, after the famous walkout from the Security Council of the Soviet delegate, propaganda would have succeeded in making a considerable portion of public opinion believe that the reasons for the walkout were wholly different from those which actually existed?" Welles asked.

Reacts Against Understanding

"Is is not very probable that, if they had not had to face full publicity, the position of some of the governments represented on the Security Council might have been different, and that the Council might not in its majority have stood quite so steadfastly for the principles which were finally maintained?"

SOVIET SOWS FEAR, HOUSE LEADER SAYS

McCormack Declares Russia Blocks Peace and Grants Hope for Cooperation

MAY 13 1946

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP)—The House Democratic leader, John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, said today that "fear and uncertainty" prevailed throughout Europe because of Soviet influence. Efforts of the other powers to achieve permanent peace "have been deterred" by Russia's actions, he declared.

Speaking at the annual communion breakfast of the Washington Police and Fire Departments, Mr. McCormack said:

"Our hopes and willingness to cooperate have become somewhat dimmed as a result of the actions of the Soviet Union. The time has arrived for a frank expression of views. It is only through plain talking and an honest exchange of views that understanding and progress will result.

"In Europe, as a result of Soviet influence, instability in Government exists in practically all of the nation. Throughout Europe as a result of this same influence fear and uncertainty prevail.

"The evidence of the past year clearly shows that the Soviet Union has prevented in some countries, and is hindering in others, the establishment of legitimate Government."

SEEKS TIGHTER ESPIONAGE ACT

Senate Group Wants To Bring It In Tune With Radar Era

Washington, May 12 (AP)—Senator Wherry (R., Neb.) today reported "shocking" evidence that safeguards surrounding American military information were inadequate.

A Senate Judiciary subcommittee, which heard the evidence behind closed doors in the last month, hopes to complete a bill this week to tighten up the 30-year-old espionage law to bring it in tune with the age of radar and the atomic bomb. Chairman Eastland (D., Miss.) said the aim was to get the measure in shape by Friday.

Wherry explained that in this day of mechanized warfare, industrial "know how" or technical engineering information may have just as great military value as did a "secret weapon" of two decades ago. Yet there is nothing in the present espionage (spy control) law which prevents export of industrial "know how," he said.

Testimony At Secret Hearings

Eastland or other members have disclosed that at the secret hearings the subcommittee has received testimony that:

Russia has sought contracts with American companies manufacturing electronic devices. The Soviets have asked as a part of the contract that Russian engineers be trained in the contractor's factory.

The Commerce Department sells freely many technical documents, including some seized from Germany, dealing with articles the Army and Navy have declared "nonsecret." Russia and France do not reciprocate.

Eastland said there were indications that secret devices could be put together from parts which have been classified as nonsecret.

Both Eastland and Wherry said they were convinced that some central board should be established to "clear" contracts made by foreign governments in this country.

More Witnesses To Be Heard

The subcommittee will hear additional witnesses from Government departments early this week, and then turn to writing a bill. As a working basis, it has a bill by Eastland which would prohibit sale to foreign governments of any electronic devices.

Eastland said this would require some revision. Radar is an electronic device. So are self-guided missiles and such devices as the proximity fuse which causes a shell to explode when it nears its target. But so, too, are radio sets, and radio manufacturers have protested that the Eastland bill would prohibit export of radios.

NAZIS HAD HELICOPTERS UNTIL BOMBS HIT PLANT

WASHINGTON, May 12. — (AP) The Commerce department reported today that the Germans built 10 helicopters able to climb 18 feet a second with 10 passengers.

Later the plant making them at Bremen was bombed out. The statement said the machines had two three-blade rotors each 39.4 feet across and carried 130 gallons of fuel.

The department offered the specifications to any manufacturer interested in them. It also offered details on a German warp knitting machine which makes runproof reinforced hosiery fabric and an American army process for making liquid soap from napalm, a gasoline thickening used for flamethrower fuel.

UNRRA AIDS NEEDY IN CHINA, SARDINIA

MAY 13 1946

WASHINGTON, May 12—(AP) UNRRA experts are battling locusts in Sardinia and the great Yellow river in China to save millions of acres for food.

Reporting this today, the world relief agency declared the famine in China is growing worse with 33,000,000 on an inadequate diet. That is 3,000,000 more than last reported. It found 7,000,000 verging on starvation.

Seven UNRRA specialists have flown to Sardinia from nearby Italy to help halt a locust swarm before it grows wings. They are confronted by "a wave of locusts four layers deep, two and a half miles wide and 30 miles long marching on Sardina's richest crop areas," UNRRA reported. If the insects are able to take flight, damage may reach $30,000,000—three times that of the 1945 plague.

A mile-long main break in the dikes of China's great stream is under repair, directed by UNRRA engineers, in an attempt to get 2,000,000 fertile acres back into production, the statement said. UNRRA is feeding the laborers.

The water was diverted deliberately in 1938 to stop the Japanese. It is hoped to close the main gap before July 1 when the river may be in flood. If the race against time is won the land can produce 20,000,000 bushels of wheat and rice this year, UNRRA said.

Atlanta Journal Tells Of Thousands Unprotected

Atlanta, May 12 (AP)—The Atlanta Journal reported today that thousands of army vehicles at Conley Depot here are slowly deteriorating as they stand idle for weeks and months without even a strip of canvas to protect them from the elements.

The newspaper said there were between 25,000 and 41,000 vehicles at the Army Ordnance Depot, and adds that the officers there apparently don't know how many vehicles are at the installation, are uncertain about the status of them and that a crew of only 276 men is used to maintain the vehicles.

What Survey Shows

A survey of the storage lot at Conley, the Journal said, reveals this:

"Army sedans parked rim deep in water and mud, trucks and cars resting on flat tires, vehicles not blocked up to prevent tires from rotting, vehicles with windows missing and no substitute for the windows to keep rain off the upholstery, vehicles with no more than 4,000 miles on their speedometers, caked with rust.

Not Enough Men

The Journal says that the officers and personnel at the depot seem to be doing an excellent job as far as they can but, as one of the officers admitted, "276 men certainly is not a sufficient number to handle and maintain 31,000 vehicles."

Specifications Offered Of German Helicopter

Washington, May 12 (AP)—The Commerce Department reported today that the Germans built ten helicopters able to climb eighteen feet a second with ten passengers.

Later the plant making them at Bremen was bombed out. The statement said the machines had two three-blade rotors each 39.4 feet across and carried 130 gallons of fuel.

Armed Forces Clash on Control of Rockets, Fail to Coordinate Their Research Programs

MAY 13 1946

WHITE SANDS, N. M., May 12.—(AP) A behind-the-scenes contest involving Army, Navy and Air Forces for control of development of long range rockets as a weapon of the future was suggested by top officials today at the start of a series of spectacular tests with German V-2 missiles.

Although the Army described the current tests at White Sands proving ground as a joint venture of the three primary services, Maj. Gen. Curtis LeMay told a reporter "there is no real coordination short of the President" and "no clear definition of responsibility between the air and ground forces."

In Charge of Research

LeMay is deputy chief of the Army Air Forces air staff in charge of research and development.

Vice Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, commander of the task force carrying out this summer's atom bomb test, acknowledged that as the range of rockets was increased from hundreds to possibly thousand of miles there might be difficulty in reconciling control of

COMMUNISM IS PERIL TO U. S., TALBOT SAYS

NAUGATUCK, May 12—(AP) Representative Joseph E. Talbot (R-Conn.), asserting that "we must be on guard against Communism," called today for an end to a wartime tendency towards "centering too much power in the hands of a few in our Federal government."

"It is to the interest of the fellow travelers to see that centralized power be maintained and strengthened so that if and when they take over the reins the job of breaking down our constitutional form of government will be just that much easier," said Talbot in a speech at a communion breakfast of Ojeda council, Knights of Columbus, here.

"That is another reason that full power must be restored to the little people in the little homes," he said.

Cutter Takes Iron Lung To Bride On Transport

New York, May 12 (AP)—The Coast Guard cutter Duane today was plowing through the North Atlantic to take an iron lung to an ailing war bride on the army transport Thomas H. Barry.

The Navy said the ships were expected to meet late today several hundred miles off the coast of Newfoundland.

The transport sent a call for the iron lung yesterday to help Mrs. Margie Anderson, wife of Sergt. George Anderson, of New Albany, Ind., who was suffering from "intermittent respiratory paralysis." The ship is bringing British brides and children from England to New York.

WAR CRIMES (460)
BY DUANE HENNESSY.
TOKYO, MAY 13-(AP)-JAPAN'S INDICTED WARTIME LEADERS SOUGHT TODAY TO BLOT OUT MANY OF THE ALLIES' WAR CRIMES CHARGES BY MAINTAINING THAT THEIR NATION DID NOT SURRENDER UNCONDITIONALLY. THE ALLIES' CHIEF PROSECUTOR CONTENDED JUST AS STRONGLY THAT THE SURRENDER WAS "UTTERLY WITHOUT CONDITION."
CHIEF DEFENSE COUNSEL ICHIRO KIYOSE ARGUED BEFORE THE INTERNATIONAL MILITARY TRIBUNAL FOR THE FAR EAST THAT UNDER CONDITIONS OF THE SURRENDER, ONLY VIOLATORS OF INTERNATIONAL LAW AS IT THEN EXISTED WOULD BE BROUGHT TO TRIAL.
JAPAN'S TOP STATESMEN AGREED TO SURRENDER, KIYOSE SAID, IN THE BELIEF THEY WOULD NOT BE PROSECUTED AS WAR CRIMINALS.
KIYOSE ALSO CONTENDED THAT BECAUSE JAPAN DID NOT SURRENDER UNCONDITIONALLY SHE WAS NOT REQUIRED TO OBSERVE EVERY ORDER OF SUPREME HEADQUARTERS "BUT ONLY THOSE WHICH ARE IN ACCORD WITH THE POTSDAM DECLARATION."
THUS HE CHALLENGED THE TRIBUNAL'S AUTHORITY TO TRY THE DEFENDANTS ON CHARGES OF CRIMES AGAINST PEACE AND CRIMES AGAINST HUMANITY--CHARGES WHICH MAKE UP A LARGE PART OF THE INDICTMENT AGAINST THE DEFEATED LEADERS.

REFERRING TO THE NUERNBERG TRIAL, KIYOSE SAID THE ALLIES "MIGHT JUST AS WELL HAVE PUNISHED (GERMAN) WAR CRIMINALS WITHOUT TRIAL" BECAUSE GERMANY SURRENDERED UNCONDITIONALLY.
KIYOSE SAID IT WAS HIS "STRONG BELIEF" THAT THE DEFINITION OF WAR CRIMINALS IN THE JAPANESE INDICTMENT GOES BEYOND THE INTERPRETATION OF EXISTING INTERNATIONAL LAW.
HE SAID HE COULD FIND NO MENTION OF PLANNING WAR AS A WAR CIME, IN ANY WORK ON INTERNATIONAL LAW. KIYOSE ADDED:
"WHATEVER THE NATURE OF WAR, PLANNING, INITIATING AND WAGING OF WAR CANNOT BE CONSIDERED CRIMES AGAINST PEACE IN ACCORDANCE WITH RULES HELD UP TO JULY, 1945" -- DATE OF THE POTSDAM AGREEMENT.
ONLY 26 OF THE ORIGINAL 28 JAPANESE LEADERS INDICTED HEARD THE ARGUMENTS ON WHICH THEY HOPE TO ESCAPE THE MOST SERIOUS PART OF THE ALLIED ACCUSATIONS. ABSENT WERE PROPAGANDIST SHUMEI OKAWA, WHOSE PECULIAR BEHAVIOR AT AN EARLIER SESSION PROMPTED A PSYCHIATRIC EXAMINATION, AND FORMER FOREIGN MINISTER YOSUKE MATSUOKA, NOW UNDER MEDICAL OBSERVATION.
NEW SECURITY PRECAUTIONS WERE EVIDENT TODAY IN THE HIGH BARBED-WIRE FENCE WHICH CIRCLED THE WAR MINISTRY BUILDING WHERE THE TRIALS ARE BEING HELD. MILITARY POLICE CONTINUED TO GUARD EVERY ENTRANCE, SEARCHING ALL VISITORS.
TODAY'S SESSION WAS CALLED SOLELY TO HEAR KIYOSE'S ARGUMENT. THE TRIAL HAS BEEN SET TO START JUNE 3.

ABOARD THE MT.MCKINLEY ENROUTE TO BIKINI--MAY 12-(AP)-NINE NAVY SHIPS WILL KEEP THE GUINEA PIG FLEET COMPANY ON THE LAST NIGHT IN BIKINI LOGOON AND THEN TAKE TARGET SHIP CREWS TO SAFETY AT DAWN ON ATOM BOMB DAY.

OPERATIONAL PLANS DISCTOSED TODAY SHOWED A TOTAL OF 292 MEN WILL STAY ABOARD TARGET SHIPS AND ON ATOLL ISLANDS FOR LAST MINUTE PREPARATIONS. THREE HOURS BEFORE A B-29 COMES DRONING ABOVE THE TARGET TRANSPORTS AND THE SMALLER SHIPS WILL HAVE ALL HANDS ABOARD AND BE STANDING OUT OF THE ENTRANCE TO THE LAGOON.

THIS FLAGSHIP WILL REMAIN IN THE TARGET ZONE TO DIRECT EVACUATION AND WILL GO OUT TO SEA IN WAKE OF THE EVACUATION CRAFT. THE MOUNT MCKINLEY WILL THEN TAKE UP A RINGSIDE POSITION TO OBSERVE THE EXPLOSION FROM A DISTANCE OF ABOUT TEN MILES, WHICH WILL BE THE CLOSEST OF ANY SHIP.

MAY 13 1946

THE FIRST TEST IS SCHEDULED FOR ABOUT 9:30 ON THE MORNING OF THE FIRST GOOD WEATHER DAY IN JULY.

THE TASK FORCE HAS ASSIGNED CODE NAMES TO PHASES OF THE TEST AND SECTORS IN WHICH THE OBSERVATION FLEET WILL BE LOCATED. "ABLE" IS THE DAY FINALLY SELECTED FOR THE FIRST DROP OF BOMB, WITH "BAKER" THE DAY FOR THE SECOND SURFACE OR SUBSURFACE EXPLOSION. "HOW" IS THE HOUR OF EXPLOSION. THE TIMETABLE IS FURTHER GRADUATED INTO "X-RAY", THE HOUR WHICH DESIGNATES THE TIME WHEN AN ARMY AIR FORCES BOMBER ARRIVES AT A POINT 57 MILES SOUTHWEST OF BIKINI AT A BOMBING ALTITUDE AND BEGINS THE FIRST OF THREE PRACTICE RUNS.

IF THE BOMBARDIER IS SATISFIED AFTER THREE TRIALS WITH THE VISIBILITY AND OTHER CONDITIONS, A PLANE WILL ANNOUNCE ON THE RADIO NETWORK "ESTIMATED THIRTY MINUTES BEFORE FIRST POSSIBLE BOMB RELEASE. STAND BY. MARK."

MAY 13 1946

THE PLANE THEN MAKES SIMILAR ANNOUNCEMENTS AT TEN, FIVE, TWO AND ONE MINUTES AND WHEN DRAMATIC ZERO MINUTE IS REACHED WILL SAY "COMING UP ON ACTUAL RELEASE. STAND BY. BOMB AWAY. BOMB AWAY. BOMB AWAY. (CQ.)"

TO ENABLE PRECISE SPOTTING THE WHOLE AREA IS DIVIDED INTO RADIATING ZONES GRADUATED AT EIGHT, THIRTEEN AND EIGHTEEN MILES. SECTORS OF THESE ZONES CARRY CODE NAMES OF AUTOMOBILES--BUICK, CHRYSLER, CHEVROLET, FORD, GRAHAM, HUDSON AND OTHERS.

PLANS FOR THE EVACUATION OF PERSONNEL FROM TARGET SHIPS CARRIES THE NAMES OF BOTH SHIPS FOR BOTH TESTS, INCLUDING THE BULLSEYE SHIP NEVADA. A SPOKESMAN FOR THE TASK FORCE EXPLAINS, HOWEVER, THAT THIS IS DONE ONLY FOR LOGISTICAL PLANNING PURPOSES AND DOES NOT REFLECT A BELIEF THAT NO SHIPS WILL BE LOST IN THE FIRST TEST.

REDS SEE BREAK-UP OF PARIS SESSION

Predict Collapse of Parley Unless Molotov Demands Are Met.

PARIS, May 13—(AP) Soviet sources predicted tonight the four-power conference of foreign ministers would break up within a few days unless the western powers acceded to Russian demands on Trieste and North Africa.

Shortly after the Russians forecast possible failure of the meeting, Secretary of State James F. Byrnes placed before the deadlocked conference American proposals for ending the discord on the Italian colony question and for determining the extent of German disarmament to date.

Offers Two Proposals

He proposed:

That the foreign ministers council itself take charge of the Italian colonies for the next year and then refer the question to the United Nations if the ministers still had no solution.

That the Allied Control council in Germany authorize a four-power commission to visit all four occupation zones in that country and study how far Germany had been deprived of weapons.

In a reference to the conference deadlock, the Russian sources said the Soviet delegation would insist that the disputed port of Trieste be awarded to Yugoslavia. American officials were reported by responsible sources to be equally firm in contending that Italy should get the strategic Adriatic port.

American informants said Byrnes told the foreign ministers of Russia, Great Britain and France that he saw all four nations could not agree now on the Italian colony issue and for that reason he was proposing that the council extend its study of the question for a period not to exceed 12 months.

If at the end of that period the four powers still were not in accord, Byrnes proposed that the foreign ministers then refer the matter to the United Nations Trusteeship council.

This proposal was put forward as Ernest Bevin, British foreign secretary, was demanding British trusteeship of Cirenaica against vigorous Russian opposition, while Russia and France were urging return of the colonies to Italy as a trustee under the United Nations.

Bevin was reported arguing that he favored, over Italian trusteeship, the original American plan under which Italy's colonies would be transferred immediately to United Nations trusteeship.

Byrnes told the council he had instructed Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, U. S. civil affairs administrator in Germany, to propose to the Allied Control council that representatives of the four powers visit all zones in the Reich. Clay was said to have presented the proposal to the control council in Berlin either yesterday or today.

ECLIPSES NM

The Foreign Ministers were reported striving again today to reach agreement on the Italian peace treaty.

Say Others Must Yield.

Soviet officials, according to the Russian inforants, feel they have made enough concessions, chiefly on the issues of reparations and colonies, in the discussions of Italy. They feel, these sources say, that it is time for Britain and the United States to give ground.

Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov last week abandoned Russian claims to trusteeship in Tripolitania, and offered to scale down his demand for Italian reparations, but the Soviet delegation was reported determined to prevent British military forces from remaining along the coast of Libya, so long as the Russians themselves were excluded.

Ruhr Compormise Possible.

A French informant said the germs of one possible compromise was contained in a recent British proposal reportedly suggesting some form of federation for the Ruhr region, which might even include part of the Rhineland.

The British and Americans have opposed France's demands for complete political separation of the Ruhr from the Reich under international political control, and have proposed establishment of economic control instead.

The French informant said a federated Ruhr similar to the set-up the American occupation forces instituted in Greater Hesse in the United States zone of occupation might meet French approval so long as the federated State was not under complete control of a centralized German authority in Berlin. In any event, this informant continued, French acceptance of such a plan would depend upon the satisfactory working out of details and international economic control would be insisted upon.

Secretary of State Byrnes's proposal of a twenty-five-year four-Power mutual assistance pact to assure German disarmament was received warmly by the French, but an authorized French spokesman declared flatly that it was not in itself a sufficient guarantee against further German aggression.

Ruhr-Rhineland Federation Is Proposed

Paris, May 13 (AP)—A compromise on French demands for detachment of the Ruhr arsenal from Germany appeared possible today as the Big Four Foreign Ministers reassembled after a day off in an effort to resolve their remaining points of disagreement—including the Italian peace treaty.

A well-informed French source said the germ of a possible compromise was contained in a recent British proposal reportedly suggesting some form of federation for the Ruhr region, which might even include part of the Rhineland.

Hesse Could Be Pattern

The British and Americans have opposed France's demands for complete political separation of the Ruhr from the Reich under international political control, and have proposed establishment of economic control instead.

The French source said a federated Ruhr similar to the setup the American occupation forces instituted in greater Hesse in the United States zone of occupation might meet French approval so long as the federated state was not under complete control of a centralized German authority in Berlin.

In any event, this informant continued, French acceptance of such a plan would depend upon the satisfactory working out of details and international economic control would be insisted upon.

Byrnes' Proposal Welcomed

United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes's proposal of a 25-year four-power mutual-assistance pact to assure German disarmament was received warmly by the French, but an authorized French spokesman declared flatly that it was not in itself a sufficient guarantee against further German aggression.

One French source said that France expected a resurrected Germany to use every means to sow the seeds of discord among the Allies.

The foreign ministers reviewed a military parade yesterday, Joan of Arc Day, and heard President Felix Gouin appeal for "the triumph of a human peace" so that the world's "sacrifice will not have been in vain."

Immediately after the ceremonies, British Foreign Secretary Bevin went to London by plane for consultations. His return to Paris was unexpectedly delayed, and the Council meeting was put over until 3 P.M. to await his arrival.

The Foreign Ministers still are deadlocked on the major items of the Italian treaty—reparations, colonies and the disputed port of Trieste—but compromise solutions seemed within reach on all except the Trieste issue.

Byrnes contributed to a possible solution of the Italian reparations issue last week by offering to agree to $100,000,000 for Russia if the payments were restricted to merchant ships, some naval vessels, surplus factory equipment and Italian assets in the Balkans.

Soviet Called Example Of Real 'Co-Operation'

London, May 13 (AP)—The Moscow radio, calling for "genuine international co-operation" at the Foreign Ministers' conference in Paris, declared today that "attempts to foist unilateral decisions upon the Soviet Union are doomed to failure."

The commentator, Boris Isakov, said that some observers "invariably ascribe any difficulties arising in the talks to 'Soviet obstinacy.'"

"Apparently," he added, "some people expect the U.S.S.R. to accept anything the Anglo-American delegations propose without objection."

The commentator added that Russia was "setting an example of readiness to settle outstanding problems in a spirit of genuine co-operation and mutual concessions."

TITO DEFENDS CLAIM

London, May 13 (A. P.).—Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, in a speech reported by the Belgrade radio today, took issue with the recommendations by French, British and American experts of a boundary commission for a division of Venezia Giulia on an ethnic basis.

"Have the British any ethnical claims to India or Africa? Have the Americans any ethnical claims in the Pacific?" he was quoted as asking. "I do not believe in these ethnical principles—they do not exist. But something else does exist—strategical reasons. We do not agree with the British and American governments, nor will we desist from our rights. All we want is Istria, Trieste and the Slovene Littoral.

The commission's report, in which Russian, French, British and American experts recommended four different boundaries, is now before the Foreign Ministers Conference in Paris.

Britons To Testify For Mihailovic

London, May 13 (AP)—Hector McNeil, Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, told Commons today that testimony of British officers will be sent to Belgrade for use in the trial of Gen. Draja Mihailovic, Chetnik leader accused of allying himself with the Germans.

McNeil said the men served as liaison officers with Mihailovic's forces during the German occupation of Yugoslavia. They requested a chance to submit evidence.

Sent To Ambassador

The Foreign Office, McNeil said, "has undertaken to forward to the British Ambassador in Belgrade such written evidence as the officers might wish to put forward on behalf of General Mihailovic."

One officer has requested permission to testify orally, McNeil said the Government had requested information of the specific charges "but a reply has not yet been received."

NAZI WITHDRAWAL OF U-BOATS IN 1941 REVEALED IN COURT

NUERNBERG, May 13—(AP) A defense witness testified before the International Military Tribunal today that the Nazi naval command in the summer of 1941 "even ordered submarines withdrawn from American waters" for fear of an incident which might provoke the United States to war.

Admiral Gerhard Wagner, former chief of the Nazi naval command staff, appearing as a witness for Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, former naval commander-in-chief, said he knew of no conference between the German High command and the Japanese on any mutual war aim before the Pacific war flared on Dec. 7, 1941.

Jap Attack Was Surprise

The Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, he testified, came as a "complete surprise" to the German navy. He said Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, then navy commander-in-chief, Admiral Doenitz, his successor, and all naval departments were ignorant of the Japanese plan.

Raeder is another of the 22 Nazi leaders being tried by the four-power tribunal. His case has been linked repeatedly with that of Doenitz although his defense has not been started. The tribunal expected to finish with the Doenitz defense and take up Raeder's case within a day or two.

Doenitz' counsel asked Wagner: "Is the report true that Admiral Raeder tried to get the Japanese to go to war against the United States?"

Withdrew U-Boats

"It is not true," Wagner replied. "I know Raeder stressed that all naval measures should be examined very closely regarding the effect on the United States, to prevent incidents. In the summer of 1941 he even ordered submarines withdrawn from American waters."

Wagner said the navy never looked upon Doenitz as a politician, "but merely as a soldier doing his duty." Doenitz, he said, "never referred to any aggressive warfare" in his naval planning, but was working for "peaceful development" of the German fleet.

"In 1940 and 1941 Raeder talked emphatically against war with Russia," Wagner said. "He considered a break with Russia not permissible, and also was convinced our entire strength should be concentrated against Britain. He also felt the United States fleet was very strong and he could not fight the United States and Britain simultaneously."

Wagner also testified that before the war the German navy had no plan of operation against Britain because of the overwhelming strength of the British navy. He said the German navy realized the submarine was its chief weapon against Britain's ships, but it was not given preferential treatment and as a result Germany entered the war with only about 20 submarines fit for Atlantic service, "whereas Britain and France each had over 100."

Col. Kilian To Go On Trial

Bad Nauheim, May 13 (AP)—Col. James A. Kilian, Highland Park, Ill., will go on trial May 16 "or shortly thereafter" on charges of brutality to American soldier prisoners in the Lichfield (England) guardhouse. He is the ranking officer among the defendants before the United States Army court-martial. The Lichfield trials have been in progress for more than five months in England and Germany.

D. P.'s Decline Aid Of Chicago Attorney

Augsburg, Germany, May 13 (A. P.).—Twenty Jewish displaced persons, who went on trial today charged with rioting and assaulting American military police at Landsberg recently, refused the proffered services of David Levinson of Chicago to act as a special defense counsel.

Representative Adolph J. Sabath (D.-Ill.) relayed to Gen. Joseph T. McNarney the offer of Levinson to come to Augsburg at his own expense. The twenty defendants said they were satisfied with their present counsel which includes two United States Army officers and two lawyer-inmates of the Landsberg displaced persons camp.

243 RUSSIANS FEAR HOME

Men Who Fought With Nazis Are Repatriated by U. S. Army

DEGGENDORF, Germany, May 13 (AP)—Two hundred forty-three Russian citizens who fought for the Germans during the war were repatriated to the Soviet Union forcibly today by the United States Third Army.

One Russian slit his throat, but his injury was not great enough to delay his return to his homeland.

This was the third such mass transfer of pro-Nazi Russians by the Third Army. The group composed the last of several hundred Russians who had been interned in the Plattling prison camp.

Elaborate precautions were taken to avoid a mass-suicide attempt such as that which took place last January at Dachau, when twelve of a similar group of Russian repatriates killed themselves.

Schmeling Given Term, Fine

London, May 13 [Reuter]—Max Schmeling, former German world boxing champion, today was sentenced by a Military Government tribunal at Hamburg to three months' imprisonment and fined 10,000 marks (about $1,000) for infringing Military Government orders, the British News Service in Germany reported. He was arrested in court.

Schmeling began to build a house in a Hamburg suburb early this year, but was ordered to stop. In the middle of February he had the work resumed.

Thought It Deferred

In his own defense Schmeling said he thought the building project had been only deferred and not stopped finally.

Schmeling's counsel pointed out that, as an internationally well-known sportsman, he had been in many regards "an embarrassment to the Nazis."

Counsel recalled that Schmeling was temporarily a prisoner in British hands after the parachute attack on Crete and "gained a high opinion of the fighting British soldier."

"Persecuted" By Gestapo

He told this to American journalists and from that day on "Goebbels and the Gestapo persecuted him."

The tribunal president, however, said this could not be taken into consideration "as a decision of the Military Government is of much greater importance."

Army Identifies 2 G. I.s Slain in Nuernberg Jeep

In 'Stars and Stripes' Fiscal Office; 6 Germans Held

NUERNBERG, May 13 (AP).—The two American soldiers shot to death as they sat in a jeep here Friday night were identified today as Technician Fourth Grade Paul R. Skelton, of McKinney, Tex., and Staff Sergeant William R. Timmons, of West Haven, Conn.

Officials of the Army newspaper "Stars and Stripes" disclosed their names. The two men had been on assignment here to "The Stars and Stripes" fiscal office.

American military police who searched the suburban Erlenstegen area last night in a search for clews arrested six German male civilians, but there was no indication they were connected with the crime. Security officials said the six were being held because their identity papers were incomplete and they were unable to explain their presence in the area.

SIX GERMANS HELD IN U. S. ROUNDUP

Nuernberg, May 13 (A. P.).—Six German civilians, all men, have been arrested by military policemen scouring the suburban Erlenstegen area for clews in the fatal shooting of two American soldiers in a jeep last Friday night.

The six are being held for further investigation, security officers announced, because their identification papers were incomplete and they were unable to explain their presence in the area. It was not immediately apparent whether any of them were connected with the mysterious shooting.

Military policemen, who searched a four-square-mile sector on Sunday, found small quantities of American rations and cigarettes in German homes.

The identity of the two victims, both members of the Stars and Stripes Army newspaper staff, have not yet been revealed.

58 GERMANS TO DIE FOR MAUTHAUSEN PRISON MURDERS

DACHAU, May 13 — (AP) An American military court today sentenced 58 operators of the concentration camp at Mauthausen to die on the gallows for the torture and murder of thousands of imprisoned victims of Nazi persecution. Three other defendants received life sentences.

The 61, mostly German SS men and the largest number to be tried as yet in a war crimes trial, were found guilty on Saturday. The trial of 75 SS men for the massacre of nearly 100 American soldiers at Malmedy during the Battle of the Bulge in December, 1944, is expected to follow by the end of next week.

One by one the U. S. court president summoned the 61 Mauthausen defendants to hear the sentences. To the 58 doomed to die the court intoned:

"The court, in closed session, two thirds of the members being present and concurring, sentence you to death by hanging at such time and place as a higher authority may direct."

August Eigruber, gauleiter of the upper Danube region and one-time Nazi dictator of Upper Austria, received the sentence without display of emotion. Other defendants paled, and some had to be helped from the court room by the guards.

Completing the 38-day trial, the court declared it had found "irrefutable record of death by shootings, gassings, hangings and starvation" to make every camp official "culpably and criminally responsible."

Among the victims of Mauthausen was Associated Press Correspondent Joseph Morton, who was executed there after his capture in December, 1944, while accompanying an Allied mission into Slovakia.

Witnesses at the trial said that Morton and 13 American and British officers captured with him underwent four days and nights of brutal interrogation before they were led into the camp crematorium and shot through the neck.

Described By Inmate

Mauthausen, the Nazi horror camp run by 58 attendants who were today condemned to death by an American military court, was described in detail in The Evening Sun of April 23.

The description was based on the eyewitness testimony of a 17-year-old Polish boy—Abraham Awigdor—who had been forced to work in Mauthausen, hauling off bodies of prisoners slaughtered in the gas chamber.

Young Awigdor was in Baltimcre awaiting the arrival of his father from Belgium with visa papers for the entrance of the two into this country. The boy arrived here from Belgium aboard the Greek-owned Liberty ship Psara.

braries and heads of all universities and schools must hand over to the military commandants all Nazi and military propaganda in their possession.

"Textbooks, magazines, newspaper files and films containing Nazi racial theories and other propaganda, as well as instructions, maps and diagrams used for military training of troops are included in the list of material to be surrendered for destruction.

"Holders of the material, burgomeisters and local authorities are responsible for complying with provisions of the order.

It was reported that this measure, warmly debated by the co-ordinating committee and criticized by some as "akin to the Nazi book burning," was sponsored by the French.

The other order passed by the co-ordinating committee provides for the destruction by January 1, 1947, of "all existing German military and Nazi memorials and the liquidations of military museums." Many monuments already have been razed.

The order provided that the monuments to be destroyed are only those memorializing World Wars I and II.

Tombstones erected at places where members of regular army formations died on the battlefields are not to be disturbed.

Private Libraries Excluded

Miss Vivian Cox, assistant to the deputy director of the American armed forces division, said the order on literature excluded private libraries.

"The Americans agreed to the principle of banning books glorifying Nazi theories and German military tradition," Miss Cox said.

paper Stars and Stripes has suspended T/5 Don Sheppard's cartoons, featuring fat, pig-tailed German girls with swastikas embroidered on their underclothes.

Army officials said the action came as the result of Germans' protest that the drawings held German womanhood up to ridicule.

Lt. Col. William G. Proctor, Hillsboro, N. H., officer in charge of Stars and Stripes, said Sheppard still will be permitted to display his frauleins in "occasional" cartoons but that repeated publication "could be offensive enough to the Germans to jeopardize our occupation program."

Sheppard, 20, of Mill Valley, Calif., said he drew his cartoons to "discourage soldiers from taking their fraternization and frauleins too seriously."

Dates Set For Army Officers To Return

Frankfurt, Germany, May 13 (AP). All American Army officers seeking discharge who will have 41 to 43 months of army service by August 31, will be on their way home by June 15, headquarters of United States Forces in Europe said today.

Officers with 34 to 40 months of service by the August 31 measuring date will leave between June 16 and July 15. Those with 24 to 33 months will start home between July 16 and August 15.

COW MEAT CONDEMNED

BERLIN, May 13 — (AP) The meat of five cows killed by lightning Sunday night on the farm of Anthony Likasiewicz here and which their owner valued at $1,400 was called "unfit for human consumption" today by Dr. Nathan Seigel, a veterinarian. Fourteen other cows in a herd that the owner and his wife had just finished milking escaped unharmed.

or a Fascist plot to slay Umberto for betraying Mussolini, Fascism and "the German ally."

Interior Minister Giuseppe Romitea immediately denied the report. A spokesman for the royal household could not be reached immediately for comment.

The newspaper said the plotmakers were in contact with German "werewolves," and intended to toss a bomb at Umberto while he mingled with a group of royalist demonstrators.

The newspaper gave the names of several persons, and identified them as Fascist fugitives implicated in the plot.

Allied observers declared that the story, regardless of whether it was true, would have definite propaganda value in connection with the plebiscite on June 2, when the Italians will choose between a monarchy and a republic.

Already there have been demonstrations here both by monarchists and anti-royalists, the latter said to outnumber the former in the Italian capital.

The Italian cabinet has banned parades in connection with political events until after the plebiscite, but has made no rule against public gatherings.

Umberto, who acceded to the throne following the abdication last week of his father, Vittorio Emanuele, has been granted limited powers by the Italian cabinet until the monarchy question is decided at the polls. Vittorio and the former Queen Elena took up voluntary exile in Egypt yesterday.

September Greek Poll Challenged

Athens, May 13 (AP)—A 50-member delegation of the Liberal party served notice today on the new Parliament that the party challenged the Cabinet decision setting September 1 as the date for a plebiscite on the Greek monarchy.

Former Premier Themistokles Sophoulis, 84-year-old leader of the Liberals, who contend that the plebiscite should be delayed until election lists are revised to assure "free voting," issued a formal statement as the first Greek Parliament in ten years took the oath of office, which includes allegiance to King George II.

The statement said the party "reserved integrally its republican principles and convictions pending the outcome of a plebiscite."

Leftists Also Urge Delay

Left-wing elements who boycotted the March 31 general elections also have urged a delay in the plebiscite.

Regent Archbishop Damaskinos made a formal announcement of the decision to Parliament. His address was interrupted constantly by cheers from the Assembly, dominated by the Populist party, which favors return of the monarchy and an early plebiscite.

The tall, black-robed Regent, speaking from the rostrum, told the Assembly that its first problem would be the re-establishment of "normal political life," and that this should be done by settling the problem of the monarchy.

Hints British Troops Will Stay

The Regent, discussing other problems facing the country, said Greek territory now held by foreign powers should be returned and that Greece should strive to give her people a feeling of security.

Greece hopes to gain territory in the north at the expense of Bulgaria and Albania and to regain the Dodecanese Islands, formerly administered by Italy.

The Regent indicated British troops might remain for some time in the country when he announced the the army and Security Corps still were being reorganized "under the enlightened leadership and with the manifold and valuable assistance of Britain."

tions, also have urged delay.

Parliament, however, is controlled by the Populist party, headed by Premier Constantin Tsaldaris, which emerged from the elections as the most powerful party in Greece. The Populists have strongly favored an early plebiscite.

The black-robed Regent also told Parliament that Greek territory now held by other foreign Powers should be returned to Greece. He said that other problems facing Greece included rehabilitation, reconstruction and the development of national unity. He hinted that the British troops may stay for a while in Greece by mentioning reorganization of the Army and security corps "under the enlightened leadership and with the manifold and valuable assistance of Britain." He said that this reorganization was not yet completed.

Dutch Destroy Vegetables

THE HAGUE, May 13 (AP).—The Netherlands, starving a year ago, has been in the anomolous position in recent months of having to destroy large quantities of vegetables. This situation, however, may be alleviated by an arrangement with British authorities at Hamburg, announced by Food Minister S. F. Mansholt, to export surpluses to Germany.

The Food and Agriculture Ministry had conducted a drive to increase vegetable crops in expectation of large foreign demands. But it was found impossible for months to arrange with the occupation authorities for exports to Germany, and exports to Great Britain were below expectations.

Poles Given Wood Orders

Warsaw, May 13 (AP)—The Polish Press Agency reported today that Poland has received British orders of $3,000,000 for Polish wood products. Polish exports of manufactured wood articles to England will exceed prewar figures, the agency said.

Ambassador Smith Back in Moscow

Moscow, May 13 (A. P.).—Lieut.-Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, United States Ambassador to the Soviet Union, and the British Minister, Frank Roberts, returned to Moscow from Paris today in Smith's plane. They spent two weeks at the Foreign Ministers meeting in Paris.

Allied Purge Of Nazi Books And Monuments Is Ordered

Berlin, May 13 (AP)—The Allied Control Authority today ordered the destruction of German military and Nazi memorials and masses of Fascist and militaristic literature.

The order on literature, passed by the authority's co-ordinating committee, provided for a purge "to eradicate in all forms Fascist, militarist and anti-democratic ideas in Germany through confiscation and destruction of Nazi literature and other media or propaganda."

Details Of Order Outlined

An American public relations officer gave this advance information on details of the order, which will be published May 20:

"Owners of circulating libraries bookshops and publishing houses, all former state and municipal li-

So we insisted either on a law naming specifically the material to be destroyed or to leave all decisions to the discretion of zone commanders. The latter was agreed upon."

The banned books must be surrendered within two months. Penalties are provided for disobedience, but they have not yet been stipulated.

PLOT TO MURDER ITALY'S NEW KING REPORTED IN ROME

ROME, May 13—(AP) A newspaper report today of a plot to assassinate King Umberto II, promptly denied by a cabinet minister, provided new fuel for the campaign being waged by royalists and republicans on retention of the monarchy.

OPPOSE EARLY POLL IN GREECE

Liberals Object to Sept. 1 Plebiscite on King.

Athens, May 13 (A. P.).—Archbishop Damaskinos, the Regent of Greece, told the Greek Parliament today that the Government decided to hold a plebiscite on September 1 on the fate of the monarchy, a decision which was challenged by the fifty members of the Liberal party.

Former Premier Themistokles Sophoulis, 84-year-old head of the Liberal party delegation, in taking the oath of allegiance to the King at the opening of the first Greek Parliament in ten years, declared that his party "reserved integrally its republican principles and convictions pending the outcome of the plebiscite."

The Liberals have contended that the plebiscite should be delayed until the elections lists can be revised and the people assured of "free voting." Extreme Left-wing elements which boycotted the March 31 general elec-

Dr. Joliot-Curie Lampoons Idea of Atomic-Bomb Test

By The Associated Press.

BRUSSELS, May 13—Prof. Frederic Joliot-Curie, head of the French Atomic-Energy Commission, said today "the American atomic bomb test in the Pacific is a miserable idea and a poor example to give the world."

Speaking before 2,500 persons at the sixtieth anniversary meeting of the Belgian Royal Society of Engineers, the leading French expert on the atom said he preferred a test that would prove the value of atomic energy to a "peaceful world."

"Do the sailors want to prove that perhaps one of the ships won't be turned over by the atomic bombs—and thus justify their existence?" he asked.

FAROUK WELCOMES EX-KING OF ITALY

Alexandria, May 13 (A. P.).—Victor Emmanuel settled down to a life of exile in Egypt today after a reign of nearly forty-six years as King of Italy, thus joining the growing ranks of Europe's homeless royalty. The weary little man and his wife, the former Queen Elena, were greeted by Egypt's King Farouk when they debarked here yesterday from an Italian cruiser.

In sharp contrast to the Italian royal family's gala welcome during their last visit to Alexandria in 1933, the former monarch and his entourage were spirited into a car and whisked behind a motorcycle escort through virtually deserted streets to Antoniades Palace, where he will remain temporarily.

The only sign of honor to the abdicated head of the House of Savoy was an Italian flag which fluttered from the aftermast of Farouk's yacht, riding at anchor in Alexandria harbor.

As the elderly ex-king prepared to debark, he turned to the crew lined up amidships.

"Farewell to you," he said. "You are the men I loved all my life."

Seven police boats ringed the Italian cruiser, in compliance with Farouk's orders that no reporters or photographers were to see the former king.

TALKS IN IRAN FAIL; CIVIL WAR A TOPIC

The Azerbaijan 'Premier' Quits Teheran—Red Army Still a Question in Province

TEHERAN, Iran, May 13 (AP)—Prime Minister Ahmad Qavam said tonight that the delegation from the self-proclaimed autonomous province of Azerbaijan left Teheran this morning, but he added it was possible the negotiations might be reopened later.

A United States Embassy official said, however, that he had heard that Jafar Pishevari, Premier of the separatist Azerbaijan Government, had left "in a huff."

Thus far, Central Government sources said, no agreement has been reached in the long and secret conversations. The Prime Minister, asserting "they may return," was reluctant to discuss the negotiations, but he indicated a peaceful settlement still was possible.

[Premier Ghavam broadcast Monday night over the Teheran radio that the talks had "reached a deadlock" because the Azerbaijan group had made three "impossible demands," according to a London broadcast heard by the National Broadcasting Company. The demands, as enumerated by the Premier, were (1) the right of Azerbaijan authorities to appoint a governor for the province, (2) distribution of state-owned land to Azerbaijan peasants, (3) appointment of commanders of the "Azerbaijan Army" and gendarmerie by the Azerbaijan "Republican Government."

[Premier Ghavam said, "We hope to have a speedy settlement of the status of Azerbaijan in order to enable the Iranian Parliament to proceed with legislation for the Soviet-Iranian Oil Company.]

Announcement of the delegation's departure followed reports of the complete breakdown of the negotiations that have been in progress for several weeks in a walled village outside Teheran. Reports last night were that the Azerbaijan leader was amenable to reopening of the discussions of the seven-point program advanced by the Central Government for the return of Azerbaijan to the jurisdiction of Teheran. The autonomous government was proclaimed in Tabriz, capital of the province, last November.

The official Azerbaijan radio at Tabriz has blamed "reactionary elements" in Teheran for the breakdown of the negotiations, and described Azerbaijan's people as "ready to fight."

In Teheran Premier Ghavam has denied a report he threatened to use force, but the possibility of civil war continues to be a topic of discussion here among the people.

The Tabriz radio, reporting the return to Azerbaijan of Mr. Pishevari, quoted Azerbaijan authorities tonight as denying any intention to attack Teheran.

Apparently referring to reports that the breakdown of the negotiations might lead to civil war, the broadcast from the Azerbaijan capital said that, while separatist forces would not attack, they were ready to defend the province.

Azerbaijan 'Premier' Departs From Tehran

Tehran, Iran, May 13 (AP)—Jafar Pishevari, "premier" of the dissident Azerbaijan province, left Tehran today and sources close to the Central Government said no agreement had been reached.

He has been negotiating with Iranian officials in secret for several days.

Central Government sources said the unfavorable flying weather that delayed his departure may have prevented civil war by prolonging the conversations.

Went To Airport

The "premier," Jafar Pishevari, went to the Tehran airport yesterday morning, but was unable to leave because of adverse weather reports.

Pishevari later called Premier Ahmed Qavam of the Central Iranian Government and agreed to reopen negotiations on the return of the self-proclaimed independent province of Azerbaijan to the Central Government's jurisdiction, according to a translator in Qavam's office.

"Ready To Fight"

The official radio station in Tabriz, Azerbaijan capital, asserted earlier that negotiations had broken down because of "reactionary elements" in Tehran, and said the Azerbaijan people were "ready to fight."

Likewise, an official who had accompanied Pishevari to the airport said that a breakdown of negotiations might mean "armed conflict."

The official Tehran radio denied a statement attributed to Qavam that force would be used.

However, the Iranian Army has been on the alert for the last few days and reinforcements have moved to certain frontier stations.

India Awaits British Program

Simla, India, May 13 (AP)—Indian leaders waited today upon announcement by the British Cabinet mission of its own plan for an independent India, amid predictions the British proposals would encounter difficulties equal to those which caused complete breakdown of an eight-day conference with Hindu and Moslem leaders.

The Cabinet mission still is required to accomplish the task assigned it by the British Government—to help prepare machinery for framing an Indian constitution, and to set up an interim government which would function while the Constitution is being formulated.

Conversations continued here on a minor scale. Mohandas K. Gandhi, spiritual leader of the Congress party, was expected to confer with the cabinet mission at the end of his regular Monday day of silence.

Maulana Abul Kalam Azad, a Mosleum who is president of the Congress party, and Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, president-elect if the party, were expected to confer with Viceroy Lord Wavell.

Antagonism Seems Higher

The breakdown of the conferences yesterday dealt a jolt to hopes for a quick transition from British control to self government. Both the Hindus and the Moslem league representatives, however, held to their pledge not to issue statements until the formal papers of the conference are published within a few days.

Each side remained adamant, and the failure of the conference, apparently snagged on the Moslem demand for Pakistan as a separate state, appeared to have heightened their antagonism.

Among the factors arousing new bitterness was a report current in Congress circles that President Mohamd Ali Jinnah, of the Moslem League, at one time was willing to submit the Pakistan issue to arbitration. This report has been denied emphatically by league members.

Complaints were heard that the cabinet mission had not clearly indicated to either party just what plan it would consider workable. One Indian source said "we will not know what the cabinet has in mind until the cabinet (mission) publishes its proposed plan, as promised."

In New Delhi, Dr. N. B. Khare, Commonwealth member of the Viceroy's Executive Council, said the failure of the conference was disheartening but not unexpected, and added "now it is for the British to play their part and redeem their pledges."

"They should begin from the very beginning and strike at the very root of the evil, namely the communal electorate," he said. "After having done that they should draw up a constitution that will make the common man, irrespective of political parties or religious communities, feel he is independent and feel further that his fundamental freedoms are guaranteed."

Paper Takes Grave View

He sai dthe British should not hestitate to impose a constitution "provided it is just and fair to all communities, with adequate and reasonable safeguards to minorities, but provided also that the rights of the majority are not assailed."

In Calcutta, the pro-British newspaper Statesman took a grave view of the breakdown, but said it did not in any way "bring the cabinet mission to an end." The pro-Congress party Hindustan Standard said Congress party members had felt all along that the conference could have succeeded "only at the cost of the Congres and the country."

The Moslem League repeatedly has stated it would not participate in a central government until the principle of a separate Moslem state was recognized. The numerically dominant Congress party has expressed willingness to participate in a central government, but, in contrast with its position of a year ago, has declared it no longer will accept control on an equal basis with the League.

control to Indian self-government. Two communiques were issued after the breakdown, one jointly by the Cabinet mission, the Moslem League and the Congress party; the other by the Cabinet mission alone—but neither gave any reason for the collapse of the negotiations. It seemed apparent, however, that the conference had foundered on the demands of the Moslem League for an independent Moslem State (Pakistan). These demands have been bitterly opposed by the Congress party, which favors an India unified at least in so far as foreign affairs, defense and communications are concerned.

The communique issued by the mission said that the conference had not "led to any agreed plan between the leaders of the Congress and the Moslem League," but that the breakdown "does not in any way bring to an end the mission with which we were charged by his Majesty's Government and the British people." The statement added that the mission and the Viceroy, Lord Wavell, would go to New Delhi tomorrow and would issue a statement in a few days on "the next step to be taken."

Not Unexpected.

Even a face-to-face talk between M. A. Jinnah, president of the Moslem League, and Jawaharlal Nehru, president-elect of the Congress party, failed to save the conference. Nehru was the last of the congress delegation to leave the meeting place last night. He paused long enough to tell reporters that "the negotiations go on forever, but this particular conference is ended." He later told a crowd of some 500 persons: "It is not by cursing or blaming the mission or the Moslem League that you can win your objective. It is by silently preparing to shoulder your responsibilities that you will help the cause of Indian freedom."

In New Delhi, Dr. N. B. Khare, Commonwealth member of the Viceroy's Executive Council, termed the failure of the conference "disheartening but not unexpected." He proposed in a statement that, if all further steps fail, Britain impose upon India the federal constitution enacted by Parliament in 1935 but held in abeyance since that time. The British people, he said, should not fight shy of imposing a constitution "providing it is just and fair to all communities with adequate and reasonable safeguards to minorities, but provided also that the rights of majorities are not assailed."

Britons Still Hopeful on India

Cabinet Mission Promises New Statement—Simla Conference Breaks Down.

Simla, India, May 13 (A. P.).—The British Cabinet mission, admitting failure of an eight-day conference with Moslem and Hindu leaders on independence for India, made it plain today that it still has hopes of solving the Indian problem.

The conference ended in a complete breakdown yesterday, thus dealing a severe blow to the hopes of those who had expected a quick transition from British

Egyptian Premier Asks 'Dignity' For His Nation

London, May 13 (AP)—Egyptian Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha said in a letter to the Times today that present negotiations relative to British evacuation of Egypt should seek to "safeguard the dignity of Egypt, which would be a guarantee of her friendship and a guarantee of peace."

Sidky Pasha added that Egypt was an "ally to be met and cared for, not a country to be dominated—for that would in the end bring a harvest of more or less active hostility."

The Premier said he believed the British delegation in Cairo now working on a revision of the 1936 British-Egyptian treaty realized that British interests "will be better safeguarded through friendship and collaboration than they will be by means of outdated formulas of imperialist policies."

Afghan Cabinet Fall Reported

LONDON, May 13 (AP)—The Moscow radio said tonight that King Mohammed Zahir Shah of Afghanistan had dismissed his Cabinet and asked the former Minister of War, Shah Mahmoud Khan, to form a new government. No details were given.

British Hunt Chinese Thugs

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya, May 13 (AP).—Headquarters of the British command in Malaya said today that 3,000 British troops have been sent to key road crossings along the Siam-Malaya border to break up the depredations of about 500 armed renegades, mostly Chinese, who have "virtually throttled" commerce across the border.

JAP CHALLENGE IS LAID BEFORE WAR TRIBUNAL

Court Adjourns to Study Argument Denying Full Authority

CITES POTSDAM DECLARATION

Tokyo Lawyer Says This Provided for No Charge of Crimes Against Peace.

Tokyo, May 13 (A. P.).—The argument that Japan did not surrender unconditionally and does not have to obey every Allied command was presented to the Far East Military Tribunal today by the chief defense counsel for Japan's major war criminals, Ichiro Kiyose. He challenged the court's authority to try the twenty-eight defendants. His argument was taken under advisement, and the tribunal adjourned until tomorrow morning.

Today's session of the tribunal was held especially to hear Kiyose's challenge. The trial is set to begin on June 3.

The Allies' chief prosecutor, Joseph B. Keenan, described Kiyose's argument as the "height of absurdity," declaring that examination of the Japanese communications delivered to the Swiss Government at the time of the surrender would show that it was utterly unconditional. He then turned to the ultimatum prepared by the Allies at the Potsdam Conference last July. From Paragraph 13, he read: "We call upon the Government of Japan to proclaim now the unconditional surrender of all Japanese armed forces....." And from Paragraph 6 he read: "There must be eliminated for all time the authority and influence of those who have deceived and misled the people of Japan into embarking on world conquest. . . ."

As Keenan spoke of the "pil-

1948

lage, murder and plunder" of which he accused the twenty-eight defendants, he was interrupted by Chief Justice Sir William Webb, who asked: "Do you think those rhetorical phrases are fitting at this time?"

'Binding on Allies.'

Kiyose took a different view of the Potsdam Declaration. He declared that under its terms the Allies could prosecute all persons guilty of violating the accepted laws and customs of war, but that no provision was made in it for charges for inciting war and mistreatment of Allied peoples.

"The Potsdam Declaration not only binds Japan, but binds the Allies," the white-haired counsel declared. "We in Japan at no time expected that it would be extended to crimes against peace and charges against important statesmen, diplomats and other leaders."

Germany's surrender was wholly unconditional, Kiyose said, but the Potsdam agreement "presented an offer" to Japan. "It is this that was accepted and it is this that the Allies must observe," he insisted.

Kiyose said that in giving the tribunal jurisdiction over crimes against peace and crimes against humanity, "Gen. MacArthur is exercising authority which he does not possess and the Japanese people are not bound to obey that order." Japan's top statesmen agreed to surrender in the belief that they would not be prosecuted as war criminals, the attorney declared, and added that in the surrender last September Japan recognized that she would have to obey the orders and directives of the Allied Powers but only those in accordance with the Potsdam Declaration.

Keenan Warned Again.

Kiyose told the tribunal—over the objection of Keenan—that he could see no reason why the question of Japanese aggression in Manchuria should be covered in the indictment. He said that several countries had recognized the State of Manchuria, set up there by the Japanese. He also asked that the charges of crimes against Siam be stricken out, because Siam "is not and was not an Allied nation."

Justice Webb delivered a second admonition to Keenan when the prosecutor asked permission to read excerpts from a 1942 radio address in which President Roosevelt, he said, showed an early intent to bring to justice Axis leaders and henchmen for inciting war. Webb cautioned the florid-faced American against making "inflammatory statements" that might prejudice the court. After consultation, when Keenan assured them he would keep within bounds of decency and good taste, the nine justices permitted him to quote Roosevelt, Stalin, Churchill and Chiang Kai-shek.

The counsel also asked that charges of crimes against Siam be stricken because Siam "is not and was not an Allied nation."

Today's session was held especially to hear Kiyose's challenge. The trial is set to begin June 3.

Tokyo, Tuesday, May 14 (AP)—While the international war-crimes tribunal considered a defense challange to its jurisdiction, five of the 28 top-ranking defendants made a separate move today to escape prosecution.

Former Prime Minister Kiichiro Hiranuma and four other sought dismissal of aggression counts by contending that "a legal, fair and impartial trial" by the Allies which fought and beat Japan would be impossible.

Captain Defended Homma

Capt. W. G. Furness, USA, who defended Lieut. Gen. Masaharu Homma in Manila, presented the new move as supplementary to yesterday's challenge of tribunal jurisdiction.

Seeking freedom with Hiranuma by this motion were former Foreign Ministers Yosuke Matsuoka, Mamoru Shigemitsu and Shigenori Togo, and Gen. Yoshijiri Uzemu, former Kwangtung Army commander.

Seeking a ruling to quash charges of mass murder in the sneak attacks at Pearl Harbor and elsewhere as the war began, Major Ben Bruce Blakeney, Oklahoma City, American defense counsel for General Umezu, asserted that "killing in war is not murder."

Clothes For U. S. Women in Tokyo

Tokyo, May 13 (A. Stocks have been low since a recent warehouse fire in Manila.

Jap Coalition Failure Reported To Hirohito

Tokyo, May 13 (AP)—Premier Shidehara reported to Emperor Hirohito today on the tangled political affairs of the nation.

The imperial audience, reported by Kyodo news agency, was held shortly after the Premier learned that the Social Democratic party had failed in its efforts to line up a coalition government. He had flatly rejected a proposal that they be permitted to form a single-party cabinet.

The Socialist setback was reported to Shidehara by Tetsu Katayama, party secretary general, who received the Premier's refusal to permit the party to act individually.

"Bigotry" Is Charged

The rejection was met with a quickly published statement in which the Socialists charged that the Premier's "bigoted" attitude was forcing them to present to the emperor a demand for aid in relieving the nation's food situation.

The statement was well sprinkled with the words "starve" and "starvation" and concluded with the oft-repeated demand that the Emperor hold himself responsible for the war and the present political impasse.

The Socialist statement followed the same general line taken yesterday by Communist-led demonstrators who pushed past guards at the palace compound gates to demand imperial assistance in solving the food-shortage problem.

Demonstrators To Return

Kacho Iwase, imperial household transportation chief, told the Associated Press today that the demonstrators had promised to return tomorrow for an answer to their demand for aid from Hirohito.

Iwase, who also met the demonstrators April 4 when they appeared at the imperial household ministry, said that so far as he knew, the Emperor planned no answer.

An emergency meeting of the Social Democratic party created the new setback when it decided to refuse to participate in any coalition cabinet and to work for a solid "democratic" front.

"Awkward" Situation

The meeting, Kyodo said, instructed Katayama to shun all meetings of the leaders of the four major parties that might be called by Shidehara in connection with a coalition government.

As a result, the news agency said, Foreign Minister Shigeru Yoshida, who yesterday was forecast as "virtually certain" to be the next Liberal party president, was placed in an "awkward" situation.

Yoshida was understood to be convinced that only a coalition government could succeed and to have based his plans on that premise, which the Socialist withdrawal effectively kills.

Demonstrators' Demands

Another blow to coalition was delivered by the demonstrators at the palace compound yesterday, Iwase reported. He said the group had urged that the Emperor refuse any recommendation by Shidehara for a Conservative coalition and insist on a Communist-Social Democrat Left-wing government.

The invasion of the compound, which marked the first direct appeal in history of the people of the Emperor, continued today as one of the principal topics of conversation.

The incident was characterized as a striking example of the "new times" since the occupation began.

Jap Health, Welfare Agencies Shaken Up

Tokyo, May 13 (AP)—Supreme headquarters today ordered the Japanese Government to reorganize administration of the nation's health and welfare activities.

The directive specified that four agencies be set up:

A bureau of health to direct public health, vital statistics, health education and nutritional activities.

A bureau of medical treatment to direct general medical affairs, administration of hospitals and sanatoriums and pharmaceutical matters, including production and standardization of drugs.

A bureau of preventive medicine concerned with sanitary engineering, communicable and chronic infections and diseases.

A bureau of social affairs to handle medical assistance in public welfare.

Supreme headquarters said the reorganization was necessary to "cope adequately with the emergency health and welfare situation."

Membership In Jap Labor Unions Soars

Tokyo, May 13 (AP)—The Japanese rush to labor unions which General MacArthur has encouraged has boosted memberships in 3,739 separate unions to 1,690,000, occupation headquarters reported today.

The first exact labor figures were presented by Theodore Cohen, of Washington, headquarters labor division executive, who found that the largest so far was that of government railway workers, with more than 100,000 members.

The labor federations— the Japanese Federation of Labor, and the Congress of Industrial Unions —have been formed, but so far the rush to individual organization has precluded much consideration of overall organization, Cohen said.

Jap Prison Guard Defended By Yank

Yokohama, May 13 (AP)—Yoshika Yagi, former Fukuoka prison camp guard, was defended at his war-crimes trial before an 8th Army tribuna today as a man who treated his prisoners with respect.

An affidavit from Sergt. Harold T. Irving, of Holyoke, Mass., described Yagi as a "happy-go-lucky fellow, always smiling," who "did not get angry" while carrying out the camp commandant's orders to beat the captives.

At another war-crimes trial, Tomio Yamada, former guard at Umeda prison camp, pleaded innocent and then sat stolidly as a series of affidavits were presented accusing him of "deliberately" killing one prisoner and contributing to the death of another.

PW Had Pneumonia

Corporal Edgar A. Ransey, of Aberdeen, Wash., asserted that Sergt. William H. Fisher, of Shamokin, Pa., was "deliberately killed because Yamada would not believe our camp doctor's diagnosis of pneumonia."

Capt. Edward R. Nell, of Kalamazoo, Mich., wrote that another war prisoner died as "the direct result" of Yamada's mistreatment of sick prisoners.

Yamada is also charged with beating Lieut. Harry T. Simpson, of Richmond, Va.; Seaman Edwin H. Jahn, of Clinton, Iowa, and Storekeeper Austin L. Andrews, of Macon, Ga.

STORM SNAPS TOW ON 17 JAP SHIPS

Kure, Japan, May 13 (A. P.).—Seventeen Japanese submarines marked for destruction were torn loose from their tow-ships and a Japanese tug sank with the loss of four lives during a wild, stormy night on Bungo strait, Royal Australian and Indian Navy officers reported today. The tugmaster, a Japanese, had refused to anchor in a sheltered spot as ordered, they said.

An Australian ship, an Indian vessel and three Japanese tugs were towing the submarines through the channel between Kyushu and Shikoku islands on the night of May 7 when hundred-mile-an-hour winds broke the towlines.

Members of ships' crews riding the submarines were washed into the sea, but all were rescued during a night-long search. The tugmaster and his three were lost. During the search for man overboard, thousands of gallons of oil were pumped on the waves in an attempt to calm the sea.

On the morning of May 8, submarines still afloat were destroyed with gunfire and demolition charges.

CHINA FOE OF REDS RESIGNS HIS POST AS CHIEF OF STAFF

NANKING, May 13. — (AP) Gen. Ho Ying-chin, with a blistering criticism of the Communists who long have tried to have him ousted, announced today he would resign by June 1 as chief of staff and commander-in-chief of the Chinese Government army.

Ho, who is 56, said he was stepping out to permit "younger blood" to take over, and that his successor already had been selected but could not yet be identified.

Took Office in 1930

Ho was war minister from 1930 to 1944 and has been chief of staff for the last eight years.

There had been rumors that the Communists insisted on his removal from the scene entirely.

Ho denied rumors that he would be a delegate to the U.N. conference, but said that he might visit the United States later as head of a Chinese military mission.

The Communists, he said, were trying to make him the "scrapegoat" for the civil conflict.

[The United Press said that General Ho directly accused General Chou En-lai, Communist leader, of trying to "instigate civil war" in China, and "involving the Russians if he can."]

"If the Communists have any feeling of nationalism or desire to protect the sovereignty of Manchuria," Ho said, "they should give up the capital, Changchun."

Army Demobilizing

As evidence of peaceful intent, Ho said the Government already had demobilized 191,000 enlisted men and 3,700 officers under the army unification program while the Communists were "expanding their forces instead of deactivating them."

Only today, he said, he had received a report that two unidentified planes had attacked a train north of Mukden and killed more than 100 persons. He expressed belief the planes were piloted by Japanese under Communist orders.

"If the Communists have any feeling of nationalism or desire to protect the sovereignty of Manchuria," he said, "they should give up the capital, Changchun."

Pro-Government press reports meanwhile said small-scale Communist attacks were continuing on railways in North China and southern Manchuria. Communist reports asserted that seven Government divisions still were vainly attacking the railway city of Szepingkai, on the route to Changchun, and Penki (Penhsihu) south of Mukden.

General Marshall, special U. S. envoy seeking peace in China, conferred again with Chou En-lai but it was announced the session was "without results."

China Top General To Resign By June 1

Nanking, May 13 (AP)—Gen. Ho Ying-chin announced tonight that on or before June 1 he would resign as chief of staff and commander in chief of the Chinese Government Army. The 56-year-old Ho, who has been chief of staff for eight years and was formerly War Minister for fourteen years, told correspondents that his successor had already been chosen but he could not yet disclose his identity.

To Advise Delegation

Nanking, May 13 (AP) — The Foreign Office announced today appointment of Cheng Chen-yu, director of Foreign Office personnel, as adviser to the Chinese delegation to the United Nations.

China Reds Try To Cut Tientsin Rail Lines

Peiping, May 13 (AP)—Newspapers here reported today continuing small-scale attacks by Chinese Communists on North China railways and stubborn defense by Communists holding Szepingkai and Pengshihu in Manchuria.

Four specific harassing attacks along railways running out of Tientsin were listed:

Tsangsien, south of Tientsin, attacked May 11 and the Communists repulsed the following morning; Communists repulsed in a three-hour attack on Yangtsun between Peiping and Tientsin May 10; Yulin on the coastal railroad attacked Saturday night, and Tsinghsein attacked Sunday morning.

Bent On Taking Tsangchow

Hsin Min-pao said 6,000 Communists armed with artillery seem intent on capturing Tsangchow.

The Communists maintained silence concerning the reported attacks on railroad centers.

Communists reports from Manchuria said that after 23 days fighting their forces were holding Szepingkai from seven government divisions and were also holding Pengshihu.

Meanwhile, General Marshall faced the job of peacemaker with a new weapon. Washington reports said he had an absolute veto over a $500,000,000 American loan to China, considered a potent source of power in dealing with the Chinese.

Called One-Sided Weapon

The veto, however, was seen in Shanghai as a one-sided weapon usable against only the National Government. Communists have said the loan would "perpetuate Fascist rule in China" and have actively opposed it.

Communist Gen. Chou En-lai charged that "elements" in Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's party were trying to sabotage Marshall's efforts and involve the United States in a full-scale civil war in China.

Chou said he was anxious to localize the conflicts, now centering chiefly in Manchuria since last week's truce in central China and Shantung province.

Tass Cites Marine Move In China

Moscow, May 13 (AP)—A Tass dispatch from Dairen said today that, according to information reaching there, 2,000 United States Marines had landed at Hulutao on May 1 and 2 for the purpose of expediting the movement of Chinese National Government troops into Manchuria aboard American ships.

The dispatch said the plan apparently was to transport the Chinese troops by sea from Tsingtao, in Shantung province, to Hulutao, whence they could move by land toward Mukden.

300-Mile Gain

Hulutao is about 300 miles north of Tsingtao and lies across the Gulf of Liaoting from Dairen.

Tass said the Chinese forces reportedly involved in the move had been "trained and armed with artillery, mortars and tanks by the Americans."

Denies Mao Is in Moscow

SHANGHAI, May 13 (AP).—A Communist spokesman denied here today a Reuters news agency report from Nanking that Mao Tse-tung, China's No. 1 Communist, had gone to Moscow to confer on the Manchurian situation. The spokesman labeled the report a "complete fabrication" and said Mao had not left the Communist headquarters at Yenan.

Jap Gets 30 Years In Chinese Massacre

Manila, May 13 (AP)—Toshieke Nakada, Japanese civilian propaganda expert, was sentenced today to serve 30 years at hard labor for participating in the massacre of some 650 Chinese at Uan Pablo in Laguna province last spring.

Nakada was the last of five Japanese to be convicted of participating in the massacre.

The others were Col. Masatoshi Fijushige, Major Zeniche Uehara, Capt. Hajime Ohno and Lieut. Jinsuke Takahashi, all of whom were given 30-year sentences.

Three More Korean Railways Nationalized

Seoul, May 13 (AP)—The United States military government today ordered the nationalizing of three Korean railroads by May 17 "to develop an integrated national system of railway transportation."

The lines affected will be condemned and compensation determined by a board named by the director of the military government's transportation department.

Five Accused as Spies Deny Guilt in Canada

Men Charged With Obtaining Secrets for Moscow

OTTAWA, May 13 (AP).—Five men accused of participating in the Moscow-directed Canadian spy ring pleaded not guilty today in the Ontario Supreme Court to charges of conspiring to violate the official secrets act of 1939.

One of the five—Captain Gordon Lunan, thirty, alleged head of a group of agents—appeared in a county court and his case was contined until May 31.

The four others who appeared before Chief Justice J. C. McRuer, were Edward Wilfred Mazerall, thirty, former National Research Council engineer; James Scotland Benning, thirty-eight, and Harold Emanuel Gerson, forty-three, brothers in law and former Munitions Department officials, and Matt Simons Nightengale, forty, a former Royal Canadian Air Force communications expert.

Two others—Eric Adams, Industrial Development Bank official, and F. W. Poland, who worked for the Canadian Information Service—were to be arraigned later.

Franco Atomic Project Perils Peace, Giral Says

New York, May 13 (AP)—The Spanish Government-in-exile said flatly today that the Franco regime is threatening world peace by working on atomic energy with the aid of German scientists.

This statement is contained in one of the documents which Dr. José Giral, premier of the government-in-exile, brought from Paris yesterday for presentation to the United Nations subcommittee investigating the Spanish question.

Although the 350-page report still had not been presented to the United Nations this afternoon, it was learned from a reliable source that it contained a statement that atomic research was being conducted in two Spanish cities—Granada and Murcia.

Three Other Charges Made

The report, which Giral said would be submitted "within the next 24 hours," also said that:

1. Generalissimo Francisco Franco was maintaining a huge military force, a large part of which was massed on the French frontier.

2. The Franco regime was not only sheltering many notorious Nazis, but actually was employing many former Gestapo agents in its secret police. The report listed the names of some of them.

3. Franco was violating human rights by "tortures, terriorism and cruelties" in Spanish jails and concentration camps.

Giral said he would present the report directly to Trygvie Lie, secretary general of the United Nations, which meant that it probably would not be in the hands of the five-man subcommittee when it meets this afternoon.

May Appear Later

Giral indicated he would not appear before the committee personally before he leaves Wednesday for Mexico but that he might appear when he returns to New York in about ten days.

The subcommittee, which is expected to meet almost daily from now until May 31, when it must report to the Security Council, also will get reports this week from the United States and Mexico.

Thursday Session Likely

Meanwhile, a United Nations spokesman said the Council probably would be called into session Thursday to take up two other matters:

A resolution circulated Friday night by Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., United States delegate, proposing that requests for United Nations membership be held up pending study of qualifications and procedure by a subcommittee, and a report of the Council's committee of experts on rules and procedure, which is ready to submit another group of rules for approval.

HONOLULU GANGS, SAILORS IN CLASH

HONOLULU, May 13 — (AP) Hoodlum gangs roamed the Waikiki beach section here last night and clashed sporadically with sailors on shore leave.

Police had no official report of the disturbances, but civilian sources reported numerous affrays.

A civilian who telephoned The Honolulu Star Bulletin said he saw 12 sailors beaten at different times by gangs of four to 20 youths. The fights broke out about 6 p.m. while the sailors—many of them on shore leave from ships enroute to Bikini for the atom bomb test—were swimming and surf-boarding.

Unlike the Damon Tract riot which last fall climaxed troubled relations between servicemen and island youths, last night's flareup was not a mass riot but a series of fights all along the beach.

Arias Ends Hunger Strike

Panama, Panama, May 13 (AP)—Former President Arnulfo Arias, who began a hunger strike May 2 to protest an alleged delay of the Government in bringing him to trial, ended his fast today.

Arias, held in connection with an armed uprising in Colon last December, reportedly discontinued his strike because of ill health.

U. N. TO RECEIVE REPORT CHARGING AID FOR FASCISM

NEW YORK, May 13. — (AP) Franco Spain is "a fascist regime geared for war and bent on aggression," the Spanish government-in-exile said today. It declared Spain was a haven for notorious Gestapo agents and Nazi scientists working on atomic energy.

These charges are included in a 350-page document, consisting of a general introduction and 20 annexes, brought from Paris yesterday by Dr. Jose Giral, premier of the government-in-exile, for submission to the United Nations subcommittee investigating the Spanish question.

Will Submit Charges

Giral said the document would be handed to Secretary-General Trygve Lie "within the next 24 hours" and that it would prove that the Franco regime "is and always has been a permanent threat to international peace and security."

The Associated Press learned from high Spanish Republican sources that the document declared in its introductory section that German scientists now are experimenting on atomic fission in the Spanish provinces of Granada and Murcia, with the apparent aid of the Franco government.

The document also listed some 50 Gestapo agents who, it said, "direct" the work of the Spanish secret police and "influence" the policies of the government.

A special annex on Spain's military strength and deployment said that large concentrations of troops on the Pyrenees border and in North Africa "directly threaten France's security."

Political Prisoners Detained

Another annex listed persons allegedly being held in Spanish jails and concentration camps for "political reasons" and declared that the Franco regime was violating the "basic human rights of any democracy."

The document said between 18,000 and 20,000 persons were being held in prisons in the Madrid area alone. It declared that "Nazi torture methods" had been imported from Germany and concluded that Spain is now "a huge penitentiary."

Giral spent the day calling on delegates to the Security council to press for action against the Franco government. He said he did not intend to appear personally before the sub-committee on Spain before leaving Wednesday for Mexico, but that he might appear before the committee after his return in about 10 days.

The committee started work this afternoon examining the mass of information already submitted by members of the United Nations.

The Security council was expected to continue in recess until Thursday or Friday when it will meet to act on proposed rules of procedure recommended by its committee of experts. At that time the council also will consider a proposal of U. S. Delegate Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., on the procedure for admitting new members to the United Nations.

NEW REFUGEE AGENCY URGED

To Co-operate With U. N., but Not Be Part of It.

London, May 13 (A. P.)—The United Nations Special Committee on Refugees will recommend that a new specialized agency be established to handle Europe's gigantic refugee problem when the Economic and Social Council meets in New York, May 25, an official reported today.

The committee, which has been working in London for more than eight weeks, will complete its report within a day or two. It expects to receive from a sub-committee tomorrow a report dealing with this problem and also the long-argued definition of a refugee.

The official said the report would include a recommendation to set up an international refugee commission as a specialized agency which would co-operate with the United Nations but which would be financed independently and not be an organ of the United Nations. This agency would have the task of taking care of 1,084,000 persons, by UNRRA estimate.

Definition of Refugees.

After weeks of debate in which some of the countries most closely aligned with Russia argued that many inmates of present refugee camps were Fascists and war criminals who should be sent back home, the sub-committee agreed on this definition of a refugee:

1. A victim of Nazi or Fascist regimes or Quisling or puppet regimes which assisted the Nazis and Fascists.

2. A victim of persecution for reasons of race, religion or nationality.

3. A person considered a refugee before the outbreak of the second world war and who enjoyed the status of refugee under an established system of international or intergovernmental protection or assistance.

Truman Terms Loan-Okay A Victory

Washington, May 13 (AP)—President Truman congratulated Senate Majority Leader Barkley of Kentucky today on the Senate's passage of the $3,750,000,000 loan to Britain.

House Speaker Rayburn said that Mr. Truman termed last Friday's Senate vote a great victory.

The commendation took place at the President's weekly conference with congressional leaders.

Rayburn said the House Banking Committee will start hearings on the British loan legislation soon and that they might last about two weeks.

Constitutional Challenge

A contention that the Senate invaded constitutional prerogatives of the House by voting first upon the loan legislation was made by Representative Knutson (R., Minn.) in a closed meeting of the House Ways and Means Committee.

"A considerable portion of the committee feels," Knutson told newsmen, "that the Senate has invaded the prerogatives of the House.

"The oan legislation amends the Second Liberty Loan Act and also involves trade treaties and foreign commerce, which in turn involves revenue. Under the Constitution, revenue legislation must originate in the House."

Plan Conference

Knutson said he and Chairman Doughton (D., N.C.) and Representatives Cooper (D., Tenn.) and Jenkins (R., Ohio) would confer with Speaker Rayburn on the matter.

The Minnesotan, an opponent of the loan, argued that the bill should be returned to the Senate.

Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D., Col.) raised the same constitutional objections in the Senate but was voted down.

New Policy Rift In State Dept. Faces Byrnes

Washington, May 13 (AP)—A widening split within the State Department may vitally affect American foreign policy on almost every major outstanding issue.

This is one of the main problems which will confront Secretary of State Byrnes upon his return from Paris.

One resignation already has resulted, and speculation is rife among departmental insiders that others either will follow or there will be important reassignments later this year.

The First To Go

First to go was Colonel Alfred McCormack, who quit as organizer of a central American intelligence unit because he contended his plans were wrecked by opposition within the department.

Speculation about possible future resignations revolves chiefly around Under Secretary of State Dean Atcheson, Assistant Secretary Will Clayton and McCormack's former colleague and successor in the intelligence job—William L. Langer.

The struggle appears to be an outgroth of the traditional fight between the Foreign Service officers—career men who are the backbone of the American diplomatic system—and comparative newcomers to the field of diplomacy.

The fight has been intensified in part by Byrnes's problem at Paris trying to work out with the Russians, British and French satisfactory peace settlements for Europe. On the central problem of how to deal with Foreign Minister Molotov and the Russians, Byrnes received two strikingly different recommendations.

Politics Vs. Economics

His regular political-diplomatic advisers under Assistant Secretary James Dunn recommended that he stand firm on every Russian demand considered to represent an expansion of Russian powers into western Europe. These advisers wanted the conference fought out on such issues as Trieste and Tripoli—tacitly recognizing that eastern Europe is Russian and western Europe is not.

Byrnes's nonprofessional advisers under Acheson and Clayton—notably experts on European economy—argued this was likely to create instead of resolve international conflicts. They drew an elaborate memorandum recommending that Byrnes try first to unify Europe by seeking Anglo-Russian agreement to some means of tackling such European-wide economic problems as transportation. After that, they said, should come the work on political issues.

Byrnes, however, took a staff of veteran diplomats to Paris with him, and reports from the conference show that in the main he followed their advice.

Yet his proposal of a 25-year, Big-Four treaty of alliance against Germany was regarded by the other side as an outgrowth of their advice, though not a substitute for it.

Acheson's Losing Streak

This is the third time in the last few weeks that Acheson has been identified with a project which did not go through. He called for much more drastic American food-control and famine-relief measures, only to have President Truman say a few days later that he did not know of any more drastic measures he could take.

Acheson also was a backer of McCormack in the latter's assignment to set up an independent intelligence unit within the department.

Opposing Contentions

The central issue—involving both State Department organization and foreign policy—is one which brings acknowledgements from each side that the other is both honest and sincere. To boil down the arguments:

The diplomatic experts contend they must have control of all aspects of American relations with a foreign country in order to make certain that policy is well developed and consistent; that helping to make policy decisions is their responsibility, for which they are trained and qualified; that there should be no such thing as a separate intelligence unit, and that the department's economic experts tend to meddle in political affairs.

The nonprofessionals—the lawyers, economists and others outside the Foreign Service—assert that the United States must develop a bolder foreign policy than the diplomats supply; that it must act more vigorously as a leading world power; that it needs a central intelligence unit to supply facts independently of diplomatic conclusions; that if the United States does not put over a workable peace no other nation will, and for this reason it should try sincerely to develop every possible way of getting along with Russia.

Hoover to Seek Famine Aid in South America

Former President Accepts Truman's Bid to Undertake Mission, but Refuses to Suggest Food Rationing.

Washington, May 13 (A. P.).—The White House said today that Herbert Hoover had accepted an invitation to go to South America as President Truman's food ambassador to enlist the support of countries there in the food crisis.

Charles G. Ross, White House press secretary, said Mr. Truman complimented Hoover at the conference today on his splendid job so far and asked him to go to South America at his convenience as "food ambassador."

Hoover, Ross said, accepted and is going within the next few weeks.

The former President simultaneously told a news conference that the world grain deficit could be largely overcome if surplus-producing nations would adopt "further vigorous conservation measures."

No Views on Rationing.

Talking after his meeting with the President, Hoover refused to say whether he believed the surplus countries, including the United States, should establish food rationing to help.

He wished, he said, to "be allowed to keep out of the domestic controversy" over rationing.

Herbert Morrison of Great Britain, Lord President of the Council, also discussed the food situation with the President. To reporters he described as "without foundation" a published report that he was asking Mr. Truman to ration meats and fats in the United States. He said: "Any idea of me telling the Americans what they are going to ration and what they are not going to ration is not on my agenda."

[In London, the political correspondent for the World, quoting the "highest authority," reported that Morrison would ask the President to ration meats and fats in the United States.]

Morrison said he discussed "the whole famine situation" with the President and added: "The President is fully possessed of the facts and urgencies of the matter."

"We are both equally determined to take necessary steps. We compared notes on the American and British points of view. My own impression is that their approach is not dissimilar."

Looks at Cereal Needs.

Hoover said overseas cereal needs for the period of May 1 to September 30 were considerably smaller than had been previously stated.

He said he and aids who accompanied him on his world-circling survey found that minimum cereal needs for the May-September period would be 14,484,000 tons. He said the supply expected to be available for export to famine areas would be 10,897,000 tons.

"Therefore the gap in supplies between May 1 and September 30 can be reduced to about 3,600,000 tons, as against an 11,000,000-ton gap in the earlier appraisals," he said.

Hoover said it might be possible to reduce the estimated 3,600,000 ton deficit to about 1,500,000 providing Russia, the United Kingdom, Iraq and some other countries made more grain available.

In response to queries, Hoover said that in his world tour he had seen no evidence of "mass starvation." He emphasized, however, that stocks in hungry areas are insufficient to last more than a month. He said the dominant need is cereals, particularly wheat and rice. He refused to discuss the world food situation beyond the present emergency.

"If the world has good weather, the food balance sheet will be greatly shifted," he said.

To Speak in Chicago.

The former president said he planned to discuss the world food situation more fully in a speech at Chicago Friday night. He indicated he might at that time go into the question of possible rationing. He said the outlook for this year's crops is generally much brighter than a year ago, particularly in North Africa, France, India and China.

Cereal needs for the May-September period—based on a per capita supply of not more than 300 grams a day, were listed as follows:

Europe 8,390,000 tons, Latin America 1,000,000, South Africa and New Zealand 198,000, the Middle East 100,000, the Indian Ocean area 2,886,000, and the Pacific Ocean area 1,910,000.

Probable supplies for the period were listed as follows:

The United States 4,220,000, Canada 2,300,000, Australia 992,000, United Kingdom 200,000, Argentina 2,375,000, Brazil 200,000, other Western hemisphere areas 40,000, Burma 75,000, Siam 195,000, and Russia to France 300,000.

Hoover said the loadings of cereals by months should be as follows:

May 2,723,000, June 2,881,000, July 3,147,000, August 3,044,000 and September 2,689,000.

He said that the 10,897,000 tons of cereals needed between May 1 and September 30 included 7,900,000 tons of wheat, 2,550,000 tons of coarse grains (including corn, oats and barley), and rice 447,000. These figures were based, he said, on a check of available supplies in exporting countries. The former president said the co-operation of Russia and the Latin American States would greatly aid in meeting the current emeregency.

Question of Rationing.

The wheat pinch began to hurt at home today with one big flour mill closed as President Truman and Hoover met for talks that may answer this question: Will a resort to wartime food rationing—with bread added to the list for the first time in American history—be necessary to solve the world famine crisis?

Those in favor of such a step gained powerful new support with word that Stabilization Director Chester Bowles plans to urge it upon Mr. Truman unless the present dark outlook brightens quickly. Bowles's suggestion, if it is made, will call for action by August, according to a highly placed official who asked not be named.

Limits on Flour Mills.

On the domestic scene, meanwhile, the closing of Pillsbury's "A" mill at Minneapolis stood out as a grim reminder that the shortage of wheat can well make deep inroads into American eating habits. Unable to obtain grain for the first time in its 66-year history, the mill shut down Saturday night.

Since May 1 all flour mills in the country have been limited to a maximum of twenty-one days' wheat supplies. Many had less than that amount, and the Government's action in offering a 30-cent bonus on sales to the Government shut off any chance for the millers to augment their dwindling stocks. Hence others appear certain to follow the Pillsbury lead.

How long flour stocks will hold out until bakers and housewives begin to feel the squeeze remains problematical.

This factor undoubtedly figured in the reported decision of Bowles to recommend bread rationing, along with a return to coupons for meat, butter and cheese.

Mr. Truman has said repeatedly he will not hesitate to order wartime rationing restored if such action becomes essential. Thus far, however, he has taken the position that machinery could not be started up again in time to help in the current crisis, which officials first estimated would last only until this summer's crops are harvested. More recently, however, increasing emphasis has been attached to the possibility of shortages continuing into and through next year.

Service Commands Ended In Army Reorganization

Functions Shifted to Other Branches in Economy Move.

WASHINGTON, May 13. — (AP) The War department today announced a reorganization, effective June 11, which will eliminate the nine service commands and convert them to six armies.

In addition, greater autonomy will be given the Army Air Forces.

The headquarters of the Army Service Forces will be discontinued and its functions transferred to other branches of the War department.

General Jacob L. Devers, head of the army ground forces, will be placed in command of the six armies within the United States.

Objective of the reorganization is to reduce expense and improve the army at the lower levels, the War department said.

Order Signed by Truman

The changes will be made under authority of an executive order signed by President Truman this afternoon.

The reorganization will occur at a time when the army is down from a wartime strength of 8,000,000 peak to 1,500,000.

Acting on the recommendation of Secretary of War Patterson the President issued the order which authorizes the Secretary of War to reassign the functions of the service of supply command of the Army Service Forces.

Under the order the War department's general staff will be reorganized to give to its divisions greater authority and responsibility in the control and direction of military administration and operation.

Emphasis on Research

Increased emphasis will be placed on research and development under the direction of the Secretary of War.

The headquarters of the Army Service Forces is discontinued and its functions are transferred to other appropriate War department agencies. Lt. General Leroy Lutes, commanding the Army Service Forces will become director of service, supply and procurement on the War department general staff. He will perform many of the duties now assigned to the commanding general of the Army Service Forces.

Gen. Devers soon will move his headquarters from Washington, to Fort Monroe, Va.

Commands First Army

General Courtney H. Hodges will command the First Army and the First Army area with headquarters in New York city. This area embraces the following Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey, Delaware, and New York.

Lt. General William H. Simpson will command the Second Army and the Second Army area with headquarters in Baltimore. This area includes Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky.

Lt. General Oscar W. Griswold will command the Seventh Army and the Third army area with headquarters at Atlanta. The Seventh Army was recently inactivated in Germany and will be reorganized in the United States. The Third Army, which formerly had its headquarters at Atlanta, remains on occupation duty in Germany. The section designated as Third Army area includes North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee and Mississippi.

Wainwright Heads 4th

Gen. Jonathan Wainwright will command the 4th Army and the 4th Army area with headquarters at San Antonio, Tex. This area includes Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas and Louisiana.

30.24-2799

Lt. General Walton H. Walker, will command the Fifth Army and the Fifth Army area with headquarters at Chicago, Ill. This area includes Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wyoming and Colorado.

Gen. Joseph Stilwell will command the 6th Army and the 6th Army area with headquarters at San Francisco. This area includes Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Utah, Arizona, Nevada and California.

The military district of Washington includes military installations in the District of Columbia and such nearby areas as may be designated by the Secretary of War.

Each army commander will have command of all troops and army installations in his area except air force troops and certain army installations specifically exempted from his control.

Although Boston is being discontinued as headquarters of the First Service Command, it will function as a sub post of the First Army with its headquarters in New York.

Under the reorganization the Army Air Forces under Gen. Carl Spaatz will have greater autonomy then at present. Among the major activities under Gen. Spaatz will be:

TWO AMENDMENTS ADDED TO BILL FOR JULY 1 EXTENSION

Induction of Fathers, Teen-Age 18 and 19-Year-Olds Banned.

30-YEAR LIMIT SET

Truman May Issue Executive Order to Maintain Draft Offices.

WASHINGTON, May 13—(AP) With the draft law expiring at midnight tomorrow, the House tonight tossed the controversial issue back to the Senate by amending stopgap legislation extending the law to July 1.

The bill, with the amendments, was passed on a rollcall vote of 280 to 84.

Adds Amendments

Disregarding Administration warnings that the action meant the death of selective service, the House approved these amendments to a stop-gap measure which the Senate had passed last week extending the law unchanged for 45 days:

1. A ban against induction of fathers.

2. A prohibition against drafting 18 and 19-year-olds and a ban against drafting anyone over 30.

The Senate has one day in which to act on the amendments. It previously had sidetracked separate House legislation containing these and other restrictions.

Both amendments were approved by a single roll-call vote of 213 to 154, after having been adopted separately earlier. They were offered by Rep. Sheridan (D-Pa.).

Fear Death of Law

Despite pleas of Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts and Democratic Whip Sparkman of Alabama that the action meant the death of the draft law because the Senate could not complete action by midnight tomorrow, House supporters of the amendments contended the Senate could act if it wants to.

The debate was accompanied by sharp criticism of the Senate for not having acted earlier.

The critical parliamentary situation threatening the very existence of selective service is caused by the fact the amended measure can be brought up in the Senate tomorrow only by unanimous consent.

The Senate is considering strike control legislation which cannot be laid aside if a single member objects, McCormack and Sparkman explained. A number of senators are known to be opposed to the draft extender.

Truman May Act

Even as the House voted, reports reached Capitol Hill that President Truman is ready to issue an executive order preserving the machinery of selective service, presumably in the hope that some compromise reinstating the draft may be worked out eventually. While the President has this authority under his war powers, selective service officials pointed out, he cannot without congressional action order the continuance of inductions or the retention of reemployment rights guaranteed to veterans by the draft law. These die with the law.

Would Release Objectors

Likewise, Army and selective service officials said, there is no legal authority for the detention after midnight tomorrow of an estimated 8,000 conscientious objectors held in selective service camps under sanction of the draft law.

"These men can walk out of those camps at midnight tomorrow and nothing can be done about it," an Army spokesman said.

However, he added, men serving penal sentences for selective service law violations would not be affected.

A 165 to 97 House vote rejected an amendment which would have given local draft boards final determination in deferring or inducting farm workers.

Before these votes were taken, the House defeated, 128 to 160, a move to substitute the one-year draft extension act which it had passed last month for the Senate's emergency 45-day extension. The original House measure prohibited any future inductions of teen-agers and fathers and also would have banned all inductions for a five-month "holiday" to give recruiting a trial.

Word that the present selective service act expires at midnight tomorrow, instead of Wednesday as generally supposed, was given to the House by Chairman May (D-Ky.) of the Military committee.

A selective service official explained that the act would expire "on May 15, which is one second after May 14."

Changes adopted by the House would have to be approved by the Senate tomorrow and the legislation sent to the White House for President Truman's signature by midnight to keep the act from expiring.

HOUSING BILL PASSED, SENT TO PRESIDENT

Builders Ask 'Immediate And Positive' Action By Expediter

Washington, May 13 (AP)—The House and Senate finally approved today the spending of $400,000,000 to subsidize increased production of building materials as home builders reported many structures will be left half-built unless immediate action is taken by the Government.

The House passed the legislation on a roll-call vote of 298 to 71. Soon thereafter the Senate passed the compromise measure on a voice vote.

The subsidy program is part of veterans' housing legislation designed to enable private enterprise to build 2,700,000 homes within the next two years.

"Immediate" Action Asked

The contention that "tens of thousands" of needed homes will be left in partially complete condition unless Wilson W. Wyatt, housing expediter, takes "immediate and positive" action, came from Joseph Meyerhoff, president of the National Association of Home Builders.

He made the statement to a conference of industry and Government leaders here.

The emergency housing program, Meyerhoff said, "is today bogging down for the sole reason that building materials cannot be secured to finish partially completed homes.

Materials Held Diverted

The home builders asked Wyatt for stronger enforcement of priority orders to prevent residential materials from flowing into other types of construction. They told Wyatt that the diversion of materials was one of "weakest links" in the drive to build the 2,700,000 dwellings.

The legislation which finally cleared the House and Senate and went to the White House was an Administration victory, as the House originally had banned any subsidies for housing materials.

At first the Administration had sought $800,000,000 in subsidies.

Wyatt said immediately after final passage of the bill that he already had summoned industrial consultants to help on a program of using premium payments to expand production of building materials.

Wyatt Invites Consultants

Consultants invited, he said, represented these industries: brick, paper liner, cast-iron soil pipe, roofing materials, peeler logs for plywood and pig iron.

"We have achieved a considerable degree of progress in solving bottlenecks through various price adjustments in the building-materials field and through other steps," he said in a statement, "but the device of premium payments will enable us to move forward much more rapidly."

He said, "While we asked for $600,000,000 for premium payments, we will utilize the $400,000,000 granted as effectively as possible."

Wyatt declared premium payments would be used to tap additional sources of production not reached through price adjustments, help reopen plants closed during the war, draw in the output of high-cost producers which had to be subsidized during the war, and offset high operating costs of manufacturers who step up production.

Measure's Other Provisions

Besides providing for incentive payments to get more lumber, bricks, and other building materials flowing to building sites, the legislation originated by Representative Patman (D., Texas) calls for:

1. An increase of $1,000,000,000 in Government authority to insure home-mortgage loans, thus allowing the Government to assume that size risk in building homes for veterans.

2. Continues the priorities and allocation authority to December 31, 1947, so that scarce materials can be directed to construction of low and medium priced homes.

3. Gives veterans preference in purchase or rental of new homes.

Price Ceilings On New Houses

4. Puts price ceilings on new houses.

5. Empowers the housing expediter with broad authority to issue orders to other Government agencies, including the OPA, on building materials' prices.

6. Authorizes the expediter, to halt or limit the export of lumber so long as it continues scarce in this country.

Wyatt, on learning of final passage of the legislation, said:

"The veterans' housing program now can be thrown into high gear."

GERMAN INFANTRY WAS UNPROTECTED AGAINST TETANUS

PHILADELPHIA May 13.—(AP) Hitler furnished vaccination against lockjaw for his Luftwaffe and for certain paratroop units—but the rest of the German troops had no such protection against this condition which can follow infected wounds.

Dr. William S. Middleton, dean of the University of Wisconsin Medical school and a consultant in medicine in the European theater in wartime, reported this today before the American College of Physicians at the opening of its 27th meeting—first general session held since 1942.

Describing observations made among German prisoners of war, Middleton said "only the Luftwaffe and certain paratroop elements received prophylactic vaccination. The remaining unprotected German prisoners afforded a horrible control (contrast) in their high morbidity and mortality from tetanus."

He said all American troops were protected from tetanus (lockjaw) by being vaccinated with tetanus toxoid; and men who were injured received a "booster" dose. Only one isolated case of lockjaw occurred among all Americans in the European theater. That man died.

Middleton offered no explanation as to why, of all German troops, only the fliers and certain paratroopers rated anti-tetanus vaccination.

Diphtheria also bedevilled the German army, Middleton reported, stating that "at one time in a single camp of 20,000 (German) prisoners there was more clinical diphtheria than in the entire United States army in Europe."

He related that in November, 1943, influenza made its appearance "in an explosive epidemic" among our troops.

But, fortunately, it was singularly free from complications and mortality.

Jewish Palestine Regime Is Aim—By Force If Need Be

New York, May 13 (AP)—Dr. Louis Altman, president of the United Zionists - Revisionists Organization, told a news conference today his group intends to set up a provisional Jewish Government in Palestine—with armed force if necessary.

Dr. Altman, who arrived in New York last week after conferences in London with the British Colonial Office, said the first aim of his "provisional government" would be to repatriate 1,000,000 Jews.

Great Britain, he said, "broke all its obligations to the Jews, lost all legal and moral right to continue the government of Palestine."

"Violence is the only language that the British Government understands," he added.

While in the United States, he plans to see Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, of Cleveland, a leader in the Zionist Organization of America.

Allies Agree To Split Japan War Industry

Will Remove Equipment From Country, Divide It Up as Reparations

11 Concerns Named To Supply Material

Aircraft, Light Metals Industries, Arsenals to Provide Interim Source

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The Allies agreed today to remove much of Japan's war industry and divide it among themselves as reparations.

By unanimous vote, the Allied Far Eastern Commission—eleven-nations policy-making body for Japan—decided to make available as "interim", reparations a substantial portion of the Japanese Army and Navy arsenal, the aircraft and light metals industries.

Certain products were exempt in each of those categories, however.

The commission ruled that in the light metals industry, sufficient rolling and drawing equipment should be left to handle 15,000 metric tons of fabricated aluminum a year for the time being.

Eleven Concerns Listed

The commission did not decide how the industries listed for interim reparations would be removed or how they should be apportioned.

The commission listed eleven industrial concerns which, it said, had assisted Japanese aggression and should provide reparations. They were the Mitsui, Mitsubishi, Sumitomo, Kuhara, Okura, Yasuda, Mori, Rikken, Nissan, Mangyo and Nakajima firms.

Major General Frank R. McCoy, United States member and commission chairman, indicated that the Allies were still a long way from any detailed agreement on final reparations policy on Japan.

General McCoy and other commission officials explained that the three categories of industries listed for reparations in today's agreement were those which the Allies obviously would not permit Japan to retain.

Based on Pauley Proposals

The final decision on other industries can be made only after the Allies have agreed on the level of industrial activity which Japan will be permitted, commission officials said.

The decisions today were based on proposals originally submitted to President Truman by Edwin W. Pauley, American reparations expert, now in the Far East.

TWA's Italy Deal Balked

Washington, May 13 (AP)—The United States has refused to ask the Italian Government to carry out a contract which would give Tran-World Airlines exclusive operation of "extensive" commercial air routes within Italy.

The State Department disclosed this today in making public two letters sent by Acting Secretary Dean Acheson last Thursday to ack Frye, TWA president, and the Earl of Halifax, British Ambassador.

Bars "Exclusive" Deals

Acheson made it plain, however, that the United States would not support a plan for establishment of a "mixed" British-American-Italian company to operate airlines in Italy. In protesting the exclusive feature of the TWA contract with Italy, Britain had proposed creation of the joint firm.

Acheson reminded Frye that the United States opposes exclusive trade privileges in all former enemy countries. Hence, he said, the State Department would not ask Italy to go ahead with the contract unless the exclusive features were removed.

He expressed the same view to Halifax, but emphasized that Italy had complete freedom to organize and conduct its domestic airlines as it saw fit.

Awaits Modification

Acheson also told Halifax that the State Department "is without authority to compel a private United States corporation to modify contractural arrangements which it has made legally."

Nevertheless, he said, the United States would not urge Italy to go ahead with its TWA agreement "unless and until the contract has been modified to omit the exclusivity features which this Government regards as objectionable." Acheson added:

"Once the contract has been so modified, it would be possible for the Italian Government to enter into such further arrangements as it deemed advisable, which might provide for the establishment of a joint British and Italian company to operate air transport services between points in Italy."

WAGNER MAKES PREDICTION ON OPA EXTENSION

Senator Thinks Committee Will Back Another Year for It.

SUBSIDIES IN FOR SLICING

House Orders Speech by C. I. O. Council Chief Stricken From Congressional Record.

Washington, May 13 (A. P.).—Senator Wagner (D.-N. Y.) predicted today that the Senate Banking Committee, of which he is chairman, will vote to extend the OPA for a year. The House approved a nine months' extension.

Wagner made this forecast to reporters after the committee's first closed door discussion of what type of legislation it should send to the Senate floor. He said no decisions were reached except to vote on Wednesday on how long the price control act should be extended.

Asked about the committee's attitude toward subsidies, Wagner said he thought there was "a feeling all around to reduce them as much as we can when we can." The House voted to end all subsidies by January 1. Food subsidies, intended to hold down consumer prices, amount to about $1,600,000,000 yearly.

The House today ordered stricken from the Congressional Record a speech by August Scholle, president of the Michigan C. I. O. council. The action was taken on a roll call vote of 247 to 77.

The speech had been inserted in the record by Representative Hook (D.-Mich.). In it, Scholle assailed the House for its action on legislation to extend the life of OPA.

Representative Hoffman (R.-Mich.), demanded the speech be stricken. He said it reflected "upon the integrity of the Congress and individual members of Congress."

In the speech, a radio address, Scholle said the people "were slugged over the head and thrown down a flight of stairs" by the House vote on OPA. He named Hoffman and other Michigan Republicans who voted for what he called "crippling amendments."

Hoffman upheld Scholle's right to make the speech, but he said it was "a transgression of the rules" for a House member "to have a speech of that kind" placed in the Congressional Record. No reply was made by Hook, though he insisted on a roll call vote on Hoffman's resolution to expugn the speech.

Return Reich Art Now, Is Plea

Washington, May 13 (AP)—American art authorities have appealed to President Truman and the State Department for immediate return to Germany of 200 art masterpieces brought over from there last December.

A resolution, with 95 persons listed as signers, asserted that removel of the pictures cannot be justified "on technical, political or moral grounds."

Compares Nazi Seizures

The Germans themselves, it stated, "may find it hard to distinguish between the resultant situation and the 'protective custody' used by the Nazis as a camouflage for the sequestration of the artistic treasures of other countries."

The paintings, from Berlin museums, were found April 7, 1945, by the American 3d Army in a salt mine at Merkers and are stored in the vaults of the National Gallery of Art here, an accompanying statement said.

The statement, issued by Mrs. Juliana Force, director of the Whitney Museum, and Frederick Mortimer Clapp, director of the Frick collection, said they were transferred by the Army.

Return Pledged

Correspondence made public by the complaints, including a letter of January 25, 1946, from James W. Riddleberger, chief of the State Department's Division of Central European Affairs, asserted that the decision to remove the paintings was made on the basis of a statement by Gen. Lucius D. Clay that he did not have facilities and personnel to safeguard them.

Riddleberger expressed the view that "the President's pledge" that the paintings would be returned to Germany "would satisfy those who might be critical of this Government's motives."

Steel Unionists Assail 'Negative' Foreign Policy

Atlantic City, May 13 (AP)—A report by international officers of the CIO-Steel Workers' Union said today United States foreign policy "has become more and more of a negative thing" since President Roosevelt's death.

Among signers of the report, issued on the eve of a union convention of 2,600 delegates representing approximately 850,000 workers, was Philip Murray, CIO president and head of the steel workers.

"Aside from the British loan," said the report, "Congress does not have before it a single measure aimed at raising the living standards of people all over the world."

STEEL WORKERS TO KEEP PLEDGE

Murray Says Union Will Abide by Contract.

Atlantic City, May 13 (A. P.).—Philip Murray says that C. I. O. Steel Workers Union will abide by its wage agreement and avoid another 1946 strike even if Congress abandons the OPA and junks inflation controls.

Head of both the steel union and its parent C. I. O., Murray told reporters here that, regardless of what happened, the union would keep its contractual bargain with the steel industry.

Nevertheless, Murray sent a strongly worded telegram to Senate Majority Leader Barkley (D.-Ky.) and Senate Minority Leader White (R.-Me.), urging that Congress extend the OPA act and establish an "adequate minimum wage." By doing this, he said, Congress could speed reconversion.

Sees New Pay Rise Demands.

Some labor leaders have said that abandonment of OPA would lead to a new series of wage demands on industry to compensate for an upsurge in living costs they expect if prices are left free to fluctuate.

"We maintain our contractual commitments," Murray told reporters. "We are working under a contract now with the steel industry which expires February 15."

That contract was negotiated after the twenty-six-day steel strike which ended in mid-February, with an 18½ cent hourly pay boost for 850,000 steelworkers.

Murray said that wages would be one of the prime subjects for debate at the union's convention opening here tomorrow at which more than 2,600 delegates are expected. However, convention discussions on wages will be referred, Murray said, to the union's 250-man wage policy committee which will meet next fall to map its final wage program for 1947 contract talks with the steel industry.

Annual Pay a Goal.

A guaranteed annual wage, or an assured minimum annual pay for a worker, long has been a goal of the steel union and it is slated to be discussed at the convention.

There are indications that Murray will press for a guaranteed annual wage in 1947 contract negotiations as a security measure for steelworkers, particularly if John L. Lewis succeeds in establishing a health and welfare fund in his current wage talks with the soft coal mine operators.

Murray wrote Barkley and White that Congress should defeat the House-approved Case strike-control bill now before the Senate. Instead, he said in his message, Congress could best help reconversion and labor-management relations by enacting strong inflation controls, a higher minimum wage, and pending health and social security measures.

"The record of this 79th Congress on bills for human welfare remains to be written before it adjourns to campaign for re-election," Murray declared. "Almost no legislation has been passed to date by the Eeventy-ninth Congress to benefit the average American."

ADMIRAL PREDICTS SURPRISES IN WAR

Washington, May 13 (A. P.).—Rear Admiral John J. Manning, chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, said today that we must not use "our past achievements as a blueprint for future work" in preparing against the possibility of another war.

"The unexpected can happen—and in the event of another war probably will," he told the Society of American Military Engineers in a prepared address, adding: "Many of the technics and devices which served us so well in defeating Germany and Japan can be useful in the future. However, they must be evaluated properly in the light of radical changes that are certain in any future offensive warfare. Our obligation is to keep our eyes open and our minds alert."

Manning said the forthcoming atom bomb tests at Bikini Atoll may show the need for greater dispersal of facilities, the construction of duplicate facilities, the feasibility of underground buildings and shops and the design of radiation-proof structures for naval shore installations.

U.S.S. Mount McKinley Will Be Last Ship To Leave Bikini Before A-Bomb Is Dropped

ABOARD THE MT. MC KINLEY ENROUTE TO BIKINI—May 13—(AP) Nine Navy ships will keep the guinea pig fleet company on the last night in Bikini lagoon and then take target ship crews to safety at dawn on atom bomb day.

Operational plans disclosed today showed a total of 292 men will stay aboard target ships and on atoll islands for last minute preparations. Three hours before a B-29 comes droning above the target, transports and the smaller ships will have all hands aboard and be standing out of the entrance to the lagoon.

Will Direct Evacuation

This flagship will remain in the target zone to direct evacuation and will go out to sea in wake of the evacuation craft. The Mount McKinley will then take up a ringside position to observe the explosion from a distance of about ten miles, which will be the closest of any ship.

The first test is scheduled for about 9:30 on the morning of the first good weather day in July.

The task force has assigned code names to phases of the test and sectors in which the observation fleet will be located. "Able" is the day finally selected for the first drop of bomb, with "Baker" the day for the second surface or subsurface explosion. "How" is the hour of explosion. The timetable is further graduated into "X-ray", the hour which designates the time when an Army Air Forces bomber arrives at a point 57 miles southwest of Bikini at a bombing altitude and begins the first of three practice runs.

Decision on Third Trial

If the bombardier is satisfied after three trials with the visibility and other conditions, a plane will announce on the radio network "Estimated thirty minutes before first possible bomb release. Stand by, Mark."

The plane then makes similar announcements at ten, five, two and one minutes and when dramatic zero minute is reached will say "Coming up on actual release. Stand by. Bomb away. Bomb away. Bomb away."

To enable precise spotting the whole area is divided into radiating zones graduated at eight, thirteen and eighteen miles. Sectors of these zones carry code names of automobiles—Buick, Chrysler, Chevrolet, Ford, Graham, Hudson and others.

Plans for the evacuation of personnel from target ships carries the names of both ships for both tests, including the bullseye ship Nevada. A spokesman for the task force explains, however, that this is done only for logistical planning purposes and does not reflect a belief that no ships will be lost in the first test.

B-29 Climbs 37,400 Feet With PayLoad of 17 Tons

Flight Over Guam Establishes Two World Records

MANILA, May 13 (AP).—The Pacific Air Command's B-29 Challenger carried a pay load of 34,000 pounds to an altitude of 37,400 feet last week over Guam to establish two world altitude and load records, P. A. C. headquarters announced today.

The Challenger's top altitude automatically became a record, Charles Logsden, of New York, official National Aeronautic and International Aeronautic Federation observer, said. No plane before had ever hoisted such a pay load to such a height.

The previous record for weight carried to 2,000 meters was 31,163 pounds, set in an experimental B-15 (forerunner of the B-17s and the B-29s) by Brigadier General C. V. Haynes.

The record flights are being made as a part of an operation conceived by Colonel C. S. Irvine, assistant P. A. C. chief of staff, to try for all altitude-weight and speed records in the B-29 class.

Byrnes Suggests Paris Talks Be Adjourned Until June 15

Would Have German Question Considered First—Wants Peace Conference of 21 Nations Called for July.

PARIS, May 14—(AP)—U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes proposed tonight that the four-power conference of foreign ministers adjourn until June 16, trying meanwhile to reconcile its differences, and that the 21-nation peace conference be convoked at once for July 1 or 15.

The American secretary in a formal statement said the conference should recognize frankly that divisions exist and should fulfill its obligations to the Allied nations by setting a definite date for the peace conference. If the date is not set now, he said, it should be set at the June 15 session.

Favors Pact With Italy

Byrnes also asked the foreign ministers to sign a revised armistice with Italy immediately to ease Italy's burden.

The British and French delegations concurred. The Soviet delegation, however, sought time to discuss the proposals. Byrnes said "the Soviet representative had declined so far to agree to this course," and that "invitations to the conference cannot be sent except by unanimous consent."

Proposals by Byrnes

These were Byrnes' proposals, presented at today's meeting of the conference:

"1. That after considering the German question this session recess until June 15.

"2. That we now call a peace conference for July 1 or July 15. If this is not agreed to, that we leave to the next session of the council the decision as to the date of the peace conference.

"3. That we immediately sign the revised armistice with Italy.

"4. That there be placed on the agenda for the June 15 session the drafting of a treaty with Austria, the deputies being instructed to prepare meantime a draft of proposals for the consideration of the council."

An American source said the Austrian proposal drew quick protest from the Soviet delegation, which consistently has opposed raising the Austrian problem at this session.

"The council should frankly face the facts which it confronts," Byrnes said in the statement handed correspondents, which was described as "essentially the remarks of Secretary Byrnes" at the afternoon conference session.

Minor Problems Remain

"There are several minor treaty problems which require further study by our deputies or by special commissions which have them under inquiry," he said.

"There is every prospect of agreement when these studies are concluded. But decisions must await this event.

"There are also a few major treaty problems upon which the council is presently divided. Decisions may be favorably affected by the reports which we await from our deputies. Our whole purpose is to seek and to find agreements as quickly as possible.

"Under these circumstances it is likely to facilitate our work if the present session of the council recesses until June 15, permitting each of us to give undivided attention to a re-examination of our positions in the hope of finding means of reconciling them. Such use of our time is calculated to be more fruitful than to extend our present session."

The United States delegation believes, he said, that "we owe our Allied nations an obligation to fix at this time the date of a peace conference."

At Moscow, he continued, the foreign ministers had agreed that the conference should be held not later than May 1 of this year.

"We did not comply with that promise," the statement said. "The United States now urges that the peace conference be called either July 1 or July 15 and that we should then submit our agreements and our disagreements, if any, to the advice of our war partners."

"If we can agree to the above," the statement said, "and if we also contemplate the wide area of agreement we have already reached, we may look to the future with confidence that our indispensable unity will be strengthened and preserved.

With regard to Italy, Byrnes said the conference could not hope for the ratification of a peace treaty for "some months," and should "immediately sign the revised armistice with Italy which was agreed to in principle 10 days ago, so as to ease her recuperative effort as far as possible."

Tomorrow's meeting, an American source said, will decide whether China may sit at the conference table to discuss Germany. This source said the United States would insist upon Chinese attendance as a member of the five-power council if the German problem was to be discussed in full.

Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy military governor in Germany, and Robert D. Murphy, U. S. political adviser, have arrived from Berlin for the German conversations.

Byrnes raised his adjournment proposal after another disagreement between Russia and the western powers which came when Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov proposed a deal by which Russia would withdraw her troops from Bulgaria if Britain and the United States would do likewise in Italy, an American source said.

Probing Disarmament

Berlin, May 14 (AP)—Acting upon the suggestion of Secretary of State Byrnes, Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy military governor in Germany, has proposed the appointment of a four-power commission to investigate the progress of German disarmament in all four zones.

Clay placed Byrnes's proposal before yesterday's meeting of the allied control authority's co-ordinating committee, of which he is the American member.

Immediately after the meeting Clay and Robert D. Murphy, Allied political adviser, flew to Paris to consult with Byrnes on other German problems before the conference of Foreign Ministers.

Bulgaria-Italy Plan Of Reds Rejected

Paris, May 14 (AP)—American sources said today that Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov proposed withdrawal of Russian troops from Bulgaria on the condition that Allied troops leave Italy, but United States Secretary of State Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Bevin disapproved the suggestion.

Both Byrnes and Bevin objected when Molotov proposed the bargain of withdrawing from Bulgarian lines of communication to Austria, the informants said. Bevin declared a comparable arrangement would be for the Russians to leave Romania if the Allies left Italy. He said Britain was ready to withdraw from Italy if the Soviets left Romania.

The British Foreign Secretary was further reported to have declared that the Russians agreed at the Foreign Ministers Council in London last September to a decision that they would withdraw from Bulgaria while leaving troops in Romania to protect their lines of communication to Austria.

Another Byrnes Plan

An informant said Byrnes and Bevin then proposed the establishment of a commission of military experts to decide whether the Allied lines of communication through Italy to Austria were physically necessary. Molotov was said to have agreed to formation of the commission, but nothing was finally decided.

During the interchange Byrnes again tried unsuccessfully to persuade his three colleagues to study the Austrian situation by proposing that the Deputy Foreign Ministers begin preparation of a treaty with that country.

But again Molotov blocked the move, declaring the ministers and their deputies already had enough to do with five European peace treaties on their hands.

Trieste Impasse Holds

The British and French delegations were reported willing to accept internationalization of the city of Trieste as a solution of the Italian-Yugoslav boundary, key problem of the conference. But both the United States and Russia were standing pat on their previous positions.

There was a possibility, it was learned from American circles, that Chinese delegates would take places at the conference table when the German problem comes up.

China's Stand

An American source said that yesterday French Foreign Minister Bidault, who was presiding, recalled that all four governments had received requests from the Chinese Government for participation in the council discussion of Germany on the grounds that the Council normally was limited to four only when treaties with the satellite countries were being discussed. American, British and French delegates agreed to permit Chinese attendance. While Molotov did not oppose in principle, he objected that tomorrow's discussions would be only preliminary.

A member of the American delegation said he, therefore, did not know whether the Chinese would be refused admittance if they should present themselves tomorrow.

Meanwhile, a French-Italian boundary commission presented an inconclusive report on its investigations. The unanimous report said French claims for slight frontier rectifications were well based ethnically, as the regions were as much French as Italian. The experts said, however, that the main question was the hydroelectric power sites in the Tenda and Brenda regions. These supply power to cities along the Italian Mediterranean coast. The ministers sent the report to their deputies to study the technical question involved.

SAYS COMMANDOS DIDN'T RATE TRIAL

Nuernberg, May 14 (A. P.).—Admiral Gerhard Wagner contended before the International Military Tribunal today that it was "perfectly proper" for the Germans to shoot uniformed British Commandos without trial because "they were saboteurs and criminals and couldn't be considered soldiers."

Col. H. J. Phillimore, assistant British prosecutor, cited to the former German naval operations chief, now on the stand as a defense witness, three instances in which he said captured Commandos were turned over to German Security Policemen who shot them without trial, wired the bodies with demolition charges and sank them in Norwegian waters.

"Do you say that wasn't murder?" Phillimore shouted.

"These people were captured as saboteurs," the witness replied. "They were not soldiers but were criminals. Men who have orders to carry out crimes I cannot consider as soldiers. In total it was perfectly proper."

The tribunal denied requests by Rudolf Hess and Hans Frank who sought permission to establish by an interrogatory submitted to Secretary of War Robert Patterson and Major-Gen. William J. Donovan, former O. S. S. chief, that Hans Bernd Gisevius, an anti-Nazi German, was on the American pay roll as a spy. Gisevius, one of the plotters against Hitler, gave damaging testimony against the defendants in a surprise appearance at the trials. Defense counsel contended that his testimony could be impeached as perjury because he said he never was employed by the Allies but merely worked co-operatively with them.

U-BOAT WARFARE EXPLAINED BY NAZI AT COURT SESSION

NUERNBERG, May 14 — (AP) Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz' son-in-law testified today before the International Military Tribunal that "U-boat traps" were partially responsible for Nazi orders forbidding rescue of survivors of torpedoed ships.

Capt. Guenther Hessler, husband of Doenitz' only daughter, testified as a defense when it was that in two instances the crews of apparently abandoned ships suddenly manned guns and opened fire on his submarine.

He said Doenitz, who succeeded Hitler as Fuehrer at the time of the Nazi collapse, forbade the destruction of German naval records because "we have a clear conscience." Doenitz was the last commander-in-chief of the German navy.

Hessler, as a U-boat commander, was credited with sinking 21 Allied ships totalling 130,000 tons before becoming a member of his father-in-law's staff. His testimony completed the defense for the twelfth of the 22 defendants being tried for war crimes by the four-power tribunal.

Earlier, Doenitz' submarine operations chief, Rear Admiral Eberhard Godt, testified that survivors of torpedoed ships were "probably happy when the U-boat submerged and left them alone" because they preferred being in lifeboats than in submarines, which constantly were in danger of attack.

eight enlisted men accused of brutality at Lichfield, "no matter how much we desire speed in the conduct of these cases."

Three weeks ago McNarney had pledged that he would not tolerate any "whitewash" of the charges. The attorney for one accused officer complained that this statement might indicate an army desire to "railroad someone to obtain a conviction in the case."

Recommends Action

McNarney's statement today said Lewis, after citing his conclusions,

"recommended specific disciplinary action, principally in the form of administrative reprimands, against certain officers involved in the delays that had occurred."

But, he said, Gen. Eisenhower "decided to withhold action on Gen. Lewis' recommendations of specific punishments for the officers involved in the belief that the conduct of the trials themselves would elicit further facts and evidence which might indicate that more drastic action should be taken against certain officers."

"This expectation has already been justified," McNarney said, "as

McNarney Orders Review Of Lichfield Camp Cases

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 14 —(AP) Gen. Joseph T. McNarney said today he had ordered a complete review of the Lichfield detention camp cases after discovery of "instances of mishandling."

The commander of American forces in Europe asserted there would be no "railroading" or undue haste in the trial of 14 officers and men on charges of mistreating soldier prisoners at the camp in England, and that "I am determined that no one who may be culpable will escape being brought to justice."

Reports on Investigation

In a typewritten statement distributed at a news conference, McNarney said an investigation by Maj. Gen. John T. Lewis "revealed instances of mishandling of the case and indicated a failure of some intermediate commanders concerned at the outset to recognize the seriousness of the situation and to direct a complete investigation and take prompt corrective and punitive action as required."

McNarney did not specify what the instances were, but said he had directed his inspector general "to undertake a complete review of all phases of the Lichfield cases from the day the first complaint of irregularities was received."

McNarney said "there will be no 'railroading' or any undue haste to the prejudice of either side" in the pending trials of six officers and charges have been preferred against several additional officers as a result of facts revealed by the trials of enlisted men."

He said a final report on Lewis' investigation would be submitted in the near future.

Two enlisted men were convicted at courts martial in London of mistreating prisoners at the 10th reinforcement depot at Lichfield. Some soldier witnesses than said they were afraid to testify because of fear of reprisals.

The trials of the six officers and eight enlisted men charged with similar offenses then were transferred to Bad Mauheum, Germany, and McNarney announced his intention of expediting the cases.

Col. James A. Kilian of Highland Park, Ill., commander of the depot at Lichfield, is scheduled to go on trial Thursday. The first three defendants to appear in the trials at Bad Mauheim have received postponements for further time to prepare defenses.

McNarney, answering what he called erroneous reports that the Army was "making goats out of enlisted men to relieve possibly guilty officers," said "this of course was not true" and that the enlisted men were tried first to obtain testimony which would point to officers who should be tried.

Another Trial Delayed.

Bad Nauheim, May 13 (Delayed (A. P.).—Pfc William B. Norris of Mulga, Ala., today won a fifteen-day postponement of his court martial on charges of mistreating soldiers in a United States Army guardhouse in Lichfield, England.

It was the third successive postponement granted in the cases of six officers and eight enlisted men still facing trial in the Lichfield case, which began five months ago in England. Col. James A. Kilian of Highland Park, Ill., will be the next defendant to be tried. His case is scheduled to open Thursday.

REPORTERS ASK END OF BERLIN SECRECY

Berlin, May 14 A. P.).—Groups of American and other foreign correspondents adopted unanimously today a resolution urging that the sessions of the four-Power Allied Control Council and the Berlin Kommandantur be opened to the press.

The reporters, including British, French, Dutch and Danish writers, stated that open meetings were necessary to enable them to "present at first hand matters of vital moment to an informed democracy throughout the world," and added: "In the opinion of the correspondents, secrecy in the government of Germany cannot succeed in its apparent objective of keeping Allied disagreements from the German public. On the contrary, they believe that free and open discussion of major German affairs would go far toward dispelling the present atmosphere of unfounded and unrelated rumors."

The Control Council and the Kommandantur issue communiques after most meetings. American and British reporters usually are "briefed" by press relations officers. The communiques usually deal with matters on which there was agreement. Repeated efforts by the reporters to obtain agendas of the meetings have failed.

List to Be Published.

Berlin, May 14 (A. P.).—A purge of German Fascist and militarist literature, criticized in some Allied quarters as "akin to the Nazi book burnings," has been ordered by the four-Power Allied Control Council.

An American public relations officer, announcing that the order on literature would be published on May 20, disclosed some of its details in advance. He said it provides for a purge "to eradicate in all forms Fascist, militarist and anti-democratic ideas in Germany through confiscation and destruction of Nazi literature and other media of propaganda. Owners of circulating libraries, bookshops and publishing houses, all former State and municipal libraries and heads of all universities and schools must hand over to the military commandants all Nazi and military propaganda in their possession.

The order, reported to have been sponsored by the French and hotly debated by the co-ordinating committee, would require that the banned books be surrendered within two months, with as yet unspecified penalties provided for disobedience.

It was just thirteen years ago this week that students in Berlin, Frankfurt, Munich, Breslau and other German cities made public bonfires of books, pamphlets and other literature which they said exemplified "the un-German spirit."

SCHMELING CASE ROUSES GERMANS

Hamburg, Germany, May 14 (A. P.).—The imprisonment of Max Schmeling, former world heavyweight boxing champion, for illegal use of building materials has created a minor storm among German civilians. Schmeling was sentenced by a British military court yesterday to three months in jail and fined 10,000 marks (about $1,000).

Die Welt said that Schmeling had proved embarrassing to the Nazis and, having lost all his property during the war, now wanted to build a new home for his wife and himself.

To counteract any impression that Schmeling had been victimized, Military Government officials released a statement to local newspapers. A senior MG officer said that "people like Max Schmeling cannot play on their apparent popularity and get away with it," that Schmeling was "using large unauthorized quantities of scarce building materials to build himself a house" while many people were lacking those materials for essential repairs, and that Schmeling had previously been warned by the MG authorities to halt construction.

Legal officers said the former champion may appeal the sentence within ten days.

Deport 2,200 Germans, British Tell Spain Again

London, May 14 (AP)—The Foreign Office said today Great Britain was applying new pressure on Spain to deport from 2,200 to 2,500 Germans who have sought asylum there.

The British Government has instructed its Ambassador in Madrid to tell the Spanish Government the measures were not satisfactory.

FRANCO DEFENDS REGIME IN SPAIN, HITS INTERFERENCE

MADRID, May 14. — (AP) Generalissimo Francisco Franco asserted today in a speech before the Cortes (parliament) that Spain's problems were her own and not the problem of other states, and declared in effect that his government would evolve when not pushed from the outside.

In an address defending his regime and its program since the Spanish civil war, Franco said:

"I deny that there are any political problems in Spain to be solved. We have solved our political problems with our blood and our effort.

"Great political problems are still being debated in many countries which took part in the great conflict and whose regimes are incapable of solving the urgent difficulties accumulated.

"Spain solved and arranged its difficulties seven years ago and x x x it is developing through successive stages with rigorous exactitude."

(The United Nations Security council in New York now is receiving evidence from representatives of various countries concerning a charge originally brought by Poland that Spain is a threat to world peace.)

Observers had expected that Franco would make a specific declaration regarding the possible return of the monarchy to Spain or holding a referendum on the monarchy question for which an electoral census now is in progress.

However, he made only one veiled reference to this question when he declared that his government, like a building, was erected from the foundation up and that "we will finish this building when we are not pushed from the outside."

Cheers frequently halted the speech, which was broadcast throughout Spain. Among those in the crowded Cortes chamber were U. S. Charge d'Affaires Philip W. Bonsal and British Ambassador Sir Victor Mallet.

Warsaw, May 14 (AP)—The Ministry of Public Security said today the Polish Peasant party had been suspended in Wloszczowa and Grojec counties, south of Warsaw, for participation in terroristic activity in NSZ (underground army) bands. The communiqué said numerous arrests were made and large quantities of arms found.

The raids were said to be in accord with the declaration of Premier Edward Osuba-Morawski that Fascist and anti-democratic groups within the Peasant party would be dissolved.

The Peasant party is headed by Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, present Vice Premier and former Premier of the Polish Government in exile in London, who has formally denied Government charges that there are NSZ bands in his party.

ACCUSE U. S. IN GREECE

London, May 14 (A. P.).—The Moscow radio said today that the Greek Leftist political coalition, E. A. M., has appealed to the Allies to "prevent the forcible restoration of the monarchy in Greece, which would result in civil war.

Quoting Athens advices, Moscow said that the E. A. M. expressed belief that the American and British assent to a vote on September 1 on the restoration of King George was "a violation of the agreement of November, 1945," when most of the Greek parties accepted Foreign Secretary Bevin's proposal that the plebiscite be delayed until 1948.

Moscow quoted the newspaper Vima as asserting: "The Allies, who are pledged to help Greece return to the path of normal democratic life are today leaving her to the mercy of armed organizations which have become masters of the country and will become a base for the establishment of Fascism in post-war Greece."

Izvestia 'Compares' Classes In Paris

Moscow, May 14 (AP)—The Government newspaper Izvestia described Paris today as a place where rich former collaborationists live in splendor while the working class slaves and the petty bourgeoisie exists on rumors and dreams.

"They have in Paris not only their own houses, they also have their own newspapers," he said.

QUOTES HITLER'S THREAT TO CZECHS

Prague, May 14 (A. P.).—Jaroslav Krejci, former Premier of the Nazi protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia, testified at his trial today that Adolf Hitler threatened to deport the entire Czech population of 10,000,000 persons to the "east" after the assassination of Reinhard Heydrich in 1942. The "east," he said, meant sections of Russia then occupied by the Germany army.

Krejci, who is being tried with four other members of his government for collaboration, said that Hitler summoned him and his aids to Berlin and threatened them with expulsion unless Heydrich's attackers were caught and the Czechs "improved their attitude" toward the Germans. Krejci said that when his party returned to Prague they learned that Lidice had been destroyed in reprisal for Heydrich's death while they were in Berlin.

Vernon is continuing his diet for a fourth week.

The Belgian Government said that Franco has refused to hand over the former Belgian Rexist party leader.
